MADAM,

AMong the Laws that God gave by the Hand of Moſes, one was, that the King who ſhould rule over his People, ſhould have continually before him a Copy of his Law, and that he ſhould read in it all the Days of his Life, That having learnt to fear the Lord his God, and to obſerve the Words of his Law, he might prolong his Days in his Kingdom. And when he made Joſhua the Captain of his Hoſt, and the Governor of his People, he ſpake thus to him, The Book of the Law ſhall not depart out of thy Mouth, but thou ſhalt meditate in it Day and Night, that thou mayſt obſerve to do according to all that is written in it; for then thou ſhalt make thy Way proſperous, and thou ſhalt have good Succeſs, Joſh. 1. 8. King David made theſe Teſtimonies his Delight, and his Counſellors; and becauſe Publick Affairs imploy'd him in the Day-time, he made them his Study in the Night; and thus he became wiſer than his Enemies, and of more underſtanding than all his Teachers.

It therefore having pleaſed the Divine Providence, to the great Joy and Satisfaction of the whole Nation, to appoint Your Majesty the Governor of his People, and the Nursing-Mother of his Church; the Law of Christ contained in the New Testament, must be both the Rule of Your Majesty's Government, and of the Obedience of Your Subjects.

We hope that God hath raised up Your Majesty to be, as Queen Elizabeth was formerly, a signal Blessing to this Nation, and a great Advancer of its Happiness; a Bulwark to the Protestant Religion, and a Scourge and Terror to its Enemies. And that if any thing hath hitherto been wanting, to render us a truly Religious, and so an happy People, and a glorious Church, Your Majesty is reserved to put the finishing Hand to that Blessed Work, which, by rendring this Law of Christ, as David did the Law of Moses, Your Counsellor and Your Delight, You will most happily perform.

THE PREFACE TO THE READER.

Courteous READER,

THO' what I offer to thy peruſal is the reſult of fifteen Years Study, yet have I found it deficient in two things eſpecially;

1*ſt*, In an exact, and particular account of all the places mentioned in this Commentary, and eſpecially in the Acts of the Apoſtles, and this defect I have endeavoured to ſupply by a Map of them drawn by a kind Friend of great Ability in thoſe Matters, and by an Alphabetical Table of them, with ſome brief Remarks, relating chiefly to the New Teſtament.

And finding a Chronology of the New Teſtament done to my Hand by a very exact and learned Prelate of our Church, from which my Commentary no where differs; I have added that alſo for the Reader's Uſe.

2*dly*, Whereas it may be deemed a defect in this Commentary, that I have ſaid nothing of the two great Controverſies concerning the Genealogy of St. Luke.

1*ſt*, Whether Cainan did originally belong to it, or indeed ought to do ſo.

2*dly*, Whether St. Luke intended there to give us the Genealogy of Joſeph from Nathan, as St. Matthew had given it from his Brother Solomon, or rather the Genealogy of the Virgin Mary from her Father Heli, as is of late imagined:

I do ingenouſly confeſs, with (a) Venerable Bede, that I declined theſe Controverſies, and more eſpecially the firſt, propter ingenii tarditatem, for I had ſeen this Controverſie handled with exact Judgment, and great variety of Learning by the Reverend Dr. Mills upon the place; and knowing that I muſt not be permitted to blow upon his Book, I deſpaired of doing it ſo well as he hath done, and ſo declined the doing it at all, till that very valuable Book ſhould be made publick; which being not yet done, I ſhall preſent the Reader with my preſent Thoughts upon the two forementioned Queſtions.

1*ſt*, Whether Cainan was originally in the Genealogy of St. Luke, or ought to be accounted a part of it; and becauſe the Deciſion of this Queſtion depends much upon another, whether this Cainan (who is not to be found in the Hebrew Copies, either in the 10th or 11th Chapters of Geneſis, or in 1 Chron. 1. or in any of the Jewiſh Targums, or owned by any Jewiſh Writer of that time) was to be found in the exacteſt Copies of the Seventy Interpreters from the beginning, or rather was wanting in the firſt and the beſt Copies of the Septuagint, as well as in all Hebrew Copies; I ſhall begin with the Diſcuſſion of that Controverſie: And that he was not originally there, or was deſignedly put in there, will be made probable from theſe Conſiderations;

1*ſt*, That Joſephus declares that Sem had only five Sons, (Σήμα πέντε γίνονται παῖδες, Antiq. l. 1. c. 7.) and not ſix, as he muſt have had, if Cainan were his Son. He adds, that (b) Abraham was the 10th from Noah, and that Beroſus, who lived before the Seventy Interpreters, ſpake of him as of one born (c) δεκάτῃ γενεᾷ, in the tenth Generation from the Flood. Eupolemus in (d) Euſebius aſſerts the ſame thing; and (e) Philo adds, that as Noah was the 10th from Adam, ſo Abraham was δέκατος, the tenth from Noah; whereas if Cainan be to be reckoned betwixt Arphaxad and Salah, Abraham muſt be the 11th Generation from the Flood. Whence it is eaſie to collect, That neither the Jews of Jeruſalem, nor of Alexandria, tho' they uſed the Greek Verſion own'd this Cainan, but by their received Computation that Abraham was the tenth from Noah, and was born 292 Years after the Flood, muſt exclude him. And, that ſeeing both Philo and Joſephus uſually follow the Septuagint in other matters, and yet ſo plainly depart from them in this, we have cauſe to believe that they who thought this Cainan was not to be inſerted betwixt Arphaxad and Salah, found him not ſo inſerted in the exacteſt Copies of the Septuagint, or knew that he was put in by deſign.

2*dly*, The Chronicon of Euſebius gives a particular account of the Sons of Sem from Africanus, from the Septuagint, and from the Samaritan Tranſlation, and this account runs thus, (f) Arphaxad being 135 Years old, ſay Africanus and the Septuagint, 130 ſaith the Samaritan Tranſlation, begat Sala. And (g) Theophilus who underſtood only Greek, and ſo muſt have his account from the Septuagint, ſays, Arphaxad being 135 Years old, ἐτέκνωσε Σάλα, begat Sala, taking no notice of Cainan in the Greek, tho' he is inſerted into the Latin Tranſlation, whence alſo we may reaſonably infer that Theophilus, Africanus, Euſebius, living among the Jews, the one at Antioch, the ſecond at Nicopolis, the third at Cæſarea in Paleſtine, either found him not in the exacter Copies of the Septuagint, or found reaſon to believe he ſhould not have been there. Moreover, St. Jerom, in his Book of (h) Hebrew Traditions, ſaith, The Sons of Sem were Elam, Aſſur, Arphaxad, Lud, and Aram, and that Arphaxad begat Sala, making no mention of Cainan; whence alſo I infer, he either did not find him in the Septuagint, or thought he ſhould not have been there, but rather, that as the Septuagint added ſo many hundred Years to the account which Moſes had given of the Age of the World before and after the Flood, ſo alſo did they deſignedly add this Cainan to ſwell up the account, and make it to accord the better with the large Computations given of it by the Egyptians and Chaldeans. Add to this,

3*dly*, That as this Cainan is not to be found in all the Old Teſtament, either in the Targums, or in any Verſion beſides that of the Septuagint, nor in the Samaritan, the Vulgar, the Syriack, or Arabick, ſo neither is he to be found in

in the Recapitulation of theſe Genealogies, 1 Chron. 1. in any Copies of the Septuagint, ſave only that of Alexandria; now if the Authors of theſe Verſions had believed that Moſes had put in this Cainan in Geneſis, why do they always leave him out, both there and in this Recapitulation? and why is he left out in the Tranſlation of the Septuagint in this Recapitulation? This, as it ſeems to intimate, that the Tranſlation of this Recapitulation was made by another Hand from that which gave us the Greek Verſion of the five Books of Moſes, ſo alſo to confirm the Truth of the Remark made by (i) Procopius Gazæus, that the Hebrew hath it thus, Arphaxad begat Sala, and that quæ deinde in medio ponuntur obeliſco notata viſuntur, the Cainan put between them in ſome Copies of the Septuagint, was marked with an Obelisk, or with a Note of Reprobation.

Now hence it follows, that St. Luke could have no reaſon to inſert this Cainan into his Genealogy, becauſe he found it in the Septuagint, it being not found in the Samaritan Verſion, tho' it follows the Septuagint in ſpeaking of the Age of Arphaxad, Sala, and others, before they begat Children, nor in the Copies of the Septuagint, owned by Philo or Joſephus, who follow them in other matters, and being noted with a mark of Reprobation where 'twas found, to intimate that 'twas deſignedly put in by them.

But then the Jews muſt have had a conſiderable Objection againſt the Veracity of St. Luke, had he ſo plainly added to their Scriptures, and their moſt ancient Targums, and their received Genealogies (which ſurely muſt agree with their own Scriptures. And ſeeing neither the Alexandrian Jews, nor their own Prieſt Joſephus, nor any other Jew we read of, owned this Cainan in our Saviour's Days, it muſt be a great Stumbling-block to them to ſee that owned by a Writer pretending to divine Inſpiration under the New Teſtament, which two of their inſpired Writers ſo plainly had diſowned and reprobated.

Moreover, the two firſt Chriſtian Authors which deſignedly give us an account of this matter, are, Theophilus, Biſhop of Antioch, and Julius Africanus, bred up at Alexandria, and living afterwards at Emaus, or Nicopolis in Paleſtine, and they both ſhew by their Chronology, that they owned not this Cainan, tho' doubtleſs neither of them could be ignorant of what St. Luke had ſaid concerning him, ſeeing the latter hath a ſet Diſcourſe of the Difference which ſeemed to be betwixt the Genealogies of St. Matthew and St. Luke, and therefore had St. Luke canonized this Cainan, and rendred him authentick in his Genealogy, they could not, (we may reaſonably ſuppoſe) have thus varied from what this Evangeliſt had delivered, without ſome mention of St. Luke, or ſome reaſon aſſigned why they thus differed from him. And,

3*dly*, (k) Irenæus, who alſo liv'd in the ſecond Century, not only ſaith, that the Genealogy of St. Luke containeth ſeventy two Generations, for that this is the true reading appeareth, againſt Iſaac Voſſius, not only from the Note of Mr. Grabe upon the place, but alſo from the reaſon following, viz. That this was done, according to the ſeventy two Languages of all Nations, which Chriſt recapitulated in himſelf; this being, as Mr. Grabe there notes, the received Opinion, that the Languages then uſed in the World, were ſeventy two. Now if you ſo compute this Genealogy as to exclude, ver. 24. Matthan and Levi, and ver. 26. Cainan, or to exclude Jeſus and Adam, as St. Peter doth Adam and Noah, when he ſaith, 2 Pet. 2.5. that Noah was the eighth from Adam, the Generations mentioned in this Genealogy will be juſt 72, whereas if Cainan be inſerted they muſt be 73 or 75.

But then how this Cainan ſhould ſo come into the Text of St. Luke as to be found, tho' not in all MSS. there being ſeveral, ſaith (l) Grotius, which owned him not, yet in all Verſions from the Greek, is very difficult to conjecture; tho' if we may credit able Criticks, it neither is without Example, nor without probability that it might be ſo.

It is not without Example; for, if we may credit the great (m) Bochart, ſome like unſkilful Hand, inſtead of Jacob, (who bought the Field near Sychem, Gen. 33. 18, 19.) hath put in Abraham, Acts 7. 16. which Criticiſm being allowed, the whole Difficulty of that Text is removed, and the Diſagreement of it with the Records of the Old Teſtament is taken away.

Nor doth it want its probability, for ſeeing the Chriſtians generally from the ſecond Century went into that falſe Opinion, that the Tranſlation of the Septuagint was made by divine Inſpiration, as hath been ſhewed in the Preface to St. Matthew, they finding this Cainan in the vulgar Editions of the Septuagint, might put him in the Margin, and afterwards inſert him into the Genealogy of St. Luke. Nor will this leſſen the Authority of the New Teſtament in other places in which we cannot have the like reaſon to ſuſpect any Alteration.

To proceed now to the ſecond Queſtion, Whether St. Luke gives us the Genealogy of Joſeph from Nathan, as Matthew had given it from his Brother Solomon, viz. The Genelaogy of Joſeph from Heli his legal Father, or rather the Genealogy of Mary from her Father Heli. To which I anſwer by theſe Conſiderations.

1*ſt*, That an account of a Genealogy, which gives the plain and literal ſenſe of the Author's Words, deſerveth much to be preferred before another which puts a manifeſt force upon them. Now if you make this of St. Luke a Genealogy not of Joſeph, but only of the Virgin Mary by her ſuppoſed Father Heli, you put a manifeſt force upon his Words, for then Chriſt was ὡς ἐνομίζετο υἱὸς Ἰωσὴφ τ̃ Ἡλὶ, as was ſuppoſed the Son of Joſeph who was the Son of Heli, muſt be thus filled up, ὄντως ὢ τ̃ Μαρίας τ̃ Θυγατρὸς τ̃ Ἡλὶ, but was indeed the Son of Mary, the Daughter of Heli: Now is it probable that if St. Luke had intended to ſignifie all this to his Reader, ſo exact a Græcian as he was ſhould have done it ſo obſcurely, and ſo unintelligibly from his Words, that totius Antiquitatis opinio, the whole Stream of Antiquity, ſaith (n) Maldonate, ſhould with a full conſent follow the contrary Opinion of Africanus, that this was the Genealogy of Joſeph by his legal Father, according to which Interpretation the ſenſe of St. Luke's Words is plain and literal? Add to this, that the Words ὢν ὡς ἐνομίζετο, may be well rendred thus, being as the Law allows, or in the ſenſe of the Law the Son of Joſeph, (as I have proved in the Note upon theſe Words, ὃ ἐνομίζετο προσευχὴ εἶναι, Acts 16. 13.) Now thus Chriſt was aſſuredly the Son of Joſeph, all Law allowing the Fruit of the Wive's Womb, if it be Male, to be reputed, and (o) called the Son of the Husband, and then St. Luke will accord exactly with St. Matthew in declaring Chriſt to be the Son of Joſeph, becauſe he was the Huſband of Mary, ἐξ ἧς, of whom was born Jeſus called Chriſt, Matth. 1. 16.

And,

(l) In locum. (m) Hieroz. l. 2. p. 436. (n) On Matth. 1. 16.

(o) Τὰ γὰρ ἐκ γυναικός τινος χωρὶς προφάσεως τικτόμενον, υἱὸς ἐστιν ἐξ ἀνάγκης τ̃ ἀνδρὸς ᾗ τ̃ γυναικὸς, ᾧ τρόπῳ βάλλει ὁ Θεὸς δοῦναι υἱὸν τῷ ἀνδρὶ, ἢ διὰ σωφρόνων ἢ χωρὶς σωφρόνων, Pſeudo Juſt. qu. & reſp. qu. 133.

And, 2*dly*, Whereas it is ſaid that the Genealogy of Joſeph is nothing to the purpoſe, ſince that will not avail at all to prove that Chriſt was of the Seed of David. I anſwer, that this Objection ſeems neither true nor well grounded.

1*ſt*, It is not true, for both the Evangeliſts do in effect declare that they intended only to give us the legal, or ſuppoſed Genealogy of Chriſt from Joſeph, by virtue of his being the Huſband of Mary, of whom Chriſt was born; and therefore tho' Matthew ſays, Jacob begat Joſeph, he does not ſay, and Joſeph begat Jeſus who is called Chriſt, but only that he was the Huſband of Mary of whom Chriſt was born; and Luke ſaith he was, as was ſuppoſed, or in conſtruction of Law, the Son of Joſeph; if then all this be nothing to the purpoſe, both theſe inſpired Writers muſt have been moved by the Holy Ghoſt to write that which was nothing to the purpoſe. Again, it was taken for granted by all the Jews, that Joſeph was as truly the Father of Chriſt, as Mary was his Mother, as we learn from Matth. 13. 55. Luke 4. 22. John 6. 42. what then could be more to the purpoſe of the Authors of theſe Genealogies, than to prove that according to their Apprehenſions of him, he might be, yea he muſt be the Son of David, as Joſeph was, eſpecially ſince they well knew the Jews would never grant, or aver, to invalidate this Argument, that Chriſt was miraculouſly born of a Virgin, ſince that muſt prove he was the Son of God, and their Meſſiah, and ſo by certain and avowed Conſequence the Son of David.

2*dly*, I add, That this Objection ſeems not to be well grounded; for tho' it be commonly ſuppoſed, theſe Genealogies were deſigned to prove, that Jeſus was the Son of David according to the Fleſh, I ſee no cogent reaſon to believe or grant that Suppoſition: For,

1*ſt*, 'Tis certain, that theſe Genealogies could never be deſigned to prove that which they do not prove, for then theſe Sacred Writers muſt have fail'd in their Deſign; if then they do not prove this, but only that Jeſus was the Son of Joſeph by beeing the Son of his Wife Mary, they could not be deſigned to prove more. Moreover, the Genealogy of St. Matthew could never prove this to the Jews, unleſs they owned that Mary was of the Family of David: And if this was then owned by the Jews, what need was there to prove that to them which ſo infallibly followed from it, that the Fruit of her Womb was of the ſame Family? The Genealogy of St. Luke doth not prove it, becauſe there is not one word of Mary, or any other Woman in it; nor would the expreſs ſaying in it, that Mary the Mother of Jeſus, was the Daughter of Heli, prove it, unleſs they own'd her ſo to be; which had they done, (as the Proof of this to them would have been needleſs, ſo) why is it that the Kindred of our Lord delivered a contrary Tradition to this? Why do Africanus, (p) Euſebius, (q) Epiphanius, (r) St. Jerom, all born or living in Paleſtine, run into that Opinion which is ſo inconſiſtent with it, viz. that Joſeph himſelf was only in conſtruction of Law the Son of Heli? Why is it that none of the Ancient Chriſtians ever owned it. To oppoſe againſt this Tradition and unanimous Conſent of Chriſtians, an impious and lying Viſion of the Talmud of a doubtful Conſtruction, as Dr. Lightfoot confeſſeth, is, as if I ſhould oppoſe to the Tradition of all Chriſtians, that our Saviour was born of a Virgin, the blaſphemous Tales of the ſame Talmud, (s) That Mary was a Whore, and that Chriſt was the Baſtard of one Pandeira.

2*dly*, There

(s) See Buxtorf in the Stada and Pandeira.

2*dly*, There was no need to prove this by Genealogies, becauſe it was more fully and demonſtratively done by thoſe Miracles to which our Saviour ſtill appealed, as the great Evidence that he was the Meſſiah promiſed to the Jews; for the Jews owned this as evident from Scripture, by ſaying, Hath not the Scripture ſaid, that Chriſt cometh of the Seed of David? John 7. 42. Hence, ſay the Scribes and Phariſees dogmatically, Chriſt is the Son of David, Matth. 22. 42. Nor was any thing more notorious to the Jews; whence the blind Men cry out, Jeſus, thou Son of David, have mercy on us, Mark 10. 47. 48. So doth the Woman of Canaan, Matth 15. 22. So did the Multitude, ſinging at Chriſt's Entrance into Jeruſalem, Hoſanna to the Son of David, Matth. 21. 9, 15. Wherefore, thoſe Miracles which demonſtrated Chriſt was the true Meſſiah promiſed to the Jews, muſt as effectually prove to them, that he was the Son of David according to the Fleſh.

3*dly*, The Jews confeſſed, that Mary was the Mother of Jeſus, Matth. 12. 46. —13. 55. John 6. 42. and that Joſeph was his Father; if therefore they had then certain Genealogical Tables of the Family of Joſeph and Mary, they muſt ſufficiently ſhew to them of what Family Chriſt was; if they had not, why do St. Matthew and St. Luke appeal to them to prove the Family of Joſeph? Hence doth St. Peter in his Diſcourſe to the Men of Iſrael, take this for granted, That Chriſt was the Fruit of the Loins of David, Acts 2. 30, 31. and St. Paul twice aſſerts it, Rom. 1. 3. 2 Tim. 2. 8. Nor do we find that this Aſſertion met with the leaſt contradiction, from the Mouth of Scribe, or Phariſee, or any other Jew; for tho' they ſay, Doth not the Scripture teach, that Chriſt cometh of the Seed of David, and out of the Town of Bethlehem? John 7. 42. They ſay not one word againſt our Saviour's being the Chriſt upon the firſt Account, and thereby tacitly confeſs, that they could not deny it, but only doubt He was not of Bethlehem, but came out of Galilee, whence aroſe no Prophet, ver. 41, 52. Indeed, all that the latter Jews ſay againſt this, they argue from theſe very Genealogies, as being either not ſufficient to prove it, or inconſiſtent the one with the other.

Add to this, 1*ſt*, That it is certain from the Scripture, to the Chriſtian, that Mary of whom Chriſt was born, was of the Family of David; for thus the Angel ſpeaks to her, Luke 1. 31, 32. Thou ſhalt bear a Son, and ſhalt call his Name Jeſus, and the Lord ſhall give him the Throne of his Father David; now ſhe muſt be a Daughter of the Houſe of David, of whoſe Son David was the Father. The inſpired Hymn of Zacharias declares, That God by giving them this Son of Mary, had raiſed up for them a Horn of Salvation in the Houſe of his Servant David, ver. 69. This Son of Mary was therefore of the Houſe of David. 2*dly*, All the Fathers, ſaith (t) Maldonate, do with one Mouth aſſert, That Joſeph and Mary were of the ſame Tribe and Family; and this the Jews never gain-ſaid, tho' they muſt, by their Genealogical Tables, know the Truth or Falſhood of it: Now this being once granted, nothing could be farther wanting, whem it was proved that Joſeph was the Son of David, to prove, if that were the Deſign of theſe Sacred Writers, that our Lord ſprang from Abraham and David according to the Fleſh; nor is it to be wondred, that they ſhould rather give us the Genealogy of Joſeph, than of Mary, if either of them proved the ſame thing, and Genealogies among the Jews, were never made from Women, but always from the Men.

And, Laſtly, Whereas it is repreſented (in oppoſition to the Account which Africanus, and from him all the Ancients, give us of the conciliation of theſe Genealogies,) as a thing highly improbable, and even next to impoſſible, that at

The General Propoſition, that the Apoſtles and Evangeliſts indited theſe Scriptures by the Aſſiſtance of the Holy Ghoſt. XII. and XIII.

THAT theſe ſacred Writings may have their due Effect and Influence upon us, I ſhall endeavour, as well as I am able,

1*ſt*, To eſtabliſh their Divine Authority: Whence it will follow,

2*dly*, That the Doctrines and Inſtructions delivered in them, are to be owned as the Rules and Doctrines of our Lord, and ſo are neceſſary to believed and practiſed by all that bear the Name of Chriſtians. My firſt Aſſertion therefore is,

§. I. That the Apoſtles and Evangeliſts indited theſe Scriptures by the Aſſiſtance of the Holy Ghoſt, and that as the immediate ſucceeding Ages did, ſo we at preſent ſecurely may rely upon them as a Rule of Faith. And here I ſhall conſider,

1. How this Aſſiſtance may fitly be explained.
2. How far it is neceſſary, or reaſonable to aſſert it.
3. What Evidence may be offered to confirm it.

For Explication of this Divine Aſſiſtance, let it be conſidered,

1. That Prophecy is ſometimes repreſented as the Word of the Lord, and he is ſaid to ſpeak to the Prophet; and ſuitably to this Metaphor, ſome Illuſtration of the Aſſiſtance of the Holy Spirit may be made from the Analogy it bears to Human Converſation, thus: That as we convey our Thoughts one to another by ſuch words as, by the Organs of Hearing, make ſuch a Motion on their Brain to whom we ſpeak, as gives them an Idea of the words we utter, and by them of the things which by thoſe words are ſignified; and ſo 'tis the Impreſſion made upon their Brain which doth communicate our Thoughts to them; ſo when it pleaſeth God to reveal his Will to any Perſon, it ſeemeth only neceſſary that he talk inwardly with them, that is, that he make ſuch a motion on their Brains, as giveth them a deep and clear Idea of that which he intended to make known unto them, only the Impreſſion muſt be then made in ſuch a Manner and Degree, and with ſuch Circumſtances, as may make it certain to the Inſpired Perſon, that it derives from God. Now ſeeing, when we hear the Voice of any one, or receive a Letter from him, we may be certain from the knowledge we have of his Voice, or his Hand-writing, that it is he indeed who ſpeaks or writeth to us; We may very well conceive, that God can eaſily give ſuch diſtinctive Marks of what he inwardly ſpeaks to us, or writes upon the Tables of our Hearts, as ſhall enable us to diſcern what he imprints upon them, from any Impreſſion that ſhall otherwiſe be made upon them.

2. Sometimes the Prophet is in Scripture ſtiled a Seer, and his Word a Viſion; and then the Parallel, or the Analogy, runs thus: As we ſee, by virtue of a Light reflecting the Species of Things upon the Retina of the Eye, and thence deriving a peculiar Motion to, and making a diſtinct Impreſſion on the Brain; ſo may the Prophet be ſuppoſed to ſee what God reveals unto him, by a like Motion of the Holy Spirit made upon his Brain concerning it. And as it is as eaſie to propoſe a material Object to the View, as to deſcribe it by our words, ſo muſt it be as eaſie for God to dart ſuch an Impreſſion or inward Light upon the Brain of the Prophet or Spiritual Man, as ſhall give him a more bright and ſenſible Idea of Things, than if he did perceive them by the Ear, or even view them by the Eye. And as we more exactly diſcern a ſenſible Object by the View, than we know it by a Deſcription of it without that View; ſo the Jews ſay, that Prophecy במראה in Viſion, is more excellent than that which comes only בחלום by Dream, or in a Dream, in which we ſeem to hear one talking with us.

Now though this Impreſſion may be ſufficient to convince the Prophet, and Inſpired Perſon, that his Revelation did indeed derive from God, yet ſince this Revelation was intended not for himſelf, but for the uſe of others, he, with the Revelation, muſt be enabled by ſome convincing Proof, to evidence to thoſe who were concerned to embrace it, that he was ſent indeed by God with ſuch a Meſſage to them. Now of this, they only could be ſatisfied by ſome outward Marks or Notes, of which they, by their Senſes, were enabled to judge, viz. The Miracles wrought for confirmation of his Teſtimony, or ſome Prophetical Prediction of ſomething future and contingent, exactly verified in the Event. And thus, ſaith the Apoſtle, was their preaching confirmed to the World; God bearing witneſs to them, both with Signs and Wonders, and with divers Miracles, and Gifts of the Holy Ghoſt according to his Will, Heb. 2. 4.

The Ways of Prophecy under the Old Teſtament, ſeem to be comprehended under theſe Four Heads, viz. Either the Prophets received their Revelation in a Dream or Trance, or in a Viſion, or by a Voice from Heaven, or by the ſecret Suggeſtions of the Holy Ghoſt.

Now ſome of the Apoſtles had their Viſions either by Day, as Peter; for an Ecſtaſie fell upon him, and he ſaw the Heavens opened, and he heard a Voice ſaying to him, Ariſe, Peter, kill, kill, and eat, Acts 10. 11. and this is called ὅραμα, a Viſion, ver. 17. And by this, ſaith he, God taught me to call no Man common or unclean, ver. 28. Or by Night; Thus a Viſion of the Night was ſeen by Paul, and a Man ſpeaking to him in the Viſion of the Night, Acts 16. 9. They had alſo the Spirit ſpeaking to them; for the Spirit ſaid to Peter, Behold three Men ſeek thee: Ariſe therefore, and go with them, nothing doubting, for I have ſent them, Acts 10. 20, 21. And ſometimes they had Viſions and Revelations of the Lord, either by way of Rapture to them, 2 Cor. 12. 2. or of Converſe with them; as when Chriſt ſaid to St. Paul, My Grace is ſufficient for thee, ver. 9. Here then are three kinds of Revelation granted to the Apoſtles; but then theſe Things were moſtly occaſional and accidental to them, in reſpect of their Apoſtolical Function.

Only the caſe of the Apoſtle Paul muſt here admit of an Exception; for it being neceſſary for an Apoſtle, that is, a Witneſs of Chriſt's Reſurrection, to have ſeen the Lord riſen from the Dead, according to thoſe words, Am I not an Apoſtle? Have I not ſeen the Lord? 1 Cor. 9. 1. And for an Apoſtle, not of Man, neither by Man, but by Jeſus Chriſt, Gal. 1. 1. to receive his Meſſage immediately from the Lord Jeſus, Chriſt ſpeaks thus to him, I have appeared unto thee for this purpoſe, to make thee a Miniſter, and a Witneſs, both of thoſe things which thou haſt ſeen, and of thoſe things in the which I will appear unto thee, Acts 26. 16. Which words contain a Promiſe of an immediate Inſtruction from Chriſt in his Apoſtolical Function: Whence this Apoſtle declares, confirming that his Declaration with an Oath, The Goſpel which was preached by me, was not after Man, for I neither received it of Man, neither was I taught it (by Man,) but (only) by the Revelation of Jeſus Chriſt, Gal. 1. 11, 12. He therefore had his Meſſage from Chriſt, as Moſes had from God, Chriſt ſpeaking to him Mouth to Mouth, &c. Numb. 12. 7.

But yet that which enabled them for the inditing of theſe Writings, as a Rule of Faith to all ſucceeding Ages, was the internal and powerful Aſſiſtance of the Holy Spirit.

§. II. To proceed then to the Second Enquiry, How far 'tis neceſſary or reaſonable to aſſert the Divine Aſſiſtance of the Holy Spirit, or his Inſpiration to theſe Sacred Writers. To this I ſhall anſwer, by premiſing a Diſtinction of the Jews, between thoſe Sacred Writers who were Prophets properly ſo called, and the Chetubim or Holy Writers, who penn'd their Compoſitions by the Aſſiſtance of the Holy Ghoſt.

To the Prophets properly ſo called, they aſcribe an immediate Suggeſtion and Repreſentation in their Fancy and Imaginations of the Things which they delivered as from the Mouth, and in the Name of God, he keeping ſtill alive upon them the Images and Reſemblances of the Viſions which they ſaw, till they were penn'd, and imprinting on their Memories the Meſſages which they delivered by his Command to the People. Hence, when the Roll of Jeremy was burnt, he was enabled to dictate again to Baruch the ſame words, Chap. 36. 32. And this I believe to be true, concerning all the Viſions they declare they ſaw, and all the Meſſages they deliver with this Preface, Thus ſaith the Lord, or, The Word of the Lord, came to N. N. ſaying; but I do not think it neceſſary, with reference to the Hiſtorical Things related in the Writings of Joſhua, Judges, Samuel, Kings, which the Jews ſtile the former Prophets, or with reſpect to the Hiſtorical Relations contained in the Prophecies of Iſaiah, Jeremiah, &c.

To the Chetubim, or Holy Writers, who penn'd their Writings by the Aſſiſtance of the Holy Spirit, they aſcribe:

1*ſt*, An impulſe from God to write or to compoſe them, but ſuch as left them to the uſe of their own Words, and to the exerciſe of their Reaſons.

2*dly*, A ſuperintendency of the Holy Spirit over them, and a Divine Aſſiſtance ſtill cleaving to them in thoſe Compoſitions, ſo that they ſhould not be obnoxious to any Error or Miſtake in what they did indite; that Aſſiſtance which they aſcribe to their Prophets, by later Writers is called an Inſpiration of Suggeſtion; the ſecond, or the Aſſiſtance of the Chetubim, an Inſpiration of Direction only.

And this Aſſiſtance was thought inferiour to that of Prophecy, not as to the certainty of the Revelation, or the ſubject Matter, but only as to the Degree and Meaſure of it; for becauſe there was in theſe Compoſitions no Viſum Propheticum, i. e. no Viſion exhibited, nor did they ſpeak in this high ſtrain, Thus ſaith the Lord, therefore they thought they were not to be ſtiled Prophets in the proper acceptation of the word. And I conjecture that it is for this latter Reaſon only, that they put the Prophet Daniel not among the Prophets, but the Hagiographi, or Sacred Writers, becauſe he never uſeth theſe Expreſſions, Thus ſaith the Lord, or ſaith, The Word of the Lord came unto me; ſince otherwiſe in Viſions, he was ſcarce inferior to any of the other Prophets. Nor is it eaſie to conjecture in what this way, whether of Revelation, or Divine Aſſiſtance, and Inſpiration by the Holy Ghoſt, ſhould be inferior to the former. For,

THAT theſe ſacred Writings may have their due Effect and Influence upon us, I ſhall endeavour, as well as I am able,

1*ſt*, To eſtabliſh their Divine Authority: Whence it will follow,

2*dly*, That the Doctrines and Inſtructions delivered in them, are to be owned as the Rules and Doctrines of our Lord, and ſo are neceſſary to believed and practiſed by all that bear the Name of Chriſtians. My firſt Aſſertion therefore is,

1. How this Aſſiſtance may fitly be explained.

The Ways of Prophecy under the Old Teſtament, ſeem to be comprehended under theſe Four Heads, viz. Either the Prophets received their Revelation in a Dream or Trance, or in a Viſion, or by a Voice from Heaven, or by the ſecret Suggeſtions of the Holy Ghoſt.

Now ſome of the Apoſtles had their Viſions either by Day, as Peter; for an Ecſtaſie fell upon him, and he ſaw the Heavens opened, and he heard a Voice ſaying to him, Ariſe, Peter, kill, kill, and eat, Acts 10. 11. and this is called ὅραμα, a Vision, ver. 17. And by this, saith he, God taught me to call no Man common or unclean, ver. 28. Or by Night; Thus a Vision of the Night was seen by Paul, and a Man speaking to him in the Vision of the Night, Acts 16. 9. They had also the Spirit speaking to them; for the Spirit said to Peter, Behold three Men seek thee: Arise therefore, and go with them, nothing doubting, for I have sent them, Acts 10. 20, 21. And sometimes they had Visions and Revelations of the Lord, either by way of Rapture to them, 2 Cor. 12. 2. or of Converse with them; as when Christ said to St. Paul, My Grace is sufficient for thee, ver. 9. Here then are three kinds of Revelation granted to the Apostles; but then these Things were mostly occasional and accidental to them, in respect of their Apostolical Function.

Only the case of the Apostle Paul must here admit of an Exception; for it being necessary for an Apostle, that is, a Witness of Christ's Resurrection, to have seen the Lord risen from the Dead, according to those words, Am I not an Apostle? Have I not seen the Lord? 1 Cor. 9. 1. And for an Apostle, not of Man, neither by Man, but by Jesus Christ, Gal. 1. 1. to receive his Message immediately from the Lord Jesus, Christ speaks thus to him, I have appeared unto thee for this purpose, to make thee a Minister, and a Witness, both of those things which thou hast seen, and of those things in the which I will appear unto thee, Acts 26. 16. Which words contain a Promise of an immediate Instruction from Christ in his Apostolical Function: Whence this Apostle declares, confirming that his Declaration with an Oath, The Gospel which was preached by me, was not after Man, for I neither received it of Man, neither was I taught it (by Man,) but (only) by the Revelation of Jesus Christ, Gal. 1. 11, 12. He therefore had his Message from Christ, as Moses had from God, Christ speaking to him Mouth to Mouth, &c. Numb. 12. 7.

But yet that which enabled them for the inditing of these Writings, as a Rule of Faith to all succeeding Ages, was the internal and powerful Assistance of the Holy Spirit.

§. II. To proceed then to the Second Enquiry, How far 'tis necessary or reasonable to assert the Divine Assistance of the Holy Spirit, or his Inspiration to these Sacred Writers. To this I shall answer, by premising a Distinction of the Jews, between those Sacred Writers who were Prophets properly so called, and the Chetubim or Holy Writers, who penn'd their Compositions by the Assistance of the Holy Ghost.

To the Prophets properly so called, they ascribe an immediate Suggestion and Representation in their Fancy and Imaginations of the Things which they delivered as from the Mouth, and in the Name of God, he keeping still alive upon them the Images and Resemblances of the Visions which they saw, till they were penn'd, and imprinting on their Memories the Messages which they delivered by his Command to the People. Hence, when the Roll of Jeremy was burnt, he was enabled to dictate again to Baruch the same words, Chap. 36. 32. And this I believe to be true, concerning all the Visions they declare they saw, and all the Messages they deliver with this Preface, Thus saith the Lord, or, The Word of the Lord, came to N. N. saying; but I do not think it necessary, with reference to the Historical Things related in the Writings of Joshua, Judges, Samuel, Kings, which the Jews stile the former Prophets, or with respect to the Historical Relations contained in the Prophecies of Isaiah, Jeremiah, &c.

To the Chetubim, or Holy Writers, who penn'd their Writings by the Assistance of the Holy Spirit, they ascribe:

1*st*, An impulse from God to write or to compose them, but such as left them to the use of their own Words, and to the exercise of their Reasons.

2*dly*, A superintendency of the Holy Spirit over them, and a Divine Assistance still cleaving to them in those Compositions, so that they should not be obnoxious to any Error or Mistake in what they did indite; that Assistance which they ascribe to their Prophets, by later Writers is called an Inspiration of Suggestion; the second, or the Assistance of the Chetubim, an Inspiration of Direction only.

And this Assistance was thought inferiour to that of Prophecy, not as to the certainty of the Revelation, or the subject Matter, but only as to the Degree and Measure of it; for because there was in these Compositions no Visum Propheticum, i. e. no Vision exhibited, nor did they speak in this high strain, Thus saith the Lord, therefore they thought they were not to be stiled Prophets in the proper acceptation of the word. And I conjecture that it is for this latter Reason only, that they put the Prophet Daniel not among the Prophets, but the Hagiographi, or Sacred Writers, because he never useth these Expressions, Thus saith the Lord, or saith, The Word of the Lord came unto me; since otherwise in Visions, he was scarce inferior to any of the other Prophets. Nor is it easie to conjecture in what this way, whether of Revelation, or Divine Assistance, and Inspiration by the Holy Ghost, should be inferior to the former. For,

1*ſt*, Sure it is no Diſparagement to this way, that Perſons acted by it do not expreſs themſelves in (a) Parables, Similitudes, and Riddles, but uſe a more familiar Language, and appear in a more ſimple undiſguiſing Dreſs, and ſo more advantageouſly condeſcend to the Capacity of the Reader. Nor,

2*dly*, That it doth not act ſo much on the (b) Imagination and the Fancy, but is principally ſeated in the higher and purer Faculties of the Soul, which is the ſecond Difference aſſigned between them. Nor,

3*dly*, That it chiefly (c) moveth the inſpired Perſon to dictate Matters of true Piety, and Goodneſs, of Virtue, Wiſdom, and of Prudence; theſe Differences, if aſſigned truly, ſeem to me to be Advantages of this Aſſiſtance, above that which uſually was afforded to the ancient Prophets, rather than Tokens that it was really inferior to the Inſpiration they enjoy'd.

And this will be more evident, if we compare this Aſſiſtance of the Holy Spirit with that Gradus Moſaicus, which the Jews generally account the higheſt, or ſupreme Degree of Propheſie, and is recorded in theſe words, If there be a Prophet among you, I the Lord will make my ſelf known to him in a Viſion, and will ſpeak to him in a Dream. My Servant Moſes is not ſo, who is faithful in all my Houſe; with him will I ſpeak Mouth to Mouth, even apparently, and not in dark Speeches, and the Similitude of the Lord ſhall he behold, Numb. 12. 6, 7, 8. Whence the Jews gather theſe ſeveral Excellencies of the Prophetick Gift of Moſes above what was vouchſafed to the other Prophets, viz.

1*ſt*. That all other (d) Prophets propheſied by Dream or by Viſion, but Moſes propheſied when he was waking, and ſtanding. Now this alſo did the ſpiritual Perſon moved by the Holy Ghoſt.

2*dly*, That other (e) Prophets propheſied by the Hand of an Angel, and therefore ſaw what they ſaw, in (f) Parables and dark Speeches; but Moſes ſpake immediately from the Mouth of God, and without Parables, or dark Speeches; and ſo alſo did the ſpiritual Perſon ſpeak under the Goſpel Diſpenſation, not by an Angel, but by that Spirit which ſearcheth the deep things of God; not in Parables, and dark Riddles, but with great plainneſs of Speech.

3*dly*, That all the Prophets were afraid, and troubled, and fainted, but Moſes was not ſo: Nor was it ſo with our Apoſtles. Moreover, there was Strength, ſay they, in Moſes to underſtand the words of the Propheſie; and ſo was there alſo in the Prophets to underſtand the Revelations of the Spirit. So that you ſee, this way of Aſſiſtance gave to the Pen-men of the New Teſtament, all theſe Prerogatives of Moſes above the other Prophets; and ſo I know not why it ſhould be reckoned inferior to their way of Propheſie, upon thoſe very accounts for which the way of Propheſie vouchſafed to Moſes is preferred above them, eſpecially if we conſider that St. Peter lays this as the true Foundation of their Credibility, that they ſpake as they were moved by the Holy Ghoſt, 2 Pet. 1. 21.

But 'tis of no great Moment to inſiſt on this Compariſon, ſince the ſacred Writers of the ſecond Order ſtiled Hagiographi, are ſaid to be ſo far attended with the Divine Aſſiſtance in their Compoſitions, as that they could not be obnoxious in them to Error, or Miſtake, in what they writ, which is abundantly ſufficient to render all their Compoſitions a certain and unerring Rule of Faith, in what they have delivered as the Object of it.

To proceed then to the Conſideration of the Diſtinction hinted before, viz. Of Inſpiration by Suggeſtion, and Inſpiration of Direction only. I ſay then,

1*ſt*, That where there is no antecedent Idea, or Knowledge of the Things written for the good of others, to be obtained from Reaſon, or a former Revelation, an Inſpiration of Suggeſtion muſt be vouchſafed to the Apoſtles, to enable them to make them known unto the World. But where there is an antecedent Knowledge of the things to be indited, it can only be neceſſary, that God ſhould either immediately, or by ſome ſpecial Occaſions, excite them to indite thoſe things, and ſhould ſo carefully preſide over, and direct their Minds whilſt writing, as to ſuggeſt, or bring into their Memories, ſuch things as his Wiſdom thought fit to be written, and ſhould not ſuffer them to err in the Delivery of what was thus indited in his Name, or as Apoſtles of God the Father, and our Lord Jeſus Chriſt. And therefore,

2*dly*, In all their Revelations of Myſteries, or Things which could not otherwiſe be made known to them, either by natural Reaſon, or antecedent Revelation, they muſt be acknowledged to have had them by an immediate Suggeſtion of the Holy Spirit. Hence of theſe things the Apoſtle ſays negatively, That the natural Man (who only judges of things by his his natural Reaſon) cannot know them, becauſe they are ſpiritually diſcerned, 1 Cor. 2. 14. i. e. they being Myſteries, can only be diſcerned by the Revelation of the Spirit; and poſitively, that they ſpake the Wiſdom of God in a Myſtery, even the Wiſdom hid from former Ages, which Eye had not ſeen, nor Ear heard, nor had it entred into the Heart of Man to conceive, 1 Cor. 2. 7. and that becauſe God had revealed theſe things to them by his Spirit, ver. 9. they having received the Spirit of God, that they might know the things which are freely given to us of God, ver. 10. Thus was the Myſtery of the calling of the Gentiles into an equality of Privileges with the believing Jews, made known unto them; for God by Revelation, ſaith St. Paul, made known to me the Myſtery of Chriſt, which in other Ages was not made known as it is now revealed to his holy Apoſtles and Prophets by the Spirit, that the Gentiles ſhould be Fellow-heirs, and of the ſame Body, and Partakers of his Promiſe in Chriſt by the Goſpel, Eph. 3. 3, 4, 5, 6. Chap. 1. 9. — 6. 19. Col. 1. 26, 27. — 2. 2. — 4. 3, 4. So they knew the Myſtery of the recalling of the Jews, Rom. 11. 25, 26. The Myſtery of the Reſurrection, i. e. the Quality of the Bodies to be raiſed, and the Order of it, with all the other ſpecial Circumſtances mentioned, 1 Cor. 15. 1 Theſſ. 4. and the Apoſtacy of the latter times; for the Spirit ſpeaketh expreſly, ſaith the Apoſtle, That in the latter days Men ſhall depart from the Faith, 1 Tim. 4. 1. This Inſpiration of Suggeſtion muſt alſo be allowed to St. John the Author of the Revelations, for he ſpeaking only what was repreſented to him in Viſions, or by Angelical Diſcourſes, or Apparitions, muſt have that Aſſiſtance which ſuggeſted theſe Ideas to him. But,

3*dly*, As for thoſe things which they did know already, either by natural Reaſon, Education, or antecedent Revelation, they needed only ſuch an Aſſiſtance, or Direction in them, as would ſecure them from Error in their Reaſonings, or in their Confirmation of their Doctrines by Paſſages contained in the Old Teſtament; and therefore a continual Suggeſtion muſt be here unneceſſary. And indeed one great Work they had upon their Hands both in Preaching the Goſpel, and Writing theſe Goſpels, and Epiſtles, being to convince the unbelieving Jew, or to confirm the wavering Jew, or rectifie the Errors of the Judaizing Chriſtian, the Gift of Knowledge of the Scriptures of the Old Teſtament was very neceſſary to them, and therefore is deſervedly reckoned among the primary Gifts of the Holy Ghoſt; and being ſo, we have reaſon to believe, that either the Holy Ghoſt ſuggeſted to their Memory thoſe Scriptures which they uſed in theſe ſacred Writings to convince them, or elſe preſided ſo over them, as not to ſuffer them to make any Inferences from them which were not agreeable to the true intent and meaning of them; though, at this diſtance of time, we may not always be able to diſcern the Strength and Clearneſs of the Conſequence. And,

4*thly*, In writing the Hiſtorical Parts of the New Teſtament, or Matters of Fact relating to themſelves, or others, 'tis only neceſſary, That what is there delivered as Matter of Fact, ſhould truly be performed, as it is ſaid to have been done; but 'tis not neceſſary that they ſhould be related in that order of time in which they were performed, unleſs that alſo be affirmed of them; for this muſt be ſufficient to aſſure us of the Truth of what they thus delivered.

Moreover, in writing the Diſcourſes contained in theſe Books, it is not neceſſary that the very words ſhould be ſuggeſted, or recorded in which they were firſt ſpoken, but only that the true intent, and meaning of them ſhould be related, tho' in diverſity of words. Tho' the Promiſe made to the Apoſtles by our Lord, That the Holy Spirit ſhould bring to their Remembrance, πάντα, all things which he had ſaid unto them, John 14. 26. doth fairly plead for this Exactneſs in what they have delivered of our Saviour's Sermons; it being ſcarce imaginable their Memory, without Divine Aſſiſtance, ſhould exactly give us all that was ſpoken in ſuch long Diſcourſes.

And hence we may account for the Objections againſt this divine Aſſiſtance, ariſing from the 7th of the Acts; for tho' I have ſhewed in the Note on ver. 15, 16. that there is no real Miſtake in the words of the Proto-martyr, yet were it granted, That there is an Error in his account of the Sepulchres of the Patriarchs, yet that affects not the Authority of St. Luke at all, provided he exactly hath related what was then ſaid by St. Stephen, who was not choſen to be a Pen-man of the Holy Scriptures.

Laſtly, From what is thus diſcourſed it may appear, That I contend only for ſuch an Inſpiration, or Divine Aſſiſtance, of the Sacred Writers of the New Teſtament, as will aſſure us of the Truth of what they writ, whether by Inſpiration of Suggeſtion, or Direction only; but not for ſuch an Inſpiration as implies, that even their words were dictated, or their Phraſes ſuggeſted to them by the Holy Ghoſt: This in ſome Matters of great moment might be ſo, St. Paul declaring, that they ſpake the things which were given them of God in the words which the Holy Ghoſt teacheth, 1 Cor. 2. 13. if that relate not to what the Holy Ghoſt had taught them out of the Old Teſtament. But that it was not always ſo, is evident, both from the Conſideration that they were Hagiographers, who are

ſuppoſed to be left to the uſe of their own words, and from the variety of the Stile in which they write, and from the Solœciſms which are ſometimes viſible in their Compoſitions; and more eſpecially from their own words, which manifeſtly ſhew, that in ſome caſes they had no ſuch Suggeſtions from the Holy Ghoſt, as doth imply, that he had dictated thoſe words unto them. For inſtance, when St. Paul declares his Will, or Purpoſe to do, what he was hindred by the Providence of God from doing; as when he ſaith to the Romans, When I go into Spain, I will come to you, Chap. 15. 24. I will come by you into Spain, ver. 28. For tho' he might, after his Enlargement, go into the Weſt, where (g) St. Clemens ſaith, he preached; and even into Spain, as (h) Cyril, (i) Epiphanius, and (k) Theodoret ſay he did; yet it is certain he did not deſignedly go to Rome, in order to an intended Journey into Spain: And when he ſaith to the Corinthians, I will come to you when I paſs through Macedonia, 1 Cor. 16. 5. and yet confeſſeth in his ſecond Epiſtle, 2 Cor. 1. 15, 16, 17. that he did not perform that Journey; for 'tis not to be thought the Holy Ghoſt ſhould incite him to promiſe, or even purpoſe what he knew he would not perform. This alſo we learn from all thoſe places in which they do expreſs their Ignorance, or Doubtfulneſs of that which they are ſpeaking of; as when St. Paul ſaith, I know not whether I baptized any other, 1 Cor. 1. 16. And again, τυχὸν παραμενῶ, perhaps I will abide, yea, and winter with you, 1 Cor. 16. 6. And when St. Peter ſaith, By Silvanus a faithful Brother, as I ſuppoſe, have I written to you, 1 Pet. 5. 12. For theſe words plainly ſhew, That in all theſe things they had no Inſpiration, or Divine Aſſiſtance. This, laſtly, may be gathered from all thoſe places in which they only do expreſs their hope, and that conditionally of doing this, or that, as in theſe words, I hope to ſee you in my Journey, Rom. 15. 24. I will come unto you quickly, if the Lord will, 1 Cor. 4. 19. I hope to ſtay ſome time with you, if the Lord permit, 1 Cor. 16. 7. I hope in the Lord Jeſus to ſend Timothy quickly to you, Phil. 2. 19, 23. And, I truſt that I my ſelf alſo ſhall come quickly, ver. 24. Theſe things I write, hoping to come to thee quickly, but if I ſhould tarry that thou mayſt know how to behave thy ſelf in the Church of God, 1 Tim. 3. 14, 15. I hope by your Prayers to be given to you, Philem. 22. This will we do if the Lord permit, Heb. 6. 3. I hope to come to you, St. John Ep. 2. 12. Ep. 3. v. 14. For, (1.) Spes eſt incertæ rei nomen, the word Hope, implieth an Uncertainty, whereas the Holy Spirit cannot be uncertain of any thing; nor can we think he would inſpire Men to ſpeak ſo uncertainly. And, (2.) There can be no neceſſity, or even uſe of a Divine Aſſiſtance to enable a Man to expreſs his Hopes, ſeeing all Men do by natural Reflection know them.

1*ſt*, Then, I can by no means grant any Slips of Memory in the Compilers of theſe Sacred Books of the New Teſtament; for tho' theſe are allowed by (l) ſome in matters of ſmall Conſequence, as they are pleaſed to ſtile them, yet is it of great Conſequence that we do not own them: For, if you grant they have thus ſlipt at all, by what Rules can we be aſſured they have not ſlipt above an hundred times, or even in moſt of their Hiſtorical Relations? For inſtance, if St. Matthew could ſlip in citing the words of the Prophet Jeremiah by a miſtake, for the words of Zechariah, Matth. 27. 9. why not alſo in citing the words of the Prophet Iſaiah, or of any other Prophet? If one of thoſe ſacred Writers might be ſubject to theſe Slips, why not all? If once, why not often? And can we think it no Prejudice to the divine Authority of theſe Sacred Writings, that they ſhould ſo oft be ſubject to falſe Citations, and produce falſe Stories, contradicting the Truth of the Old Teſtament? Would not this yield a great Advantage againſt our Rule of Faith, both to the unbelieving Jews, and to the Sceptics, and Antiſcripturiſts, which too much abound among us? Nor,

2*dly*, Can I grant that the Apoſtles determined any Matters of Practice merely from Rules of Human Prudence, without the Guidance, and Direction of the Holy Spirit; it is pretended, this is done by St. Paul in theſe words, To the reſt ſpeak I, not the Lord, 1 Cor. 7. 12. And again in theſe, Concerning Virgins I have no Commandment of the Lord, but I give my Judgment, or Advice, as one that hath obtained Mercy of the Lord to be found faithful: I judge therefore this to be good for the preſent neceſſity, ver. 25, 26. And a third third time, She is happier if she so remain, after my Judgment, and I think also that I have the Spirit of God, ver. 40. This is not, (m) saith one, spoken with the Authority of a Teacher sent from God, or an Apostle, but in such a Stile as implies only an ordinary Assistance, such as any pious skilful Pastor may expect.

Answ. To this I answer, 1. That what the Apostle speaks of here, from ver. 12. to the 24th seemeth to be no slight matter, but of great Importance to the good of Societies, and to the Honour of Christianity; for sure it would have been a signal Blemish to the Christian Faith, should it have tended to dissolve the Bonds of Matrimony, or given Men or Women license to quit that Sacred Tie purely because they were turned Christians. And hence we find that the Apostle had taken especial care to prevent this Imputation every where, by ordaining the very same thing in all other Churches, which he here prescribes to the Corinthians; though then he who had said before, To the married speak not I, but the Lord, 1 Cor. 7. 17. because that case had been particularly decided by Christ, Matth. 19. 9. says afterwards, To the rest say I, not the Lord; he says not this to intimate that this Direction only was given by him as a Man using his natural Reason, only to direct them to what he thought best, but not as delivering the Mind of Christ, for he had before declared the contrary, by saying, We have the Mind of Christ, 1 Cor. 2. 16. and after doth it in these words, If any Man think himself a Prophet, or Spiritual, let him acknowledge that the things I write unto you are the Commandments of the Lord, Chap. 14. 37. but only to declare our Lord, in his Discourse of Divorce, had not decided the case de imparibus conjugiis, of the Marriage of a Believer with an Infidel, but had left this to the Decision of those Apostles to whom he had promised the Assistance of the Holy Ghost, to lead them into all Truth, John 16. 13.

Answ. 2. In the words cited with relation to the case of Virgins, though the Apostle owns he had no particular Commandment of the Lord, as he had in the case of married Persons, yet doth he say sufficient to convince us, that he advised in that matter not only as a Man assisted by his natural Reason, but also as one assisted by the Spirit of God; for,

1*st*, Though, saith he, as to this, I have no particular Command, I give my Advice in it as one who hath obtained Mercy of the Lord to be found faithful, (in the Discharge of my Apostolical Office.) Now this, saith he, is all that is required of a Minister of Christ, and Steward of his Mysteries, that he be found faithful in administring the Grace of his Apostleship, 1 Cor. 4. 12. And this Fidelity was still attended with the Power of Christ assisting them, as appears from these words, I thank Jesus Christ our Lord, who hath enabled me, for that he counted me faithful, putting me into the Ministry, 1 Tim. 1. 12. So that this Phrase doth not imply that the Apostle had only an ordinary Assistance in this Advice, such as any skilful pious Pastor may expect. And this is still more evident in those words, She is happier if she so abide, after my Judgment; and I think I have the Spirit of God (enabling me to form that Judgment;) for they who say, this is not spoken with the Authority of an Apostle, or a Teacher sent from God, seem not to have considered that the Apostle was writing to them who were apt to question his Apostleship, and required a proof of Christ speaking in him, 2 Cor. 13. 3. and to them it was proper to say, whatsoever you may conceive of me, I suppose I have the Spirit of God, i. e. the Spirit of Wisdom, and Knowledge to enable me to make this Advice. Moreover the words δοκῶ ἔχειν may be rendred, I have the Spirit of God; so in this Epistle, ὁ δοκῶν εἶ φιλόνεικος is, he that is contentious, Chap. 11. 16. and εἴ τις δοκεῖ προφήτης, if any Man be a Prophet. See the Note there. Nor,

3*dly* Do I grant that St. Paul any where implies that he doth not always use the best Arguments, but sometimes such as are best fitted to the Capacities, and Notions of those he writes to; for if so, by what Rules shall we be able to distinguish betwixt his Arguments on which we may safely rely, as being absolutely true, and those which only are accommodated to the Notions of those with whom he had to do? St. Paul doth indeed say, ἀνθρώπινον λέγω, I speak after the manner of Men, or what is common to Men, because of the Infirmity of your Flesh, Rom. 6. 19. but he speaks not this by way of excuse for not using the best Argument he could in this Affair, but he speaks this by way of Illustration of his Argument, or Exhortation. The sense which the Antients put upon these words is this, τῇ φύσει μέλλω τὴν ἐξήγησιν, I frame my Exhortation with a due Consideration of the Infirmity of your Flesh, requiring only that you should do that Service now to God, which you have formerly done to Sin, I rather think the Apostle discourseth to this effect: In this Discourse of their being Servants formerly to Sin, and their Obligation now to be Servants to Righteousness, I speak that which all natural Men must have had Experience of by reason of the Infirmity of the Flesh, and of which they may thence take a just Idea, requiring only that as they

For theſe words plainly ſhew, That in all theſe things they had no Inſpiration, or Divine Aſſiſtance. This, laſtly, may be gathered from all thoſe places in which they only do expreſs their hope, and that conditionally of doing this, or that, as in theſe words, I hope to ſee you in my Journey, Rom. 15. 24. I will come unto you quickly, if the Lord will, 1 Cor. 4. 19. I hope to ſtay ſome time with you, if the Lord permit, 1 Cor. 16. 7. I hope in the Lord Jeſus to ſend Timothy quickly to you, Phil. 2. 19, 23. And, I truſt that I my ſelf alſo ſhall come quickly, ver. 24. Theſe things I write, hoping to come to thee quickly, but if I ſhould tarry that thou mayſt know how to behave thy ſelf in the Church of God, 1 Tim. 3. 14, 15. I hope by your Prayers to be given to you, Philem. 22. This will we do if the Lord permit, Heb. 6. 3. I hope to come to you, St. John Ep. 2. 12. Ep. 3. v. 14. For, (1.) Spes eſt incertæ rei nomen, the word Hope, implieth an Uncertainty, whereas the Holy Spirit cannot be uncertain of any thing; nor can we think he would inſpire Men to ſpeak ſo uncertainly. And, (2.) There can be no neceſſity, or even uſe of a Divine Aſſiſtance to enable a Man to expreſs his Hopes, ſeeing all Men do by natural Reflection know them.

§. III. And having thus declared what I do allow, I now proceed to ſhew what in this matter I cannot admit of it;

1*ſt*, Then, I can by no means grant any Slips of Memory in the Compilers of theſe Sacred Books of the New Teſtament; for tho' theſe are allowed by (l) ſome in matters of ſmall Conſequence, as they are pleaſed to ſtile them, yet is it of great Conſequence that we do not own them: For, if you grant they have thus ſlipt at all, by what Rules can we be aſſured they have not ſlipt above an hundred times, or even in moſt of their Hiſtorical Relations? For inſtance, if St. Matthew could ſlip in citing the words of the Prophet Jeremiah by a miſtake, for the words of Zechariah, Matth. 27. 9. why not alſo in citing the words of the Prophet Iſaiah, or of any other Prophet? If one of thoſe ſacred Writers might be ſubject to theſe Slips, why not all? If once, why not often? And can we think it no Prejudice to the divine Authority of theſe Sacred Writings, that they ſhould ſo oft be ſubject to falſe Citations, and produce falſe Stories, contradicting the Truth of the Old Teſtament? Would not this yield a great Advantage againſt our Rule of Faith, both to the unbelieving Jews, and to the Sceptics, and Antiſcripturiſts, which too much abound among us? Nor,

2*dly*, Can I grant that the Apoſtles determined any Matters of Practice merely from Rules of Human Prudence, without the Guidance, and Direction of the Holy Spirit; it is pretended, this is done by St. Paul in theſe words, To the reſt ſpeak I, not the Lord, 1 Cor. 7. 12. And again in theſe, Concerning Virgins I have no Commandment of the Lord, but I give my Judgment, or Advice, as one that hath obtained Mercy of the Lord to be found faithful: I judge therefore this to be good for the preſent neceſſity, ver. 25, 26. And a third third time, She is happier if ſhe ſo remain, after my Judgment, and I think alſo that I have the Spirit of God, ver. 40. This is not, (m) ſaith one, ſpoken with the Authority of a Teacher ſent from God, or an Apoſtle, but in ſuch a Stile as implies only an ordinary Aſſiſtance, ſuch as any pious skilful Paſtor may expect.

Anſw. To this I anſwer, 1. That what the Apoſtle ſpeaks of here, from ver. 12. to the 24th ſeemeth to be no ſlight matter, but of great Importance to the good of Societies, and to the Honour of Chriſtianity; for ſure it would have been a ſignal Blemiſh to the Chriſtian Faith, ſhould it have tended to diſſolve the Bonds of Matrimony, or given Men or Women licenſe to quit that Sacred Tie purely becauſe they were turned Chriſtians. And hence we find that the Apoſtle had taken eſpecial care to prevent this Imputation every where, by ordaining the very ſame thing in all other Churches, which he here preſcribes to the Corinthians; though then he who had ſaid before, To the married ſpeak not I, but the Lord, 1 Cor. 7. 17. becauſe that caſe had been particularly decided by Chriſt, Matth. 19. 9. ſays afterwards, To the reſt ſay I, not the Lord; he ſays not this to intimate that this Direction only was given by him as a Man uſing his natural Reaſon, only to direct them to what he thought beſt, but not as delivering the Mind of Chriſt, for he had before declared the contrary, by ſaying, We have the Mind of Chriſt, 1 Cor. 2. 16. and after doth it in theſe words, If any Man think himſelf a Prophet, or Spiritual, let him acknowledge that the things I write unto you are the Commandments of the Lord, Chap. 14. 37. but only to declare our Lord, in his Diſcourſe of Divorce, had not decided the caſe de imparibus conjugiis, of the Marriage of a Believer with an Infidel, but had left this to the Deciſion of thoſe Apoſtles to whom he had promiſed the Aſſiſtance of the Holy Ghoſt, to lead them into all Truth, John 16. 13.

Anſw. 2. In the words cited with relation to the caſe of Virgins, though the Apoſtle owns he had no particular Commandment of the Lord, as he had in the caſe of married Perſons, yet doth he ſay ſufficient to convince us, that he adviſed in that matter not only as a Man aſſiſted by his natural Reaſon, but alſo as one aſſiſted by the Spirit of God; for,

1*ſt*, Though, ſaith he, as to this, I have no particular Command, I give my Advice in it as one who hath obtained Mercy of the Lord to be found faithful, (in the Diſcharge of my Apoſtolical Office.) Now this, ſaith he, is all that is required of a Miniſter of Chriſt, and Steward of his Myſteries, that he be found faithful in adminiſtring the Grace of his Apoſtleſhip, 1 Cor. 4. 12. And this Fidelity was ſtill attended with the Power of Chriſt aſſiſting them, as appears from theſe words, I thank Jeſus Chriſt our Lord, who hath enabled me, for that he counted me faithful, putting me into the Miniſtry, 1 Tim. 1. 12. So that this Phraſe doth not imply that the Apoſtle had only an ordinary Aſſiſtance in this Advice, ſuch as any skilful pious Paſtor may expect. And this is ſtill more evident in thoſe words, She is happier if ſhe ſo abide, after my Judgment; and I think I have the Spirit of God (enabling me to form that Judgment;) for they who ſay, this is not ſpoken with the Authority of an Apoſtle, or a Teacher ſent from God, ſeem not to have conſidered that the Apoſtle was writing to them who were apt to queſtion his Apoſtleſhip, and required a proof of Chriſt ſpeaking in him, 2 Cor. 13. 3. and to them it was proper to ſay, whatſoever you may conceive of me, I ſuppoſe I have the Spirit of God, i. e. the Spirit of Wiſdom, and Knowledge to enable me to make this Advice. Moreover the words δοκῶ ἔχειν may be rendred, I have the Spirit of God; ſo in this Epiſtle, ὁ δοκῶν εἶ φιλόνεικος is, he that is contentious, Chap. 11. 16. and εἴ τις δοκεῖ προφήτης, if any Man be a Prophet. See the Note there. Nor,

3*dly* Do I grant that St. Paul any where implies that he doth not always uſe the beſt Arguments, but ſometimes ſuch as are beſt fitted to the Capacities, and Notions of thoſe he writes to; for if ſo, by what Rules ſhall we be able to diſtinguiſh betwixt his Arguments on which we may ſafely rely, as being abſolutely true, and thoſe which only are accommodated to the Notions of thoſe with whom he had to do? St. Paul doth indeed ſay, ἀνθρώπινον λέγω, I ſpeak after the manner of Men, or what is common to Men, becauſe of the Infirmity of your Fleſh, Rom. 6. 19. but he ſpeaks not this by way of excuſe for not uſing the beſt Argument he could in this Affair, but he ſpeaks this by way of Illuſtration of his Argument, or Exhortation. The ſenſe which the Antients put upon theſe words is this, τῇ φύσει μείζω τὴν προτρέπησιν, I frame my Exhortation with a due Conſideration of the Infirmity of your Fleſh, requiring only that you ſhould do that Service now to God, which you have formerly done to Sin, I rather think the Apoſtle diſcourſeth to this effect: In this Diſcourſe of their being Servants formerly to Sin, and their Obligation now to be Servants to Righteouſneſs, I ſpeak that which all natural Men muſt have had Experience of by reaſon of the Infirmity of the Fleſh, and of which they may thence take a juſt Idea, requiring only that as they they have formerly yielded their Members Inſtruments to Sin, ſo they would now yield them Inſtruments to Righteouſneſs.

As for the Arguments they uſe ad hominem, as they are very few, ſo is it only requiſite that they ſhould truly be convincing upon the Principles which ſuch Men owned and received, there being nothing more intended by them, than to convince them, that ſuch an Inference doth naturally follow from their Principle, and that they muſt either quit the Tenet, or admit the Inference. For inſtance, when the Apoſtle ſaith, Elſe what ſhall they do who are baptized for the Dead? 1 Cor. 15. 29. He is there diſputing againſt ſome of the Corinthians, who ſaid, There is no Reſurrection of the Dead. Now here he all along diſputeth ad hominem, and on ſuppoſition; as v. g. Then is Chriſt not riſen from the Dead, ver. 13. Then are we falſe Witneſſes of God, ver. 15. Then is your Faith vain, ver. 17. Then they that ſleep in Chriſt are periſhed, ver. 18. Then are Chriſtians of all Men the moſt miſerable, ver. 19. &c. All which Suppoſitions are really falſe, but then they follow from the foreſaid Tenet of thoſe Corinthians; ſo that all this Diſcourſe is only an Argument ab abſurdo. But, that the Apoſtles any where uſe ſuch Arguments ad hominem, as proceed only on ſuch Principles as were generally admitted in their Age, without conſidering whether they were true or falſe, I utterly deny.

§. II. Having thus premiſed theſe things for the right ſtating and explication of the Controverſie, I proceed to lay down the Arguments, which prove, that in theſe Writings the Apoſtles were aſſiſted and preſerved from Error by the Spirit of God, and therefore were enabled to deliver to us an unerring Rule of Faith.

And, 1*ſt*, I argue for the Divine Aſſiſtance of the Inditers of theſe Sacred Records, from what they do aſſert concerning their own Writings, and what they ſay touching the Declarations made, the Doctrines delivered, and the Directions given in them. And,

As for the Writers of the Goſpels, St. Luke declares, he writes his Goſpel to Theophilus, that he might know the certainty of thoſe things in which he had been inſtructed; and St. John declares, his Goſpel was written, that they might believe that Jeſus was the Chriſt, the Son of God: Now it is plain, that neither Theophilus could be certain of the Truth of what he had been taught by any Writing which was not abſolutely certain in it ſelf; nor could others be induced by what St. John had written, to believe that Jeſus was the Chriſt, unleſs they could be certain that he ſpake the Truth throughout his Goſpel: Now if we do conſider how many things contained in the beginning of St. Luke's Goſpel, he muſt have by hear-ſay; and how many long Diſcourſes, both he, St. Matthew and St. John deliver, as ſpoken by our Lord and others; of which we can have no aſſurance, after ſo many Years before the writing of them, on the mere ſtrength of human Memory, ſo as to ground an Article of Divine Faith upon the very words in which they are delivered, we muſt be forced to conclude, that upon this account, we cannot depend upon the very Letter, and minute Circumſtances of every Diſcourſe related by them, unleſs according to Chriſt's Promiſe, they had the Aſſiſtance of the Holy Ghoſt to bring theſe things to their Remembrance: Wherefore this Promiſe is made to them in very general and comprehenſive Terms, viz. The Holy Ghoſt ſhall bring all things to your remembrance whatſoever I have ſaid unto you, John 14. 26. And then there being nothing conſiderable in St. Mark, which is not alſo in St. Matthew, or St. Luke, or both, the certainty of all that is contained in them, muſt make us alſo certain of the Truth of what St. Mark delivers in his Goſpel. Moreover, the Word ſpoken and indited by them, is ſtiled the Word of God: Men, ſaith the Apoſtle, could not believe the Goſpel unleſs they heard it preached to them; nor could they hear it preached, unleſs ſome were commiſſionated to preach the Goſpel; for Faith comes by hearing, and hearing by the Word of God, Rom. 10. 14, 15, 16, 17. And, For this cauſe, ſaith he, thank we God without ceaſing, becauſe, when ye received the Word of God which ye heard of us, ye received it not as the Word of Men, but as it is in truth the Word of God, 1 Theſſ. 2. 13. I am made a Miniſter of Chriſt, ſaith he, according to the Diſpenſation of God which is given to me to fulfil, (i. e. fully to preach) the Word of God, Coloſ. 1. 25. 2. It is called the Commandment of God; For my Goſpel, ſaith St. Paul, and the preaching of Jeſus Chriſt, is made manifeſt, and according to the Commandment of the everlaſting God, made known unto you for the Obedience of Faith, Rom. 16. 25, 26. which Faith is always built on a Divine Teſtimony. And again, If any Man be a Prophet, or Spiritual, let him acknowledge that the things I write unto you, are the Commandments of the Lord, 1 Cor. 14. 37. 3. It is declared to be the Wiſdom of God, 1 Cor. 1. 24. For, we preach Chriſt to you that are called, both Jews and Grecks, the Power of God, and the Wiſdom of God; we ſpeak the Wiſdom of God in a Myſtery, even that Wiſdom which God hath revealed to us by his Spirit, 1 Cor. 2. 7, 10. 4. It is the Teſtimony of God; For, I came not to you, ſaith he, in Excellency of Speech, declaring to you the Teſtimony of God, 1 Cor. 2. 1. 5. It is the Goſpel of God: For St. Paul ſtiles himſelf the Miniſter of Jeſus Chriſt Chriſt to the Gentiles, miniſtring the Goſpel of God to them, Rom. 15. 16. We preach, ſaith he, the Goſpel of God freely, 2 Cor. 11. 7. We were bold to preach to you the Goſpel of God, we were willing to have imparted to you not the Goſpel of God only, but alſo our own Lives, 1 Theſ. 2. 2, 8, 9. even the glorious Goſpel of the Bleſſed God committed to my truſt, 1 Tim. 1. 10. 6. It is the Goſpel of Chriſt; For I came, ſaith he, to Troas to preach Chriſt's Goſpel, 2 Cor. 2. 12. We ſent Timotheus our Fellow labourer in the Goſpel of Chriſt, 1 Theſ. 3. 2. 7. It is the Myſtery of his Will, Eph. 1. 9. The Myſtery of God the Father, and of Chriſt, Col. 2. 2. The Mind of Chriſt made known to the Apoſtles, 1 Cor. 2. 16. And the Word of Chriſt which muſt dwell richly in Believers, Col. 3. 16.

Now ſure it cannot rationally be conceived, that the Apoſtles ſhould be ignorant of that Aſſiſtance by which they were enabled to indite theſe Records; if then they were aſſured of that Aſſiſtance of the Holy Spirit which they challenged, then muſt the Goſpel which they both preached and indited, be received as the Word of God and Chriſt, the Mind of Chriſt, the Goſpel of God and Chriſt, the Myſtery of God the Father, and of Chriſt, the Commandment and the Teſtimony of God; which is the thing I am concerned to make good; and then it highly muſt concern all Perſons to be mindful of the Commandments of the Apoſtles of our Lord and Saviour, 2 Pet. 3. 2. If they had no ſuch aſſurance of the Aſſiſtance of the Holy Spirit, they groſly did impoſe upon the World, in thus pretending, that they preached the Goſpel by the aſſiſtance of the Holy Spirit ſent down from Heaven. If they were not aſſured that in thoſe Writings they delivered only thoſe Doctrines which God required all Men to believe, thoſe Precepts he required them to do, they muſt be very confident, in daring to make this the Preface to ſome of their Epiſtles, Paul an Apoſtle, according to the Will and the Commandment of God, 1 Cor. 1. 1. 2 Cor. 1. 1. Eph. 1. 1. Col. 1. 1. 1 Tim. 1. 1. 2 Tim. 1. 1. and ſaying with ſo much aſſurance, If any be a Prophet, let him acknowledge that the things I write unto you are the Commandments of God, 1 Cor. 14. 37. and much more, in declaring to all Chriſtians thus; We are of God; he that knoweth God, heareth us; he that is not of God, heareth not us; by this we know the Spirit of Truth, and the Spirit of Error, 1 John 4. 6. For this ſeems equal to what their Maſter himſelf ſaid in the like words, Why do you not believe me? He that is of God heareth the Words of God; you therefore hear them not, becauſe you are not of God, John 8. 46, 47. Yea, they muſt be falſe Witneſſes of God, by ſtiling Human Writings, the Word, the Goſpel, the Command, the Teſtimony, the Mind, the Myſtery of God and Chriſt, and by requiring others to receive it, not as the Word of Man, but as the Word of God, even that Word by which they muſt be judg'd at the laſt day, Rom. 2. 16. which again runs as high as thoſe words of Chriſt, The words that I have ſpoken, ſhall judge him that believes it not, at the laſt day, John 12. 48.

If here it be replied, that theſe Things are rather ſaid of the Goſpel which they preached, than of the Goſpels and the Epiſtles which they writ. I anſwer,

1*ſt*, That St. Peter ſaith of all St. Paul's Epiſtles, that they were written according to the Wiſdom given to him, 2 Pet. 3. 15, 16. even that Wiſdom which he ſtiles the Wiſdom of God, and aſcribes to the Apoſtles in the general, ſaying, We ſpeak the Wiſdom of God, &c. 1 Cor. 2. 6, 7. that St. Paul himſelf requires all Spiritual Perſons to acknowledge the things he writ unto them, were the Commandments of the Lord.

2*dly*, I ask, whether the Doctrines of Faith and Rules of Life, delivered in theſe Goſpels and Epiſtles, be not as much a part of the Goſpel, or the Law of Chriſt, as any thing they preached? If they be a part of it, all theſe Aſſertions muſt equally be true of their Goſpels and Epiſtles written, and their Sermons preached: If they be not, where ſhall we find, and how ſhall we be aſſured, that we have the Goſpel of our Lord, ſince we know nothing of it but from what is left on Record in that New Teſtament, which contains all we have left of their Preaching after the Spirit promiſed to lead them into all Truth was fall'n upon them? Or, why did all Chriſtians of that and the ſucceeding Ages, depend upon them as their Rule of Faith? Moreover, That the Apoſtles were aſſiſted as fully by the Holy Ghoſt in what they writ, as what they preached, will be apparent from the Conſideration of their Office, they having this Aſſiſtance as being Chriſt's Apoſtles, his Embaſſadors, the Miniſters of Chriſt, and Stewards of the Myſteries of God. Now in the Preface to their Epiſtles, they take care to let the Reader know, they who ſent theſe Epiſtles were Apoſtles, and Miniſters of Chriſt, according to the Will, and the Commmandment of God, 2 Tim. 1. 1. for (Declaration of) the Promiſe of Life which is in Chriſt Jeſus, for the Faith of God's Elect, and the acknowledging the Truth which is after Godlineſs, Tit. 1. 1. If therefore they had this Aſſiſtance, becauſe they were the Meſſengers of Chriſt, the Teachers of the Jew and Gentile, in Faith and Verity; Men who received Grace and Apoſtleſhip from Chriſt to the obedience of Faith, and had the Word of God committed to them according to the Commandment of our God and Saviour; and they were truly diſcharging their Office as well when they indited as when they preached the Goſpel; they muſt be equally aſſiſted in both.

This, Laſtly, Will be evident from the Conſideration of the common End and Deſign both of their Writing and Preaching: For the Reaſon why this Aſſiſtance attended them in preaching was, the Benefit and Edification of the Church, the building Her up in Her moſt Holy Faith, the Perfecting the Saints, the Edifying of the Body of Chriſt, till we all come in the Unity of the Faith, and of the Knowledge of the Son of God unto a perfect Man; for to this End, Chriſt gave ſome Apoſtles, ſome Prophets and Evangeliſts, Eph. 4. 11, 12, 13. Now, do not all theſe Reaſons equally belong to their Writings? Were they not alſo intended, and uſed for theſe very Ends and all ſucceeding Ages of the Church? Did they not in them write the ſame things which they had preached, becauſe this was for their ſafety? Philip. 3. 1. that after their Deceaſe, they might have theſe things always in remembrance, 2 Pet. 1. 15. and that they might be mindful of the Commandments of the Apoſtles of our Lord, Chap. 3. 1, 2. Had they not the Promiſe of the Spirit to aſſiſt them in their Preaching, that they might guide their Hearers into all Truth? And, doth not the ſame Reaſon hold more ſtrongly for their Writings, partly, becauſe they were to remain when the Apoſtles were dead, and could not be conſulted as they might be whilſt living, when any Scruple did ariſe touching their Doctrine, and ſerve for the Inſtruction not of one Age only, as their Preaching did, but of all Ages of the Chriſtian World? And indeed, their Preaching without Writing, could not have anſwered the Deſign of propagating the Chriſtian Faith to future Ages; Experience having taught us, that what is handed only by Tradition to us, is ſubject to the greateſt Change and Innnovations; it being the pretended Traditions of the Jewiſh Church, which corrupted and made void the Commandments of God, Matth. 15. 6. and the pretended Traditions of the Romiſh Church which have turned their Chriſtianity into a Syſtem of Superſtition and Idolatry: For as it is truly obſerved by (*) Origen, That which only is delivered by Word of Mouth, quickly vaniſheth, as being of no certainty. So that if our Bleſſed Lord deſigned the continuance of his Goſpel to the end of the World, he alſo muſt deſign the Aſſiſtance of his Apoſtles in the writing of it.

Now from this Argument we may return an Anſwer to that Cavil which ſome have made againſt the Inſpiration of the Writings of the New Teſtament, that we meet not in them as we do frequently in the Old, theſe words, Thus ſaith the Lord, or the Word of the Lord, by ſuch or ſuch a Prophet. For,

1. We meet not with theſe words in all the Chetubim, or the Hagiographa, which yet all the Jews acknowledge to be written by the Aſſiſtance of the Holy Ghoſt. Moreover, our Lord ſpeaks of Prophets ſent by him, Matth. 23. 34. which implies, that they muſt be aſſiſted in delivering their Meſſage by the Holy Ghoſt, as the Prophets were.

2. When we meet with it in the Prophets of the Old Teſtament, 'tis chiefly, if not only, when theſe Prophets have a Meſſage from the Lord to the People: And when Chriſt ſends his Meſſage to the ſeven Churches, we find words of like import ſtill repeated, viz. He that hath an Ear, let him hear what the Spirit ſaith unto the Churches, Rev. 2. 7.—3. 22. which whole Phraſe occurs not elſewhere, but only in the Revelations, or the words of the Prophecy of St. John.

3. 'Tis ſurely of like import to ſay, This I write to you by the Word of the Lord, 1 Theſſ. 4. 15. The Word you received from us, is not the Word of Man, but God, Chap. 2. 13. And I who preach it, am his Miniſter to fulfil the Word of God, Col. 1. 25. The Word made known unto you for the Obedience of Faith, is the Command of the everlaſting God, Rom. 16. 25, 26. The things I write unto you, are the Commandments of the Lord, 1 Cor. 14. 37. For the Phraſe ἐν λόγῳ Κυρίε, is the Phraſe uſed by the Prophets of the Old Te-Teſtament, viz. The Prophet ſaid unto him ἐν λόγῳ Κυρίε, by the Word of the Lord, ſmite me, 1 Kings 20. 35. See Chap. 13. 1, 2, 5, 32. and equivalent to it are theſe Sayings. In fine, We read of John the Baptiſt, that the Word of God came to him, and he went forth preaching the Baptiſm of Repentance, Luke 3. 2, 3. which is the very Phraſe uſed of the Prophets of the Old Teſtament; See the Note there. Seeing then our Lord hath taught us, that tho' he was the greateſt of the Prophets before Chriſt, yet the leaſt of the Prophets in the Kingdom of Heaven is greater than he, Matth. 11. 11. Can we reaſonably conceive, that this Fore-runner of the Meſſiah ſhould ſpeak the Word of God as did the Prophets of the Old Teſtament; and that the Prophets and Apoſtles of the New Teſtament, on whom the Holy Ghoſt deſcended, to enable them to teach the Mind of Chriſt to all future Ages of the Church, ſhould not ſpeak and write what they delivered as the Rule of Faith by like Divine Aſſiſtances?

§. V. Agr. 2. They who, when they indited theſe Writings, were aſſiſted by the Holy Ghoſt, the Spirit of Truth, indited theſe Records by Divine Aſſiſtance; for the things God ſpake to his Servants the Prophets, are ſtiled the things which I commanded ἐν πνεύματί μου, by my Spirit, Zach. 1. 6. But the Apoſtles were thus aſſiſted; this they in Terms, or by juſt Conſequence, aſſert. For St. Peter ſaith of them all in general, that they preached the Goſpel by the Holy Ghoſt ſent down from Heaven, 1 Pet. 1. 12. And, is not this as much as he ſaid of the Prophets of the Old Teſtament, when he declares, they ſpake as they were moved by the Holy Ghoſt, 2 Pet. 1. 1. St. Paul aſſerts in the ſame general Expreſſions, that thoſe great things belonging to the Goſpel, which neither Eye had ſeen, nor Ear had heard, nor Heart was able to conceive, God had revealed to them by the Spirit, 1 Cor. 2. 10. That they had received not the Spirit of the World, but the Spirit which is of God, that they might know the things which were freely given to Chriſtians of God; and that theſe things they taught not in the words which Man's Wiſdom teacheth, but which the Holy Ghoſt teacheth, comparing ſpiritual things with ſpiritual, ver. 12, 13. In which place, the very Deſign of the Apoſtle is to prove againſt the Greek Philoſophers, how unreaſonable it was to reject the Goſpel, becauſe it came not in the way of Demonſtration to human Reaſon, but by way of Revelation from God, and ſo requireth Faith; as of neceſſity it muſt do, ſince it contained ſuch things concerning the Deſign of Chriſt's ſalutary Paſſion, his Reſurrection, Aſcenſion, and a future Judgment at the general Reſurrection, which no natural Man could know by the utmoſt improvement of his human Reaſon, and ſuch Diſcoveries of the Council of God concerning Man's Juſtification, which depended upon his good Pleaſure, which was known only to that Holy Spirit which ſearcheth all things, even the deep things of God. It is this Spirit, ſaith he, that we have received, and by this Spirit hath God revealed theſe things unto us, and we accordingly do teach them to the World, not in the words which human Wiſdom teacheth, but which the Holy Ghoſt teacheth, comparing the Revelations made to us by the Spirit, with the Revelations made to the Prophets in the Old Teſtament by the ſame Spirit, and finding that the Revelations made to us do far exceed what was diſcovered to them; for what the Eye of thoſe Prophets had not ſeen in Viſion, or their Ear heard in Dreams, nor can the Heart of Man conceive without a Revelation, even theſe things hath God revealed to us by his Spirit. Thus did they ſpeak the Word of God in Demonſtration of the Spirit: Whence he declares, that if any Man deſpiſe their Teſtimony or Inſtructions, he deſpiſed not Man only, but God alſo, who had given them his Spirit, 1 Theſ. 4. 8. they being not ſufficient for this Work of themſelves, but their Sufficiency was of God, who, by this Miniſtration of the Spirit, had made them able Miniſters of the New Teſtament, 2 Cor. 3. 5, 6. And thus, ſaith he, that God who commanded the Light to ſhine out of Darkneſs, (and who illuminated the Prophets, by ſhining upon their Imaginations and their Underſtandings,) hath ſhined in our Hearts, to give the Light of the Knowledge of the Glory of God in the Face of Jeſus Chriſt, 2 Cor. 4. 6. In his Epiſtle to the Epheſians, he declares, that the Myſtery of Chriſt was made known to him by immediate Revelation, and not to him only, but to the Reſt of the Apoſtles and Prophets of the New Teſtament; For God, ſaith he, hath made known this Revelation to us the Apoſtles and Prophets by the Spirit; Eph. 3. 3, 5. And hence he ſpeaks to the Corinthians in this Language, If any Man be a Prophet, or Spiritual, let him acknowledge that the things I write unto you are the Comandments of God, 1 Cor. 14. 37. Here then the Argument runs thus:

They who had a like Aſſiſtance to that of the Prophets under the Old Teſtament, muſt write by the direction of the Holy Ghoſt; For Holy Men of Old, ſpake as they were moved by the Holy Ghoſt, and the Scripture they indited was of Divine Inſpiration; and their words are cited in the New Teſtament, as ſpoken by the Holy Ghoſt: But the Apoſtles had a like Aſſiſtance; for in the words now cited, they ſtile themſelves Apoſtles and Prophets; they challenge a like Illumination, or ſhining of God upon their Hearts, a like Revelation of their Goſpel by the Holy Spirit; and they pretend to teach it to others in words taught them by the Holy Ghoſt. In all which Sayings, they muſt be guilty of a falſe Teſtimony concerning God, and muſt impoſe upon the Church of Chriſt, if no ſuch Aſſiſtance of the Holy Spirit was imparted to them.

§. VI. A Third Argument for the Infallible Aſſiſtance of the Apoſtles in delivering the Truth of the Goſpel to Poſterity, is taken from our Saviour's Promiſe to them, he having engaged,

Firſt, To ſend the Comforter to be for ever with them, in theſe words: I will ask the Father, and he ſhall give you another Comforter to be for ever with you, John 14. 16. And to be always with them when they were executing his Commiſſion to make Diſciples in all Nations, teaching them to obſerve whatever he had Commanded them, Matth. 28. 19, 20:

Ye, ſaith he, ſhall be my Witneſſes of theſe things; and that you may be qualified to be ſo, Behold, I ſend the Promiſe of my Father upon you, Luke 24. 48, 49. Hence I infer, That they had always the Aſſiſtance of the Holy Spirit with them in the Diſcharge of their Apoſtleſhip.

Secondly, He adds, That this Spirit that ſhould thus abide with them, was the Spirit of Truth, which the World could not receive, John 14. 16, 17. Now, why doth he chuſe to characteriſe him by this Epithet, but to inform them, that they might expect from him the certain Knowledge of that whole Doctrine, they were, as his Apoſtles, to declare unto the World, and leave to future Generations as the Rule of Faith? That this is indeed the reaſon, we learn from theſe following words, ver. 26. But the Comforter, the Holy Ghoſt, whom the Father ſhall ſend in my Name, he ſhall teach you all things, and bring to your remembrance all things which I have ſaid unto you, i. e. the things I have commanded you to teach, he ſhall faithfully bring to your remembrance; and as for thoſe many things I have to ſay unto you, which now you cannot bear, he ſhall teach them all: That this is the true import of this Promiſe, we learn from the enſuing words, Chap. 16. 12, 13. I have yet many things to ſay unto you, but ye cannot bear them now; but when he, the Spirit of Truth, is come, he ſhall guide you into all Truth, and he ſhall ſhew you things to come: He ſhall guide you into, and therefore ſhall ſecure you from erring from, or going out of the way of Truth: He ſhall thus guide you into all Truth, which it concerns you as his Apoſtles, to deliver to the Chriſtian Church, or any of her Members to know, in order to the Performance of their Duty, or the obtaining the End of their Faith, the Salvation of their Souls. Hence then, 1ſt, We may be ſure, that all the Sermons, or Diſcourſes of our Lord to his Diſciples, recorded in the Evangeliſts, are faithfully delivered by his Apoſtles, as to the ſenſe and genuine import of them; for otherwiſe, the Holy Spirit did not bring to their remembrance all things which he had ſaid unto them, but ſuffer'd them to record ſome of his Sayings otherwiſe than he delivered them; nor were they faithful in execution of the charge committed to them, which was to teach all Nations all things which he had commanded them. 2dly, Hence alſo we may reſt aſſured, That what the Apoſtles taught in any of the Epiſtles directed to the Chriſtian Churches, they taught by the direction and guidance of the Holy Spirit; for ſince they were indited by them as the Apoſtles of the Lord, for the Inſtruction of the Church, of that and the ſucceeding Ages, if the Spirit of Truth did not guide them into all Truth, but ſuffered them to err in the compoſing of them, then was not this Promiſe of our Lord fulfilled unto them; no, not then, when they undertook to be Teachers of the Church in Faith and Verity, and ſo were more eſpecially concerned to have this Guidance of the Holy Spirit. Moreover, Chriſt declares, that he who heareth them, heareth him, Luke 10. 16. he that receiveth them, receiveth him, Matth. 10. 40. Now to receive the Apoſtles evẽn as Chriſt Jeſus, Gal. 4. 14. no Man could be obliged, unleſs they were entirely aſſiſted by the Spirit promiſed, to lead them into all Truth in the diſcharge of their Apoſtleſhip. And this ſeems plainly to be the import of Chriſt's Addreſs to his Father, John 17. 17. Sanctifie them in or by thy Truth; thy Word is Truth; for as he himſelf was ſanctified by the Holy Spirit to his Prophetick Office, Luke 4. 18. John 10. 36. ſo muſt they who were Apoſtles and Prophets ſent by him, Matth. 23. 34. Luke 11. 49. and therefore he ſaith, As the Father hath ſent me, ſo ſend I you; receive the Holy Ghoſt, John 20. 21, 22. and prays, that they may have the ſame Spirit, that the World might believe, and know the Father had ſent him, and had loved them, as he had loved him, Chap. 17. 21, 23. See the Note there.

§. VII. Arg. 4. Theſe Sacred Records which were indited to be a ſtanding Rule of Faith to Chriſtians throughout all Ages of the World, the Goſpel contained in theſe Scriptures being made known to all Nations for the Obedience of Faith, Rom. 6. 26. they muſt in all things propounded in them to our Faith, contain a Divine Teſtimony, or a Revelation of the Will of God. For as Human Faith depends upon the Teſtimony of Man, ſo Divine Faith is that which depends on the Teſtimony of God: And as Obedience to Men conſiſts in doing the Will of Men, ſo our Obedience to God conſiſts in Conformity to the Will of God. Again, If we muſt all be judged by this Law of Liberty, James 2. 12. if Chriſt at the laſt day will judge the Secrets of Men's Hearts, according to the Goſpel of St. Paul, Rom. 2. 16. If he will come in flaming Fire, taking Vengeance of all that obey not his Goſpel, then muſt this Goſpel, and this Law of Liberty, be a Rule of Faith until Chriſt's Second Coming: For, upon that account alone, can Men be bound under this dreadful Penalty, to yield Obedience to it, and be judged by it.

§ VIII. Arg. 5. Laſtly, That the Apoſtles, and Writers of the Books of the New Teſtament, were aſſiſted both in their Preaching and Writing by the Spirit of God, the Christians of all Ages from the beginning do atteſt. (a) St. Clemens in his Epiſtle to the Corinthians ſaith, That the Apoſtle delivered the Goſpel to us from our Lord Jeſus Chriſt, and Chriſt from God; and that being filled with the Spirit, and having the Word of God committed to them, they went out preaching the Kingdom of God. He adds, (b) That the Scriptures are the true Words of the Holy Spirit: And that St. Paul writ to them by the Spirit, touching himſelf, and Cephas, and Apollo. (c) Polycarp tells his Philippians, That none could attain to the Wiſdom of St. Paul who had writ Epiſtles to them, by looking into which they might be built up in the Faith delivered to them. In (d) Juſtin's time, the Goſpels were known by the Name of Εὐαγγέλια, both to Jew and Gentile; and they were read in their Aſſemblies as the Holy Prophets, as being writ by Men μεσοῖς πνεύματος ἁγίου, full of the Divine Spirit. Dial. cum Tryph. p. 226, 227.

(e) Irenæus informs us, That the Lord of all things gave to the Apoſtles Authority to preach the Goſpel, and that by them we have known the Truth, that is, the Doctrine of the Son of God; to whom he ſaid, he that heareth you heareth me: That this Goſpel they preach'd, and after, by the Will of God, committed to Writing, to be the Foundation and Pillar of our Faith; and adds, That all the Apoſtles knew the Truth by Revelation as well as Paul: (f) For as St. Paul was an Apoſtle not of Men, neither by Men, but by Jeſus Chriſt and God the Father, ſo were they.

(g) Theophilus declares the conſent there is betwixt the things ſpoken by the Prophets, and in the Goſpels, becauſe they both ſpake by the ſame Spirit.

(h) Clemens of Alexandria, ſpeaking of the Woman who annointed our Saviour's Feet with Ointment, ſaith, This may be a Symbol τῆς διδασκαλίας τῆς κυριακῆς, of our Lord's Doctrine: For the Feet anointed with ſweet ſmelling Ointment, ſignifie θείαν διδασκαλίαν, the Divine Doctrine; for the Apoſtles partaking of the Holy Spirit, betokened by the Ointment of ſweet Odor, are the Feet of our Lord anointed. The Apoſtles are with him, the Diſciples of the Spirit. And (i) we may well call them Prophets, ſaith he, the Prophets and Apoſtles being both acted by one and the ſame Spirit. And, (k) we who have the Scriptures are taught of God, being inſtructed by that Son of God. He adds, That the Scriptures which we have believed are ἐξ αὐθεντίας αὐτοκρατορικῆς, eſtabliſhed by God's Authority. Strom. 4. p. 475. And that the Pſalmiſt ſaid, περὶ πάσης γραφῆς τῆς καθ' ἡμᾶς, of our whole Scripture, Hear my Law, oh my People? and the Apoſtle, We ſpeak the Wiſdom of God among them that are perfect, Strom. 5. p. 557.

(l) Origen is moſt expreſs, That the Sacred Books are not the Writings of Men, but proceed from the afflatus of the Holy Ghoſt, and came to us by the Will of the Father thro' Jeſus Chriſt; To them, ſaith he, that believe this, and adhere to the Canon of the heavenly Church of Jeſus Chriſt, by ſucceſſion from the Apoſtles, we ſhall ſhew the appearing Ways, viz. of diſtinguiſhing betwixt the Spirit and the Letter. (m) It becomes us, ſaith he, he, to believe, that in the Holy Scripture there is not one tittle void of the Wiſdom of God; for the Prophets ſpeak, receiving from his Fulneſs; and there is nothing in Prophecy, or the Law, or the Goſpel, or the Apoſtles, which is not from the Fulneſs. He adds (n) That there is nothing unequal or diſtorted in the Oracles of God, but a ſweet Harmony of the Old Scriptures with the New, of the legal Scriptures with the Prophetical, the Evangelical with the Apoſtolical. He adds, That (o) we muſt either ſay as the Infidels do, that becauſe they are not uſeful, they are not divinely inſpired; or as the Faithful do, that becauſe they are profitable they alſo are divinely inſpired. In particular, he places the Goſpels in the number of Writings, (p) ἐν πάσαις ἐκκλησίαις Θεῷ πεπισευμένων εἶναι Θείων, received as Divine by the whole Church of God, and that they were στοιχεῖα τῆς πίστεως τῆς ἐκκλησίας, the Principles of the Church's Faith. But it is needleſs to cite more Paſſages from the Fathers of the firſt three Centures, ſince by them they are conſtantly ſtiled, (q) The Divine Scriptures, the Oracles of God, the Wiſdom of God, the Voice of God, the Divine Oracles; they ſay, that all the Scriptures are the perfect and well-tuned Organ of God, giving from differring Sounds one ſaving Voice to thoſe who are willing to learn.

2*dly*, They add, That (r) both the Prophets of the Old, and the Writers of the New Teſtament, ſpake by one and the ſame Spirit, the Holy Spirit by the Providence of God, thro' the Divine Word, enlightning theſe Miniſters of Truth, the Prophets, and the Apoſtles.

3*dly*, They not only read thoſe Writings from the beginning, on the Lord's Day, for the Inſtruction of the People, but made their (s) Inferences and Exhortations from them to all Chriſtian Duties, and very early made their Comments on them.

4*thly*, They proved all their (t) Doctrines from theſe Scriptures, and thence inferred, that they retain'd the true Rule of Faith, becauſe they delivered only what was conſonant to the Doctrine contained in the Evangeliſts, and the Epiſtles of the Apoſtles, as is evident from all their Writings.

5*thly*, From theſe Scriptures of the New Teſtament, they remonſtrated againſt, and confuted all the (u) Hereticks which aroſe in thoſe Times, declaring, That they were later than thoſe Apoſtles who delivered to them the Rule of Faith, and that they taught things contrary to, or alien from the Doctrine delivered by the Apoſtles of our Lord.

Laſtly, That the Scriptures of the New Teſtament were divinely inſpired, was a Truth ſo received by all Chriſtians, that even ſome of the Hereticks durſt not deny it; and they who did, were look'd upon as Infidels, ſay Origen, and others. Thus ſpeaking of the Diſciples of Theodotus Coriarius, who corrupted the Scriptures, What wickedneſs, ſaith an ancient Author, is this? (x) For either they believe not the Holy Scriptures to be divinely inſpired, and then they are Infidels; or they pretend to be wiſer than the Holy Ghoſt, and then they are mad, or poſſeſſed.

Now if Perſons ſo near to the Times of the Apoſtles, that ſome of them converſed with them, ſome of them were themſelves inſpired with ſpiritual Gifts, ſome of them were acquainted with the immediate Succceſſors of the Apoſtles; if the Churches which received theſe Writings from the very Hands of the Apoſtles, and kept ſtill the Original, or the Authentick Copies of them, did ſo unqueſtionably receive them as inſpired Writings, and own them as the Rule, Pillar, and Ground of their whole Faith; if they read them together with thoſe Writings of the Prophets; which were on all hands owned as the Word of God, proved from them all the Doctrines of the Chriſtian Faith, received them as the perfect Rule of Chriſtian Duty, confuted all Hereſies, and erroneous Doctrines from them, and repreſented thoſe as Infidels, who queſtion'd or deny'd their Inſpiration by the Holy Ghoſt; they doubtleſs muſt be well aſſured they were delivered to them as ſuch by the Apoſtles, or the ſacred Pen-men of them; and then what Reaſon can theſe latter Ages have to queſtion what was ſo univerſally acknowledged by thoſe who lived in that very Age in which thoſe Books were written, and ſent to the Churches of Chriſt; or, who received them under that Character from Men, who in that very Age had owned them as written by the Conduct and Aſſiſtance of the Spirit of God?

§. IX. Having thus eſtabliſhed the Divine Authority of theſe ſacred Records of the Chriſtian Faith, I ſhould proceed to ſhew,

1. The Truth, and Certainty of Chriſtian Faith:

2. The Seaſonableneſs, and the Neceſſity of that Revelation: Upon which two Heads I have gathered ſo many Obſervations as cannot be compriſed in a Preface, and my Eyes failing, I cannot promiſe that I ſhall ever perfect that great Work. I therefore ſhall at preſent only mention ſome few Peculiarities concerning the Lord Jeſus, and the Doctrine taught by him, and propagated through the World by his Diſciples, which may conduce to the Eſtabliſhment of the Truth of Chriſtian Faith. And,

1*ſt*, It may deſerve to be conſidered, that if a Meſſiah were to come when our Lord did, he could be no other than our Jeſus; for even the Jews pretend not that any other, who aſſumed that Title, was the Meſſiah promiſed to them.

Now that a Meſſiah was, according to the Propheſies of the Old Teſtament, to come about that time, we learn from the raiſed expectation of him, not only in the whole Jewiſh Nation, but alſo through all thoſe Eaſtern Nations among whom they were diſperſed: For they were then expecting that the Kingdom of God ſhould immediately appear, Luke 19. 11. they were looking for the Conſolation of Iſrael, Luke 2. 38. Their own (o) Joſephus doth confeſs there was a Propheſie found in their Scriptures, ὡς κατ' ἐκεῖνον καιρὸν, that about that time one of their Country ſhould reign over the Earth, and that this animated them, πρὸς πόλεμον, to enter upon the War againſt the Romans; and that (p) πόλλους βασιλείαν ὁ καιρὸς ἀνέπεισε, the time perſuaded many to take upon them the Title of King: And as their Meſſiah is by the Prophet Haggai ſtiled, The Deſire of all Nations, Chap. 2. 7. ſo we find the Wiſemen of the Eaſt at the Birth of our Jeſus, coming to enquire, Where is he that is born King of the Jews? Matth. 2. 2. For as (q) Suetonius doth inform us, a conſtant, and an old Opinion had obtained that about that time, Judæa profecti rerum potirentur, that ſome from Judea ſhould obtain the Government. It was, ſaith (r) Tacitus, another Roman Hiſtorian, a Perſuaſion which had obtained among many, that this thing was contained antiquis Sacerdotum literis, in the ancient Writings of the Prieſts. And this Opinion was ſo rooted in the Jewiſh Nation, viz. That their Meſſiah was to come about that time, that when they rejected our Jeſus, they fell into one of theſe two Opinions; either that their Meſſiah was then come, and lay concealed, according to the words of the (s) Targum on Micah 4. 8. or, that the time of his coming was deferr'd by reaſon of their Sins; both which Opinions are hinted by (t) Trypho, in his Dialogue with Juſtin M. declaring, that either Meſſiah was not yet born, or at leaſt 'twas not known where he was; This therefore is the firſt thing peculiar to our Jeſus;

That no other pretended Prophet ever came at a time when there was ſuch a general Expectation, ariſing from a long Succeſſion of pretended Propheſies both among Jews and Gentiles, that ſuch a Prophet was then to come into the World.

2*dly*, Conſider, that whoever came into the World as a Meſſiah, muſt come as the Meſſiah of the Jews, becauſe no other Nation did expect, or pretend to the Promiſe of a Meſſiah.

Meſſiah. Moreover, whoever came as the Meſſiah of the Jews, muſt at the leaſt pretend to anſwer the Characters of their Meſſiah, plainly delivered by the Prophets of the Jews in their Authentick Records, becauſe they being by the Jews received as Divine Oracles, they could admit no Perſon as their promiſed Meſſiah, who anſwered not thoſe Characters.

3*dly*, No Man of Reaſon, beſides the true Meſſiah, would have pretended to have anſwered theſe Characters, or could have long ſupported that Pretence, they being ſuch as required he ſhould open the Eyes of the Blind, unſtop the Ears of the Deaf; that he ſhould make the lame man leap as the Hart, and the Tongue of the Dumb to ſing, Iſa. 42. 7.—55. 5, 6. and yet that he ſhould be deſpiſed and rejected, Iſa. 53. 3. ſhould pour out his Soul unto Death, and be numbred with the Tranſgreſſors, ver. 12. that after this he ſhould riſe again, for his Life was not to be left in the Grave, nor was his Body to ſee Corruption, Pſal. 41. 10. And then he was to erect an everlaſting Kingdom, ſo that the Heathen ſhould be given to him for his Inheritance, and the utmoſt parts of the Earth for his Poſſeſſion, Pſal. 2. 8.—22. 27. He was to famiſh all the Gods of the Earth, ſo that all the Iſles of the Heathen ſhould worſhip the true God, Zeph. 2. 11. and from the riſing of the Sun, to the going down of the ſame, his Name ſhould be great among the Gentiles, Mal. 1. 11. and that a Kingdom, and Dominion, and Glory ſhould be given to him, ſo that all People, and Nations, and Languages ſhould ſerve him, Dan. 7. 14. ſo that if Chriſt were not an Ideot, he muſt be the Meſſiah promiſed to the Jews.

4*thly*, No Man beſides the true Meſſiah, were he ever ſo willing, could have anſwered thoſe Characters which the Scriptures of the New Teſtament have repreſented as the Characters of the Meſſiah delivered in the Old Teſtament; for he was, ſay theſe Writers of his Life, to be born of a pure Virgin, Matth. 1. 22, 23. of the Seed of David, and in the Town of Bethlehem, John 7. 42. he was to be betray'd by one that did eat Bread with him, John 13. 18. and to be delivered up to the Chief Prieſts, and Elders, and Scribes, and by them to be condemned, and given up to the Gentiles, he was to be mocked, ſcourged, ſpit upon, buffeted, and crucified by them, Mark 10. 33, 34. Luke 18. 31, 32, 33. to have his Hands, Feet, and Heart pierced, John 19, 37. riſe again the third day, Luke 24. 46. to aſcend into Heaven, ver. 26. to draw all men after him, John 12. 32. to caſt the Devil out of his Kingdom, ver. 31. and Chap. 16. 11. to baptize them who believed in him, with the Holy Ghoſt, Matth. 3. 11. Acts 1. 5. and to erect his own Kingdom by the preaching of the Goſpel through the then known World, Matth. 24. 14. —26. 13. Here then are theſe things peculiar to the Holy Jeſus.

1*ſt*, That it was never foretold by any Prophet of the Jews, or by any pretended Prophet of the Gentiles, that ſuch a Man ſhould be born at ſuch a time, in ſuch a City, who ſhould do great Miracles, and yet ſhould be deſpiſed, and rejected, condemned, and die as a Deceiver, by the means of thoſe very Perſons to whom he came, and among whom he did his Miracles; and who ſhould after three days riſe again, and then be owned as the Lord, and Saviour of the World through all the Earth.

2*dly*, Much leſs was it ever known that any one pretending to be a Prophet, laid the Foundation of the Truth of his Pretenſions upon his being deſpiſed and rejected, and even crucified as a Deceiver by them to whom he was ſent, and among whom he performed all his Miracles, and upon what ſhould be done by others at his Death, as to the manner, and the particular Circumſtances of it, and upon what ſhould not be done to him when dead, tho' it were uſually done to others dying as he did; And,

3*dly*, Upon what he would do after his Reſurrection, not by himſelf, but by the Preaching of others in his Name, to draw thoſe very People to an Acknowledgment of him, and make himſelf to be adored and owned as their Lord, and Saviour throughout all Nations. (u) Maimonides, I confeſs, informs us of one who appeared in Arabia, in the 12th. Century, pretending to be the Fore-runner of the Meſſiah, and upon that account to act by a divine Commiſſion, of whom the King of Arabia, demanding a Sign, or a Miracle, in proof of his Commiſſion, he anſwered, Cut off my Head, and I will riſe again, and live as before; this the King did, and the Impoſture ended with his Life, no Man pretending that he ever roſe again; whereas the Reſurrection of our Jeſus, was not atteſted only by twelve Apoſtles, by 500 Witneſſes, by St. Paul, a bitter Enemy of the Chriſtian Faith, converted to it by the appearance of this Jeſus to him, but the Truth of it was preſently believed by many thouſand Jews who lived upon the place, where they had ſeen him crucified, and many Myriads of Gentiles, who gave ſo firm a Credit to it, that they confirm'd it with the Loſs of Life, and all the Comforts of it.

3*dly*, As for the Characters of the Meſſiah delivered in the Goſpels, and the great Works he promiſed that his Diſciples ſhould perform, it ſeemeth neceſſary to ſuppoſe that almoſt all all theſe things were done before they were indited. For the Tradition of the Church runs thus, that St. Matthew wrote his Goſpel eight, St. Mark ten, St. Luke fifteen, St. John thirty two Years after our Lord's Aſcenſion; And therefore had not the things contained in theſe Writings been performed before, they muſt have miniſtred to all conſidering Perſons a ſtrong Objection againſt the Truth of what they ſaw recorded in them. For inſtance, had not the Apoſtles been filled with the Holy Ghoſt before, they could not have begun their Teſtimony, their Lord having engaged that they ſhould be endued with Power from on High, not many days after his own Aſcenſion, and commanded them to ſtay at Jeruſalem till this was accompliſhed. Had not Believers, which then were very numerous, been both enabled, and accuſtomed to caſt out Devils, heal Diſeaſes, and to ſpeak with Tongues, 'twould have been natural to enquire why their Lord's Promiſe was not made good to them. There could have been no Truth in all the Acts of the Apoſtles, had they not been before enabled to do the greateſt Wonders, even ſuch as had not been performed by our Lord, viz. the Converſion of Thouſands by one Sermon, the giving of the Holy Ghoſt by impoſition of Hands, the healing Diſeaſes by their Shadow, and by Cloaths ſent from them. But yet let theſe things be as falſe as any Infidel can imagine, ſince they are all recorded of our Jeſus by his own Witneſſes, and are contained in thoſe Hiſtories which they delivered to the World, as the true Records of his Words and Actions, they muſt ſtand bound to make them good, and perſuade all Believers they were certain Truths, or be convinced from their own Words that their Jeſus failed of what he promiſed and foretold, and therefore was not a true Prophet.

Now peruſe the Records of all Nations, and ſhew me one Impoſtor who ever did pretend that ſuch things ſhould be done by his Diſciples after his Death: Or what Diſciples of the moſt ſubtle Cheat ever obliged themſelves by ſuch Experiments to teſtifie the Truth of what their Maſter did pretend to? And if never any Impoſtor in his Wits, or, if not one Abettor of them evet pretended to ſuch things, we have great reaſon to believe this Jeſus, and his Followers were no Impoſtors. Should any one have ſaid, when Chriſt was nailed to the Croſs, that many thouſands of his bloody Murtherers ſhould in few days become his Converts, and venture all their preſent and eternal Intereſts, upon the Truth of his pretended Reſurrection; ſhould they have ſaid that throughout all the Roman Empire he ſhould be own'd as that King to whom all Power both in Heaven and Earth was given, and as that Jeſus who alone could give Salvation; ſhould they have added that all this ſhould be done in ſpite of all the Powers of Wit and Policy, of Eloquence and of the Sword, the Intereſts and Luſts, the Superſtitions and corrupt Opinions, and the reputed Wiſdom of Mankind, by a few mean unskilful Men, who were the Hatred and Deriſion of the place they lived in, becauſe God would bear witneſs to their Doctrines by mighty Signs and Wonders, and Diſtributions of the Holy Ghoſt; I ſay, ſhould a thing ſeeming ſo extravagant been then vented, it would ſurely have paſſed for an idle Brain-ſick Dream, as little to be heeded, as that twelve Cripples ſhould beſiege, ſtorm, plunder, and deſtroy the ſtrongeſt and beſt-peopled City. And yet the Apoſtles in effect not only ſaid much more, but ſo confirmed their Sayings, as that the Records in which they were contained, have ever ſince obtained as the Faith of Chriſtians, and been the Rule of their whole Lives.

1*ſt*, As exceeding many, even ſo many that the Chief Prieſts and Phariſees, who bore the greateſt Diſaffection to him, are forced to confeſs, this Man doth many Miracles, inſomuch that if we let him alone all men will believe in him, John 11. 47, 48. and the Multitude cry out, when Chriſt cometh, will he do more Miracles than this man hath done? John 7. 31. See Note on John 21. 25.

2*dly*, His Miracles, as they were very many, ſo were they alſo very great and powerful, and ſo aſſuredly performed by the Finger of God; even Herod ſtiles them mighty Works, Mark 6. 14. Nicodemus, when he had only begun to do them, acknowledges, that no man could do ſuch Works as he did, except God were with him, John 3. 2. And he himſelf ſaith, If I had not done among the Jews thoſe Works which never man did, they had not had Sin, John 15. 24.

3*dly*, The Apoſtles do with greateſt Confidence avow to Jew and Gentile, that this Jeſus had done great Wonders to confirm his Doctrine, and that this was a thing well known to them, and by theſe Sayings they converted thoſe that heard them; Thus in that Sermon of St. Peter's which added to the Church three thouſand Souls, Jeſus of Nazareth is ſaid to have been a man approved among them by Miracles, Wonders, and Signs which God did by him in the midſt of them, for which he preſently appeals to their own Conſciences, ſaying, This ye your ſelves know, Acts 2. 24. And the ſame Apoſtle appealeth in like manner to the Knowledge of this by the Centurion and his Friends, ſaying, ing, Ye know the thing done throughout all Judea, how Jesus being anointed with the Holy Ghost, and with Power, went about doing good, and healing all that were oppressed of the Devil, for God was with him, Acts 10. 37, 38. Now here these things may be observed,

1*st*, That these Records, contained in the first three Gospels, being writ, saith Tradition, within fifteen Years after our Lord's Ascension, or at the least before that Destruction of Jerusalem, of which they all speak as future, and before which it is probable they dyed; many of those nine thousand who were miraculously fed with a few Loaves, and two little Fishes, and many who were healed in every City, where Christ, and his Disciples came, must be surviving Witnesses of the Truth or Falshood of these Writings.

2*dly*, That notwithstanding this, we find not one thing delivered by them, as done by Christ, or his Apostles, either among Jew or Gentile, which they ever proved, or even declared to be false; we find indeed in these Records the Pharisees declaring that he cast out Devils by Beelzebub, Matth. 9. 34.—12. 24. and saying in their own Writings, that (x) *by virtue of the Name Shem Hamephoras*h, which he stole out of the Temple, he raised the Dead, and walked upon the Waters, and cured the Lame, and cleansed the Lepers. The wiser Heathens, Celsus, Porphyry, Hierocles, and Julian, confessed that our Lord did Miracles, that he healed the Blind, and the Lame, and cast out Devils; but then they add, that he did these things by that Art of Magick which he had learnt from the Egyptians, and by some names of powerful Angels he had learnt in Egypt, and the same they affirmed of his Disciples: The Christians, saith (y) Celsus, seem to prevail δαιμόνων τίνων ὀνόμασι, καὶ κλήσεσι, by virtue of the Name, and Invocation of some Dæmons. And because St. Paul was more especially enabled by mighty Signs, and Wonders, and Gifts of the Holy Ghost to make the Gentiles obedient in Word, and Deed, Rom. 15. 18, 19. (z) Julian says of him, that he did ὑπερβάλλειν πάντας πανταχῆ τὴς πόλε γόητας, καὶ ἀπατεῶνας, exceed every Way, all the Cheats, and Juglers which ever were. Which by the way demonstrates that neither the malicious Jew, nor subtle Heathen were able to confute the Facts contained in the Gospels, or the Acts; for had they been able to have shewn the Falshood of them in one point, they would have had no cause to flie unto this Artifice, it being sufficient for their purpose to have shewed the Falshood of any thing delivered in these Records of the Christian Faith; whereas they only did pretend to balance the Miracles of Christ, and his Apostles, and the Cures performed by them, (as Pharaoh did the Miracles of Moses) by opposing to them the Miracles done by Pythagoras, and Apollonius; and the Cures done by their Gods, and the Heathen Exorcists. Now here consider,

1*st*, That Christ not only did these Miracles himself; but whilst he was with them he sent out first the Twelve, and after them the seventy Disciples, to heal all manner of Diseases, and cast out Devils in his Name, Matth. 10. Luke 10.

2*dly*, He engaged his Truth, that after his departure from them, his Apostles should do greater Works than these, because he went unto the Father, John 14. 12.

3*dly*, He promised that these Signs should follow them that believed, in his Name they should cast out Devils, heal Diseases, and speak with new Tongues, Mark 16. 17, 18.

In answer to what the Heathens offer to invalidate the Strength of this Argument,

1. It is confessed that both Jews and Heathens pretended to the Power of casting out Devils, as truly as the Christians did, and both had their Exorcists for that very purpose, but then we find not one of them who ever promised, or pretended, that those who would believe in them, should do this in their Name, as did our Jesus; not one who ever attempted to silence them at their Oracles, and expel them from their Temples, and force them to confess, before those very Men who worshipped them as Gods, that they were but Devils; and yet from Theophilus to Eusebius, i. e. from the second to the fourth Century, the Christians triumph in this Argument, and promise, upon pain of Death, to extort this Confession from them, and speak of it as a thing known even to the very Heathens, Hæc omnia sciunt plerique, pars vestrum, ipsos Dæmonas de seipsis confiteri, that the Devils are forced by us thus to confess what they are, most know, and even some of you, saith Minutius; Credite illis quum verum de se loquuntur, qui mentientibus creditis, you, who believe their Lies, believe them speaking thus the Truth against themselves, saith Tertullian.

2. It is confessed that many Heathens did plead, in answer to the Christians triumphing in the Gift of Healing, conferr'd upon the meanest Christians by their Lord, that their Gods also did, multorum hominum morbos, valetudinesque sanare, heal the Diseases of many, but never never any ſent their Diſciples, as our Jeſus did his Apoſtles, and afterwards the ſeventy Diſciples by two and two, through all the Cities of Judea, or any other Country, to cure all Diſeaſes in his Name, as 'tis recorded by St. Luke's Goſpel, writ within 15 Years after the thing was done, and ſo whilſt Myriads of Jews were living to teſtifie the Truth, or Falſhood of this thing, yea many who had actually been healed by them. Never did any Promiſe, as our Saviour did, that they who would believe in him ſhould do the ſame, and that his own Apoſtles ſhould do greater Works than he. Never did any enable others to beſtow this Gift upon Believers by impoſition of their Hands, or by baptizing them in this all-powerful Name, as the Apoſtles did. This then is ſuch an eminent demonſtration of the Truth of Chriſtian Faith as hath no parallel.

3. It is confeſſed that many of the Heathen Magi pretended to work many Miracles. And hence Pythagoras, by Porphyry and Iamblicus; Apollonius Tyanæus, by Hierocles; and Apuleius is by others compared to our Jeſus; but then,

1*ſt*, All their pretended Miracles were done to none, or evil Purpoſes, as being done to eſtabliſh the barbarous, obſcene, and fooliſh Rites of Heathen Superſtition, which was the grand Deſign of Apollonius, and alſo of Pythagoras, who taught all Men, ſaith Iamblicus, τὸ μένειν ἐν τοῖς πατρίοις ἔθεσι καὶ νομίμοις, to continue in the Rites and Cuſtoms of their Country, and this we learn from his golden Verſes; and conſequently it is certain that an holy God could never countenance what was ſo oppoſite both to his Nature and his Honour, but it was the Concernment of the Devil thus to endeavour to confirm that brutiſh and idolatrous Worſhip by which his Kingdom was upheld and propagated, and to oppoſe the prevalence of Chriſtian Faith: Whereas the Miracles of Chriſt and his Apoſtles were all ſalutary and highly beneficial, and were deſigned to advance the Knowledge of the true God upon the Ruins of Idolatry, to turn Men from Satan to God, to teach them to excel in Purity and Virtue, in Piety to God, in Truth and Juſtice, Charity and Mercy towards others, and ſo was worthy of the Concernment of a pure and holy God, as being the moſt lively Tranſcript of his own Perfections.

2*dly*, All the great things aſcribed to theſe Perſons have ſuddenly been blaſted, and they like Comets have blazed for a while to the Amazement of the World, and preſently have ſet in Darkneſs; which is a pregnant Evidence that they derived from the Prince of Darkneſs, and only feigned a Commiſſion from that King of Heaven, who neither wanteth Power nor Wiſdom to accompliſh his Deſigns; whilſt Chriſtianity was like the riſing Sun, which ſhineth more and more unto the perfect day. St. Paul informs the Church of Rome and Coloſs, that in the ſpace of thirty Years the Goſpel had been preach'd throughout the World, and brought forth Fruit in every Nation, on which account it quickly did obtain the Name of ἡ κρατοῦσα διδαχὴ, or the prevailing Doctrine, as Porphyry and Julian do confeſs. Now ſurely to aboliſh all Idolatry, to reform the Vices of the World, and to enable a few illiterate Perſons by mighty Signs and Wonders, by admirable Gifts and Diſpenſations of the Holy Ghoſt, to ſubdue the World to the belief of the whole Chriſtian Faith, and to the Worſhip of a Man, condemned by his own Nation as a falſe Prophet, and a Malefactor, as the God and Saviour of the World, muſt be a vain Attempt, tho' manag'd by the moſt ſubtle and improved Impoſtor: But,

3*dly*, None of theſe Perſons ever pretended to tranſmit this Power which they vaunted of to any other Perſon, as our Saviour did; or to leave behind them thoſe, who by like Actions ſhould atteſt the Truth of what they did deliver in his Name, or ſuffer for the Cauſe they owned. The Dæmon in the Statue of Apollonius did for a little while, by uttering Oracles, perſuade Men to worſhip Apollonius as a God; but the ſame (a) Author adds, that God αὐτὸν τ δαίμονα ἐφίμωσε, καταρξήσας αὐτῷ τὰς μαντείας, ſtruck dumb this Dæmon, making void, or aboliſhing his Oracles; whereas this Power was not only imparted by our Lord to his Apoſtles, and promiſed to thoſe who ſhould believe in him, but alſo was, by the impoſition of the Hands of theſe Apoſtles, or by their Baptiſm in the Name of Jeſus, conferr'd upon them, and promiſed to them; as in thoſe words of Peter, repent, and be baptized in the Name of the Lord Jeſus, and ye ſhall recieve the Holy Ghoſt. And hence Arnobius, having ſumm'd up the Miracles our Jeſus did, adds, that he not only did them by his Power, but which was more ſublime, multis aliis facere ſui nominis cum adjectione permiſit, impowered many others to do them in his Name, nor did he any of thoſe Miracles which raiſed aſtoniſhment in others, which he enabled not his little ones, and even Ruſticks to perform; and then he triumphs over the Heathens thus, What ſay you, oh ye ſtiff and incredulous Minds, alicuine mortalium Jupiter ille Capitolinus hujuſmodi poteſtatem dedit? did ever that Jupiter whom the Romans worſhip in the Capitol give the like power to any Mortal? and then moſt rationally concludes, that to transfer this miraculous power to a Man, and to give authority and ſtrength to a Creature, to do that which by their power alone can be done, ſuper omnia ſitæ eſt poteſtatis, is an evidence of one whoſe power preſideth over all things, and who hath all the Creatures at his Beck.

And laſtly, to the pretence that Chriſt and his Apoſtles did all their Miracles by Magick Arts; I will not anſwer as Origen doth to Celſus, that all who ever did converſe with Chriſtians know this to be a Lie, not any of them finding that they ever uſed, but that they conſtantly abhorred theſe Arts; nor yet enquire with Arnobius, poteſtis aliquem nobis demonſtrare ex omnibus illis magis, qui unquam fecère per ſecula, conſimile aliquid Chriſto, milleſima ex parte quî fecerit? Nor will I repreſent it as an Abſurdity to think our Lord could learn theſe Arts in Egypt, when he was but two Years old: Nor will I ask, whether theſe Chriſtians were aſſiſted in theſe Arts by good or evil Spirits, it being as improbable that evil Spirits ſhould promote Chriſtianity to the Deſtruction of their Kingdom, as that good Angels ſhould promote a Lie, or countenance a wicked Cheat: I only ask, how came theſe Chriſtians to convert the Egyptians, and even thoſe Magi from whom they are ſuppoſed to have learnt theſe Arts? (2.) Seeing the Art of Magick was then at the height in Epheſus, Samaria, Judea, and through the Heathen World, by what means came thoſe Chriſtians, who by the Heathens were ſtill called Ideots and Mechanicks, to be ſo dextrous in theſe infernal Arts, that all the Skill and Learning of the World, could neither equal nor detect their Subtilty? Seeing the Jews ſwarmed both in Epheſus and Egypt, why did none of them ever attain to the like Skill? How is it none of the Egyptian Sorcerers did ever contend with Chriſt or his Apoſtles, as they did of old with Moſes, or manifeſt theſe Slights to the deceived World, with which they were ſo well acquainted? How is it that thoſe many who did deſert the Chriſtian Faith, did never once confeſs their Skill in Magick, or diſcover one Book, or one Inſtruction they had learned from Chriſt or his Apoſtles, to produce ſuch wonderful Effects? Laſtly, the Apoſtles, and firſt Chriſtians, could not be Deceivers, but others who did embrace, and ſucceſſively promote and ſpread their Doctrine, muſt know that they were ſo, and be inſtructed in the ſame Arts of Falſhood by them, for they could never propagate their Cheats without great Falſhood and Hypocriſie, nor prevail on any that were not willing to be their Confederates, and learn their Artifices for the impoſing of this Faith on others. Now how incredible is it that ſo many Myriads throughout three Ages in which theſe Miracles were done, ſhould all conſpire in an unprofitable and known Lie, from whence they did, and could reap nothing but Loſs and Poverty, Perſecutions, Impriſonments, and Death, and not one ſingle Perſon be induced to divulge the Cheat, let any reaſonable Perſon judge; eſpecially if we conſider that the only Motives which Chriſtianity did offer to engage Men to Perſeverance in that Faith, were the inward Conſolations of the Holy Spirit, and a future Recompence, neither of which could belong to, or reaſonably be expected by Men, who knew themſelves Promoters of a vile pernicious Lie.

Hence therefore we may argue thus,

They who neither had nor could have any motive to believe, continue in, promote, or ſuffer for the Chriſtian Faith, beſides the inward Conſolations of the Holy Ghoſt, and the Expectations of the Bleſſings promiſed in the Life to come, cannot reaſonably be ſuppoſed to be wilful Cheats; the reaſon is becauſe the Spirit of God could not give any inward Conſolations to thoſe who were promoting a notorious Falſhood by infernal Arts; nor was it poſſible that they who knew they uſed theſe Arts, ſhould expect on that account to be for ever happy in the enjoyment of that Holy God, who loveth Truth in the inward parts, or to be raiſed by him to an Inheritance undefiled; ſeeing then even the Light of Nature, and Reaſon of Mankind aſſures us, that not one of, much leſs all, thoſe Myriads which believed Chriſtianity could do it without any motive; ſince the Light of Scripture doth aſſure us they could then have no other motive to believe, than thoſe of the internal Conſolations of the Holy Spirit at preſent, and the Hopes of a bleſſed Reſurrection to eternal Life: Seeing, 3*dly*, the Attributes of God, and the Nature of the Holy Ghoſt aſſure us, that they who propagated an Impoſture by Magick, and infernal Arts, or by Deluſions, ſhould never have theſe inward Conſolations of the Holy Ghoſt, or Expectations of eternal Happineſs, as the Reward of their Impoſtures or Deluſions, it is impoſſible they ſhould be Cheats.

In fine, the Wonders which accompanied our Saviour's Death, were as remarkable and glorious as were the Actions of his Life; for when the Traytor Judas came to apprehend him, he did but ſay unto them, I am Jeſus, and ſtraightway both the Traytor, and all that did attend him, were ſtricken down to the Ground, John 18. 6. and when Peter had ſtricken off the Ear of Malchus, he healed it with a touch, Luke 22. 51. even when he hung upon the Croſs, and when he had given up his Spirit, the Heavens were overſpread with Darkneſs at noon-day, which is a thing obſerved by the very Heathens, and and from their Records handed down to us; the Earth quaked, the Rocks ſplit, the Veil of the Temple was rent, the Graves were opened, and many that were dead aroſe, and came into the City, and appeared to many, Matth. 27. 51, 52, 53. Now we read nothing of this nature concerning either Pythagoras, or Apollonius, though Philoſtratus tells us, that Apollonius died not, but was tranſlated into Heaven.

§. XI. Again as our Lord frequently foretold, that being dead, after three days he would riſe again, ſo have we certain Demonſtration that he aroſe accordingly from the Conſideration of the Perſons engaged to atteſt it, and the Abſurdity of thinking they ſhould all conſpire to atteſt a Lie: For,

1. The dead Body of our Lord could not continue in the Grave after three days; for had it viſibly lain dead there after that time, this had been ſufficient to have proved our Saviour a falſe Prophet, becauſe he promiſed ſo oft that he would riſe again the third day, Acts 10. 40. 1 Cor. 15. 3. Luke 24. 46. yet if our Lord was not then riſen from the Dead, his Body muſt continue there, or be conveyed thence by ſome body.

2. It is not reaſonable to believe that Perſons unconcerned for this Jeſus, or who believed not well of him ſhould remove his Body thence, ſince no Man can imagine why they ſhould attempt it, or what motive they could have to do it; and therefore this never was pretended, or affirmed by Jew or Gentile. Moreover, either they did this without acquainting Chriſt's Diſciples of their Enterprize, and then how eaſie was it for them, by producing the dead Body, to confute the Teſtimony of his Diſciples, and how unlikely was it that theſe Diſciples would have begun to teſtifie a thing which might, for any thing they could know to the contrary, be preſently confuted by producing that very Body, they ſaid was riſen from the Dead? Or, 2*dly*, They acquainted Chriſt's Diſciples with the Fact, became Confederates with them, and engaged to conceal the Body, and then upon the Strength of this Confederacy, and promiſe, muſt depend all the Hopes which Chriſt's Diſciples had, that they ſhould be ſucceſsful in this Teſtimony, and not be proved Cheats by ocular Demonſtration. Now is it reaſonable to conceive that in this matter they ſhould truſt to the Fidelity of thoſe Men, who in this very Buſineſs, in which their Silence could alone befriend them, were the worſt of Cheats? 'Tis, laſtly more incredible, that Perſons of this Temper ſhould ſtill go on to ſtifle, and conceal the matter, and not be tempted by the pleaſure of the thing, the Service they might do to their Religion, the hopes of a conſiderable Reward, or by the hatred of a Cheat ſo groſs and palpable, to manifeſt the Shame, and Infamy of thoſe who forged it. Or,

3. His dead Body within that time muſt be conveyed from the Sepulchre by Chriſt's Diſciples, as the Jews ſaid it was: Now againſt this vain Pretenſion of the Jews we have the ſtrongeſt Evidence imaginable; the Evangeliſts, and Sacred Writers having ſo contrived this Teſtimony, that 'twas incredible they ſhould attempt, and in the nature of the thing impoſſible they ſhould effect it, had it been a Lie, or a Contrivance of thoſe Men who had their Lord's dead Body in their Hands.

For, 1*ſt*, The Teſtimony they delivered was this, That the ſame Jeſus whom the Jews had crucified as a falſe Prophet, was declared to be the Son of God by the Reſurrection of his Body from the Dead. Now it hath been ſhewn, Note on 1 Cor. 15. 35. that the Reſurrection of the Dead was by the Gentiles deemed a thing incredible: The Reſurrection of that very Perſon whom the Jews had ſo lately condemned, and crucified as an Impoſtor, was that which they of all Men would be moſt unwilling to believe, ſeeing it was a Teſtimony which not only did acquit this Jeſus from all the Calumnies, and falſe Aſperſions of the Jews, but alſo pronounced their greateſt Rabbi's an evil Brood of Hypocrites, Fools, and Blind, Serpents, and Vipers, a wicked and adulterous Generation, a diviliſh, damned Crew, nay their whole Nation guilty of the moſt horrid Crime that could be charged upon Man, even the Murther of the Lord of Life, and which aſſured them there was no Salvation to be hoped for but from that very Perſon whom they had taken, and by wicked Hands had crucified and ſlain, and that all Power both in Heaven and Earth was given to him; and therefore 'twas not to be expected it ſhould gain Credit among Jews, or Gentiles, unleſs it was confirmed by the greateſt Miracles.

2*dly*, As our Lord often told, not only his Diſciples, but the Jews alſo, that he would ſhortly return to his Father, that he ſhould aſcend up where he was before, John 6. 62. and go to him that ſent him, John 7. 33, 34. that within a while, they ſhould ſee the Son of Man ſitting on the right hand of Power, Matth. 26. 64. and that he would come in the Glory of his Father, and reward every Man according to his Works; ſo doth this Teſtimony declare declare, that he was now exalted to the right hand of God, and that God had made him Lord of all things, Acts 2. 36. that he had exalted him to be a Prince and a Saviour, Acts 5. 31. nor was Salvation to be expected by any other, Acts 4. 12. And, Laſtly, That by this Reſurrection he had demonſtrated, that he was to be the Judge of the Quick and the Dead, Acts 17. 31. Now it ſeemed fooliſhneſs both to Jew and Gentile, that ſuch a one who ſeemed to them to be without all Form or Comelineſs, all outward Splendor or Grandeur, one branded for a Rebel and Impoſtor by his own Nation, and as ſuch condemned by ſo great a Power, ſhould be declared to be the Son of God, the Lord of all things, the Author of Salvation to all Men, the Sovereign Object of their Adoration. And,

3*dly*, As an immediate Conſequence of this, it was a Teſtimony which never could be owned in any part of the whole Heathen World, but they muſt thereupon renounce all the Religion eſtabliſhed among them by Law and Cuſtom, diſcard the Gods which they and their Forefathers had ſo long worſhipped, as Devils and dumb Idols, and own the God of Iſrael as the only true God, and ſubmit to thoſe Doctrines of the Holy Jeſus which required them ſo entirely to renounce their ſinful Pleaſures, which were ſo grateful to the Fleſh, and all thoſe Vices to which they had ſo long indulged, and henceforth live a Life of higheſt Purity, and ſeparation from the Pleaſures and Enjoyments of this World to be employed in Acts of Self-denial and Mortification, in taking up the Croſs, and ſuffering patiently the worſt of temporal Evils, only in hopes of future Bleſſings from a Crucified Jeſus, and a Reward to be conferred upon them by him, after a more incredible Reſurrection of their Bodies from the Grave. Now it is certain from Reaſon and Experience, that a new Doctrine which ſtands obnoxious to a great many Prejudices both of the Judgment and Affections, and which contains many things that ſeem to render it incredible to the one, and many more which render it unpleaſant to the other, is moſt unlikely to prevail upon the World, in oppoſition to all other Doctrines. (2.) That Men are not eaſily induced to reject thoſe Principles which they received from their Education, but ſtill are backward to admit new Faith, to confeſs their Errors, and condemn themſelves, and paſs hard Sentences upon the ſtate of their beloved Friends, Relations, and Anceſtors. (3.) That Men are naturally wedded to their Luſts, and bear a paſſionate Affection to the Pleaſures and Enjoyments of the World; and therefore, that which ſuddenly prevails upon them to renounce them all, muſt be of greater Power, and of more prevailing Efficacy, than the Temptations of the World. (4.) That it is not eaſie to prevail upon the World to quit a preſent and important Intereſt, only in hopes of future Good, or to expoſe themſelves to the worſt of Sufferings in confirmation and purſuance of thoſe Hopes, without the moſt concluding grounds of hope, much leſs in contradiction to them. (5.) That Men of the loweſt Birth and Education, and ſuch as were great Sufferers both in their Reputation and their Perſons, were Men unlikely to prevail upon Perſons of all ſorts and conditions whatſoever, to quit their Religion, and their habitual Luſts, their worldly Intereſts, and their alluring Pleaſures, and their eſpouſed Tenets, much more their Lives, and deareſt Relatives, and to expoſe themſelves to thoſe Evils which are moſt contrary to the Deſires of human Nature, and to the Deſigns of mere natural Men.

Again, They tell us, they were ſent to preach this Teſtimony to all Nations, and to baptize them into the Faith thus preached, to publiſh it to the Jews, Samaritans, and to the uttermoſt parts of the Earth, Acts 1. 8. Now, could they convert great numbers of all Nations from Darkneſs unto Light, perſuade them to diſcard their own Religion they had ſo long embraced, quit all the Worſhip and the Rites they had received from their Forefathers, renounce all the evil Cuſtoms and Manners they had ſo long indulged to, only to worſhip and expect Salvation by one condemned by his own Nation, where his pretended Miracles were wrought, as a falſe Prophet and a vile Impoſtor? they were to turn them from the Power of Satan unto God, and therefore, were to deſtroy that ſtrong Man armed, to overthrow his Kingdom, to ſtop the Mouth of his Oracles, deſtroy his Temples and his Worſhip, to caſt out Devils where they came, and make his Kingdom fall like Lightning; Now, could they convert thoſe Nations, whoſe Languages they underſtood not, without the Gift of Tongues; which, if they wanted, they muſt ſtand mute among them without one word to ſay in propagation of this Teſtimony? how could they work ſo great a Change upon them, or prevail with them to ſuffer ſo much, as their Converts by their own confeſſion were obliged to do, for the ſake of this their Teſtimony, without the greateſt evidence, that what they told them was a certain Truth? and how could they afford this Evidence to any, without a Confluence of Miracles to confirm their Sayings? Hence,

4*thly*, They ſo often tell us, that their Lord promiſed to enable them, in confirmation of this Teſtimony, to work greater Miracles than he himſelf had done, John 14. 12. and that they who believed this Teſtimony, ſhould be enabled to heal the Sick, to caſt out Devils, and ſpeak with new Tongues; that for the propagation of this Teſtimony, he would give them a Mouth,

Mouth and Wiſdom, which all their Adverſaries ſhould not be able to gainſay, that they ſhould have no need when they were before Princes and Rulers on the account of this Teſtimony to premeditate, becauſe the Holy Ghoſt would teach them in that hour what to ſay, Luke 12. 12. — 21. 15. That he promiſed, that they ſhould be enabled for this work by the Power of the Holy Ghoſt deſcending on them, and convincing the World of their Sin who believed not in him, and of his Righteouſneſs becauſe he went unto the Father, and of a future Judgment, becauſe the Prince of the World ſhould by them be condemned, and caſt out of his Kingdom, John 16. 8---11. They introduce him, praying to his Father, that they might thus be aſſiſted by this Holy Spirit, that the World might believe that he had ſent him; See the Note on John 17. 21, 22, 23. and promiſing the Holy Ghoſt to them that would believe in him, John 7. 37---39. Whence it muſt neceſſarily follow from their own words, that they muſt have received this miraculous aſſiſtance, and theſe diſtributions of the Holy Ghoſt, for confirmation of this Teſtimony; or elſe that Jeſus, whoſe Reſurrection they proclaimed, muſt be a falſe Prophet. Hence it is evident beyond all contradiction;

1*ſt*, That a Power of doing mighty Miracles, and of exerciſing and diſtributing the Gifts of the Holy Ghoſt to Believers, was abſolutely neceſſary, in places where they came, for confirmation of this Teſtimony, and planting any Chriſtian Church in any Nation; it being abſolutely neceſſary, to make this Teſtimonial effectual, that both the Apoſtles who gave in this Teſtimony, and they who did believe it, ſhould be aſſiſted by the Power of Miracles, and be endow'd with the miraculous Gifts and Diſtributions of the Holy Ghoſt; and yet,

2*dly*, It is as certain, that if this Jeſus was not riſen, or being riſen, had failed in all his Promiſes of ſuch miraculous Aſſiſtance, that his Diſciples could have no motive to begin this Teſtimony, or never could be able thus to confirm what they affirmed.

1. They could have then no Motive to begin this Teſtimony; for if he were not riſen, or if he failed in all theſe Promiſes, they muſt conclude him an Impoſtor; and then, what Motives could they have to publiſh him the Saviour of the World, who after he had called them to leave all, and follow him, and made ſuch ample Promiſes unto them, of judging the twelve Tribes of Iſrael, Matth. 19. 28. left them ſo ſadly in the lurch, expoſed to Shame and Infamy? How could they hope by mighty Signs and Wonders, by Gifts and Graces of the Holy Spirit, great and numerous, to give in Evidence to his Reſurrection, (as they confidently pretended they were impowered to do,) had he been ſtill reſerved under the power of Death, and only by his own, or others Arts, removed from his Sepulchre? How is it, that they never thought within themſelves, he could not ſave himſelf, and whence ſhall we expect Salvation? He could not by his Miracles of Power and Goodneſs, prevail upon one Nation to believe his Doctrine; and, can we, tho' deſtitute of all that Power which reſided in him, think to reduce the World into Obedience, or to impart the Holy Ghoſt to others, when we our ſelves have the Spirit of Deluſion only? Who can imagine, were this ſo, they would have ſaid ſo boldly at the firſt Entrance on this Teſtimony, to Men who wondred at them, Repent, and be baptized every one of you in the Name of the Lord Jeſus, and you ſhall receive (theſe Gifts of) the Holy Ghoſt; for the Promiſe (of the Holy Ghoſt, recorded by the Prophet Joel,) is (made) to you, and to your Children, and to as many as the Lord your God ſhall call; or ſay ſo confidently before the Jewiſh Sanhedrim, their mortal Enemies, We are Witneſſes of theſe things, and ſo is the Holy Ghoſt which God hath given to thoſe that believe, Acts 5. 32. if there were no ſuch thing?

Nor, 2. Could they confirm their Teſtimony by any Miracles, or Divine Aſſiſtance; for if their Teſtimony were a Lie, they had no reaſon to expect the leaſt Aſſiſtance for the propagation of it, but had juſt reaſon to conceive, that all the Powers both in Earth and Heaven ſhould be engaged to confound it; for ſure they could expect no help from him whom they declared to be riſen, if in their Conſciences they knew he was ſtill under the Power of Death; they rather had great reaſon to expect that God ſhould croſs them in thoſe Deſigns, which they prophanely vented in his Name, making him witneſs to a Lie; they could not hope to be aſſiſted by the Powers of Darkneſs, ſeeing their Doctrine did ſo plainly tend to the ſubverſion of Satan's Kingdom; they could not rationally hope, that either Jew or Gentile would befriend them in the promotion of a Cheat, which they were both concerned in intereſt and honour to detect: What therefore could embolden them to enter upon the propagation of this Cheat, in oppoſition to all the Powers both of Heaven and Earth?

To ſtrengthen this Argument, let us conſider the ſucceſs of this Teſtimony; our Lord had declared, that after he had been lifted up, he would draw all Men after him, John 12. 32. and that then his Kingdom, from a ſmall beginning, ſhould increaſe as a Grain of Muſtard-ſeed, and be like Leaven leavening the whole lump, Luke 13. 19, 21. Accordingly, we find that this Teſtimony, when it was firſt declared to the World on the Day of Pentecoſt, prevailed at one Sermon over 3000, and at another on 5000, of thoſe very Perſons who had had ſeen him crucified, to believe, that he was riſen from the Dead. He ſent them forth to preach this Doctrine to the World, with a Promiſe that he would be with them, Matth. 28. 20. And accordingly it is ſaid, They went forth preaching this Doctrine every where, the Lord working with them, and confirming the Word with Signs following, Mark 16. 20. and that with great Power gave the Apoſtles witneſs to the Reſurrection of the Lord Jeſus, Acts 4. 33. and that God bare witneſs to the Word of his Grace, both with Signs and Wonders, and divers Miracles, and Gifts of the Holy Ghoſt, Heb. 2. 4. and of the Truth of this, the Acts of the Apoſtles, the Epiſtles written to the Churches planted by them, the Miracles done by many Myriads of Chriſtians, and the Gifts daily exerciſed in their Aſſemblies, are a demonſtration; yea, the ſpeedy and wonderful ſucceſs and prevalency of this Teſtimony, confirms the Truth of what they delivered; for if Men were not then infatuated, how could it come to paſs, that ſo great a part of the World as was ſo ſuddenly converted by their Teſtimony, ſhould without any Proof, or other Evidence, than the bare Relation of ſuch ignorant unlearned Perſons, give credit to their Fiction; or that Perſons of all Ranks and Conditions, ſhould not only yield a firm aſſent to ſuch a proofleſs Fable, but readily ſhould ſacrifice their Lives and Fortunes to maintain that Faith?

For farther demonſtration of the Truth of this Teſtimony, let us reflect a little upon the Perſons commiſſioned by Chriſt to preach it to the World; and we ſhall find,

1. That they were Perſons who had no advantages of Birth, Wealth, or worldly Intereſts, which might enable them to manage, or promote this Work, no Wiſdom to contrive, no Policy to carry on ſuch cunningly deviſed Fables, as being both according to their own Report, and the Objection of the Heathen World, ἀγράμματοι, καὶ ἰδιῶται, illiterate, and ſimple Men; and is it eaſie to conceive, that Men ſo few, ſo meanly qualified as to Condition, Endowments, or Ability of Mind, without all ſupernatural Aſſiſtance, ſhould ſo skilfully contrive, ſo couragiouſly maintain, and ſo ſucceſsfully manage ſuch a Story, as quickly to engage the Faith of many Myriads to yield a firm aſſent unto it?

2. They could have no Motive from any worldly Intereſts to propagate this Lie throughout the World, but they had all imaginable Reaſons to decline it, if it were not true; for all thoſe things which the Allurements of the World can ſignifie, they willingly abandoned for the ſake of this one Teſtimony, incurring both the loſs of Honour, Pleaſure, and of all worldly Intereſts in proſecution of it: Nay, they declared, that this very Jeſus, whoſe Reſurrection they atteſted, had foretold that this ſhould be their Portion, that in this World they ſhould have Tribulation, that they ſhould be hated of all Nations for his Name's ſake, that they ſhould be delivered up to be afflicted, and even killed for this Teſtimony; ſo that they could not poſſibly avoid theſe Evils, but they muſt by ſo doing overthrow their own Teſtimony, and prove this Jeſus a falſe Prophet; and much leſs had they reaſon to expect any Bleſſings in the World to come for propagating ſuch a Lie, by falſe Pretences of Divine Aſſiſtance, to the diſhonour of Almighty God, and the deſtruction of ſo many Myriads deceived by them. Since then the Moraliſts conclude, that 'tis impoſſible for Men to act without appearance of ſome good to be procured by that Action; ſince love of Life, and a deſire of Self-preſervation, is common to us with the very Brutes; and 'tis natural to them, and us, to avoid Miſery and Torments; the Apoſtles could not thus abandon all the Enjoyments and Expectations of the Bleſſings both of this and of another World, and wilfully ſubject themſelves to all the Miſeries and Torments which Creatures could endure, in propagation of a Teſtimony from which they could expect no profit or advantage, but they muſt be bereft of common Senſe, renounce the natural Inſtincts of Mankind, and be in love with Ruin and Deſtruction. I confeſs, 'tis poſſible for Men to lay down their Lives for falſe Opinions, provided they believe them to be true, but if the Apoſtles were guilty of any Cheat at all, they muſt be guilty of a known Impoſture, and ſo muſt ſacrifice their Lives for Falſhood, i. e. for that from which they could expect no good at all; which ſeems ſo inconſiſtent with the Principles of common Reaſon and Self-love, that nothing can be more incredible.

3. Conſider, that they continued conſtant in this Teſtimony, and never could be moved by any checks of Conſcience, any hopes of Gain, or any Fears or Senſe of Sufferings to diſavow this Teſtimony, or to detect the falſhood of it. Now that ſo many Perſons ſhould perſevere immoveably in an extravagant Reſolution to maintain a Lie, ſo that no Threats, no Perils, no Pains or Troubles from without, no Regret or Diſſatisfaction from within, ſhould drive them from it; but that they ſhould die with it in their Mouths, is ſo incredible, that nothing can be more; it muſt be therefore Truth alone, that could uphold them ſteady in the profeſſion of this thing; ſo unanimous a Conſent, ſo clear a Confidence, ſo firm a Reſolution, ſo inſuparable Conſtancy and Patience, nothing but the ſenſe of Truth could inſpire them with, nothing but a perfectly good Conſcience could ſuſtain. Conſider,

4. That

4. That they were Perſons who profeſs'd to all their Converts, great Sincerity in what they did, declaring, that they had renounced the hidden things of Diſhoneſty, not walking in Craftineſs, not handling the Word of God deceitfully, but by manifeſtation of the Truth, commending themſelves to every man's Conſcience in the ſight of God. Moreover, in their Writings, they frequently condemned all Falſhood, Craft, Hypocriſie, commanding us to lay aſide all Guile, Hypocriſie, to put away all Lying, to ſpeak every man truth with his Neighbour, denouncing Hell and Damnation againſt thoſe who loved, and made a Lie: And yet if they indeed promoted a cunningly deviſed Fable, they whom they ſpake and wrote to, could not be ignorant of their Hypocriſie and Lying, when they ſpeak ſo much of their own Miracles and Gifts of the Holy Ghoſt received by Believers, and of the Gifts of Healing, caſting out of Devils, and of Tongues, promiſed and vouchſafed to them; for theſe things they ſtill mention in their Epiſtles directed to their Converts, as things frequently done by, and exerciſed among them. Now if their Converts did enjoy theſe admirable Gifts, it is not to be doubted, but God himſelf, who is the only Author of them, did ſet his Seal to the Apoſtles Teſtimony; if they did not enjoy them, they muſt then know, that the Apoſtles who made theſe Promiſes, and who indited theſe Epiſtles, were guilty of notorious Untruths, and ſo could have no Motive to believe, but rather to deteſt their Doctrine.

5. Conſider, that the Doctrine they delivered in the Name of this Holy Jeſus, was ſuch as highly tended to the promotion of Piety and Virtue in the World; for none who are acquainted with this Doctrine, can deny, that they do evidently tend to the advancement of true Goodneſs, Righteouſneſs, Love, Charity, Peace, Quietneſs and Mercy: Now, can it reaſonably be conceived, that Men ſhould in the ſame Deſign, be guilty of the greateſt Virtue, and the greateſt Villany in the World; that the ſame Men ſhould die Martyrs to the worſt Impoſture, and the beſt Inſtitution in the World; that they ſhould ſacrifice their Lives to the Intereſt of Holineſs and Virtue, and the Credit of Blaſphemy and Impoſture? 'Tis common, I confeſs, for Men of bad Deſigns to make very good Pretences, but ſtill they do this to carry on Deſigns far different from their Pretences; but we have ſhewed, that the Apoſtles could have no Deſigns in propagating their Doctrine, but that it ſhould be believed; and therefore, if they did not really deſign to make Men believe the Doctrines they taught for the advancement of the Intereſts of Piety and Virtue, they could have no end at all, in loſing both their Lives and Fortunes to promote thoſe Doctrines, which contradicts the Principles of Human Nature.

He then who doubts of the Sincerity of theſe Aſſertors of our Lord's Reſurrection, muſt be forced to admit what is much more incredible, as being more repugnant to Human Nature, and the Courſe of Things, viz. he muſt believe that Perſons, otherwiſe thro' their whole Lives blameleſs, and ſtrictly vertuous in their Converſations, as the Apoſtles were, Men who appealed to their Proſelytes, how holily, and juſtly, and unblameably, they had behaved themſelves amongſt them, ſhould yet, againſt the cleareſt dictates of their Conſcience, commit ſo great a Villany as this Impoſtor doth imply; that Men, all whoſe Diſcourſes and Demeanors did evidently tend to the advancement of God's Glory and the promotion of true Goodneſs, ſhould in their Hearts defy God, and deteſt all Goodneſs, as they muſt do if they were wilful Cheats; that they who otherwiſe did teach theſe Doctrines, and practice thoſe things which ſhewed the greateſt kindneſs and good will to Men, were only ſtriving to abuſe and betray them by falſe Promiſes and Hopes into the worſt of Miſeries; that Men of ſo great Wiſdom as they ſhewed, both in their Writings, and the ſucceſs of their Attempts, ſhould zealouſly drive on a vain and ſenſeleſs Project, with more unwearied Induſtry labouring to maintain and diſperſe a Lie, than any Men beſides did ever uſe for confirmation of the greateſt Truth; he muſt believe, that Men in all reſpects ſo impotent, ſhould be ſo ſtrangely prevalent without the leaſt Aſſiſtance, as to cauſe the World to run in to them, that naked Weakneſs ſhould overthrow the ſtrongeſt Might, that pure Simplicity ſhould baffle even the ſharpeſt Wits, the ſubtileſt Policy and deepeſt Learning, that rude Speech void of all Strength and Ornament, ſhould even force Men to embrace an uncouth and unpleaſant Story againſt the fineſt Rhetorick back'd with the force of Truth: He muſt believe, that a Crew of vile Perſons ſhould ſo inſeparably be linked together only by the Bonds of Fraud, no Truth, no Virtue, no real Intereſt uniting them, that nothing could unty the Knot: Laſtly, He muſt believe, that Men of Senſe ſhould for no End, no viſible Advantage here, no future Hopes, voluntarily embrace, and patiently endure all that can be diſtaſtful unto Human Nature, freely expoſing themſelves, they knew not why, to all the Fury upon Earth, and all the Flames of Hell, eagerly ſacrificing their Fortunes, Credits, Lives, and Souls themſelves, to the Ghoſt of a condemned Malefactor, and falſe Prophet. And if ſo, why doth Philoſophy inform us, that Self-preſervation, the love of Life and Eaſe, is rooted in the very Principles of Human Nature, and that it is not poſſible for any Man deliberately to chuſe to be miſerable, or to refuſe to had ſeen him crucified, to believe, that he was riſen from the Dead. He ſent them forth to preach this Doctrine to the World, with a Promiſe that he would be with them, Matth. 28. 20. And accordingly it is ſaid, They went forth preaching this Doctrine every where, the Lord working with them, and confirming the Word with Signs following, Mark 16. 20. and that with great Power gave the Apoſtles witneſs to the Reſurrection of the Lord Jeſus, Acts 4. 33. and that God bare witneſs to the Word of his Grace, both with Signs and Wonders, and divers Miracles, and Gifts of the Holy Ghoſt, Heb. 2. 4. and of the Truth of this, the Acts of the Apoſtles, the Epiſtles written to the Churches planted by them, the Miracles done by many Myriads of Chriſtians, and the Gifts daily exerciſed in their Aſſemblies, are a demonſtration; yea, the ſpeedy and wonderful ſucceſs and prevalency of this Teſtimony, confirms the Truth of what they delivered; for if Men were not then infatuated, how could it come to paſs, that ſo great a part of the World as was ſo ſuddenly converted by their Teſtimony, ſhould without any Proof, or other Evidence, than the bare Relation of ſuch ignorant unlearned Perſons, give credit to their Fiction; or that Perſons of all Ranks and Conditions, ſhould not only yield a firm aſſent to ſuch a prooffleſs Fable, but readily ſhould ſacrifice their Lives and Fortunes to maintain that Faith?

For farther demonſtration of the Truth of this Teſtimony, let us reflect a little upon the Perſons commiſſioned by Chriſt to preach it to the World; and we ſhall find, be happy, or not desire so to be? To conclude, if this Relation were untrue, either the Apostles were beside their Senses when they did believe it, or besides their Wits when they affirmed, and did endeavour to confirm what they did not believe with loss of Life and Fortunes; and if so, what shall we say to that vast Multitude of Christians, who, notwithstanding all Temptations to the contrary, so readily embraced, so stedfastly believed the Doctrine of those Men who had so little reason to believe themselves.

§. XII. Let us consider lastly the Predictions of our Lord, relating partly to his own Disciples, and what they were to do after his Resurrection, and partly to the Jewish Nation, and what was to befal them for their Infidelity, and their rejecting, and condemning their Messiah. As for his Disciples,

1. He promised, and foretold, that not only the twelve Apostles should be endued with Power from on High, and should receive the Promise of the Holy Ghost, but also that they who believed in him should be baptized with the Holy Ghost, should receive him, and be enabled by him to speak with Tongues, Matth. 3. 11. Mark 16. 17, 18. Luke 24. 49. John 7. 37, 38. Acts 1. 8. and that this Promise was admirably fulfilled not only by the Gifts of Tongues, and Prophesie, conferr'd on the Apostles at the day of Pentecost, and by their Baptism, Preaching, and laying on of Hands on others, but by the Gifts of Prophesie, and Tongues, with the Interpretation of them, and by the Gift of discerning Spirits, and knowing Things secret exercised in all Christian Churches, hath been fully proved in the Preface to the Epistles, from §. I. to the sixth, and from the eleventh to the fourteenth.

2. He foretold that the Kingdom of Satan should be cast down by them, and should fall like Lightning before them, and said, behold, I give you Power over all the Power of the Enemy, Luke 10. 18, 19. and how gloriously he fulfilled this Promise, and made good this Prediction, hath fully been demonstrated in the same General Preface, §. X.

3. He foretold that the Gospel of the Kingdom should be preached by them throughout the World, Matth. 26. 13. yea that it should be preached to all Nations, within the space of forty Years, or, before the Destruction of Jerusalem, Matth. 24. 14. that the increase of his Kingdom should be like that of a Grain of Mustard Seed, Mark 4. 32. and that he being lifted up would draw all men after him, John 12. 32. which came to pass so wonderfully, that in the space of 24 Years after Christ's Passion, St. Paul in his Epistle to the Romans, saith, the sound of it was gone out into the uttermost parts of the World, Chap. 10. 18. and in the Epistle to the Colossians writ 29 Years after, that it was preached to every Creature under Heaven, Chap. 1. 6, 23. We see, saith (b) Clemens Romanus, the World beyond the Ocean, i. e. the British Islands, subject to the Commands of Jesus: The Contagion of this Superstition, saith (c) Pliny in his Epistle to Trajan, writ in the close of the first Century, hath spread it self not only over Cities, but even Villages and Fields: There is no rank of men, saith (d) Justin M. whether Græcians, or Barbarians, or call'd by any other Name, in which Praise and Thanksgivings are not offered up to the Father in the Name of Christ crucified; so that an whole Race of Christian Nations seemeth, saith (e) Origen, to be born at once, and who, saith he, will not admire the Prediction of our Lord, when he sees it thus fulfilled in every Nation under Heaven, Greeks and Barbarians, the wise and unwise, and all Mankind being overcome by it, so that there is no kind of men by whom this Doctrine is not received? l. 2. p. 68, 69.

The Predictions which concerned the Jewish Nation were these following,

1. That the Kingdom of God should be taken from them, and given to another Nation, bringing forth the Fruits thereof, Matth. 21. 43. and that the things which did belong to their Peace should be shortly hid from their Eyes, Luke 13. 28, 29.—19. 42. that many should come from the East, and from the West, and should sit down with Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, in the Kingdom of God, but the Children of the Kingdom should be cast out, Mat. 8. 11, 13. and that all these things should come upon that Generation. Accordingly we find the Apostle Paul in his Epistle to the Romans, sadly bewailing that Spirit of slumber which was come upon them, Rom. 11. 8. speaking of their Rejection, ver. 15. the breaking of these Branches off through Unbelief, ver. 19, 20. their Blindness, ver. 25. and saying, that God had concluded them all in Unbelief.

2. Our Lord foretold, that Satan, cast out from them, should return with seven Devils more wicked than himself; and that he did so, the History of Josephus will not suffer us to to doubt, for he declares, that ſoon after our Saviour's time, they were become the worſt of Men. See Note on Rom. 2. 2.

§. XIII. Laſtly, The things which Chriſt foretold concerning the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem, and the Calamities which ſhortly were to happen to that Nation, were of that ſignal Nature, and mentioned ſuch various Events, then future, and contingent, and yet were ſo exactly, and ſo particularly fulfilled, as to afford us a moſt pregnant Demonſtration of the Truth of Chriſt's Prophetick Office. And,

1*ſt*, Our bleſſed Lord foretelleth the Deſtruction of the Jewiſh Temple, after it had ſtood well-nigh 500 Years, in theſe words, Seeſt thou theſe great Buildings? there ſhall not be left one Stone upon another which ſhall not be thrown down; to compleat which Prediction, Titus commands his Soldiers, ſaith (f) Joſephus, ϖ̃ν τὲ πόλιν ἅπαν ξ, κ᾽ τὸν νεὼν καλασκάπλειν, to dig up the Foundations both of the Temple and of the City; and both the (g) Jewiſh Talmud, and (h) Maimonides add, that Terentius Rufus, the Captain of his Army, did with a Plowſhare tear up the Foundations of the Temple, and ſo more ſignally fulfil thoſe words of Micah, Chap. 3. 12. Therefore ſhall Zion for your ſakes, be plowed as a Field, and Jeruſalem ſhall become Heaps, and the Mountain of the Lord as the high places of the Foreſt. And here two things ſeem worthy of our Obſervation, viz.

1. The exact Time when this was done, viz. on the ſame Month, and Day, on which it formerly was burnt by Nabuzaradan, the Captain of the King of Babylon, which therefore by Maimonides is ſtiled, the fatal day of Vengeance, and which is by (i) Joſephus reckoned to be a matter of juſt Admiration, and a plain Indication, that this ſo hapned by divine Appointment.

2. That this Deſtruction, and Conflagration of the Temple, hapned againſt the Will, Command, and the Endeavours of Titus to prevent it, for he calls Heaven and Earth to witneſs that he would never violate that ſacred Place, unleſs the Jews compelled him ſo to do; yea, ſaith he, (k) I will preſerve your Temple againſt your own Wills; when his own Generals declared it neceſſary to deſtroy that Temple, he anſwers, I will never ſuffer ſuch a Structure to be deſtroyed by the Flames; and when the Fire began to ſeize upon it; he calls, he beckneth to, yea he commands his Soldiers to extinguiſh it, but they not hearkning to his Commands, do animate one another to the burning of it: Thus, ſaith (l) Joſephus, was the Temple burnt againſt the Will of Cæſar, God himſelf aſſiſting with the Romans to the ruin of it; that ſo the words of Chriſt might be verified, He will ſend forth his Armies and deſtroy thoſe Murtherers, and burn up their City.

3. Obſerve, that they who had (*) accuſed our Saviour, and his Diſciples of polluting, and of deſigning to deſtroy this Temple, were the very Men who did horribly pollute it with the Blood of Jews and Gentiles, and even forced the Romans to deſtroy it, they haſtned the ſlow Fire, ſaith their own (m) Joſephus, and even drew it to the Temple; the Inflammation of it, ſaith he, had both the cauſe, and the beginning of it from themſelves. The Providence of God ſtill ordering Matters ſo, that they ſhould bring upon themſelves thoſe Evils of which they falſly did accuſe our Lord, and his Apoſtles.

2*dly*, Our Lord foretels, with like exactneſs and particularity, the ruin of their famous City, declaring, Luke 21. 24. that Jeruſalem ſhould be trodden down of the Gentiles, until the times of the Gentiles be fulfilled; and again, the days, ſaith he, ſhall come upon thee that thine Enemies ſhall caſt a Trench about thee, and compaſs thee round, and keep thee in on every ſide, and ſhall lay thee even with the Ground, and ſhall not leave in thee one Stone upon another, Luke 19. 43, 44. Now that the Event compleatly anſwered to theſe plain Predictions is evident from their own Hiſtorian, who doth expreſly ſay, that (n) Titus having commanded his Soldiers to dig up the City, and the Temple, this was ſo fully done, by levelling the whole Compaſs of the City, except three Towers, that they who came to ſee it were perſuaded it never would be built again. The ſame (o) Hiſtorian informs us, that when Veſpaſian beſieged Jeruſalem, his Army compaſſed the City round about, and kept them in on every ſide; and tho' 'twas judged a great, and almoſt an impracticable Work to compaſs the whole City with a Wall, yet Titus animating his Soldiers to attempt it, they in three days built a Wall of 39 Furlongs, having 13 Caſtles on it, and ſo cut off all hopes that any of the Jews within the City ſhould eſcape.

3*dly*, Whereas our Saviour ſaith, Jeruſalem ſhould be trodden down, πατουμένη, poſſeſſed, and trodden by the Feet of the Gentiles, this ſo exactly came to paſs, that (p) Veſpaſian, (1.) Commands the whole Land of Judæa to be ſold to thoſe Gentiles that would buy it; And, (2.) (q) Hadrian, about 63 Years after, makes a Law, That no Jew ſhould come into the Region round about Jeruſalem, as Ariſto Pellæus, who was himſelf a Jew, and flouriſhed in the very times of Hadrian, relates; thus, ſaith (r) Euſebius, it came to paſs that the Jews being baniſhed thence, and there being a Conflux thither ἀλλοφύλων γλώσσης, of Aliens, it became a City and Colony of the Romans, and was in Honour of the Emperor named Ælia. (3.) Jeruſalem, ſaith Chriſt, ſhall be thus trodden down, or ſubject to the Gentiles, till the time of the Gentiles be fulfilled, that is, till by Converſion of the Jews unto the Chriſtian Faith, the Fulneſs of the Gentiles, to be converted to it, ſhould come in with them; for Blindneſs, ſaith the Apoſtle, hath happed to the Jews, till πλήρωμα τῶν ἐθνῶν, the Fulneſs of the Gentiles ſhall come in, and then all Iſrael ſhall be ſaved, Rom. 11. 25, 26. and with them alſo the yet Heathen Gentiles; for if, ſaith he, ver. 15. the caſting away of the Jews was the reconciling of the World, what ſhall the receiving of them be to it, but even Life from the Dead? And again, if the fall of them were the Riches of the World, ver. 12. and the diminiſhing of them the Riches of the Gentiles, how much more ſhall their Fulneſs be the Fulneſs of the Gentiles? Now here it is eſpecially obſervable, that Julian the Apoſtate, deſigning to defeat this Propheſie of Chriſt, reſolved on the rebuilding of the City, and Temple of Jeruſalem in its old Station, which was till his time left in its Ruin, Ælia being built without the Circuit of it; for in his (s) Epiſtle to that Community of the Jews, he writes thus, the holy City of Jeruſalem, which you have ſo long deſired to ſee inhabited, rebuilding by my own Labours, I will dwell in. This he began, with an endeavour to build that Temple, in which alone the Jews would offer up their Prayers and Sacrifices, but the immediate Hand of Providence ſoon forced the Woorkmen to deſiſt from that unhappy Enterprize. (t) Ammianus Marcellinus an Heathen, who lived in thoſe very times, gives us the Story thus, That Julian endeavoured to rebuild the Temple at Jeruſalem with vaſt Expences, and gave it in Charge to Alypius of Antioch to haſten the Work, and to the Rector of the Province to aſſiſt him in it, in which Work, when Alypius was earneſtly employed, and the Rector of the Province was aſſiſting, terrible Balls of Flame burſting forth near the Foundations with frequent Inſults, and burning divers times the Workmen, rendred the place inacceſſible, and thus the Fire obſtinately repelling them, the Work ceaſed. The Story is very ſignal and remarkable for many Circumſtances, as v. g.

1. The Perſons that relate it, Ammianus Marcellinus an Heathen, Zemuch David a Jew, who confeſſeth that Julian was divinitus impeditus, hindred by God in this Attempt: Nazianzen and Chryſoſtom among the Greeks, St. Ambroſe and Ruffinus among the Latins, who flouriſhed at the very time when this was done: Theodoret and Sozomen Orthodox Hiſtorians, Philoſtorgius an Arian, Socrates a Favourer of the Novatians, who writ the Story within the ſpace of fifty Years after the thing was done, and whilſt the Eye-witneſſes of the Fact were yet ſurviving.

almoſt incredible which their Hiſtorian relates of the Deſtruction of the Jews; for he informs us, that (e) Eleven hundren thouſand periſhed in that Siege; and 'tis ſtill more incredible which their Talmud, and other Jewiſh Writers mention of this Slaughter, which (f) Hadrian's Army made of them fifty two Years after, when they rebelled under Barchochebas, and were beſieged in the City Bitter, the moſt modeſt Computation being quatuor mille Myriadas, and the moſt extravagant, octoginta mille Myriadas. And yet our Saviour having farther ſaid, that where ever the Carcaſs was, i. e. the Nation of the Jews, rejected now, and loathed by God as a dead Carcaſs, there would the Eagles, i. e. the Roman Army be gathered together, to prey upon them, Matth. 24. 28. Luke 17. 37. they were accordingly haraſſed, and deſtroyed throughout the Roman Empire, when, ſaith Joſephus, the Romans had no Enemies left in Judea, the Senſe, and Danger reached, πολλοῖς ϰ᾽ τ ἀπωτάτω ϰαλοιϰένων, to many of them living the remoteſt from it; for many of them periſhed at (g) Alexandria, at Cirene, and in other Cities of Egypt, to the number of ſixty thouſand, in all the Cities of Syria; in a word, (h) Eleazar in Joſephus, having rekoned many places where they were cruelly ſlaughtered, concludes thus, μακρὸν ἂν εἴη νῦν ἰδία πᾶσι ἑκάστων λέγειν, 'twould be too long to ſpeak of all theſe places in particular.

Again our Saviour adds, that they ſhould be led Captives into all Nations, Luke 21. 24. accordingly (i) Joſephus doth inform us, that the number of their Captives was ninety ſeven thouſand, that of them Titus ſent many to Egypt, and moſt of them he diſperſed into the Roman Provinces, and ſo exactly fulfilled this Prediction.

4*thly*, Our Lord foretels the many Signs preceding this Deſtruction, declaring that there ſhould be φοβητρὰ, fearful Events, or Sights, Earthquakes, and Signs from Heaven, Luke 21. 11. Now to omit the frequent Earthquakes, which happened in other places in the Times of Claudius and Nero; (k) Joſephus doth inform us that there hapned in Judea, and Jeruſalem, an immenſe Tempeſt, and vehement Winds, with Rain, and frequent Lightnings, and dreadful Thundring, and extreme Roarings of the quaking Earth, which manifeſted to all, that the World was diſturbed at the Deſtruction of Men, and that theſe Prodigies portended no ſmall Miſchiefs. (l) Joſephus hath a ſelect Chapter of the manifeſt Signs of their approaching Deſolation, which (m) Tacitus a Roman Hiſtorian of that Age doth almoſt thus epitomize; Armies ſeemed to meet in the Clouds, and glittering Weapons were there ſeen, the Temple ſeemed to be in a Flame with Fire iſſuing from the Clouds, and a divine Voice was heard, that the Deity was quitting the place, and a great Motion as of his departing; theſe ſeem plain Tokens of God's departing from them, of the burning of the Temple, and their own Deſolation by the Roman Army. Joſephus adds what Tacitus doth alſo touch upon, that the great Gate of the Temple, which twenty Men could ſcarcely ſhut, and which was made faſt with Bolts and Bars, was ſeen αὐτομάτως ἀνεωγμένη, to open of its own accord, to let in their Enemies, for ſo their Wiſemen conſtrued the Omen, ſaith Joſephus. He farther ſaith, that (n) a Sword ſeemed to hang over the City, and a Comet with its fiery Tail pointed down upon it for a whole Year, which plainly ſeemed to portend their Ruin by the Sword. And that (o) before the Sun went down there were ſeen in the Clouds, Armies in battel array, and Chariots compaſſing the Country, and inveſting the Cities, a thing ſo ſtrange, ſaith he, that it would paſs for a Fable, were there not ſtill Men living to atteſt it; ſo expreſly have we an account of the fearful Sights, and Signs from Heaven, mentioned by our Lord, and of the Sign of the Son of Man coming in the Clouds of Heaven, μετὰ δυνάμεως ϰ᾽ δόξης, with a glorious Hoſt, or with Power and Glory; according to our Lord's Prediction, Matth. 24. 30.

2*dly*, Our Lord proceeds to ſay, that falſe Chriſts, and falſe Prophets ſhould ariſe, and that many ſhould come in his Name, ſaying, I am Chriſt, and ſhould deceive many,

Matth. 24. 5, 11. Mark 13. 6, 21, 22. Luke 21. 8. False Christs are they who falsly would pretend to be the Christ or the Messiah promised to the Jews: Now such were, (1.) (p) Simon Magus, who declared, that he was the Person who among the Jews appeared as the Son of God, and was conceived to have suffered in Judea; and (q) he prevailed for a time, to deceive some with his Magical Operations. (2.) (r) Dositheus, contemporary with him, who said, he was the Christ foretold by Moses, and the Son of God, and he also found Disciples; and is by Origen reckoned among them who performed wonderful things: From these, saith Hegesippus, came false Christs and false Prophets: There arose, saith (s) Hippolytus, some saying, I am Christ, as Simon Magus, and the rest, whose Names I have not time to reckon up; and these all, saith (t) Iræneus, magias perficiunt, exorcismis & incantationibus utuntur, use Magical Operations, Exorcisms, and Incantations. Our Lord also foretold of another that should come in his own Name, John 5. 43. that is, without Authority from God, and be received by the Jews as their Messiah: Accordingly Barchocheba did actually thus come, as appears both from the Event and Destruction of him and his Followers by Hadrian's Army, and by the Confession of the Jews, who, when they found themselves deceived by him, called him Bar Choziba, the Son of a Lie. And that he was generally received by them, we learn from their own Histories, declaring, that their great R. Akiba, who had 24000 Disciples, said at the sight of him, Behold, this is the Messiah; and that then the Jews in the City Bitter, crowned him, and chose him for their King, and shook off the Roman Government, killing an innumerable Multitude of Greeks and Romans, in Egypt, Alexandria, Cyprus, and thereabouts, till Trajan sent Hadrian against them, who slew more of them, say they, than Titus had done in the preceding Wars. See Buxtorf in voce Bar Choziba.

As for the false Prophets, (u) Josephus tells us of an Egyptian false Prophet and Magician, who gathered together about thirty thousand of the Jews, whom he had deceived; and of one (x) Theudas a Magician, who declaring himself a Prophet, deceived many; of (y) another Prophet, who bid them go into the Temple, where God would shew them manifest Signs of a Deliverance, adding, that there were then πολλοὶ Προφῆται, many Prophets who taught them even to the last, to expect help from God. Our Saviour had foretold, that they should then say, Behold he is in the Desert, Math. 24. 26. pointing to the very place where these false Christs and Prophets should appear, or whither they should lead their Followers: Accordingly, (z) Josephus saith, that many Impostors and Magicians persuaded the people to follow them into the Wilderness, where they promised to shew them manifest Signs and Wonders done by God, pretending a Divine Impulse, and promising Deliverance from Evils, if they would follow them into the Wilderness.

3*dly*, Our Lord foretels, that his Gospel should be first preached throughout the World, i. e. throughout the Roman Empire, stiled οἰκουμένη, or in all places whither the Jews were dispersed; for, saith he, The Gospel of this Kingdom shall be first preached in all the World for a Witness to all Nations, and then shall the End come, Matth. 24. 14. Accordingly, St. Paul declares of them who preached the Gospel of Peace, That their Sound had gone forth into all the Earth, Rom. 10. 18. and their words εἰς τὰ πέρατα τῆς οἰκουμένης, to the Ends of the Earth. He tells the Church of Rome, That their Faith was spoken of throughout the whole World, Rom. 1. 8. The Church of Coloss, That the Truth of the Gospel was come, not to them only, but to all the World, and preached to every Creature, Chap. 1. 6, 23.

4*thly*, He mentions the eſpecial care he would then have of his own faithful Servants, declaring, that they who endured to the End ſhould be ſaved, Matth. 24. 13. and that not one Hair of their Heads ſhould periſh, Luke 21. 18. i. e. that none of them ſhould be involved in that Ruin which was to come upon the unbelieving Jews: Accordingly, (e) Euſebius and (f) Epiphanius have left it upon Record, that before the beginning of the War, when the City was ready to be taken, the Diſciples of our Lord were admoniſhed by an Angel, or by an Oracle, to depart from the City, and to fly beyond Jordan, to the City Pella, in the Region of Peræa, where they were preſerved. This refers to the time when Ceſtius came to Jeruſalem, and took the lower City, and, ſaith Joſephus, might have taken the upper City, and have preſently put an end to the War; and ſo punctually agrees with our Lord's Premonition, When you ſee Jeruſalem compaſſed about with Armies, and the abomination of Deſolation ſtanding where it ought not, viz. in the Holy City, then let them that are in Judea flee to the Mountains, Matth. 24. 15. Mark 13. 14. Luke 21. 20, 21. But that the Chriſtians might have time to fly and be preſerved, he ſuddenly quits the Siege without any viſible Cauſe, and ſo gives the Chriſtians leave to depart: And even (g) Joſephus notes, that then many fled out of the City as from a ſinking Ship; and of that Number, doubtleſs the Chriſtians made a part: That they then fled into the Mountains, may alſo be obſerved from Joſephus; for of Peræa, whither they are ſaid to fly, he ſaith, that it was (h) ἔρημος καὶ τραχεῖα τὸ πλέον, moſtly Mountainous and a Deſert; and being beyond Jordan, and under the Government of King Agrippa, was free from War.

Laſtly, Our Saviour fixeth the Period of Time within which all theſe things ſhould happen, in theſe Words, Verily I ſay unto you, This Generation ſhall not paſs away till all theſe things be fulfilled, Matth. 24. 34. Accordingly, they were all fulfilled within forty two Years after they had been ſpoken. In fine, He hath ſpecified the very Reaſon, why all theſe things ſhould come upon Jeruſalem, viz. becauſe ſhe knew not the time of her Viſitation, the things which did belong unto her Peace, Luke 19. 42, 44. becauſe ſhe killed the Prophets, and ſtoned them that were ſent to her, Chap. 13. 34. becauſe they killed the Son of God, Matth. 20. 38. This hath been gathered by the Primitive Fathers; 1*ſt*, From the Continuance of this Deſolation, by which Wrath ſeemeth to be come upon them to the uttermoſt: For whereas they wandred in the Wilderneſs but forty Years, and their Captivity in Babylon continued but ſeventy Years, ſince the rejection of our Jeſus they have been viſibly caſt off by God for 1600 Years and upwards. 2*dly*, From the Nature of the Puniſhments they ſuffered; for God having ſo long time laid waſt that Temple to which their Worſhip was confined, and was the place in which he dwelt among them, and from which he bleſſed them, and ſo deprived them of thoſe Sacrifices by which they made atonement for their Sins, and were purified from their Uncleanneſs, and baniſhed them out of the Land of Promiſe, hath by theſe Diſpenſations fully ſhew'd, that he no longer doth allow that way of Worſhip which was confined to that Nation, and that Temple. 3*dly*, From the conſequents of theſe Judgments, and from their ignorance of any time of Reſpit and Deliverance from them. For God by his Prophets was pleaſed to foretel the meaſure and duration of their former Judgments, and when they ſhould give place to Mercy; that their Egyptian Thraldom ſhould expire in 215 Years after their going down to Egypt, that after ſeventy Years they ſhould return from Babylon, that three Years and an an half would work Deliverance from the more cruel Fury of Antiochus Epiphanes; but of their deliverance from the Calamities they now lye under, by any other way than that of turning to the Lord, there is no word of Porphecy: In a word, they are utterly deprived of their Schechinah, their Prophets, and all the other Tokens of God's peculiar Preſence with them; after this Sin, God did entirely deſert them, and transfer his Holy Spirit, his Prophets, his Revelations, his Miracles, to thoſe Aſſemblies which embraced that Jeſus as their Saviour, whom they had wickedly condemned as an Impoſtor; which ſhews their Church and Temple were deſtroyed to give place to Chriſtianity. Moreover, That after their rejecting our Meſſiah, they were by God appointed to Deſtruction; they who were the great Promoters, or were Eye-witneſſes of the War which brought upon them theſe Calamities, were forc'd to confeſs: (i) Eleazar, one of their great Captains, declared, That God had ſtabliſhed this Decree againſt them, that they ſhould not live; that he had laid a neceſſity upon them, that they ſhould die, and that they might not only conjecture, but even know by what they ſuffered, that God had condemn'd his once beloved Nation to deſtruction. (k) Joſephus is frequent in this Obſervation; when Ceſtius beſieged them, he might have taken the City, ſaith he, and put an end to the War, but that διὰ τὰς πονηρὰς ἀπεσραμμένου ὁ Θεὸς, God, being angry with them for the Wicked, hindred it: When he was perſuading them to yield to the Romans, he concludes thus, (l) Why do I perſuade them againſt their Fate, καὶ τὰς τοῦ Θεοῦ βιάζομαι καλακρίτας ζώζειν, and ſtrive to ſave them who are condemned of God; for who knows not the Writings of the Old Prophets, καὶ τὸ ἐπιῤῥέπουλα τῇ ἑλκμόνι πόλει χρησμὸν ἤδη ἐνεσῶτα, and the Oracle impendent on the miſerable City, to be inſtant? Θεὸς ἄρα Θεὸς αὐτὸς ἐπάξει, God, even God himſelf, brings upon them this purging Fire, and with it burns up the City ſo full of Wickedneſs: (m) God, ſaith he, had condemned their City to the Fire; they attended not, ſaith he, nor gave credit, (n) τοῖς ἐναργέσι, καὶ προσημαίνουσι τὸ μέλλον ἐρημίᾳ τέρασιν, to the manifeſt Signs portending their future Deſolation; and he brings in Titus, ſpeaking to his Soldiers thus, (o) That God favoured them in the War againſt the Jews; their Famine, Sedition, and the Fall of their Walls without any Machine, being nothing elſe but Θεοῦ μῆνις a demonſtration of the Wrath of God againſt them. Now our Lord having ſo expreſly ſaid, That God would miſerably deſtroy thoſe Husbandmen, for caſting his Son out of the Vineyard, and ſlaying him, Matth. 21. 37---42. and that the guilt of the Blood of all his Prophets, from righteous Abel to that Generation, ſhould be charged upon them, becauſe they would perſecute and kill thoſe Apoſtles, Prophets and Wiſe Men he would ſend unto them, and ſo fill up the meaſure of their Sins, Matth. 23. 32---36. We Chriſtians cannot doubt, but that theſe dreadful Judgments came upon them on this account.

This alſo may be farther argued from the exactneſs of the Parallel betwixt the Puniſhments which they inflicted on the Holy Jeſus, and thoſe they after ſuffered for ſo doing, and betwixt the Crimes for which they did condemn our Bleſſed Lord, and thoſe which they themſelves were after guilty of, and for which tremendous Judgments fell upon them. For,

1. Whereas, they by their Clamours to Pontius Pilate crucified the Lord of Life, they many of them periſhed by the ſame kind of Death; for many Jews of the Equeſtrian Order, and of Roman Dignity, were treated thus by (p) Florus, ſaith their own Hiſtorian; and Titus crucified ſo many of them, that he at laſt could find no more Croſſes for their Bodies.

2. They crucified him at the Feaſt of the Paſſover; and being the true Paſchal Lamb, he expired at the very hour when the Paſchal Lamb was to be ſlain; but then their own (q) Joſephus hath obſerved, that at that very Feaſt, the whole Nation was encloſed in Jeruſalem, and that the War compaſſed the City when it was thus ſtuff'd with Men, and ſo the Slaughter of them became incredibly great. God's Providence, which he ſtiles Fate, ſo ordering Matters, ſaith (r) Euſebius, that at that time, when they had crucified the Holy Jeſus, they being ſhut up all as in one Priſon, ſhould receive the Puniſhment of that Iniquity.

3. They not only choſe a Thief, a Murtherer, and a ſeditious Perſon before Chriſt, but alſo crucified him between two Thieves; and many of them, ſaith Joſephus, were miſerably haraſſed, and deſtroyed by the λησρικὸν τάγμα, (s) Band of Thieves which roſe up among them: And when Felix had deſtroyed theſe Thieves, then, ſaith he, there ſprang up among them ἕτερον εἶδος λησῶν, another kind of Thieves, called the Sicarii, who ſlew many of their fellow Jews at broad Day, in the middle of the City, and eſpecially at the Feaſts; and theſe Thieves alſo were ſeditious, as well as Murtherers, threatning Death to them who obeyed the Romans; and of them, one Jeſus was the Leader.

4. They condemned our Lord as worthy to die, Mark 14. 64. and they themſelves were forced to confeſs, that God had condemned their whole Nation to Death, as hath been proved before.

5. They ſay of Chriſt, We have a Law, and by our Law he ought to die, John 19. 7. and they were ſo infatuated as to conceive, that by their Law they ought to die rather than yield to the Romans: (t) Joſephus doth himſelf confeſs it, ſaying to Veſpaſian, I am not ignorant of the Jewiſh Law, καὶ πῶς σρατηγοῖς ἀποθνήσκειν πρέπει, and how our Commanders ought to die; and when he refuſed to die with his Companions, they cry out, Ὦ πατρῷοι νόμοι! (u) What is now become of our Laws! Eleazar exhorting them to kill themſelves rather than fall into the hands of the Romans, cries out, Ταῦθ' ἡμᾶς οἱ νόμοι κελεύουσι, (x) Our Laws command us to do this.

6. They condemned him as an Enemy to Cæſar, and they themſelves all periſhed for that Crime; for Joſephus ſpeaking of the Sect of Judas Gaulonites, who allowed μόνον ἡγεμόνα καὶ δεσπότην Θεὸν, and choſe rather to die than acknowledge Cæſar, he ſaith, (y) they laid the Foundation of all the Calamities which fell upon their Nation; they indeed inſtigated the People, and even forced them to that War by which they were deſtroyed.

7. They condemned him as a falſe Prophet, and a deceiver of the People; and their own (z) Joſephus often teſtifies, that their falſe Prophets and Deceivers were the very cauſes of their Ruin.

8. They laid their Accuſations againſt him and his Followers, as Perſons who prophaned, and who deſigned to deſtroy their Temple; and they themſelves, as hath been ſhewn already, firſt horribly prophaned it with the Blood of Jews and Gentiles, and then forced the Romans to deſtroy it; they haſtned the ſlow Fire, ſaith Joſephus, and even drew it to the Temple.

9. They thought it expedient he ſhould be put to death, leſt the Romans ſhould come and take away their Place and Nation; and this expedient brought upon them thoſe very Romans, who took away their Temple, and their City, ſold πᾶσαν τὴν γῆν, their whole Land, ſaith (a) Joſephus, and would not ſuffer them ſo much as to come into Judea, or to the Ruins of Jeruſalem. (b) Joſephus doth inform us, that they had a Prophecy that one of their Country ſhould then reign over the whole Earth; that this cauſed many to take upon them to be Kings, and animated the People to that War which brought this Ruin on their Nation.

Laſtly, They rejected that Jeſus who came with the glad Tidings of Salvation to them, and would not hear him preaching the Words of Life unto them; and they were forced, about ſeven Years together, to hear another Jeſus ſounding forth continually, Χυθρωπὴ ἡ κλήδων, Sad is the Omen which I bring from God unto you. Joſephus ſpeaking of the dreadful Prodigies, or as he ſtiles them, τὰ τοῦ Θεοῦ κηρυγμάτων, God's Warnings of their approaching Deſolation, concludes with this as τὸ τούτων φοβερώτερον, the moſt terrible of all, that four Years before the War, when the City was in Peace, and Plenty, one Jeſus began at the Feaſt of Tabernacles to cry, Φωνὴ ἐπὶ Ἱεροσόλυμα, καὶ τὸν ναὸν, Φωνὴ ἐπὶ τὸν λαὸν πάντα, a Voice againſt Jeruſalem, and the Temple, and againſt all the People; and thus he went about the City, crying Day and Night; and being whipp'd, ſo that his Fleſh was torn to the very Bones, he neither wept, nor begg'd Mercy, but at every laſh cried out, (c) Αἲ αἲ Ἱεροσολύμοις, Wo, wo to Jeruſalem, the Temple, and the People;

ple; and that crying thus above ſeven Years, he never waxed hoarſe nor weary: Whence even (d) Joſephus concludes thus, If any Man conſiders, he will find that God by many ways, ſhews to Men the things which do belong to their Peace, eſpecially to our Nation, but that they periſhed thro' their own madneſs, and their wilful Sins. Now hence we learn,

That Chriſt was certainly a Prophet ſent from God, even that Prophet, who according to the Predictions of all the Jewiſh Records, was to come into the World: Againſt many other Proofs brought to confirm this Truth, the Scepticks of our Age object, that they are founded on Records made by the Followers of Chriſt, or the Profeſſors of Chriſtianity; and ſo by Perſons who might be tempted in honour of their Lord, and for the credit and advantage of Chriſtianity, to magnifie the things which they related; but here the Argument is almoſt wholly built upon Records and Teſtimonies of Jews and Gentiles, the two great Enemies of Chriſtian Faith, and ſo will not admit of this Evaſion. Will they then ſay, as Porphyry did of the Prophecies of Daniel, Surely the Book was written after the things were done? 'Tis manifeſt from Hiſtory, that the three Evangeliſts, who writ the Hiſtory of theſe Predictions of our Lord, were dead before the Deſolation of Jeruſalem; which ſurely is ſufficient to exclude that only Refuge they can fly unto.

Prefatory Diſcourſe,

CONCERNING

The Four Goſpels in General, and the Goſpel according to St. Matthew in Particular.

CONTENTS.

The Tradition of the Church from the beginning of the ſecond Century ſhews that the Goſpels then received were only the four Goſpels which we own, §. I. The other Goſpels mentioned in Church Hiſtory do not invalidate, but rather ſtrengthen this Tradition, they being only mentioned after theſe were received, and that as Goſpels not Authentic, not received by the Church, or as compoſed by Hereticks, §. II. Other Conſiderations offered to ſtrengthen this Tradition, §. III. That theſe Goſpels have been handed down to future Generations uncorrupted in the Subſtantials of Faith and Manners, §. IV. Concerning the Goſpel of St. Matthew it is enquired, whether it was originally writ by him in Hebrew, or in Greek; Reaſons to ſuſpect the Tradition, that it was firſt writ in Hebrew only, and afterwards tranſlated into Greek; 1ſt, From what is delivered by the chief Authors of it, §. V. 2dly, From the Tradition it ſelf, §. VI. An Objection anſwered, §. VII.

CONcerning the Authority of the Four Goſpels (a) unqueſtionably owned as ſacred Scriptures indited by thoſe Apoſtles, and Evangeliſts whoſe Names they bear; and the reaſon why they, and they only have obtained to be received as the authentick Records of what our Saviour did, and ſpake, let it be noted,

1ſt, That (b) Irenæus informs us concerning Polycarp, that he was made Biſhop of Smyrna by the Apoſtles, and converſed with many who had ſeen the Lord: Now from from him (c) Victor Capuanus cites a Paſſage, in which we have the Names of theſe Four Goſpels as we at preſent do receive them, and the beginning of their ſeveral Goſpels.

2*dly*, That (d) Juſtin Martyr, who, ſaith (e) Euſebius, lived μετ' ὀ πολὺ τ ἀποστόλων, not long after the Apoſtles, ſhews that theſe Books were then well known by the Name of Goſpels, and as ſuch were read by Chriſtians in their Aſſemblies every Lord's Day; yea we learn from him that they were read by Jews, and might be read by Heathens; and that we may not doubt that by the Memoirs of the Apoſtles, which, ſaith he, we call Goſpels, he meant theſe Four received then in the Church, he cites Paſſages out of every one of them, declaring that they contained the Words of Chriſt.

3*dly*, That (f) Irenæus, in the ſame Century, not only cites them all by Name, but declares that there were neither more nor leſs received by the Church, and that they were of ſuch Authority, that tho' the Hereticks of his time complained of their Obſcurity, depraved them, and leſſened their Authority, ſaying, they were written in Hypocriſie, and in compliance with the Errors of thoſe to whom they wrote, and with whom they converſed, yet durſt they not wholly diſown them, or deny them to be the Writings of thoſe Apoſtles whoſe Names they bore. Moreover he cites Paſſages from every Chapter of St. Matthew, and St. Luke, from fourteen Chapters of St. Mark, and from twenty Chapters of St. John.

4*thly*, That (g) Clemens of Alexandria, having cited a Paſſage from the Goſpel according to the Egyptians, informs his Reader that it was not to be found in the Four Goſpels delivered by the Church.

5*thly*, That (h) Tatianus, who flouriſhed in the ſame Century, and before Irenæus, wrote ζωάφειαν τίνα ἢ ζωαγωγὴν τ εὐαγγελίων, a Catena, or Harmony of the Goſpels, which he named, τὸ διὰ τεσσάρων, the Goſpel gathered out of the Four Goſpels. And that the Apoſtolical Conſtitutions name them all, and (i) command that they be read in the Church, the People ſtanding up at the reading of them.

6*thly*, That theſe Goſpels, being written, ſaith Irenæus, by the Will of God, to be the Pillars, and Foundation of the Chriſtian Faith, the immediate Succeſſors of the Apoſtles, who, ſaith (k) Euſebius, did great Miracles by the Aſſiſtance of the Holy Ghoſt, as they performed the Work of Evangeliſts in preaching Chriſt to thoſe who had not yet heard the Word, made it their Buſineſs, when they had laid the Foundations of that Faith among them, τὸ τ θείων εὐαγγελίων παραδιδόναι γεγραφῶς, to deliver to them in writing the holy Goſpels.

§. II. The mention of other Goſpels bearing the Names of other Apoſtles, or of Goſpels uſed by other Nations, is ſo far from being derogatory from, or tending to diminiſh the Tradition of the Church concerning theſe Four Goſpels, that it tends highly to eſtabliſh and confirm it, as will be evident from theſe Conſiderations;

1*ſt*, That we find no mention of any of theſe Goſpels till the cloſe of the ſecond Century, and of few of them till the third, or the fourth Century, i. e. not till long after the general reception of theſe Four Goſpels by the whole Church of Chriſt. For Juſtin Martyr, and Irenæus, who cite large Paſſages from theſe Four Goſpels, make not the leaſt mention of any other Goſpels mentioned either by the Hereticks, or by the Orthodox.

2*dly*, They

2*dly*, They, who ſpeak of them in the cloſe of the ſecond, or in the following Centuries, do it ſtill with this Remark, that the Goſpels received by the Tradition of the Church were only four, and that theſe belonged not to them, nor to the Evangelical Canon, v. g. (l) Clemens of Alexandria is the firſt Eccleſiaſtical Writer who cites the Goſpel according to the Egyptians, and he doth it with this Note, that the words cited thence are not to be found in the Four Goſpels. In the ſame Book he cites another Paſſage quoted by the Hereticks, as he conjectures from the ſame Goſpel; but then he adds, theſe things they cite οἱ πάντα μᾶλλον ἢ τῷ κῷ ἀληθειαν εὐαγγελικῷ συγχήσαντες κανόνι, who had rather follow any thing than the true Evangelical Canon, ibid. p. 453. D. (m) Origen is the next that makes mention of them, and he doth it with this Cenſure, that they were the Goſpels not of the Church, but of the Hereticks; among theſe he reckons, the Goſpel according to the Egyptians, the Goſpel of the twelve Apoſtles, the Goſpel according to St. Thomas, and Matthias, and others; but, ſaith he, there are only four, from whence we are to confirm our Doctrine, nor do I approve of any other. Whence we may learn, that tho' he often cites the Goſpel to the Hebrews, which, ſaith St. Jerom, was the ſame with that according to the twelve Apoſtles, and the Goſpel according to St. Peter, yet he approved of none of them.

(n) Euſebius is the next Eccleſiaſtical Writer who ſpeaks of other Goſpels, viz. The Goſpel according to St. Peter, St. Thomas, and Matthias, and alſo of the Acts of Andrew, St. John, and other Apoſtles, but then as Origen had told us, that the Hereticks only had them, ſo he ſaith, that they were publiſhed by them, and that they had no Teſtimony from thoſe Eccleſiaſtical Perſons who continued down the other Goſpels in a Succeſſion to them, and that the Doctrine contained in them was much different from the Catholick Doctrine; whence he concludes, that they are the Inventions of Hereticks, and are not ſo much as to be ranked among ſpurious Books, but are to be rejected as wicked and abſurd. And,

1*ſt*, To begin with the Goſpel of St. Peter, it was, ſaith Euſebius, publiſhed by the Hereticks, and is by no means to be placed among the Catholick Goſpels: It is manifeſt, ſaith (o) Seraphion, that we received it not from our Anceſtors, but thoſe who learnt and read it, were the Docetæ, and the Marcionites who ſprang from them: It was the Goſpel uſed by the Nazarenes, ſaith (p) Theodoret.

2*dly*, The Goſpel according to St. Thomas, mentioned by Origen and Euſebius, was, ſaith (q) St. Cyril, the Work not of St. Thomas the Apoſtle, but of another Thomas, who was a Manichean Heretick; on which account he deſires all Chriſtians not to read it.

3*dly*, From the ſame Hereticks proceeded the Goſpel according to St. Philip, ſaith (r) Leontius, it was the Fiction of the Gnoſticks, ſaith (s) Epiphanius.

4*thly*, The Goſpel of Matthias was, as (t) Clemens of Alexandria intimates, the Work of the Baſilidians, or Caprocratians.

5*thly*, The Proto-Evangelium of St. James is firſt mentioned by (u) Pope Innocent the firſt, among the Goſpels feigned by Lucius the Heretick; this he doth in a Decree, in which he condemns all theſe falſe Goſpels, and declares who were the Authors of them.

Laſtly, The Goſpel of the twelve Apoſtles, according to St. Jerom, is the ſame with the Goſpel according to the Hebrews, of which we are to ſpeak hereafter.

Seeing then theſe four Goſpels were received without all doubting, or contradiction by all Chriſtians from the beginning, as the Writings of thoſe Apoſtles and Evangeliſts whoſe Names they bear, and they both owned, and (x) teſtified that they were delivered to them by the Apoſtles as the Pillars, Foundations, and Elements of their Faith and divine Writings, even by thoſe who preached that very Goſpel to them which in theſe Writings they delivered, or rather by that God that enabled them to preach, and directed them to indite theſe Goſpels for that end. (2.) Seeing they were delivered by the immediate Succeſſors of the Apoſtles to all the Churches they converted or eſtabliſhed, as a Rule of Faith. 3. Seeing they were read from the beginning, as Juſtin M. teſtifies in all Aſſemblies of Chriſtians, and that not as ſome other Eccleſiaſtical Writings were in ſome Aſſemblies upon ſome certain days, but in all Chriſtian Aſſemblies on the Lord's Day, and ſo muſt early be tranſlated into thoſe Languages in which alone they could be underſtood by ſome Churches, viz. the Syriack and Latin. 4. Seeing they were generally cited in the ſecond Century for the Confirmation of this Faith, and the Conviction of Hereticks, and the Preſident of the Aſſembly exhorted thoſe who heard them, to do and imitate what they heard. 5. Seeing we never hear of any other Goſpels till the cloſe of the ſecond Century, and then hear only of them with a mark of Reprobation, or a Declaration that they were ψευδεπίγραφα falſly impoſed upon the Apoſtles, that they belonged not to the Evangelical Canon, or to the Goſpels delivered to the Churches by Succeſſion of Eccleſiaſtical Perſons, or to thoſe Goſpels which they approved, or from which they confirmed their Doctrines, but were to be rejected as wicked and abſurd, and the Inventions of rank Hereticks; all theſe Conſiderations muſt afford us a ſufficient Demonſtration that all Chriſtians then had an unqueſtionable Evidence that they were the genuine Works of thoſe Apoſtles and Evangeliſts whoſe Names they bore, and ſo were worthy to be received as the Records of their Faith: And then what reaſon can any Perſons of ſucceeding Ages have to queſtion what was ſo univerſally acknowledged by thoſe who lived ſo near to that very Age in which theſe Goſpels were indited, and who received them under the Character of the holy and divine Scriptures?

§. III. And yet even to this general, and uncontroll'd Tradition we may add farther Strength from theſe Conſiderations;

1*ſt*, That ſince our Jeſus was a Prophet, or a Teacher ſent from God, he muſt have left unto his Church ſome Records of his Father's Will; this King Meſſiah being to reign for ever, muſt have ſome Laws by which his Subjects muſt be for ever governed; this Saviour of the World muſt have delivered to the World the Terms on which they may obtain the great Salvation purchaſed by him; or he muſt be in vain a Prophet, King, and Saviour; and ſo ſome certain Records of thoſe Laws, and thoſe Conditions of Salvation muſt be extant. Now unleſs theſe Goſpels, and other Scriptures of the New Teſtament, contain theſe Laws, they muſt be wholly loſt, and we muſt all be left under a manifeſt Impoſſibility of knowing, and ſo of doing his Will, and of obtaining thoſe Bleſſings he hath promiſed to them that do it. For to ſay Tradition might ſupply the want of writing, is to contradict Experience, ſince the Traditions of the Jews made void that Word of God they had received in Writing, and then how reaſonable is it to believe they would have much more done it, had no ſuch Writing been delivered? Moreover our bleſſed Lord ſpake many things which were not written, he taught the Multitude by the Sea, Mark 2. 13. beyond Jordan, Mark 10. 1. in the Synagogues of Galilee, Luke 4. 15. at Nazareth, ver. 22. at Capernaum, ver. 31. out of Simon's Ship, Luke 5. 3. and very often in the Temple, John 7. 14.—8. 2. He interpreted to the two Diſciples going to Emmaus, throughout all the Scriptures the things concerning him, Luke 24. 27. He diſcourſed to his Diſciples after his Reſurrection, touching the Things of the Kingdom of God, Acts 1. 3. St. John aſſures us there were exceeding many Miracles that Jeſus did which were not written, c. 20. 30. Now whereas all thoſe Miracles, and Sermons which were written are entirely preſerved, and firmly believed, Tradition hath not preſerved one Miracle or Sermon to us which was never written, and therefore can be no ſure Record of the Doctrine, or the Laws of Chriſt. In a word, it is evident that even the Church Catholick hath loſt a Tradition delivered to her by St. Paul; for in his ſecond Epiſtle to the Theſſalonians, chap. 2. 5, 6. he ſaith, I told you theſe things, (concerning Antichriſt) when I was with you, and now ye know what letteth, or hindreth his Appearance; he alſo intimates in this Epiſtle, and by his Exhortation to hold faſt theſe Traditions Traditions, ver. 15. that they were of great moment to be known, and be retained; and yet theſe Traditions have neither been retained by the Roman, nor by the Catholick Church; and it is confeſſed by (y) Anſelm, and by Eſthius on the place, that though the Theſſalonians knew it, yet we know it not; ſo that the Tradition which the Church received from this Apoſtle touching this matter is wholly loſt; how therefore can ſhe be relied on as a ſure Preſerver, and a true Teacher of Traditions, which hath confeſſedly loſt one of great moment depoſited with the Theſſalonians, and the Primitive Church?

2*dly*, That it was neceſſary that the Chriſtian Doctrine, or Revelation ſhould be preſerved in ſome Writing, may fairly be concluded from the holy Scriptures; for if St. Paul thought it neceſſary to write to the Church of Rome, to put them in remembrance of the Grace given to them, Rom. 15. 15. as alſo to ſend to his Corinthians in writing, the things they had heard, and did acknowledge, 2 Cor. 1. 13. and to write the ſame things which he had taught to his Philippians, chap. 3. 1. If St. Peter thought it needful to write to the Jewiſh Converts, to teſtifie to them that it was the Grace of God in which they ſtood, 1 Pet. 5. 12. and to ſtir up their ſincere Minds by way of remembrance, that they might be mindful of the Commands of the Apoſtles of our Lord and Saviour, 2 Pet. 3. 1, 2. though they at preſent knew them, and were eſtabliſhed in the Truth, 2 Pet 1. 12, 13. and St. Jude to write to the ſame Perſons, to mind them of the common Salvation, ver. 3. If the beloved Evangeliſt cloſeth his Goſpel with theſe words, Theſe things were written that ye might believe that Jeſus is the Chriſt, and believing might have Life through his Name; ſurely theſe Perſons could not but think it neceſſary that the eſſential Doctrines of Chriſtianity ſhould be written, and yet we are ſure they only have been written in thoſe Goſpels, and other Scriptures contained in the Canon of the Books of the New Teſtament, and therefore we cannot reaſonably doubt of their Authority. Add to this,

That the Apoſtles, and that holy Spirit who did aſſiſt them in the inditing of theſe Goſpels for the Churches uſe, could not be wanting in cauſing them to be tranſmitted to thoſe Chriſtians for whoſe uſe they were indited, becauſe they could not be wanting to purſue the end for which they were indited; for they being therefore written that they might know the certainty of thoſe things in which they had been inſtructed, Luke 1. 4. and partly to engage them more firmly to believe that Jeſus was the Chriſt, they muſt very early commit them to thoſe Churches for whoſe ſake they were written.

3*dly*, It is evident that the immediate ſucceeding Age could not be ignorant of what was thus delivered to them by the Church from the Apoſtles, as the Pillar and the Ground of Faith; nor is it eaſie to conceive that either they would have thus received them, had the Apoſtles given them no ſufficient indication of them, or that they would have been eſteemed ſo preſently the Charters of the Chriſtian Faith, had not the Apoſtles delivered them unto the Churches under that Character.

Laſtly, We have good reaſon to ſuppoſe that the Providence of God which was ſo highly intereſted in the Propagation of the Chriſtian Faith, and making of it known to the World, would not permit falſe Records of that Faith to be ſo early, and ſo generally impos'd upon the Chriſtian World.

§. IV. From the ſame Tradition we, with the ſtrongeſt evidence of Reaſon may conclude, that theſe four Goſpels, and the other Scriptures received then without doubt, or contradiction by the Church, were handed down unto them uncorrrupted in the Subſtantials of Faith and Manners. For, 1. Theſe Records being once ſo generally diſperſed through all Chriſtian Churches, though at great diſtance from each other, from the beginning of the ſecond Century: 2. They being ſo univerſally acknowledged and conſented to by Men of curious Parts, and different Perſuaſions: 3. They being preſerved in their Originals in the Apoſtolical Churches, among whom ſaith (z) Tertullian, authenticæ eorum literæ recitantur, their Original Letters are recited, it being not to be doubted but they who received the Originals from the Apoſtles, and who had authentick Copies of them given to them by their immediate Succeſſors, would carefully preſerve them to Poſterity: 4. They being multiplied into divers Verſions almoſt from the beginning, as we may rationally conclude, becauſe the Church of Rome, and other Churches which underſtood not the original Greek being founded in the Apoſtles days could not be rationally ſuppoſed to be long without a Verſion of thoſe Scriptures which were to be read by them in publick and in private: 5. They being eſteemed by them as digeſta noſtra, their Law Books, ſaith (a) Tertullian, libri deifici deificæ Scripturæ, Books which inſtructed them to lead a divine Life, ſay the Martyrs, and believed by all Chriſtians to be θεῖαι γραφαὶ, divine Scriptures, ſaith (b) Origen, and therefore as the Records of their Hopes and Fears: 6. Then being ſo conſtantly rehearſed in their Aſſemblies by Men whoſe Work it was to read and preach, and to exhort to the performance of the Duties they enjoined: 7. They being ſo diligently read by Chriſtians, and ſo riveted in their Memories, that (c) Euſebius mentions ſome who had them all by Heart: 8. They being, laſtly, ſo frequent in their Writings, and ſo often cited by Irenæus, Clemens of Alexandria, and Origen, as now we have them, it muſt be certain from theſe Conſiderations that they were handed down to ſucceeding Generations pure and uncorrupt.

And indeed theſe things render us more ſecure, that the Scriptures were preſerved entire from deſigned Corruption, than any Man can be that the Statutes of the Land, or any other Writings, Hiſtories, or Records whatſoever have been ſo preſerved, becauſe the Evidence of it depends upon more Perſons and they more holy, and ſo leſs ſubject to deceive, and more concerned that they ſhould not be corrupted, than Men have cauſe to be concerned for other Records; and ſo we muſt renounce all certainy of any Record, or grant that 'tis certain theſe are genuine Records of the Chriſtian Faith. Moreover this ſuppoſed Corruption of the Word of God, or Subſtitution of any other Doctrine than what hath been delivered by the Apoſtles, could not be done by any Part or Sect of Chriſtians, but they who had embraced the Faith, and uſed the true Copies of the Word of God in other Churches of the Chriſtian World, muſt have found out the Cheat; and therefore this Corruption, if it were at all effected, muſt be the Work of the whole Bulk of Chriſtians; whereas it cannot rationally be ſuppoſed that the immediate ſucceeding Ages ſhould univerſally conſpire to ſubſtitute their own Inventions for the Word of God, and yet continue ſtedfaſt in, and ſuffer ſo much for that Faith which denounced the ſevereſt Judgments againſt them who did corrupt this Word, or that ſo many Men ſhould, with the Hazard of their Lives and Fortunes, avouch the Goſpel, and at the ſame time make ſuch a Change even in the frame and conſtitution of its Doctrine, has made it ineffectual both to themſelves and their Poſterity; nor can it reaſonably be thought that they ſhould venture upon that which, were the Goſpel true or falſe, muſt needs expoſe them to the greateſt Evils whilſt they continued abettors of it. Laſtly, that theſe ſacred Records of the Word of God have not been ſo corrupted as to ceaſe to be a Rule of Faith and Manners, we argue from the Providence of God; for nothing ſeems more inconſiſtent with the Wiſdom and Goodneſs of God, than to inſpire his Servants to write the Scriptures for a Rule of Faith and Manners for all future Ages, and to require the belief of the Doctrine, and the practice of the Rules of Life plainly contained in it, and yet to ſuffer this divinely inſpired Rule to be inſenſibly corrupted in things neceſſary to Faith or Practice. Who can imagine that that God who ſent his Son out of his Boſom to declare this Doctrine, and his Apoſtles by the Aſſiſtance of the Holy Spirit to indite and preach it, and by ſo many Miracles confirmed it to the World, ſhould ſuffer any wicked Perſons to corrupt, and alter any of thoſe Terms on which the Happineſs of Mankind depended? This ſure can be eſteemed rational by none but ſuch as think it not abſurd to ſay that God repented of his Good-will and Kindneſs to Mankind in the vouchſafing of the Goſpel to them, or that he ſo far maligned the Good of future Generations, that he ſuffered wicked Men to rob them of all the Good intended to them by this Declaration of his Will; for ſince thoſe very Scriptures which have been received as the Word of God, and uſed by the Church as ſuch from the firſt Ages of it, pretend to be the Terms of our Salvation, Scriptures indited by Men commiſſionated from Chriſt, and ſuch as did avouch themſelves Apoſtles by the Will of God, and his Command for the delivery of the Faith of God's Elect, and for the Knowledge of the Truth which is after Godlineſs in hope of Life eternal, they muſt be in reality the Word of God, or Providence muſt have permitted ſuch a Forgery as rendreth it impoſſible for us to perform our Duty in order to Salvation; for if the Scriptures of the New Teſtament ſhould be corrupted in any eſſential requiſite of Faith or Manners, it muſt ceaſe to make us wiſe unto Salvation, and ſo God muſt have loſt the end which he intended in inditing it. The Objections which the Papiſts make on account of the various Lections, I preſume are fully anſwered by Dr. Mills, and can be anſwered by him alone, ſince others muſt not be allowed to blow upon his learned Book upon that Subject.

§. V. And this is all which I think neceſſary to be ſaid concerning the Four Goſpels in the General; I proceed now to the Conſideration of that great Queſtion, Whether the Goſpel of St. Matthew was by him writ in Hebrew, or in the Syriac Language, and only was by others afterwards tranſlated into Greek.

(d) Mr. Du Pin informs us that all the Ancients with one conſent aſſure us that he wrote in Hebrew; Papias, St. Irenæus, Origen, Euſebius, St. Cyril of Jeruſalem, Epiphanius, St. Jerom, St. Auſtin, St. Chryſoſtom, the Author of the Latin Commentary on St. Matthew, which is aſcribed to St. Chryſoſtom, and the Author of the Synopſis of the Scripture which bears the Name of Athanaſius, are a Cloud of Witneſſes who depoſe that St. Matthew wrote his his Goſpel in Hebrew: But then he adds, That the Original Hebrew of the Goſpel according to St. Matthew, was loſt; and after the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem by Titus, becoming uſeleſs, there was no care taken to preſerve it. And ſaith, p. 36. It is certain, that the Greek Verſion we have is as ancient as the Times of the Apoſtles, that it was publiſhed from the beginning of the Church in all Chriſtian Nations, that it was looked upon as good as an Original by the Greeks and Latins, that it was preſerved without any Alteration, and always looked upon as Authentick and Canonical, whereas the Original Hebrew continued not long the ſame that it was left by St. Matthew.

Now as for this Cloud of Witneſſes, I ſhall, Firſt, Conſider the chief of them apart, and then diſcourſe of this ſuppos'd Tradition, in the bulk. Now,

The firſt Witneſs is Papias, that Man of Fables, ſaith (e) Euſebius, who voucheth, that St. Matthew writ his Oracles in the Hebrew Tongue; ἡρμήνευσε ὃ ὡτὰ ἕκαστος ὡς ἠδύνατο, and every one interpreted them as he was able; from which words it is evident, that he knew nothing of any Authentick Verſion of this Goſpel approved by the Apoſtles, and looked upon as Authentick and Canonical by the Church; for after that, every one could not be left to interpret the Hebrew as he could. He alſo plainly in this Paſſage, doth ſuppoſe, that the Hebrew Copy of St. Matthew was neither then loſt, nor adulterated and corrupted by Additions, Defalcations or Interpolations, or muſt own that every one then uſed a Copy ſo corrupted; and if he could be ignorant or miſtaken in Matters of ſo great importance, why might he not be ſo in ſaying, this Goſpel was firſt written in a Language he underſtood not?

(f) Irenæus is the ſecond Witneſs, who ſaith, that St. Matthew put forth his Goſpel among the Hebrews, τῇ ἰδίᾳ διαλέκτῳ αὐτῶν, in their own Tongue; and that the Ebionites uſed eo Evangelio quod eſt ſecundum Matthæum, that very Goſpel according to St. Matthew, which was writ in Hebrew; this he ſaith (g) twice, without any intimation that it was interpolated or corrupted by them. Now here, ſaith the Learned (h) Mr. Grabe, the Nazarenes and Ebionites eaſily impos'd upon Irenæus, and other fathers, who underſtood not the Hebrew Tongue. But after more mature conſideration of the matter, he ſaith, He thinks with Irenæus, that the Ebionites did uſe the Goſpel of St. Matthew, tho' not entire, and uncorrupted, and finds, that Euſebius, and St. Jerom, and our Modern Writers, were miſtaken in making the Goſpel to the Hebrews which the Nazarenes uſed, and the Goſpel which the Ebionites abuſed, one and the ſame. And yet (i) Epiphanius expreſly ſaith of the Ebionites, they uſed only the Goſpel of St. Matthew, and called it the Goſpel according to the Hebrews, as it truly is. So that either Euſebius, Epiphanius, and St. Jerom, muſt be miſtaken in this matter, which is ſufficient to invalidate their Teſtimony, or Irenæus muſt be himſelf miſtaken; and then he much more might be ſo in ſpeaking of a Language that he underſtood not.

(k) Origen is the third Witneſs, who indeed ſaith, That the firſt Goſpel was writ by St. Matthew, and that he gave it to the Jewiſh Converts compoſed in the Hebrew Tongue; but he doth not ſay, it was written either firſt, or only in that Tongue: Thus therefore I am willing to compound the Matter, that the Goſpel of St. Matthew being written for all Nations in the Greek, as a Tongue common to moſt of them, was alſo given for the uſe of thoſe Jews who only underſtood their Mother Tongue, in Hebrew.

(l) Euſebius is the next Witneſs, who ſaith, That Matthew delivered his Goſpel to the Jews in their own Tongue; but then that the Goſpel then retained in Hebrew, was indeed the Goſpel according to the Hebrews, or the ſame Goſpel of St. Matthew which the Ebionites uſed, and called The Goſpel according to St. Matthew, is plain, from (*) comparing the words of Euſebius and Theodoret with thoſe of Irenæus; tho' I confeſs, Theodoret ſeems to make a diſtinction betwixt the Ebionites, who held, that our Lord was born of Joſeph and Mary, who uſed the Goſpel according to the Hebrews, i. e. that Goſpel of the Nazarenes; from which, ſaith (m) Epiphanius, they had cut off the Genealogy of St. Matthew, and the Ebionites, who held, that Chriſt was born of a Virgin; and ſaith, they uſed the Goſpel according to St. Matthew: And yet of this diſtinction, Irenæus ſaith nothing, and Euſebius plainly contradicts it; ſuch a Confuſion and Conflict is there among the Ancients in this Matter. (n) Euſebius proceeds to tell us, That they of the Jews who received Chriſt, chiefly embrac'd τὸ καθ' ἑβραίους εὐαγγέλιον, the Goſpel according to the Hebrews: And that Hegeſippus, a Man of the firſt Succeſſion from the Apoſtles, cited Paſſages, (o) ἐκ τῶ καθ' ἑβραίους εὐαγγελίου, from the Goſpel according to the Hebrews; now theſe things ſhew, that tho' he knew this Goſpel contained many things which were not in the Greek Copy of St. Matthew, yet was it free from any Additions which did corrupt the Faith; for otherwiſe, he could not have ſpoke ſo honourably of Hegeſippus, or ſo mildly of thoſe other Chriſtians which made uſe of it: And therefore, tho' he ſaith, that ſome put the Goſpel according to the Hebrews amongſt the Books contradicted, as they did alſo the Revelation of St. John, yet by ſaying this, he plainly inſinuates, that other Eccleſiaſtical Writers owned it; nor doth he rank it among (p) τὰς ὐ ὀνόμαζι Ἀποστόλων πρὸς τῶ Αἱρετικῶν πεφερομένας, the Scriptures introduced by the Hereticks under the Name of the Apoſtles, as he doth the Goſpels of St. Peter, St. Thomas and Matthias, as knowing what St. Jerom doth aſſure us, that it was called, or eſteemd by moſt Men, the Goſpel according to St. Matthew.

(q) Epiphanius is another Witneſs, who ſaith, The Goſpel of St. Matthew was writ in Hebrew; but then he adds, that the Nazarenes had the fulleſt Copy of it, and kept it till his time as it was firſt written in the Hebrew Tongue. Now be it as Mr. Grabbe and Petavius affirm, that in this he was deceived by them, and that it was the fault of it to be ſo full; yet as this ſhews, that it paſſed then under the Name of St. Matthew's Goſpel, ſo doth it alſo ſhew, how eaſie it was for theſe Witneſſes to be impos'd on in this Matter.

(r) St. Jerom is another Witneſs, That the Goſpel of St. Matthew was writ in Hebrew Words and Letters: And then he adds,

1*ſt*, That it was (in his time) uncertain who tranſlated it into Greek.

2*dly*, That the very Manuſcript was till his time, preſerved in the Cæſarean Library, gathered by Pamphilus the Martyr; and that the Nazarenes who uſed it at Beræa, gave him the liberty to tranſcribe it, and that this very Book was by moſt thought to be the Goſpel according to St. Matthew.

3*dly*, That the Scriptures cited in this Goſpel, both in the Perſon of the Evangeliſt and of our Lord, were exactly according to the Hebrew, and not according to the Septuagint, as it might reaſonably be expected it would be in an Hebrew Goſpel, writ for the uſe of them who only owned the Hebrew Bible as authentick.

4*thly*, That he himſelf not only tranſcribed it from the Cæſarean Copy, but after turned it into Greek and Latin.

5*thly*, From this Hebrew Goſpel, he cites theſe Paſſages, 1ſt, The Mother of our Lord, and his Brethren, ſaid to him, John the Baptiſt baptizeth for the Remiſſion of Sins, let us go and be baptized of him; and he anſwered, In what have I ſinned, that I ſhould go and be baptized of him? 2dly, The Man who came to Chriſt with the withered Hand, was a Maſon, and ſaid to Chriſt, I am a Maſon who get my Living by my Labour; I pray thee heal me, that I may not be conſtrained to beg. 3dly, That the Apoſtle James had ſworn, After he had received the Sacrament from the Hands of Chriſt, that he would not eat Bread till he had ſeen Chriſt riſen from the Dead; and that therefore our Lord appeared to him. 4thly, That in this Goſpel it was reckoned amongſt the higheſt Crimes, to make ſad the Heart of our Brother. 5thly, That in this Goſpel it was ſaid, not only that the Vail of the Temple was rent at our Lord's Death, but alſo that the Lintel over the Temple being very great, was broken. In fine, he ſaith, That Jeſus being come out of the Water, the ſource of the Holy Ghoſt deſcended upon him, reſted on him, and ſays to him, My Son, I expected you in all the Prophets, to the end, that being come, I might reſt upon you; for you are my Reſt, and my Firſt-born Son, who reigns for ever. Now this is the only place which ſeems to vary from the Doctrine of the Church; and this Origen expounds, Com. in Joh. p. 58. D. The other Fathers which ſeem to avouch this Tradition come too late, and are not conſiderable enough to be examined apart: I therefore ſhall only make ſome Remarks on what St. Jerom hath delivered. And,

1*ſt*, Whereas he ſays, It was uncertain who tranſlated this Goſpel of St. Matthew, writ in Hebrew, into Greek; hence we obſerve, that there is little reaſon to depend on what later Writers have ſaid in this Matter; and therefore Mr. Du Pin freely confeſſes, p. 36. That whereas it is ſaid in the Abridgment of the Scriptures aſcrib'd to Athanaſius, that it was made by St. James, Biſhop of Jeruſalem; by (s) Theophylact, is aſcrib'd to St. John; and by Anaſtaſius the Sinaite, is aſcrib'd to St. Luke and St. Paul; all this is ſpoken without ground.

2*dly*, Whereas he ſays, This was the Copy which the Nazarenes and the Ebionites uſed, and that moſt Perſons did eſteem it the Goſpel and the authentick Copy of St. Matthew: Hence it muſt follow, that they had then a Copy which then paſs'd commonly under the Name of the Goſpel according to St. Matthew.

3*dly*, Whereas he citeth from this Goſpel many Paſſages which are not, as he cites them, to be found in the Goſpel of St. Matthew approved by the Church; hence it muſt follow, they had added to St. Matthew's Goſpel many things from Tradition which were not recorded in the authentick Goſpel of St. Matthew; and this ſeems probably to be the thing Euſebius intended, when he ſaid, that Hegeſippus cited many things from the Hebrew Goſpel, and from the unwritten Traditions of the Jews; ſo that this Goſpel according to the Hebrews, ſeems not to me as (t) Mr. Grabbe and Du Pin do conjecture, to have been a Goſpel wholly different from that of St. Matthew, writ or tranſlated by him into Hebrew for their uſe, as were, ſaith (u) Epiphanius, the Goſpel of St. John and the Acts of the Apoſtles, but only the Goſpel of St. Matthew uſed by the Ebionites, who denied that Chriſt was born of a pure Virgin, and therefore ſtruck out the Genealogy of St. Matthew; and the ſame Goſpel uſed by the Nazarenes, with many Additions they had received from Tradition, and upon that account placed by many Eccleſiaſtical Writers among the Writings contradicted, and in thoſe Matters in which it differed from the Greek and Authentick Copy, was of no Authority in Matters which concerned the Chriſtian Faith.

§. VI. To proceed therefore to the conſideration of this Tradition in the bulk, let it be noted,

1*ſt*, That this is a Tradition that an inſpired Apoſtle writ a large Goſpel by the afflatus of the Holy Ghoſt in Hebrew, and yet that Providence which hath preſerved all the other Canonical Books both of the Old and of the New Teſtament in their Original Languages, and that Church which hath handed down all the other Books of the New Teſtament, even thoſe which are compriſed in one ſingle Chapter in the ſame Language, have ſuffered the Original of this large Goſpel to be loſt within forty Years, ſaith Mr. Du Pin, after it was written, as if it had been only written to be buried in the Tomb of Barnabas, according to the Tale of (x) Theodorus Lector in the Sixth Century; or to be carried by St. (y) Bartholomew into the Indies, on that account more fortunate than other Chriſtians, and yet unfortunate in this, that when they had it, they underſtood not a word of it; whence, even Du Pin ſaith, there is no appearance of Truth in that Story, p. 32.

2*dly*, It is a Tradition of a Goſpel written in Hebrew by inſpiration of the Holy Ghoſt, for the uſe of the converted Jews; and yet, after the deſtruction of Jeruſalem, it became uſeleſs, ſaith Du Pin, and ſo no care was taken to preſerve it: Yea, it was a Goſpel written for their uſe, and to ſupply the abſence of St. Matthew; and yet, as far as doth appear, none of them ever had, or uſed it, unleſs it alſo was the Goſpel according to the Hebrews; for the converted Jews uſed that Goſpel, ſaith Euſebius; and Hegeſippus appears, ſaith he, to have been one of the Jewiſh Converts, becauſe he cites all his Paſſages out of the Goſpel according to the Hebrews: The Ebionites, ſay Euſebius, Epiphanius and Theodoret, uſed only the Goſpel according to the Hebrews; this was the Goſpel, ſaith St. Jerom, which the Nazarenes read, and which both they and the Ebionites uſed: And yet this Goſpel is put among the the Books contradicted by Euſebius, It is of no Authority to prove any Matter of Faith, ſaith (z) Origen, and may be received, or not. To avoid theſe conſequences, Du Pin and Mr. Grabe contend, that the Goſpel according to the Hebrews was diſtinct from the Goſpel according to St. Matthew; but this is evidently to contradict the Teſtimonies of Irenæus and Theodoret, who ſay, the Ebionites uſed the Goſpel of St. Matthew; and of Epiphanius, who ſays, they uſed the Goſpel according to the Hebrews, and called it the Goſpel according to St. Matthew; and of St. Jerom, who ſaith, it was by moſt reputed the Goſpel according to St. Matthew. It was not indeed the true authentick Goſpel of St. Matthew, received without contradiction by the Church, for that was only the Greek Copy; it was not a Copy of St. Matthew's Goſpel, free from Additions and Interpolations, which they had put into it from Tradition, which is all that the Arguments of Du Pin and others prove; but yet, I ſay, it was that very Goſpel which the Nazarenes read, and which was kept in the Cæſarean Library as the Goſpel according to St. Matthew, and which the Ebionites uſed as ſuch; nor can any Man prove from Antiquity, that either the Chriſtian Fathers knew of, or that the Jewiſh Converts ever uſed any other Hebrew Goſpel according to St. Matthew.

(a) Epiphanius indeed ſaith, That the Nazarenes had the Goſpel according to St. Matthew, πληρέσατον Ἑβραϊσὶ, moſt full in Hebrew, and that they had preſerved it from the beginning as it was writ in Hebrew, till his time: But (b) Petavius truly notes, that this was his Miſtake, that Goſpel not being pure, but depraved, and was indeed no other than the Goſpel according to the Hebrews; and that this was ſo, is evident, partly from his own confeſſion, that for any thing he knew to the contrary, the Nazarenes had cut off from it the Genealogy from Abraham to Chriſt; and partly from the additional Paſſages ſo often cited by St. Jerom, from that Goſpel which the Nazarenes read, and uſed: And this alſo confutes another Salvo, which ſome have invented by a diſtinction, which without ground they make betwixt the Goſpel according to the Hebrews, and the Goſpel according to the Nazarenes.

Now from what I have thus diſcourſed, I argue thus, Either the Goſpel of St. Matthew ſuppoſed to be originally writ in Hebrew, contained in it the Paſſages cited from the Goſpel of the Nazarenes, or the Goſpel according to the Hebrews, or it did not; if it did not, then is it certain, that the Goſpel retain'd in Hebrew by the Nazarenes and Ebionites, as the Goſpel according to St. Matthew, was not the ſame with his Original Goſpel. Then, 2*dly*, Seeing St. Jerom twice informs us, that it was the very authentick Copy of St. Matthew, and was by moſt judged to be ſo; and Euſebius ſaith, that this Goſpel according to the Hebrews, was only by ſome rejected, as alſo was the Revelation of St. John; it follows, that moſt Chriſtians as to the matter muſt be then miſtaken.

But if the Original Goſpel of St. Matthew did contain theſe Paſſages, then is it certain, that the Greek Copy approved by the Apoſtles, and received by the Univerſal Church, cannot be the true or authentick Goſpel of St. Matthew, ſeeing it muſt be then deficient in many things contained in the true Hebrew Goſpel; and ſo it muſt be granted, that the Apoſtles approved, and the Church received a Goſpel which wanted many Paſſages contained in the Original, according to St. Matthew, writ by the Aſſiſtance or Inſpiration of the Holy Ghoſt.

3*dly*, It was written in Hebrew, ſaith this Tradition, for the uſe of the Circumciſion, and yet it was not written by St. James the Biſhop of the Circumciſion, nor by St. Peter, or St. John, the Apoſtles of the Circumciſion, but by St. Matthew the Publican; yea, it was writ in Hebrew for them for whom both their own Biſhop, and theſe Apoſtles of the Circumciſion, writ in Greek.

4*thly*, It was written, ſaith this Tradition, by the Direction of the Holy Ghoſt, and interpreted, ſaith the pretended Athanaſius, by James the Brother of our Lord; ſaith Anaſtaſius Sinaita by St. Luke; by St. John, ſaith Theophylact upon hearſay, and all of them without Ground, ſaith Du Pin, p. 36. It is unknown by whom it was tranſlated, ſaith St. Jerom; it was not tranſlated, ſaith Papias, but every one interpreted it as he could; and yet that of (c) Baronius is certain, that if the Hebrew alone was the Original of St. Matthew, we cannot ſay the Greek is the true Copy of St. Matthew, but by our aſſurance that it agrees with the Original. Now if it were not at all tranſlated, as Papias ſaith, or were tranſlated only by an unknown Hand, Hand, as St. Jerom ſaith; or if we have only one ſingle Perſon of a later Date who aſcribes this Verſion to an Apoſtolical Perſon, and he both doth it without ground, and is contradicted by two who attribute this Verſion to another, can this be any ſure Foundation that we have any Copy which agrees with the Original?

It is ſaid indeed that the Apoſtles approved of the Greek Verſion; I anſwer, that they and the whole Church approv'd of the Greek Goſpel of St. Matthew, I believe, but what ſingle Author ſays they approv'd of any Verſion? yea, what Author before St. Jerom and the falſe Athanaſius ſpeaks of any Verſion from the Hebrew? All Antiquity cite this Goſpel according to the Greek, and ſpeak of the Goſpel according to the Hebrews as a thing not of Authority, or not received without contradiction; but I know not one who ſaith, the Goſpel uſed by the Church was a Verſion from the Hebrew; and from this long Silence, and from the Diſcord, and ungrounded Sayings of thoſe ſingle Witneſſes, who after the fourth Century ſpeak of a Verſion, I conclude the Greek we now have was no Verſion, but the Original Goſpel of St. Matthew writ by him for the uſe of the whole Church of God, and that the Hebrew Copy, if he writ any, was written for the uſe of the Circumciſion only, ſo that it being in the Hands of the Jews only, and underſtood by them alone, and they being, ſaith (d) Juſtin M. the worſt ſort of Chriſtians, i. e. Retainers of Judaiſm with Chriſtianity, and they in whoſe Hands the Goſpel chiefly was, being Nazarenes, and Ebionites, might from the Traditions which obtained among them, add to it, or from their Principles be induced to change, and to corrupt it. Or,

Laſtly, To ſpeak freely what I conceive moſt probable, as the Canonical Books of the Old Teſtament were written originally in Hebrew, but when the pure Hebrew became unintelligible to the Vulgar, and when the Diſperſions of the Jews had diſtinguiſht them into Hebrews which uſed their Mother Tongue, and Helleniſts who underſtood only the Greek Tongue, the Chaldee Verſion was uſed in the Synagogues of the Hebrews, and the Greek by the Helleniſts; ſo this Diſtinction continuing after Chriſt's Aſcenſion, ſome of the Scriptures written originally in the Greek for the uſe both of Jew or Gentile, were tranſlated into the mixt Hebrew, and as they had, ſaith (e) Epiphanius, the Goſpel of St. John, and the Acts of the Apoſtles in Hebrew; ſo had they before the Goſpel of St. Matthew turned into the ſame Language, and perhaps with the ſame Liberty of making Additions to it from Tradition, which we find in the Chaldee Paraphraſt, and the Tranſlation of the Septuagint; which Verſion the Primitive Chriſtians among the Gentiles who were ignorant of that Language finding in their Hands, they from the likeneſs of the thing, and the Pretenſions of the Jews, might think it an Original written for their uſe. Thus ſome of them upon the ſame account inform us, that the Epiſtle to the Hebrews was firſt written in Hebrew, and was tranſlated into Greek by (f) Clemens, or St. Luke; and yet that in this matter they were miſtaken, we learn from (g) St. Jerom, telling us for certain, that the whole New Teſtament, excepting only the Goſpel of St. Matthew, was firſt writ in Greek. For,

1*ſt*, St. Jerom, and Epiphanius are the only Perſons who ſpeak of this Authentick Hebrew Goſpel, kept till their time by the Nazarenes, which that it was not the Original Goſpel of St. Matthew hath been fully proved.

2*dly*, St. Jerom ſaith of this Hebrew Copy which he received from them, and tranſlated into Greek and Latin, that the Citations contained in it when the Evangeliſt ſpake in his own Perſon, or in the Perſon of our Lord, were exactly according to the Hebrew, and not according to the Septuagint; and yet 'tis certain this is not true of the Greek Copy we now have, as appears from Chap. 2. 6, 18. — 3. 3. — 4. 15. — 5. 21, 31, 43. — 11. 10. — 12. 20, 21. — 13. 14. — 15. 8, 9. — 26. 31. — 27. 9.

§. VII. If it be here objected, that by calling in queſtion a thing ſo generallly aſſerted by ſo many Fathers, I weaken the Tradition of the Church concerning the Canon of the Scriptures, and other matters handed down to us by Tradition;

I anſwer, That I have ſufficiently obviated this Objection in a particular (h) Diſcourſe upon this Subject, in which I have ſhewed what Traditions are to be received, and what may rationally be queſtioned, and that we have ſufficient ground from reaſon to rely on the Tradition of the Canon of the Old, and the New Teſtament.

aſſerted by more Teſtimonies of ancient Fathers than are avouched to prove that the Goſpel according to St. Matthew was firſt writ in Hebrew; as v. g. 1*ſt*, In the Story of the Cells of the Seventy, in which they who tranſlated the Old Teſtament, are ſaid to have been ſeverally placed; or, as Epiphanius will have it, two together, when they tranſlated the Old Teſtament from Hebrew into Greek, and yet by Inſpiration, or prophetical Impulſe, to have performed this Tranſlation all in the ſame words; theſe things, ſaith (k) Juſtin M. we report to you Gentiles not as Fables, or feigned Stories, ἀλλὰ παρ' αὐτῶν ἐκεῖ ὡς τὰ πάτρια παρειληφότων ἀκηκοότες ταῦτα ἀπαγγέλλομεν, but as a received Tradition delivered to us from the Inhabitants of the place. The ſame Tradition touching the Cells is delivered as certain by (l) Irenæus, by Clemens of Alexandria, Strom. 1. p. 342. by (*) Cyril of Jeruſalem, and by Epiphanius, de ponderibus & menſ. p. 160, 161, 162. and by St. Auſtin, de Civ. Dei, l. 16. c. 42, 43.

And as all theſe Fathers confirm the Story of the Cells, and conſequently ſpeak of this Performance as done θείᾳ δυνάμει καὶ ἐμπνεύσει Θεοῦ, ἐκ πνεύματος ἁγίου, by the Power, and Afflatus of the Holy Spirit, or by that Spirit who ſpake theſe things by the Prophets, ſo doth (m) Tertullian ſpeak, de ſententiæ communione, of their conſpiring in their Sentiments: (n) Euſebius ſaith that it was θεοθὲν οἰκονομηθεῖσα ἑρμήνεια, an Interpretation ordered by God: it was done by them, ſaith (o) St. Hilary, ſpirituali & cœleſti ſcientia, with ſpiritual and heavenly Knowledge: μὴ ἄνευ τῆς θείας ἐμπνοίας, not without divine Inſpiration, ſaith (p) Theodoret: and this they ſay by reaſon of the great Sympathy which was in their Interpretation; and yet (q) Bellarmin ſaith, that in this the Jews impoſed on Juſtin M. and the ſucceeding Fathers might give credit to Juſtin. (r) Du Pin, that it is a Fiction of the Jews, and that it is well known how frivolous, and uncertain theſe pretended popular Traditions are, and eſpecially among the Jews: (s) F. Simon ſaith, we muſt not here ſo much conſider what the Fathers ſaid, as what reaſon they had to ſay ſo, and that (t) St. Jerom gives them all the Lie. And to the other pretence of their Inſpiration, he anſwers, p. 115. de rebus ſibi incognitis quidquam certi definire non potuerunt, they could ſay nothing certain of things unknown to themſelves, and therefore could ſay nothing certain in the caſe before us.

2*dly*, The appearance of Elias the Tisbite in perſon, before the ſecond coming of Chriſt is delivered by the Fathers unanimouſly as a Tradition of the Church, but this they did partly from the Tradition of the Jews, partly from the miſtaken ſenſe of the words of Chriſt, and partly from the Authority of the Septuagint, without all ground, as hath been fully proved. Treat. of Trad. chap. 5. from §. 1. to §. 5.

3*dly*. They generally taught for four Centuries together, that the good Angels ſtiled the Sons of God, Gen. 6. were tranſported with the Love of Women, and begat of them Giants, and evil Spirits; this is taught by Juſtin M. Irenæus, Clemens of Alexandria, and Athenagoras in the ſecond Century; by Tertullian, Minucius, St. Cyprian, and Methodius in the third; by Lactantius, and Sulpicius in the fourth; and this they did from the Traditional Interpretation of the Jews recorded in (u) Joſephus, and in (x) Philo, and in the firſt Book of Enoch, de Egregoris: And yet in the fifth Century the Authors of this Opinion are repreſented by (y) Chryſoſtom, and Theodoret, as ſtupid, Teachers of Fables, and Blaſphemers, (z) as hath been proved: And if in theſe things the Fathers were ſo eaſily impos'd on by the Jews, why might they not be impos'd on likewiſe in ſaying that the Goſpel according to St. Matthew was written in a Language that they underſtood nothing of, and of which they could ſay nothing certain from their own Knowledge?

Notwithſtanding, if any Man like not this Opinion, he may compound the matter with the Fathers thus, that St. Matthew might deliver that Goſpel which he writ as well in Hebrew to the Jews who underſtood that Language only, as in Greek to the Helleniſtick Jews, and to the Gentile Converts. And ſince it is agreed on all Hands, that he left Judea to preach to the Gentiles, what is more reaſonable than to conceive he left that Goſpel he had preached to them, and writ by the Aſſiſtance of the Spirit as a Rule of Faith to all Nations, in a Language which thoſe Nations underſtood?

A PARAPHRASE WITH ANNOTATIONS ON THE Gospel of St. Matthew.

a 1. [a] THE Book of the Generation of Jesus Christ, (who was according to the Flesh, Rom. 9. 5.) the Son of [b] David, (Acts 2. 30. and) the Son of Abraham, (is on this wise.)

2. Abraham begat Isaac, and Isaac begat c Jacob, and Jacob begat Judas and his [c] Brethren, d 3. And Judas begat Phares, and [d] Zara of e [e] Thamar, and Phares begat Esrom, and Esrom begat Aram,

4. And Aram begat Aminadab, and Aminadab begat Naasson, and Naasson begat Salmon, f 5. And Salmon begat Booz of [f] Rahab, (the Harlot,) and Booz begat Obed of Ruth, (the Moabitess,) and Obed begat Jesse, g 6. And Jesse begat [g] David the King, and h David the King begat Solomon of [h] her that had been the Wife of Uriah,

7. And Solomon begat Roboam, and Roboam begat Abiah, and Abiah begat Asa,

8. And Asa begat Josaphat, and Josaphat i begat Joram, and Joram begat [i] Ozias,

9. And Ozias begat Joatham, and Joatham begat Achas, and Achas begat Ezekias,

10. And Ezekias begat Manasses, and Manasses begat Amon, and Amon begat Josias, k 11. And [k] Josias begat Jechonias and his Brethren, about the time they were carried away into Babylon;

12. And after they were brought to Babylon, Jechonias begat Salathiel, and Salathiel begat Zorobabel,

13. And [l] Zorobabel begat Abihud, and l Abihud begat Eliakim, and Eliakim begat Azor,

14. And [m] Azor begat Sadoc, and Sadoc m begat Achim, and Achim begat Eliud,

15. And Eliud begat Eleazar, and Eleazar begat Matthan, and Matthan begat Jacob,

16. And Jacob begat [n] Joseph, the Husband n of Mary, of whom was born Jesus, who is called Christ.

17. So [o] all the Generations from Abraham o to David are fourteen Generations, and from David till the carrying away into Babylon, are (reckoned up by me) fourteen Generations, and from the carrying away into Babylon to Christ (inclusively) are (also) fourteen Generations.

18. Now the Birth of Jesus Christ was on this wise, (or after this extraordinary manner;) when as his Mother Mary was espoused to Joseph, before they came together, she was found with Child (by the power) of the Holy Ghost, (overshadowing her, Luke 1. 35. of which thing Joseph knew nothing.)

19. Then Joseph her (espoused) Husband being a just Man, and (therefore one who durst not retain her, whom he esteem'd an Adulteress, and yet being) not willing to make her (whom he loved) a publick Example, was minded to (give her a Bill of Divorce, and so to) [p] put her away privately. p

20. But while he thought on these things, behold the (an) Angel of the Lord appeared to him in a Dream, saying, Joseph, thou Son of David, fear not to take unto thee Mary thy (eſpouſed) Wife, (tho' found with Child,) for that which is conceived in her is (not the Fruit of Whoredom or Adultery, but) of the Holy Ghoſt.

21. And ſhe ſhall bring forth a Son, and thou ſhalt call his Name Jeſus, (i. e. the Saviour,) for he ſhall ſave his People from their Sins.

22. Now all this was done (by the Holy Ghoſt overſhadowing this Virgin,) that it might be fulfilled which was ſpoken of the Lord by the Prophet (Iſaias,) ſaying, (Chap. 7. 14.)

23. Behold a [q] Virgin ſhall be with Child, and ſhall bring forth a Son, and [r] they ſhall call his Name (or his Name ſhall be called) Immanuel, which being interpreted, is, God with us. q r

24. Then Joſeph being raiſed from Sleep, (and perceiving that the Dream was from God,) did as the Angel of the Lord had bidden him, and took unto him (Mary) his Wife.

25. And (but he) knew her not [s], until ſhe had brought forth her Firſt-born Son, and he called his Name Jeſus. s a Ver. 1. ΒΙΒΛΟΣ ΓΕΝΕΣΕΩΣ, the Book of the Generation,] i. e. as the Syriack well expreſſes it, the Writing, Narrative or Rehearſal of the Generation or Birth, ver. 18. of Jeſus; for tho' the word γένεσις is elſewhere of that Latitude, as to compriſe alſo the Hiſtory of our Lord's Life, and Death, and Reſurrection, yet it is here to be reſtrained to the Birth of Chriſt, as appears, 1*ſt*, From the parallel Phraſe, αὕτη ἡ βίβλος γενέσεως ἀνθρώπων, this is the Book or the Rehearſal of the Generation of Men from Adam to Noah, Gen. 5. 1. 2*dly*, From the Deſign of the Apoſtle here, which is to ſet down the Deſcent of Chriſt from Abraham, and his Alliance to King David by his Father Joſeph: And, 3*dly*, From the 18th Verſe, which after this Narrative of it, proceeds to ſhew the manner of his Birth, by ſaying, Now ἡ γένεσις the Birth of Jeſus Chriſt was on this wiſe.

b Ibid. The Son of David, the Son of Abraham,] i. e. the Son of both, as Alihamah the Daughter of Anah, (and) the Daughter of Zibeon, Gen. 36. 2. This Senſe being moſt ſuitable to the Deſign of the Apoſtle, which is to prove, Chriſt was the Son of both, and that in him were fulfilled the Promiſes made to both. And David is firſt named, Firſt, Becauſe the Promiſe to him was freſher in Memory, more plain, and more explicite; God had promiſed to Abraham in general words, That in his Seed ſhould all the Families of the Earth be bleſſed, Gen. 12. 3.—22. 18. And that this Seed was Chriſt, we learn from the Apoſtle Peter, Acts 3. 25, 26. and from St. Paul, Gal. 3. 16. But to David God promiſed, That in his Seed would he eſtabliſh the Throne of his Kingdom for ever, 2 Sam. 7. 16. that his Seed would he eſtabliſh for ever, and build up his Throne to all Generations, Pſal. 89. 4. Now this being a Promiſe, that of the Fruit of his Body he would raiſe up Chriſt to ſit upon his Throne, Acts 2. 30. was more ſuitable to the Notions of the Jewiſh Nation touching the King Meſſiah, and to their Inclinations. The Prophets alſo propheſie of him, as one to ſit upon the Throne of David for ever, Iſa. 9. 7. that he ſhall be a righteous Branch raiſed up to David, and a King that ſhall reign and proſper, in whoſe Days Judah ſhall dwell ſafely, Jer. 23. 5, 6. that they ſhould dwell in the Land for ever, and David ſhall be their Prince for ever, Ezek. 37. 24, 25. See Iſa. 55. 11. Amos 9. 11. Accordingly, the Angel ſpeaketh of one who ſhould Reign on the Throne of his Father David, over the Houſe of Jacob for ever, Luke 1. 33. And the Jews pray to him thus, Jeſus, thou Son of David, have mercy on us, Matth. 9. 27. — 15. 22. — 20. 30. and make their Acclamations to him thus, Hoſanna to the Son of David. Others add, that Abraham is put after David, becauſe the Apoſtle was to begin his Catalogue from Abraham.

Ver. 2. Καὶ τοὺς ἀδελφοὺς αὐτοῦ, and his Brethren.] Perhaps Interpreters might ſave themſelves the trouble of giving a Reaſon of many things contained in this Catalogue, by ſaying, St. Matthew here recites it, as he found it in the Authentick Copies of the Jews, who doubtleſs had preſerved ſome known, and approved Genealogy, of their Deſcent from Abraham, the Father of their Nation, in whom they ſo much gloried, and from whoſe Loins they expected the promiſed Meſſiah. Thus for inſtance, When it is ſaid Salathiel begat Zorobabel, it may be ſufficient to juſtifie the Apoſtle in this, That the Jews do ſtill repreſent Zorobabel not as the Son of Pedajah, but of Salathiel. So we read of Zorobabel, the Son of Shealtiel, Neh. 12. 1. Hag. 1. 12, 14. ch. 2. 21, 23. Ezra 3. 2, 8. and ch. 5. 2. (a) Joſephus likewiſe ſays, the Captain of the People was ὁ Σαλαθιήλου παῖς Ζοροβαβέλ, Zorobabel the Son of Shealtiel, and with great reaſon muſt he follow the Sentiments of three Perſons of ſo great Authority, as Ezra, Nehemiah, and the Prophet Haggah, the Contemporaries of Zorobabel. So alſo may we ſay, that the Kings c d Ver. 3. And Zara,] mentioned with Phares, as being born at the ſame time, and ſtriving with him for Primogeniture, Gen. 38. 28, 29, 30.

Kings left out in this Genealogy, were therefore omitted by St. Matthew, becauſe he found them omitted in the Genealogy uſed by the Jews, and that theſe words and his Brethren, are added as being alſo added in their Genealogy. But to omit this, his Brethren may be added to comfort the diſperſed Tribes, which were not yet returned out of Captivity, as Judah was, in their equal Intereſt in the Bleſſing of the Seed of Abraham, they being all adopted Children of God, which is not true of Iſmael or Eſau, the Brethren of Iſaac and Jacob: Moreover, theſe Brethren of Judas might well be mentioned as being Patriarchs, Heirs of the Promiſe, and Heads of that People, whence the Meſſiah was to proceed; and therefore Stephen alſo ſpeaks thus of them, Abraham begat Iſaac, and Iſaac begat Jacob, and Jacob begat the twelve Patriarchs, Acts 7. 8.

e Ibid. Of Thamar.] It is obſerved here by ſome, that only four Women are mentioned in this Genealogy, till he comes to Joſeph, and all of them noted for ſome Infamy, as Thamar for Inceſt, Rahab for being an Harlot, Ruth for Heatheniſm, Bathſheba for Adultery; nor were they thus mentioned becauſe Sinners, to teach us that Chriſt came to ſave ſuch, or to be born of ſuch; for, why then were the three Deſcents of Ahaziah, Joaſh and Amaziah omitted? But, becauſe in them only that Law was departed from, which was given generally to the Heirs of the promiſed Bleſſing, that they ſhould take them Wives of their neareſt Kindred; and perhaps to obviate the Cavils of the Jews againſt the mean condition of the Mother of our Lord, their Anceſtors being deſcended of Women whoſe Qualities rendred them meaner than ſhe was.

f Ver. 4. Of Rahab.] That Rahab was married to ſome Prince of Iſrael, the Tradition of the Jews aſſures us; but whereas, in contradiction to St. Matthew, they ſay, that ſhe was married to Joſhua; this is ſaid in flat oppoſition to their own Tradition, that Rahab was the Mother of eight Prieſts and Prophets; for Joſhua was neither of the Tribe of Judah nor of Levi, but of the Tribe of Ephraim, Num. 13. 8. That Rahab was one of the Idolatrous Nations with which they were forbidden to marry, Exod. 34. 16. Deut. 7. 3. hinders not this Marriage of Salmon with Rahab, ſhe being firſt made a Proſelyte of Juſtice; the reaſon of that Law being this, leſt they ſhould tempt them to Idolatry; which Reaſon ceaſed, when they once owned the God of Iſrael; whence we find that Booz married Ruth, Chap. 4. 13. and thought himſelf obliged ſo to do, and David married Maachah, the Daughter of the King of Geſhur, 2 Sam. 3. 3. But here ſeems to be a great Objection both againſt Salmon and againſt Obed, how it can be true, that only Booz, Obed and Jeſſe, ſhould intercede betwixt Salmon and David, when the time betwixt them muſt be at leaſt 300 Years in the mildeſt computation; and ſo Salmon muſt be 100 Years old when he begat Booz, Booz as old when he begat Obed, and Obed as old when he begat Jeſſe; whereas it is looked upon as miraculous, that Abraham at 100 Years ſhould beget Iſaac, Gen. 17. 17. — 21. 5. To this Objection it may be anſwered from the Targum upon Ruth, that theſe three were Men of an extraordinary Character for Juſtice and Piety; Salmon is ſtiled Salmon the Juſt, of whom it is ſaid, that his Works and the Works of his Children were very excellent; that Booz was a righteous Perſon, by whoſe Righteouſneſs the People of Iſrael were delivered from the Hands of their Enemies, and by whoſe Prayers the Famine ceaſed from the Land of Iſrael; that Obed ſerved the Lord with a perfect Heart, and that he begat Jeſſe, in whom was found no Iniquity or Corruption for which he ſhould be delivered to the Angel of Death, and he lived many Days, and only died at laſt by reaſon of the Sentence paſs'd upon Adam for eating the forbidden Fruit. God therefore might vouchſafe to Men of ſuch extraordinary Piety, a longer Life than ordinary, and Strength to beget Children in their Old Age. Thus Caleb at 85, and Moſes at 120, had not their natural Strength abated, Deut. 34. 7. Joſh. 14. 11. whereas Abraham's Body was then dead, Rom. 4. 19.

g Ver. 6. David the King,] to whom the Promiſe was made of the King Meſſiah to ſtabliſh his Throne for ever, Ezek. 37. 25. and from him the Kingdom is ſtiled the Houſe of David, and the Kingly Throne, the Throne of the Houſe of David, Pſal. 122. 5.

h Ibid. Of her that had been the Wife of Urias,] to ſhew that that Crime of David being repented of, was ſo far from hindring the Promiſe God made to him, that it pleaſed God by this very Woman, to fulfil it.

i Ver. 8. Joram begat Ozias.] It is certain from the Hiſtory of the Kings and Chronicles, that Ozias was the Son of Amaziah, 2 Chron. 26. 1. Amaziah of Joaſh, ch. 24. 27. Joaſh of Azariah, ch. 22. 11. Azariah of Joram, ver. 1. But, according to the Language of the Hebrews, and their Maxims relating to this matter, the Children of Children are reputed the Children not only of their immediate Parents, but of their Anceſtors, and theſe Anceſtors are ſaid to beget thoſe who are removed ſome Generations from them; ſo Iſaiah ſaith to Hezekiah, ch. 39. 7. Of thy Sons which ſhall iſſue from thee, which thou ſhalt beget, ſhall they take away; and they ſhall be Eunuchs in the Pa- lace of the King of Babylon; which Prediction was fulfilled only in the Days of Jeconias, long after the Days of Hezekiah. But the great Queſtion here is, why Azariah, Joaſh and Amiziah, are left out of the Catalogue of the Kings of Judah? To this it is anſwered, 1. Negatively, that the Reaſon could not be, becauſe they were great Sinners, ſince Manaſſeh and Amon who were greater Sinners were retained in this Catalogue, ver. 10. It therefore may be ſaid,

1*ſt*, That the Jews had their Tabulæ ſenſuales, in which the ſtems of the Kingly Family of David were written; and in theſe Catalogues theſe three Kings might be left out. That even to the time of Chriſt, they had ſuch Tables even of their Families and Tribes, is evident from (b) Joſephus, who having given us the Genealogy of his Family, ſaith, Τὰ μὲ ἐν τῇ γῆθει ἡμῶν διαδοχὰ ὡς ἐν τοῖς δημοσίοις γέγραμμένα εὗρον γράψω· I give you this Succeſſion of our Family as I found it written in the publick Tables; and if ſo, the Jews, not the Apoſtle, are to account for this Omiſſion. 2*dly*, It is no new thing to find the like Omiſſions in the Books of the Old Teſtament; thus Cain and his whole Poſterity, are omitted in the Book of Chronicles; Simeon is omitted in the Bleſſing of Moſes, Deut. 33. for his Cruelty at Sychem. The Writer of the Book of Chronicles, reckons up all the Sons of Jacob; but in the account of their Poſterity, he omits the account of Zebulon and Dan; and when he begins with the Sons of Judah, he omits Zerah, 1 Chron. 2. 3. —ch. 4. 1. The Pen-man of the Books of Samuel, when he recounts the Worthies of David, omits Joab, becauſe of his bloodineſs to Amaſa and Abner. In the Book of Ezra, there are reckoned from Serajah to Aaron, only ſixteen Generations, ch. 7. whereas in the Book of Chronicles, from Aaron to the ſame Serajah, are reckon'd twenty two, 1 Chron. 6. ſo that ſix muſt be omitted in Ezra: So that there is no more reaſon to ſuſpect the Evangeliſt, than the Jews have to queſtion their own Scriptures on this account. But ſtill it may be enquired, why theſe three in particular are omitted: And to this it is anſwered, (1.) That the omitting theſe three, cannot in the leaſt concern the chief Deſign of the Apoſtle, which was to ſhew, that Jeſus was of the Lineage of David; now by paſſing from Joram to Ozias, he keeps ſtill in the ſame Line, and ſo ſufficiently ſhews, that Jeſus was of the Houſe and Family of David. (2.) The reaſon why theſe three are paſſed by rather than others, ſeems probably to be this, That they are the Poſterity of Joram an Idolater, and one who married the Daughter of Ahab, 2 Kings 8. 18. and ſo was join'd to an Idolatrous Family, and by this provoked God to have deſtroyed his Family, had he not preſerved it becauſe of the Covenant made with David, 2 Chron. 21. 7. God therefore cuts off all theſe three, omitted here, by an unnatural and untimely Death, to puniſh the Idolatry of this King, and of the Houſe of Ahab in his Poſterity to the third Generation, according to his Threat in the ſecond Commandment; and for this reaſon, theſe three Kings might be here paſſed over in ſilence. It is by others farther ſaid, That St. Matthew finding the Generations in the firſt Period exactly 14, he paſſed over ſome in his ſecond Account, to make that to anſwer to the firſt; but this will by no means pleaſe Mr. C. who firſt, againſt all reaſon, talks of ten omitted out of the Number of Fifty, to make the Diviſions into Fourteens; and then adds a bold conjecture, "That St. Matthew met "with a Genealogical Book of David's Fa- "mily that was defective, and accidentally "obſerving there three Claſſes of fourteen "Generations between theſe three great Pe- "riods of time, viz. before the ſetting up of "the Regal Government, during its Continu- "ance, and after its Fall, was thereby mo- "ved to make ſuch a Diviſion in the Ac- "count of Chriſt's Lineage, which he would "not ſo much as have thought of, if he had "made uſe of an entire Book; nor, ſaith he, "(in the Name of his Friend,) is it to be "wondred, that a Genealogical Book ſhould "be corrupted, becauſe a very great and "conſiderable Error that had perplexed the "Antients, had crept into the 11th Verſe of "St. Matthew's Text it ſelf. Now as for his imaginary Error in the 11th Verſe, I ſhall account for it there; but to make a Divine Author aſſiſted by the Holy Ghoſt, as St. Matthew was always eſteemed by all Chriſtians, in a matter of ſo great import as the true Deſcent of the Meſſiah, take up with a defective and corrupt Book, and give to all Chriſtian Ages a Catalogue thus liable to the Exceptions of the Jews, becauſe he accidentally did light on ſuch an one, and knew not of a better, is plainly to accuſe the Ignorance, ſuſpect the Care, and weaken the Authority of this great Apoſtle; it had therefore been better to have concealed this wild conjecture of his Friend, than to have offered it to an Age unhappily diſpoſed to depreciate the Sacred Writings.

Ver. 11. Ἰωσίας δὲ ἐγέννησε τὸν Ἰεχονίαν, καὶ τοὺς ἀδελφοὺς αὐτοῦ· And Joſias begat Jechonias and his Brethren.] Againſt this it is objected, That Joſias did not beget Jechonias, who was the Son of Jehojakim: And to this it is anſwered, that Jechonias, in the 11th Verſe, is not the ſame Perſon with Jechonias Verſe 12th, k

(b) De Vita ſua, p. 998. D.

12th, but is indeed Jehojachim, the Son of Joſias, and his Firſt-born. For tho' the People of the Land made Jehoahaz, the ſecond Son of Joſias, King after his Father, yet that the Kingdom by Birth-right belonged to Jehojakim, is evident, becauſe Jehoahaz was only 23 Years Old when he began to Reign, and reigned but three Months; whereas Jehojakim, who immediately ſucceeded after his Depoſition, was 25 Years Old when he began to Reign, 2 Kings 23. 31, 36. Hence (c) Joſephus ſaith of Pharaoh Necho who made him King, and changed his Name from Eliachim to Jehojachim, Πρεσβυτέρῳ αὐτὸν ἀδελφῷ ὁμοπατρίῳ ὄντι τὴν Βασιλείαν περιποιῆσαι· He gave the Kingdom to Eliakim, his eldeſt Brother by the ſame Father. Hence doth St. Matthew take no notice of Jehoahaz, becauſe he reigned only three Months, and that by uſurpation of the Kingdom: That this firſt Jechonias was indeed Jehojakim, is proved, (1ſt.) From theſe words, Joſias begat Jeconias and his Brethren; now Jehojakim indeed had two Brethren begot by Joſias, viz. Jehoahaz who reigned before him, and Zedekiah who reigned after him; and therefore being Kings, were fit to be thus mentioned by St. Matthew: But it appears not, that Jechonias the Father of Shealtiel, had any Brethren; and if he had, they muſt be begotten not by Joſias, but by Jehojakim his Father; nor is there any reaſon why they ſhould be thus mentioned, ver. 12. when then we read, that Joſias begat Jeconias and his Brethren; this can belong to none but Jehojakim: And when we read that Jeconias begat Salathiel, this muſt be underſtood of Jechonias the Son of Jehojakim; for this agrees with the Old Teſtament, 1 Chron. 3. 15, 16, 17. (2dly,) This Interpretation makes up the 14 Generations exactly in the ſecond and third Series; whereas, they who make Jechonias, ver. 11. and ver. 12. to be the ſame Perſon, leave only 13 in the ſecond Series, if Jeconias be added to the third; or in the third, if he be reckoned to the ſecond: When therefore the Apoſtle ſaith by way of Inference, So all the Generations from David until the carrying away into Babylon, are fourteen Generations, v. 17. he leads us to this Interpretation, becauſe this would not be true, were Jeconias, ver. 11. and Jeconias, ver. 12. one and the ſame Perſon. Thus (d) Jerom ſaith expreſly, that in Evangelio ſecundum Matthæum ſecunda τέσσαρα δέκας in Joacim deſinit filio Joſiæ, tertia incipit à Joacim filio Joachim: And again, (e) Sciamus Jeconiam priorem ipſum eſſe quem & Joachim, ſecundum autem filium, not Patrem.

Object. If it be here objected, that they carry both one Name, and ſo muſt be one Perſon.

Anſw. It is anſwered, (1ſt,) That the Names in the Original differ very little, the one being יְהוֹיָקִים, the other יְהוֹיָקִין; which difference is ſo little, that both are tranſlated by the Septuagint, Ἰωακείμ· ſo is Jechonias tranſlated, Jer. 52. 31. twice: So (f) Joſephus ſaith, that Nebuchodonoſor, Ἰωάκιμον interfecit, & Ἰωάχιμον τὸν υἱὸν αὐτοῦ καλέσησε βασιλέα, ſlew Joachim, and made Joachim his Son King. And Clemens of Alexandria, that after Ἰωακείμ who reigned eleven Years, ὁ ὁμώνυμος αὐτῷ Ἰωακείμ τρίμηνον βασιλεύσ, Joachim of the ſame Name, reigned three Months.

Object. Thro' the whole Chapter, the Perſon who is firſt ſaid to be begotten and then to beget is the ſame Perſon, it therefore ſeemeth reaſonable to think it ſo here.

Anſw. So alſo it is here; for it is expreſly ſaid, that Joſias begat Jechonias, i. e. Joachim and his Brethren, i. e. he begat alſo Jehoaz, and Jehojakim, named alſo Jechonias, and theſe three continued to reign till the Captivity, at which time Jechonias was carried away into Babylon; and after they were brought to Babylon, Jechonias begat Salathiel. But here comes in a freſh Objection, that God had ſworn Jechonias ſhould be Childleſs, (Heb. ſtript or naked,) a Man that ſhall not proſper in his Days; for no Man of his Seed ſhall proſper ſitting on the Throne of David. Now hence it appears, (1ſt,) That the Hebrew עָרִירִי from the Root ערר or ערה, may as well ſignifie, ſtript, ſolitary, naked, rooted up, as childleſs; and accordingly it is rendred by the LXX ἐκκηρυκτὸς, an abject, abdicated Perſon: (2dly,) He might be thus Childleſs, or ſtript of his Off-ſpring, by his Childrens dying before him, as well as by his having none. And, (3dly,) This ſenſe is certain both from the preceding words, He and his Seed are caſt out into a Land which they know not, ver. 28. and from the reaſon following, for none of his Seed ſhall proſper: And, Laſtly, From 1 Chron. 3. 17. where his Sons are reckoned Aſſir and Salathiel.

Object. It farther is objected, that whereas it is here ſaid, that Salathiel begat Zorobabel, he was indeed the Son of Pedajah, the Son of Salathiel or Shealtiel, 1 Chron. 3. 19.

Anſw. To this I have already anſwered, That St. Matthew here follows the ſtile of the Old Teſtament, and of the Jewiſh Writers, in which Zorobabel is ſtill called the Son of Salathiel. (2dly,) Were he not the immediate Son of Shealtiel, but of Pedajah, yet is this ſuitable to the Language of the Jewiſh Nation, to count the Grandſon the Son of the Grandfather: Thus Sarah is called the Daughter of Terah, Gen. 20. 12. as being the Daughter of Haran, the Son of Terah; and the ſame with Iſcah, Gen. 11. 28, 29.

(c) Antiq. l. 10. c. 6. p. 336. (d) In Dan. 1. (e) In Matth. 1. (f) Antiq. lib. 10. c. 8.

28, 29. Thus Laban is called the Son of Nahor, Gen. 29. 5. as being the Son of Bethuel, who was the Son of Nahor, ch. 24. 47. And Jehoram is called the Father of Jehoaſh, 2 Kings 12. 18. as being the Father of his Father Ahaziah; and Maacah the Daughter of Abiſhalom, is ſaid to be the Mother of Aſa, 1 Kings 15. 10. becauſe ſhe was his Father's Mother, ver. 2. Conſiderable here is the Obſervation of Mr. Whiſton, (1*ſt*,) That there is no other inſtance in this Genealogy, but what ſpeaks of a truly natural Generation. (2*dly*,) That in all the other places of the Old Teſtament, Salathiel is ſaid to have begotten Zorobabel; and therefore we have cauſe to follow the Alexandrian MSS. which in the place of the Chronicles cited, makes not Pedajah, but Salathiel the Father of Zorobabel; or to ſay, that Salathiel might have one Son of that Name, and Pedajah another.

l Ver. 13. Zorobabel begat Abiud.] Againſt this it is objected, That among the Sons of Zorobabel reckoned up 1 Chron. 3. 19. there is no mention of Abiud.

Anſw. To this it is anſwered, (1*ſt*,) That it is not evident, that Zorobabel in Matthew and in Chronicles is the ſame Perſon, and then he in St. Matthew may be the Son of Salathiel the Brother of Pedajah. (2*dly*,) That Abiud is mention'd in Chronicles under the name of Meſhullam, it being certain that many Perſons in the Old Teſtament, and eſpecially about the time of their Captivity, had other Names in Babylon than what were uſed in their own Land: And it is the ingenious Conjecture of Dr. Lightfoot, that this Son was called Abiud, in remembrance of his Father's Glory; and Meſhullam, either in memorial of Solomon, the Glory of whoſe Houſe was transferr'd to him, or from the ſignificancy of the word, which importeth requited: For, whereas Jechonias was called Shallum, that is, finiſhed, becauſe the Race of Solomon ended in him, when a Recompence of the Failing of that is made, by the Succeſſion of Salathiel in its ſtead, well might Zorobabel, in whom it firſt appeared, call his Son Meſhullam, or requited.

m Ver. 14. Here it is enquired, whence St. Matthew had this Genealogy, there being nothing of it to be found in Scripture.

Anſw. I anſwer from the Authentick Genealogical Tables kept by the Jews, of the Line of David; for, it appears from the Taxation mention'd Luke the 2d, that they had Genealogies of all their Families and Tribes, ſince all went to be taxed, every one to his own City, ver. 3. and Joſeph went to Bethlehem the City of David, becauſe he was of the Houſe and Lineage of David: And this is certain, touching the Tribe of Levi, becauſe their whole Temple Service, the effect of their Sacrifices, and Expiations, depended on it: And therefore Joſephus being a Prieſt, not only confidently depends on theſe Geneological Tables for the proof of his Deſcent, ἄνωθεν ἐξ ἱερέων, in a long Series from Prieſts; but adds, that all their Prieſts were obliged to prove (g) ἐκ τῶν ἀρχαίων τὴν διαδοχὴν, their Succeſſion from an ancient Line; and if they could not do it, they were to be excluded from officiating as Prieſts, and that in whatſoever part of the World they were, they uſed this Diligence: And again, Chriſt being promiſed as one who was to proceed out of the Loins of David, and therefore called the Son of David, it was abſolutely neceſſary, that the Genealogy of the Houſe and Lineage of David ſhould be preſerved, that they might know that their Meſſiah was of the Seed of David, according to the Promiſe. Hence the Apoſtle ſaith to Timothy, Remember that Jeſus Chriſt of the Seed of David, was raiſed from the Dead, 2 Tim. 2. 8. And (h) Euſebius from Africanus ſaith, according to the Verſion of Ruffinus, Omnes Hebræorum generationes deſcriptæ in Archivis Templi ſecretioribus habebantur, That all the Succeſſions of the Hebrews were kept in the ſecret Archives of the Temple, and thence they were deſcribed, ἐκ τῶν βίβλων τῶν ὑμέρων, from their Ephemerides, by the Kinſmen of our Saviour. It therefore doubtleſs was from theſe Authentick Records, that St. Matthew had his Genealogy, for otherwiſe he would have expoſed himſelf to the Cavils of the Jews: And hence the Author to the Hebrews repreſents it as a thing evident to the Jews, that our Lord ſprang out of Judah, Heb. 7. 14.

Ver. 16. Joſeph the Husband of Mary, of whom was born Jeſus.] It was neceſſary that the Genealogy of Jeſus ſhould be deduced from Joſeph, becauſe it was ſo generally received by the Jews, that Jeſus was the Son of the Carpenter, Matth. 13. 55. the Son of Joſeph, John 6. 42. ſo that if Joſeph had not been acknowledged to have been of the Tribe of Judah, and of the Family of David, they would not have failed to have objected this as a juſt prejudice againſt all Chriſt's pretences to have been the Meſſiah; wherefore the Divine Wiſdom was pleaſed to direct this Apoſtle, to remove that ſtumbling Block. 2*dly*, It was alſo neceſſary by reaſon of that received Rule among the Jews, that the Family of the Mother is not called a Family; and 'twas not fit that St. Matthew in this matter ſhould recede from the conſtant Rules and Cuſtoms of that Nation, the Families being always preſerved and continued in the Males of Iſrael, and all their Genealogies being reckoned from them. n

Object. But ſtill it may be ſaid, that Joſeph being not the natural, but the reputed Father

(g) Lib. 1. contra Ap. p. 1036.

(h) Eccl. Hiſt. l. 1. c. 6.

Father of the Holy Jeſus; this cannot be ſufficient to prove, that Jeſus came from the Loins of David, Acts 2. 30. or was the Fruit of his Body according to the Promiſe, Pſal. 132. 11.

Anſw. To this it is anſwered, that Joſeph and Mary were of the ſame Tribe and Family; and therefore by giving us the Genealogy of Joſeph, the Apoſtle did at the ſame time give us the Genealogy of Mary, and conſequently of Jeſus the Son of Mary, and ſhew that he was of the Seed of David. Hence ſeveral of the Ancients inquiring, why Jeſus was conceived of a Virgin eſpouſed, and not of one perfectly at liberty, ſay, this was done, that by the Family of Joſeph the Family of Mary might be ſhewn; and this will be made highly probable from Scripture, and from Hiſtory. For tho' thoſe words, Luke 1. 27. The Angel Gabriel was ſent to a Virgin, eſpouſed to a Man whoſe Name was Joſeph, of the Houſe of David, and the Virgin's Name was Mary, do not prove this of themſelves, becauſe it may be Joſeph and not the Virgin, who is ſaid to be of the Houſe of David; yet may they alſo be tranſlated thus, To a Virgin of the Houſe of David, eſpouſed to a Man whoſe Name was Joſeph, and the Virgin's Name was Mary: And this Tranſlation is confirmed from the following words of the Angel to her, Thou ſhalt conceive in thy Womb, and bear a Son, and the Lord God ſhall give him the Throne of his Father David; ſhe therefore who conceived this Son, muſt be of the Houſe of David: And this is farther proved from the Taxation, mentioned Luke 2. 3, 4, 5. Whence it appears, (1.) That all went to be taxed, Women as well as Men; for, Joſeph with his eſpouſed Wife Mary, went up to be taxed; which troubleſom Journey, ſhe who was ſo near the time of her Travail, would not have taken, had it not been neceſſary. (2.) That every one, Men and Women, went up to their own City to be taxed, ver. 3. (3.) That Joſeph went up to Bethlehem the City of David, to be taxed, becauſe he was of the Houſe and Lineage of David, ver. 4. Since therefore Mary went up to Bethlehem with him to be taxed, ſhe muſt do it for the ſame reaſon, becauſe ſhe alſo was of the ſame Houſe and Lineage. Add to this, that Domitian having given out a Command to deſtroy all that could be found of the Houſe or Family of David, ſome deſcended from Judas the Brother of our Lord, were brought before him, (i) ὡς ἐκ γένους ὄντας Δαβὶδ, as being of the Family of David, which they freely owned. See more upon this Subject in the Biſhop of Bath and Wells's Demonſt. of the Meſſias, Part 2. ch. 13.

A new and ſtrange Opinion is advanced by Mr. Whiſton, That this Genealogy was chiefly deſigned, to ſhew that Chriſt was born at Bethlehem, only becauſe 'tis enquired thus by the Jews, John 7. 42. Hath not the Scripture ſaid, that Chriſt ſhould be born in the Town of Bethlehem where David was? But,

1*ſt*, Hath not the ſame Scripture as expreſly ſaid, That he was to be of the Seed of Abraham and David? Can therefore any Man reaſonably imagine, that a Genealogy beginning thus, The Generation of Jeſus Chriſt, the Son of David, the Son of Abraham, ſhould not be primarily deſigned to prove he was the Son of David, and of Abraham?

2*dly*, The ſecond Chapters of St. Matthew and St. Luke, do indeed prove, that Jeſus was born in Bethlehem, becauſe they do expreſly ſay it; but this Genealogy ſaith nothing of it, and therefore abſtracted from them, it proves nothing of it: And, can it be the chief Deſign of this long Genealogy, to prove that which it doth not prove at all, and which is only proved from what follows in another Chapter, and in another Evangeliſt? And,

3*dly*, The very laſt Clauſe of this Genealogy, That Joſeph was the Husband of Mary, of whom was born Jeſus, who is called Chriſt, is all that can relate to Chriſt's being born in Bethlehem; and all that goes before, is evidently impertinent to that matter, and therefore can have no ſubſerviency to that Deſign: Whence we may reſt aſſured, that it was not intended by the Holy Ghoſt for ſuch an End, ſeeing he never could deſign to prove a thing by an account of any thing impertinent, and which hath no relation to it.

Ver. 17. Πᾶσαι οὖν αἱ γενεαὶ, ſo all the Generations.] It is here obſervable, that the Apoſtle ſaith of the Generations from Abraham to David, that they were in all fourteen; but when he comes to the ſecond Interval, he does not ſay as before πᾶσαι αἱ γενεαί· the fourteen mentioned by him, were all the Generations of that Interval, as knowing that for good Reaſons, he had omitted three belonging to that Interval; but only that the whole number of thoſe which he had named, was fourteen, as really they were. 2*dly*, That in every one of theſe ſeveral Intervals they were under a ſeveral and diſtinct manner of Government; and the end of each Interval produced ſome Alteration in the State; in the firſt they were under Prophets, in the ſecond under Kings, and in the third under Haſmonæan Prieſts: The firſt fourteen brought their State to Glory in the Kingdom of David; the ſecond, to Miſery in the Captivity of Babylon; and the third, to Glory again in the Kingdom of Chriſt: The firſt begins with Abraham who received the Promiſe, miſe, and ends in David who received it again more clearly: The ſecond begins with the Building of the Temple, and ends in the Deſtruction of it; the third begins with their peeping out of Miſery in Babel, and ends in their accompliſhed Delivery by Chriſt.

p Ver. 19. Λάθρα ἀπολῦσαι αὐτὴν, to put her away privately;] that is, to give her a Bill of Divorce privately into her Hand, or into her Boſom, before two Witneſſes only; this he was minded to do, ſaith the Text, becauſe he was a juſt Man, that is, a ſtrict obſerver of the Rites of his Nation, ſaith (k) Mr. Selden, who held it infamous to retain an Adultereſs; and this was all he could do, for tho' the Law required, that a married Woman found lying with a Man, ſhould die, i. e. be ſtrangled, ſay the Jews; and an eſpouſed Virgin for the ſame Crime was to be ſtoned, Deut. 22. 22, 23, 24. yet neither was Joſeph certain that ſhe was guilty of this Crime after the Eſpouſals, nor had he two Witneſſes of the Fact, without which ſhe could not be ſubject to the puniſhment by the Jewiſh Canons, tho' ſhe might be divorced after Eſpouſals, without Proof, by Witneſſes or otherwiſe, of ſuch Defilement: Thus in the judgment of Dr. Lightfoot and Mr. Selden, δίκαιος ὢν, a juſt Man, here retains its proper Signification. See Note on Rom. 3. 26.

q Ver. 23. Ἡ παρθένος ἐν γαστρὶ ἕξει· a Virgin ſhall be with Child, and ſhall bring forth a Son:] That the Hebrew Alma is duly rendred παρθένος, a Virgin, we prove againſt the Jews, (1.) From the Authority of their own Septuagint, who ſo rendred it above 300 Years before St. Matthew wrote his Goſpel. (2.) From the derivation of the word Alma from עלם, to hide, or cover; for Virgins, according to the cuſtom of the Eaſtern Nations, were kept in ſecret Apartments from the company of Men as Recluſes; whence, by the Author of the Books of the Maccabees, they are ſtiled αἱ κεκλεισμέναι τῶν παρθένων, the Virgins that were ſhut up, 2 Macc. 3. 19. And by Philo, Θαλαμευόμεναι παρθένοι, the Virgins kept in Chambers. Orat. in Flacc. p. 757. A. And, (3.) This Promiſe is made as a Sign or Miracle, to confirm the Houſe of David in God's Promiſe, made to him of the perpetuity of his Kingdom: Now, what Sign or Miracle could it be, that a Woman ſhould be with Child after the ordinary manner? Where is the Sign or Wonder in this? Had no more been intended, what need was there of thoſe words, the Lord himſelf ſhall give you a Sign? What need of that ſolemn Notice, behold! There being nothing new or ſtrange in all this?

r Ibid. Καὶ καλέσουσι τὸ ὄνομα αὐτοῦ Ἐμμανουήλ· and they ſhall call his Name Emmanuel.] Here is,

1*ſt*, A Verb perſonal put for an imperſonal, i. e. they ſhall call his Name, for, he ſhall be called: So Gen. 16. 14. therefore קרא the Pit was called, Exod. 15. 23. therefore קרא, the Name of the place was called Marah, Iſa. 9 6. וקרא, and his Name ſhall be called Wonderful. So alſo, Jer. 23. 6. this is the Name אשר יקראו by which he ſhall be called. See Ainſw. in Gen. 16. 14. and Neh. 2. 7. Iſa. 44. 7. Mic. 2. 4. Amos 4. 2, 4. ſo in the New Teſtament, Luke 12. 20. Thy Soul ſhall be required of thee, ἀπαιτοῦσι· Chap. 16. 9. δέξωνται ὑμᾶς, you may be received. See Dr. Ham. there. Note,

2*dly*, That in Scripture-phraſe to be called, and to be, is the ſame thing; ſo, my Houſe ſhall be called an Houſe of Prayer, Iſa. 56. 7. i. e. is, or ſhall be ſo, Luke 19. 46. Iſa. 9. 6. His Name ſhall be called Wonderful, i. e. he ſhall be a wonderful Perſon. And, Jer. 23. 6. he ſhall be called the Lord our Righteouſneſs, i. e. he ſhall be ſo. This being ſo, 'tis no Objection againſt the Application of theſe words to Chriſt, that he did not bear this Name, if really he was God with us, which is the import of it. And (l) Philo having ſaid, Ἰησοῦς ὁ Σωτηρία τοῦ Κυρίου, that the word Jeſus ſignifies the Salvation of God; he that is called Jeſus, muſt in effect be called Emmanuel.

Object. And whereas the Jews farther object, that this Promiſe being made to Ahaz as a Sign, muſt have relation to a Child born in his time, and therefore not to our Jeſus born above 400 Years after his Death.

Anſw. This Objection is founded on a Miſtake; this Promiſe or Sign being not given to Ahaz, who refuſed to ask a Sign, Iſa. 7. 12. but to the Houſe of David, according to the following words, Hear ye now, O Houſe of David, the Lord himſelf will give you a Sign: Now the Houſe of David being then in great danger of being cut off and extinguiſhed, ver. 2. becauſe the Kings of Iſrael and Syria were come againſt them; the Promiſe of a Meſſiah who was to be of the Seed of David, and to ſit upon his Throne, was a great Security that the Houſe of David ſhould not be extinguiſhed, and ſo a proper Remedy againſt thoſe Fears. It is enquired farther, whether this Name given to Chriſt, be any certain Argument of his Divine Nature, as it ſeems to be, for Chriſt is called אל גבור, the mighty God, Iſa. 9. 6. Now he who is properly called El, and is alſo really Emmanu, with us, he muſt infallibly be that Emmanuel who is God with us. But to this the Socinians anſwer, That God is ſaid to be a God with us, when he gives ſome eſpecial Tokens of his Grace and Favour to us, as Joſh. 1. 5. Jer. 1. 8. Acts 18. 10. Rev. 21. 3. Since then Chriſt came to be our Jeſus,

Jeſus, to ſave us from our Sins, and give us Life eternal, he may well on that account be called Emmanuel, ſeeing God by ſending him to us for theſe great Ends, was in the moſt ſignal manner preſent with us, and therefore it is firſt ſaid, His Name ſhall be called Jeſus, for he ſhall ſave his People from their Sins; and then 'tis added, that this was done that it might be fulfilled which was ſpoken by the Prophet, his Name ſhall be called Emmanuel.

They add, that Divine Names are given to things and places on the account of things done or to be done there; the place in which Abraham offered Iſaac, is called Jehovah Jireh, the Lord hath ſeen, Gen. 22. 14. the place where Jacob wreſtled with God, Peniel, Gen. 32. 30. the place in which God appeared to him, Bethel, Gen. 28. 19. the Altar which Moſes built, Jehova Niſſi, Exod. 17. 15. the City of Jeruſalem, Jehovah Shammah, the Lord is there, Ezek. 48. 35. This Divine Name therefore, ſay they, might in like manner be given to Chriſt, becauſe of the great things God deſigned to do by him for us.

s Ver. 25. Ἕως οὗ ἔτεκε τὸν υἱὸν αὐτῆς τὸν πρωτότοκον, till ſhe had brought forth her firſt-born Son.] The Perſon that firſt opens the Womb, being in Scripture ſtiled the Firſt-born, whether any other Birth did follow or not; as in thoſe words, ſanctifie to me all the Firſt-born, i. e. whatſoever openeth the Womb, Exod. 13. 2. — 34. 19. it cannot from this word be gathered, that the Bleſſed Virgin had any other Off-ſpring.

But then it is not ſo eaſie to anſwer to the Argument taken from theſe words, He took unto him Mary his Wife, but he knew her not till ſhe had brought forth her Firſt-born; for, to know his Wife in the Scripture-phraſe, ſtill ſignifies to cohabit with her as a Wife. See Gen. 4. 1, 17, 25. — 38. 26. Judg. 19. 25. 1 Sam. 1. 19. 2*dly*, Joſeph was a juſt Man, and tenacious of the Jewiſh Rites; wherefore it being certain, that (m) the Marriage-Duty was by the Law, and by the Canons of the Jews, to be paid by the Husband to the Wife, Ex. 21. 10. and the Angel having commanded him to take her as his Wife, without any intimation that he ſhould not perform the Duty of an Husband to her, it is not eaſie to conceive he ſhould live twelve Years with her he loved ſo well, and all that while deny that Duty, which by the Law was not to be diminiſhed when the Wife was leſs beloved: And whereas it is ſaid, that the words ἕως οὗ, he knew her not until, &c. do not imply he knew her afterwards, becauſe the like Expreſſion is uſed, when it cannot be concluded that was done afterwards, which was ſaid not to be done till then; it ſeemeth evident, that ſcarce any of the places cited, ſeem truly parallel to this. For, 1. Moſt of them ſpeak of a thing not done afterwards, becauſe it could not be done, as when it is ſaid, Micah had no Child till the Day of her Death, 2 Sam. 6. 23. Samuel came not to ſee Saul till the Day of his Death, 1 Sam. 15. 35. So Job 27. 5. Iſa. 22. 14. Or, becauſe the Cauſe ceaſed afterwards, as when 'tis ſaid, Gen. 8. 7. The Crow returned not till the Waters were dried up; there was no reaſon for his returning afterwards: And when Chriſt ſaith, Matth. 28. ult. I will be with you, (teaching all Nations,) to the end of the World, i. e. to the end of teaching them. So when God ſaith to Jacob, Gen. 28. 15. I will be with thee, I will not leave thee till I have done that which I have ſpoken to thee of; if that refers to the Bleſſing promiſed to his Seed, that it ſhould inherit the Land of Canaan, he could not leave him afterwards, he being long before that with God, and ſo it is an inſtance of the firſt Kind; or, if it refers to his being with him going down to Padan Aram, till he had brought him ſafe from thence; then the reaſon of that Promiſe ceaſed after his return: Or, Laſtly, becauſe the reaſon of the thing ſtill remains, as when 'tis ſaid of the Sepulchre of Moſes, No Man knoweth of it to this Day, Deut. 34. 6. For the ſame reaſon, no Man doth, or without a Revelation, will know of it for ever; whereas, certain it is, that it was not impoſſible in the nature of the thing, for Joſeph to know his Wife after ſhe had brought forth her Firſt-born: And, 2*dly*, The reaſon why he ſhould know her at all, being, becauſe ſhe was his Wife, that reaſon ceaſed not after the Birth of her Firſt-born; nor did ſhe conceive any ſecond Son of the Holy Ghoſt; and ſo the reaſon why he knew her not till ſhe had brought forth her Firſt-born, remained not. I therefore conclude with (n) St. Baſil, that till ſhe had brought forth her Firſt-born, her Virginity was neceſſary, that a Virgin might conceive, and bear a Son, τὸ δὲ ἐφεξῆς ἀπολυπραγμώτατον τῷ λόγῳ τοῦ μυστηρίου καταλείψομεν· but what ſhe was afterwards let us leave undiſcuſſed, as being of ſmall concern to the Myſtery.

Jesus, to save us from our Sins, and give us Life eternal, he may well on that account be called Emmanuel, seeing God by sending him to us for these great Ends, was in the most signal manner present with us, and therefore it is first said, His Name shall be called Jesus, for he shall save his People from their Sins; and then 'tis added, that this was done that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by the Prophet, his Name shall be called Emmanuel.

They add, that Divine Names are given to things and places on the account of things done or to be done there; the place in which Abraham offered Isaac, is called Jehovah Jireh, the Lord hath seen, Gen. 22. 14. the place where Jacob wrestled with God, Peniel, Gen. 32. 30. the place in which God appeared to him, Bethel, Gen. 28. 19. the Altar which Moses built, Jehova Nissi, Exod. 17. 15. the City of Jerusalem, Jehovah Shammah, the Lord is there, Ezek. 48. 35. This Divine Name therefore, say they, might in like manner be given to Christ, because of the great things God designed to do by him for us.

s Ver. 25. Ἕως οὗ ἔτεκε τὸν υἱὸν αὐτῆς τὸν πρωτότοκον, till she had brought forth her first-born Son.] The Person that first opens the Womb, being in Scripture stiled the First-born, whether any other Birth did follow or not; as in those words, sanctifie to me all the First-born, i. e. whatsoever openeth the Womb, Exod. 13. 2. — 34. 19. it cannot from this word be gathered, that the Blessed Virgin had any other Off-spring.

But then it is not so easie to answer to the Argument taken from these words, He took unto him Mary his Wife, but he knew her not till she had brought forth her First-born; for, to know his Wife in the Scripture-phrase, still signifies to cohabit with her as a Wife. See Gen. 4. 1, 17, 25. — 38. 26. Judg. 19. 25. 1 Sam. 1. 19. 2*dly*, Joseph was a just Man, and tenacious of the Jewish Rites; wherefore it being certain, that (m) the Marriage-Duty was by the Law, and by the Canons of the Jews, to be paid by the Husband to the Wife, Ex. 21. 10. and the Angel having commanded him to take her as his Wife, without any intimation that he should not perform the Duty of an Husband to her, it is not easie to conceive he should live twelve Years with her he loved so well, and all that while deny that Duty, which by the Law was not to be diminished when the Wife was less beloved: And whereas it is said, that the words ἕως οὗ, he knew her not until, &c. do not imply he knew her afterwards, because the like Expression is used, when it cannot be concluded that was done afterwards, which was said not to be done till then; it seemeth evident, that scarce any of the places cited, seem truly parallel to this. For, 1. Most of them speak of a thing not done afterwards, because it could not be done, as when it is said, Micah had no Child till the Day of her Death, 2 Sam. 6. 23. Samuel came not to see Saul till the Day of his Death, 1 Sam. 15. 35. So Job 27. 5. Isa. 22. 14. Or, because the Cause ceased afterwards, as when 'tis said, Gen. 8. 7. The Crow returned not till the Waters were dried up; there was no reason for his returning afterwards: And when Christ saith, Matth. 28. ult. I will be with you, (teaching all Nations,) to the end of the World, i. e. to the end of teaching them. So when God saith to Jacob, Gen. 28. 15. I will be with thee, I will not leave thee till I have done that which I have spoken to thee of; if that refers to the Blessing promised to his Seed, that it should inherit the Land of Canaan, he could not leave him afterwards, he being long before that with God, and so it is an instance of the first Kind; or, if it refers to his being with him going down to Padan Aram, till he had brought him safe from thence; then the reason of that Promise ceased after his return: Or, Lastly, because the reason of the thing still remains, as when 'tis said of the Sepulchre of Moses, No Man knoweth of it to this Day, Deut. 34. 6. For the same reason, no Man doth, or without a Revelation, will know of it for ever; whereas, certain it is, that it was not impossible in the nature of the thing, for Joseph to know his Wife after she had brought forth her First-born: And, 2*dly*, The reason why he should know her at all, being, because she was his Wife, that reason ceased not after the Birth of her First-born; nor did she conceive any second Son of the Holy Ghost; and so the reason why he knew her not till she had brought forth her First-born, remained not. I therefore conclude with (n) St. Basil, that till she had brought forth her First-born, her Virginity was necessary, that a Virgin might conceive, and bear a Son, τὸ δὲ ἐφεξῆς ἀπολυπραγμώτατον τῷ λόγῳ τῶν μυστηρίων καταλείψομεν· but what she was afterwards let us leave undiscussed, as being of small concern to the Mystery.

CHAP. II.

1. NOW when Jeſus was born in Bethlehem of Judea, in the Days of Herod a the King, behold there came [a] Wiſe Men from b (Arabia in) [b] the Eaſt to Jeruſalem, c 2. Saying, [c] Where is he that is born King of the Jews? for we have ſeen his Star (being)
d in the Eaſt, and [d] are come (thence) to worſhip him.

3. When Herod the King had heard theſe things, he (knowing that the Jews were then expecting Meſſiah their King to rule over them, and throw down all other Kingdoms,) was troubled, and all Jeruſalem with him.

4. And when he had gathered all the Chief Prieſts, and Scribes of the People together, he demanded of them where (i. e. in what place) Chriſt (their expected Meſſiah, and King,) ſhould be born.

5. And they ſaid unto him, (he is to be born) in Bethlehem of Judea: for thus it is written by the Prophet (Micah, ſaying, ch. 5. 2.)

e 6. [e] And thou Bethlehem in the Land of Judah, art not (to be reputed) the leaſt among the Princes (or thouſands) of Judah: for out of thee ſhall come a Governour, that ſhall rule my People Iſrael; (and this ſhall render thee truly great.)

7. Then Herod, when he had privily called the Wiſe Men, (he) enquired of them diligently, what (was the exact) time (at which) the Star appeared (to them?)

8. And (having done this,) he ſent them to Bethlehem, and ſaid (to them,) Go, and ſearch diligently for the young Child, and when ye have found him, bring me word again, (Gr. tell me of it,) that I may come and worſhip him alſo; (tho' his intention was not to worſhip, but to deſtroy him, ver. 16.)

9. When they had heard the King (ſay this,) f they departed, and [f] lo, the Star which they ſaw (or had ſeen, being) in the Eaſt (of Judea,) went before them till it came, and ſtood over (the Houſe) where the young Child was; (i. e. till coming over the Houſe where the Child was, it ſtood ſtill.)

10. (And) when they ſaw the Star (again, thus conducting them to, and then ſtanding over the Houſe where the Child was,) they rejoiced with exceeding great joy (for the Divine Conduct.)

11. And when they were come into the Houſe, they ſaw the young Child with Mag ry his Mother, and (they) [g] fell down, and worſhipped him: and when they had opened their Treaſures, they preſented to him Gifts, (viz.) Gold, and Frankincenſe, and Myrrh.

12. And being warned of God in a Dream, that they ſhould not return to Herod, they (in obedience to the Divine Command,) departed into their own Country, another (and more private) way.

13. And when (or after) they were departed, behold, the Angel of the Lord appeareth to Joſeph in a Dream, ſaying (to him,) Ariſe, and take the young Child, and his Mother, and flee into Egypt, and be thou there until I bring thee word (that thou with ſafety mayeſt return:) for Herod will ſeek (after) the young Child to deſtroy him.

14. And when he aroſe (from his Bed,) he took the young Child and his Mother by night, and departed into Egypt:

15. And was there until the Death of Herod, that (by his abode there,) it might be fulfilled which was ſpoken of the Lord by the Prophet (Hoſea, ch. 11. 1.) ſaying, [h] Out of h
Egypt have I called my Son.

16. Then [i] Herod, when he ſaw that he i was mocked of the Wiſe Men, was exceeding wroth, and ſent forth (his Officers,) and (they having received Commiſſion from him ſo to do,) ſlew all the Children that were in Bethlehem, and (in) all the Coaſts thereof, from two Years old and under, according (or even) to the time which he had diligently enquired of the Wiſe Men.

17. Then was [k] fulfilled (by another more k eminent completion,) that which was ſpoken by Jeremy the Prophet, ſaying, (ch. 31. 15.)

18. In Ramah (near to Bethlehem,) was there a Voice heard (of) Lamentation and Weeping, and great Mourning, Rachel weeping for her Children, and would not be comforted, becauſe they are not; (i. e. becauſe they were dead.)

19. But when Herod was dead, behold an Angel of the Lord appeareth in a dream to Joſeph, (being then) in Egypt,

20. Saying (to him,) Ariſe, and take the young Child, and his Mother, and go (back) into the Land of Iſrael: for they are (he is) dead which ſought the young Child's Life.

21. And he (accordingly) aroſe, and took the young Child and his Mother, and came into the Land of Iſrael.

22. But when he heard that Archelaus did reign in Judea in the room of his Father Herod, he was afraid to go thither: notwithſtanding, (Gr. but) being warned of God in a Dream (ſo to do,) he turned aſide into the parts of Galilee, (where Herod Antipas was ſeated, from whom there was leſs apprehenſion of Danger.)

23. And he came and dwelt in a City called Nazareth, that it might be [l] fulfilled l which was ſpoken by the Prophet, He ſhall be called (by way of Reproach,) a Nazarene.

Annotations

a Ver. 1. ΜΑ'ΓΟΙ, Wiſe Men.] Tho' the Greek word ſignifies Magicians, yet ſeeing in the ancient Times, that word was not appropriated to that evil ſenſe which now it bears, but generally ſignified Men of Wiſdom and Learning, skill'd in the knowledge of things Natural and Divine; and more eſpecially, in that ſort of Learning which relates to the Sun, Moon, and Stars, as we learn from (a) Porphyry, (b) Apuleius, (c) Dio Chryſoſtomus, and others: And, ſeeing the Evangeliſt ſeems to have given them that Name, not as a Note of Infamy, but as an honourable Title; therefore doth our Tranſlation ſtile them Wiſe Men, ſuch as the old Greeks named σοφοὶ, the Sages of their time. The Arabians of the Eaſt, eſpecially the Sons of Teman being renown'd for Wiſdom, 1 Kings 4, 30. Jer. 49. 7.

As for the Dignity and Number of theſe Men, the Tradition of the Roman Church ſaith, that for Number they were three, and all of Royal Dignity: Hence in their Office for Epiphany, they apply that of the Pſalmiſt to them, The Kings of Arabia and Saba ſhall bring Gifts: But had they been of ſo great Quality, we cannot reaſonably think the Evangeliſt would have omitted a Circumſtance of ſo great moment, both for their Honour and our Lord's; we alſo ſhould in likelihood, have had ſome mention of their Royal Train and Equipage, and all Jeruſalem would have been moved as much to ſee them come, as they were at the hearing their Queſtion: Herod would likely have received them with more reſpect, and not have let them go alone to Bethlehem; much leſs would he have laid upon them his Commands to return back, and give him an account of the Child found. This therefore is an inſtance of the uncertainty and vanity of the Traditions of that Church.

b Ibid. Ἀπὸ ἀνατολῶν, from the Eaſt.] Hence the Opinion of ſome, that the Wiſe Men came from Chaldea, a Country renowned for Magicians and Aſtrologers, may be confuted, becauſe the ancient Prophets, who foretold the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem by the Chaldeans, tell us, That they lay not Eaſt, but North of Jury, and came from thence upon them. Hence they are called, the Families of the North, and an evil breaking out of the North, Jer. 1. 14, 15. A People coming out of the North-Country, Jer. 6. 22. See Joel 2. 20. It is therefore more probable they came from Arabia, which was, ſaith (d) Tacitus, the Bound of Judea Eaſtward: And hence, in the Scripture, the Arabians are ſometimes called the Men of the Eaſt. So Judg. 6. 3. The Children of the Eaſt came up againſt them, that is, the Arabians. Job. 1. 3. This Man was the greateſt of all the Men of the Eaſt. Moreover, the Gifts which theſe Men offered, were the native Commodities of Arabia; the Gold of Sheba in Arabia, Pſal. 72. 15. Frankincenſe and Myrrh of the ſame place, according to that of the Poet, Molles ſua thura Sabæi. Add to this, that much of Arabia was in the Land of Canaan; whence David and Solomon, to whom the Promiſe of having the Land of Canaan was made good in its full Extent, dilated their Dominions over theſe Countries, even to Euphrates; and they who lived there, were of the Seed of Abraham. Now it is more likely, theſe firſt Fruits of the Gentiles, ſhould be brought to do Homage to the King of the Jews, from a Country which did as much to David and Solomon, the Types of Chriſt, than from a Foreign Nation, and to conceive, that they were of the Seed of Abraham rather than of another Race. Nor is it to be wondred, that the Magi ſhould be ſaid to come from the Eaſt, ſince (e) Porphyry informs us, that Pythagoras went into Arabia to acquire Wiſdom: And Grotius here cites Ptolomy, ſaying, That Arabia was Magorum ſinus, the receptacle of the Magi: And (f) Pliny ſaith, This Art, toto terrarum orbe plurimiſque ſæculis valuit, obtained thro' many Ages in the whole World; that it prevails in moſt Nations, & in oriente regnum (l. regum) regibus imperet, and in the Eaſt ruled over Kings of Kings.

c Ver. 2. Πᾶ ἐστὶν ὁ τεχθεὶς Βασιλεὺς τῶν Ἰουδαίων, εἴδομεν γὰρ αὐτοῦ τὸν ἀστέρα; Where is he that is born King of the Jews, for we have ſeen his Star?] Here the Enquiry is, How theſe Men could know this was his Star, or that it ſignified the Birth of a King? Moſt of the (g) Ancients anſwer, That they learn'd this from theſe words of Balaam, Numb. 24. 17. There ſhall come a Star out of Jacob, and a Scepter ſhall ariſe out of Iſrael, and ſhall ſmite thro' the Princes of Moab, and deſtroy all the Children of Seth; and Edom ſhall be a poſ- ſeſſion to him: But evident it is, that theſe words ſpeak not of a Star that ſhould ariſe at any Prince's Birth; but of a King, which ſhould be glorious and ſplendent in his Dominions, as Stars are in the Firmament, and who ſhould vanquiſh and poſſeſs thoſe three Nations as David did. Moreover, from this Text, they might have as rationally expected to have ſeen a Scepter as a Star; it being as expreſly ſaid, A Scepter ſhall ariſe out of Iſrael, as that a Star ſhall come out of Jacob. Add to this, that we know of no Record in which this Propheſie was preſerved, but the Books of Moſes, which theſe Nations neither read nor believed: Others do therefore ſay, theſe Wiſe Men were by a Revelation, or by an Angel, told the meaning of this Star: And one among the Ancients, cites an Apocryphal Hiſtory, ſaying, (h) This Star appeared in the form of a Child, holding a Croſs in his hand; and telling them, that Chriſt was born, and that they ſhould go to Jeruſalem to worſhip him. But theſe Conjectures are all ſufficiently confuted by this one conſideration, That the Wiſe Men give not this as the reaſon of their coming, that they had ſeen an Angel, a Viſion, or had a Revelation of this Matter, but that they had ſeen a Star. For the true reſolution therefore of this Queſtion, let it be conſidered, That (i) Tacitus and (k) Suetonius inform us, That thro' the whole Eaſt it was expected, that about that time a King was to ariſe out of Judea, who ſhould rule over all the World. Nor could it well be otherwiſe, ſince from the time of the Babylonian Captivity, we find the Jews diſperſed throughout all the Provinces of the Perſian Monarchy, Eſth. 3. 8. and that in numbers ſufficient to gather themſelves together, and to defend themſelves againſt their Enemies in thoſe Provinces, Eſth. 9. 2, 16. and many of the People of the Land became Jews, Eſth. 8. 17. And after their return into their Land, they increaſed ſo mightily, as that they were diſperſed throughout Africa, Aſia, and many Cities and Iſlands of Europe; and as Joſephus ſaith, where ever they dwelt, they made many Proſelytes to their Religion. See the Note on Jam. 1. 1. and on 1 Pet. 1. 1. Theſe Wiſe Men therefore living ſo near to Judea, the Seat of this Propheſie, and converſing with the Jews, i. e. among them who were every where expecting the completion of it at that time; they being alſo skill'd in Aſtrology, and ſeeing this Star or Light appearing in Judea, might reaſonably conjecture, that it ſignified the completion of that celebrated Propheſie touching the King of Jury; over the Centre of which Land, they being in the Eaſt, then ſaw it hang. And ſure it was a better way to read this Leſſon to them, by ſetting this Light upon the very place where the King that it betokened was born, rather than in the Eaſt part of Heaven, where it might ſeem to denote ſomething among the Indians, or other Eaſtern Nations, rather than among the Jews. What this Star was, ſee Note on ver. 9, 10.

Ibid. Καὶ ἦλθομεν προσκυνῆσαι αὐτῷ, and are come to worſhip him.] Here the Enquiry is, When they came to Jeruſalem, whether within thirteen Days after the Birth of Chriſt, as the received time of celebrating the Epiphany imports, and as moſt Chriſtians have from the 5th Century ſuppoſed; or, whether they came only in the ſecond Year of Chriſt's Age, as ſome conjecture from theſe words, ver. 16. Herod ſent forth, and ſlew all the Children that were in Bethlehem, and all the Coaſts thereof from two Year's old, and under, according to the time that he had diligently enquired of the Wiſe Men. For reſolution of this Queſtion, obſerve, That it ſeems evident from comparing St. Matthew and St. Luke, that the Wiſe Men came within forty Days after our Saviour's Birth; for St. Matthew expreſly ſaith, they found Chriſt at Bethlehem; whereas St. Luke informs us, that when the forty Days of his Mother's Purification were accompliſhed, they brought the Child to Jeruſalem to preſent him to the Lord; and after that, we never read of their Return with him to Bethlehem, and therefore have no reaſon to preſume they did ſo, Luke 2. 22. But on the contrary, we are told, that when they had performed all things according to the Law of the Lord, they returned into Galilee to their own City Nazareth, ver. 39. Arabia then being ſo near unto Judea, that much of it belonged to the Land of Canaan, the Wiſe Men having alſo their ſwift Dromedaries to ride upon, and the ſame cauſe to ſay as did the Shepherds, when the Light ſhone from Heaven upon them, Let us now go and ſee this thing which is come to paſs, Luke 2. 15. I ſee no reaſon why theſe Wiſe Men might not come within the compaſs of theſe Days to Jeruſalem, and ſo no certain ground to think this Feſtival hath been miſplaced by the Church. d

Object. Againſt this it is ſaid, That immediately after theſe Wiſe Men's departure, the Angel appeared to Joſeph, ver. 13. and diſpatch'd them to Egypt; which could not be before the time of Mary's Purification, for then they went up to Jeruſalem, Luke 2. 22. and ſo not to Egypt; nor after their return from Egypt, could they go up to Jeruſalem for for this end; for the Text ſaith expreſly, that Joſeph then was afraid to go into Judea, and therefore receded to Nazareth; nor could they go up to Jeruſalem after the departure of the Magi, for that had been to caſt themſelves into Herod's Hands at Jeruſalem.

Anſw. But (1ſt,) the Text doth not ſay, That the Angel appeared to Joſeph immediately after the departure of the Wiſe Men, but only that ἀναχωρησάντων αὐτῶν, he did ſo, they being returned, leaving the time indefinite: Seeing therefore there is a neceſſity of ſaying, the Angel appeared a conſiderable time after their departure, I therefore conjecture, that he appeared to Joſeph with this Meſſage, being not at Bethlehem, but at Jeruſalem or at Nazareth, and that thence he fled into Egypt.

(2dly,) I add, That going to Jeruſalem after the Magi were departed, when the Days for the Purification of his Mother came, could not be caſting themſelves into the Hands of Herod, becauſe he knew nothing of this being the Child they came to worſhip; and ſo they ſtaying there ſo little time, might be as ſafe there as elſewhere. Nay, had Herod known which perſonally was the Child they worſhipped, why ſhould he ſlay all the young Children at Bethlehem without diſtinction? As to the ſecond Objection from ver. 16. ſee what may be anſwered to it in the Note there.

But after all, I confeſs, there is one circumſtance that makes it highly probable, that the Angel ſpake to Joſeph to depart from Bethlehem into Egypt; whence it muſt follow, that after the Purification of the Virgin Mother, they returned to Bethlehem, viz. that Herod's ſeeking to deſtroy the Child, is aſſigned as the cauſe of this Flight: Now we find not, that he ever made or deſigned any other attempt to deſtroy him, than by ſlaying the young Children at Bethlehem. But to this the Anſwer is eaſie; That Simeon having made ſuch an honourable mention of this Child at his Appearance in the Temple, as of the Lord's Chriſt, ver. 26. And Anna the Propheteſs ſpeaking of him as ſuch, to all that looked for Redemption in Jeruſalem, ver. 38. where perhaps Herod ſtaid for the Anſwer of the Wiſe Men; This muſt render Chriſt's ſtay at Jeruſalem, or in Herod's Juriſdiction, very dangerous; and ſo might give occaſion to the Meſſage of the Angel to Joſeph, to depart thence quickly with him into Egypt, leſt Herod hearing this Fame of him, ſhould attempt to ſlay him. Moreover, Herod might have enquired, what Children might have been born in Bethlehem in the time of the Enrolment, whoſe Parents lived elſewhere, and ſo might have come to the knowledge of this ſuppoſed Son of Joſeph; and this might make it neceſſary that he ſhould fly with him into Egypt.

Ver. 6. Καὶ σὺ Βηθλεὲμ, γῆ Ἰούδα, οὐδαμῶς ἐλαχίστη εἶ ἐν τοῖς ἡγεμόσιν Ἰούδα· And thou Bethlehem in the Land of Judah, art not the leaſt among the Princes of Judah.] Theſe words are cited from Micah 5. 2. where, according to the Original, they run thus, Thou Bethlehem Ephratah, tho' thou art little among the thouſands of Judah. And to make them agree perfectly with St. Matthew's Verſion, obſerve, e

1ſt, That Bethlehem Ephratah and Bethlehem Judah are both Names of the ſame Town, as appears from theſe words, And Rachel died, and was buried in the way to Ephrath, which is Bethlehem; and it is called Bethlehem Judah, Judg. 17. 7. — 19. 2. in theſe words, And the Husband of Naomi was a Man of Bethlehem Judah, Ruth 1. 1. Yet of Booz, who married Ruth to raiſe up Seed unto him, it is ſaid, Do thou worthily in the Houſe of Ephratah, Ruth 4. 11. and it was ſo named to diſtinguiſh it from another Bethlehem in the Tribe of Zabulon, mentioned Joſh. 19. 15. Here alſo David's Father lived, and he himſelf was born, 1 Sam. 17. 12. John 7. 42. Note, 2dly, That the thouſands of Judah, and the Princes or Governours of Judah are in ſenſe the ſame; for thouſands are mentionnd in alluſion to the cuſtom of the Iſraelites of dividing their Tribes into Thouſands, over every one of which thouſands was a Prince, or Chief, Exod. 18. 25. 1 Sam. 10. 19. So that to ſay, among the Thouſands or Princes is all one. Note, 3dly, That the Hebrew word צעיר, which is rendred little, Micah 5. 2. ſignifies alſo great, or of great Note and Eſteem. Hence R. Tanchum renders the place thus, Thou ſhalt be Chief, Prince or Ruler, among the thouſands of Judah: So קרן מצעירה, the little Horn, Dan. 8. 9. is render'd by the LXX κέρας ἰσχυρὸν, and by the Arabick, Cornu forte, a ſtrong Horn. So Jer. 48. 4. צעיריה, his little ones, is in the Chaldee, Sultanun, his Rulers: And, Zach. 13. 7. הצערים, is rendred by the LXX ποίμνες· See MSS. Alex. by the Syriac, Superiours.

Ver. 9. Καὶ ἰδοὺ ὁ ἀστὴρ ὃν εἶδον ἐν τῇ ἀνατολῇ προῆγεν αὐτούς· And behold, the Star which they ſaw in the Eaſt went before them, till coming over the place where the Child was, it ſtood.] Hence it is evident, this Star could not be one of the heavenly Orb, but only ſome new and extraordinary Appearance, ſeated only in the Air: (1ſt,) Becauſe it actually did, and was deſigned to ſhew the Place of Chriſt's Nativity, the very Houſe of his Abode, which no celeſtial Star could do, becauſe they never hang over one Country more than another, and much leſs over any certain place. (2dly,) Becauſe it moved ſo as they do not, by Intervals, moving ſometimes, and ſometimes ſtanding ſtill; whereas they move perpetually, their Motion alſo is from f

Eaſt

Eaſt to Weſt, whereas the motion of this Star was from North to South. It therefore ſeems probable this ſeeming Star appearing to the Wiſe Men in the Eaſt, might only be that glorious Light which ſhone upon the Bethlehem Shepherds when the Angel came to impart unto them the tydings of our Saviour's Birth; for that this Light was exceeding great, is clear from that Expreſſion which ſtiles it the Glory of the Lord; that it was a Light from Heaven hanging over their Heads, the Greek aſſures us; that immicuit ex alto, It ſhone upon them from on High, the Latin ſaith. Now we know that ſuch a Light at a great diſtance appeareth like a Star, or at leaſt after it had thus ſhone about the Shepherds, it might be lifted up on high, and then formed into the likeneſs of a Star. This Body of Light, or another like it, when they journied to Jeruſalem, was formed into the likeneſs of that Star they had formerly ſeen, and went before them in the Air to Bethlehem, and then ſunk down ſo low as to point out the very Houſe where the Babe lay. And if this ſhould be ſo, the Star the Wiſe Men ſaw muſt have appeared to them the very day of Chriſt's Nativity; for of the Light appearing to the Shepherds, St. Luke informs us, Chap. 2. 8, 11. that it was ſeen the very day and night of Chriſt's Nativity.

g Ver. 11. Καὶ πεσόντες προσεκύνησαν αὐτῷ, καὶ προσενέγκαν αὐτῷ δῶρα, χρυσὸν, καὶ λίβανον, καὶ σμύρναν, and falling down they worſhipped him, and when they had opened their Treaſures, they preſented to him Gifts, Gold, Frankincenſe and Myrrh.] Of the import of the word προσκυνεῖν, to worſhip, and that it doth as well ſignifie civil, as religious Worſhip, even when it is performed by Proſtration, ſee the Notes on Matth. 8. 2. But tho' this word will do us no ſervice againſt the Socinians, it is worthy our Obſervation, that the Chriſtians from the beginning, either from this Adoration, or the Gifts offered, did collect even then that Chriſt was God, or at the leaſt that both were fitly given to him, as being truly God, whatever the Wiſe Men might think of him. Thus (l) Juſtin M. teacheth that Chriſt being God, could not receive the Holy Ghoſt as wanting him, or his Aſſiſtance; and ſaith, of this we have a Teſtimony from the Magi of Arabia, who, as ſoon as the Child was born, came and worſhipped him. (m) Irenæus ſaith, the Wiſe Men by the Gifts they offered, ſhewed who he was that was worſhipped; they offering Myrrh, becauſe he was to dye for Mankind; Gold, becauſe he was a King, whoſe Kingdom ſhould have no end; and Frankincenſe, becauſe he was God. (n) Tertullian ſaith, they honoured him with theſe Gifts, quaſi Deum & Regem, as a God and King: And when Celſus laughed at the Wiſemen as προσκυνήσαντες ἔτι νήπιον ὡς Θεὸν, worſhipping Chriſt whilſt an Infant, as God; (o) Origen anſwers, that they brought Gifts to him compounded as it were of God and Man; Gold, as an Enſign of his Kingly Power; Myrrh, as to one that was to die; and Frankincenſe, as to a God. It alſo may deſerve to be obſerved that Kimchi on thoſe words of Eſaiah 60. 6. All they of Sheba ſhall come, they ſhall bring Gold and Incenſe, &c. ſaith, They ſhall bring them for an Offering to the King Meſſiah.

Ver. 15. Ἐξ Αἰγύπτου ἐκάλεσα τὸν υἱόν μου, h out of Egypt have I called my Son.] This is cited from Hoſea 11. 1. and not from Numbers 24. 8. for the words in Numbers are the words of Balaam, whom the Evangeliſt would not cite by the honourable Name of a Prophet, without any Diſtinction from the Prophets ſent by God to the Jews; nor doth he ſay as Hoſea doth, word for word, I have called my Son out of Egypt.

2*dly*, Note that it cannot be truly ſaid, that theſe words are by St. Matthew mentioned as belonging to Chriſt only by way of Application, or Accommodation, tho' the Holy Ghoſt, who ſpake them by the Prophet, intended not they ſhould be again fulfilled in him; for this cannot anſwer what is here ſaid by St. Matthew, that Chriſt was called out of Egypt, that it might be fulfilled which was ſpoken of the Lord by the Prophet; for certainly theſe words can import no leſs than that the calling of Chriſt out of Egypt, was by God intended as a Completion of theſe words, and that till he was called thence, they had not their full and ultimate Completion. Note,

3*ly*, That Iſrael was a Type of Chriſt, as being by God called his Son, his Firſt-born, Exod. 4. 22. and God bearing the Relation of a Father to Iſrael, Jer. 31. 9. hence Iſrael is put for Chriſt, Iſa. 49. 3. in theſe words, Thou art my Servant, O Iſrael, in whom I will be glorified; and what is in the Hebrew, Behold my Servant whom I uphold, mine Elect, in whom my Soul delighteth, Iſa. 42. 1. is in the Chaldee, My Servant the Meſſiah, and in the Greek, Jacob my Servant, and Iſrael mine Elect: Now as a prophetical Prediction is then fulfilled when what was foretold is come come to paſs; ſo a Type is then fulfilled when that is done in the Antype, which was done in the Type before. Note, 4*ly*, That the words run in the time paſt, out of Egypt have I called; and that not only becauſe this is the way of prophetical Predictions, to ſpeak of thoſe things as already done, which ſhall be as certainly accompliſhed as if they were already done, but becauſe they had already been fulfilled in the Type. Note,

5*ly*, That St. Matthew cites only theſe words of Hoſea, Out of Egypt have I called my Son, as words to be fulfilled in Chriſt, and not any more, making Iſrael a Type of Chriſt only in this regard, that they were called out of Egypt, as he was to be ſo; ſo that it doth not hence follow that any other words in this Propheſie are to be referred to Chriſt, and ſo no Argument taken from the following words, which do not belong to him, can be of any Validity to prove that theſe do not, which here the Holy Ghoſt applieth to him. Nor is it any Objection againſt what hath been ſaid, that the Jews could not underſtand this intendment of theſe words, for they were not concerned to underſtand it till the completion of theſe words in Chriſt; and then ſure they who abounded with myſtical Interpretations of the Law and the Prophets, could not reaſonably object againſt this Application of theſe words to God's calling his own Son out of Egypt.

i Ver. 16. Then Herod——ſent forth, and ſlew all the Children that were in Bethlehem, and in all the Coaſts thereof, ἀπὸ διετοῦς καὶ κατωτέρω κατὰ τὸν χρόνον, ὃν ἠκριβώσατο παρὰ τῶν Μάγων, from two years old and under, according (or even) to the time that he had diligently enquired of the Wiſe Men.] Hence ſome infer that it muſt have been above a year after our Saviour's Birth, that the Wiſe Men came to Jeruſalem, or that they gave an account to Herod of the appearance of the Star; for why elſe ſhould Herod ſlay the Children from two years old and under? And why is he ſaid to have done this according to the time that he had learnt exactly from the Wiſe Men? But this ſeems not certain from theſe words; for (1*ſt*,) διετίζειν is only to live a year; thus of ſome Waſps (p) Ariſtotle ſays οὐδιετίζουσι they live not a whole Year, but all die in the Winter, and the like he ſaith of the Fiſh Polypus; and in Heſychius and Phavorinus, he is διετὴς who lives δι' ὅλου τοῦ ἔτους, a whole year; and if ſo, theſe words may be rendred from a year old and under; even ſo much under as κατὰ τὸν χρόνον even to the time of the appearance of the Star, of which time he had diligently enquired; and if the words will admit of this Conſtruction, it is evident they afford no ſemblance of an Argument, that the Wiſe Men came above a year after our Saviour's Birth. But let διετὴς ſignifie two years, yet if κατὰ τὸν χρόνον refer not to it, but only to the word κατωτέρω under, even ſo far under as to, or according to the time of the Star's appearing, we cannot from theſe words collect, how long it was after Chriſt's Birth before theſe Wiſe Men came to Jeruſalem. There is little account to be given of the Actions of a Tyrant, who ſlew three of his own Sons, and 'tis reaſonable to conceive he would endeavour to make ſure work, and ſo might be induced to ſlay all born in Bethlehem, a year and more, even to the time of the Star's appearing to declare the Birth of this King; thus tho' the Jews had told him from the Oracle, that Chriſt was to be born in Bethlehem, he is not content to ſlay the Infants there, but ſhed their Blood in all the Coaſts thereof.

It is much admired why Joſephus who relates his Murther of ſome Youths when he was only Governour of Galilee, and the Cry of their Mothers for Juſtice againſt him for it, ſhould yet ſay nothing of the Slaughter of theſe Infants. But (q) Joſephus being only born in the firſt year of Caius, and the thirty eighth of Chriſt, and writing his Hiſtory of the Jewiſh Wars in the (r) fifty ſixth year of his Age, and this Slaughter of theſe Infants being not likely to be preſerved in the Jewiſh Records, it is not ſo much wonderful that he who writ ninety four years after the Fact was done, ſhould make no mention of it. It is ſufficient that it is preſerved in (ſ) Macrobius, who ſaith, that when Auguſtus had heard that among the Children which under two years old Herod the King had ſlain in Syria, his own Son was one, he paſſed this Joke upon him, It is better to be Herod's Hog than his Son; tho' it muſt alſo be confeſſed that Macrobius is miſtaken in the Circumſtances of this Story.

his Spirit might have a Reference to it in theſe words. For, (1.) Rachel being dead ſo long before the Captivity, ſhe may as well be introduced weeping here, as there. (2.) The Slaughter of the Bethlemites might well be ſtyled, the Slaughter of her Children, ſhe being buried there, Gen. 35. 19. and the Bethlemites being deſcended from her Husband and her own Siſter. (3.) The Slaughter of the Innocents being not reſtrained to Bethlehem, but extended to all the Coaſts round about, and Ramah being in the Tribe of Benjamin which ſprang from Rachel, and not far from Bethlehem, the Voice of her weeping may be well ſaid to be heard in Rama.

2*ly*, Note, that this weeping for her Children was, ſaith the Prophet, chi ainnu becauſe they were not, Jer. 31. 15. Now the import of this Phraſe is this, they were dead, or taken away from the Land of the Living, Gen. 5. 24. — 42. 13. Pſal 39. 13. — 104. 35. Jer. 10. 20. — 49. 10. Lam. 5. 7. Accordingly tho' the Jews then undoubtedly had embraced the Doctrine of the Immortality of the Soul, yet ſaith the Son of Sirac, Chap. 17. 28. Praiſe periſheth, ἀπὸ νεκροῦ, ὡς μηδὲ ὄντος from the dead as not being; and in that very Chapter in which (t) Joſephus aſſerts the perpetual Duration of the Soul, he ſaith, we have received from God our being, ᾧ τὸ μηκέτι εἶναι πάλιν ἐκείνῳ ἀποδόμεν, and to him we render again our not being, that is, as the Context ſhews, we return that Soul which he hath given us; and this being not literally true of her own Children gone into Captivity, from which, ſaith God they ſhall come again to their own Borders, v. 16, 17. why ſhould it be thought ſtrange that ſo literal a Completion of theſe words ſhould alſo be referred to by the Holy Ghoſt?

1 Ver. 23. ὅπως πληρωθῇ τὸ ῥηθὲν διὰ τῶν Προφητῶν ὅτι Ναζαραῖος κληθήσεται, he dwelt in his own City Nazareth, that it might be fulfilled which was ſpoken by the Prophets, he ſhall be called a Nazarene.] Here note,

1*ſt*, That becauſe that is here ſaid to be fulfilled which was ſpoken by the Prophets, τὸ ῥηθὲν, not that which was written; ſome here think it enough to ſay, there was among the ancient Prophets a belief that the Meſſiah ſhould be a Nazarene, and that this was delivered down by Tradition. But I cannot acquieſce in this; for (1.) the Foundation of this Criticiſm is falſe, the Phraſe τὸ ῥηθὲν being uſed thirteen times in this Goſpel, and but once elſewhere in the New Teſtament; and it is always uſed of that which is written. It is twice ſo uſed in this Chapter, v. 15, 17. once Chap. 1. 22. See Chap. 4. 14. — 8. 17. — 12. 17. — 13. 35. — 21. 4. — 22. 31. — 24. 15. — 27. 9. and Mark 13. 14. (2.) How comes any one to know that any ſuch Tradition was delivered by the ancient Prophets to the Jews, when they themſelves know nothing of it, and therefore upon this account accuſe St. Matthew as citing what was no where to be found? Nor find I any of the ancient Chriſtians who mention this ſuppoſed Tradition, but either ſay the Apoſtle refers to ſome Writings of the Prophets which were then extant, but are now loſt, or to ſome Writings not put into the Canon, or ſome Interpretations of their Writings. Let it be therefore noted from St. Jerom,

2*ly*, That St. Matthew doth not cite any particular Prophet for theſe words, as he had done, Chap. 1. 22. and here v. 15. 17. and in the other places above cited, but only ſaith, this was ſpoken by the Prophets in general, (u) pluraliter autem Prophetas vocans oſtendit, ſe non verba de Scripturis ſumpſiſſe, ſed ſenſum, and thereby ſhews he took not the words from the Prophets, but the ſenſe only. Note.

3*ly*, That all the Interpretations which refer this to Chriſt's being called Netzer, the Branch, Iſa. 11. 1. Jer. 23. 5. or the Holy one, or one ſeparated from the faults of Mankind, fail in this, that they give no account how this was fulfilled by Chriſt's being at Nazareth; he being as much the Branch, the Holy one, when he was born at Bethlehem, and before he went to Nazareth, as after.

4*ly*, Note therefore, that ὁ Ναζαρῶος, the Nazarite, was a Name of Infamy put upon Chriſt and Chriſtians, both by the unbelieving Jews and Gentiles. There was among the (x) Jews a celebrated Thief, called Ben Nezer, and in Alluſion to him they gave this Name to Chriſt. So Abarbinel ſaith, the little Horn mentioned Dan. 7. 8. is Ben Nezer, that is, Jeſus of Nazareth. And this Title of Nazaræan, both the Jews, and the Enemies of Chriſtianity, gave always by way of Contempt to our Jeſus, and that becauſe he was ſuppoſed to come out of this very City; yea his very going to dwell there, was one occaſion of his being contemned, deſpiſed, and rejected by the Jews. Thus when Philip ſaith to Nathaniel, We have found Jeſus of Nazareth of whom Moſes ſpake; Nathaniel anſwers, Can any good thing come out of Nazareth? John 1. 47. and when Nicodemus ſeemed to favour him, the Sanhedrim ſpake thus to him, Search and look, for out of Galilee ariſeth no Prophet, John 7. 52. Note,

5*ly*, That moſt of the Prophets ſpeak of Chriſt as of a Perſon that was to be reputed vile, and abject, deſpiſed, and rejected of Men. Thus the Pſalmiſt ſaith of him, For thy ſake have I ſuffered Reproach, Shame hath covered my Face, מוזר הייתי I was an Alien to my Brethren, and a Foreigner to my Mother's Sons, for the Zeal of thine Houſe hath eaten me, and the Reproaches of them that reproached thee fell on me, Pſal. 69. 9, 10. Iſaiah ſaith of him, Chap. 53. 3. He was deſpiſed, and rejected of Men, he was deſpiſed, and we eſteemed him not. Here then is a plain ſenſe of theſe words; the Angel ſent him to this contemptible place, that he might thence have a name of Infamy, and Contempt put upon him, according to the frequent intimations of the Prophets.

At the cloſe of this Chapter, I think it proper to conſider two new Opinions of Mr. Whiſton, who in his Harmony of the Goſpels aſſerts,

1*ſt*, That Herod ſlew the Infants at Bethlehem the ſame day that he cut off his Son Antipater; that is, ſaith Joſephus, but five days before his Death.

2*dly*, That Joſeph fled into Egypt, and returned thence before the Purification of the Virgin Mary in the Temple at Jeruſalem. Now the ſecond Opinion is demonſtratively falſe; for the Virgin Mother coming to Jeruſalem with her Offering when the Days of her Purification were accompliſhed, Luke 2. 22, — 34. muſt come thither before her flight into Egypt, or not at all, ſeeing at their return from Egypt into the Land of Iſrael, St. Matthew hath expreſly told us, that Joſeph was afraid to go into Judea, Chap. 2. 22. and that by a Divine Admonition, he was diverted from any thoughts of doing ſo, and ἀνεχώρησε returned, or went back into Galilee to his own City Nazareth; and how abſurd is it to imagine, that after his own Fears, and the Divine Admonition to the contrary, he ſhould go on, not only into Judea where Archelaus then reigned, ver. 24. but even to Jeruſalem where he continued till he took his Journey to Rome? Nor is Joſeph bid to return back into the Land of Judea, but into the Land of Iſrael, Matth. 2. 20. that is, as that Meſſage is farther explained, ver. 22, 23. into Galilee to his own City Nazareth.

Object. But it is ſaid, that he could not paſs from Egypt to Nazareth but thro' the Land of Judah.

Anſw. The way from Peluſium to Nazareth was by Gaza, Azotus, Joppa, and ſo on by the Sea-ſide till you turn up to Nazareth. Now tho' in the Diviſion of the Tribes, Gaza was added to the Tribe of Judah, they did not long poſſeſs it, but it was in Samuel's time a City of the Philiſtines, 1 Sam. 6. 17. and was afterwards by (a) Pompey made a free City, and annexed to Syria; and tho' he in his Journey might paſs thro' either the City, or the Deſert, he might not hear that Archelaus reigned till he got to Azotus in the Tribe of Dan, and ſo might fear to go into Judea.

Object. St. Luke ſaith, Chap. 2. 39. That when they had performed all things according to the Law of the Lord, they returned into Galilee into their own City Nazareth.

Anſw. 1*ſt*, This place ſeems rather to confute than to eſtabliſh this Aſſertion, as ſhewing that when the Days of her Purification were accompliſhed, they brought him not out of Egypt, but from Bethlehem to preſent him to the Lord; for, ver. 15. the Shepherds go to Bethlehem to ſee him; and, ver. 21. he is circumciſed ſtill at Bethlehem; and then immediately it follows, ver. 22. that they brought him to Jeruſalem to preſent him to the Lord; i. e. they brought him from Bethlehem to Jeruſalem; no other place of his abode, nor any intimation of his removal thence before, being mentioned.

Anſw. 2*dly*, St. Luke having brought them up from Nazareth to Bethlehem to be enrolled, he here informs us, that after this Purification they returned not to Bethlehem, as ſome have imagined, to abide there, but that their future Abode was their own City in which they formerly had dwelt, but that nothing hapned between this Purification and their ſettled Abode there, or that they fled not after from thence into Egypt, he ſaith not. All therefore that St. Luke ſaith may be true, tho' Joſeph fled after this Purification from Jeruſalem, or from Nazareth into Egypt; but what St. Matthew ſaith cannot be true, if Joſeph came with them from Egypt to Jeruſalem before he went to Nazareth. In fine, as St. Luke ſaith nothing of their going any whither after the Purification of the Virgin, but to Galilee, ſo he ſays nothing of their going any whither after Chriſt's Circumciſion, but to the Temple at Jeruſalem at the Purification; ſo that the Argument from St. Luke's Silence can be no ſtronger for their Flight into Egypt before, than after the Purification.

Object. 3. Had this Flight and Slaughter been deferr'd till after the Purification, that was a thing ſo publick, and attended with ſuch publick Circumſtances in the Temple, that it was not poſſible for Herod to be ignorant of it.

Anſw. 1*ſt*, He who makes this Objection ſhould have conſidered, That he earneſtly contends that Herod was not then at Jeruſalem, but at Jericho under the extremity of his numerous Diſtempers, and ſo there was no fear of his being inſtantly advertiſed there of what was done in the Temple; but to wave this, I anſwer, That Herod, tho' he was then at Jeruſalem, neither repaired to the Temple, into which he could have no admittance, nor troubled himſelf with any thing done there, unleſs 'twere done in a riotous, ſeditious manner, and much leſs with the Talk of one old Man and Woman, not regarded, that we read of, by any but Joſeph and the Virgin Mother. We find another Story publiſhed by the Shepherds of the appearance of Angels, declaring that one Chriſt the Lord was born in this very City of David, which made all the People wonder at the things which they had ſpoken, and yet Herod takes no notice of it.

Anſw. 2*dly*, Herod knew nothing either before or after, that this was the Child the Magi came to worſhip; for then, why ſhould he ſlay all the young Children about Bethlehem without diſtinction, and ſo they ſtaying there ſo little time, might be as ſafe there as elſewhere; tho', laſtly, the poſſibility that theſe things might come to his ear, or that his Curioſity might move him to enquire what Children were born at Bethlehem during the time of the Taxation, and removed thence to other places, was perhaps the occaſion of the Angels being ſent to Joſeph to haſten his Flight from Jeruſalem, or Nazareth into Egypt. For whereas ſome imagine, that the Text of St. Matthew ſeemeth to imply, that the Angel appeared to Joſeph immediately after the departure of the Wiſe Men; and therefore whilſt he was at Bethlehem, the Text doth not enforce this Inference; for it ſaith only that ἀναχωρησάντων αὐτῶν, they being returned, he did ſo, leaving the time indefinite. See Woltzogenius on Matth. 2. p. 105, 106, 107.

Arg. 2. Moreover, (b) Joſephus ſaith expreſly, That Herod had ſent Meſſengers to Rome concerning the Conſpiracy of Antipater before the Diſciples of Judas and Matthias attempted to pull down his Eagle; for which, after Examination, and Impriſonment for ſome time at Jericho, they ſuffer Death upon the Third of March Old Stile, and that theſe Meſſengers return'd with Letters from the Emperor but five days before his Death. Now can any Man imagine, they ſhould ſpend nine Months in ſuch a Journey to Rome and back again, which even in Winter might be performed in leſs than two? And yet this evidently muſt be done, if Herod died not till the 25th of November following, and yet died in five days after their return.

It therefore is highly probable, and will appear ſo to any one who reads Joſephus carefully, that Herod died ſome time before the Paſſover, which that Year hapned on the 5th of April, in which interval Archelaus might do all that was requiſite to celebrate his Father's Funeral, and yet come to Jeruſalem, as (c) Joſephus ſaith he did, a little before the Paſſover; now if his Father died the 25th of of Novemb. he muſt ſpend four full Months in celebrating his Funeral; which ſure muſt ſeem incredible to any who conſiders that he was ἔχων τάχος, intent upon the quickeſt performance of his Journey to Rome for confirmation of his Royal Dignity. For tho' in Hereditary Kingdoms, where the Succeſſor is proclaimed the ſame day that the King dies, and hath no Competitor, theſe Funeral Solemnities may be deferr'd for ſome conſiderable time; yet ſeeing the validity of that Will which made Archelaus King, depended abſolutely upon the pleaſure of the Emperor, and a Competitor was ready, and appeared as quick as he at Rome, to conteſt the matter with him by virtue of a former Will, it cannot reaſonably be thought that Archelaus would make ſo long a ſtay before he took his Journey to Rome.

Object. Againſt this Argument it is objected, That the Funeral could not be performed in ſo ſhort a time, becauſe the very Journey from Jericho to Herodion was, ſaith Joſephus, 200 Stadia, that is 25 Miles; and, ſaith the ſame Joſephus, they went only eight Stadia, i. e. one Mile per diem, and ſo muſt be 25 days in going to Herodion.

Anſw. 1*ſt*, This Objection is upon this account highly improbable, that it muſt either find them a Town at every miles end, ſufficient to contain ſo great a concourſe as then attended on the Corps of Herod, or make them lodge many days in the open Field, or Wilderneſs, in the Winter-time, provided Herod died on the 25th of November.

Anſw. 2. 2*dly*, It is built upon a falſe Foundation; for tho' (d) Joſephus doth expreſly ſay, that Herodion was 200 Stadia diſtant from Jericho, i. e. the Caſtle of Herodion was at that diſtance from it; he doth not ſay they went but one Mile a day, but only that (e) ἦλθ ὃ ἐπὶ Ἡρῳδ. σάδια ὀκτὼ, they came (viz. the firſt day) within eight Stadia of Herodion; i. e. they came to the Town there built by Herod, which was eight Stadia from the Caſtle; it being, ſaith he, a large Town like a City, from which there was an Aſcent of 200 Marble ſteps to the Mammea, or place of his interment. This being ſo, I am of the Opinion of (f) Kepler, Dr. Allix, and Langius, that all that Joſephus mentions after the Eclipſe, till the Death of Herod, may be compriſed within 20 or 22 days, which is the interval betwixt the 13th of March and the 5th of April New Stile, eſpecially if we conſider that (g) Euſebius ſaith, that what was done after the 13th of March, was done παρανάτικα, ὥσπερχρῆμα, by the Divine Vengeance very ſuddenly, till the time of his Death.

(g) Hiſt. Eccl. l. 1. c. 8.

Arg. 3. 3*dly*, We are assured from (g) Josephus, that it was after the Disease of Herod had been some time upon him, that Judas and Matthias moved their Scholars to cut down the Eagle Herod had placed upon the great Porch of the Temple, as being contrary to their Laws, judging this time of Herod's Distemper καιρὸς ἐπιτηδειότατος, the fittest time for the Enterprise; and that they moved this the more confidently, upon a report that the King was dying; that when he sent to the principal Men of the Jews to assemble about this matter, he was carried to them in a Bed, ἀδύναμος τὸ σῶμα, being so weak that he was not able to stand; that instantly after the 13th of March, he lay under such a complex of Diseases that all Men thought he could not live long, a violent inward Fever burning up his Bowels, attended with a boulimia, or perpetual voracity, which must needs feed his Fever, Ulcers in his Bowels, Cholick Passions, an Asthma, Convulsions in all Parts, a Putrefaction in his Scrotum breeding Worms, so that he stank alive; and when presently he went to the hot Baths at Callirhoes, he had there a Deliquium, and was for some time dead, and had no hopes left of Life, and was, saith Josephus, ἀπίων τὴν βίᾳ, even departing, when he shut up the Jews in the Hippodromium at Jericho. Now can any Man think he should live above eight Months after this, and keep the Jews shut up there all that time, as he must have done if he lived till the 25th of November following? especially if we consider that the next thing Josephus mentions of him, is that he endeavoured to stab himself with a Knife, and then kills Antipater; who hearing this, attempted to escape from Prison, and in five days after dies. Now is it reasonable to conceive, that an Angel should be sent to command Joseph to fly into Egypt but seven days, as Mr. Whiston's Computation hath it, before the Death of Herod, (when his whole Body was full of Torment, and his Heart of Grief, and his Head full of other Employments,) to avoid Herod's future attempts to slay the Child, when he might have been as secure any where in the Land of Israel for so short a time, and could scarce get thither before his Death?

Mr. Whiston indeed saith in answer to this, that there is no time set for the duration of the Disease of Herod; but in opposition to this, (h) Josephus expressly affirms, that he did εἰς νόσον ἐμπεσεῖν, fall into his Disease after the time that he had sent his Messengers with Letters to Rome concerning the condemnation of Antipater; and that upon the receipt of an Answer to them, he kill'd (i) Antipater, and five days after died: Allowing then two Months for the going, and return of his Messenger, he must die within two Months and five Days after he fell sick, and so could not live from the 13th of March, when his Disease encreased, till the 25th of November.

Arg. 4. 4*thly*, According to Mr. Whiston's Opinion, Herod must be near eight Months at Jericho before he died; for he went thither, saith Josephus, soon after the Slaughter of Judas, and Matthias, with their Disciples, and there continued till his Death; and yet the History of St. Matthew, especially according to his supposition, that it relates to what hapned only two Weeks and a few Days before the Death of Herod, plainly proves the contrary; for he informs us, that the Wise Men came to Jerusalem, adding that at their coming thither, Herod was troubled, and all Jerusalem with him; that he enquired of the chief Priests, and Scribes, whose Residence was there, where Christ should be born; and of the Wise Men, then at Jerusalem, what time the Star appeared to them; and this, saith Mr. Whiston in his Harmony, p. 159. was a Consultation at Jerusalem. From thence therefore he sends them to Bethlehem, when therefore he bids them bring him word again when they had found the Child, must he not bid them bring him word to Jerusalem, the place where he consulted with them? Must he not there expect them? When therefore being frustrated of his expectation of their return thither, ἐξαπέστειλεν, he sends forth his Officers to slay the Infants of Bethlehem; must he not send them from Jerusalem? And is not all this sufficiently intimated in their Divine Warning, μὴ ἀνακάμψαι, not to return back to the place from whence they came to Bethlehem? How therefore could it be that the Wise Men should come to him at Jerusalem but two or three Weeks before he died? or, Why doth he now deny that Herod was then at Jerusalem, when he sent forth to slay the Infants? Why also doth he say in contradiction to his former self, I believe the famous and unexampled Summons of all the chief of the Jews a little before Herod died in Josephus, was the very same Summons mention'd in St. Matthew for the enquiry of the place where the King of the Jews was to be born upon the coming of the Magi, and that by consequence the Summons was to Jericho, and not to Jerusalem? Which is as great an instance of a Man resolved to say any thing, tho' never so improbable, ἀναλύειν τὴν θέσιν, to salve an Hypothesis which otherwise must fall, as can be offer'd: He is the first, and I believe will be the last who ever entertained such a vain imagination. For, (1*st*,) That the Wise Men came to Jerusalem, and that at their coming thither Herod was troubled, and all Jerusalem with him, the Text saith expressly: And can it then be reasonably said, that Herod was not then at Jeruſalem. (2.) The Men ſhut up in the Hippodromium were the ἐπίσημοι καὶ ἀξιόλογοι ἀφ' ἑκάστης κώμης, the Nobles of every Village, (who were then at Court;) nor was there one word ſaid unto them when they were thus ſhut up. The Men convened in St. Matthew were only High Prieſts and Scribes, whoſe Reſidence was at Jeruſalem, and enquiry is made of them where Chriſt ſhould be born. (2dly,) When (k) Herod was dead, Salome and Alexas ſent theſe Men home, εἰς τοὺς ἀγροὺς, into the Fields, or Villages, to mind their own buſineſs, whereas the High Prieſts had no buſineſs to do there. And, (3dly,) Herod ſhut them up, ἤδη τελευτῶν, καὶ μόλις τὸ βίου, when he was a dying, and ready to depart this Life, ſaith Joſephus: And was this a time for him to ſay to the Wiſe Men, Bring me word of the Child, that I may come and worſhip him? In a word, there is not one word of St. Matthew's Story in Joſephus, or of the Story of Joſephus in St. Matthew; and can it then be reaſonable to think they relate to the ſame thing? To conclude, this new Opinion confounds the general Doctrine of the Fathers from Origen to Theophylact, that Herod fell into that Diſeaſe, which ſo tormented him ob cædem infantum, for the Slaughter of the Infants, ſeeing, according to this Opinion, he muſt have lain long under theſe Torments, and been ready to expire with them, before he did this Fact, it being done, ſaith this Opinion, but five days before his Death. To come now to conſider what Mr. Whiſton offers to confirm his Opinion:

1*ſt*, He ſaith, that in the ancient account of the Jewiſh Feaſts and Faſts, viz. in the Megillah Taanitz, we find the ſeventh day of the Month Chiſleu, which anſwers to our 25th of November, recorded for an Anniverſary Holy-day, becauſe Herod the King, who hated the Wiſe Men, died on that day.

Anſw. Dr. Allix in his Anſwer to Biſhop Uſher concerning the true Date of the Death of Herod, ſaith, That had Biſhop Uſher ſeen this Book, he would never have cited it; for it is not the Megillah Taanitz mentioned by the Miſnah, but a late fabulous, ignorant Author, not known to, and much leſs credited by the Jews, who do not follow, or agree with him in this matter, and who mentions a Feaſt in the Month Chiſleu not known to the Jews, not extant in their Kalendar publiſhed by Mr. Selden, nor by Buxtorf, among their occaſional Feaſts; and which would never have been permitted by Herod's Family, who governed till the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem.

Mr. Whiſton ſaith farther, That this is wonderfully confirmed by the Circumſtances of Herod juſt before his Death; and by the words of Auguſtus concerning his Barbarity to his Children recorded by Macrobius, it appearing by Joſephus, that Herod was in a ſtrange fury and rage but a few days before his Death.

Anſw. Here the Point in diſpute is ſo plainly, and ſo fully given up, that if Mr. Whiſton will abide by his own words, it muſt be at an end; for it is evident from the words of Joſephus, that he fell into this Rage, or ἐξηγρίωσεν ἀκρατῶς τῇ ὀργῇ, was exaſperated to the outmoſt Rage, upon ſuſpicion of the contempt of the Jews; and that he was confirmed in this ſuſpicion by the following attempt of the Diſciples of Judas and Matthias; who thereupon are taken by one of (l) Herod's Captains, examined by Herod, then ſent to Jericho, and after conſultation with the chief Men of the Jews, they are ſlain on the 13th of March. If therefore Herod fell into this Rage but a few days, yea even juſt before his Death, 'tis certain that he muſt die ſoon after this 13th of March, as indeed he did, and therefore could not live till the 25th of November, that is, eight Months after. He therefore elſewhere contradicts himſelf, i. e. ſaith, p. 154. That Herod burnt theſe Men alive ſome conſiderable time before his Death; tho' it is plain from Joſephus, that he did it after that Rage, which, ſaith he, hapned juſt or a few days before it.

2*dly*, To proceed to the words of (m) Macrobius, they ran thus, When Auguſtus had heard that among the Children within two Years old, which Herod King of the Jews had commanded to be ſlain in Syria, his own Son was killed; he ſaid, It is better to be Herod's Hog than his Son. It is obſervable here:

1*ſt*, That as Strauchius ſaith, There are not wanting Men who look upon this Story of Macrobius as a meer Fiction; as alſo doth Grenobius in his Notes upon theſe words; (1*ſt*,) Becauſe no R. Hiſtorian whatſoever, before Macrobius, who lived almoſt 400 Years after Auguſtus, nor any Chriſtian Writer, tho' both Hiſtorians, Commentators, and Homeliſts, ſpeak largely of the Cruelty of Herod towards the Infants of Bethlehem, make any mention of this Jeſt, which gives juſt reaſon to ſuſpect it is a Fiction; like to that other in Philo's Book of Chronology, that Herod had then a Son of two Years old begot by one Salome of the Line of David, whom he then ſlew. Or, 2*dly*, We may ſay with (n) Grotius, That Macrobius finding that the Chriſtians kept the Solemnity of Innocent's Day, when, ſaith Origen, Horum memoria, ut dignum eſt, in Eccleſia celebratur, the Memory of theſe Infants is deſervedly celebrated in the the Church, he out of Error applied the Jeſt of Auguſtus to it.

2*dly*, Theſe words contain no Teſtimony of Auguſtus about this matter; he only ſays, It is better to be Herod's Hog than his Son; and this he might ſay rather upon occaſion of Herod's ſlaying his two Sons, Alexander and Ariſtobulus, againſt his Advice, to which Dr. Allix refers this Speech, than his ſlaying Antipater; which being done with his permiſſion, he had no juſt occaſion to paſs this Jeſt upon him for doing that which he himſelf allowed. Moreover, Antipater being ſlain by Herod but five days before his Death, Auguſtus could not hear of it till he heard alſo of his Death, and then it ſeems too late to paſs this Jeſt upon him; whereas Alexander and Ariſtobulus being ſlain long before, might give a juſt occaſion for it. And he who contradicts the full Aſſertion of ſo many Fathers of the Second and Third Century, ſaying, That our Saviour was baptized when he began to be 30 Years old, as St. Luke alſo doth; may permit us to queſtion the Authority of Macrobius as to the occaſion of a Jeſt made 400 Years before, and mentioned by him alone.

3*dly*, It is evident, that if any Son of Herod's was ſlain inter pueros, among the Infants of Bethlehem, it could not be Antipater, he being neither ſlain among them, nor near Bethlehem, but alone at a Caſtle far diſtant from it. Nor, 2*dly*, could he be ſlain at the ſame time with theſe Infants; for it plainly appears from Joſephus, that Antipater was ſlain ſoon after the Eclipſe which hapned on March 13. the Infants, ſaith Mr. Whiſton, were ſlain Nov. 20. Antipater was ſlain not long before the return of Archelaus to Jeruſalem, the five days of his Father's Life, and his Funeral Solemnity only intervening; and yet we learn from (o) Joſephus, that Archelaus came thither, ἐνεστώσης τῆς τῶν ἀζύμων ἑορτῆς, the Paſſover being then at hand. Laſtly, The Infants were ſlain whilſt Herod was at Jeruſalem; for thence he ſent forth to ſlay the Children at Bethlehem, whereas he had left Jeruſalem, and was gone to Jericho before he ſlew Antipater; tho' therefore it might ſo happen, that Auguſtus might hear of the Relation, or diſcourſe of both theſe Acts of Cruelty at the ſame time; it is impoſſible that they ſhould happen both at the ſame time.

CHAP. III.

1. IN thoſe days (viz. in the fifteenth Year of Tiberius, Luke 3. 1.) came John the a the Baptiſt preaching, in the [a] Wilderneſs of Judea, (and about Jordan, Luke 3. 3.)
b 2. And ſaying, [b] Repent ye, (and amend your Lives,) for the Kingdom of Heaven (i. e. of the Meſſiah) is at hand; (that ſo ye may be prepared to receive the Bleſſings of that Kingdom.)

3. (And this he did, according to what was foretold of him;) for this (John) is he that was ſpoken of by the Prophet Iſaias, ſaying, (Chap. 40. 3.) The Voice of one crying in the c Wilderneſs (ſhall be this,) [c] Prepare ye the Way of the Lord, make his Paths ſtraight; (and of whom God by Malachi had ſaid, Chap. 3. 1. Behold, I will ſend my Meſſenger, and he ſhall prepare the way before me, Mark 1. 2.)

4. And the ſame John, (who thus cried,) d had his [d] Raiment of Camel's Hair, and a Leathern Girdle about his Loins, (as Elias, e whom he repreſented, had,) and his [e] Meat was Locuſts and wild Honey.

5. Then (after notice of his proclaiming the approach of the Meſſiah,) went out to him Jeruſalem, and all Judea, and all the Region round about Jordan.

f 6. And were baptized of him, [f] confeſſing their Sins, (and promiſing the Reformation of their Lives.)

g 7. But, when he ſaw many of the [g] Phariſees, and Sadduces, come to his Baptiſm, he ſaid unto them, Oh! Generation of Vipers, h [h] who hath warned you to (make uſe of this means, to) flee from the wrath to come, (if indeed you would eſcape it?) i 8. [i] Bring forth therefore (then) Fruits meet for Repentance.

k 9. And [k] think (it) not (ſufficient) to ſay within your ſelves, we have Abraham to our Father; for I ſay to you, that God (rejecting you,) is able of theſe [l] Stones (before your Eyes,) to raiſe up (ſuch who believing as he did, ſhall be accounted by him) Children unto Abraham.

l 10. And (to engage you ſo to do, conſider that) now alſo is the Ax laid to the Root of the Tree; therefore every Tree that bringeth not forth good Fruit, is (to be) hewn down, and caſt into the Fire.

m 11. I indeed baptize you (only) with n [m] Water, (calling you by this Rite) to Repentance; but he that cometh after me is mightier than I, (being one) whoſe [n] Shoes I am not worthy to bear, (i. e. whoſe Servant I am not worthy to be,) he ſhall baptize you (who believe in him,) with the Holy Ghoſt, and with Fire, (i. e. appearing in the Emblem of Fire.)

o 12. (And he is one,) whoſe [o] Fan is in his Hand; and he will throughly purge his Floor, and will gather the Wheat, (the ſincerely cerely Penitent,) into his Garner, but the Chaff, (the Wicked, and the Unbelievers,) he will burn with unquenchable Fire.

13. Then, while John was thus preaching and baptizing,) cometh Jeſus from (Nazareth of) Galilee to Jordan, unto John, to be baptized of him.

14. But John, (being a Prophet full of the Spirit from his Mother's Womb, Luke 1. 15. and by the afflatus of that Spirit knowing who he was,) [p] forbad, (or would have hindred) him, ſaying, I have need to be baptized of thee (with the Holy Ghoſt,) and comeſt thou to me (to receive my Water Baptiſm?)

15. And Jeſus anſwering, ſaid unto him, Suffer it to be ſo now, for thus it [q] behoveth us to fulfil all Righteouſneſs, (i. e. to own every righteous Inſtitution of God;) then he ſuffered him.

16. And Jeſus when he was [r] baptized, went up ſtraightway out of the Water, and lo the Heavens were opened to him, and (both) he (and John Baptiſt, John 1. 32.) [s] ſaw the Spirit deſcending like (as) a Dove (deſcends,) and [t] lightning upon him.

17. And lo a Voice (was heard) from Heaven, ſaying, [u] This is my beloved Son, in whom I am well pleaſed.

Annotations on Chap. III.

a Ver. 1. Ἐν τῇ ἐρήμῳ τ῀ Ἰουδαίας, preaching in the Wilderneſs of Judea.] Ἔρημος, a Wilderneſs among the Jews, did not ſignifie a place wholly void of Inhabitants, but a place in which they were fewer, and their habitations more diſperſed, than in Villages and Cities; hence we read of ſix Cities with their Villages in the Wilderneſs, Joſh. 15. 61, 62. that Nabal dwelt in the Wilderneſs of Paran, 1 Sam. 25. 1, 2. and Joab had his Houſe in the Wilderneſs, 1 Kings 2. 34.

b Ver. 2. Μετανοεῖτε ἤγγικε γὰρ ἡ βασιλεία τ῀ οὐρανῶν, Repent ye for the Kingdom of Heaven is at hand.] Of the Repentance here mentioned, ſee ver. 8. But to treat here more largely of the Kingdom of Heaven mentioned here, and elſewhere frequently in the Goſpels, let it be noted, Firſt, That the Kingdom of Heaven and the Kingdom of God ſignifie the ſame thing, as will be evident from the variation of the word: Bleſſed are ye poor, for yours is the Kingdom of Heaven, Matth. 5. 3. The Kingdom of God, Luke 6. 20. The Kingdom of Heaven is at hand, Matth. 4. 17. The Kingdom of God, Mar. 1. 15. The leaſt in the Kingdom of Heaven is greater than John, Matth. 11. 11. In the Kingdom of God, Luke 7. 28. To you it is given to know the Myſteries of the Kingdom of Heaven, Matth. 13. 11. Of the Kingdom of God, Mark 4. 11. So Matth. 19. 14. and Mar. 10. 14. The reaſon ſeems to be, becauſe this Kingdom is erected by the God of Heaven; and in Scripture Phraſe it is the ſame to be from God and to be from Heaven, Matth. 21. 25. Luke 15. 18. And שָׁמַיִם Heaven is the Name of God, Dan. 4. 26. and among the Rabinical Writers frequently. See Buxt. Lex. Talmud. in Voce. Note, 2dly, That the Kingdom of Heaven in the Goſpels ſometimes unqueſtionably ſignifies that heavenly Kingdom in which all pious Perſons ſhall enjoy endleſs Felicity with God as their Reward in Heaven: As when 'tis ſaid, Bleſſed are they who are perſecuted for Righteouſneſs ſake, for theirs is the Kingdom of Heaven; Matth. 5. 10. i. e. Great is their Reward in Heaven, v. 12. Not every one that ſaith to me Lord, Lord, ſhall enter into the Kingdom of Heaven, but he that doth the Will of my Father, Matth. 7. 21. To the reſt I will ſay in that day, I know you not, &c. v. 22, 23. It is better to enter into the Kingdom of Heaven with one Eye, than having two Eyes to be caſt into Hell, Mark. 9. 46, 47. See Matth. 13. 40, 43. — 25. 34, 46. Luke 12. 32, 33. Note, 3dly, That it very frequently in the Goſpels ſignifies the Coming of the Meſſiah to erect his ſpiritual Kingdom, or that evangelical State and Government of the Church he was to ſet up, with the Benefits belonging to them who ſhould by Faith in him become Members of this Kingdom, and would be governed by his Laws; this is undoubtedly the import of the Phraſe, (1ſt,) when the Kingdom of God is ſaid to be at hand, as here and Matth. 4. 17. — 10. 7. Luke 10. 9. that the Kingdom of God is near, Luke 21. 31. that it was preſently to be manifeſted, Luke 19. 11. that it was among the Jews, Luke 17. 21. that it was come to them, Matth. 12. 28. that devout Men expected it, Mark 15. 43. that the Phariſees asked when the Kingdom of God would come, Luke 17. 20. and when Chriſt ſaid, There are ſome ſtanding here, who ſhall not taſte of Death till they ſee the Kingdom of God come with Power, Matth. 16. 28. Mark 9. 1. Luke 9. 27. (2dly,) When it is ſaid that Jeſus preached the Goſpel of the Kingdom of God, Mark 1. 14. that from the Days of John the Baptiſt the Kingdom of God was preached, Luke 16. 16. that Chriſt preached the Goſpel of the Kingdom, Matth. 4. 23. — 9. 35. that he preached the Kingdom of God, Luke 4. 43. and ſpake to them of the Kingdom of God, Luke 9. 11. that he ſent his Apoſtles to preach the Kingdom of God, v. 2. and told the Jews the Kingdom of God ſhould be taken from them, Matth. 21. 43. (3dly,) This ſenſe it alſo bears in almoſt all the Parables which ſpeak of the Kingdom of God, as Matth. 13.

11, 31, 33, 44, 45, 47. Chap. 18. 1, 3, 4. —20. 1.—22. 2.—25. 1. (4*ly*,) It ſeems to bear this ſenſe when it is ſaid the leaſt in the Kingdom of Heaven is greater than John the Baptiſt, Matth. 11. 11. that the Kingdom of Heaven ſuffers Violence and the Violent take it by force, ibid. v. 12. that to the Diſciples was given to know the Myſteries of the Kingdom of Heaven, Matth. 13. 11. ſee v. 19, 52. to thee will I give the Keys of the Kingdom of Heaven, Matth. 16. 19. when Zebedee asks for her two Sons that they might ſit on his right and left Hand in this Kingdom, Matth. 20. 21. This is that Kingdom which the Scribes ſhut Men out from, Matth. 23. 13. which the Scribe was not far from, Mark. 12. 34. and of which it is ſaid, Bleſſed is he who ſhall eat Bread in the Kingdom of God, Luke 14. 15.

4*ly*, In other places I am yet doubtful whether it refer to the times of the preaching of the Goſpel, and the erecting of Chriſt's Kingdom, or to the firſt and higher ſenſe of the Kingdom of Heaven, as it imports the Kingdom into which the Righteous ſhall enter at the great day of Recompence, viz. Matth. 5. 3, 19, 20.—6. 33.—8. 11.—19. 12, 24. Mark 10. 14, 15, 23, 24, 25. Luke 18. 29. —22. 29, 30.

c Ver. 3. Ἑτοιμάσατε τὴν ὁδὸν Κυρίου, εὐθείας ποιεῖτε τὰς τρίβους αὐτοῦ, Prepare ye the way of the Lord, make his paths ſtraight.] From theſe words compared with Mark 1. 2. Mal. 3. 1. ſome prove that Chriſt is God, even the ſame in Eſſence with the God of Iſrael, becauſe the way of which Iſaias ſpeaks, Chap. 40. 3. is דֶּרֶךְ יְהוָה or the way of Jehovah, the Path which he requires to be made ſtraight is the Path τοῦ Θεοῦ ἡμῶν of our God. And it is the God of Iſrael who ſaith, behold I ſend my Meſſenger before my face, or before me, Mal. 3. 1. Now this Meſſenger is by Chriſt himſelf declared to be John the Baptiſt, Matth. 11. 10. and he is ſaid to be ſent πρὸ προσώπου σου, before the face of Chriſt to prepare his way, ibid. and Luke 7. 27. Mark 1. 2. this therefore, ſay ſome, is an evident proof that Chriſt is one God with the Father, and that in Chriſt God came, and was manifeſted in the Fleſh. But to this the Socinians anſwer two things, which ſeem to leſſen the force of this Argument, viz.

1*ſt*, That the Baptiſt was ſent before the face of God, but not of God only, but of Chriſt alſo, for he was ſent to call the People to Repentance towards God, and ſo he went before God to turn many of the People to the Lord their God, Luke 1. 16, 17. He was alſo ſent to bear witneſs to Chriſt, that all Men might believe on him, Joh. 1. 7. and ſo he went before the face of Chriſt to prepare his way.

2*ly*, They add, that this Meſſenger may well be ſaid to go before the face of God, as being ſent before the face of this great Prophet, and Ambaſſador of God, who therefore ſuſtained his Perſon, and was his Image, and Repreſentative in a more excellent manner than any Prophet, or any Angel mention'd in the Old Teſtament; yea, ſay they, God was in Chriſt reconciling the World to himſelf, 2 Cor. 5. 19. which ſhews that Chriſt in a moſt perfect manner repreſented him, ſo that the Meſſenger ſent before Chriſt's face, might well be ſaid to be ſent before the face of God. For if he who perſecutes the Members of Chriſt perſecutes Chriſt himſelf, Acts 9. 4. he that deſpiſeth Chriſt's Meſſengers, deſpiſeth him, and he that deſpiſeth him, deſpiſeth alſo him that ſent him, Luke 10. 16. and he that lied to the Apoſtles lied to God, Acts 5. 4. and if he that received them, received him, Matth. 10. 40. and he that ſhews an Act of Charity to his Members, ſhews it to him, Matth. 25. 40. then in like manner he that goes before God's great Prophet and Ambaſſador, may be ſaid to go before God alſo. Theſe Anſwers muſt be confuted before we can depend upon the ſtrength of this Argument. See alſo Note on Luke 3. 4, 5.

d Ver. 4. Εἶχε τὸ ἔνδυμα αὐτοῦ ἀπὸ τριχῶν καμήλου καὶ ζώνην δερματίνην περὶ τὴν ὀσφὺν αὐτοῦ, &c. And this John had his Raiment of Camels Hair, and a leathern Girdle about his Loins.] It is very true as Cteſias, Apollinius, and Ælian declare, that ſome Garments made of Camels Hair were very ſoft and fine, and therefore worn by Prieſts and Noblemen; theſe, ſaith Paulus Venetus, in Tartary are called Zambilottes, lib. 1. cap. 63. and by us Chamblets, but doubtleſs the Garment of the Baptiſt was made ex villis of the long and courſe Hair of Camels, that he might in Habit, as well as in Spirit and Office, reſemble Elijah who was an hairy Man, and girded with a Girdle of Leather about his Loins, 2 Kin. 1. 8.

e Ibid. Ἡ δὲ τροφὴ αὐτοῦ ἦν ἀκρίδες καὶ μέλι ἄγριον, and his Meat was Locuſts and wild Honey.] That ſome Locuſts were clean Meat we learn from theſe words, Lev. 11. 22. of theſe ye may eat, the bald Locuſt after his kind. That Locuſts were a common Meat, not only in the Eaſtern and the Southern Parts, but even in Paleſtine it ſelf, is fully proved by Bochartus Hieroz. part 2. lib. 4. c. 7. Euſtath. in Dioniſ. p. 37. and by Ludolphus in his Æthiopick Hiſtory, and in his Diſſertation de Locuſtis: ſo that vain are all the Criticiſms to change the word ἀκρίδες.

f Ver. 6. Καὶ ἐβαπτίζοντο ὑπ' αὐτοῦ ἐν τῷ Ἰορδάνῃ ποταμῷ ἐξομολογούμενοι τὰς ἁμαρτίας αὐτῶν· And were baptized of him in Jordan, confeſſing their Sins.] In the River Jordan, Mark 1. 5. ſee Note on v. 16. Of this Confeſſion of Sins Maldonate owns it could not be auricular Confeſſion, becauſe that was not yet inſtituted: Moreover it was Confeſſion of them not to John; but unto God, much leſs was it a Confeſſion of all their Offences made ſecretly in the Ears of John; for how could one Man have ſufficed for that work, when all Judea and Jeruſalem went out unto him? But only a general Confeſſion that they were ſenſible of their Sins, and ſo repaired to his Baptiſm, profeſſing their Repentance for them; and ſuch were the Confeſſions we meet with in the Old Teſtament, Ezra 9. Neh. 9. Dan. 9. and that made by the High Prieſt on the day of Atonement of all the Iniquities of the Children of Iſrael, Lev. 16. 21. 'twas a Confeſſion not of thoſe who had been baptized concerning Sins committed after Baptiſm, but of thoſe who were to be baptized: And laſtly, it was not a Confeſſion required of them by the Baptiſt, but made freely of their own accord; in all which Circumſtances it differs from the auricular Confeſſion of the Church of Rome.

g Ver. 7. Ἰδὼν ὃ πολλοὺς τῶν φαρισαίων καὶ σαδδουκαίων ἐρχομένους ἐπὶ τὸ βάπτισμα αὐτοῦ· And ſeeing many of the Phariſees and Sadduces coming to his Baptiſm, &c.] That theſe Phariſees and Sadduces not only came to the place of Baptiſm, but alſo actually were baptized by John is proved. (1.) Becauſe as much is ſaid of them here, as of the Multitude, Luke 3. 7. they came to be baptized, and of the Publicans, v. 12. ἦλθον βαπτισθῆναι, they came to be baptized. And the ſame Admonitions and words are ſpoken to the Multitude there, v. 7, 8. as to the Phariſees and Sadduces here. Now the Multitude and Publicans were actually baptized; only obſerve that many of them are ſaid to come to his Baptiſm not comparatively, as if but few refuſed, for St. Luke ſaith Chap. 7. 30. that the Phariſees and Lawyers rejected the Counſel of God towards them, being not baptized of John; but abſolutely they being not a few who were baptized. Now from this Example of the Baptiſt admitting this Generation of Vipers to his Baptiſm upon their Profeſſion of Repentance, and a Deſire to eſcape the Wrath to come, we may learn that ſuch Profeſſors may be admitted to the Sacrament, as have been very bad, upon the like Profeſſion, provided we do warn them as the Baptiſt did theſe Men, that as they do make Profeſſion of Repentance and Amendment, ſo they would be as careful to Bring forth Fruits worthy of Repentance.

h Ibid. Τὶς ὑπέδειξεν ὑμῖν, who hath warned you to flee from the Wrath to come?] This is not, as Mr. Cler. conceives, a Negative, or Declaration that none had warned them to do this, for doubtleſs the Prophets of the Old Teſtament, and their own Conſciences muſt warn them to avoid impendent Wrath: But 'tis a Who, of Admiration, like that of St. Paul to the Galatians, Who hath bewitched you! Chap. 3. 1. where ſure he did not intend to ſay that no Man had done it. See the like Iſa. 42. 19. — 49. 21. — 53. 1. — 60. 8. — 63. 1. Matth. 21. 10. Luke 5. 21. — 9. 9. Rev. 13. 4. and is as if he ſhould have ſaid, How wonderful is it that ſuch Men ſhould do things ſo alien from their Temper and Inclinations!

i Ver. 8. Ποιήσατε οὖν καρποὺς ἀξίους τῆς μετανοίας Bring forth therefore Fruits worthy of Repentance.] i. e. A change of the Mind from the Approbation or Good-liking of Sin, as ſeeing in it ſomething we conceive deſirable, to the Averſion, and Alienation of the Mind from it, as being convinced of the Vileneſs and the deſtructive Nature of it; and this is properly μετάνοια Repentance, and to be thus affected is ἀνανεοῦσθαι τῷ πνεύματι τοῦ νοὸς ὑμῶν, to be renewed in the Spirit of our Mind, Eph. 4. 23. and becauſe hence naturally follows a change of the Will, and the affections, from Love, to the hatred of Sin, and ſo from chuſing, to the refuſal of it: Hence is it well defined by Phavorinus, ἡ πρὸς τὸ κρεῖσσον ἐπιστροφὴ καὶ γνησία ἀπὸ πλασμάτων ἐπὶ τὸ ἐνάντιον ἀγαθὸν ἐπιστροφή, a converſion from our evil ways to the contrary good, or to that which is better; and becauſe where theſe ruling Faculties are truly thus affected, we ſhall ceaſe to do evil, and learn to do well, Iſa. 1. 16, 17. ſo that if we have done Iniquity we will do it no more, Job 34. 32. therefore it is ſtiled μετάνοια ἀπὸ νεκρῶν ἔργων, Repentance from dead Works, Heb. 6. 1. and Repentance to Salvation is ſtiled ἀμεταμέλητος, 2 Cor. 7. 10. i. e. ſuch as is not reverſed by any voluntary returning to, or relapſing into our former Sins. And ſeeing God is unchangeably holy and righteous, and muſt for ever hate Iniquity with a perfect Hatred, 'tis certain from his very Nature that he cannot be reconciled to, or have Communion with the Sinner till he ceaſe from Sin, and a change is wrought in his Converſation from Sin to Righteouſneſs; for a change there muſt be either in God, or Man: Now ſince God's Nature is immutable, it cannot be in him, and ſo of neceſſity muſt be in Man. Now it is evident both from Reaſon and Experience, that Confeſſion of Sins, a preſent Sorrow for them, and Diſpleaſure againſt them, and a warm Reſolution to forſake them is neither neceſſarily, nor always attended with this Change, and ſo that theſe alone cannot be Fruits meet for Repentance; and oh! how neceſſary was this Admonition for the Men of that Age, who, as Dr. Lightfoot notes, placed their Repentance in a meer oral Confeſſion of their Sins, as the Schoolmen, and ſome Latin Fathers did in a meer Groan; ſaying, Si ingemueris ſalvaberis. And I wiſh this note were not as neceſſary for too many of our own Age.

k Ver. 9. Καὶ μὴ δόξητε λέγειν ἐν ἑαυτοῖς πατέρα ἔχομεν τὸν Ἀβραάμ· And begin not to ſay within your your ſelves, we have Abraham to our Father.] There ſeems no neceſſity of making δοκέω here, or ἄρχομαι, Luke 3. 8. and expletive; for the ſenſe runs clearly thus, when you are called to bring forth Fruits meet for Repentance, begin not to obſtruct the Efficacy of this Admonition with thoſe Thoughts ſo common among you, that you are ſecure from Wrath by being the Children of Abraham. How prone they were to ſuch vain Imaginations you may learn, Note on Rom. 2. 13. and from theſe words of (a) Juſtin Martyr, calling the Jews to Repentance, and deſiring them not to be deluded by their Rabbins, and Maſters, who told them, that tho' they continued in their Sins, yet if they knew God ὃ μὴ λογίζηται αὐτοῖς ὁ κύριος ἁμαρτίαν, God would not impute their Sin to them. And conceiving that being Abraham's Seed, tho' they continu'd in their Diſobedience to God, and in Infidelity, the Kingdom of Heaven ſhould be given to them.

l Ibid. Ὅτι δύναται ὁ Θεὸς ἐκ τῶν λίθων τούτων ἐγεῖραι τέκνα τῷ Ἀβραάμ, for God is able out of theſe Stones to raiſe up Children to Abraham.] I ſee no reaſon for the Interpretation of (b) Clemens Alexandrinus here, out of theſe Stones, that is, ἐκ τῶν λίθοις ὡμοιωμένων ἐθνῶν, out of the Gentiles who worſhipped Stones, or that of Jerom on the place, Lapides Ethnicos vocat propter cordis duritiem, He calls the Heathens Stones for the hardneſs of their Hearts, tho' almoſt all the Ancients concur with them; unleſs perhaps it might be thought he pointed to the Heathen Soldiers ſtanding there; the ſenſe ſeems rather to be this, that God who raiſed Adam from the Earth, and Children to Abraham from the dead Womb of Sarah, can from theſe Stones create ſuch Perſons whoſe Faith ſhall render them more truly, and acceptably the Sons of faithful Abraham than you are. See the Note on Luke 19. 40.

m Ver. 11. Ἐγὼ μὲν βαπτίζω ὑμᾶς ἐν ὕδατι εἰς μετάνοιαν, I indeed baptize you with Water to Repentance, &c.] They ſeem to be much miſtaken who think the Baptiſm of John was for Subſtance the ſame with that which afterwards Chriſt did inſtitute to admit Diſciples into the Chriſtian Church; for (1.) John neither did nor could baptize Diſciples in the Name of the Holy Ghoſt, as the Apoſtles did, becauſe the Holy Ghoſt was not yet, John 7. 39. and much leſs could he baptize them with the Holy Ghoſt, as here he ſaith Chriſt would, and yet Chriſt makes both theſe Baptiſms neceſſary to our entrance into the Kingdom of God, John 3. 5. (2.) John did not baptize in the Name of Chriſt, for had he done ſo, there could have been no doubt, whether he himſelf were the Chriſt, or not, Luke 3. 15. Nor any occaſion for that Queſtion, Why baptizeſt thou, if thou be not the Chriſt? John 1. 25. He only admoniſhed thoſe he baptized in general, that they ſhould believe in him that was coming after him. So that he baptized only thoſe who as yet believed not in Chriſt; whereas the Baptiſm inſtituted by Chriſt was in his Name, and belonged only to them who believed in him: And laſtly, St. Paul baptizes them again, who had before received the Baptiſm of John to fit them for the Reception of the Holy Ghoſt, Acts 19. 6, 7.

Ver. 12. Οὗ τὸ πτύον ἐν τῇ χειρὶ αὐτοῦ· Whoſe Fan is in his Hand, and he will throughly purge his Floor, and burn the Chaff with unquenchable Fire.] That which we render here a Fan from Vanus, is, ſay Heſychius and Phavorinus, a Sieve, in which they ſeparate the Wheat from the Chaff. It is, ſay Didymus and Euſtathius, [In Iliad. V.] τὸ λικμητικὸν, a winnowing Inſtrument, by which they ſhake the Grains together, ἀναχωρίζοντες τὸν ἄχυρα, ſeparating them from the Chaff. Now the Wheat or other Grain thus cleanſed, was put into the Granary, to the Chaff they put Fire to prevent the Winds blowing it back into the threſhing Floor, and that Fire burnt on till it had conſumed it, without being quenched; and to this Practice do theſe words refer. o

Ver. 14. Ὁ δὲ Ἰωάννης διεκώλυεν αὐτόν· But John forbad him, &c.] To the Queſtion how the Baptiſt knew him to be the Chriſt before the Spirit deſcended on him, it is anſwered by almoſt all the Commentators on the Goſpel of St. Matthew, that John the Baptiſt being a Prophet filled with the Holy Ghoſt from his Mother's Womb, Luke 1. 15. knew by the Afflatus of that Holy Spirit, that he who then came to him was the Perſon on whom the Holy Ghoſt ſhould deſcend ſo plentifully, and on whom he ſhould abide, that he might impart him to others, ſuch matters being frequently imparted to Prophets by an immediate intimation of the Holy Spirit. So Simeon being told that he ſhould not die till he had ſeen the Lord's Chriſt, Luke 2. 26. had an Afflatus declaring to him that our Lord was that Chriſt, v. 27, 32. So Anna the Propheteſs being one of them who expected his coming, by a like Afflatus, was moved to ſpeak of him as the promiſed Meſſiah, v. 38. So Samuel being told by God, that on the morrow a Man ſhould come to him to be the Captain over his People Iſrael, 1 Sam. 9. 15. when p

Saul appears, hath another Afflatus reſembling that of the Baptiſt's here, viz. Behold the Man of whom I ſpake to thee, v. 17. and on whom thou may'ſt expect to ſee the Signal promiſed. Thus tho' Moſes knew before from the Mouth of God, and many other antecedent Evidences that he was by him deſigned to bring his People out of Egypt, yet God ſpeaks thus to him, This ſhall be a Sign to thee, that I have ſent thee, when thou haſt brought forth the People out of Egypt, ye ſhall ſerve God upon this Mountain, Exod. 3. 12. In a word, the Baptiſt being to preach, when he baptized with Water, that another ſhould baptize them with the Holy Ghoſt, God tells him, that of this he ſhould ſee an Evidence, by the viſible deſcent of the Holy Ghoſt upon him, who from his fulneſs was to impart this Spirit to all true Believers; and when our Saviour came to be baptized, tells him again, this was that very Perſon.

q Ver. 15. Οὕτω γὰρ πρέπον ἐστὶν ἡμῖν πληρῶσαι πᾶσαν δικαιοσύνην, for ſo it becomes us to fulfil all Righteouſneſs.] i. e. to own every divine Inſtitution, and ſo to ſhew my readineſs to comply with all God's righteous Precepts, and to juſtifie God and approve his Counſel, Luke 7. 29. and celebrate his Wiſdom in ſending thee to prepare his, and my way, by calling Men to Repentance, and by ſo doing to fit them for the Bleſſings of my Kingdom, and the avoiding of the Wrath to come. So the Apoſtolical Conſtitutions (l. 7. c. 22.) ſay, that Chriſt was baptized, not that he needed any Purgation, ἀλλ' ἵνα καὶ Ἰωάννῃ ἀληθεύσῃ προφητεύσαντι, καὶ ἡμῖν ὑπογραμμὸν παράσχῃ, but to teſtifie the Truth of St. John's Baptiſm, and to be an Example to us.

r Ver. 16. Καὶ βαπτισθεὶς ὁ Ἰησοῦς ἀνέβη εὐθὺς ἀπὸ τοῦ ὕδατος· And Jeſus being baptized came up ſtraightway out of the Water.] The obſervation of the Greek Church is this, that he who aſcended out of the Water, muſt firſt deſcend down into it: (c) Baptiſm therefore is to be performed not by ſprinkling but by waſhing the Body; and indeed it can be only from ignorance of the Jewiſh Rites in Baptiſm that this is queſtioned, for they to the due performance of this Rite ſo ſuperſtitiouſly required the Immerſion of the whole Body in the Water, that if any Dirt hindred the Water from coming to any part of it, the Baptiſm was not right, and if one held the baptized by the Arm when he was let down into the Water, another muſt after dip him, holding him by the other Arm that was waſhed before, becauſe his Hand would not ſuffer the Water to come to his whole Body. See Lightfoot here on v. 6. and Selden de jure Nat. & Gent. l. 2. c. 2. p. 14. Note alſo that the Divines hence infer, that Baptiſm may rightly be received by, and adminiſtred to, a Subject uncapable of many of the chief ends of it, provided he be capable of ſome other end for which it alſo was deſigned. For Chriſt being without Sin, could neither repent nor promiſe amendment of Life, being the Wiſdom of the Father, he could be taught nothing, being the Chriſt, he could not profeſs he would believe in him that ſhould come after him, that is in himſelf: He therefore was baptized, to teſtifie that he owned the Baptiſt as one commiſſionated by God to do this Office; and, (2*dly*,) that by this Rite he might profeſs his willingneſs to fulfil all Righteouſneſs; and, (3*dly*,) that by this Rite he might be initiated to his prophetical Office, and conſecrated to the Service of God; tho' therefore, ſay they, Infants can neither be taught, nor believe, nor give the Anſwer of a good Conſcience at Baptiſm, yet may they be baptized. (1.) That they may by this Ceremony be obliged to obſerve the Laws of that Jeſus into whoſe Name they are baptized, even as the circumciſed Infant by virtue of that Rite, became a Debtor to obſerve the whole Law of Moſes, Acts 15. 5. Gal. 5. 3. (2.) That by this Rite, they might enter into Covenant with God, and become fœderate Children of God, of which they are declared capable by Moſes, Deut. 29. 11. And ſo when by their Parents that Circumciſion was neglected, they are ſaid to have broken God's Covenant, Gen. 17. 14. And ſeeing Parents might conſecrate their Children to God's Service from the Womb, as in the caſe of Sampſon, Judg. 13. 5. and of Samuel, 1 Sam. 1. 11, 22, 28. why might not God appoint this might be done to Children, by that only Rite which he inſtituted under the Old and the New Covenant, for entring any into the number of his fœderal Servants? And, (3.) By this Rite to conſign unto them a Right to the Kingdom of Heaven, and to a bleſſed Reſurrection; of which, if Infants of Believing Parents are not capable when dying in their Infancy, they are loſt for ever. Now they all being the Off-ſpring of Adam, and therefore all obnoxious to Death by reaſon of his Sin, Rom. 5. 12. they cannot be delivered from this Death but by the Grace of God which Chriſt hath purchaſed, and promiſed to them only, who are made ſome way Members of his Body, and Children of God; why therefore ſhould we not conceive they ſhould obtain this Favour by that means, which is alone appointed by Chriſt for making any one a Member of his Body, 1 Cor. 12. 13. and entring any one into the Kingdom of God? John 3. 5.

t Ibid. Καὶ ἐρχόμενον ἐπ' αὐτὸν, and lighting upon him.] Here the Socinians object thus:

Object. If Chriſt had been God as well as Man, he could not have needed this Deſcent of the Holy Spirit upon him, as being able by the Divinity reſiding in him, to do all thoſe things for which the Holy Ghoſt can be ſuppoſed to deſcend upon him: "What is it, ſaith Crellius, that the high "God could not do himſelf? or, What help "could the Holy Spirit give unto him? If "you ſay, his human Nature needed the aſ-"ſiſtance of this Holy Spirit, how can that "be, ſeeing it is ſuppoſed to be perſonally "united to the Divinity, and to have the "whole Fulneſs of the Godhead dwelling in "it? or, Why ſhould Chriſt be rather ſaid "to caſt out Devils by this Spirit of God, "than by his Divine Nature; or to be en-"dowed with Wiſdom, Counſel, Knowledge, "Fortitude, and the fear of the Lord by the "Spirit, and not by his Divine Nature? Wolzogen. upon the place, and Crellius de uno Deo Pat. B. 1. §. 2. cap. 33.

Anſw. In anſwer to this Objection it is to be obſerved, Firſt, That the moſt ancient Fathers have taken notice of it, as a ſpecious Objection againſt the received Doctrine of the Divinity of Chriſt, and have attempted to return divers Anſwers to it; which is a demonſtration, that the Doctrine that Chriſt was truly God, was then received by the Church of Chriſt. Trypho in his Dialogue with Juſtin M. asks this very Queſtion of the Socinians, Why Jeſus Chriſt, whom Juſtin owned to be God, ſhould have the Spirit reſting on him, ὡς ἐνδεὴς τούτων ὑπάρχων, as needing his Aſſiſtance? (e) Juſtin M. replies, That he accurately and prudently made this Inquiry; this being a juſt cauſe of doubting in this caſe; and then he tells him, That the Graces of the Holy Spirit, mentioned Iſa. 11. 2. did not deſcend upon him as if he needed them, but to teſtifie they were to reſt upon him, and be accompliſhed in him; ſo that theſe prophetical Graces ſhould no longer be in the Jewiſh Church. (f) Irenæus ſpeaking of the ſame thing, ſaith, As to that Nature by which Chriſt the Word of God was Man, the Spirit reſted on him, and he was anointed to preach the Goſpel; ſecundum autem quod Deus erat, but as he was God, he knew all Men, and what was in Man, John 2. 24, 25. Now hence the Anſwer to this Argument is this, That Chriſt as God could not need this Unction of the Holy Spirit, but as he was to execute the prophetick Office, it was needful for him; becauſe a Prophet being not to ſpeak in his own Name, but in the Name of God, and what he had ſuggeſted to him by the Spirit of God, this prophetick Office was to be performed not by the Divine Nature of our Lord, but by the afflatus of the Holy Spirit. See to this effect the Diſcourſe in the Preface to St. John. It was alſo needful for the execution of his prieſtly Office, that he by the Spirit ſanctifying him from the Womb, might offer himſelf a Lamb without ſpot to God, Heb. 9. 14. So that in all the Actions relating to his prophetick Office, the Divinity of Chriſt muſt be ſuppoſed quieſcent, and Chriſt muſt be ſaid to perform his Miracles, to confirm the Doctrine which he delivered, by the Spirit of God, by which alſo he was aſſiſted to ſpeak the words of God, John 3. 34. And ſeeing all the Orthodox allow, That the Divinity was quieſcent in Chriſt till he was 30 Years old, why may they not allow it was quieſcent alſo after, in all the Actions relating to the execution of his prophetical Office here on Earth?

(g) Duoditius indeed exclaims not againſt this Hypotheſis, but againſt the words of Irenæus, That Chriſt ſuffered ἡσυχάζοντ̃ τ̃ λόγ̃, the Divine Nature being quieſcent, as if the λόγ̃ or Divine Nature muſt be then a deſerter of the Human Nature, as not aſſiſting it in his Agonies, calling this, a portentous and impious Opinion. But this is only a vain Exclamation; for that Chriſt did not ſuffer becauſe he wanted power to repel his Enemies, or to deliver himſelf from Death, but becauſe he was willing to give up his Life an Offering for Sin, and to obey his Father's Command, to lay down his Life for the Sheep, John 10. 18. and ſhed his Blood for the Redemption of Mankind, is evident from this, That he who by a word ſtruck back his Adverſaries to the Earth, and by a touch heal'd the Ear of Malchus, John 18. 6. Luke 22. 51. He that had power to reaſſume his Life when he had laid it down, John 10. 18. muſt ſure have power to preſerve his Life if it had pleaſed him ſo to do: Shall we then ſay, Chriſt was a deſerter of himſelf, becauſe he was not pleaſed to do this? Does he not ſay, he could call for twelve Legions of Angels to deliver him? Matth. 26. 53. Muſt we then call him a deſerter of himſelf, becauſe he did not do it? Is it not plainly ſaid, he had the Father dwelling in him, John 14. 10. and had the Spirit without meaſure? John 3. 34. Shall we then ſay, the Father and the Spirit deſerted him, becauſe they, after all his Cries, permitted him to ſuffer on the Croſs? If not, why ſhould we ſay, the Divine Nature did deſert him becauſe it permitted him, according to the Predictions of the Prophets, and the Counſel and Decree of the Father, to ſuffer for the Salvation of Mankind, and would not reſcue him from that Death on which depended our Redemption, Sanctification, and Salvation, Heb. 9. 13. — 10. 9.

Note, (2*dly*,) That this Voice was directed to Chriſt himſelf; and therefore, Mar. 1. 11. Luke 3. 22. the words run thus: Thou art my beloved Son, in thee I am well pleaſed; i. e. thou art the Perſon ſanctified by this Deſcent of the Holy Ghoſt upon thee, to declare my Will to the World, according to the Propheſie concerning him, Iſa. 42. 1. and whoſe Words and Doctrine it therefore concerns all Men to hear and obey, Matth. 17. 5. as a Perſon highly favoured by me, and commiſſioned to teach what he delivers in my Name.

a 1. THen was Jeſus led up of the [a] Spirit, (with which he was filled, Luke 4. 1. farther) into the Wilderneſs, to be tempted of the Devil; (that we by his Example might learn how to reſiſt Temptations.)

2. And when he had, (by a miraculous Aſſiſtance) faſted forty Days and forty Nights, (and was, during that time, inviſibly tempted of the Devil, Mark 1. 13. Luke 4. 2.) he b was [b] afterwards an hungred.

c 3. And when the [c] Tempter came unto him, he ſaid, (Gr. and the Tempter coming, (then viſibly) to him ſaid,) If thou beeſt (indeed) the Son of God, command that theſe Stones be made Bread, (to ſatisfie thy preſent hunger.)

4. But he anſwered and ſaid, it is written, (Deut. 8. 3. that) Man ſhall not live by Bread alone, but by every word which proceedeth out of the Mouth of God; (i. e. by any other thing which he ſhall appoint for his Nouriſhment.)

5. Then (when this Temptation ſucceeded not,) the Devil taketh him up into the Holy City, and ſetteth him upon a Pinnacle of the Temple,

6. And ſaith unto him, If thou be the Son of God, caſt thy ſelf down: For it is written, (Pſ. 91. 11.) He ſhall give his Angels charge concerning thee, (to keep thee,) and in their Hands they ſhall bear thee up, leſt at any time thou daſh thy Foot againſt a Stone, (incur any damage.)

7. Jeſus ſaid unto him, it is written again, (Gr. again it is written,) Thou ſhalt not d [d] tempt, (i. e. diſtruſt,) the Lord thy God, (as I muſt do, if after a Voice from Heaven, ſaying to me, Thou art my beloved Son, Mark 1. 11. I ſhould require any farther Experiment of that matter.)

e 8. [e] Again the Devil (being baffled in this ſecond Aſſault,) taketh him up into an exceeding high Mountain, and (there) ſheweth him (in a Landskip) all the Kingdoms of the World, and the Glory of them, (in a moment of time, Luke 4. 5.)

9. And (he) ſaith unto him, All theſe things will I give thee, if thou wilt fall down, and worſhip me, (for they are given to me, &c. Luke 4. 6, 7.)

10. Then ſaid Jeſus unto him, Get thee hence, Satan; for it is written, (Deut. 6. 13.) Thou ſhalt [f] worſhip the Lord thy God, and f him only ſhalt thou ſerve.

11. Then the Devil (having ended all his Temptations,) leaveth him (for a ſeaſon, Luke 4. 13.) and behold Angels came, and miniſtred to him (Food.)

12. Now when Jeſus heard that John was caſt into Priſon, he departed (from Judea) into Galilee, (to avoid the Envy of the Phariſees, John 4. 3. and to continue the preaching interrupted by John's confinement.)

13. And leaving Nazareth, (by reaſon of their Infidelity, Luke 4. 29.) he came and dwelt in Capernaum, which is upon the Sea-coaſt, in the Borders of Zabulon and Nephthali: b

14. That it might be [g] fulfilled, which was g ſpoken by Iſaias the Prophet, ſaying, (Chap. 9. 1, 2.)

15. The Land of Zabulon, and the Land of Nephthali, by the way of the Sea beyond Jordan, (which is called) Galilee of the Gentiles,

16. (Are) the People which ſat in Darkneſs, (but afterwards) ſaw great Light; and to them which ſat in the Region and Shadow of Death, Light is ſprung up.

17. From that time Jeſus began to preach, and to ſay (to the People,) Repent (ye,) for the Kingdom of Heaven is at hand; (i. e. from the time of John's impriſonment, he began to preach upon that ſubject, ver. 23.)

18. And Jeſus, walking by the Sea of Galilee, [h] ſaw two Brethren, Simon, (afterh wards) called Peter, and Andrew his Brother, caſting a Net into the Sea (to waſh it, Luke 5. 2. for they were Fiſhers.)

19. And he ſaith unto them, Follow me, and I will make you (to become) Fiſhers of Men,

Men, (by gaining them to the Faith, or bringing them within the Net of the Goſpel.)

20. And they ſtraightway left their Nets, and followed him.

21. And going on from thence, he ſaw other two Brethren, (viz.) James the Son of Zebedee, and John his Brother (returned now to, and) in a Ship with Zebedee their Father, mending their Nets, and he called them.

22. And they (alſo) immediately left the Ship, and their Father, and followed him.

23. And Jeſus went about all Galilee, teaching in their Synagogues, and preaching the Goſpel of the Kingdom, (ſhortly to be erected,) and healing all manner of Sickneſs (es,) and all manner of Diſeaſe (s, which were) among the People.

24. And his Fame went throughout all Syria; and they brought to him all ſick People that were taken with divers Diſeaſes and Torments, and thoſe which were poſſeſſed with Devils, and thoſe which were Lunatick, and thoſe that had the Palſie, and he healed them.

a Ver. 1. Τότε ὁ Ἰησοῦς ἀνήχθη εἰς τὸ ἔρημον περιαδῆναι ὑπὸ τοῦ διαβόλου· Then was Jeſus led up of the Spirit into the Wilderneſs to be tempted of the Devil.] By the Spirit, i. e. by that Holy Spirit with which he was filled, Luke 4. 1. Now doubtleſs, there muſt be ſome very great and good Ends, why the Holy Spirit ſhould thus move our Lord to repair into the Wilderneſs for that end; amongſt which, ſaith Theophylact, this was one, to teach us, that when by Baptiſm we have conſecrated our ſelves to God's Service, we muſt expect Temptations: And, (2*dly*,) To teach us in our Lord's Example, how we may beſt and moſt effectually reſiſt them, even by an unſhaken Faith, 1 Pet. 5. 9. and by the Sword of the Spirit, which is the Word of God, Eph. 6. 17.

b Ver. 2. Ὕστερον ἐπείνασε, And when he had faſted forty Days and forty Nights, he was afterwards an hungred.] Hence we may learn, how vain a thing it is, to inſtitute, or to pretend to keep a Faſt of forty Days in imitation of this Example of our Lord; for it is certain, that ſo great, and ſo long Abſtinence is inconſiſtent with the Frailty of our Natures, and ſo can be no Duty; 'tis alſo certain, that our Saviour felt no Hunger all this while; for he was only hungry afterwards, ſaith St. Matthew, and ſo his Faſting was miraculous. Moreover, his Faſt was not intended to chaſtiſe, or to ſubdue that Body which never was irregular, or to prepare him for thoſe ſpiritual Duties, which by the Unction of the Holy Ghoſt he was abundantly fitted for; and upon theſe Accounts, can give no Preſident to our Faſts, which ſhould afflict the Body, and are intended for the Ends afore-mentioned. To conclude hence, our Obligation to a more than ordinary Temperance for forty Days, is to place Morality in Numbers, and introduce an endleſs heap of ſuperſtitious Follies; for by like reaſon, we muſt deem our ſelves obliged to ride upon an Aſs, in token of our Humility, or to renounce our Title to our temporal Eſtates, and throw away our Money, to be like him who had not where to lay his Head, nor could procure Sixpence without a Miracle. Better here is the Note of Theophylact, and others, that we are then eſpecially to expect Temptations when we are alone, and when we are in Streights, and Exigencies, from which we ſee no ordinary way of Deliverance; which was the caſe of Chriſt, he being hungry in the Wilderneſs, and fed at laſt only by Angels miniſtring to him.

c Ver. 3. Καὶ προσελθὼν αὐτῷ ὁ πειράζων εἶπεν· And the Tempter coming to him, ſaid, &c.] From this, and the firſt Verſe, where Chriſt is ſaid to be led into the Wilderneſs to be tempted of the Devil, the Socinians raiſe two Objections againſt the Divinity of Chriſt.

Object. 1. If Chriſt were God, why ſhould he be thus tempted? Was it to ſhew, that God was able to ſuſtain, and overcome the Temptations of the Devil? Could there be any doubt of this? If it be here ſaid, that he was only tempted as he was Man; they ſtill reply, That ſeeing his Human Nature was perſonally united to the Divine, it muſt be ſtill ſuperfluous to ſhew, that even his Human Nature, thus ſtrengthned and aſſiſted, ſhould be able to reſiſt and baffle the Aſſaults of Satan; nor will his doing this by a Divine Aſſiſtance, afford us any comfort, who can expect no like Aſſiſtance when we do grapple with the Tempter.

Anſw. To this I anſwer, That the Ancient Fathers were not ignorant of this Objection, made, as it ſeemeth, by the Ebionites, the elder Brethren of the Photinians, and Socinians. And therefore (a) Irenæus in anſwer to them, lays this for the Foundation, That never any of the Sons of Adam were ever in the Scriptures called God, or Lord, but he who, Præter omnes qui tunc fuerunt homines, Deus, & Dominus & Rex æternus, & unigenitus; genitus, & verbum incarnatum prædicatum & à Prophetis, & Apoſtolis adeſt videre omnibus qui vel modicum veritatis attigerint, of all Men then in being, was only by the Prophets and Apoſtles delared to be God and Lord, and the eternal King, and the only Begotten, and the Word made Fleſh, as they who have little inſight into the Truth may eaſily perceive: And theſe things, ſaith he, the Scriptures would not teſtifie of him, ſi ſimiliter ut omnes, homo tantum fuiſſet, had he been only a Man as others were, but becauſe he had an excellent Generation from God the Father, and another in the Womb of the Virgin; the Scriptures teſtifie of him both, that he was one without Form, and ſubject to Sufferings, one that rid upon the Foal of an Aſs, had Gall and Vinegar given him to drink, was deſpiſed of the People, and humbled himſelf to the Death; and alſo, that he was the Holy Lord, the Wonderful Counſellor, the Mighty God, Iſa. 9. 6. coming upon the Clouds to be Judge of all Men. And having premiſed theſe things he anſwers thus to the Objection of the Ebionites: That (b) as he was Man, that he might be tempted, ſo he was the Word, that he might be glorified; the Word being quieſcent, that he might be tempted, crucified, and die. Which words being preſerved and cited by Theodoret, ſhew, That the latter Fathers approved of this Solution of this Difficulty. Among the Reaſons aſſigned of our Lord's Temptation, this is one, viz. the conſolation of his Members conflicting with the Adverſary of their Souls, and that upon theſe two Accounts. (1.) That he ſuffered being tempted, that he might afford ſuitable help to us when we are tempted, Heb. 2. 17, 18.—4. 15, 16. And, (2.) That we have the ſame Spirit in us which was in him, and who is greater than he that was in the World, 1 John 2. 14.—4. 4. and ſo may combat him with the ſame Weapons, and overcome him with the ſame Aſſiſtance, by which he in his human Nature did it: Now this ground of Comfort will be wholly taken from us, if Chriſt did only overcome him by virtue of that Nature by which he was ἀπείρας & κακῶν, uncapable of being vincible by Temptation. But, if with Irenæus we affirm, That the Divinity was then quieſcent, and that he overcame him by virtue of the Spirit given to him, we, who have the ſame Unction from the Holy One, may alſo hope to do it by his Aid: And, ſince even the moſt Orthodox do grant, That the Divinity in Chriſt was ſo quieſcent for the ſpace of 30 Years, as to afford no Specimen of its Reſidence in him, why might it not be quieſcent alſo in theſe things, which did particularly relate to his prophetick Office here on Earth, and to that Grand Exemplar in which we ſtand obliged to follow his Steps. In a word, That our Lord could not be overcome of Satan, was the Reſult of the Union of the human Nature to the Divinity; that he repelled all his Aſſaults might be, becauſe he was anointed, and filled with the Holy Ghoſt.

Object. 2. But the Socinians do ſtill enquire, how a Spirit ſo wiſe and ſubtle as the Devil is, ſhould venture to aſſault, and ſhould aſſay to tempt the Great God, eſpecially to ſo vile an Action as to fall down and worſhip him, ſeeing 'tis ſcarce imaginable, he ſhould not know it was impoſſible to ſucceed in this Temptation, or that he ſhould attempt a thing he before-hand diſcerned impoſſible to be effected?

Anſw. To this, after a jocular Reply, that this Argument depends upon the Modeſty, and other Virtues of the Devil, Biſſerfield ſaith thus, That the Malice of the Devil hath oft prevailed upon him, to attempt things very fooliſh and impoſſible; for what could be more ſo, than for a Creature to attempt to be like God, or to annul the Truth of the Propheſies concerning Chriſt? What could be more pernicious to him than the Death of Chriſt for the Redemption of Mankind, which yet he by all means did attempt, tho' 'twas impoſſible he ſhould be held under the Power of Death? Acts 2. 24, 25. And hence Petavius retorts this Argument upon the Head of Crellius thus: Whatſoever Satan might conceive of Chriſt, he could not but certainly know from the Scriptures he was to be the Redeemer of Mankind, and the Author of Salvation to them, that he ſhould bruiſe his Head, that he ſhould ſit upon the Throne of David, to rule there for ever; and knowing this, he could not hope to prevail in his Temptations of Chriſt, unleſs he could believe that he was able to reverſe both the Decrees, and Oath of God: To this the Fathers add (2.) that the Devil was ignorant of this Myſtery, when he tempted Chriſt. Thus Ignatius ſaith, that the Virginity of Mary, (c) καὶ ὁ τοκετὸς αὐτῆς, and he that was born of her, and the Death of our Lord, were three Myſteries concealed from Satan, where by ὁ τοκετὸς he cannot underſtand our Lord's Nativity of the Bleſſed Virgin, ſince in that very Section he ſtiles him, Θεὸν ἀνθρωπίνως φανερούμενον, a God appearing after the manner of a Man: And (d) Origen obſerves, that cum ab ipſo diabolo tentaretur, nuſquam confeſſus eſt Dei ſe eſſe filium, when he was tempted of the Devil he never did confeſs himſelf to be the Son of God.

(b) Ὥσπερ γὰρ ἵνα ἄνθρωπος ἵνα πειρασθῇ, οὕτω καὶ λόγος ἵνα δοξάσθη, ἡσυχάζων ὁ λόγος ἐν τῷ πειράζεσθαι, καὶ σαρκοῦσθαι, καὶ ἀποθνήσκειν.

(c) Ep. ad Magn. §. 19. (d) Hom. 6. in Lucam.

God. And ſince this was ſo great a Myſtery, that even Angels deſired to look into it, 1 Pet. 1. 12. and learned ſomewhat of it from the Church, Eph. 3. 10. what wonder is it the Devil either ſhould not know, or ſhould doubt of it? All his Temptations ſhew he looked upon our Saviour, not as a God, but only as one who might be dear unto him; whence he aſſays to tempt him with the Glories of the World. This Argument doth therefore prove, not that our Saviour was not truly God, but only that the Devil did not then know him ſo to be.

d Ver. 7. Οὐκ ἐκπειράσεις Κύριον τὸν Θεόν σου· Thou ſhalt not tempt the Lord thy God.] 'Tis here well noted by Dr. Hammond, that to tempt the Lord doth not in Scripture Language ſignifie, to preſume too much on the Divine Goodneſs, but rather, to diſtruſt his Power, Truth, or Providence, after ſufficient Demonſtrations and Reaſons given for our Encouragement to depend upon them, and conſequently to tempt God, here muſt be, as it relates to Chriſt, to doubt whether he was the Son of God, after the Voice from Heaven had ſaid unto him, Chap. 3. 17. Thou art my beloved Son: So the Phraſe ſignifies throughout the Old Teſtament. Thus when the Jews murmur againſt Moſes for the want of Water, ſaying, Thou haſt brought us out of Egypt to kill us and our Children, and our Cattel with thirſt: Moſes replies, Why do you tempt the Lord? Exod. 17. 2, 3. and calls the Name of the place Maſſah, i. e. Temptation, becauſe they tempted the Lord, ſaying, after he had dried up the Red Sea, and provided Manna for them, and gone before them in the Cloud, the Symbol of his Preſence, is the Lord among us, or not? doubting of his Goodneſs to, Protection over them, and Preſence with them, after ſo many ſignal Evidences of theſe things; and to this relate the words here cited by our Lord from Deut. 6. 16. Thou ſhalt not tempt the Lord thy God, i. e. thou ſhalt not queſtion thy Preſence with thee, or diſtruſt his Providence, as ye tempted him in Maſſah. So again God ſaith, becauſe theſe Men which have ſeen my Glory (in the Cloud) and the Miracles which I did in Egypt, and in the Wilderneſs, (after all theſe Demonſtrations of my Preſence with them and of my Power and Readineſs to reſcue them from the Hands of their Enemies,) have tempted me now theſe ten times, therefore they ſhall not (perſonally) enter into the Land of Promiſe, Num. 14. 22. Now thus they tempted him by not believing God could, and would make good his Promiſe of bringing them into that Land, but thinking they ſhould die by the Sword of thoſe Giants which were in that Land, v. 2, 3. and therefore God ſpeaks thus, How long will this People provoke me? How long will it be e're they believe me, after all the Signs which I have ſhew'd among them? v. 2, 3. And to ſuch inſtances of their diſtruſt as theſe, refer thoſe paſſages of the Pſalmiſt; They tempted God, and limited the Holy One of Iſrael, not believing that his Power was ſufficient to do thoſe things which he had promiſed, and ſhewed that he was able to perform, Pſal. 78. 41. for they thus limited and tempted him, becauſe they remembred not his Hand, nor the day when he delivered them from the Enemy. How he had wrought his Signs in Egypt, and his Wonders in the Field of Zoan, v. 42, 43. See alſo v. 18, 19, 20. and this being ſpoken of them, when they turned back into Egypt, v. 41. relates to the tempting of God mentioned Numb. 14. to the Temptation mentioned Exod. 17. relate theſe words, Pſal. 106. 14, 15. Tho' he had dried up the Red Sea for them, and ſaved them from the Hand of their Enemies, they ſoon forgat his Works, and luſting in the Wilderneſs they tempted God in the Deſart. And thoſe in Pſalm 95. 8, 9. Harden not your Hearts as in the Provocation, in the day of Temptation in the Wilderneſs, when your Fathers tempted me, and proved me, Gam. Rahu tho' they ſaw my Works, i. e. How I delivered them at the Red Sea, made bitter Waters ſweet, and ſent them Bread from Heaven. Whence the Apoſtle's inference is this, Heb. 3. 12. Take heed there be not in you an evil Heart of Unbelief. So Judith 8. 12. who are you that ἐπειράσατε τὸν Θεὸν ye tempt God, by limiting him to ſuch a time as five days, as if he could not help you if he did it not within that time, v. 15. this alſo is the import of theſe words of Ahaz, Iſa. 7. 12. I will not ask a Sign, neither will I tempt the Lord; as may be gathered by comparing them with the like words of Gideon, asking a Sign of the Fleece, Let not thy Anger be hot againſt me (for being thus ſlow of Belief) παρόσω δὴ ἔτι ἅπαξ, let me try or tempt thee yet once more, i. e. Let me have this farther Sign for Confirmation of my weak Faith, Judg. 6. 39. This alſo is the conſtant import of this Phraſe in the New Teſtament. So Acts 15. 10. Now therefore, (after God hath given ſo full a diſcovery of his receiving the uncircumciſed Gentiles, upon their Faith, into his Grace and Favour as the Effuſion of the Holy Ghoſt upon them, v. 8.) why tempt you God (by diſtruſting this Teſtimony of his Favour to them, and deſiring ſtill) to put this Yoke (of Circumciſion) on their Necks? 1 Cor. 10. 9. Neither tempt ye Chriſt the Lord, (by diſtruſting his Readineſs to ſupport you under, and give an happy Iſſue from your Temptations, v. 13.) as ſome of them (i. e. the Jews) tempted him, (by ſaying, God had brought them out of Egypt to die in the Wilderneſs, becauſe they wanted Bread and Water, Num. 21. 5.) and (therefore) were deſtroyed of Serpents, (v. 6.) thus to tempt the Spirit of the Lord, Act. 5, 9.

is to queſtion, or diſtruſt his Wiſdom, to diſcover what Ananias and Sapphira had concealed.

e Ver. 8. Πάλιν παραλαμβάνει αὐτὸν ὁ διάβολος· Again the Devil taketh him up into an exceeding high Mountain, and ſhews him all the Kingdoms of the World, and the Glory of them.] Mr. Clerc in his Note on the firſt Verſe ſaith, "What is here related may more "ſafely be conceived to have hapned to "Chriſt in a Viſion or Dream, than really; "it looks methinks very odd, ſaith he, that "an evil Spirit ſhould be permitted to have "ſuch a Power over our moſt holy Saviour, "as to carry him through the Air; and then "this Proſpect of the Kingdoms of the whole "World could no more be ſhewed from a "Mountain than from a Plain; for what can "be ſeen from a Mountain beſides Woods, "Fields, Rivers, Villages, and Towns, "which are not uſed in any Language to "ſignifie the Kingdoms of the World, and the "Glory of them? This Glory conſiſting ra"ther in their ſplendid Attire, Guards and "Attendants, and their coſtly Edifices. But this is a vain Dream, and a Viſion of his own Brain, and that which robs us of all the practical Improvement of our Lords Temptation; for why ſhould Chriſt be led into the Wilderneſs to have this Dream, or Viſion? Did he faſt only in a Viſion forty days, and forty Nights? That ſure was a long Dream or Viſion; or why is it ſaid that he afterwards was hungry? Why is it ſaid, the Devil ſaid to him, the Devil ſet him upon a Pinnacle, and upon an high Mountain? And Luke 4. 13. that when the Devil had ended all his Temptations, he departed from him for a Seaſon? Muſt not theſe words unavoidably import, that either the Devil did really thus tempt him, or elſe did frame this Viſion in his Brain? and looks it not far more odd to give the Devil Power over the Phanſie of our Lord to raiſe ſuch Imaginations in him, and ſuggeſt ſuch Dreams to him, than barely to give him that Power over our Lord's Body, which neither did, nor could do him any hurt? 2*dly*, As God cauſed Moſes to ſee the whole Land of Promiſe from the top of Nebo, either by ſtrengthening his Eyes to ſee it thence, or elſe by repreſenting it to him, as it were in a large Plan, or Map in all the Valleys round about him, ſo might the Devil in the Valleys round about that high Mountain upon which Chriſt ſtood, make a large Draught of the ſtately Edifices, the Guards, and Attendants of Kings, appearing in their Splendor, viſible to the Eyes of Chriſt, which Appearance could not be ſo well made unto him, or advantagiouſly ſeen had he been in a Plain.

f Ver. 10. Κύριον τὸν Θεόν σου προσκυνήσεις, καὶ αὐτῷ μόνῳ λατρεύσεις· Thou ſhalt worſhip the Lord thy God, and him only ſhalt thou ſerve.] From theſe words, compared with other like Scriptures, it appears that Chriſt is not a Creature, becauſe the Worſhip and Service due to God alone cannot be duly given to a Creature, that being to own him equal in Dignity with God; and the Sin of Idolatry chiefly conſiſting in giving that Worſhip to a Creature which is due only to the God of Heaven; and therefore religious Adoration and Service being here ſaid to be due to God alone, cannot be given duly, or without Idolatry to Chriſt, provided that he be only a Creature. Seeing then God doth require, That all Men ſhould worſhip the Son, even as they worſhip the Father, John 5. 23. and when he brought the Firſt-born into the World, ſaid, let all the Angels of God worſhip him, Heb. 1. 6. and ſeeing this is the Character of Chriſtians, that they ſerve the Lord Chriſt, Coloſ. 3. 24. 'tis certain that he cannot be a Creature only, but muſt be truly God.

To this the Socinians anſwer, that God alone is to be worſhipped as the firſt and ſupreme Cauſe of all things, and the chief Cauſe of our Salvation, but yet religious Worſhip and Service may be paid to Chriſt as the intermediate Cauſe of that Salvation, which God intended by him to procure, and bring to paſs for us. But as there are no footſteps of this Diſtinction in the Holy Scripture, ſo there are many things contained in it which ſeem to contradict it. And 'tis plain the Devil here doth not require to be thus worſhipped as the firſt and ſupreme Cauſe of all things, for he frankly owns that all the Power he had over the Kingdoms of the Earth was given to him, and yet our Lord rejecteth his Temptation, not by ſaying, as the Socinians do, that he was an impudent Liar, no ſuch Power being given to him, but by oppoſing to him this Command, Thou ſhalt worſhip the Lord thy God, and him only ſhalt thou ſerve. Again, all the Angels are Miniſtring Spirits ſent forth to miniſter to them who ſhall be Heirs of Salvation, Heb. 1. 14. and the Papiſts who worſhip them with religious Adoration, do it doubtleſs, as they conceive it is to the Glory of that God whoſe Miniſters they are, and notwithſtanding muſt we not condemn that Worſhip in them? Moſes and Aaron were intermediate Cauſes of the Preſervation and Happineſs of the Jews, whom God by them brought out of Egypt; they by their Supplications and Interceſſions, preſerved them many times from preſent Death; and might they therefore pay religious Worſhip to them, provided 'twas directed to the Glory of God whoſe Miniſters they were? Might they do this to Joſhua, who carried Salvation in his very Name? The Apoſtles are ſtiled Σωεργοὶ Θεοῦ, Workers together with God for our Salvation, 1 Cor. 3. 9. their Doctrine is called the Savour of Life unto Life, 2 Cor. 2. 16. and they are ſaid to ſave thoſe that hear them, 1 Tim. 4. 16. Muſt we therefore pay religious Adoration to them as the Papiſts do? Vain therefore is this Subterfuge by which the Socinians endeavour to juſtifie their religious Adoration of that Jeſus whom they maintain to be a Creature only, and whoſe Divinity they deny.

g Ver. 14. Ἵνα πληρωθῇ τὸ ῥηθὲν διὰ Ἡσαΐου τοῦ προφήτου· That it might be fulfilled which was ſpoken by Iſaias, ſaying, The Land of Zabulon and Nephthali.] I ſee here no reaſon for ſaying with ſome learned Men, that this whole Paſſage of Iſaiah is by the Evangeliſt applied to Chriſt's preaching in the Borders of Zabulon, and Nephthali, only by way of Accommodation, and not in any myſtical ſenſe intended by the Holy Ghoſt; for it is very eaſie to diſcern that upon occaſion of our Lord's leaving Nazareth, a Town in the Higher Galilee, in the Tribe of Zabulon, and going to Capernaum in Lower Galilee in the Tribe of Nephthali, which was called Galilee of the Gentiles, as being partly inhabited, ſaith (e) Strabo, by Ægyptians, Arabians, and Phœnicians, he only takes the Names of theſe places from Iſa. 9. 1. having no farther Conſideration of the place, than to ſhew they are the People of whom the Prophet ſaid, the People that ſat in Darkneſs hath ſeen a great Light; let this now be underſtood in the prophetick Stile, repreſenting things ſurely to be accompliſhed in their Seaſon, as done already, of which we have an Inſtance, v. 6. in theſe words, for unto us a Child is born, to us a Son is given; and then the Prediction will run thus; the People ſitting in Darkneſs ſhall ſee great Light, and to thoſe who ſit in the Region, and Shadow of Death ſhall the Light ariſe, as we know it did, it being in Chorazin and Bethſaida ſituated in Lower Galilee, that Chriſt did his mighty Works mentioned Matth. 11. 21. and it being Capernaum that was exalted up to Heaven by his dwelling there, and preaching in their Synagogues, v. 23.

h Ver. 18, 21. Εἶδε δύο ἀδελφοὺς Σίμωνα, καὶ Ἀνδρέαν, He ſaw two Brethren, Simon, ſirnamed Peter, and Andrew his Brother, caſting their Nets into the Sea, v. 21. Καὶ προβὰς ἐκεῖθεν εἶδεν ἄλλους δύο ἀδελφοὺς Ἰάκωβον, &c. Going thence he ſaw two other Brethren, James the Son of Zebedee, and John his Brother, with Zebedee their Father, mending their Nets, and he calleth them.] So alſo we read Mark 1. from v. 16. to v. 21. The Hiſtory of Simon and Andrew's coming, mentioned John 1. 41. 42, 43. is plainly different from that of St. Matthew and St. Mark, and ſo cannot be ſaid to contradict what is here ſaid. For (1.) here Chriſt ſees them, and calls them both together, there they hear Chriſt, and follow him home, and Andrew after finding Peter leads him to Chriſt, from v. 37. to 42. (2) Here it is noted, that Simon was already ſirnamed Peter, there it is ſaid thou ſhalt be called Peter, v. 43. there they abide with Chriſt only one night, v. 40. and that uncalled, here they are called and follow him as his Apoſtles, being always with him, John 15. 27. As for the Hiſtory Luke 5. from v. 1. to 11th, I conceive it to be the ſame with this in St. Matthew and St. Mark, becauſe it hapned at the ſame place, at the Lake of Genneſareth, Luke 5. 1. i. e. at the Sea of Galilee, Matth. 4. 18. The ſame Perſons being preſent, and following him, having left all to do it, v. 10, 11. Matth. 4. 20, 22. But then I place the Story thus; He ſaw theſe Fiſhermen, two of them, viz. Simon and Andrew waſhing their Nets, Luke 5. 2. i. e. Caſting them into the Sea to waſh them, Matth. 4. 18. and the other two, mending their Nets, where they were broken, v. 21. and then he ſpake to them both to follow him. And preſently the Multitude reſorting to him, to hear the word of God, Luke 5. 1. He enters into the Ship of Simon, and when Simon at his Requeſt, thruſt it a little from the Land, he ſat down and taught them; then ſpeaks he to Peter, to let down his Net into the Sea for that Draught which filled both the Ships of Simon, and the Sons of Zebedee, and ſtruck them all with great Amazement, inſomuch that Peter was afraid to follow him, or to be with him; but Chriſt bidding him not to fear, they draw their Ships to Land, and leaving both Ships and Fiſhes with Zebedee, and others that were with them, Mark 1. 20. forſaking them all they follow him, Luke 5. 11. It is no Objection againſt what is ſaid, that in St. Luke we find no mention of St. Andrew, it being certain from St. Matthew and St. Mark that Andrew was then with Peter, tho' Simon only be named by St. Luke, becauſe Chriſt ſpake only to him: Thus is it eaſie to remove thoſe manifold Diſagreements which ſome mention betwixt the Hiſtory of this matter, in St. Luke, and in St. Matthew and St. Mark. For according to the Series of the Story thus placed, St. Luke being to ſupply what was not told by St. Matthew and St. Mark, begins where they ended, and St. Mark having only ſaid in the general that Chriſt came thither preaching the Goſpel of the Kingdom, St. Luke ſhews how he went on with the work; and this puts an end to Mr. Whiſton's four firſt Differences. His fifth is grounded on an evident Miſtake; for in St. Luke he doth not aſſure them, that from henceforth they ſhould catch Men, but ſaid this only to Simon aſtoniſhed at the Miracle, and deſiring Chriſt to depart from him, repeating to him in particular, what he had ſaid more generally to all, that he might remove his Fears. The laſt is indeed no difference, it being the ſame thing to leave all that were then with them, and all they had there, and follow him, as St. Luke ſays they did; and to leave Nets, Ship, Father, and hired Servants, to follow him, as in St. Matthew and St. Mark they did.

a 1. AND [a] ſeeing the Multitudes, he went up into a Mountain, and when he was ſet (down, as the Jewiſh Doctors did when they taught, ſee Luke 4. 16, 20.) his Diſciples came unto him.

2. And he opened his Mouth, and taught them, ſaying, b 3. Bleſſed are [b] the poor in Spirit, (i. e. the humble and lowly minded) for theirs is the Kingdom of Heaven; (they are fitted to enter into it here, and to enjoy it hereafter.)

c 4. Bleſſed are [c] they that mourn (for their Sins, with that godly Sorrow which works Repentance not repented of, 2 Cor. 7. 10.) for they ſhall be comforted; (with the aſſurance of the Pardon of their Sins, and with the hope of future happineſs.)

d 5. Bleſſed are the [d] meek (i. e. the Men of a ſweet, quiet, affable and courteous Diſpoſition,) for they ſhall inherit the Earth; (enjoying what is needful for them, with the greateſt quiet and tranquillity, and with moſt comfort, ſatisfaction, and contentedneſs of Mind.)

e 6. Bleſſed are they who do [e] hunger and thirſt after Righteouſneſs, (i. e. are as concerned to be righteous before God, walking in all the Commandments of the Lord blameleſs, as is the hungry Perſon to have Meat, or the thirſty to have drink) for they ſhall be filled; (i. e. be ſatisfied with the Enjoyment of it here, and the Completion and Reward of it hereafter.)

f 7. Bleſſed are [f] the merciful, (who out of pity to others under all their Infirmities, Wants, Miſeries, Indiſpoſitions of Soul or Body, are ready not only to forgive, and bear with their Infirmities, but to their Power to relieve, inſtruct, ſupport, comfort, and reclaim them from their evil ways;) for they ſhall obtain Mercy, (at the great day of their Accounts.)

g 8. Bleſſed are [g] the pure in Heart, (they whoſe Hearts are cleanſed from evil Thoughts, evil Concupiſcence, and evil Paſſions) for they ſhall ſee (and enjoy) God, (here and hereafter.)

h 9. Bleſſed are [h] the Peace-makers (who being themſelves of a peaceable temper, endeavour to promote Peace among others,) for they ſhall be called (i. e. ſhall be, ſee Note on Chap. 1. 23. and ſhall be owned as) the Children of God, (and as ſuch rewarded.)

i 10. Bleſſed are they which are [i] perſecuted for Righteouſneſs ſake, for theirs is the Kingdom of Heaven.

11. Bleſſed are ye when Men ſhall revile you, and perſecute you, and ſhall ſay all manner of evil againſt you falſly for my ſake.

12. Rejoyce and be exceeding glad, for great is your reward in Heaven, (who do thus patiently ſuffer for my Name's ſake upon Earth, your caſe being like that of the holy Prophets, who are now in Abraham's Boſom, and ſat down with him in the Kingdom of Heaven, Luke 13. 28.) for ſo perſecuted they (of this Nation) the Prophets which were before you.

k 13. Ye are (deſigned by me to be, as) [k] the Salt of the Earth, (to preſerve Mens manners from corruption, and give a good ſavour to their actions;) but if the Salt have loſt its ſavour, wherewith ſhall it be ſalted? (If you in example and converſation ſhould become unſavoury, there would be no recovering of you, and ſo it would be with you, as) it is (with unſavoury Salt, which is) thenceforth good for nothing, but to be caſt out and trodden under foot of Men; (and ſo you muſt expect to be caſt out by me into outer Darkneſs.)

l 14. [l] Ye are (appointed to be) the Light of the World, (and as) a City that is ſet on a Hill cannot be hid; (ſo neither in this eminent Station in which you are placed, can the Light of your Doctrine, or Manners be concealed.)

15. Neither (ſhould you endeavour to conceal them, for) do Men light a Candle, and put it under a Buſhel? (ſurely no) but on a Candleſtick, and (then) it giveth Light to all that are in the Houſe.

m 16. (Accordingly) [m] Let your Light ſo ſhine before Men, that they may ſee your good Works, and (on the account of them may have cauſe to) glorifie your Father, which is in Heaven.

n 17. (And tho' I preach a more ſpiritual Doctrine, than is contained in the Letter even of the moral Law, yet) [n] Think not that I am come to deſtroy (i. e. to diſſolve or looſe you from the Obligation of) the Law, and the Prophets; (for) I am not come to deſtroy, but to fulfil (them, to give you the full Senſe and the ſpiritual Import of the moral Law, and alſo to fulfil the Types, and the Predictions of the Law, and the Prophets.)

18. For

18. For verily I ſay unto you, till Heaven and Earth paſs (away) one jot, or one tittle ſhall in no wiſe paſs from the Law, (or the Prophets,) till all be fulfilled; (which was both typified in the Law, and foretold by the Prophets.)

o 19. Whoſoever therefore ° ſhall break one of theſe leaſt (Gr. the leaſt of theſe) Commandments, and ſhall teach Men ſo (to do,) he ſhall be called the leaſt in the Kingdom of Heaven; (i. e. he ſhall not be admitted as a true Member of my Kingdom;) but whoſoever ſhall do and teach them, the ſame ſhall be called great (i. e. he ſhall be an eminent Perſon) in the Kingdom of Heaven.

20. (And let it not be thought a ſufficient excuſe that your Scribes and Phariſees thus p teach;) For [p] I ſay unto you, that except your Righteouſneſs ſhall exceed the Righteouſneſs of the Scribes and Phariſees, (who by their Traditions exempt themſelves, and others, in many caſes from the obſervation of this Law, Mark 7. 8, 9.) ye ſhall in no wiſe enter into the Kingdom of Heaven.

q 21. [q] Ye have heard that it was ſaid by them of old time, (Gr. to them of old) thou ſhalt not kill, (Exod. 20. 13.) and whoſoever ſhall kill, ſhall be in danger of the Judgment, (Gen. 9. 6. Numb. 35. 31. and are taught by your Scribes, that by this Precept you are not obnoxious to guilt for any thing but Murther.)

r 22. But I ſay unto you, that [r] whoſoever is angry with his Brother without a Cauſe, ſhall be in danger of the Judgment, (or Anger of God,) and whoſoever ſhall ſay unto his Brother, Racha, (i. e. thou art an empty, worthleſs Fellow, fit to be whipped, or puniſhed as an idle Drone,) ſhall be in danger of the Council, (i. e. of being puniſhed by them, for vilifying, and reviling one of the Seed of Abraham;) but whoſoever (from the like Rancour of Spirit againſt his Brother, ſhall ſay (to him) thou Fool, (i. e. ſhall cenſure him as a profane Perſon, or an Hellhound,) ſhall be in danger of Hell Fire; (the Portion he aſſigneth to his Brother.)

s 23. [s] Therefore if thou bring thy Gift to the Altar, (to make Atonement for thy Sin,) and there remembreſt that thy Brother hath ought againſt thee; (i. e hath received from thee any Injury of this, or any other kind;)

24. Leave there thy Gift before the Altar, and go thy way, (and) firſt (uſe thy endeavour to) be reconciled to thy Brother, and then come and offer thy Gift; (it being not acceptable for the Atonement of thy Sins committed againſt God, till thou haſt thus endeavoured to make Satisfaction for thy Faults committed againſt thy Brother.)

25. (And if there be any Perſon to whom

t thou art indebted, and who upon that account may implead thee before the Judge,) [t] agree with thine Adverſary quickly, whilſt thou art in the way (to the Judge) with him, leſt at any time the Adverſary deliver thee to the Judge, and the Judge deliver thee to the Officer, (appointed for that purpoſe, and (ſo) thou be caſt into Priſon.

26. Verily I ſay unto thee, (if thou permit things to go ſo far,) thou ſhalt by no means come out thence till thou haſt paid the uttermoſt farthing; (and ſo will it alſo be if thou neglecteſt to be reconciled to God, and ſo be caſt thee into the infernal Priſon.

27. [u] Ye have heard that it was ſaid by (Gr. u to) them of old time, thou ſhalt not commit Adultery; (Exod. 20. 14.)

28. But (Know this is not all which is forbidden by that Precept, for) I ſay unto you, whoſoever looketh on a Woman to luſt after her, hath committed Adultery with her already in his Heart.

29. And (if then) thy right Eye offend thee (by thus luſting,) pluck it out, and caſt it from thee, (i. e. ſuppreſs all ſuch impure luſtings;) for it is profitable for thee that one of thy Members ſhould periſh, and not that thy whole Body ſhould be caſt into Hell; (i. e. it is better for thee to want theſe Delights at preſent, than by enjoying them, to plunge both Soul and Body into Hell.)

30. And if thy right Hand offend thee, (by miniſtring to this, or any other Sin,) cut it off, and caſt it from thee, for it is profitable for thee that one of thy Members ſhould periſh, and not that thy whole Body ſhould be caſt into Hell.

31. [w] It hath been ſaid, whoſoever ſhall w put away his Wife, let him give her a Writing of Divorcement, (and this being permitted for the Hardneſs of your Hearts, you think may lawfully be done for any Cauſe, Matth. 19. 3.)

32. But I ſay unto you, that (according to the primitive Inſtitution of Marriage,) whoſoever ſhall put away his Wife, ſaving for the cauſe of Fornication, cauſeth her to commit Adultery, (by giving her this occaſion to go and be married to another,) and whoſoever ſhall marry her that is (thus) divorced, committeth Adultery (with her.)

33. Again, [x] ye have heard that it hath x been ſaid by (Gr. to) them of old time, thou ſhalt not forſwear thy ſelf, but ſhalt perform unto the Lord thine Oaths; (Exod. 20. 7. Lev. 19. 12. and this you think is all that is criminal in Oaths, (viz.) to ſwear falſly by the Name of the great Jehovah.)

34. But I ſay unto you, ſwear not at all, (in your common Converſation) [y] neither by Hea- y ven, for it is God's Throne. (and ſo by ſwearing by it, thou ſweareſt by him who ſits upon it, Matth. 23. 22.)

35. Neither by the Earth, for it is his Footſtool, (and he that ſweareth by it, ſweareth alſo by him whoſe Footſtool it is;) neither by Jeruſalem, for it is the City of the great King, (and he that ſweareth by it, ſweareth alſo by him that dwelleth in it.)

z 36. Neither ſhalt thou ſwear [z] by thy Head, becauſe thou canſt not make one Hair white or black; (for the preſervation of that Life of which the Head is the Fountain, is not in thy power, but depends on him by whom we live; and therefore to ſwear by it, is in effect to ſwear by him who hath the power of Life and Death in his hands.)

aa 37. But let your Communication be [aa] yea, yea, nay, nay, (an ordinary, or at the moſt a redoubled Affirmation, or Negation,) for whatſoever is more than theſe cometh of Evil; (i. e. from ſome evil Principle, as want of Reverence of the great Name of God, or from that evil one who is the Enemy to God, and to his Honour.)

bb 38. [bb] Ye have heard that it hath been ſaid, (that he who maimeth any body, ſhall reſtore) an Eye for an Eye, and a Tooth for a Tooth; (Exod. 21. 24. If the maimed Perſon ſhall require the Judge to execute this Puniſhment on the Offender, and will not admit a pecuniary Compenſation;)

39. But I ſay unto you, that you reſiſt not Evil, (i. e. oppoſe not Violence to Violence,) but whoſoever ſhall ſmite thee on the right Cheek, turn to him the other alſo; (i. e. bear rather that Diſgrace redoubled patiently, than give him Stroke for Stroke:)

40. And if any Man will ſue thee at the Law, and take away thy Coat, let him have thy Cloak alſo; (i. e. ſuffer one ſmall and reparable Wrong after another, rather than contend by Law with him.)

41. And whoſoever ſhall compel thee to go a Mile, go with him twain; (rather than maintain thy Liberty by forcibly oppoſing his Compulſion.)

42. (And if Men do not uſe force, but only ask, or deſire to borrow of thee,) [cc] give to him that asketh of thee, (what thou haſt to ſpare,) and from him that would borrow of thee, turn not thou away. cc

43. [dd] Ye have heard that it hath been ſaid, thou ſhalt love thy Neighbour, and (this, by the Scribes and Phariſees, is interpreted as a permiſſion, to) hate thine Enemy. dd

44. [ee] But I ſay unto you, love your Enemies, bleſs them that curſe you, do good to them that hate you, and pray for them that deſpitefully uſe you, and perſecute you, (i. e. be kindly affected towards your Enemies, and ready to do good to them for Evil, and the good you cannot do your ſelves, pray that God would do for them.) ee

45. That (ſo) you may (appear to) be the Children of your Father which is in Heaven, (by your likeneſs to him) for he maketh his Sun to riſe on the evil and the good, and ſendeth Rain on the juſt, and on the unjuſt.

46. For if you (reſtrain your) love (to) them (only) which love you, what Reward have you? (i. e. what reaſon to expect any Reward from God for ſo doing? for) do not even the Publicans (whom you look upon as Men deſerted by God, do) the ſame?

47. And if ye ſalute (or kindly treat) your Brethren only, what do you more than others? do not even the Publicans ſo (alſo?)

48. Be ye therefore perfect, (in your Charity and Mercy to others,) even as your Father which is in Heaven is perfect; (and then your eminent good Works will eminently be rewarded by him.)

a Ver. 1. ΙΔΩΝ ὃ τὸς ὄχλους ἀνέβη εἰς τὸ ὄρος, καὶ καθισαν]ος αὐτὸ· And ſeeing the Multitude he went up into a Mountain, and ſitting down, his Diſciples came to him.] Here note (1.) That Chriſt ſeeing the Multitude, taught them; for tho' his Diſciples may be eſpecially concerned in ſome few Verſes of this fifth Chapter, yet is it certain from theſe words in the cloſe of this Sermon, (the Multitudes were aſtoniſhed at his Doctrine, for he taught them as one that had Authority;) that the Multitude not only heard, but were taught, the things contain'd in this Sermon, according to thoſe words of Chryſoſtom, μὴ τοῖς μαθηταῖς μόνον αὐτὸν νόμιζε διαλέγεσθαι, ἀλλὰ καὶ δι' ἐκείνων ἅπασιν.

Moreover it deſerveth to be noted, that the whole Multitude of them who attended on his Doctrine, and thought well of him, are called his Diſciples, and not the twelve Apoſtles only; ſo doth St. Luke inform us, by ſaying, he called to him his Diſciples, and out of them he choſe the Twelve, Luke 6. 13. and v. 17. that the whole Multitude of his Diſciples were then with him. So John 6. 66. From that time many of his Diſciples went back, and followed no more after him; and v. 67. He ſaid to the Twelve, Will ye alſo go away? What therefore was here ſpoken to his Diſciples, might alſo be ſpoken to the Multitude. (2.) This Sermon was ſpoken upon the Mount, which he made choice of, ſaith Dr. Hammond, that as the Law had been delivered from Mount Sinai, ſo might the preaching of the Goſpel, begin from a Mountain: Say others, that he might be the better heard by his Auditors, inſtructing us by his Example ſo to perform this Service, as may be moſt conducing to the advantage of the Hearers.

The Queſtion here raiſed by Interpreters, whether this Sermon be the ſame with that which which we find mentioned Luke the sixth, or only a like Sermon spoken at another time and place, is of some concern for the right understanding of the words; for if the Sermon be the same in both, and it were spoken only once by Christ, tho' it be set down twice by the Evangelists, the words of one Evangelist must be interpreted in a sense agreeable to the other, or else they cannot both be true. Whereas, if our Lord spake the words recorded by St. Luke at any other time and place, than the Discourse related by St. Matthew was delivered at, we may give different Interpretations to their words; and that this was so seems highly probable.

1*st*, Because St. Luke omits so many things recorded by St. Matthew as Parts of this Discourse, viz. all the fifth Chapter, from v. 13. to the 39. the whole sixth Chapter, and Chap. seventh, from ver. 6. to 16. that is, he omits the greatest part of this Sermon, and therefore it is probable he did not intend to set down the same Sermon; since otherwise it must be granted that he hath performed what he intended very imperfectly, and also added many Woes of which St. Matthew makes no mention.

2*dly*, As for the time, St. Matthew doth sufficiently inform us that his Sermon was delivered before the healing of the Leper, for as Christ came down from the Mount, the Leper came to him, Chap. 8. 2. whereas St. Luke, tho' he promiseth to discourse in order of what Christ did, gives us the Story of the Leper, Chap. 5. 12. and the History of Christ's Sermon after, Chap. 6. 17. Again, St. Luke reckons Matthew among those whom Christ had chosen to be of the Twelve, and ver. 17. he adds, that Christ went down with them and preached the following Sermon, whereas the Sermon mentioned by St. Matthew was preached long before his calling to be one of Christ's Disciples; for after Christ was come down from the Mount, had heal'd the Leper, and the Centurion's Servant, and had done many other things, He saw a Man sitting at the Receipt of Custom, named Matthew, and said unto him, Follow me, Chap. 9. 9. Whence it appears, that he was called long after the preaching this Sermon on the Mount, and yet before the preaching of the Sermon mention'd by St. Luke. Lastly, St. Matthew's Sermon was preached on the Mount by our Lord, calling his Disciples up to him; whereas St. Luke informs us, v. 17. that our Lord came down with his Disciples from a Mount, and stood in the Plain, and from thence preached what he recorded; wherefore the difference of these Sermons being so great both as to Matter, and to Circumstance of Time and Place, it seems most reasonable to conceive that they were severally spoken, and therefore may admit of divers Senses: Yet seeing soon after both these Sermons we find him entring into Capernaum, and healing the Centurion's Servant, Matth. 8. 5. Luke 7. 1. it may be probably conjectured that he spake the Sermon in St. Matthew, whilst he was sitting on the Mount, to his Disciples, and that in St. Luke, when he afterwards came down into the Plain with them, Luke 6. 17. in the Audience of all the People, Luke 7. 1.

Ver. 3. Μακάριοι οἱ πτωχοὶ τῷ πνεύματι· Blessed are the poor in Spirit.] Here note, b

1*st*, That by the poor in Spirit we are not to understand, as many R. Commentators do, such Persons as having Riches, and plentiful Possessions, do voluntarily quit them, and chuse a state of Poverty, as most conducing to the free exercise of Religion, as did some Eremites, and Monks of old, and as the Mendicants, or begging Friars of that Church pretend now to do; for it is assuredly the Duty of all Men, who would obtain this Bliss, to be poor in Spirit; whereas it cannot be the Duty of all Christians to turn Monks, and Friars Mendicant, to this end, for then all other R. Catholicks must be excluded from the Kingdom of Heaven. Nor,

2*dly*, Doth our Lord here pronounce this Blessing on the Poor properly so called, that is, on such as have no Riches and Possessions in this World, as being the most likely Persons to embrace that Gospel which calls for the forsaking all that they have, which they who have but little will be most easily persuaded to do, and so will be most ready to enter into the Kingdom of God. (1.) Because our Lord expresly limits this Beatitude not to the poor in Purse, or in Externals, but to the poor in Spirit. (2.) Because Christ actually pronounces that the poor he speaks of are blessed, and that theirs is the Kingdom of Heaven, which is not true of all or of the most part of those who, as to Temporals, are poor; for by Experience, we find they are often discontented with their state, are apt to steal, lie, flatter, and use sordid Arts to get a Penny, and have but little sense of Piety, but little Knowledge of, and less Concernment for Religion. And, (3.) this Interpretation seems to exclude the Rich, who do not actually quit their temporal Enjoyments, from any interest in the Kingdom of Heaven; whereas St. Paul only requires them to be rich in good Works, that they may lay hold of eternal Life, 1 Tim. 6. 18, 19. And therefore,

3*dly*, The most received, and best Interpretation of this Phrase, is this, that by the poor in Spirit, our Saviour understands the Man of a true, humble, lowly Spirit; this being the usual Expression by which the Scriptures and the Jewish Writers still represent the humble Man, that he is Shephal Ruach, i. e. poor, low, or contrite in his Spirit.

ſweareth alſo by him whoſe Footſtool it is;) neither by Jeruſalem, for it is the City of the great King, (and he that ſweareth by it, ſweareth alſo by him that dwelleth in it.)

z 36. Neither ſhalt thou ſwear [z] by thy Head, becauſe thou canſt not make one Hair white or black; (for the preſervation of that Life of which the Head is the Fountain, is not in thy power, but depends on him by whom we live; and therefore to ſwear by it, is in effect to ſwear by him who hath the power of Life and Death in his hands.)

39. But I ſay unto you, that you reſiſt not Evil, (i. e. oppoſe not Violence to Violence,) but whoſoever ſhall ſmite thee on the right Cheek, turn to him the other alſo; (i. e. bear rather that Diſgrace redoubled patiently, than give him Stroke for Stroke:)

40. And if any Man will ſue thee at the Law, and take away thy Coat, let him have thy Cloak alſo; (i. e. ſuffer one ſmall and reparable Wrong after another, rather than contend by Law with him.)

41. And whoſoever ſhall compel thee to go a Mile, go with him twain; (rather than maintain thy Liberty by forcibly oppoſing his Compulſion.)

42. (And if Men do not uſe force, but only ask, or deſire to borrow of thee,) [cc] give to him that asketh of thee, (what thou haſt to ſpare,) and from him that would borrow of thee, turn not thou away. cc

1*ſt*, That by the poor in Spirit we are not to underſtand, as many R. Commentators do, ſuch Perſons as having Riches, and plentiful Poſſeſſions, do voluntarily quit them, and chuſe a ſtate of Poverty, as moſt conducing to the free exerciſe of Religion, as did ſome Eremites, and Monks of old, and as the Mendicants, or begging Friars of that Church pretend now to do; for it is aſſuredly the Duty of all Men, who would obtain this Bliſs, to be poor in Spirit; whereas it cannot be the Duty of all Chriſtians to turn Monks, and Friars Mendicant, to this end, for then all other R. Catholicks muſt be excluded from the Kingdom of Heaven. Nor,

2*dly*, Doth our Lord here pronounce this Bleſſing on the Poor properly ſo called, that is, on ſuch as have no Riches and Poſſeſſions in this World, as being the moſt likely Perſons to embrace that Goſpel which calls for the forſaking all that they have, which they who have but little will be moſt eaſily perſuaded to do, and ſo will be moſt ready to enter into the Kingdom of God. (1.) Becauſe our Lord expreſly limits this Beatitude not to the poor in Purſe, or in Externals, but to the poor in Spirit. (2.) Becauſe Chriſt actually pronounces that the poor he ſpeaks of are bleſſed, and that theirs is the Kingdom of Heaven, which is not true of all or of the moſt part of thoſe who, as to Temporals, are poor; for by Experience, we find they are often diſcontented with their ſtate, are apt to ſteal, lie, flatter, and uſe ſordid Arts to get a Penny, and have but little ſenſe of Piety, but little Knowledge of, and leſs Concernment for Religion. And, (3.) this Interpretation ſeems to exclude the Rich, who do not actually quit their temporal Enjoyments, from any intereſt in the Kingdom of Heaven; whereas St. Paul only requires them to be rich in good Works, that they may lay hold of eternal Life, 1 Tim. 6. 18, 19. And therefore,

3*dly*, The moſt received, and beſt Interpretation of this Phraſe, is this, that by the poor in Spirit, our Saviour underſtands the Man of a true, humble, lowly Spirit; this being the uſual Expreſſion by which the Scriptures and the Jewiſh Writers ſtill repreſent the humble Man, that he is Shephal Ruach, i. e. poor, low, or contrite in his Spirit.

Spirit. So Prov. 16. 19. Better is it to be Shephal Ruach, of an humble Spirit with the Meek, than to divide the Spoil with the Proud, and Chap. 29. 23. the Pride of Man ſhall humble him, but Shephal Ruach, he that is of an humble Spirit obtaineth Glory. So Iſa. 66. 2. To whom will I look but to the poor in Spirit, which Chap. 57. 15. is Shephal Ruach, to the Man of an humble Spirit. Accordingly, in their (a) Pirk Avoth they have theſe Inſtructions, Be thou Shephal Ruach, humble in Spirit towards all Men, he that is Shephal Ruach is worthy of Honour, and the Holy Ghoſt will reſt upon him. And (b) great are the humble in Spirit in the Sight of God: And they who are thus poor in Spirit are bleſſed, becauſe their Humility rendring them teachable, ſubmiſſive, contented and obedient, prepares them to enter into Chriſt's Kingdom, and makes them living Members of his Body; and ſeeing they who are thus holy ſhall be alſo happy, they muſt be alſo meet to enter into the Kingdom of Glory hereafter.

c Ver. 4. Μακάριοι οἱ πενθοῦντες, Bleſſed are they that mourn;] Here note,

1*ſt*, That by the Mourners here, I do not think it reaſonable to underſtand Men whoſe condition in this World is ſad and lamentable, as being deſtitute of all thoſe outward things which render this Life comfortable, and perhaps alſo under great Afflictions; which ſome conceive to be the import of theſe words, becauſe a like Beatitude in St. Luke runs thus, Bleſſed are ye that weep now, for ye ſhall laugh. For (1.) if this Mourning did only import a Condition ſad and lamentable as to outward Circumſtances, then muſt the Laughter in St. Luke oppoſed to it, be only a Promiſe of outward temporal Felicity, which as it is no Goſpel Promiſe, ſo is it far from rendring any Perſon truly bleſſed. (2.) Becauſe either we muſt then pronounce all bleſſed who are in ſuch a lamentable ſtate, which is far from being true, there being many who fall into it by their own Sin and Folly, and many who being in it, are nothing better by it, as to the inward Frame and Diſpoſition of their Spirits; or elſe we muſt reſtrain this to them, who do thus ſuffer for the Name of Chriſt, and for the ſake of Righteouſneſs; and then it will not be the import of the ſecond, but of the eighth Beatituude. Nor,

2*dly*, Do I think, as ſome of the Fathers did, that the Mourners here are thoſe who mourn for the Sins of others, for the Iniquities committed by the Profeſſors of Chriſtianity, and eſpecially for the Sins committed in the Place, and Nation where they live; for tho' when Men thus weep out of a fixed Hatred to Sin, from a true Zeal for God, and a ſincere Affection for the Souls of Men, this muſt be highly acceptable in the Sight of God, and therefore matter of juſt Comfort to them alſo; yet the word mourn is general, and therefore ſeems not fit to be reſtrained unto ſuch Mourners in particular. The Mourner therefore here intended is the Perſon filled with that godly Sorrow which works Repentance not repented of, or not reverſed by our return again to the like Sins, 2 Cor. 7. 10. this Perſon muſt be bleſſed in the Pardon of his Sins, for bleſſed is he, whoſe Iniquity is forgiven, and whoſe Sin is covered, Rom. 4. 6, 7, 8. He alſo will be comforted with the aſſured Hope of future Happineſs; this true Repentance being ſtiled, Repentance unto Life, Acts 11. 18. Repentance to Salvation, 2 Cor. 7. 10.

Ver. 5. Μακάριοι οἱ πραεῖς, Bleſſed are the meek;] i. e. the Men of ſuch an happy Frame of Spirit, as renders them averſe from Wrath, even when they are provoked to it, by the Injuries they have received from others, and from retaliation, or recompenſing evil for evil; but on the contrary are inclined rather to remit ſomething of their right, and overcome evil with good; and by the ſweetneſs, friendlineſs, and affability of their Converſation, to reconcile and win their Brother to a Good-liking, and kind Affection to them. The Bleſſing promiſed to theſe meek Perſons is this, that they ſhall inherit the Earth, which words being taken from Pſal. 37. 11. cannot admit of that ſtrained Expoſition of ſome of the Ancients, who by the Earth underſtand Heaven, as being eminently the Land of the Living; for it is evident to a Demonſtration, that David did underſtand this of the preſent Earth, or of the Land of Canaan; for the Tenour of this whole thirty ſeventh Pſalm is deſigned to ſhew, that wicked Men ſhall by God's Judgments ſuddenly periſh, whilſt righteous Men lived eaſily, and quietly in the Land of Canaan. So ver. 9. Evil doers ſhall be cut off, but they that wait upon the Lord, they ſhall inherit the Earth; for yet a little while, and the wicked ſhall not be, but the meek ſhall inherit the Earth. They that are bleſſed of him ſhall inherit the Earth, and they that are curſed of him ſhall be rooted out. So ver. 34. Wait on the Lord, and keep his Way, and he ſhall exalt thee, τοῦ κληρονομῆσαι τὴν γῆν, to inherit the Earth: when the wicked are deſtroyed, thou ſhalt ſee it. 'Tis therefore well obſerved by Chryſoſtom upon the place, that becauſe the Jews had been oft taught this Leſſon in the Old Teſtament, our Saviour addreſſes himſelf to them in the Language they had been accuſtomed to: This Son of David repeateth, and confirmeth to them the Promiſe made by David. And this I judge

(a) Chap. 4. §. 4. 10. c. 5. 19.

(b) Euxt. Floril. p. 117.

judge to be the most natural, and truest Exposition of these words.

But then it must be noted, (2dly,) that our Saviour doth not here promise to advance the Meek unto an Affluence, or great Abundance of things temporal, to make him great in Power, or rich and wealthy in the World. For a Man's Life, i. e. the true Comfort and Satisfaction of it, consists not in the Abundance of the things which he possesseth, Luke 12. 15. and so we have no reason to expect those things which are not needful to the Comfort, and Satisfaction of our Lives. Experience shews that this is not the ordinary Portion of the Meek; and therefore doth sufficiently instruct us, that this is not the Blessing promised, by that God who cannot lie, or fail of the Performance of his Promise; and therefore positively this Phrase seems rather to import, that Meekness is the best way to the most sure Enjoyment of these things, as far as they are needful and convenient; and, (2dly,) to enjoy them with the greatest Quiet and Tranquillity, without that Strife, Debate, Anxiety, and Trouble, which imbitter the Enjoyment of these things to others; and, (3dly,) with the truest Comfort, Satisfaction, and Contentedness of Mind.

e Ver. 6. Μακάριοι οἱ πεινῶντες καὶ διψῶντες τὴν δικαιοσύνην, &c. Blessed are they that hunger, and thirst after Righteousness.] The Righteousness here mentioned, is by some thought to be the Righteousness of Faith, by which we being justified, or freed from the Guilt of Sin, have Peace with God, and this undoubtedly is a fit matter of our spiritual Thirst and Hunger; but yet I think this cannot be the proper import of the words; (1.) Because the word δικαιοσύνη, Righteousness, bears no such sense in the Gospel; but only in the Epistles of St. Paul; (2.) Because the Jews, to whom Christ speaks, had no Idea of this Righteousness, no Apprehension that their Messiah was to die, and much less that they should be justified by his Death; and therefore had Christ spoken of this Righteousness, none of them could have understood his meaning, as we may learn from his Discourse on this Subject, John 6. for the Jews could not understand it; wherefore the Righteousness here intended is that inherent Righteousness, which consists in a sincere endeavour to practise all those Duties which God requires at our Hands, and to eschew that Evil which he hath forbidden; in which sense Zacharias, and Elizabeth, are said to be both righteous before God, walking in all the Commandments of the Lord, blameless, Luke 1. 6. and it is represented as our Duty, to serve God in Righteousness, and Holiness, before him all the Days of our Life, v. 74, 75. and here 'tis said, that Except our Righteousness exceed the Righteousness of the Scribes and Pharisees, we can in no case enter into the Kingdom of God, ver. 20. To hunger and thirst after this Righteousness, is to be as sensible of the want of it, as fervently desirous to have it, as industrious to obtain it, as restless and incessant till we do enjoy it, as Men usually are when they are pinch'd with Hunger and Thirst. And they who stand thus affected to it, shall be satisfied with it, i. e. they shall have all the Means and Aids required to make them thus righteous here, and shall have the Reward of Righteousness hereafter, and so shall be blessed; for seeing it is God himself, who by his Word and Spirit, raises in them this Disposition towards Righteousness; since he inviteth every hungry Soul to eat of this spiritual Food, and saith to every thirsty Soul, Come drink of these Waters of Life; seeing this Righteousness renders them so acceptable, and well-pleasing in his Sight; and lastly, seeing he hath promised them this Satisfaction, they on all these accounts may rest assured, that they shall obtain this Food of the Soul. See Note on John 6. 27.

f Ver. 7. Μακάριοι οἱ ἐλεήμονες, Blessed are the merciful;] i. e. they who from an affecting sense of, a Sympathy with others, and a charitable Affection and Good-will towards them, are ready to relieve them as they are able, under all their Wants, to pity them in their Infirmities, to comfort and support them under their Calamities, and ready to forgive, and to shew Mercy to them when they have offended, and to pray to their heavenly Father to give them those Supports and Consolations we are not able to afford them; and who especially have this compassion for their Souls, by endeavouring to instruct the ignorant, and to reclaim the wicked from their evil ways; such merciful Persons shall be blessed both in the inward Comforts and Satisfaction they shall find arising from those Dispositions which render them so like to their heavenly Father, and also from that Mercy they shall obtain from him at the great day of their Accounts.

g Ver. 8. Μακάριοι οἱ καθαροὶ τῇ καρδίᾳ, Blessed are the pure in Heart.] They whose Hearts are pure from those evil Thoughts and Reasonings, those evil Desires, Lustings and Affections, those evil Passions and Perturbations, and from those evil Intentions, Devices and Machinations which defile the Soul, are blessed; for they are fitted to enjoy Communion with God here, 1 John 3. 3. and Happiness with him hereafter, Heb. 12. 14.

h Ver. 9. Μακάριοι οἱ εἰρηνοποιοὶ, Blessed are the Peace-makers;] i. e. (1.) the Men of a peaceable Mind, for as he that is inclined to Lying, is said to make a Lie, Rev. 22. 15. and he that is inclined to sin, ποιεῖν ἁμαρτίαν, to do, or make Sin, 1 John 3. 8. so he that is disposed to follow after the things which make make for Peace, may be ſtiled a Peace maker; (2.) They who endeavour in their Stations, and as occaſions do preſent themſelves, to preſerve Peace, Love, and Friendſhip, and to prevent Contentions, Quarrellings, and Diſcords among Chriſtian Brethren. And (3.) they who labour to promote the Peace and Quiet of the Publick, both in Church and State, are bleſſed, becauſe they ſhall be called, i. e. they are, and ſhall be owned by God, as his Sons, by reaſon of their likeneſs to the God of Peace, 1 Cor. 14. 33. 2 Cor. 13. 11. Philip. 4. 9. 2 Theſſ. 3. 16. See Note on Chap. 1. 23. and being Sons ſhall be Heirs of God, Joint-heirs with Chriſt, Rom. 8. 17. ſuch as ſhall reign with him in Glory; they ſhall be Sons of the Reſurrection, Luke 20. 36. and ſhall receive υἱοθεσίαν the Bleſſing conſequent on this Sonſhip, or Adoption, to wit, The Redemption of their Bodies from Corruption, Rom. 8. 23.

i Ver. 10. Μακάριοι οἱ δεδιωγμένοι ἕνεκεν δικαιοσύνης, Bleſſed are they which are perſecuted for the ſake of Righteouſneſs,] or for Chriſt's ſake, &c. i. e. (1.) for perſevering patiently and ſtedfaſtly in the Profeſſion of the Chriſtian Faith, or (2.) for the performance of that Duty, which they owe to God the Father, and our Lord Jeſus Chriſt, and to our Chriſtian Brother for their ſakes; or (3.) who are perſecuted, becauſe they do not own that as an Article of Faith, or any part of Chriſtian Duty, which God hath not declared to be ſo; for ſeeing this cannot be done without making profeſſion of a Lie, or ſaying we believe what we can ſee no reaſon to believe, to ſuffer for this cauſe is evidently to ſuffer becauſe we will not play the Hypocrites, or give the Lie to our own Conſciences; and therefore this in St. Peter's Language is to ſuffer for Conſcience towards God, and ſo to ſuffer wrongfully or unjuſtly. Yea, ſeeing this cannot be done, but we muſt own another Teacher, Lawgiver, and Author of our Faith, beſides the Lord Chriſt, our Sufferings for refuſing to do this, are truly Sufferings for the ſake of Chriſt; and ſuch as make us happy Sufferers, ſince Chriſt hath promiſed them the Bleſſings of his heavenly Kingdom, and hath aſſured them that great is their Reward in Heaven; and therefore as their ſtate on Earth under theſe Perſecutions, doth render them conformed to their Head, and like to the holy Prophets and Apoſtles; ſo ſhall they hereafter be like to them in Glory, Rom. 8. 17. 2 Tim. 2. 11.

k Ver. 13. Ὑμεῖς ἐστε τὸ ἅλας τῆς γῆς, Ye are the Salt of the Earth.] Sal ſapit omnia, Salt is given to make things ſavoury, according to that Queſtion of Job, Chap. 6. 6. Can that which is unſavoury be eaten without Salt? And alſo to ſave them from Putrefaction: See Note on Mark 9. 49. So that the import of this Metaphor is this; ye are appointed by that pure and holy Doctrine which you are to preach, and by the ſavour of your good Converſation, to purge the World from that Corruption in which it lies, and repreſent them to God as a Sacrifice of a ſweet ſmelling Savour, holy, and acceptable to God; but if you your ſelves ſhould loſe the ſavour of your good Converſation, and become puteified Members in my Body, you would be wholly uſeleſs to theſe good ends, and therefore can expect nothing but to be rejected by me, and caſt off, as unſavoury Salt is caſt unto the Dunghil.

l Ver. 14. Ὑμεῖς ἐστε τὸ φῶς τοῦ κόσμου, Ye are the Light of the World.] The effect of Light is to make things manifeſt, Eph. 5. 13. and to direct us in the way in which we are to walk. So that the import of this Metaphor ſeems to be this; I have appointed you to manifeſt to the World my Doctrine, which will diſcover to them what is the good, and acceptable, and perfect Will of God, and ſo direct their Feet into the way that leadeth to eternal Life, and will enable them to walk as Children of the Light; and if you do not hide this Light from them, but cauſe it to ſhine forth both in your Doctrine and Chriſtian Converſation, the Light of it is ſo clear and radiant, that it cannot be hid from them.

m Ver. 16. Οὕτω λαμψάτω τὸ φῶς ὑμῶν. So (therefore) let (this) your Light ſhine before Men, that they may (from your Converſation, as well as from your Doctrine) ſee your good Works, and (then they will ſee cauſe to) glorifie your Father which is in Heaven.] Hence note,

1*ſt*, That tho' Chriſt's twelve Apoſtles are chiefly concerned in theſe Metaphors, yet are they in ſome meaſure applicable to all Chriſtians; for it is the Duty of all Chriſtians to ſhine as Lights in the World, Philip. 2. 15. And Chriſt having ſaid, He that forſaketh not all he hath, cannot be my Diſciple; preſently ſubjoins, Salt is good, but if the Salt hath loſt its Savour, wherewith ſhall it be ſalted? Luke 14. 33, 34. Note,

2*dly*, That the good Works here mentioned, muſt be ſuch as by the Light of Nature ſeem good and honourable in the ſight of Men, becauſe they muſt give occaſion even to Heathens to think well of Chriſtianity; theſe Works may therefore be performed to be ſeen of Men, provided we deſire this not from Oſtentation, but for God's Glory, and their Edification; that they diſcerning the Holineſs, Juſtice, and Goodneſs of his Precepts, and the excellent Effects they have on thoſe who do embrace them, may thereby be convinced that they are derived from a God juſt, holy, and full of Kindneſs and Good-will towards Men.

n Ver. 17. Μὴ νομίσητε ὅτι ἦλθον καταλῦσαι τὸν νόμον, ἢ τοὺς προφήτας· Think not that I am come to deſtroy (Gr. diſſolve) the Law or the Prophets;] Our Lord hath taught us that all the Law and the Prophets are comprehended in theſe two Precepts, Thou ſhalt love the Lord thy God with all thy Heart, &c. and thou ſhalt love thy Neighbour as thy ſelf, Matth. 22. 40. St. Paul, that he who loves his Neighbour as himſelf, νόμον πεπλήρωκε, hath fulfilled the Law, Rom. 13. 8. And that the whole Law πληροῦται is fulfilled, Gal. 5. 14. or is perfected, Jam. 2. 8. in this, Thou ſhalt love thy Neighbour as thy ſelf; it is not therefore to be thought that Chriſt came to diſſolve the moral Law, or any Rules of Morality delivered by the Prophets, but he came rather that the Righteouſneſs of the Law πληρωθῇ, might be fulfilled by us, who walk not after the Fleſh, but after the Spirit, Rom. 8. 4. And that this is the Law chiefly intended here, may be concluded. (1.) Becauſe Chriſt only undertakes the true Interpretation of the Precepts, which reſpect the moral Law; in theſe alone can he be rationally conceived to require our Righteouſneſs ſhould exceed that of the Scribes and Phariſees, not in the literal obſervance of the Ritual Precepts, in which they were exactly ſcrupulous, whilſt they neglected Judgment, Mercy, and the Love of God. And of them only could he ſay, That he who brake the leaſt of them, and taught Men ſo to do, ſhould be the leaſt in his Kingdom, v. 19, 20. Since otherwiſe the Apoſtle Paul muſt have been chief in that Number. (2.) As for the Rituals of the Law and Prophets, our Lord declares, the Law and the Prophets were till John, Luke 16. 16. and ſays the time was coming, when neither in Samaria, nor in Jeruſalem ſhould they worſhip the Father, but ſhould worſhip him every where in a more ſpiritual manner, Joh. 4. 22, 23, 24. Yea, he foretels the Diſſolution of that Temple, and Jewiſh Polity, on which their ritual and judicial Precepts did depend, Chap. 24. St. Paul informs us, that the Law was only given till the promiſed Seed ſhould come, Gal. 3. 19. and that he being come, we were no longer under the Pedagogy of the Law. That Chriſtians were dead to the Law through the Body of Chriſt, Rom. 7. 4, 6. that they were looſed from the Law, that being dead, under which they were held, v. 6. that it was evacuated, 2 Cor. 3. 11. that they were redeemed from it by Chriſt, Gal. 4. 5. and that they ought no more to be ſubject to that Yoke of Bondage, or return to thoſe beggarly Elements, v. 9. and Chap. 5. 1. that Chriſt had broken down this Partition-wall, and evacuated that Law of Commandments, Eph. 2. 14, 15. that he had blotted out that Hand-writing of Ordinances, and took it out of the way, nailing it to his Croſs, Coloſ. 2. 14. that it was only to continue to the time of Reformation, Heb. 9. 10. that the Prieſthood being changed, there was a neceſſity of the change of the Law, Chap. 7. 12. and that there was a diſannulling of the Commandment going before, becauſe of the Weakneſs and Unprofitableneſs of it, v. 18. Which things ſeem inconſiſtent with the Doctrine that Chriſt came not to diſſolve that ceremonial Law, from which he freed all Chriſtians, and made them dead to it, by his Body, evacuating this Hand-writing of Ordinances, and taking it out of the way, by nailing it to his Croſs. Nor ſeems it here ſufficient to ſay, This Law was not aboliſhed by Chriſt, but vaniſhed by the Maturity of the time appointed for the continuance of it; ſeeing it therefore only vaniſhed becauſe Chriſt came to evacuate it by his Death and Croſs; and what he came to take away, he came alſo to diſſolve. But, (3*dly*,) Theſe Rites may be conſidered as they were typical of things future, and were a ſhadow of good good things to come by Chriſt, Col. 2. 17. Heb. 10. 1. The Prophets alſo may be look'd upon as fore-telling his Days, and ſpeaking of the things he was to do and ſuffer, and of his future Glory, and the glad Tidings of the Goſpel, Acts 3. 24. 1 Pet. 1. 10, 11, 12. of the Converſion of the Jews at the cloſe of the World, the Fall of Antichriſt, the coming in of the Fulneſs of the Gentiles, and the final Judgment; and in this ſenſe, Chriſt came not to diſſolve the Law and the Prophets, but to fulfil them, by exhibiting the Antitype and Subſtance, of which theſe Rituals were the Types, and Shadows; and fulfilling theſe Propheſies, and taking care the truth of theſe things ſhould not fail; nor ſhould the Law and the Prophets ceaſe to have their force, till theſe things were accompliſhed; and ſo the Phraſe ἕως πάντα γένηται occurs, importing the performance of what was typified by the Law, and foretold by the Prophets. So Luke 21. 32. This Generation ſhall not paſs away, ἕως ἂν πάντα γένηται, till all things foretold by me be done, Matth. 24. 34. Mark 13. 30. And, (4*thly*,) Many of theſe ritual Precepts had a ſpiritual Senſe; as the Circumciſion of the Fleſh denoted the Spiritual Circumciſion of the Heart, the Reſt of the Sabbath; a Reſt remaining for the People of God, &c. on which account the Apoſtle declares, not only that the Law was holy, juſt, and good, but that it was alſo ſpiritual, Rom. 7. 12, 14. And in this ſenſe Chriſt came not to diſſolve the Law, but to fulfil, eſtabliſh and perfect it, by changing him that was a Jew outwardly to one inwardly; and the Circumciſion of the Fleſh in the Letter, to the Circumciſion of the Heart in the Spirit, Rom. 2. 29. and by circumciſing us, not with the Circumciſion made with Hands, but with the Circumciſion of Chriſt, Col. 2. 11. that we might be the true Circumciſion who ſerve God in the Spirit, Phil. 3. 3. And, (5*thly*,) By one Iota, or Tittle of the Law, I underſtand one Precept of it, according to that Saying of the Jews, 'Twere better one Letter of the Law ſhould be razed out, i. e. one Precept of it ſhould be violated, than that the Name of God ſhould be openly blaſphemed. And as for thoſe words, till Heaven and Earth paſs away, they muſt be underſtood only of the Moral Law, or elſe muſt bear the ſenſe which St. Luke gives of them, chap. 16. 17. Sooner may Heaven and Earth paſs away, than God fail of accompliſhing the things typified by the Law, or foretold by the Prophets. Moreover, Some of theſe Types relating not only to ſpiritual, but to heavenly things; the Reſt of the Sabbath being typical of the Reſt remaining to the People of God, Heb. 3. and 4. The Tabernacle being a Shadow of the heavenly Tabernacle made without Hands, and the Law being the Shadow of future good things, Heb. 10. 1. And the Prophets foretelling thoſe things which were not to be completely fulfill'd till end of the World, or the Day of Judgment, our Saviour might well ſay, Heaven and Earth ſhall paſs away, but one jot or tittle of the Law, ſhall not paſs away till all things be fulfilled; ſome of the things typified by the Law, and foretold by the Prophets, being then only to be fulfilled, when Heaven and Earth were to paſs away.

o Ver. 19. Ὅστις οὖν λύσῃ, Whoſoever therefore ſhall break one of theſe leaſt Commandments, he ſhall be called the leaſt in the Kingdom of Heaven:] Ἐλάχιστος κληθήσεται, he ſhall be called leaſt, i. e. he ſhall be unworthy to be reckoned one of the Members of my Kingdom. So, I am the leaſt of the Apoſtles, is, I am unworthy to be called an Apoſtle, 1 Cor. 15. 9. Note alſo, that Chriſt is ſpeaking not of the Precepts of his New Law, but of the Precepts of the Moral Law, of which he had diſcourſed in the two preceding Verſes, as is apparent from the illative Particle οὖν, therefore. Moreover, it ſeems harſh, either to refer this to the Beatitudes which ended ver. 12. or to the following Precepts, of which Chriſt had yet ſpoken nothing. And, Laſtly, It is probable that Chriſt may here reflect on thoſe Scribes and Phariſees, who by their Traditions exempted themſelves, and taught others not to obſerve ſome of thoſe Moral Precepts, and might hint, that how highly ſoever they were valued by themſelves, or others, for their skill in the Law, ſuch Teachers of it ſhould be of no account in his Kingdom.

p Ver. 20. Λέγω γὰρ ὑμῖν· For I ſay unto you, except your Righteouſneſs exceed the Righteouſneſs of the Scribes and Phariſees;] i. e. Except (1.) ye obſerve all the Precepts of the Moral Law, not making any of them void by your Traditions, not leaving undone the more weighty matters of the Law, Judgment, Mercy and Faith, as they do, Matth. 23. 23. not thinking to atone for the neglect of ſome of them by your obſervance of the reſt. See Note on James 2. 10. (2.) Unleſs you do obſerve this Law, not only according to the outward Man and in the Letter, but alſo in the ſpiritual ſenſe, and ſo as to cleanſe your Hearts from thoſe inward Diſpoſitions, which are in God's ſight Violations of it, and defile the Man, you will not be fitted to enter into my Kingdom: That in both theſe things the legal Righteouſneſs of the Scribes and Phariſees was deficient, is clear, (1.) From our Saviour's care to teach them, it was not ſufficient to obſerve what was ſaid to them of old, according to the Letter only, but that they were to regard the higher and ſpiritual ſenſe of it, not only not to kill, but not to be angry without cauſe, &c. (2.) That Adultery might be committed in the Heart as well as in the outward Action, ver. 28. and that what cometh out of the Heart, defileth a Man: Which Doctrine the Phariſees were ſo unacquainted with, that they were offended at it, Matth. 15. 12. And Joſephus, who was well acquainted with their Doctrine, declares Polybius miſtaken, when he ſaith, Antiochus Epiphanes periſhed, becauſe he would have robb'd Diana's Temple of its Treaſure; for ſaith he, (c) Τὸ γὰρ μηκέτι ποιῆσαι τὸ ἔργον βεβλασφήμου ἂν ὄντι τιμωρίας ἄξιον, He deſerved no puniſhment for what he only would have done, but did not. And Kimchi, on theſe words of David, Pſ. 66. 18. If I regard Iniquity in my Heart, the Lord will not hear me; comments thus, He will not impute it to me for Sin; for God does not look upon an evil Thought as Sin, unleſs it be conceived againſt God, or Religion.

q Ver. 21. Ἠκούσατε ὅτι ἐρρέθη τοῖς ἀρχαίοις, Ye have heard, it hath been ſaid by (to) them of old, Thou ſhalt not kill; ἐγὼ δὲ λέγω ὑμῖν, but I ſay to you, whoſoever is angry with his Brother, &c.] That τοῖς ἀρχαίοις, is here to be rendred in the Dative caſe, may be concluded, (1.) From the words, I ſay unto you, where ὑμῖν is undoubtedly the Dative caſe. (2.) Becauſe the word ἐρρέθη elſewhere, is always joined to this Caſe, ſo Rom. 9. 12. ἐρρέθη αὐτῇ, it was ſaid to her; and, ver. 26. ἐρρέθη αὐτοῖς, it was ſaid to them. Gal. 3. 16. The Promiſes τῷ Ἀβραὰμ ἐρρέθησαν, were ſpoken to Abraham. So Rev. 9. 4. 11. And where mention is made of a thing ſpoken by another, the Phraſe is ſtill τὸ ῥηθὲν ὑπό, or τὸ ῥηθὲν ὑπέ. (3.) Becauſe the words thus cited by our Lord, are words ſpoken to them of old, as,

(c) Antiq. Lib. 12, 13.

Thou ſhalt not commit Adultery, ver. 27. Thou ſhalt not forſwear thy ſelf, but ſhalt perform unto the Lord thine Oaths, ver. 23. And here, Thou ſhalt not kill, Exod. 20. 13. and, Whoſoever killeth, ſhall be obnoxious to the Judgment, Gen. 9. 6. Num. 35. 31. You ſhall take no ſatisfaction for the Life of a Man, ἐνόχος ἔστω ἀναιρεθῆναι, worthy to be cut off by the Hand of Judgment, he ſhall die. Of the Queſtion, whether Chriſt here adds to the Law of Moſes, or rather declares thoſe things belong to the true ſcope and the intention of it, which the Scribes and Phariſees never thought, or at leaſt taught not their Scholars ſo to be, ſee the Appendix to this Chapter. I incline to this laſt Opinion, and therefore give this ſenſe to the words: You have heard it ſaid by Moſes to them of old, Thou ſhalt not kill, and underſtand not, that by this Precept, you are obnoxious to Guilt for any thing but Murther: But I ſay to you, that by the genuine import of it, all cauſeleſs Anger againſt our Brother, all contemptuous Expreſſions and Treatment of him, all raſh Judgment of him as a profane and wicked Perſon, are forbidden, as being either diſpoſitions to Murther, or to neglect the welfare of our Brother's Life and Soul: And therefore ſay, r Ver. 22. Ὅτι πᾶς ὁ ὀργιζόμενος τῷ ἀδελφῷ αὐτοῦ εἰκῇ, That whoſoever is angry with his Brother without a cauſe, ſhall be obnoxious to the Judgment.] For Explication of which words, note, (1.) That they ſeem not rightly to interpret theſe words, who refer them to the Judgment of the three Sanhedrims of the Jews; (1.) Becauſe the Sanhedrim is only mentioned in the ſecond Gradation: Nor, (2.) did it belong to the lower Court of three Men, to judge of capital Cauſes; and ſo thoſe words, the Murtherer ſhall be obnoxious to the Judgment, ver. 21. cannot belong to them, and therefore the words here repeated cannot belong to them: Nor, (3.) can Hell-fire be properly applied to the Judgment of the higheſt Sanhedrim. Let it be therefore noted, (2.) That the Jews held that many Murtherers were not to be puniſhed by the Judgment of the Sanhedrim, but only by the Judgment of the Hand of God; and that the word Rekah, which ſignifies a vain, empty Fellow, was uſed as a word of Scorn and Contempt: Now the vilifying a Jew, was a thing puniſhable by the Sanhedrim: The word Fool, both in the Scripture and the Jewiſh Phraſe, ſignifies a prophane and wicked Fellow, or as we ſay, an Hell-hound; for, the Wicked ſhall be turned into Hell: So in thoſe words, Pſal. 14. 1. The Fool hath ſaid in his Heart, there is no God. This then may be the import of theſe words, He that is ſubject to unjuſt and cauſeleſs Anger, ſhall be obnoxious to the Anger and Judgment of God; he that publickly reviles his Brother, ſhall be obnoxious to the publick Cenſure of the Council; and he that repreſents and cenſures him as a Child of Hell, ſhall be obnoxious to Hell-fire: According to that ſaying of the Jews, He that calls another Baſtard, let him be puniſhed with forty Stripes; but he that calls him Fool, let him deſcend with him into his Life, i. e. into his Miſery. Note, (3.) That theſe words, Vain and Fooliſh, when they are uſed by Men aſſiſted by the Spirit of God, or ſpeaking by virtue of their Office, out of a Spirit of Charity, and an ardent deſire to make Men ſenſible of their Folly, do not render them obnoxious to this Guilt: Not St. James, when he calls the Solifidian, Vain Man, chap. 2. 20. Not St. Paul, when he ſaith, O fooliſh Galatians! Gal. 3. 1. and much leſs Chriſt, when he ſtiles the Phariſees, Fools and Blind, Mat. 23. 17. and when he ſaith to his Diſciples, Oh Fools and ſlow of Heart, Luke 24. 25. but only then when they proceed from raſh and cauſeleſs Anger, rancour of Spirit, and ill-will toward them. Note, (4*thly*,) That God in forbidding Murther, forbiddeth alſo thoſe things which tend and diſpoſe us to it; all raſh Anger, Hatred, Rancour of Spirit, Malice, all that Contempt of others, which may make us not to value their Lives, and ſo not fear much the diſpatching them out of the way; all that reproachful Language which begets ſuch Strifes, as too often end in Blood. Ye fight and kill, James 4. 2. That in forbidding the outward Act, he forbids all inward Workings of the Heart towards that Act, all Deſires, Machinations and Contrivances, all Purpoſes or Reſolutions ſo to do: Out of the Heart come evil Thoughts, Murthers, Matth. 15. 19. And that by forbidding us to kill, he commands us to do what we are able, to preſerve our Brother's Life. See Note on Luke 6. 9. And, Laſtly, That by forbidding us to kill the Body, he much more doth forbid us to kill the Soul, or ſuffer that to periſh, as did the Scribes and Phariſees; ſuffering the Sinner and the Publican to periſh, by their refuſal to converſe with them, tho' it were to ſave that which was loſt, or to call Sinners to Repentance. Note, (5*thly*,) From thoſe words, He that is angry with his Brother without a cauſe, that ſome Anger may be juſt and lawful, not as it is defined to be ὄρεξις ἀντιλυπήσεως, a deſire of Revenge, or doing Evil to another, purely becauſe he hath done ſo to me; we being forbidden to avenge our ſelves, Rom. 12. 19. or even to ſay, we will do to others as they have dealt with us, Prov. 24. 29. But, as it is an inward Commotion and Diſpleaſure of the Mind, ariſing from the apprehenſion of ſome Evil done to me, or others for whom I am concerned, with a deſire to remove the Evil; and in this ſenſe Anger cannot be always ſinful: 1*ſt*, Becauſe ſome Anger hath been found, even in that Jeſus who did no ſin, 1 Pet. 2. 22.

as when the cauſe of God and Piety were much concerned; for, he look'd upon the Phariſees with Anger, being grieved for the hardneſs of their Hearts, Mark 3. 5.

2*dly*, Becauſe Anger is a Paſſion implanted in us by the God of Nature; if therefore it were wholly evil in its Exerciſe, that God who is the Author of it, muſt be the Author of our Sin, whereas the juſt Avenger of it can never be the Author of Sin.

3*dly*, Becauſe we are only bid to be ſlow to Anger, James 1. 19. and not to be haſty in our Spirits to exert this Paſſion, Prov. 14. 29. whereas that which is always evil, we ought not only to be ſlow to do, but always careful to avoid.

S Ver. 23. Ἐὰν οὖν προσφέρῃς τὸ δῶρόν σου ἐπὶ τὸ θυσιαστήριον· If therefore thou bringeſt thy Gift unto the Altar, &c.] Here note,

1*ſt*, That it was cuſtomary with the Jews, who lived at ſome diſtance from Jeruſalem, to reſerve their Oblations till the next Feaſt; at which they were obliged to attend, and then to offer them; ſo that they might eaſily comply with this Precept.

2*dly*, The Scribes and Phariſees held, That the Gifts and Sacrifices brought to the Temple, were ſufficient to expiate for all Offences, which were not to be puniſhed by the Judge, (except thoſe which required reſtitution to be made firſt,) and that without amendment of Life; and therefore Chriſt here teacheth in oppoſition to them, that no Sacrifice, or other Worſhip, could be acceptable to God, without Juſtice and Charity, and a Mind reconciled to our Brother; and that they did in vain attempt to propitiate an offended God, till they had made ſatisfaction for the Injuries done to their Brother. And that therefore, when they had injured him by cauſeleſs Anger, reproachful Language, or undue and uncharitable Cenſures of his State, or any other way, they ſhould endeavour to be reconciled to him before they ſought to render God propitious to themſelves; at leaſt, by doing all things on their part neceſſary to give him Satisfaction, and obtain his Friendſhip; ſo that if they prevail not, the Fault ſhall be in him, and not in them. Note,

(3*dly*,) That the Duties of Juſtice and Charity are more acceptable to God than Sacrifices, or any other part of outward Worſhip; theſe being only of poſitive Inſtitution, (whilſt the others are Duties required by the Law of Nature,) and ſo to be left undone, that we may do the other.

t Ver. 25. Ἴσθι εὐνοῶν τῷ ἀντιδίκῳ σου ταχύ; Agree with thine Adverſary quickly, &c.] Epiſcopius here ſaith, Theſe words cannot be properly underſtood, becauſe raſh Anger, reproachful Speeches, and calling a man Fool, could not be puniſhed with impriſonment; but 'tis evident, that our Saviour is not now ſpeaking of theſe things, but having told us what we ought to do to gain our Brother's Favour, when we had given him juſt cauſe of Offence; he here counſels us what to do when we lie at his Mercy for our Debts due to him, viz. to do all we can amicably to compound the Matter, leſt being brought before the Magiſtrates, we ſhould be put in Priſon. Now theſe Magiſtrates were to be in all their Gates, Deut. 16. 18. that is, in all their Cities; (if the City were ſmall, it had only the Conſiſtory of three Judges; if large, that of Twenty three; and both theſe are ſtiled ἄρχοντες, Luke 12. 58.) and from them the Creditor might appeal to the higher Sanhedrim, here ſtiled the Judge by way of Eminency; and theſe Conſiſtories had their Schoterim, Officials, Apparitors, or Executors of their Sentence, called here ὑπηρέται, and Luke 12. 58. πράκτορες, who carried him to Priſon who was ſentenced thither, or inflicted the Puniſhment to which the Conſiſtory adjudg'd him. Here then δι' ὑπονοίας is inſinuated, how much more it concerns us in time to repent of our Offences againſt God, and to endeavour to be reconciled to him, leſt we be caſt into the infernal Priſon, according to that good Advice of the Son of Syrach, Before Judgment examine thy ſelf, and in the Day of Viſitation thou ſhalt find Mercy, humble thy ſelf before thou beeſt ſick, and in the time of Sins ſhew Repentance, and defer not until Death to be juſtified, Eccluſ. 18. 20, 21, 22.

Ver. 27. Ἠκούσατε ὅτι ἐρρέθη τοῖς ἀρχαίοις u οὐ μοιχεύσεις, Ye have heard, that it hath been ſaid to them of old, Ye ſhall not commit Adultery.] And this the Rabbins interpret ſtrictly, calling it the 35th Precept, forbidding to lye with another Man's Wife; on which account our Lord proceeds to ſay, 'Tis alſo a Prohibition of all incitements to Adultery, called by St. Peter, The Adulterous Eye, 2 Pet. 2. 14. and by the Poet Adultera Mens, the Adultery of the Heart, in luſting after any Woman; only this ſeems not to be meant of every ſudden Deſire ariſing in us before we are aware, and ſuppreſſed, and contradicted as ſoon as 'tis obſerved; but of moroſe Deſires which we conſent to, and entertain with pleaſure, without retracting them; and more eſpecially, of ſuch Deſires which are followed with contrivance how to accompliſh what we thus deſire, and which we are only reſtrained from the accompliſhment of, by want of opportunity; in the firſt caſe, Luſt hath conceived and brought forth Sin, a Sin againſt this Precept, as it forbids all incentives to Adultery; in the ſecond it is finiſhed in the Will, and hath brought forth Death; and doubtleſs, will be ſo eſteemed by that God, who, as he eſtimates our good Actions, rather from our good Minds, Purpoſes and Intentions, than from the Act it ſelf, which oft times 'tis not in our power to perform; ſo will he eſtimate our evil Actions, more from from the full conſent of the Will, which makes them morally evil, than from that Fact which only renders them more evil in the ſame kind, as adding to them Scandal, and Injury to others. And therefore the words, Adultery in his Heart, are not here uſed to diminiſh the Adultery, or ſignifie it is leſs truly ſuch, but to ſhew the true interpretation of the Precept. And tho' many things are produced from the Talmudiſts, to ſhew ſome of their Rabbins condemned this looking on a Woman, as a very vile thing: yet nothing is produced from them, to ſhew they held it forbidden by this Precept.

w Ver. 31, 32. Ἐῤῥέθη δὲ ὅτι ὃς ἂν ἀπολύσῃ τὴν γυναῖκα αὐτοῦ, It hath been ſaid, Whoſoever ſhall put away his Wife, &c.] Here Chriſt ſaith not, as before, It hath been ſaid to them of old, but only it hath been ſaid; to note, that this was not a Precept given by Moſes to divorce their Wives, as the Phariſees ſuggeſted, Chap. 19. 7. but only a permiſſion in ſome caſes ſo to do, as our Lord there anſwers, ver. 8. Of what farther relates to this, and the following Verſe, ſee Note on Chap. 19. 7, 9.

x Ver. 33. Ἠκούσατε ὅτι ἐῤῥέθη τοῖς ἀρχαίοις Οὐκ ἐπιορκήσεις, Ye have heard, it hath been ſaid to them of old, Thou ſhalt not forſwear thy ſelf.] For Explication of which words, let it be noted,

1*ſt*, That Chriſt by this Prohibition, muſt not be ſuppoſed to forbid all ſwearing, as a thing abſolutely evil; for in thoſe Writings which were indited by the Holy Ghoſt, St. Paul doth often ſeal the truth of what he delivered with an Oath, ſaying, God is my witneſs, that without ceaſing I make mention of you in my Prayers, Rom. 1. 9. In the Epiſtle to the Galatians, he gives a large account of his Converſion and Apoſtleſhip, which concludes thus, Now the things which I write unto you, behold, before God, I lie not, Gal. 1. 20. Having given the Corinthians a Catalogue of his great Sufferings for the Goſpel's ſake, becauſe it might be thought incredible that any ſober Perſon would, or that the ſtouteſt Perſon could endure ſo many, and ſo dreadful Sufferings, he concludes thus, The God and Father of our Lord Jeſus Chriſt, knoweth that I lie not, 2 Cor. 11. 31. To confirm his tender Love to the ſame Church, he ſaith, I call God to record upon my Soul, that to ſpare you, I came not yet to Corinth, 2 Cor. 1. 23. To manifeſt his paſſionate Affection to the Philippians, God, ſaith he, is my record, how greatly I long after you, Philip. 1. 8. Now theſe Examples prove, that Bleſſed Paul, and that good Spirit by which he was directed thus to write, did not conceive all ſwearing to be forbidden by our Saviour's words, but that it was ſtill lawful, when the Matter was of great importance to the welfare of the Souls of Men, and could not be confirm'd any other way, to ſeal it with a voluntary Oath: Now undoubtedly, St. Paul well underſtood the Mind of Chriſt in this his Prohibition; and therefore had he conceived it ſo univerſal, as ſome contend it is, he would not have encouraged others, by his Example, to tranſgreſs it.

It is confeſſed, The words both in the Prohibition of our Saviour, and St. James, are univerſal; Swear not at all; ſwear not by Heaven, nor by Earth, or any other Oath: But it is alſo certain, that Chriſt and his Apoſtles do often uſe ſuch general Expreſſions, which yet muſt neceſſarily admit of Limitations. Thus 1 Cor. 6. 7. we meet with an Expreſſion, which in the Greek is fully parallel to this, viz. ὅλως ἥττημα, 'tis altogether faulty in you, that you go to Law one with another; why do you not rather ſuffer your ſelves to be defrauded? Which notwithſtanding, no Man, except ſome few Scicinians, thinks it unlawful to go to law, for Preſervation of his own Family, or to ſecure the Goods of Orphans, Widows, or the Poor committed to his Truſt, when theſe things cannot be ſecured, or preſerved by any other means. Chriſt hath expreſly ſaid, Give to every Man that asketh of thee, and of him that taketh away thy Goods, ask them not again, Luke 6. 30. and yet as God himſelf gives not to them that ask amiſs, that they may make Proviſion for their Luſts, Jam. 4. 3. ſo neither muſt the Chriſtian give to ſuch an Asker; and it is evidently repugnant to the Law of Nature, and Self-preſervation, tamely to bear the Loſs of all that's neceſſary to our Subſiſtence here, without endeavouring to preſerve, or to recover it, when taken from us; as therefore theſe, and many other Paſſages of Scripture delivered in univerſal Terms, muſt be reſtrained by other Scriptures, that ſo they may not ſeem to enjoin Abſurdities, or thwart the Law of Nature, or the Voice of Reaſon; ſo muſt the words we now diſcourſe of, be reſtrained, and limited by others, which we meet with in the word of God. Eſpecially if (2*dly*,) we conſider, that Chriſt himſelf, after this Prohibition given, ſeems to ſwear; for Mark 8. 12. we read thus, Verily I ſay unto you, εἰ δοθήσεται τῇ γενεᾷ ταύτῃ σημεῖον, if a Sign ſhall be given to this Generation, which is an Hebrew from of Swearing, and imports thus much, Let God puniſh me, or let me not live, if a Sign be given to this Generation. So Deut. 1. 35. The Lord was wroth, and ſwore, ſaying, εἰ ὄψεται, ne vivam, if any of theſe Men ſhall ſee the good Land of Promiſe, Pſal. 95. 11. So I ſware in my wrath, εἰ εἰσελεύσονται, mentiar, if they ſhall enter into my Reſt, So 1 Sam. 3. 14. I have ſworn touching the Houſe of Eli, εἰ ἐξιλασθήσεται, if the Iniquity of the Houſe of Eli ſhall be purg'd with with Sacrifice for ever. So Pſal. 89 35. Once have I ſworn by my Holineſs, εἰ ψεύσομαι, if I fail David: In all which Paſſages Interpreters agree, God ſweareth by his Life, or Truth; and Pſal. 132. 2, 3. Lord, Remember David, how he ſware, εἰ εἰσελεύσομαι, if I go into my Tabernacle, εἰ ἀναβήσομαι, if I climb up into my Bed, εἰ δώσω, if I give Sleep to mine Eyes, till I find out a Temple for the Lord; i. e. let me not proſper, if I do not this; wherefore the words of Chriſt, being exactly parallel to all theſe, which are expreſly ſtiled Oaths, may very reaſonably be deemed a Form of Swearing.

(2.) Theſe words muſt not be ſo interpreted as to forbid all promiſſory Oaths, in which we do engage, by calling God to witneſs, we will be faithful to our Promiſes, or will do this or that hereafter. For (1.) were it unlawful to uſe a promiſſory Oath, it muſt be ſo, becauſe it is unlawful to engage, as we expect God's Favour, for the Performance of things future; this being the whole difference betwixt an Aſſertion, and a Promiſe confirmed upon Oath, that an aſſertory Oath hath always for its Object, ſomething paſt or preſent; whereas a promiſſory Oath, hath for its Object, ſomething future, which Oath ſome therefore think unlawful, becauſe we may forget our Promiſe, or lie under ſuch evil Circumſtances as render us unable to perform it; but notwithſtanding theſe Conſiderations, that 'tis not ſimply unlawful to take a promiſſory Oath is evident, (1.) from the Examples of ſuch Oaths recorded, and approved in Holy Scripture. For the Lord made his People enter into an Oath to ſerve him, and to keep his Covenant, Deut. 29. 12, 14. King Aſa made all Judah ſwear that they would ſeek the Lord with all their Hearts, 2 Chron. 15. 14. and this was ſo acceptable to God, that he was found of them, and gave them reſt round about, v. 15. Ezra engaged the Prieſts and Levites, and all the Houſe of Iſrael, to ſwear that they would put away all their ſtrange Wives and Children, Ezra 10. 5. And Nehemiah call'd the Prieſts, and took an Oath of them to do according to their Promiſe, Neh. 5.12. Moreover he engaged all the Nobles, and People to enter into a Curſe, and into an Oath to walk in God's Law, and to obſerve and do all his Commandments, Chap. 10. 29. and having done theſe things, he ſaith, Remember me, O Lord, for this, and wipe not out the good Deeds that I have done for the Houſe of my God. And laſtly, I have ſworn, ſaith David, and I will perform it, that I will keep thy righteous Judgments, Pſal. 119. 106. All theſe were promiſſory Oaths made by Direction, or with the Approbation of the God of Iſrael, to ſtrengthen the good Reſolutions of a backſliding People, and to encreaſe their Obligations to perform their Duty; and can it rationally be conceived that the Holy Jeſus ſhould forbid what wholly was deſigned, and really tended to ſtrengthen and confirm us in the performance of our holy purpoſes? Can he be thought to do it, who hath laid upon all Chriſtians the baptiſmal Vow, and the ὅρκῳ στρατιωτικὸς military Oath to fight under his Banner, and hath obliged us to renew this Vow at every Sacrament? (2*dly*,) If Chriſt did by theſe words forbid all promiſſory Oaths, no Prince may thus confirm a League with other States and Princes; whereas both Abraham and Iſaac made a promiſſory Oath unto Abimelech, that they would ſtill retain a perfect Friendſhip with him, Gen. 21. 24.—26. 31. Again, according to this Expoſition of the words, no Magiſtrate, or Officer of Juſtice, may exact a promiſſory Oath of any Chriſtian Subject, nor could a Chriſtian Soldier, or Truſtee, give any promiſſory Oaths of his Fidelity. Now had the Chriſtian Law untyed, and freed all its Profeſſors from theſe Bonds of Government, this muſt have much reflected on the Wiſdom of its Conſtitutions, and given occaſion to the Infidels to ſay, that it expoſed all Government, by this Exemption of the Subject from thoſe Obligations to Obedience which lay before upon them, to the greateſt Hazards; it being formerly the Duty both of Jew and Heathen, to keep the King's Commandments by vertue of the Oath of God. (3*dly*,) That which directly tends to the Advancement of Society, cannot rationally be ſuppoſed to be forbidden by our Saviour, becauſe the current of the Chriſtian Precepts do moſt peculiarly tend to the promotion of the publick Good; but promiſſory Oaths as well as aſſertory, directly tend to the advancement of Society, and the promotion of the publick Good, they being inſtrumental both to put an end to thoſe Contentions, which tend to the Deſtruction of Society, and to the Confirmation of Men's Minds, touching the Truth of what another promiſes; and therefore to encourage them in making thoſe Contracts, which are of abſolute neceſſity to human Commerce: And all this the Apoſtle ſeemeth to inſinuate by ſaying, that an Oath is for Confirmation, and for the ending of all Strife among Men, Heb. 6. 16. for that the Apoſtle in that Paſſage ſpeaks chiefly of a promiſſory Oath, is evident from the occaſion of it, viz. the Promiſe of a ſignal Bleſſing God had made to Abraham, and had confirmed with an Oath. And (4*ly*,) if all promiſſory Oaths be utterly unlawful by virtue of Chriſt's Prohibition, then muſt it be unlawful to adjure a Chriſtian to perform any Action we require of him; for to adjure by God, is to engage him under the Curſe of God, or under the penalty of forfeiting God's Favour, and incurring his Diſpleaſure, to do what we require of him. Now that in matters of great Concern, the Chriſtian may be thus adjur'd by his Superior, is evident from the Example of St. Paul, who writes writes unto his Theſſalonians thus, ὁρκίζω ὑμᾶς τὸν Κύριον, I adjure you by the Lord, that this Epiſtle be read to all the Holy Brethren, 1 Theſſ. 5. 27. The words I render thus, becauſe I find this is the conſtant import of this Phraſe in the Old Teſtament. Thus Gen 24. 37. ὥρκισέ με ὁ Κύριός μου, My Maſter made me ſwear, ſaying, thou ſhalt not take a Wife to my Son of the Daughters of Canaan, and v. 41. when thou comeſt to my Kindred, if they will not give thee a Wife, ἔσῃ ἀθῷος ἀπὸ τῆς ὁρκισμοῦ μου, thou ſhalt be clear from my Oath. Thus in the caſe of Jealouſie, ὁρκιεῖ ἱερεύς, the Prieſt ſhall charge the Woman with an Oath of curſing, and ſhall ſay unto her, the Lord make thee a Curſe among thy People, &c. Numb. 5. 19, 21. Thus ὥρκισεν Ἰησοῦς, Joſhua adjured the People, ſaying, Curſed be the Man before the Lord, that riſeth up, and buildeth the City Jericho, Joſh. 6. 26. And Saul adjured the People, ſaying, Curſed be the Man that eateth any Food till the Evening; that is, ὁρκίζας ὥρκισε τὸν λαὸν, he charged the People with an Oath, 1 Sam. 14. 24. and v. 28. the People feared the Oath. Thus alſo Solomon ſpeaks to Shimei, οὐκὶ ὥρκισά σε κατὰ τοῦ Κυρίου, did I not make thee ſwear by the Lord, that thou wouldſt not go out of Jeruſalem, wherefore then haſt thou not kept τὸν ὅρκον Κυρίου the Oath of the Lord? 1 Kings 2. 42, 43. If therefore Chriſtians may be bound by others under a Curſe or Oath, to the Performance of ſomething future, which they had not promiſed; much more may they be thus obliged by the Magiſtrate to promiſe, and confirm that Promiſe by an Oath.

And 3*dly*, Hence it clearly follows, that our Lord doth not here condemn judicial Oaths, impoſed by Magiſtrates, and by Superiors in Matters Teſtimonial; for 'tis obſervable in judicial Oaths, the cuſtom which obtained among the Jews was this, not for the Perſon who came under the Obligation of an Oath, to pronounce the words of Swearing with his own Mouth, but an Oath was exacted of him by the Magiſtrate, and he became obliged to anſwer upon Oath, by hearing φωνὴν ὁρκισμοῦ, the Voice of Adjuration, or Swearing from his Mouth; ſo the Law ſaith expreſly, Lev. 5. 1. If a Man hear the Voice of Swearing, and is a Witneſs, whether he hath ſeen or known any thing, if he do not utter it, then he ſhall bear his Iniquity. To which Cuſtom, that Paſſage of the Proverbs evidently refers, Whoſo is Partner with a Thief, hateth his own Soul. He heareth אלה the Adjuration of the Magiſtrate, and bewrayeth it not, Prov. 29. 24. i. e. doth not diſcover what he knows; if hearing ὅρκου ψευδεύς, the Oath pronounced, he doth not declare it, ſay the Septuagint, and the Targum. Now hence it follows, that Chriſt could not forbid in theſe words ſuch judicial Oaths. (1.) Becauſe it was not in the power of the Jews, to whom he ſpake, to avoid them, they being ſubject to them, by hearing the Voice of Swearing pronounced by the Judge. (2*dly*,) Had Chriſt by this injunction condemned all judicial Oaths, he muſt have diſſolved the Law of Moſes in this particular; and ſo have given juſt occaſion to the Phariſees to complain of him, both as teaching contrary to the Law of Moſes, and ſtirring up the People to diſturb the Government. Then (3*dly*,) after this Declaration made againſt ſuch Oaths, he ſhould not have anſwered when adjured by the High-Prieſt, to tell whether he were the Son of God, becauſe he ought not ſo far to have countenanced this ſinful Action; wherefore by breaking of his former Silence, and taking the Adjuration upon himſelf, he ſhew'd that he did not conceive it ſinful to anſwer upon Oath before a Magiſtrate. (4*ly*,) This Prohibition therefore only doth forbid all voluntary Oaths in common Converſation and Diſcourſe; this clearly follows from the removal of thoſe other Gloſſes, which have been put upon the Text; and (2*dly*,) from what our Saviour adds, by way of Explication of it, viz. ἔστω δὲ ὁ λόγος ὑμῶν, Let your Diſcourſe or Talk be yea, and nay, i. e. let it ſuffice, that in your ordinary Diſcourſe you uſe a ſingle Affirmation, or Denial, or, if occaſion do require, a Reduplication of them, and do not on your own voluntary Motion, call God to witneſs the Truth of what you ordinarily ſay. (3*dly*,) This is apparent from the Diſtinction which the Jews obſerved betwixt ſuch Oaths, as were impoſed by the Magiſtrate in doing Juſtice, and voluntary Oaths: In the firſt kind of Oaths, they reckoned it unlawful to ſwear by any Name but that of God; it being written, that when a Cauſe of Parties come before the Judge, then ſhall the Oath of Jehovah be between them, Exod. 22. 11. wherefore this Prohibition of Swearing, by the Heavens, the Earth, or any other Oath, could not relate to their judicial Oaths, becauſe in them God only was invoked; it therefore muſt reſpect thoſe voluntary Oaths, which were in frequent uſe among the Jews, and were leſs ſcrupled by them, becauſe they did not ſwear by God, but by the Creatures, accounting that far more excuſable than ſwearing by the Name of God; and that this alſo is the meaning of the Prohibition of St. James, is evident, becauſe in the foregoing words, he had exhorted Chriſtians patiently to bear Afflictions, and not to be provoked to Anger by them; and knowing that our Impatience under Sufferings, and our unbridled Paſſions, do often vent themſelves in Oaths, he therefore adds, v. 12. But above all things, Brethren, ſwear not.

Ver. 34. Μήτε ἐν τῷ οὐρανῷ, v. 25. μήτε ἐν τῇ γῇ, Neither by Heaven, nor by Earth, nor by Jeruſa-

Jeruſalem.] That theſe forms of Swearing were very uſual among the Jews, we learn from the Jewiſh Writers, ſaying, (d) by Heaven ſo it is, by Heaven you have brought this to my Memory: It was alſo cuſtomary with them, to ſwear by the Heavens and Earth together, or by them ſeparately. And accordingly (e) Philo forbids Men to ſwear by the ſupreme Cauſe; but, ſaith he, if there be a neceſſity of Swearing, call to Record, γῆν, ἥλιον, ἀστέρας, οὐρανὸν, the Earth, the Sun, the Stars, the Heavens. They alſo ſwore by Jeruſalem, and by the Temple. But then obſerve they did not look upon theſe as binding Oaths. So (f) Maimonides ſaith, If any Man ſwear by Heaven, or by Earth, yet this is not an Oath. And (g) R. Judah, that he that ſaith by Jeruſalem, it is nothing, unleſs with an intent purpoſe, he ſhall vow towards Jeruſalem, and this Martial intimates in that known Diſtich,

Ecce negas, juraſq; mihi per Templa Tonantis
Non credo, jura Verpe per Anchialum.

And hence our Lord informs them, that this was their great Miſtake, all theſe Oaths being in effect Oaths made by God, and ſo as binding as thoſe in which he perſonally was named. And ſeeing an Oath is a ſolemn appeal to what we ſwear by, as a Witneſs of the Truth, and an Avenger of the Falſhood of the Teſtimony, it follows that all our Oaths made by inſenſate Creatures muſt in effect be Oaths made by that God whoſe Creatures they are, or none at all.

z Ver. 36. Μήτε ἐν τῇ κεφαλῇ, Neither by thy Head, for thou canſt not make one Hair white or black.] This alſo was an uſual Form of Swearing among the Jews, who ſaid to their Neighbour ſwear to me דחיי ראשך (h) by the Life of thy Head; now, ſaith Chriſt, the Preſervation of that Life of which the Head is the Fountain, is not in thy Power, but depends entirely upon him, by whom we live; and ſo to ſwear by it, is in effect to ſwear by him, who hath the Power of Life and Death.

a a Ver. 37. Τὸ δὲ περισσὸν τούτων ἐκ τοῦ πονηροῦ ἐστιν, For what is more than this cometh of Evil.] theſe words import either,

1*ſt*, That ſwearing in our common Diſcourſe proceeds from ſome inherent Evil, as certainly it doth from an unhallowed Heart, from a Soul void of Reverence to God, and therefore prone to vilifie his ſacred Name; or,

2*dly*, That it proceeds from Satan, and that he it is who tempts us to mix them with our common Talk. And this Interpretation well comports with the Signification of the word; ὁ πονηρὸς, being moſt frequently uſed in the New Teſtament to ſignifie this wicked one; thus ἔρχεται ὁ πονηρὸς, the wicked one cometh and ſnatcheth away the Seed, Matth. 13. 19. the Devil doth it, v. 39. Cain is declared to be ἐκ τοῦ πονηροῦ from the Devil, God's Children have overcome τὸν πονηρὸν, they keep themſelves ſo that ὁ πονηρὸς, the evil one doth not touch them. Now this is a full Demonſtration of the Vileneſs, and horrid Nature of this Sin, that we are moſt particularly excited to it, by him who is the worſt of Beings, and bears the greateſt Hatred and Oppoſition to God's Glory; and therefore if he be ſo diligent to tempt us to the Commiſſion of it, we may be ſure it is, becauſe he knows it highly tends to the Diſhonour of God, and to deprive us of that Reverence to his moſt ſacred Name, which can alone reſtrain us from the Commiſſion of the worſt of Evils.

Ver. 38, 39. Ἠκούσατε, &c. You have heard it hath been ſaid to them of old, an Eye for an Eye, &c. But I ſay unto you reſiſt not Evil.] Of this Law of Talio, let it be obſerved; bb

1*ſt*, From Grotius, that it bound not the Party damaged to require the like Puniſhment, but left him free, either to forgive, or take a Compenſation; but if this Penalty was required by him, it bound the Judge to inflict it. For to the Judge only is it ſaid, thy Eye ſhall not ſpare, or pity him, but Eye ſhall go for Eye, &c. Deut. 19. 18, 21. And hence it follows, (2*dly*,) that the Party hurt or damaged, could not himſelf be the Executioner of this Law; but was obliged, if he would require the Puniſhment, to repair to the Magiſtrate for the Execution of it; for this Puniſhment was to be executed by the Judges, Exod. 21. 22, 23. and therefore as the words, thou ſhalt not pity, Deut. 19. relate only to the Judge; ſo alſo the words, as he hath done, ſo ſhall it be done to him, Lev. 24. 19. relate to the ſame Perſon; as if it had been ſaid, ſo ſhall it be done to him by the Judge; but they oblige not the injured Party to require the Judge ſo to do. Now hence it follows, that they miſtake Chriſt's meaning in the following words, oppoſed to this Law, who ſay, Chriſt only doth forbid that Reſiſtance of Evil, and Return of Injuries, which private Perſons do themſelves attempt, without repairing to the Magiſtrate for Redreſs; for private Vengeance, or Execution of Puniſhment upon Offenders, was never permitted to the Jews themſelves; whereas thoſe words, but I ſay unto you, ſeem plainly to evince that Chriſt forbids the Chriſtian

Chriſtian ſomething which was permitted to the Jew. Note (3dly,) that the Jewiſh Doctors generally maintain that the Puniſhment of an Eye for an Eye, or a Tooth for a Tooth, might be redeemed by Money, or that Satisfaction might be made for it by a pecuniary mulct, (i) Joſephus is expreſs, that the Law allowed him that was hurt to eſtimate his own Damage, and that if he would not take a pecuniary Satisfaction, he was deemed ſevere or cruel. Hence the Targum of Jonathan renders the words thus, the price of an Eye for an Eye, the price of a Tooth for a Tooth, &c. both in Exod. 21. 24. in Lev. 24. 20. and in Deut. 19. 21. All theſe, ſay the Hebrew Doctors, (except Life for Life) may be redeemed by Money; and this they gather from Numb. 35. 31. Ye ſhall take no Satisfaction for the Life of a Murtherer; ſo that the other Maims or Hurts are not forbidden to be ſatisfied for, and in reſpect of Satisfaction, it is ſaid, Deut. 19. 21. Thine Eye ſhall not pity, Maimon. Treat. of Hurts, Cap. 1. Sect. 3, 4. So of the Roman Law of the twelve Tables, (k) A. Gellius asks what Cruelty is in it, cum habeas facultatem paciſcendi, when Liberty is granted to compound the Matter, and there is no neceſſity of ſuffering the Law, where Men do not chuſe to do ſo? And this ſeems very reaſonable in many caſes, there being ſome caſes in which this Law of Talio is impoſſible, as if he that had loſt his own Teeth, ſhould ſtrike out the Tooth of another; ſome, in which it ſeems impracticable, as in Breach for Breach, Wound for Wound, for how difficult is it to make a Wound neither deeper nor wider than that the other hath received? to break a Bone, or make a Rupture in the Scrotum, or elſewhere, juſt like another made already? and ſometimes it ſeems unmerciful to do it, as in the caſe mentioned by (l) Diodorus Siculus, and by Ariſtotle Rhetor. l. 1. c. 7. of the Man with one Eye; for would it not ſeem unmerciful to make him ſtark blind, becauſe he hath caſually, or in a ſudden fit of Anger ſtruck out his Brother's Eye? or to cut off the right Hand of a Painter, or a Scrivener, by which he maintains himſelf and Family, becauſe he hath cut off the right Hand of a Songſter, or one who ſuffers little in his calling by the Loſs? Laſtly, I cannot think that God allowed this to be done, by the damaged Perſon out of Revenge, he having ſo expreſly ſaid, Lev. 19. 18. Thou ſhalt not avenge, or bear any grudge againſt the Children of thy People; nor as a Remedy of his Grief, it being an unreaſonable, and ill-natured thing to deſire to eaſe my Grief, by cauſing Grief to another, nor will either my Pain, or Loſs be leſs becauſe another ſuffers the like Pain or Loſs; this therefore only ſeemeth to be granted as it tends to the publick Good, by cauſing Men to be more careful how they offend in this kind.

2dly, That which Chriſt here forbids, in Oppoſition to what was granted to the Perſon injured by this Law, is ἀνθιςῆναι to reſiſt Evil in this kind, by requiring the Execution of this Law of Retaliation upon him, as being that which tended not to the diminution of the Chriſtians pain or loſs, and therefore ſeem'd not ſuitable to Chriſtian Charity. (2.) In Matters eaſie to be born, rather to ſuffer them with Chriſtian Patience, than to contend before a Judge about them, or to require compenſation of him for them. For it is to be noted,

(1.) That the ſtriking of a Free-man on the Cheek with open Palm, was only matter of diſgrace; and he that did it, was by the (m) Law of the twelve Tables, to pay 25 Aſſes, or Half-Pence; and by the Jewiſh Canons, to pay, if he gave one blow upon the Cheek, 200 Zuzees; if he gave him another, 400; and theſe Mulcts were eſtabliſhed, and inflicted by the Judge. See Dr. Lightfoot. But Chriſt will rather have both theſe Injuries born patiently, than that his Servants ſhould contend before the Judge, for reparation of the Diſgrace put upon him.

(2.) As for the taking the outward Coat, that ſeems but a ſmall loſs to him that hath an inward Coat remaining: For, the Baptiſt requires him that hath two Coats, to give to him that hath none, Luke 3. 11. and Chriſt ſuffers not his Diſciples to provide two Coats for their Journey, Matth. 10. 10. Tho' therefore by the Jewiſh Canons, a mulct of 400 Zuzees was allowed for this, Chriſt requires thoſe who being ſo well provided, may reaſonably be ſuppoſed able to repair the loſs of both, to do it rather than contend, or wage Law for reparation of his loſs before an Heathen, or a Jewiſh Magiſtrate: So St. Paul alſo? Why do you not rather ſuffer wrong? 1 Cor. 6. 7.

(3.) If the King's Officer will ἀγγαρεῦσαι, compel or preſs thee, who haſt a privilege, or immunity from theſe Affairs, as the Jews thought the Diſciples of the Wiſe, and Students of the Law had; yet, ſaith Chriſt, I require my Diſciples, rather to wave this Privilege, than to contend for this Immunity: So that according to this ſenſe, Chriſt here requires his Diſciples to remit tolerable Injuries, relating either to their Reputation, as in the firſt inſtance, or to their Poſſeſſions and Eſtates, as in the ſecond, or to their Privilege and Freedom, as in the third, rather than to contend at the Law about them. If this Expoſition be not liked, it is obſervable, that κρίνεσθαι and κρινεῖν is alſo to contend by fighting, or ſtriving with another, or uſing force to repel the Injury. So Eccleſ. 6. 10. A Man cannot κριθῶσι, ſtrive or fight with one that is ſtronger than himſelf. So 2 Maccab. 15.17. Κρῖναι τὰ πρόσμαλα, is to try the matter by conflict, or to fight it out; in which ſenſe, Chriſt may be ſuppoſed to command, rather that his Servants ſhould patiently ſuffer theſe things, than fight, and ſtrive, with thoſe who offer ſuch Affronts and Injuries to them.

cc Ver. 42. Τῷ αἰτοῦντί σε δίδου, καὶ τὸ θέλοντα ἀπὸ σοῦ δανείσασθαι μὴ ἀποστραφῇς, Give to him that asketh; and from him that would borrow of thee, turn thou not away.] Here it is certain, (1*ſt*,) That Chriſt, by ſaying, Luke 6. 35. Give to every one that asketh, doth not require us to give to every one that asketh whether he need or not, nor, whether we can ſpare it or not, but only to give to him that asketh out of need, what we are able to beſtow, and do not our ſelves want: So Paul, by asking the Charity of the Corinthians, for the diſtreſſed Jews, ſaith, I mean not that others be eaſed, and you burthened, but that your Abundance be a ſupply for their Want, 2 Cor. 8.13, 14. (2*dly*,) Theſe words may have reſpect to the precedent, and be intended to teach Chriſtians, not to be unwilling to give to others, becauſe they have diſgraced, or unjuſtly taken ſomething from us; nor to upbraid them in their Wants, with their Deportment towards us, and call upon them firſt to reſtore what they have taken from us, but even to ſhew kindneſs to them, as if they had not thus offended. (3*dly*,) I ſee no reaſon for changing our Tranſlation from, Turn thou not away, into, Turn not him away; for as Men, ἀποστρεφόμενοι τὴν ἀληθείαν, Tit. 1. 14. are Men turning away from the Truth: So τὸ θέλοντα, — μὴ ἀποστραφῇς, may be ἀπὸ τοῦ θέλοντος — μὴ στραφῇς, from him that would borrow of thee, turn not thou away.

dd Ver. 43. Ye have heard that it hath been ſaid, Thou ſhalt love thy Neighbour, καὶ μισήσεις τὸν ἐχθρόν σου, and ſhalt hate thy Enemy.] Here note, (1.) That theſe words, Thou ſhalt hate thy Enemy, are not found in the Law of Moſes; tho' nothing is more frequent in the Jewiſh Canons; nothing more certain in their Practice, than that they had, as Tacitus obſerves, inteſtinum odium adverſus omnes alios, a deadly hatred againſt all that were not of their Religion; which affords a ſtrong Argument, that Chriſt here is not correcting, or adding to the moral Precepts of the Law, but oppoſing the corrupt Interpretations of the Scribes and Phariſees, of which we have this farther Argument, That the Law expreſly doth require this love of Enemies, and the love of Strangers in the higheſt meaſure, ſaying, Lev. 19.18. Thou ſhalt love thy Neighbour as thy ſelf; and, ver. 34. The Stranger that ſojourneth with you, ſhall he as one home-born among you, and thou ſhalt love him as thy ſelf; for ye were Strangers in the Land of Egypt. Now here it cannot be truly anſwered, as the Jews and ſome Chriſtians do, that the Neighbour, ver. 18. is only a Jew, and not a Stranger; for both our Saviour, and St. Paul, ſpeaking of theſe very words, do plainly ſhew the contrary, as is fully proved, Note on Matth. 22. 39. Moreover, every Egyptian Man and Woman is a Neighbour, Exod. 11. 2. and ſo is every other Man, Deut. 22. 26. And even Kimchi on Pſal. 15. 3. ſaith truly, A Neighbour is every one with whom we have any dealing, or converſation; and ſo alſo the word Neighbour muſt ſignifie in the Tenth Commandment, if it do not leave the Iſraelite free to covet the Wife of the Gentile. Nor, (2*dly*,) Can it be truly ſaid, the Stranger mention'd ver. 34. is only a Proſelyte of Juſtice, or one who had oblig'd himſelf to obſerve the Law of Moſes. For, (1.) The Text ſpeaks of ſuch Strangers as they themſelves were in the Land of Egypt, where they were Strangers of a different Religion from the Egyptians: So again, Deut. 10. 18, and 19. God loveth the Stranger in giving him Food and Raiment; love ye therefore the Stranger, for ye were Strangers in the Land of Egypt: Which words afford another Argument for the love of all Strangers permitted to be among them, tho' they were not of their Religion, becauſe, in this Affection, they were to imitate God's love to Strangers, which extended not only to thoſe of their Religion but even to all that converſed with them, in giving Food and Raiment to them. See Chap. 24. 22.

Object. It is objected, That God commands concerning the ſeven Nations, that they ſhould utterly overthrow them, Exod. 23. 24. that they ſhould ſmite them, and utterly deſtroy them; that they ſhould make no Covenant with them, nor ſhew Mercy to them, Deut. 7. 2. That of the Ammonite and Moabite, it is ſaid, Thou ſhalt not ſeek their Peace, nor their Proſperity, all thy Days for ever, Deut 23. 6. And of the Amalekites, Thou ſhalt blot out the Remembrance of Ameleck from under Heaven; thou ſhalt not forget it, Deut. 25. 19. Habemus ergo Hoſtes, habemus & Odium; Here we find the Enemies, and the Hatred, ſaith, Grotius.

Anſw. Here is indeed an inſtance of God's hatred of, and ſevere diſpleaſure againſt theſe Nations, whom he commanded them thus to root out, and to deſtroy, without that Mercy and Pity which might preſerve them from that Deſtruction he had decreed againſt them for their abominable Impurities, and Idolatries; but here is no inſtance of a Command given to the Jews to hate them. For, 1*ſt*, It

1*ſt*, It is obſervable, that the War waged againſt them, is called the Lord's War, and he promiſeth to deſtroy them; and their neglect of doing it, even to a Man, is ſtiled, Diſobedience againſt the Lord. This is extremely evident in the caſe of the Amalekites, God having ſaid, he would utterly put out the remembrance of Amalek for ever, and ſworn, he would have War with Amalek, from Generation to Generation, Exod. 17. 14, 16. Accordingly, when the Lord ſent Saul to ſmite Amalek, and utterly deſtroy them, and ſpare them not, but ſlay both Man and Woman, Infant and Suckling, 1 Sam. 15. 3. it was no argument of Saul's hatred to them, that he went to execute this Command of the Lord, but an Act of Diſobedience, that he ſpared Agag, and the beſt of the Sheep. And in like manner, the War againſt the ſeven Nations was the Lord's War; and the Iſraelites which fought againſt them, were the Lord's Hoſts, Joſh. 5. 14. and the deſtruction of them he aſcribes to himſelf, ſaying, I will deſtroy all the People to whom thou ſhalt come, Exod. 23. 27. I drive out before thee the Amorite, Exod. 34. 11. See Deut. 7. 12. So that the Jews were only the Executioners of God's Vengeance upon theſe Nations, for their abominable Idolatries, beaſtly Luſts, and horrid Cruelties; and ſure, an Executioner may do according to the Sentence of the Judge, without hatred of thoſe he executes; nor is it any ſign of hatred to them, that he ſpares not them, of whom the Judge hath ſaid, Thou ſhalt not ſpare them. Moreover, the reaſon given, why they ſhould not ſhew Mercy to them in ſparing their Lives, being this, Deut. 7. 4. For they will turn away thy Sons from following me, that they may ſerve other Gods; ſo will the Anger of the Lord be kindled againſt you, and deſtroy thee ſuddenly: This ſparing Mercy towards them, would have been not only Diſobedience to God's Commands, but alſo Cruelty to themſelves, and their Poſterity; and ſo it proved in the iſſue. And, Laſtly, Whereas it is ſaid of the Ammonite and Moabite, Thou ſhalt not ſeek their Peace, nor their Proſperity, all thy Days for ever; the import of theſe words is this; ſaith Grotius, Thou ſhalt not do it by entring into leagues of Friendſhip, mutual Aſſiſtance, and conjugal Society with them, and that by reaſon of the Danger they might ſuffer by their Friendſhip with them, who being their near Neighbours, would watch all opportunities to enſnare, and diſturb them. This Precept therefore was to be obſerved, not ſo much out of hatred, or ill-will to them, as out of friendſhip to themſelves, and regard to their own good.

ee Ver. 44. Ἐγὼ δὲ λέγω ὑμῖν ἀγαπᾶτε τοὺς ἐχθροὺς ὑμῶν, But I ſay to you, love your Enemies, &c.] To this reſtrained Affection of the Jews, to their own Brethren, and Men of their Religion, Chriſt here oppoſeth his excellent Precept of loving Enemies: And that, (1.) By ſhewing a ſincere Affection, and Good-will to them, who bear enmity or ill-will to us, and by expreſſing our Beneficence to them, who by their Actions ſhew their hatred to us; and in our Works, by doing good to them for evil; and in our Words, by bleſſing them, who with their Mouths curſe us; and, praying for God's Bleſſing upon them who revile and perſecute us, as his Enemies: And this Affection he recommends to us,

1*ſt*, From the plain abſurdity of the Jewiſh Doctrine, which made them no better in this reſpect, than thoſe Sinners, Publicans, and Heathens, whom they allowed themſelves to hate: For, if you only love them who love you, what reward have you? Do not even the Publicans the ſame, even Sinners? Saith St. Luke, ch. 6. 32. If you ſalute your Brethren only, what excellent thing do you? Do not even Publicans, or as ſome Copies have it, Heathens ſo? Which words being ſo directly levell'd againſt that Hatred, the Jews allowed themſelves to theſe three ſorts of Men, ſhews, that the foregoing words, Thou ſhalt hate thine Enemy, are not to be reſtrained to the ſeven Nations.

2*dly*, That they who boaſted of this as their proper Title, and their peculiar Glory, that they were the Sons of God, might ſhew they really were ſo, by their reſemblance of his Goodneſs, who is kind to the unthankful and the wicked, Luke 6. 35. For, he maketh his Sun to riſe on the evil and the good, and ſendeth Rain on the juſt and on the unjuſt, ver. 45. So Seneca, Si Deos imitaris, da & ingratis beneficia, nam & ſceleratis ſol oritur, If thou wouldſt imitate the Gods, be kind to the Unthankful, for the Sun riſes on the Wicked. De Benef. l. 5. c. 25. The immortal Gods, ſaith Antoninus, not only patiently bear with wicked Men, but alſo κήδονται πάσῃ παντοίως, take all manner of care of them; and ſhalt thou, a mortal Man, be weary of bearing with them, αὐτὰ, ἃς ὢν αὐτὸς φαυλῶν, when thou art one of them? L. 7. §. 70. See Gataker in Anton. p. 291, 316, 331.

3*dly*, That this will render us complete in this great Duty of Love and Mercy to others; ver. 48. Be ye (in this) perfect, as your heavenly Father is perfect. That this Command is thus to be reſtrained, we learn, (1.) From the parallel words, Luke 6. 36. Be ye therefore merciful, as your heavenly Father is merciful; and, (2.) From the preceding words, which call not on us to reſemble God, in Holineſs, Juſtice, Fidelity, but only in Beneficence and Mercy, as well to the evil as the good: So that there is no reaſon to extend this Perfection here beyond the ſubject Matter, tho' it be true, that in all other Perfections in which we are required to imitate him, we are to come as near unto him as we can, truly reſembling that Pattern which we cannot, nor by the Precept are obliged to equal; for, Imitatio ſtat citra Exemplar, Imitation falls below the Pattern.

a 1. [a] TAke heed that ye do not your Alms before Men, to be ſeen of them: otherwiſe, (if that be your inducement to perform them,) ye have no reward of your Father, which is in Heaven; (ſince then you do your Alms, not out of obedience to his Commands, or in reſemblance of his Goodneſs, but rather from vain Glory.)

2. Therefore when thou doeſt thy Alms, do not ſound a Trumpet before thee, as the Hypocrytes do, (proclaiming their Actions) in the Synagogues, and in the Streets, that they may have Glory of Men: Verily, I b ſay unto you, [b] they have their Reward; (i. e. that applauſe of Men they ſeek for, and no more.)

3. But when thou doſt Alms, let not thy left Hand know what thy right Hand doth; (but do them ſo,)

4. That thine Alms may be in ſecret, and c (then) thy [c] Father which ſeeth in ſecret, (the ſincerity of thy love to others, for his ſake,) himſelf ſhall reward thee openly, (before Men, and Angels.)

5. And (likewiſe,) when thou prayeſt, thou
d ſhalt not be [d] as the Hypocrites are, (doing this out of vain Oſtentation;) for they love to pray ſtanding in the Synagogues, and in the corners of the Streets, that they may be ſeen of Men, (and be deem'd devout Perſons by them:) Verily, I ſay unto you, they have their reward.

6. But thou, when thou prayeſt, enter into thy Cloſet, and when thou haſt ſhut thy Door, pray to thy Father, which [e] is in ſecret, (and inviſible, both in his Nature and Operations;) and thy Father, which ſeeth in ſecret, ſhall reward thee openly.

e 7. But when ye pray, [e] uſe not vain Repetitions, (or words of the ſame import, to lengthen out your Prayers,) as the Heathens do: For they think they ſhall be heard for their much ſpeaking.

f 8. [f] Be not ye therefore like unto them: For your Father knoweth what things ye have need of, before ye ask him, (and is ſtill ready to grant the Deſires which come from a ſincere and honeſt Heart; ſo that he needs neither your Words to inform, nor your Perſuaſives to move him; and ſo your Requeſts to him, may be abſolved in few words.)

g 9. [g] After this manner therefore pray ye, h (ſaying, when ye pray, Luke 11. 2.) [h] Our Father which art in Heaven, (i. e. who being in Heaven, from thence beholdeſt all our wants, Pſal. 11. 4. and muſt be able to relieve them, 2 Chron. 20. 7. Pſal 115. 3. and being our God and Father, muſt be enclined ſo to do.)
i [i] Hallowed be thy Name, (i. e. may all Men ſo ſpeak, and ſo think of thy Divine Majeſty, and ſo deport themſelves towards thee, that thou mayeſt be glorified in their Words, Thoughts and Actions.)

10. [k] Thy Kingdom come; (may thy Goſpel be generally entertain'd by Men, with due Faith and Obedience; may all Men receive thy Son Jeſus Chriſt as their King and Saviour, and humbly ſubmit to his Laws; may the Chriſtian Religion obtain every where, as well in Reality as Profeſſion, the Minds of all Men being ſubdued to the obedience of Faith.) [l] Thy Will be done on Earth, as it is in Heaven; (i. e. may all Men with ſincerity, alacrity, and readineſs, yield obedience to thy Holy Will, and imitate the Bleſſed Angels in an entire compliance with it, without heſitation or renitency.)

11. [m] Give us this Day our daily Bread; (i. e. be pleaſed continually to afford us what thou ſeeſt needful for us, and give thy Bleſſing both upon our Labours to procure it, and our Food to afford Nouriſhment and Strength to us.)

12. [n] And forgive us our Debts, as we forgive our Debtors; (i. e. give us upon our Repentance, the pardon of our Sins committed againſt thee; for we, in obedience to thy Command, freely, and from our Hearts, forgive the Offences of others againſt us.)

13. [o] And lead us not into Temptation; (ſuffer us not by the aſſaults of Satan, or the ſubſtraction of thy Grace, or by putting us for our puniſhment, into ſuch circumſtances, as may prove Snares and Stumbling-blocks to us, to be led into, or over-come by the Power of Temptation; but grant us ſuch a meaſure of thy grace, as may preſerve us from falling by them:) [p] but deliver us from (the) evil (of Sin, and from thoſe Diſpoſitions and Inclinations which make us prone unto it; and from the Aſſaults of the Evil One:) [q] for thine is the Kingdom, (we deſire may come;) and (thine is) the Power, (thus to aſſiſt, provide for, and protect us;) and (thine is and will be,) the Glory (of ſo doing,) for ever. Amen.

14. (And with great reaſon do I teach you to ſay, Forgive us our Sins, as we forgive others:) [r] For, if ye forgive Men their Treſpaſſes, your heavenly Father will alſo forgive you.

15. But, if ye forgive not Men their Treſpaſſes, neither will your Father forgive your Treſpaſſes.

16. Moreover, [s] when ye faſt, be not as the Hypocrytes, of a ſad countenance; for they diſfigure their Faces, (putting on ſad and mournful looks,) that they may appear unto Men to faſt: Verily I ſay unto you, they have their Reward.

17. But

17. But thou, when thou faſteſt, anoint thy Head, and waſh thy Face, (as the Jews do on ordinary days;)

18. That thou appear not unto Men to faſt, but (only) to thy Father which is in ſecret; and thy Father which ſeeth in ſecret, ſhall reward thee openly.

t 19. ' Lay not up for your ſelves Treaſures upon Earth, where Moth and Ruſt doth corrupt (them,) and where Thieves break thro', and ſteal.

20. But, lay up for your ſelves Treaſures in Heaven, where neither Moth nor Ruſt doth corrupt, and where Thieves do not break thro', nor ſteal; (this being the only means to be heavenly-minded.)

21. For, where your Treaſure is, there will your Heart be alſo.

u 22. " The Light of the Body is the Eye, (by which we are directed how to guide the Body in our walking, as is the Eye of the Mind, that Light by which we diſcern our Duty;) if therefore thine Eye be ſingle, (i. e. free from Covetouſneſs, and ready to relieve Chriſt's needy Members,) thy whole Body ſhall be full of Light; (i. e. this Charity will lead thee in the way to Life, and will direct the Actions both of thy Soul and Body aright.)

23. But, if thine Eye be evil, (if it be an envious covetous Eye,) thy whole Body will be full of Darkneſs; (i. e. all it's Actions will be Deeds of Darkneſs:) if therefore (then) the Light that is in thee be Darkneſs, how great is that Darkneſs? (i. e. if the inward Light which ſhould direct thy Actions, be Darkneſs, how great and fatal will be that Darkneſs in which thou walkeſt?)

24. (And that your Affection to theſe earthly things may not thus blind you, conſider, x That) no Man can x ſerve two Maſters; for either he will hate the one, and love the other, or elſe, (which is the conſequent of that Affection,) he will hold to the one, and (comparatively) deſpiſe the other; (ſo that) ye cannot ſerve (both) God and Mammon.

y 25. Therefore I ſay unto you, y Take no thought for (the things neceſſary to preſerve) your Life, (to wit,) what ye ſhall eat, or what ye ſhall drink, nor yet for your Body, what ye ſhall put on; (for,) is not the Life more than Meat, and the Body (more) than Raiment? (He then who gave this Life and Body, will be concerned to make Proviſions for them.)

26. Behold (how it is with) the Fowls of the Air, (which are leſs conſiderable than you are;) for they ſow not, neither do they reap, nor gather into Barns, yet your heavenly Father feedeth them: Are ye not much better than they? (and ſo more aſſuredly will be provided for.)

27. But (and) which of you by taking thought, can add one Cubit to his Stature, (or make your Body taller? how much leſs will your Solicitude preſerve the whole?)

28. And why take ye thought for Raiment? conſider the Lillies of the Field, how they grow, they toil not, neither do they ſpin;

29. And yet I ſay unto you, that even Solomon in all his Glory was not arrayed like one of theſe.

30. Wherefore if God ſo cloath the Graſs of the Field, which to day is and to morrow is caſt into the Oven, ſhall he not much more cloath you, Oh ye of little Faith? (if you diſtruſt his care in making theſe Proviſions for you.)

31. Therefore take no thought, ſaying, what ſhall we eat? or what ſhall we drink? or wherewithal ſhall we be cloathed?

32. For after all theſe things do the Gentiles ſeek, (but ye who are under a more peculiar Providence need not do it,) for your heavenly Father knoweth that ye have need of all theſe things, (and ſure his Providence will never ſuffer you to want what he ſees needful for you.)

33. But ſeek ye firſt the Kingdom of God, and his righteouſneſs; (viz. that Righteouſneſs which will render you acceptable in his Sight,) and (then) all theſe things (as far as they are needful) ſhall be added to you.

34. Therefore take no thought for to morrow, (be not beforehand importunely ſolicitous for your future Subſiſtence,) for to morrow ſhall take thought for the things of it ſelf; (i. e. you may time enough take thought for to morrow, when it comes; add not therefore to the Cares of each day, for) ſufficient to the day is the evil thereof; (i. e. the neceſſary trouble which attends each day.)

a Ver. 1. Προσέχετε τὴν ἐλεημοσύνην ὑμῶν μὴ ποιεῖν ἔμπροσθεν τῶν ἀνθρώπων πρὸς τὸ θεαθῆναι αὐτοῖς Take heed that ye do not your Alms before Men, to be ſeen of them, &c.] Chriſt in this Chapter teacheth, that thoſe Works which are otherwiſe good in themſelves, are not aceptable to God, when they are done out of vain Glory, becauſe they are done not for God's ſake, but for our own; not with reſpect to his Glory, which ought to be the chief End of every Action, 1 Cor. 10. 31. 1 Pet. 4. 11. but that we may obtain Glory from, and Favour with Men. But here note,

1*ſt*, That

1*ſt*, That Chriſt doth not forbid us to perform thoſe Works of Charity, which being in their Nature publick, tend to procure Reſpect, and a good Reputation among Men, ſince they fall under the general Precepts of providing τὰ καλὰ things honourable in the Sight of all Men, Rom. 12. 17. and approved of Men, Chap. 14. 18. and of thinking of thoſe things which are good, virtuous, lovely, honourable, of good report, and are praiſe-worthy, Philip. 4. 8. and which St. Paul in Diſtribution of the Corinthians Alms attended to, 2 Cor. 8. 21. provided theſe things be done, not chiefly becauſe they are commendable in the ſight of Men, but becauſe they are acceptable to God, Rom. 14. 18. not that they may gain Glory to us, but to God, and our Religion, 1 Pet. 2. 12. and remove all occaſions of bringing any Scandal on it, Tit. 2. 8. 1 Pet. 3. 16. Nor (2*dly*,) doth he abſolutely forbid us to do theſe things, that Men may ſee them, provided we deſire not they may be ſeen from Oſtentation, or Vain-glory, but that Men ſeeing our good Works, may glorifie our Father which is in Heaven, Chap. 5. 16. 1 Pet. 2. 9. Nor (3*dly*,) doth Chriſt forbid us to do theſe things, ſo that others ſeeing us, may profit by our Example, and be excited to good Works, or ſo as to ſeek a good Reputation among Men, provided we deſire it, only for the publick Good, that we may be more inſtrumental to promote God's Glory, and that others may more freely hearken to our good Admonitions; for in theſe caſes we do not properly intend our own Advantage, but God's Glory, the Welfare of Souls, and the publick Good; nor have we our own Praiſe and Glory, but thoſe higher Ends, for the Scope of all ſuch Actions. Moreover, it being not apparent from any of their Writings, that it was cuſtomary with the Jews to ſound a Trumpet, when they diſtributed their Alms; this ſeems only a proverbial Expreſſion, for making a thing known or publick, as both Jews and Heathens were uſed to do by the Sound of a Trumpet, calling the Multitude together, ſaith Phavorinus, by it, uſing it in their Triumphs, and before they began to act their Tragedies, or Comedies.

b Ver. 2. Ἀμὴν λέγω ὑμῖν ἀπέχουσι τὸν μισθὸν αὐτῶν, Verily, I ſay unto you, they have their Reward.] It is the obſervation of the Jews, that God puniſhes all the light evil Deeds of good Men in this Life, that he may reward them in the next, and that he rewards all the good Actions of bad Men in this Life, that he may puniſh them in the next: He often gives them the outward things they ſet their Hearts upon; ſenſual Pleaſures, Wealth, Honour, and Glory with Men, and thus they have their good things, and their Reward in this Life; and this is very truly and very equitably ſo. For theſe things which can only be enjoyed in the Body, and during this preſent Life, are the things they chiefly prize, have their Deſires and Affections ſet upon, and moſt induſtriouſly purſue, comparatively deſpiſing the things above, and neglecting their future Intereſts, and ſo they very properly are ſtiled, their good things, Luke 16. 25. And Happineſs being the general End of all Men, they who thus chiefly prize, and above all other things purſue theſe ſenſual Pleaſures, Honours, and Enjoyments, muſt chiefly place their Happineſs in them, and look upon them as the moſt comfortable, moſt ſatisfactory, and moſt deſirable Reward of all their Labours, and ſo in the Enjoyment of them they have their Reward. They therefore cannot charge God with Hardſhips to them, they having done no good thing, for which he hath not rewarded them according to their Hearts Deſire. He hath given them the good, they choſe for their Portion, and made them as happy as they would be; he hath given them the things, they above all things loved, and delighted in, and in which they placed their chief Happineſs, and only lets them want the things which they deſpiſed as not worth their Labour; which being offered upon reaſonable Terms, they ſcornfully neglected, and refuſed; and of which by this Refuſal, and Neglect, they haver endred themſelves both unworthy, and uncapable.

Ver. 4. Αὐτὸς ἀποδώσει σοι ἐν τῷ φανερῷ, c
And thy Father who ſeeth in ſecret, ſhall reward thee openly.] Tho' it be true which Grotius here obſerves, that God doth often viſibly reward the ſincere Charity of pious Perſons, performed from true Love to him, with temporal Bleſſings in this Life, yet will he chiefly do it in the Sight of Men and Angels in the World to come, Matth. 25. 34. Luke 14. 14. and 'tis obſervable, that the very thing we are forbid to ſeek from Men on Earth, is part of that Reward we ſhall receive at that great Day, when our Faith and Charity ſhall be found to our Praiſe, Honour, and Glory, 1 Pet. 1. 7. and that good Men by patient Continuance in well doing, are ſaid to ſeek for Glory and Honour, as well as Immortality, Rom. 2. 7. and have the Promiſe of it, v. 10.

Ver. 5. Καὶ ὅταν προσεύχῃ οὐκ ἔσῃ ὥσπερ οἱ d ὑποκριταί, ὅτι φιλοῦσι; And when thou prayeſt, thou ſhalt not be as the Hypocrites, who love to pray ſtanding in the Synagogues, and in the Corners of the Streets.] Chriſt doth not here condemn all Prayer made in the Synagogues, ſeeing both he and his Diſciples often prayed with the Jews in the Synagogues, Luke 4. 16. nor any publick Devotions in the Houſe of God, but ſpeaking only here of private Prayer, he would have that performed agreeably to the Nature of it, and ſo in ſecret; and condemns them only who affected to do this in publick Places, that others might take notice

e Ver. 7. Προσευχόμενοι δὲ, μὴ βαττολογήσητε ὥσπερ οἱ ἐθνικοί, δοκοῦσι γὰρ ὅτι ἐν τῇ πολυλογίᾳ αὐτῶν εἰσακουσθήσονται, But when ye pray use not vain Repetitions, as the Heathens do, for they think they shall be heard for their much speaking.] What we here render vain Repetitions is in the Greek, Battology; which seems not well rendred by Chrysostom and Theophylact φλυαρία trifling, in asking little temporal things, nor by Hesychius, or Phavorinus ἀργολογία, ἀκαιρολογία, speaking vainly, and unseasonably, but is well rendred by Suidas πολυλογία, much speaking; for (1.) our Lord seems plainly thus to explain himself, use not the Battology of the Heathens, who think to be heard for their much speaking. (2.) So doth the Arabick, multiply not words; so the Vulgar, nolite multùm loqui, do not speak much; and (3.) this is agreeable to the like Precept of the Preacher, Eccles. 5. 2. God is in Heaven, thou on Earth, therefore let thy words be few; and of the Son of Syrac, Chap. 7. 14. μὴ δίλογος ἔσῃ λόγου ἐν προσευχῇ σου, multiply not words in thy Prayer; and (4.) this seems to follow from the short form of Prayer prescribed, in opposition to this Heathen practice, and introduced with an οὕτως οὖν, so therefore pray ye. But still it remaineth difficult to give a determinate sense to this much speaking, and say precisely when this δίλογία, or Repetition of the same words, is vain. For,

1*st*, We cannot reasonably conceive our Saviour here condemns all Repetition of the same words in Prayer; especially when it arises from a deep sense of our Necessities, and a vehement desire of Divine Grace. For he himself prayed thrice in the same words, to be delivered from the bitter Cup. It is also highly probable, that as David composed it by the Spirit of God, so Christ sung the Hymn called Hallel magnum, beginning at Psal. 115. and ending at Psal. 118. where in the four first Verses the same words frequently occur. It was also usual for Prophets, and Men of excellent and raised Devotion, to use the same words in the same Prayer; so doth Daniel Chap. 9. saying, v. 5. We have sinned, and have committed Iniquity, and have done wickedly, and have rebelled, v. 17. O, our God, hear the Prayer of thy Servant, and his Supplications, v. 18. O my God, incline thine Ear, and hear; and v. 19. O Lord, hear; O Lord, hearken. How oft doth the royal Psalmist say, Psal. 119. Teach me, O Lord, thy Statutes, Ordinances, Commandments, Judgments, the way of thy Statutes? Psal. 107. we have four times these words, Oh that Men would therefore praise the Lord for his Goodness, v. 8. 15, 21, 31. and Psal. 136. the same words are repeated twenty six times.

This Repetition therefore can only be accounted vain, when 'tis not requisite to heighten the Devotion, or when it is used as the Heathens did, to lengthen out Devotion, or as the Comœdian hath it, Deorum aures contundere, to stun the Ears of the Gods, as if we thought they could not hear or understand, nisi idem dictum sit centies, unless we say the same thing over and over; and this seems to have been the Design of the Baalites, in crying out from morning to noon, O Baal, hear us, 1 Kings 18. 26.

2*dly*, It also seems not agreeable to Scripture, or Reason, to assert that all long Prayers are forbidden by these words of Christ; tho' many things which make them so, may be here by Analogy forbidden, as coming under the reason of the Prohibition; I say all Prayers continued to a considerable length seem not forbidden; for the Prayer of Solomon at the Dedication of the Temple was such, and so is that in Nehemiah 9. where we are also told that they confessed, and worshipped for three hours. In the New Testament (to omit the Example of our Lord, who according to our Version, continued all night in Prayer, as not conclusive, because it may be rendred, he continued all night in a Synagogue, or House devoted to the Service of God. See the Note on Luke 6. 12. and yet not wholly impertinent, because Matth. 14. 23. Luke 6. 12. He went up thither to pray, and therefore may be reasonably supposed to have spent much of that time in that Duty) we find the Church thus praying for the Deliverance of St. Peter, for as the Prayer it self is stiled προσευχὴ ἐκτενὴς, Prayer extended to a considerable length; so when St. Peter came to the House, he found them still praying, Acts 12. 5, 12. We also find St. Paul praying night and day, and that ὑπερεκπερισσοῦ more abundantly, that he might see his Thessalonians, 1 Thess. 3. 10. and also praying and giving Thanks, and making mention of other Churches in his Prayers unceasantly, Rom. 1. 9. 1 Cor. 1. 4. Eph. 1. 16. Philip. 1. 4. Col. 1. 3. 1 Thess. 1 2. — 2. 13. 2 Tim. 1. 3. which sure must render his Supplications of a considerable length. And (3*dly*,) he requires these Churches προσκαρτερεῖν to continue instant in Prayer, Rom. 12. 12. to pray always with all Prayer and Supplication in the Spirit, ἀγρυπνοῦντες, watching thereunto with all Perseverance, and Supplication for all Saints, Eph. 6. 18. to continue in Prayer, γρηγοροῦντες, watching in the same with Thanksgiving, Coloss. 4. 2. to pray without ceasing, 1 Thess. 5. 17. and makes it the Duty of the Widdow (after the Example of St. Ann, Luke 2. 27.) προσμένειν to continue in Prayers and Supplications night and Day, 1 Tim. 5. 5. which Precepts seem plainly to suppose their Prayers should sometimes be extended to a considerable length; and therefore that he did not think that length was incon-

ſiſtent with the Injunction here delivered by our Lord. But then poſitively (1*ſt*,) theſe words ſeem plainly to condemn Prayers lengthned out upon this Apprehenſion, that we ſhall be the ſooner heard for our much ſpeaking, becauſe this is the very thing in which we are forbidden to be like the Heathens; and yet this ſeems to have been alſo the Miſapprehenſion of the Jewiſh Doctors, when they lay down theſe Rules, (a) That every one that multiplies Prayer ſhall be heard, and that the Prayer which is long ſhall not return empty. And (2*dly*,) all that much ſpeaking muſt be vain, by which we hope with our fair Speeches to incline, or by our Arguments to move, or by pathetical Intreaties to perſuade God, to grant us our Requeſts, whilſt we continue in our Sins, and ſo are indiſpoſed to receive a gracious Anſwer from him. And indeed what is it to attempt to move him by Arguments, but to think to move him by ſomething he doth not know, or hath not conſidered already? What is it to aſſay to incline him by fair Speeches, and by Importunity, but to look upon him rather as a Man, that changeth without Cauſe, than as an unchangeable God, who cannot vary from the juſt methods of his Government, to gratifie the Importunity of his Creatures? And yet Experience ſhews, that when Men have thus flattered, and importuned God with their Lips, they are apt to think, that he on this account will hear them, and that what is thus prevalent with Men, cannot be loſt, when tendred to a gracious God. And (3*dly*,) the form, and exemplar given us being ſo ſhort, and conciſe in its Addreſſes, for the Advancement of God's Honour, and of his Kingdom, and our Obedience to his Will, for Pardon of Sin, and Preſervation from it; that we in it only requeſt in general terms things of ſo vaſt Importance, leaving the diſtinct matter, and manner, and meaſure, according to which they ſhould be diſpoſed, to the Wiſdom and Goodneſs of God; I ſay this form ſeems to inſtruct us, that in our daily and cuſtomary Addreſſes to God for the ſame Bleſſings which we daily want, we ſhould uſe words as comprehenſive, general, and free from needleſs Repetitions as we can, and then of neceſſity our Prayers muſt be conciſe, and our words few, and well digeſted.

f Ver. 8. Be not ye therefore like unto them, Οἶδε γὰρ ὁ πατὴρ ὑμῶν ὧν χρείαν ἔχητε, for your Father knoweth what things ye have need of before ye ask.] If this Argument againſt ſpeaking much be good, ſaid ſome (b) Hereticks of old, why ſhould we pray at all, ſeeing God knoweth all our wants before we pray? To this St. Jerom anſwers, that we do not pray to declare our Wants, but ſupplicate for the Relief of them; and we may ask any thing of him, who doth already know we want it; and if we know he is kind, and ready to ſupply our Wants, may therefore ask with greater Confidence. (c) Origen anſwers, that he who knows all our Needs before we ask, knows alſo that it becomes not him to give what they do want, who do not think it worth their while to ask what they do want, and he alone can give; becauſe by this neglect they do not own him as the Donor of the things they want. But, tho' this may ſuffice to anſwer the Objection of the Hereticks, for the due underſtanding of this Text, it may be neceſſary to add, (1.) That this being offered as a Reaſon why we ſhould not be like the Heathen in ſpeaking much in Prayer to God, ſeems only to import we ſhould not do it on the accounts on which they did it, viz. as queſtioning God's Omniſcience, and therefore ſpeaking thus to impart to him what he did not know, or to inculcate what he might not preſently attend to, or ſuggeſt again, what he had forgotten. For (1.) (d) Cicero himſelf denies God's Omniſcience, declaring, that he did not think that God himſelf could know things caſual and fortuitous. (2.) They thought it not fit to allow of a God ſo (e) curious as to attend to all things, to take care of all things, or to think all things belonged to him. And they thought it as well impoſſible, as unſufferable in the God of the Chriſtians, that he ſhould (f) diligently inſpect the Manners, Actions, Words, and ſecret Thoughts of all Men, and be every where preſent with them. Nor is it to be wondred that they ſhould have ſuch Apprehenſions of many of the Gods they worſhipped, when they had ſo many of them, their celeſtial, aereal, and terreſtrial Gods; their profitable, and hurtful, their univerſal, and topical Gods; their Gods eternal by Nature, and their Gods born and made of mortal Men; and made it the buſineſs not of the ſupreme God, but of their Demons, Genii, and Heroes Heroes to receive all our Prayers, and return Anſwers to them. But,

(2.) By comparing theſe words with v. 30. where we are forbidden to be anxious about what we ſhall eat, or drink, or wherewithal we ſhall be cloathed, for after all theſe things do the Gentiles ſeek; and your heavenly Father knoweth you have need of all theſe things; It may be conjectured, that theſe words alſo do refer to the ſame matter, to wit, the Heathens ſolicitude about, and their continual teaſing of the Gods in long Harangues for theſe things. This being in the Opinion of the Greek Fathers, (g) the Battology, and much ſpeaking here reproved in the Heathens by our Lord, to wit, the being thus ardent in their Deſires after little, and earthly things. And then this will be ſuitable both to the Philoſophy of (h) Plato, who commends the ſhort Prayer of the Lacedæmonians, who were never heard to ſay more than this, τὰ καλὰ ἐπὶ τοῖς ἀγαθοῖς θεὸς διδόναι, that the Gods would give them things good and honourable; which Prayer, ſaith he, the Oracle preferred before the long Addreſſes, and pompous Sacrifices of the Athenians, who quarrelled with the Gods becauſe they were not heard for their much ſpeaking; and adds, that temporal things were not poſitively to be asked, becauſe no Man knew whether he ſhould uſe them ill, or well, and ſo whether they would be good or hurtful to him; and to the Opinion and Practice of (i) Socrates, who prayed to the Gods, ſaith (k) Zenophon, ἁπλῶς τὰ ἀγαθὰ διδόναι, only to give him good things in the general, leaving the particulars to them who knew beſt what was good for him, and diſapproved of them who prayed for Gold, Silver, and for Government, as being things which might be as well hurtful to, as good for them: And more ſuitable to the Chriſtian Theology, which allows us to ask theſe things only conditionally, with Subordination to the Divine Will, and if his Wiſdom ſees they will be good for us; and according to the Ancients, not to pray for them at all, as knowing that as far as they are good, they ſhall be added to them, who ſeek firſt the Kingdom of God, and the Righteouſneſs thereof; to which purpoſe they often cite a Paſſage from this Chapter, not at preſent to be found in it, viz. (l) Ask great things, and little things ſhall be added to you.

g Ver. 9. Οὕτως οὖν προσεύχεσθε ὑμεῖς, ſo therefore pray ye:] Here obſerve that the word οὕτως hinders not this from being a Command to utter the ſame words, as is apparent from theſe words of St. Luke 11. 2. When ye pray, ſay, Our Father, for the ſame word is uſed where a form of words is certainly preſcribed; thus in the form preſcribed for the Aaronical Benedictions, οὕτως εὐλογήσετε, ſo ſhall ye bleſs, ſaying the words following, Numb. 6. 23. and when God put a word into the Mouth of Balaam, which he ſhould ſpeak to Balak, God ſaith to him, οὕτω λαλήσεις, ſo ſhalt thou ſpeak, which is the ſame with τὰ ὃ λαλήσεις, theſe words ſhalt thou ſpeak, Numb. 23. 5, 16. So in God's words directed to the Prophets, οὕτω λέγει ὁ Κύριος, thus ſaith the Lord, Iſa. 8. 11.—28.16.—30.15.—37.33.—42. 5. —43. 1, 14, 16. —52.4. — 65. 8. —66. 1. is the ſame with τὰ ὃ λέγει ὁ Κύριος, Thus ſaith the Lord, Iſa. 30. 12. — 37. 21. 52. 3. — 57. 15. — 65. 13. — 66. 12. and ſo in the other Prophets. And had not Chriſt intended this, he would not have given his Diſciples a form of Prayer, but the Heads only of the things they were to pray for. (2*dly*,) The Diſciples requeſt him to teach them ſo to pray, as John had taught his Diſciples, Luke 11. 1. Now it is highly probable that John taught his Diſciples to pray as the Jewiſh Maſters taught their Scholars, by giving them a form called Kaddiſh Magiſtrorum, from which they uſed not to vary. But tho' this be admitted, yet it is ſtill diſputed whether this form were only given by Chriſt to his Diſciples to be uſed whilſt they were infirm and weak, and before the Holy Spirit fell down upon them, and was plentifully effuſed upon the Church, or whether it were given as a ſtanding form to be uſed by Chriſt's Diſciples, or by all Chriſtians throughout all Ages of the Church, as by the Practice of the Church, at leaſt from the third Century, they ſeem to have conceived. Two Reaſons are alledged to the contrary, viz.

1*ſt*, That tho' we read in the Acts of the Apoſtles, of Prayers made by the Church, or by particular Members of it, yet find we not any intimation that they ever uſed this form of Prayer. We read that they prayed, Acts 1. 24. that God would ſhew them whether Joſeph or Matthias were to be choſen into the place of Judas; Acts 2. 42. that thoſe who were converted continued in the Doctrine, and Fellowſhip of the Apoſtles, and in breaking of Bread, and in Prayers, Acts 4. 24, 30. So we find the whole Church praying, that God would enable them to ſpeak the Word with boldneſs, and would ſtretch out his Hand to heal, and to ſhew Signs and Wonders through the Name of his Holy Child Jeſus. See Chap. 6. 6. — 8. 15. 12. 5. — 13. 3. — 20. 36. But in none of theſe places have we the leaſt intimation that they ever uſed the Lord's Prayer. In the Martyrology of Polycarp is inſerted a large Prayer made by him after his Condemnation, but it concludes not with this form, but with the uſual form of ſome of our Collects.

2*dly*, Becauſe the ſecond Petition in this Prayer being this, thy Kingdom come, they do not think it reaſonable to continue a Petition for that which is come already, God's Kingdom being come, and erected from the time that our Saviour aſcended into Heaven, and ſate down at the right Hand of Glory. To this latter Argument I ſhall give a full Anſwer when I come to that Petition.

To the firſt Objection, an Anſwer may be returned from a known Rule, that a Negative Argument is of no Validity; indeed in matters of Doctrine the Argument is always good; we read of no ſuch Doctrine in the Scriptures, therefore it neither is, nor can be any Article of Faith, becauſe we have no other Rule of Faith beſides the Holy Scriptures; but then in matters of Practice this Rule will not hold good, the ſacred Penman being under an Obligation to deliver the whole Rule of Faith, but under no obligation to give us a full Hiſtory of all that the Apoſtles did; we never read that the Apoſtles prayed, or were baptized before our Lord's Reſurrection; and ſhall we therefore ſay they never prayed, or that they refuſed the Counſel of God, as did the Phariſees, in being not baptized of John. After our Lord's Aſcenſion we never read that any of the Apoſtles, ſave Paul and Peter, did baptize any; we read not that they ever did receive the Sacrament, we read not that half of them ever preached the Goſpel to any Nations, and ſhall we therefore ſay, they did none of theſe things? St. John informs us, that there were many things which Jeſus did, which were not written, Chap. 20. 30. — 21. 25. What Wonder therefore is it there ſhould be many things which his Apoſtles did, which are not written? (2*dly*,) In moſt of the Texts cited from the Acts, we read not one word of the Matter of their Prayer, but only in general that they prayed, and ſo no ſemblance that they did not uſe the Lord's Prayer. In the firſt inſtance, the whole conſiſts but of one Verſe, in the ſecond, but of two. Now after every Collect, or ſhort Ejaculation, no Man thinks it neceſſary, or even proper to add this Prayer; but only that in ſome of our moſt ſolemn Addreſſes, publick or private, we ſhould uſe this Prayer. For we are Chriſt's Diſciples as well as they to whom this Prayer was given, and ſo muſt very fitly uſe that Prayer which is the Badge of a Diſciple of this Lord. The Prayer it ſelf is of all others the moſt excellent, and comprehenſive, and as plain as it is full, it is ſo ſhort that any Man may learn it, ſo clear that all may underſtand it, ſo full as to comprehend all our Wants, and ſo exact as to inſtruct us what we ſhould be, as well as what we ſhould ask, as being, ſaith Tertullian, breviarium Evangelii, an Epitome of the Goſpel. It was compoſed by him who had the Spirit above meaſure, as a Direction how and what to pray, and ſo, as Cyprian ſays, we may hope, ut facilius audiamur, to be more readily accepted by our heavenly Father, when we come to him with the words of his only Son. The Learned farther do obſerve, that this Prayer is taken out of the Jewiſh Liturgies, in which we wholly find it, excepting only thoſe words, as we forgive them that have treſpaſſed againſt us: Our Father which art in Heaven, is in their Seder Tephilloth, or Form of Prayers; let thy great Name be ſanctified, and thy Kingdom reign, in their Form called Kaddiſh; let thy Memory be glorified in Heaven above, and in Earth beneath, in the Seder Tephilloth; forgive us our Sins, in the ſixth of their eighteen daily Prayers; Deliver us not into the hand of Temptations and deliver us from the evil Figment, in that and the Book Muſar; For thine is the Power, and the Kingdom for ever and ever, is, ſaith Druſius, their uſual Doxology. And, as hence Grotius notes, how far this Lord of the Church was from affecting Novelty, or deſpiſing any thing becauſe it was a Form; ſo others do hence juſtifie the Doxology contained in the cloſe of this Prayer, which ſome think to be an Addition of the Greek Fathers, becauſe 'tis wanting in the Latin, in St. Luke, and in many Greek Copies.

Note Laſtly, that this Prayer conſiſts of three Parts, a Preface excellently fitted to prepare us for Prayer, by filling our Hearts with Charity to our Brother, who bears the ſame Relation to our common Father, with Reverence to him whoſe Throne is in Heaven, ſeated over all, and with Faith and humble Confidence in him, who being to us a Father, muſt be ready to do his Children good, and being our heavenly Father, muſt looking down from Heaven upon the Children of Men, ſee all our Wants, and muſt be able to ſupply them. The Lord's Throne is in Heaven, ſaith the Pſalmiſt, he doth whatſoever pleaſeth him. 2*dly*, It conſiſts of ſix Petitions, the three firſt of which call upon us to pray for the Sanctification of his Name, the Advancement of his Kingdom, and the Performance of his Will, teaching us to make the Glory of God, and the Advancement of his Son's Kingdom, the chief end of all our Actions; and having firſt done his Will, then to expect Proviſion and Protection from him, and Preſervation from all all Evil: The three next reſpect (1.) our daily Suſtenance, as being that without which we cannot be able to promote his Glory, or to do his Will. (2.) The Remiſſion of our paſt Sins, that they may not obſtruct his Bleſſings, and Preſervation from them for the future, that we may not loſe his Favour. And laſtly, an agnizing the ſupreme Dominion, the Power fit to be aſcribed to, and the Glory due to God for ever.

h Ibid. Πατὲρ ἡμῶν ὁ ἐν τοῖς οὐρανοῖς· Our Father which art in Heaven.] This being ſpoken to his Diſciples, who were Jews, and had no diſtinct Notion of a Trinity, muſt be underſtood in the uſual Notion of the Jews, who ſtiled the God of Iſrael אבינו our Father; and ſo muſt ſignifie the firſt Perſon in the S. Trinity, they being not able to apprehend it otherwiſe. Moreover, our Lord ſtill calls the God of Iſrael his heavenly Father, Matth. 7. 21. — 10. 32, 33. — 11. 25. — 12. 50. — 15. 13. — 16. 17. — 18. 10, 19, 35. Luke 10. 22. clearly diſtinguiſhing himſelf in Perſon from that heavenly Father with whom in Eſſence he was one. This Phraſe muſt therefore neceſſarily ſignifie a diſtinct Perſon from the Son, nor is it certain that it ever bears any other ſenſe in the New Teſtament.

Now God is called Father, (1*ſt*,) by right of Creation. He having made us, and not we our ſelves, according to that Queſtion of Malachi, Chap. 2. 10. Have we not all one Father, hath not one God created us? On which account the Scripture ſtiles him, the Father of our Spirits, Heb. 12. 9. (2*dly*,) By right of Providence, and Preſervation, for he upholds our Souls in Life, according to that Queſtion of God to his own People, Is he not thy Father which hath bought thee, hath he not made thee, and eſtabliſhed thee? Deut. 32. 6. He being that one Father who is above all things, by his Power and Eſſence, goes through all things by his Providence, and is in all by his Preſence, Eph. 4. 6. (3*dly*,) By right of Vocation and Adoption, we being called to that Faith in Chriſt, which conſtitutes us the Sons of God, John 1. 12. we being all the Children of God, thro' Faith in Chriſt Jeſus, Gal. 3. 26. and by the renovation of the Holy Spirit, who enables us to cry, Abba Father, Rom. 8. 15. and teſtifies to our Spirits, that we are the Sons of God, ver. 16. for as many as are led by the Spirit, they are the Sons of God, ver. 14. In which ſenſe he is ſtil'd, The Father of our Lord Jeſus Chriſt, of whom the whole Family in Heaven and Earth is named Sons, Eph. 3. 14, 15. The Angels, who by the Jews are ſtiled his Family above, being oft called the Sons of God, Job 1. 6. — 2. 1. — 38. 7. and good Men, who are ſtiled his Family on Earth, being made ſo by adoption. Yet, tho' this be the moſt excellent Notion of a Son, and in this ſenſe eſpecially, is God the Father of the Chriſtian; yet ſeeing, as the Heathens have well noted, God is, communis Humani Generis Parens, the common Father of Mankind; ſeeing he owned himſelf the Father of the whole Nation of the Jews, and ſtiled them all his Sons, the Notion of a Father here, muſt be extended to all the Senſes mentioned, or at the leaſt, to all to whom God is a Father, by calling them unto the Faith; ſince otherwiſe, Perſons of tender Conſciences, who doubted of their renovation in the Spirit, and of their right to claim the Privileges of the adopted Sons of God, could not recite this Prayer in Faith. And alſo, (2.) Then only could we pray for the Regenerate in this Form of Prayer, and ſo it would be only an imperfect Form; we being bound in Charity to pray for all Men, that they may hallow his Name, and do his Will.

Moreover, As this relation to God as our Father, calls for our Reverence of him, our Fear to offend him, our Zeal for his Honour, Mal. 1. 6. 1 Pet. 1. 17. our Obedience, and Likeneſs to our heavenly Father in Purity and Holineſs, 1 Pet. 1. 14, 15. Philip. 2. 15. 1 Joh. 3. 2, 3. and in love to all Mankind, Eph. 5. 1. even to them that are our Enemies, and deſpitefully uſe us, Matth. 5. 44, 48. And, Laſtly, our patient ſubmiſſion to all his Fatherly Chaſtiſements, Heb. 12. 9, 10. So doth it naturally tend to cheriſh our Faith, and raiſe our Hope of ſpeeding in our ſincere, fervent, and reaſonable Addreſſes to the Throne of Grace; our Lord having taught us to conclude, That if earthly Parents being evil, will give good things to their Children, much more will our heavenly Father give good things to thoſe that ask him, Matth. 7. 9, 10.

The word Our is joined to Father, ſaith St. Chryſoſtom, Ἵνα κοινὸν πατέρα ἔχειν διδαχθέντες ἀδελφικῶς πρὸς ἀλλήλους διακυώμεθα καὶ εὐνοίᾳ, That being taught, we have one common Father, we may love as Brethren, and pray for all the Members of the Church; tho' this hinders not, but in our private Devotions we may uſe the ſingular Number, and deſire the ſupply of our own particular Wants, provided we alſo intercede for others as well as for our ſelves; ſo David, O Lord, thou art my God, &c. 'Tis added, which art in Heaven; not to ſignifie, that his Eſſence is included there, for he fills Heaven and Earth, Jer. 23. 24. undoubtedly with the ſame Preſence, ſeeing he is not far from any of us, Acts 17. 25, 27. and whether we go up to Heaven, or down to Hades, or fly to the Ends of the Earth, we can never fly from his Preſence, Pſal. 139. 7, 8. And Solomon declares, That the Heaven of Heavens are not able to contain him, 1 Kings 8. 27. Vain therefore is the Note of Woltzogenius here, that when God is ſaid to be any where but in Heaven, we are to underſtand it, not of his eſſential Preſence, but of his Efficacy, Operation and Omniſcience; for, if the Heavens cannot contain him, the Earth muſt; if he fill Heaven and Earth, why not with the ſame Preſence? And ſeeing his Power and Eſſence is the ſame thing, and never can be ſeparated, how can it be conceived that he ſhould act where he is not? He is therefore ſaid to be in Heaven, becauſe there is his glorious Preſence, where he dwells in Light inacceſſible: And by this Phraſe is ſignified, (1ſt,) The High Majeſty, and Supreme Excellency of God, and his Dominion over all Creatures; as in thoſe words of Jehoſhaphat, Art not thou God in Heaven, and ruleſt not thou over all the Kingdoms of the Heathen? And, Pſal. 103. 19. The Lord hath prepared his Throne in Heaven; his Kingdom ruleth over all. And ſo we owe to him the higheſt Reverence, Eccleſ. 5. 2. and moſt exact Obedience. (2dly,) His Power, whereby he is able to do for us above what we can ask or think, 2 Chron. 20. 6. Art not thou God in Heaven? and in thy hand is there not Power and Might, ſo that none is able to withſtand thee, Pſal. 115. 3. Our God is in Heaven, he hath done whatſoever he pleaſed; and this engageth us to fear him above all, who is able to deſtroy both Soul and Body in Hell-fire. (3dly,) His Omniſcience, by which he ſitteth in Heaven, beholdeth all that is done upon the Earth; Pſ. 11. 4. The Lord's Throne is in Heaven, his Eyes behold, his Eye-lids try the Children of Men; Pſal. 33. 13, 14, 15. The Lord looketh from Heaven; he beholdeth all the Sons of Men; he faſhioneth their Hearts alike; he conſidereth all their Works: And this ſhould teach us Sincerity, and a regard both to our Words and Thoughts at all times, but more eſpecially in our Addreſſes to him. Laſtly, His infinite Purity and Holineſs; Deut. 26. 15. Look down from thy holy Habitation from Heaven, and bleſs thy People. Hence is he ſtiled, the high and lofty one, who inhabiteth Eternity, whoſe Name is Holy, Iſa. 57. 15. and this teacheth us to be holy, for the Lord our God is holy.

Ibid. Ἁγιασθήτω τὸ ὄνομά σου. Hallowed be thy Name.] Note, (1ſt,) That by the Name of God, we are to underſtand himſelf; conſidered not preciſely as to his Eſſence; for of that we may enquire with holy Job, Canſt thou by Wiſdom find out God? But, as he is made known to us by his creating all things, to be God over all, infinite in Power; by the Beauty and exact Order in which he hath placed all things, and the wiſe Ends for which he hath adapted them, to be a God of infinite Wiſdom and Knowledge; by the Law of Truth, Equity and Righteouſneſs, which he hath impreſſed upon our Spirits, that he is a God of Truth and Righteouſneſs; by the Purity and Holineſs of his Precepts, that he is a God of Purity; and by the rich Proviſions he hath made, both for the preſent and the future Happineſs of Man, that he is a God rich in Mercy and plenteous in Goodneſs to the Sons of Men, and a true lover of Souls. For, as in Scripture τὸ ὄνομα, the Name of any one is often put for his Perſon, Acts 1. 15. Rev. 3. 4. — 11. 13. or the Glory and Majeſty of him that bears that Name, Eph. 1. 21. Phil. 2. 9, 10. Heb. 1. 4. So here the Name of God ſignifies the Divine Majeſty, or God himſelf, as he is made known unto us by his Attributes; in which ſenſe, to call upon the Name of God, or Chriſt, Gen. 4. 26. 1 Kings 18. 24. 2 Kings 5. 11. Pſ. 116. 17. Joel 2. 32. Zeph. 3. 9. to love the Name of God, Pſ. 69. 36. Iſa. 56. 6. Heb. 6. 10. to blaſpheme and prophane his Name, James 2. 7. Rev. 13. 6. is to do this to God himſelf.

Note, (2.) That to ſanctifie or hallow, when it is aſcribed to things capable of being changed to the better, ſignifies either to conſecrate and ſet them apart from a prophane to a ſacred uſe; in which ſenſe, the Veſſels of the ſanctuary ſet apart for God's Service were hallowed; and the Prieſts and Levites conſecrated to God's Service, are ſaid to be ſanctified; or elſe, to adorn with ſuch inward Habits and Diſpoſitions, as render them inwardly Pure and Holy; and thus we are ſaid, to be ſanctified thro' the Spirit in the inward Man. Now the Divine Majeſty being infinitely Holy in himſelf, and exalted above all that we are able to conceive, cannot be hallowed or ſanctified in either of theſe Senſes, but by Analogy to them. He is then ſanctified by us, when we do ſeparate him from, and in our Conceptions do exalt him above all other things, and when we do aſcribe unto him the Excellencies of his Divine Majeſty, and treat him ſuitably to them. According to that of Chryſoſtom, τὸ ἁγιασθήτω ἀντὶ τοῦ δοξασθήτω, hallowed, that is, glorified be thy Name. Now, how this may moſt effectually be done, we cannot better learn than from obſerving, how God himſelf acts for his Glory, and the Sanctification of his Holy Name; now this he does, by the diſcovery of thoſe Perfections which naturally tend to raiſe within us, a Fear, and Reverence, and Love of him, Truſt and Affiance in him, and render us Obedient to him, and in which it is our Duty and our Perfection to be as like to him as we can. And therefore, (1.) God glorifies his Name, and ſanctifies himſelf by the diſcovery of his mighty Power, rendring him able to do exceedingly above what we can ask or think. So Pſal. 106. 7, 8. He ſaves them for his Name's ſake, that he might make his Power to be known: And, Iſa. 44. 23. The Lord hath redeemed Jacob, and in Iſrael δοξασθήσεται will be be glorified.

(2.) By rendring his Judgments conſpicuous againſt preſumptuous Sinners, and thoſe whoſe Hearts are hardned from his Fear, according to that Saying of Solomon Jarchi on Num. 20. 13. The Holy Bleſſed God ſanctifies himſelf before his Creatures, by the exerciſe of his Judgments on them. Thus, ſaith he, Exod. 14. 4, 17. Ἐνδοξαδήσομαι, I will get me Glory upon Pharaoh, and all his Hoſt; i. e. I will ſhew my Power and Juſtice in their Deſtruction: And when God had broke forth upon Nadab and Abihu, for offering ſtrange Fire, Moſes ſaith, This is that which the Lord had pronounced, I will be ſanctified in thoſe that come nigh me; and before all the People, I will be glorified, Lev. 10. 3. See alſo, Iſa. 5. 16. Ezek. 28. 22. — 38. 23. (3.) By rendring conſpicuous his Truth and Faithfulneſs to his Promiſes; as when the Pſalmiſt ſaith, Pſal. 138. 2. I will praiſe thy Name, for thy loving Kindneſs and Truth; for thou haſt magnified thy Truth above all thy Name; i. e. thou haſt been chiefly Glorious in the punctual performance of thy Promiſes. See Jer. 14. 22. (4.) By ſhewing the Riches of his Grace, Mercy, and Goodneſs, to the Sons of Men: So when God had declared to Moſes, That he was a God merciful, and gracious, long-ſuffering, abundant in Goodneſs, and forgiving Iniquity, Exod. 34. 6, 7. he is ſaid, to make his Goodneſs paſs before him, and to ſhew him his Glory, Exod. 33. 22. — 34. 5, 6. Only it ought to be obſerved from the (m) Fathers, That the great End of all God's glorious Works and Diſpenſations, in which theſe Excellencies are diſplayed, cannot be this, That he may be admired and applauded by his Creatures. 'Tis vain to think, the All-wiſe God can be concerned, whether ſuch blind Creatures as we are, approve or diſapprove of his Proceedings, or that he really can ſuffer any diminution of his Glory, by our Diſlike, or, is advanced in Honour, by our approbation of his Diſpenſations. We detract from his Majeſty, if we conceive, that he is tickled with Applauſe, or aims at Reputation from us, in any of his glorious Actions; that therefore ſuch as we ſhould think well of him, can be no farther his concern, than as theſe Apprehenſions may engage us to that Affection, and Obedience to, and Imitation of him, which tends to the promotion of our Happineſs.

God therefore in diſcovering theſe Divine Perfections, muſt be ſuppoſed to deſign as well the Benefit and Happineſs of Man, as the Advancement of his Honour. Thus, when he diſcovers all thoſe Attributes which repreſent him Good and Merciful, kind and obliging to the Sons of Men, he doth it with deſign, and in a manner, proper to lay the higheſt Obligations on us to returns of Love and Gratitude, and to engage us to that imitation of his Goodneſs and Mercy to our fellow Creatures, which renders us the Children of our heavenly Father, Matth. 5. 45. When he gives ſignal Demonſtrations of his Almighty Power, and his great Wiſdom, he deſigns by this to teach us, That he is able to foreſee, and to divert the Evils which may at any time befall us, and to confer the greateſt Bleſſings on his Servants; that ſo he may incourage us to truſt in him at all times, to repair to him in the time of need, and ſerve him faithfully, in expectation of his Favour and Protection. When he manifeſts himſelf to be a God of Truth and Faithfulneſs, one who will punctually perform his Promiſes, and execute his Threats upon us, he doth this chiefly to affright us from thoſe Sins, which make it neceſſary for him to be ſevere upon us, and to provoke us to the performance of thoſe Duties, to which he hath annexed the greateſt Bleſſings. When he informs us, that his Holineſs and Juſtice cannot permit the Wicked to eſcape his Judgments, or any upright Soul to want the Tokens of his Love, or the Reward of his ſincere Obedience; his great Deſign in all this, is, That Sin, which is the Riſe of all our Miſeries, may be avoided, and Holineſs, which is the true Advancement and beſt Accompliſhment of Human Nature, may be more earneſtly perſued by us: So that God's acting for his Glory, is alſo acting for the good of his moſt noble Creatures; 'tis only recommending himſelf to their Good-liking and Affection, that ſo he may the more effectually advance their Happineſs. Hence therefore we may learn,

1. That we ſanctifie or glorifie God with our Mouths, when we declare and do acknowledge theſe his Excellencies; when we offer up our Prayers and Praiſes to him, as the Author of every good and perfect Gift, aſcribing all the Good we do, receive, or hope for, to him alone, and tell of all his wondrous Works.

2. We ſanctifie him in our Hearts, when we conceive aright of him, as a God infinite in all theſe Excellencies, and conſequently have ſuch impreſſions on our Spirits, as cauſe us truly to fear and reverence him, to believe all his Revelations, truſt in his Promiſes, behave our ſelves before him with all ſincerity of Heart, and uprightly deſign the promotion of his Glory.

3. We ſanctifie him in our Lives and Actions, when the conſideration of theſe Divine Excellencies engage us to Obedience to his Holy Will, and to act ſuitably in all our Dealings,

(m) Οὐ γὰρ χρείας ἕνεκεν ὁ Θεὸς πεποίηκε τὸν κοσμὸν ἵνα τιμὰς παρ' ἀνθρώπων, καὶ παρὰ Θεῶν τῶν ἄλλων, καὶ Δαιμόνων φησὶν ὁ Πλάτων χαρποῖτο. Clem. Alex. Strom. 5. p. 585. B. Theodor. adv. Græc. Serm. 4. p. 535.

Dealings, to our belief of them; when we ſhew forth his imitable Perfections in our Lives, 1 Pet. 2. 12. by our ſincere endeavour to reſemble him in them; when we are fruitful in all thoſe Works of Righteouſneſs, which are, thro' Jeſus Chriſt, to the glory and praiſe of God, Philip. 1. 11. and let our Works ſo ſhine before Men, that they ſeeing them, may glorifie our Father which is in Heaven.

When then we ſay, Hallowed be thy Name, we pray, That all Men may ſo ſpeak, ſo think of the Divine Majeſty, and ſo deport themſelves towards him, that he may be thus glorified in their Words, Hearts and Actions; and that all Worſhip of Idols, and Devils, may wholly be aboliſhed; and that this Honour, as it is due, ſo may it be aſcribed to him alone.

k Ver. 10. Ἐλθέτω ἡ βασιλεία σε· Thy Kingdom come.] This cannot be underſtood of that general Kingdom, by which God ruleth over all the World, that being always come, and capable of no amplification, and ſo we cannot wiſh rationally in any ſenſe, that it may come. And it ſeems probable, that it is not primarily and directly to be underſtood of the Kingdom of Glory in the Heavens; we praying, this Kingdom may come to us, that we may do his Will on Earth. But, conſidering that this Phraſe in the Prayer, as well as in the Language of the Jews, reſpects the Kingdom of the Meſſiah, which they then thought ſhould immediately appear, Luke 19. 11. and which they were then expecting, Mark 15. 43. and were waiting for, Luke 2. 38. and which they daily pray'd for in theſe words, (n) Let him make his Kingdom reign, let his Redemption flouriſh, and let his Meſſiah come and deliver his People. (2*dly*,) That this is chiefly the import of the Kingdom of God, when our Lord in the Goſpels ſpeaks of it to the Jews, as is ſhewed Note on Matth. 3. 2. b. And, (3*dly*,) That this Prayer was compoſed for the uſe of Chriſt's Diſciples, when this Kingdom of God was approaching; and both the Baptiſt, our Lord, and his Diſciples, began to ſay unto the Jews, Repent ye, for the Kingdom of God is at hand: I think our Saviour, in the direct and immediate ſenſe of theſe words, inſtructs them out of Zeal to God's Honour, and that his Name may be hallowed, and his Will be done on Earth, to pray, That his Goſpel might be generally entertained by Men, with due Faith and Obedience; that all might own, and worſhip God in Truth, receive his Son Jeſus Chriſt, as their King and Saviour, and humbly ſubmit to his Laws; or in the words of the Jews, Hoſanna to the Son of David, Matth. 21. 9. Bleſſed and proſperous be the Kingdom which cometh in the Name of the Lord, Luke 19. 38. And conſequently, that it may reign in the Hearts of all, who do profeſs to own it, diſpoſing them to an entire ſubjection to, and ready compliance with its Precepts, and working in them thoſe Fruits of Righteouſneſs, and Peace, and Joy in the Holy Ghoſt, in which this Kingdom does eſpecially conſiſt, Rom. 14. 17. This being the Kingdom of God intended, when 'tis ſaid, ver. 33. Seek ye firſt the Kingdom of God, and the Righteouſneſs thereof. We therefore in this Petition, by parity of Reaſon, are to pray, That all Men may become Subjects to the Kingdom of God, erected by Chriſt, that the knowledge of the Chriſtian Faith may come to all Nations, that the Kingdoms of this World may be the Kingdoms of our Lord Chriſt, Apoc. 11. 15. All Kings and Nations, People and Languages, doing him Service, Pſal. 72. 11. Dan. 7. 14, 27. That his Kingdom may be advanced by the coming in of the Jews, and by the Fulneſs of the Gentiles, that Chriſtian Religion may obtain every where, as well in Reality as Profeſſion, the Minds of all Men being ſubdued to the Obedience of Faith, and they ſhewing forth the Virtues of it in their Lives.

Ibid. Γενηθέτω τὸ θέλημά σε, ὡς ἐν οὐρανῷ καὶ ἐπὶ τῆς γῆς· Thy Will be done, as in Heaven ſo on Earth.] Note here, l

1*ſt*, That we pray not here, that God may do his own Will and Pleaſure; for, he will always do whatſoever he pleaſeth in Heaven, and in Earth, Eccleſ. 8. 3. And, who hath reſiſted his Will? Rom. 9. 19. Whether therefore we pray thus, or not, he will do all his Pleaſure, Iſa. 46. 10. and ſo 'tis needleſs to call upon him ſo to do. Nor,

2*dly*, Do, I think, we here deſire his Will of Providence may be done upon us; and we may chearfully ſubmit to it; tho' in this, conſiſts the Life of Chriſtian Patience, and Self-reſignation; for, we here pray to do God's Will on Earth, as it is done in Heaven, where there is perfect Happineſs, endleſs and neceſſary Bliſs, and therefore no occaſion or poſſibility of ſubmitting in adverſe Providences to the Will of God. Nor, m

3*dly*, Do we here pray, we may on Earth be equal to the Bleſſed Angels, in the perfection, readineſs, and alacrity of our Obedience; it being not in the power of imperfect Creatures, to do God perfect Service; or of them, who have in them Fleſh ſtill luſting againſt the Spirit, the World ſtill ſoliciting, Satan ſtill tempting, and the corruptible Body preſſing down the Soul, to pay continually that ready, chearful, and complete Homage, which Bleſſed Spirits, freed from all theſe Imperfections, Conflicts, and Temptations, yield: And therefore, ſuch Obedience, which 'tis impoſſible for us to pay, muſt alſo be unreaſonable for us to deſire. 'Tis almoſt needleſs to add, 4*thly*,

4*thly*, That we pray not here, That God would neceſſitate, or inwardly compel us to do his Will; for, this is not to pray, his Will may be done by us, but by him in us, nor could we then deſire not to be led into Temptation; but notwithſtanding, by deſiring his Will may thus be done by us, we conſequentially muſt deſire all that Grace, and that Aſſiſtance of his Holy Spirit, which is on God's part requiſite to enable us thus to do his Will. Now of theſe Angels in Heaven, we read,

1*ſt*, That they ſtand continually before the Face of God, Matth. 18. 10. as being always ready to receive, and prepared to execute his Holy Will: Hence are they repreſented as having Wings, and flying ſwiftly with them whither he is pleaſed to ſend them, to ſhew the readineſs, and alacrity, with which they do his Pleaſure.

2*dly*, That they are ſtiled Miniſters of his to do his Pleaſure, obeying his Commandments, and hearkning to the Words of his Mouth, Pſal. 103. 20, 21. This therefore ſeems to be the import of this Prayer, That with as much readineſs, alacrity, perfection, as the imperfection of Human Nature will admit of, we may yield Obedience to his Holy Will, and imitate the Bleſſed Angels in a ſincere compliance with it, without heſitation, or reniteney; and that in order to this End, he would vouchſafe us thoſe Divine Aſſiſtances which may enlighten our Underſtandings, rightly to diſcern what is the good, and acceptable, and perfect Will of God, and powerfully incline our Wills, and ſtrengthen all our executive Faculties, to ſuch a chearful, ready, conſtant, and ſincere Obedience to it.

m Ver. 11. Τὸν ἄρτον ἡμῶν τὸν ἐπιούσιον δὸς ἡμῖν σήμερον, Luke 11. 3. τὸ καθ' ἡμέραν· Give us this Day, (or, Day by Day,) our daily Bread.] Here let it be obſerved,

1*ſt*, That under the name of Bread, is doubtleſs comprehended all that is neceſſary for ſuſtaining human Nature, and ſo, Meat, Drink, and Cloathing: Theſe things, ſaith Chriſt, your heavenly Father knoweth to be needful for you, ver. 32. and theſe things he hath promiſed, to thoſe who ſeek firſt the Kingdom of God, and the Righteouſneſs thereof, ver. 33. and therefore will undoubtedly provide them. Having this Food and Raiment, the Apoſtle enjoins us to be content, 1 Tim. 6. 8. And thereby he defineth, ſaith Theophylact, what is Sufficiency; with this Food, Jacob terminates his Wiſhes; for he deſires only, that God would give him Food to eat, and Raiment to put on, Gen. 28. 20. And Agur only asks, that God would order for him τὰ δέοντα, καὶ τὰ αὐτάρκη, what he wanted, and would ſuffice, Prov. 30. 8. Moreover, ſeeing the reaſon of asking thus our daily Bread, is the neceſſity of it for ſuſtaining human Life, it follows, that all other things muſt be compriſed in that word, which are as needful to ſuſtain it; to wit, That Money, Health to Labour, and that Bleſſing on our Labours, and our Callings, which is neceſſary to procure this Food and Raiment; and that Habitation, or Houſe, which is neceſſary to preſerve us from the Injuries of the Weather; and that ſeaſonable Weather, which may enable us to reap the Fruits of the Earth, and ſo preſerve us from periſhing by Dearth or Famine; it alſo doubtleſs, muſt compriſe thoſe things which are not only neceſſary for the ſuſtaining of our ſelves, but of our Family; for ſeeing Charity requires us to ask theſe things, as well for others as our ſelves, it more eſpecially requires us to deſire them for them to whom we are ſo intimately related, and for whom we are required to provide them. All theſe things ſeem to be neceſſaries contained under the Name of Bread, or Food and Raiment; and with a ſufficiency of theſe, to ſuſtain Life commodiouſly, we muſt reſt contented. But yet, I doubt not, that many other things may be compriſed under this Head, provided we do only ask them with ſubmiſſion to the Divine Wiſdom, and if he ſees them needful and convenient for us, ſubmitting our Concerns about them to his Providence. Thus v. g.

1*ſt*, Under the Name of Bread, may be compriſed all thoſe things which Providence hath given, and deſigned for the nouriſhment of Man; Fleſh, Fiſh, Fowl, Wine, Oil, Milk, Honey, the Fruits of the Earth, Corn, Roots, Herbs, and of the Trees that grow upon it; for all theſe things hath God created, to be received with Thankſgiving, 1 Tim. 4. 3. He hath given all theſe things to Man to eat, Gen. 1. 29. — 9. 2, 3. He cauſeth the Graſs to grow for the Cattel, and Herbs for the uſe of Man, that he may bring forth Food out of the Earth, and Wine that maketh glad the Heart of Man, and Oil to make his Face to ſhine, and Bread to ſtrengthen Man's Heart, Pſal. 104. 14, 15. And this is the import of the word Bread, when Abraham ſaid, Gen. 18. 5. I will fetch a morſel of Bread, and comfort your Hearts; for he brought with it Butter and Milk, and the Calf that he had dreſſed, and ſet it before them, ver. 8. Thus Joſeph ſaith, Set on Bread, Gen. 43. 31. when they ſlew Cattel, ver. 16. and had Meſſes of Meat, and ſtore of good Wine, ver 34. See 1 Sam. 9. 7. 1 Kings 21. 7. And in like manner under the Name of Raiment, may we underſtand all thoſe things which Nature hath provided for no other uſe we know of, but to cloath, and adorn us, Flax, Wool, Hair, Silk; and which, by uſing to theſe Ends, we only uſe unto thoſe Purpoſes to which they were deſigned by Nature. And,

2*dly*, That we may have Food and Raiment in this ſenſe, we muſt have all things neceſſary to this End; ſome having Flocks of Sheep,

ſome Herds of Cattel, ſome imploy'd in Huſbandry, ſome in Gardning, ſome in dreſſing Vineyards and Oliveyards, ſome in Cloathing, ſome in other Trades, which provide Inſtruments neceſſary for theſe Employments; and if all theſe things are ſanctified to us by Prayer and Thankſgiving, then may we ask God's Bleſſing on our honeſt Labours to procure them, and tender our Thankſgivings to him for his Bleſſing on theſe Labours to that End. Note,

2*dly*, That the Bread we are bid to ask, is ſtiled ὁ ἐπιούσιος, that is, either the Bread of the Day preſent, or coming on: As when the Wiſe Man adviſes us not to ſay, αὔριον δώσω, I will give to morrow, when we can at preſent do it, Prov. 3. 28. and not to boaſt of to morrow, Prov. 27. 1. becauſe we know not τί τέξεται ἡ ἐπιοῦσα, what a Day will bring forth, or what will be on the morrow. So Chryſoſtom and Origen, τὸν ἄρτον τὸν ἐπιούσιον τουτέστι τὸν ἐφήμερον· And St. Jerom confeſſes, that ſome expound it, de præſenti cibo, of our Food at preſent, becauſe, ſay Theophylact and others, we are forbidden to be ſolicitous for the morrow: So alſo is the Phraſe interpreted by (o) Phavorinus, Suidas, and St. Chryſoſtom. Others interpret it the Bread, τὸν ἐπιόντος χρόνου, of the time to come, or of that future Life God ſhall pleaſe to afford us, which ſeems beſt to comport with St. Luke, ſaying, Give us τὸ καθ' ἡμέραν, Day by, or after Day, our daily Bread; and ſo ἡμέραν may alſo ſignifie, as יוֹם doth, Pſal. 13. 3. de die in Diem, from Day to Day; and ſo the ſenſe will be, Lord, give us Day by Day, that which ſhall be ſufficient for the remainder of our Lives: Both ſenſes are good, and may be joined together, tho' I incline moſt to the firſt.

They who render this with the Vulgar, panem ſuperſubſtantialem, as they do not conſider that it is in no ſenſe, ἄρτος ἐπιούσιος daily Bread, but ὑπερούσιος, more than we need for Suſtentation; ſo neither (2*dly*,) that this Senſe of the words relating to Sacramental Bread, obliges all Chriſtians to receive the Sacrament daily. (3*dly*,) That this Sacrament was not then inſtituted, nor did the Apoſtles for whom this Prayer was made, know any thing of it. And laſtly, that our Petitions for ſpiritual Bread are fully contained in the foregoing Precepts. Note,

4*thly*, That the Rich, as well as the Poor, have need to put up this Petition, not only by reaſon of the Mutability of their Affairs, and the Uncertainty of thoſe Enjoyments which may be quickly taken from them, but alſo from the Inſufficiency of their Abundance to feed and nouriſh them without God's Bleſſing on it, which they are therefore daily to implore; we therefore are from this Petition taught;

1*ſt*, How moderate our Appetites ſhould be towards theſe outward things, both as to Quality, and Quantity, we being here directed to ask τροφὴν & τρυφὴν, Bread or Food, not delicious Fare; our neceſſary Food, not Superfluities; our daily Food, not full Barns, or Treaſures to lay up for many Years; a moderate Proviſion to be dealt to us as we need it.

2*dly*, By directing us daily to apply our ſelves to God for theſe things, we are taught to own our continual Dependence on him for our Being; that we owe all we have or can expect, not to our Induſtry or Wiſdom, to the Support of Friends, or our own Stocks, but purely to the Conduct, and Bleſſing of his good Providence; eſteeming his Providence our beſt Eſtate, his Bounty our ſureſt Treaſure, his Fatherly Care our only certain and comfortable Support: And therefore praying that from the Riches of his Goodneſs, he would continually afford us what he ſees needful for us, and give his Bleſſing both upon our Labours to procure it, and on our Food to afford Nouriſhment, and Strength unto us.

Ver. 12. Καὶ ἄφες ἡμῖν τὰ ὀφειλήματα ἡμῶν (τὰς ἁμαρτίας ἡμῶν, Luke 11. 4.) ὡς καὶ ἡμεῖς ἀφίεμεν τοῖς ὀφειλέταις ἡμῶν, (Luke, καὶ γὰρ αὐτοὶ ἀφίεμεν παντὶ ὀφείλοντι ἡμῖν·) And forgive us our Treſpaſſes, (Sins) as (for) we forgive (every one of) them who treſpaſs againſt us.] Here note that this Petition ſuppoſeth theſe ſeveral things, viz.

1*ſt*, That we who put up this Petition are Sinners, and want God's Mercy in the Pardon of our Offences againſt him. For ſeeing Chriſt requires all his Diſciples thus to pray daily, he muſt exclude himſelf out of that Number; who ſays, he wants not this Forgiveneſs. Hence Solomon informs us, there is no Man that ſinneth not, 1 Kings 8. 46. None who can truly ſay, I have made my Heart clean, I am pure from Sin, Prov. 20. 9. and that there is not a juſt Man upon Earth, who doth good and ſinneth not, Eccleſ. 7. 20. And holy Job enquires, What is Man, that he ſhould be clean, or he that is born of a Woman that he ſhould be righteous? Job 25. 4. — 15. 14. The Prayer of the Pſalmiſt is, Enter not thou into Judgment with thy Servant, O Lord, for in thy Sight ſhall no Man living be juſtified, Pſ. 143. 2. St. James ſaith, that in many things we offend all, Jam. 3. 2. and St. John, that if we ſay we have no Sin, we deceive our ſelves, and the Truth is not in us, 1 John 1. 8, 10. by all which Scriptures it is evident againſt the Pelagians and the Cathari, that this Remiſſion of Sins is is neceſſary not for a few only, but for all Chriſt's Diſciples, that they are not only humbly, but alſo truly to confeſs they are Sinners, and that if they deny it they lie, and the Truth is not in them.

2*dly*, This Prayer ſuppoſes alſo that theſe our Sins, ſhould God deal with us according to the Merit of them, muſt render us obnoxious to his juſt Diſpleaſure, and that we therefore want the Pardon of them. For ſeeing every Sin is a Tranſgreſſion of God's holy Law, it muſt render us guilty, till by an Act of Grace we have obtained the Remiſſion of it. And,

3*dly*, It ſuppoſeth that we are humbly to confeſs our Sins to God, for he that begs Pardon muſt be ſuppoſed to own his Offence. And in requeſting Pardon for our Sins, we confeſs our ſelves to be Sinners, and to need God's Mercy. This Petition alſo teacheth us,

1*ſt*, To lay the Foundation of our Devotions in Humility; and when we are addreſſing to God for ſpiritual or temporal Bleſſings, to acknowledge our own Unworthineſs to receive them, that ſo we may more magnifie his Goodneſs, in affording them to thoſe, who are leſs than the leaſt of any of his Mercies.

2*dly*, This being the firſt ſpiritual Petition we make for our ſelves, it ſhews how much we are concerned to obtain it; our Happineſs depending wholly on the Favour of God, and our Miſery on his Diſpleaſure. And that being obnoxious to his Wrath by our Omiſſions of what he hath enjoined, and our Commiſſion of what he hath forbidden, we are firſt and eſpecially concerned to obtain the Pardon of our Sins, and get him reconciled to us, eſpecially if we conſider that any Iniquity unpardoned will obſtruct the Efficacy of our Petitions for other things, and turn his Face and his Ear from us that he will not hear. And,

3*dly*, The Condition annexed to our Petitions, in that Clauſe, as we forgive, or the reaſon of it in thoſe words, for we forgive, ſhews us how neceſſary 'tis, that we may ſpeed in this Petition, that we come to pray with an Heart full of Charity, and Goodwill to all Men, and free from any Grudge, Ill-will, any Rancour, or Regret againſt our Brother, according to that Counſel of our Lord, When ye ſtand praying, forgive, if ye have any thing againſt another, that your heavenly Father may forgive your Treſpaſſes, Mark 11. 25. ſeeing our own Forgiveneſs depends upon this Diſpoſition, nor ſhall we be forgiven without it, ver. 14, 15. Yea, we come to God with a Lie in our Mouths, when we ſay to him, forgive, for we forgive others their Treſpaſſes, and pray that we may not be pardoned, when we ſay, forgive us, as we forgive others their Treſpaſſes, if we do not from the Heart forgive them. What this Forgiveneſs on our part doth require, ſee Note on ver. 14, 15.

Ver. 13. Καὶ μὴ εἰσενέγκῃς ἡμᾶς εἰς πειρασμόν, And lead us not into Temptation.] Temptations being of two kinds, (1*ſt*,) ſuch as are ſent for Tryal of our Faith and Conſtancy, or the Improvement of our Graces, and the Example and Encouragement of others; and that Chriſt ſpeaks not primarily of theſe, Interpreters conclude, (1*ſt*,) Becauſe they, by the Wiſdom of Chriſt are made the Portion of all Chriſtians, who are to take up their Croſs and follow him, and muſt through many Tribulations enter into the Kingdom of God, Acts 14. 22. They are appointed to them, 1 Theſſ. 3. 3. and if they will live godly they muſt ſuffer Perſecutions, 2 Tim. 3. 12. (2*dly*,) Becauſe theſe Tryals are ſometimes neceſſary for us, we falling into them only εἰ δέον ἐστὶ, if need be, 1 Pet. 1. 6. and are ſent for ſalutary Ends by God, viz. To make us Partakers of his Holineſs, and to work in us the comfortable Fruits of Righteouſneſs, Heb. 12. 10, 11. and render us conformed to our Head, Rom. 8. 29. and ſo are repreſented as the Gifts of God, Philip. 1. 28. And it ſeems not reaſonable that Chriſt ſhould adviſe us to pray againſt thoſe things which are ſo needful for, and ſalutary to us. (3*dly*,) Becauſe we are bid to count it all Joy, when we fall into theſe Tribulations, Jam. 1. 2. are ſaid to be bleſſed, and happy, when we do endure them for the ſake of Chriſt, v. 12. 1 Pet. 4. 14. and Believers rejoiced in them, Rom. 5. 5. We are therefore only to pray againſt them, when they fall ſo heavy on us, as to be ſtrong Inducements to make Shipwrack of Faith and a good Conſcience, as in the caſe of the Theſſalonians, to whom the Apoſtle ſends to know their Faith, leſt the Tempter ſhould have tempted them, and made his Labour vain among them, 1 Theſſ. 3. 5. in which caſe as they are called καιροὶ πειρασμοῦ, times of Temptation to fall away, Luke 8. 13. ὥρα τοῦ πειρασμοῦ, the Hour of Temptation, which was to come upon the Earth, from falling by which, Chriſt promiſeth to keep the Church of Philadelphia, Rev. 3. 10. πύρωσις πρὸς πειρασμὸν, the fiery tryal, 1 Pet. 4. 12. which made ſo many of the Jews fall off from the Faith. So in this ſenſe our Saviour ſuffering being tempted, that he might ſuccour us when we are tempted, Heb. 2. 18. doubtleſs we may pray that God would not ſuffer us to be tempted above what we are able, but would with the Temptation make a way for us to eſcape, that we may be able to bear it, 1 Cor. 10. 13. that he would ſo ſtrengthen our Faith, and ſo aſſiſt us by his Holy Spirit, that we may be able to repel all theſe fiery Darts of Satan, Eph. 6. 16, 88. and may ſtand in the evil day, v. 13. and that he would either keep us from, or preſerve us from falling in this Hour of Temptation; for the Epiſtles are full of ſuch Prayers made by the Apoſtles for the Churches, or with Directions thus to pray; and this is only praying that we may not enter into Temptation, or may be delivered, when under it, from Evil. (2*dly*,) Temptations are ſuch as lead to Sin, and ſuch are the Temptations of Satan, ſuggeſting evil things unto, or raiſing evil motions in us; or of our fleſhly Luſts by which we are drawn away, and enticed to covet that which is forbidden, Jam. 1. 14. And theſe are the Temptations which we are here eſpecially directed to pray againſt, the other ſort being ſo only to be prayed againſt as they fall in with theſe, as being ſtrong Temptations to Sin. For he who had taught us in the precedent words to pray for the Pardon of our paſt Sins, may rationally be thought here, to direct us to pray, that we may be preſerved from them for the future. And this may alſo be concluded from the following Clauſe, but (when we are thus in danger of it) deliver us from Evil, as we ſhall ſee in the Interpretation of thoſe words. And in this ſenſe the word πειρασμὸς, Tentation, occurs in Chriſt's Exhortation to his Diſciples to watch and pray, leſt they enter εἰς πειρασμὸν into Temptation, Matth. 26. 41. when St. Paul bids the ſpiritual Man reſtore thoſe that are overtaken with a Fault, in the Spirit of Meekneſs, conſidering himſelf leſt he alſo be tempted, Gal. 6. 1. when he ſaith, they that will be rich fall into Temptation, εἰς πειρασμὸν, and a Snare, 1 Tim. 6. 9.

Now by praying we may not enter into theſe Temptations, we cannot rationally be ſuppoſed to pray that we may not be obnoxious to any Solicitations, or Temptations to Sin; for whilſt we carry Fleſh about us, this Fleſh will luſt againſt the Spirit, Gal. 5. 17. and the whole Life of Chriſtians is a continual Warfare and Conflict againſt Satan and ſpiritual Wickedneſſes, Eph. 6. 12. againſt the Fleſh, 1 Pet. 2. 11. and againſt the Allurements of that World, in which we do converſe; and therefore to pray abſolutely to be freed from theſe Temptations, is to deſire to be freed from the common Lot and Condition of all Chriſtians.

Yet becauſe there be ſometimes Caſes in which we are more than ordinarily ſolicited to ſin, as Joſeph was by the daily Importunity of his Miſtreſs, either by Satan's more impetuous Aſſaults, as when our Saviour being hungry, was tempted by the Devil, to make Experiment whether he was the Son of God, by commanding Stones to be made Bread, or by ſome Circumſtances and Allurements of the Fleſh, or of the World, concurring with our inward Luſtings, as when the young Man is tempted by the Harlot to luſt, or the Indigent by his Companions to Theft or Robbery, and in theſe Caſes we by reaſon of our Frailty, and Proneneſs to theſe Vices, lie under great Temptations to offend, and to be overcome by that εὐπερίστατος ἁμαρτία, Sin which doth too eaſily beſet us; in all theſe Caſes we are eſpecially to pray we may not enter into Temptation, this being only to deſire we may not be obnoxious to the continual Peril of offending, and to the fierce Aſſaults of a Temptation. Note, 3*dly*, That to be led, or enter into Temptation in the Scripture Senſe, is to be drawn by the Allurements of a Temptation to commit Iniquity. In this ſenſe Chriſt adviſeth his Diſciples to pray, not that they might not fall into times of Temptation, for they were then come; not that Satan might not vex or tempt them to Evil, for this he told them they were to expect; but that they might not fall into Temptation, i. e. They might not be over-power'd by the Incurſion of it; in which ſenſe the Apoſtle ſaith to the ſpiritual Man, Reſtore thy Brother in the Spirit of Meekneſs, conſidering thy ſelf leſt thou alſo be tempted, Gal. 6. 1. i. e. leſt thou alſo fall by a Temptation. See the Note there. And to his Theſſalonians, I ſent to know your Faith, leſt the Tempter ſhould have tempted you, and my Labour be in vain. See the Note there. And if we do conſider that this Petition, in the Jewiſh Phraſe, runs thus, bring us not into the hand, or Power of a Temptation, we ſhall be eaſily induced to believe, this is the primary import of theſe words, tho' they may alſo ſecondarily requeſt, the Providence of God would not ſubject us to thoſe Circumſtances which lay us under a great Peril of offending; or when he doth think fit to do ſo, that he would not deny us Strength ſufficient to repel the Violence of thoſe Aſſaults.

4*thly*, That we may underſtand in what ſenſe it is fit to pray, that God would not lead us into Temptations of this kind, we muſt know,

1*ſt*, That God cannot be ſuppoſed to lead any Man into Temptation to ſin, either by infuſing any evil Principle into his Heart, or by inclining, exciting, or enticing any Man to ſin, or by laying upon any Man a neceſſity to commit it, (See Note on 2 Theſſ. 2. 11.) ſeeing in all theſe caſes he would be certainly the Author of it, as much as Satan and our own Concupiſcence can be ſuppoſed ſo to be; and we in vain ſhould ask of him, not to be led into Temptation, who is diſpoſed to do thoſe things which will infallibly ſubject us to it. And hence St. James ſpeaks thus unto us, Let no Man ſay, when he is tempted, I am tempted of God, for God cannot be tempted with Evil, neither tempteth he any Man, Jam. 1. 13. God therefore can be only ſaid, to lead us into Temptation upon ſuch accounts as theſe. (1.) That he is pleaſed to remove thoſe Reſtraints which he had laid on on Satan, and to let looſe his Chains, ſo that he may freely aſſault, and try his Strength upon us; for it is carefully to be obſerved, for our Comfort, that Satan cannot tempt us, at his Pleaſure, but only when, and ſo far as God ſhall be pleaſed to permit him; as is apparent in the Caſe of Job, whom Satan could not touch without Permiſſion from God; and the Example of the Apoſtles whom Satan firſt begg'd leave to winnow, before he could aſſault them, Luke 22. 31. And ſurely he who durſt not enter into the Swine till leave was given him by Chriſt, can much leſs fall on his Diſciples without leave. And when God in his Wiſdom ſeeth fit to grant it, he himſelf is ſaid to do, what he permitteth Satan to effect. So when he permitted Satan, by his Miniſters, to deſtroy the Subſtance and the Children of Job, Job ſaid, God gave, and God hath taken away, Job 1. 21. And God himſelf ſpeaks thus to Satan, thou movedſt me to afflict him without Cauſe, Chap. 2. 3. So in the caſe of David numbering the People, Satan roſe up againſt David, and moved him to number the People, 1 Chron. 21. 1. Yet becauſe God permitted him to do it, it is ſaid, 2 Sam. 24. 1. that the Fury of the Lord was kindled againſt Iſrael, and he moved David to ſay, go number the People. The coming of Antichriſt is ſaid to be, with the Operation of Satan, in all Power, and Signs, and lying Wonders, with all deceivableneſs of Iniquity to them that periſh, 2 Theſſ. 2. 9, 10. But becauſe he doth this by God's Permiſſion, towards them who received not the Truth in the Love of it, that they might be ſaved, but had Pleaſure in Unrighteouſneſs, therefore it is ſaid, that God ſent them ſtrong Deluſions to believe a lie, v. 11, and 12. Becauſe God did not only permit this, but did ſo for the Puniſhment of their Infidelity and Impiety; So God deſigning the Deſtruction of a wicked Ahab, permitteth Satan to be a lying Spirit in the Mouth of all his Prophets, and ſaith to him, Thou ſhalt deceive him and ſhalt prevail, go forth and do ſo, 1 Kings 22. 20, 22. giving him full Permiſſion ſo to do. (2*dly*,) That he is pleaſed to withdraw that Grace which hath in vain been given, and take thoſe Talents from us which have been hidden in a Napkin. According to that Rule of God's Proceedings, To him that hath (i. e. improveth what he hath) ſhall (more) be given, but from him that hath not, (i. e. who by not uſing it, is as if he had not) ſhall be taken away that which he hath, Matth. 13. 12. and 25. 29. Here therefore note (1.) that we are not ſufficient of our ſelves, without divine Aſſiſtance, to repel, and overcome the Temptations of the World, the Fleſh, and the Devil, and to yield conſtant and ſincere Obedience to the Will of God: For were this ſo, why ſhould we be daily asking that of God, which he already hath put into our own Hands? This hath been owned even by the wiſeſt of the Heathens, (p) that there was never a good Man without a divine Aid, and that the Imperfection of the humane Nature, requires this Aid, to regulate our Paſſions, and conquer the Difficulties of a virtuous Life. And this is fully evident from all thoſe places of Scripture; in which it is aſcribed to God alone to be able to keep us from falling, Jud. 24. to be able to ſtabliſh us, Rom. 16. 25. καταρτίσαι to confirm us in every good work to do his Will, working in us what is good and acceptable in his Sight, Heb. 13. 21. and to work in us both to will and to do of his good Pleaſure, Philip. 2. 13. And from thoſe places which require us to pray that we enter not into Temptation, Matth. 26. 41. that we may be able to ſtand againſt the Aſſaults of Satan, Eph. 6. 11. that we may have Wiſdom to direct us how to bear them, Jam. 1. 5. and that we may keep our ſelves in the Love of God, Jud. 20, 21. For theſe things evidently ſhew God's Grace preventing us, is neceſſary to make us truly willing, and his aſſiſting Grace to make us able to perform our Duty; and that we are not able to bear up againſt, and overcome theſe Temptations without the divine Aid. (2.) Obſerve that this Aid is not to be expected without diligent ſeeking it by fervent Prayer, and knocking for it with daily Importunity, Matth. 7. 7. Luke 18. 1. Nor will it be continued to us without our diligent Endeavours to make ſome due Improvement of it; it rather is to be ſuppoſed that he who doth not rightly ask it, ſhall not have it, and that from the ſlothful, and uprofitable Servant it ſhould wholly be withdrawn. And then (3*dly*,) from the withdrawing of that which is ſo neceſſary to preſerve us from falling by Temptations, and to enable us for the Performance of our Duty, it certainly will follow that we ſhall fall by them, and ſhall neglect our Duty. Now becauſe God denies, or withdraws this Grace, by way of Puniſhment of our Iniquity in reſiſting, or neglect in asking it, or our Sloth in not improving it when granted to us, he may on this account be ſaid to lead us into Temptations, altho' he doth no otherwiſe concur unto it, than by withdrawing, or not affording his abuſed Grace, to Perſons ſo neglectful, and therefore ſo unworthy of it; becauſe by giving us thus up into the Hand, or Power of the Temptation, we ſhall as certainly fall by it, as if he himſelf led us into it. Thus becauſe when the Gentiles knew God, they did not glorifie him as God, but fell into all manner of Idolatry, God alſo gave them up to Uncleanneſs, through the Luſts of their own Hearts, Rom. 1. 24. He gave them up to vile Affections, v. 26. He gave them up to a reprobate Mind, v. 28. as a Phyſician gives up his Patient to do what he will, when he finds he will not follow his Preſcriptions. See the Note there. So, tho' Achitophel gave Abſalom that wicked Counſel, of going into his Father's Wives, and his own wicked Heart enclined him to commit that inceſt, 2 Sam. 16. 21, 22. Yet becauſe God permitted Satan to inject this Counſel into the Heart of Achitophel, and gave up Abſalom to his own Heart's Luſt, and did all this, for the Puniſhment of David's Murther, and Adultery; he, by his Prophet ſaith, I will raiſe up evil againſt thee out of thine own Houſe, and I will give thy Wives to thy Neighbour, and he ſhall lie with them, I will do this thing before all Iſrael, and before the Sun, 2 Sam. 12. 11, 12. And laſtly, becauſe the Jews ſhut their Eyes againſt the Goſpel, and ſeeing would not ſee, and hearing would not underſtand, Matth. 13. 14, 15. the Goſpel was ſpoken to them in Parables, v. 13. and afterwards taken from them, and God is ſaid to have given them a Spirit of Slumber, Rom. 11. 8. See the Note there.

And 3*dly*, God is ſometimes ſaid to do this, by leaving them under thoſe Circumſtances, or by his Providence placing them in a Condition which he foreſees will, through the wicked Inclinations of their own Hearts, render them ſubject to Temptations, and prone to yield to them, or fall by them. Thus was he pleaſed to ſend his Prophet to anoint Hazael King of Syria, 1 Kin. 19. 15. Tho' he knew the Evil he would do to the Children of Iſrael, by ſlaying their young Men with the Sword, daſhing their Children in pieces, and ripping up their Women with Child, when he was once advanced to that Station, 2 Kin. 8. 12, 13. Becauſe he was permitted to do this for the Puniſhment of the Sins of Iſrael. And becauſe by the Flight of David, and the Conſpiracy of Abſalom, occaſion was given to Shimei to curſe David without fear of Puniſhment, the King ſpeaks thus, let him curſe, becauſe the Lord hath ſaid unto him, curſe David, 2 Sam. 16. 11. i. e. he by his Providence hath given him an Opportunity of venting thus his Malice without fear of Puniſhment. Thus God is ſaid to have turned the Hearts of the Egyptians to hate his People, Pſal. 105. 25. not by infuſing Hatred into their Hearts, but by encreaſing his People continually, and making them ſtronger than their Enemies, v. 24. Thus Jeremiah ſaith, Ah Lord God, ſurely thou haſt greatly deceived this People! Jer. 4. 10. i. e. as the Chaldee Paraphraſt well interprets it, by ſuffering the falſe Prophets to ſay to them Peace, Peace, when there was no Peace, ch. 6. 14.—23. 17. And the Church ſpeaks thus to God, Why haſt thou cauſed us to err from thy ways, and hardned our Hearts from thy Fear? Iſa. 63. 17. tho' he had only concur'd to this by withdrawing the Spirit, againſt whom they had rebell'd, v. 10. by withholding thoſe Bleſſings and Tokens of his Favour by which they were encouraged to fear him, v. 12, 15. and by ſubjecting them to the Power of their Enemies, whoſe Service made them alien from his Fear, v. 17, 18. So, laſtly, is he ſaid, to lay a ſtumbling Block in the way of the Righteous, departing from his Righteouſneſs, and committing Iniquity, Ezek. 3. 20. when he doth not recal him by his Chaſtiſements, but leaves him to his own Heart's Luſt, and to the Temptations of Satan and his evil Companions.

So then the import of this Petition is to this effect; ſuffer us not, O Lord, either by the Aſſaults of Satan, or the Subſtraction of thy Grace, or by putting us, for the Puniſhment of our Sins, into thoſe Circumſtances which may prove Snares and ſtumbling Blocks unto us, to be led into, and overcome by the Power of Temptation, but be thou pleaſed to afford us always ſuch a meaſure of thy Grace, as may keep us from falling by Temptations; or if we fall into Temptations, may ſo ſupport us under them, that we be not foyled by them; or if we ſlide, may be erected quickly by thy Power, and ſtand more firmly for the future.

Ibid. Ἀλλὰ ῥῦσαι ἡμᾶς ἀπὸ τοῦ πονηροῦ, but deliver us from Evil;] p The Temptations we deſire not to be led into, being Temptations to ſin, the Evil from which we here requeſt to be delivered, muſt be either that of Sin, or Satan, the great Tempter to it; if by ὁ πονηρὸς, we underſtand with Tertullian, Origen, and Chryſoſtom, the Devil, who is a malicious, ſubtle, powerful, and diligent Tempter, and therefore one againſt whoſe Aſſaults, that we may ſtand firm, we are to pray always with all Prayer, and watch thereunto with all Perſeverance; or our own evil Concupiſcence, vitious Inclinations, and Diſtempers of Mind, by which we are enticed and drawn into Sin; this very properly is added to the former Clauſe, as the moſt ſovereign expedient to preſerve us from being led into Temptation, and ſo we may well pray, that in order to that end, God would graciouſly preſerve us from thoſe evil Frames of Heart, and Diſpoſitions of Spirit, which render us ſo prone to yield to a Temption, and from the violent Aſſaults of Satan, who being once let looſe upon us, will not fail to hurry us into Sin.

Ibid. Ὅτι σοῦ ἐστιν ἡ βασιλεία, καὶ ἡ δύναμις καὶ ἡ δόξα, for thine is the Kingdom, the Power and the Glory.] q It muſt be owned that this Clauſe Clauſe is not in St. Luke, nor in many Copies of St. Matthew, yet are there ſufficient reaſons to receive it as a part of the Lord's Prayer, as being in the Syriack Verſion, and owned in the Greek Liturgies, and being in moſt ancient Copies, and a familiar Doxology of the Jews; and laſtly, becauſe it is very unlikely the Holy Fathers of the Greek Church, ſhould preſume to add their own Inventions to a Form of our Lord's own compoſing; but it is probable that our Lord delivering this Form twice upon different Occaſions, might add this Clauſe at the firſt time, and leave it out at the ſecond, and that the Latin Copies, which are full of Errors, might leave it out in both, leſt the Evangeliſts ſhould ſeem to differ in a matter ſo conſiderable. Now the Import of this Clauſe ſeems to be this, we pray thy Kingdom may come, and that thy Name may be hallowed, and thy Will be done by all Men, for thine is the Kingdom, and all Men are concerned to honour thee, and to obey thy Holy Laws; we pray for temporal Bleſſings to be derived from thee, for the Pardon of our paſt Sins, and Preſervation from them for the future, for thine is the Power thus to provide for, and protect us, and thou alone canſt pardon our Offences; we pray for all theſe, for by thus hallowing thee, owning thy Kingdom, and doing thy Will; by thus pardoning, providing for us, and protecting us, thine will be the Glory for ever and ever. Amen.

r Ver. 14. Ἐὰν γὰρ ἀφῆτε, For if you forgive Men their Treſpaſſes.] Note here, that God promiſeth in theſe words Remiſſion of Sins, to him that forgiveth others, not that this Virtue can alone obtain Favour with God, where other Chriſtian Duties are neglected; for tho' negative Precepts are abſolute, and he that forgiveth not ſhall never be forgiven, yet affirmative Promiſes admit this Limitation, ſi cætera ſint paria, if no other Condition of Salvation ſhall be wanting. So v. g. He that heareth not (the Goſpel revealed to him) ſhall be damned, is abſolutely true; but he that believeth and is baptized ſhall be ſaved, is only true, if he perform the Condition of his Baptiſmal Covenant, when he is in Capacity to do ſo. Or (2*dly*,) This Promiſe is made to him who from his Heart forgives his Brother, becauſe he who doth thus forgive all the Offences of his Brother in Obedience to God's Commands, and from a ſincere Deſire to obtain Forgiveneſs of God, will by the ſame Motives be induced to do whatever elſe is neceſſary to obtain Favour and Acceptance with him. Now to this true Remiſſion it is requiſite,

1*ſt*, That our Minds be wholly freed from all Deſires of Revenge, or of returning Evil to our Brother, according to that Admonition of St. Paul, Rom. 12. 19. Avenge not your ſelves, but rather give place to Wrath, for God hath ſaid, Vengeance is mine, and I will repay it. See to it, that none render evil for evil, 1 Theſſ. 5. 15. 1 Pet. 3. 9. This being to do that our ſelves which it belongs to God to do. And hence it follows that we muſt not deſire God to revenge our Quarrels, ſeeing this ſhews a Mind deſirous to be avenged of our Brother.

2*dly*, That we do not rejoice in any Evil that befals our Brother, according to that Admonition of Solomon, Rejoice not when thy Enemy falleth, and let not thy Heart cheer thee when he ſtumbleth, Prov. 24. 17.

3*dly*, That we do not ſo retain the Evil done unto us in our Memory, as to reproach him for it, or upbraid him with it, this being an Indication that we have not from the Heart forgiven him. Thus the Jews ſay, that he who being deſired by one to do that for him, which he refuſed to do to him, anſwers, I will not deal with thee as thou haſt dealt with me; he, tho' he lends what is deſired, doth not forgive.

4*thly*, That we be ſtill inclined to ſhew Kindneſs to, and be ſtill ready to help and do him good, for what the Law required the Jew to do to the Beaſt of his Enemy, Exod. 23. 4, 5. the Goſpel doth aſſuredly require the Chriſtian to do to his Enemy; and if we by conſideration of the Injury done to us, be reſtrained from helping him, we have not from the Heart forgiven him.

And ſo far we muſt go in our forgiveneſs of all Perſons at all times, even tho' they do not ask forgiveneſs. When this is done ſincerely, then,

5*thly*, We are to admit our offending Brother into Friendſhip, and Familiarity again; for if we from the Heart forgive him, our Heart muſt be toward him as formerly it was. Moreover this Remiſſion muſt be,

1*ſt*, Without Delay, before the Sun goes down, ſaith the Apoſtle, before we go to our Devotions; for when you pray, ſaith Chriſt, forgive, Mark 11. 15. ſeeing we pray to God for forgiveneſs at preſent, and if we do not thus forgive, we cannot ſay forgive as we forgive.

2*dly*, It muſt be an entire forgiveneſs of all, even the moſt heinous Crimes; for this the Example of the Ten thouſand Talents forgiven by our Lord requires, Matth. 18. 24. And otherwiſe, when we pray to be forgiven as we our ſelves forgive, we pray that our greateſt Crimes may not be forgiven.

3*dly*, This forgiveneſs muſt be extended to our Brother, tho' he doth frequently offend, Luke 17. 3. for we pray daily to God for the Remiſſion of our daily Sins.

Ver. 16, 17, 18. Ὅταν δὲ νηστεύητε μὴ γίνεσθε s ὡσπερ οἱ ὑποκριταὶ, but when ye faſt be not as the Hypocrites,] i. e. do nothing which may ſignifie you faſt to gain Applauſe from Men. See the Diſcourſe of Faſting; Appendix the third.

Ver. 19. Μὴ θησαυρίζετε ὑμῖν θησαυροὺς ἐπὶ t γῆς, γῆς, Lay not up for your ſelves Treaſures upon Earth, but lay up Treaſures in the Heavens.] Theſe, and the following words to the end of this Chapter, contain an excellent Diſſuaſive from an inordinate affection to, and from an anxious ſolicitude about, the good things of this preſent Life, taken,

2*dly*, From the Miſchiefs of them, when our Hearts are ſet upon them, and our Minds are anxious about them. For, (1.) they take off our Hearts from thoſe true, ſpiritual, and laſting Bleſſings, v. 20, 21. which we ſhould primarily, and chiefly proſecute, ver. 33. (2.) They corrupt all our Actions, and turn them into Deeds of Darkneſs, ver. 22, 23. (3.) They rival God, and take off our Affections from him, ver. 24. (4.) They ſhew great want of Faith, and Truſt in God, v. 30. (5.) They add to the Evils of this preſent Life, v 34. diſcrutiating the Mind with Cares, which are (1.) fruitleſs, v. 27. (2.) needleſs, ſeeing our heavenly Father knows our Wants, v. 32. And he who is ſo liberal in making Proviſion for the Graſs of the Field, and for the Fowls of the Air, will not be wanting in his Proviſions for the Neceſſities of his Children, v. 26, 28, 29, 30. And (3.) they are heatheniſh, for after all theſe things do the Gentiles ſeek, v. 32.

Note alſo, that by the word Treaſure we are not to underſtand every thing which we lay up for the future, provided we be ready, when the Glory of God, or the Duties of Charity require us to part with it, for Merchandize and Husbandry cannot be carried on without ſomething laid up in ſtore; but that is in the forbidden ſenſe our Treaſure, which we chiefly prize, delight in, and ſet our Heart upon; as we may gather from thoſe words, For, where your Treaſure is, there will your Hearts be alſo, ver. 21. and that which we do chiefly ſpend our time and ſtudy to perſue and proſecute, with the neglect, or to the hazard of our heavenly Treaſures, as appears from the oppoſition here. That which we ſeek firſt, ver. 33. and are concerned for, tho' we be not rich towards God, Luke 12. 21.

u Ver. 22. Ἐὰν οὖν ὁ ὀφθαλμὸς σου ἁπλοῦς· If thy Eye be ſingle, thy whole Body will be full of light; ἐὰν δὲ ὁ ὀφθαλμός σου πονηρός, but if thine Eye be evil, thy whole Body will be dark.] That by the ſingle Eye, the liberal Perſon, by the evil Eye, the covetous Man is intended, appears, (1.) From the connexion of the words; for, the preceding words are a diſſuaſive from laying up Treaſures on the Earth; the following, from the love of Riches; and therefore, the intermediate words moſt probably relate to the ſame thing. (2.) From the like uſe of the Phraſe, both in the Sacred Writers and among the Jews, who ſay proverbially, He that gives a Boon, let him do it with a good Eye, i. e. freely, and liberally; and, Give thy firſt Fruits ἐν ἀγαθῷ ὀφθαλμῷ, with a good Eye, Eccluſ. 35. 10. ſo ψυχὴ ἁπλῆ, is the liberal Soul, Prov. 11. 25. and to give ἁπλῶς and ἐν ἁπλότητι, is to give liberally, James 1. 5. Rom 12. 8. 2 Cor. 8. 2. — 9. 11, 13. And on the contrary, ὀφθαλμὸς πονηρὸς, the evil Eye, is the covetous Eye that envies others any ſhare of its good things. So Prov. 28. 22. He that haſteth to be rich, is a Man רַע עָיִן of an evil Eye; and Ch. 23. 6. Eat not the Bread of him that hath an evil Eye; for, the evil Eye ὀφθαλμὸς πονηρὸς, is envious for his Bread, and he is a niggard at his Table, Eccluſ. 14. 10. Tob. 4. 16. Give Alms of thy Abundance, and let not thine Eye be envious when thou giveſt Alms; and Mat. 20. 15. ὀφθαλμός σου πονηρός, is thy Eye evil, becauſe I am good? So that the import of theſe words is this; as the Eye gives light to the Body to lead it ſafely in the way, ſo the Eye or Mind free from Covetouſneſs, and ready to relieve the wants of Chriſt's needy Members, will be a light to the Chriſtian, to lead him in the way of Life; whereas, Covetouſneſs being the root of all Evil, he that hath this evil Eye, muſt be led by it into Evil, and walk in Darkneſs, and in that way which leads to utter Darkneſs; for, the Friendſhip of this World is Enmity to God, James 4. 4. And, he that loveth this World, the love of the Father is not in him, 1 Joh. 2. 15. Now our Affections are inordinately ſet upon the things of this World.

1*ſt*, When we are not contented with thoſe things that we at preſent do enjoy, tho' we have what is neceſſary, to wit, Food and Raiment, 1 Tim. 6. 8, 9. for this Man is ὁ βουλόμενος πλουτεῖν, one that cannot be contented without being rich. See Note on Heb. 13. 5.

2*dly*, When being not ſatisfied with things needful, we are ſolicitous for Superfluities, Luke 12. 15. See the Note there.

3*dly*, When we cannot freely give of our Superfluities, when the Neceſſities of Chriſt's Members do require our Charity; but we do this grudgingly, and ſparingly; and our Charity is extorted from us by Shame, or Importunity, and comes not liberally and freely from our Hands, for then it is imparted ὡς ἐκ πλεονεξίας, as of Covetouſneſs, and not of Goodwill, 2 Cor. 9. 5. See the Note there.

x Ver. 24. Οὐδεὶς δύναται δυσὶ Κυρίοις δουλεύειν, No Man can ſerve two Maſters.] Here is an excellent Rule, by which we may infallibly diſcern what we do prevalently love in any caſe, even that which we cleave to, with neglect of that which ſtands in competition with it. And hence it follows, that we love Mammon more than God: (1.) When we perſue it by unlawful, or forbidden Means; by a Lie, as Ziba and Gehazi, by Fraud, Oppreſſion, Theft, Violence, or by falſe Teſtimony;

Testimony; for in all these cases, we despise God's Authority to obtain Mammon. (2.) When our Labour and Concernment for these Temporals, doth cause us to neglect, or be remiss in the performance of our Duty to God, then are we ἀμελησαντες, despisers, and neglecters of his Invitations, out of regard to our Fields, our Yoke of Oxen, or our married Wife, Matth. 22. 5. And, (3*dly*,) When we cannot part with them for God's sake, but chuse rather to make Shipwrack of a good Conscience, and quit our interest in spiritual, than in temporal Blessings; for then we certainly cleave to them more than God, and him we do comparatively despise.

y Ver. 25. Μὴ μεριμνᾶτε τῇ ψυχῇ· Take no thought for your Life, ver. 34. Μὴ μεριμνήσητε εἰς τὴν αὔριον· Take ye no thought for the Morrow.] We are not to imagine, that Christ doth here forbid our provident care and diligence, in providing, by our honest Labours, things necessary for this present Life, or even all care of improving our selves, or getting Wealth by this Means; for, God hath commanded us to labour with our Hands, both for Provisions for our selves and others, Eph. 4. 28. This also is the Reward God hath promised to the diligent Hand, that it shall make us rich; and these Enjoyments are useful, not only for the Offices of Charity, but also for the flourishing Estate of Kingdoms and Commonwealths, and therefore cannot absolutely be forbidden. Nor can we reasonably think, Christ here forbids all provident concernment for the future, i. e. not only for the Morrow, but the next Month or Year; all laying up Provisions of Corn, Wine, Oil, Money, which œconomical Wisdom doth require, and Prudence in all Governments instructs Men to do. The Solicitude therefore about these things forbidden here, is, (1.) A Solicitude arising from a want of Faith, or a surmise, that Divine Goodness may be wanting to us in things his Wisdom seeth needful for us, ver. 30. (2.) A regard to these things more than Spirituals, and with a comparative neglect of them, you cannot serve God and Mammon; διὰ τοῦτο, and for this cause, I say unto you, Take no thought, &c. (3.) Such a Solicitude for these things as makes us anxious, rends, and afflicts our Hearts with Fears, lest we should want them, as may be gathered not only from the import of the word μεριμνᾶν, but from the reason assigned of this Precept, Sufficient for the Day is the Evil thereof, i. e. the Cares and Troubles which necessarily attend each Day.

And, Lastly, Let it be noted, That tho' generally speaking, it be true, that the Gentiles, ἐλπίδα μὴ ἔχοντες, having no certain hope of future Blessings, sought thus after these things: Yet some of their Philosophers have used the same Arguments against this Solicitude, declaring,

(1*st*,) That a Philosopher and Servant of God, ought not to be solicitous for these things, ὑποδοικὼς μὴ δι' ὀχῆ τροφὰς αὔριον, as fearing he might want Food to morrow. Arrian, l. 3. c. 9. p. 109. and, l. 3. c. 36. p. 348.

(2*dly*,) That a good Man ought to believe, God will provide things necessary for him; for, saith Epictetus in Arrian, p. 350. Φοβεῖται τις ἀνὴρ ἀγαθὸς μὴ λίπωσιν αὐτῷ τροφαί; doth any good Man fear he may want Food? Will he who is not wanting to the Blind and Lame, be wanting to good Men? Doth God so neglect his Servants and his Witnesses of his Care and Providence?

a 1. [a] JUdge not (severely, and without charity and mercy,) that ye be not judged (accordingly, James 2. 13.)

2. For with what Judgment ye judge, (Men,) ye shall be judged (of God;) and with what measure ye mete (to them,) it shall be measured to you again.

3. And why beholdest thou the Mote that is in thy Brother's Eye, (i. e. his lesser Failings,) but considerest not the Beam that is in thine own Eye, (i. e. thy own greater Crimes?)

4. Or, how wilt thou say to thy Brother, (without Shame, and Self-condemnation,) Let me pull out the Mote out of thine Eye, and behold a Beam is in thine own Eye?

5. Thou Hypocrite, first cast out the Beam out of thine own Eye, and then shalt thou see clearly to cast out the Mote out of thy Brother's Eye; (i. e. reform first thy own greater Sins, and then thou wilt be better fitted to reprehend the Failings of others.)

6. (But then, that being thus fitted to correct the Vices of others, you may not labour in vain, or run into hazards without cause;) b [b] Give not that which is holy unto Dogs, neither cast your Pearls before Swine, lest they trample them under their Feet, and turn again, and rend you; (i. e. continue not to preach the Gospel to those whom you find Refractory, and pertinaciously confirm'd in their Infidelity, and so addicted to their evil Habits, that they will rather revile, and persecute you on that account, than hearken to you.)

7. (And

7. (And that ye may never want what is neceſſary to the performance of your Duty as Chriſtians, or Apoſtles:) [c] Ask (in Faith,) and it ſhall be given you; ſeek (diligently,) and ye ſhall find, knock (perſeveringly,) and it ſhall be opened unto you.

8. For every one that asketh (duly,) receiveth; and he that (thus) ſeeketh, findeth; and to him that knocketh (thus,) it ſhall be opened.

9. (And of this you may be aſſured from the kindneſs of earthly Parents; for) [d] What Man is there of you, whom, if his Son ask Bread (of him,) will he give him a Stone?

10. Or, if he ask a Fiſh, will he give him a Serpent? (i. e. will he give him what is unprofitable for, or hurtful to him?)

11. If ye then, (tho') being evil, know how (and are inclined) to give good Gifts to your Children, how much more ſhall your Father, which is in Heaven, give good things to them that (duly) ask him?

12. (And as I have thus taught you, how to obtain what you would have God do for you, ſo do I now teach you the beſt way to obtain what you would reaſonably deſire of Men:) therefore, all things whatſoever [e] ye would that Men ſhould do to you, do you even ſo to them; for (in) this (Rule) is (compriſed the ſubſtance of) the Law and the Prophets.

13. Enter [f] ye in at the ſtrait Gate, (that leadeth unto Life, ver. 14.) for wide is the Gate, and broad is the Way, that leadeth to Deſtruction; and many there be which go in thereat, (with eaſe; but there is great need of Induſtry, and much ſtriving to get into the other:)

14. Becauſe, ſtrait is the Gate, and narrow is the Way, which leadeth unto Life, and few there be that find it.

15. (And that you may not be led out of it,) [g] Beware of falſe Prophets, which come to you in Sheep's Cloathing, (as the old Prophets did,) but inwardly they are ravening Wolves.

16. Ye ſhall know them by their Fruits; (for,) do Men gather Grapes of Thorns, or Figs of Thiſtles? (Surely, No.)

17. Even ſo (it is not to be expected, that ye ſhould receive Good from ſuch Perſons; for) every good Tree bringeth forth good Fruit, but a corrupt Tree bringeth forth evil Fruit.

18. [h] A good Tree, (whilſt it continues ſo,) cannot bring forth evil Fruit, neither can a corrupt Tree bring forth good Fruit.

19. (And yet it is of great importance, that your Fruit ſhould be good; for) every Tree that bringeth not forth good Fruit, is hewn down, and caſt into the Fire; (the Puniſhment reſerved for ſuch falſe Prophets and evil Workers.)

20. Wherefore, by their Fruits ye ſhall know them, (whom I thus bid you beware of; for,)

21. [i] Not every one that ſaith unto me, Lord, Lord, (or, calls himſelf one of my Prophets, or Diſciples,) ſhall enter into the Kingdom of Heaven, but he (only) who doth the Will of my Father which is in Heaven; and thus will it appear to be in the great Day; for)

22. [k] Many will ſay to me in that Day, Lord, Lord, have we not propheſied in thy Name, and in thy Name have caſt out Devils, and in thy Name done many wonderful Works?

23. And then will I profeſs unto them, I never knew you; (i. e. never approved of you as my Diſciples, therefore) depart from me ye that work Iniquity.

24. [l] Therefore, whoſoever heareth theſe Sayings of mine, and doth them, I will liken him to a Wiſe Man, who built his Houſe upon a Rock:

25. And the Rain deſcended, and the Floods came, and the Winds blew, and beat upon that Houſe, and it fell not; for it was founded upon a Rock: (So alſo will the obedient Perſon ſtand firm in the Day of Trial.)

26. And every one that heareth theſe Sayings of mine, and doth them not, ſhall be likened to a fooliſh Man, who built his Houſe upon the Sand:

27. And the Rain deſcended, and the Floods came, and the Winds blew, and beat upon that Houſe, and it fell, and great was the Fall of it; (i. e. ſo will it be with him who lives not ſuitably to my Doctrine.)

28. And it came to paſs, when Jeſus had ended theſe Sayings, the People were aſtoniſhed at his Doctrine:

29. For he taught them [m] as one that had Authority (from God to teach them,) and not as the Scribes, (who only taught them what were the Traditions and Expoſitions of their Fathers.)

Annotations on Chap. VII.

[a] Ver. 1. Μὴ κρίνετε ἵνα μὴ κριθῆτε, Judge not, that ye be not judged.] Here note,

1*ſt*, That Chriſt cannot reaſonably be ſuppoſed in theſe words, to forbid the Magiſtrate to ſit in judgment on the Criminal, or to condemn notorious Offenders; ſince by his own Authority it is, that Kings do reign, and Princes decree Judgment: They are the Miniſters of God, ordained for the execution of his Wrath upon the evil Doer, and the defence, encouragement, and reward of well-deſerving Subjects; which Office they can never execute, unleſs they have Authority to judge, who are the Perſons that do Good or Evil, and to paſs Sentence on them according ding to their Actions. Moreover, we are obliged to pray for Magiſtrates, that under them, we may live peaceable and quiet Lives; which, in effect, is to deſire that they may judge, reſtrain, condemn, and puniſh the Factious and Prophane, Seditious and Ungodly Perſon. See Prov. 8. 15. Rom. 13. 4. 1 Tim. 2. 2. That therefore cannot be forbidden here, which is the Duty and Deſign of Magiſtracy, and which all Chriſtians are obliged to pray for.

2*dly*, It cannot reaſonably be thought, that Chriſt doth here forbid Church Governours to judge, condemn, and paſs the Cenſures of the Church, upon notorious, and ſcandalous Offenders, becauſe he hath himſelf enjoined the execution of her Cenſures upon thoſe who will not hear the Church when ſhe requires them to repent of, and ſatisfie their Chriſtian Brother for any Treſpaſs done againſt him, Matth. 18. 17. He hath committed to them an Authority to bind and looſe, retain, or to remit Offences, as upon due examination of the Fact they ſhall find cauſe to do ſo, Matth. 16. 19. which Office doth ſuppoſe a Power to judge, not only who offend, but what Offenders may deſerve to be condemned, and to proceed according to their judgment in thoſe Matters. St. Paul himſelf doth in the general declare, That it belongeth to the Church to judge of them who are within the Pale of her Communion, that he himſelf had judg'd the inceſtuous Perſon; and that it was the Duty of the Church to put out, or exclude from her Communion that wicked Perſon, 1 Cor. 5. 3, 12, 15. And to deny the Rulers of the Church this Power, is wholly to diſſolve her Diſcipline, to lay upon her a neceſſity of giving holy things to Dogs, which their great Paſtor here forbids, and render her unable to remove the Pretious from the Vile, which they who are God's Mouth unto the People, are obliged to do, Jer. 15. 19.

3*dly*, Chriſt doth not here forbid the Chriſtian to paſs a Judgment on the manifeſt, or notorious Actions of his Chriſtian Brother, ſeeing he doth enjoin ſuch Duties as cannot be performed without this Judgment, v. g. He enjoins him to reprove his Brother, and not to ſuffer Sin upon him, Lev. 19. 17. to have no Fellowſhip with the unfruitful Works of Darkneſs, but reprove them, Eph. 5. 11. to withdraw himſelf from every Brother that walks diſorderly, and not according to the Traditions received from the Apoſtle, 2 Theſſ. 3. 6. to mark them who cauſed Diviſions and Offences, contrary to the Doctrines they had received from them, and avoid them, Rom. 16. 17. to turn away from them, who, tho' they had the Form, deny'd the Power of Godlineſs, 2 Tim. 3. 5. not to communicate with him, who being called a Brother, is a Fornicator, or Idolater, or a Drunkard, 1 Cor. 5. 11. Now 'tis impoſſible, that any Chriſtian ſhould perform theſe Duties, who does not judge who walks diſorderly, who commits Deeds of Darkneſs, who is a Fornicator or Idolater, who makes Diviſions, and the like; and therefore, to forbid this judging, is conſequentially to forbid the practice of theſe Chriſtian Duties. But poſitively,

1*ſt*, The reaſon of the Prohibition ſhews, that judging and condemning others, muſt be here forbidden, which will render us obnoxious to Judgment, and condemnation from God; now ſuch is all raſh and uncharitable Judgment, and all the Judgment we paſs upon our Brother, without ſufficient ground; viz. (1.) That Judgment which we paſs upon his Perſon, State, or Actions, when we have no Right or Authority to do ſo, by virtue of our Office, or that Relation which we bear unto him, or the Diſcharge of any Duty which Chriſtianity doth call for at our hands; for ſuch a one doth meddle with a Matter which belongs not to him, and doth uſurp the Office of him, who is his proper Judge, and therefore muſt offend. To this effect is that Enquiry, Rom. 14. 4. Who art thou who judgeſt another Man's Servant, when thou haſt no Commiſſion from his Lord to do ſo? (2.) Such is that Judgment, or Cenſure, which we paſs upon another without ſufficient Evidence, as when we judge that Action evil, which may, for any thing we know to the contrary, be good; that Action done upon corrupt and evil Principles, which perhaps was well intended, and free from any ill Deſign; or, when we judge that Perſon hypocritical, and obſtinate, who perhaps only ſins thro' Weakneſs and Infirmity, or want of better Information. This Rule I gather from thoſe words of the Apoſtle, 1 Cor. 4. 5. Judge nothing before the time, till the Lord come, who will bring to light the hidden things of Darkneſs, and will make manifeſt the ſecrets of the Heart; what therefore is not manifeſt, as the Hypocriſie, or Obſtinacy of our Brother, in many circumſtances, cannot be; what doth depend upon his inward Thoughts, as the Intentions of our Brother do, when they are not revealed by his words; is by this Rule to be reſerved to God's Judgment, and we by paſſing our Verdict in ſuch caſes, muſt be too forward, and guilty of raſh Judgment. Such (3.) is that Judgment which doth aggravate the Actions of our Brother beyond their juſt Demerit, or paſſeth a more heavy Cenſure on him than he hath deſerved; for ſo far is our Judgment falſe, and without ground, as it exceeds the Nature, and the Demerit of the Fact.

2*dly*, Our Lord here plainly ſeemeth to forbid that Judgment of our Brother, which is void of Charity and Mercy, and which is not conſiſtent with the Forgiveneſs of him. This may be fairly gather'd from the connexion of the words; for the preceding words are theſe, Luke 6. 36. Be ye merciful as your heavenly Father is merciful; the following words run thus, Forgive, and ye ſhall be forgiven, v. 37. and alſo from that Saying of St. James, Chap. 2. 13. He ſhall have Judgment without Mercy, who ſheweth no Mercy.

3*dly*, That Judging muſt be here condemned, which begets in us a contempt of others, and makes us to deſpiſe and viliſie them, as may be gathered from that Queſtion, Rom. 14. 10. Why doſt thou judge? why doſt thou ſet at nought thy Brother?

Laſtly, Chriſt by this Prohibition, muſt be ſuppoſed to condemn our forwardneſs to judge, and cenſure others, whilſt we our ſelves are guilty of far greater Crimes; it being plain Hypocriſie to pretend a Zeal againſt the leſſer Faults of others, and yet allow much greater in our ſelves. This plainly follows from the connexion of the Words, Judge not, that ye be not judged; and, why beholdeſt thou the Mote that is in thy Brother's Eye, when, behold, a Beam is in thine own Eye? The Jews themſelves uſed this Proverb familiarly in this very caſe, againſt thoſe who reprehended the leaſt Offences in others, when they themſelves were guilty of very heinous Crimes. See Cartw. Mellif. and Lightfoot here.

b Ver. 6. Μὴ δῶτε τὸ ἅγιον τοῖς κυσὶ, Give not that which is holy to Dogs, neither caſt ye your Pearl before Swine.] By Dogs and Swine here, we muſt not underſtand all that are wicked, and prophane, either through Ignorance, or vicious Habits, for Chriſt preached the Goſpel to Publicans and Harlots, and ſent his Apoſtles to preach it to that Heathen World which lay in Wickedneſs, and was dead in Treſpaſſes and Sins; but ſuch wicked Perſons only, as by Experience they found, after the Goſpel was preached, and confirmed to them by Miracles, were ſtill refractory, and pertinaciouſly continued in their filthy Luſts, after they had received the Knowledge of the Truth; and were ſo far from embracing it, that they reſiſted and blaſphemed it, and were ready to perſecute and deſtroy the Profeſſors of it; among ſuch Perſons, ſaith Chriſt, ſpend not much time, ſeeing your Labour will not be only loſt to them, but hazardous to your ſelves. Such were thoſe Jews to whom St. Paul having preached the Goſpel, they contradicted and blaſphemed it, and therefore he turned from them to the Gentiles, Acts 13. 41, 46. Such were eſpecially the Scribes, and Phariſees, and Rulers of the Jews, who ſeeing that Chriſt did caſt out Devils, ſaid, he did it by Confederacy with Beelzebub the Prince of Devils, Matth. 9. 34. — 12. 24. who being reduced to Silence by his Miracles, were filled with Madneſs, Luke 6. 11. and took Counſel how they might deſtroy him, Matth. 12. 14. and confeſſing that he did many Miracles, conclude thence, he was to be taken off, John 11. 47, 53. and conſult of cutting off Lazarus alſo, becauſe by reaſon of him many believed in Chriſt, John 12. 10, 11. And being aſſured of Chriſt's Reſurrection, by the Teſtimony of thoſe very Soldiers, whom they had placed as a Guard about his Sepulchre, corrupt theſe Witneſſes with Money, to diſguiſe it with a bare-faced Lie, Mat. 28. Note alſo that this ſaying was (a) proverbial among the Jews.

Ver. 7. Αἰτεῖτε καὶ δοθήσεται ὑμῖν, &c. Ask c and it ſhall be given you, ſeek and ye ſhall find, &c. for every one that asketh receiveth.] To underſtand aright this Promiſe, let it be obſerved, that to enable us to pray with ſuch an Aſſurance of Faith, that what we ask, we ſhall receive, ſome things are requiſites in the Party praying, ſome as to the Matter, and ſome as to the Manner of his Prayer. And,

1*ſt*, The Perſon who expects his Prayer ſhould find Acceptance with God, muſt not perſiſt in any way of Sin, his Heart and his Affections muſt be taken off from every evil way; for, ſaith the Pſalmiſt, If I regard Iniquity in my Heart, God will not hear my Prayer, Pſal. 66. 18. And otherwiſe in our Addreſſes to God for Preſervation from Sin, we do but flatter him with our Lips, and diſſemble with our double Hearts, we being not diſpoſed, or willing to forſake that Sin we pray againſt.

2*dly*, He muſt begin at leaſt to be a Doer of God's Will, one who ſincerely doth deſire to fear him, and who doth uprightly purpoſe, and reſolve that he will keep his righteous Precepts; for if any Man be a Worſhipper of God, and doth his Will, him he heareth, John 9. 31. when once this holy Fear is rooted in our Hearts, his Ear will be ſtill open to our Prayers, for he will fulfil the Deſires of them that fear him, and when they call he will anſwer them, Pſal. 145. 19. And whilſt we do perſiſt in the Sincerity of our Obedience, we ſhall retain this humble Confidence of our Acceptance; For if our Hearts condemn us not, (of Inſincerity) then have we Confidence with God, and we know that what we ask we receive, becauſe we keep his Commandments, 1 John 21. 22.

To clear both theſe Particulars, conſider that true Prayer is attended with a ſtrong Deſire, that we may enjoy the Bleſſing we pray for, and alſo that we addreſs to God for the Aſſiſtance of our Weakneſs and Inability to compaſs the deſired Bleſſing, by our own Induſtry, without divine Aſſiſtance; ſo that in all our Addreſſes to God for Preſervation from, or Strength againſt any Temptations, or Aſſaults of Sin, or the Mortification of any evil Habit, which we have contracted, we ſolemnly profeſs to him, we are very willing, and deſirous to mortifie that Sin, and be preſerved from that Temptation; and in all our Supplications for Grace, to perform our Duty, or to encreaſe in any virtuous Habit, we declare that we are truly willing to perform that Duty, we earneſtly deſire to advance to higher Meaſures in that Chriſtian Virtue, and that we therefore ſue to him for Power to enable us to do, according to thoſe good Deſires. Now theſe Profeſſions made to God, muſt be Hypocritical, and falſe, and therefore cannot render any of our Prayers ſucceſsful; or elſe we muſt be truly willing, and deſirous to break off our Sins by Repentance, and to perform that Duty which we owe to God, before we do addreſs to him for Strength, for the Performance of our Duty, and Preſervation from Sin.

Again, ſeeing that God to whom we pray, is in himſelf immutable, and in the Holineſs and Perfections of his Nature is unchangeable, ſeeing he always acts agreeably to thoſe ſtanding Rules of Righteouſneſs, he hath declared in his word, it muſt be vain for us to hope, by Argument to move, by fair Speeches to encline, or by pathetical Intrearies to perſuade him, to do any thing which is not ſuitable to this Purity of his Nature, and to the Juſtice of his Government; when therefore we ask Pardon of thoſe Sins, we are not willing to forſake, when we deſire his Friendſhip, or Protection, whilſt we continue Violaters of his holy Laws, and Rebels to his Government, it is impoſſible we ſhould prevail in our Addreſſes, becauſe 'tis not conſiſtent with the Honour of a juſt and holy God to grant what we deſire; we pray againſt the Declarations of his holy Will, againſt the Laws of his Government, and the Perfections of his Nature, and ſo we cannot hope that our Deſires ſhould be granted; ſince then God changeth not, if we deſire that our Prayers ſhould find Acceptance with him, the change muſt be in us, in our Affections, from a Love, to an Hatred of every evil way, from a Diſlike, to an Approbation of the ways of Piety; in our Wills, from a perverſe and diſobedient, to a willing Mind; and then that God who is immutable will therefore be diſpoſed to hear us, for he unchangeably is willing to ſhew Kindneſs to his Friends, and give Aſſiſtance to every Soul that uprightly deſires to fear and ſerve him.

3*dly*, He muſt be one who doth forgive his Brother's Treſpaſſes, that he may be diſpoſed to obtain the Pardon of his own. A Man, ſaith the Son of Syrach, bearing Hatred againſt another, and doth he hope for Pardon from the Lord? He ſheweth no Mercy to a Man that is like himſelf, and doth he ask Forgiveneſs of his own Sins? Eccluſ. 28.3,4. When ye ſtand praying, ſaith our Lord, forgive if you have ought againſt any Man, that your heavenly Father may forgive you; for if you forgive not Men their Treſpaſſes, neither will your Father which is in Heaven forgive your Treſpaſſes, Mark 11. 25, 26.

4*thly*, He muſt be free from all Injuſtice, Injury, and Wrong done to his Neighbour, or ready to make Satisfaction for it, according to that Reſolution of the Pſalmiſt, I will waſh my Hands in Innocency, and ſo will I compaſs thine Altar, Pſal. 26. 6. We muſt not offer our Oblation to God, till we have offered, or are reſolved, as we have Opportunity, to offer reaſonable Satisfaction to our Brother; for if thou bringeſt thy Gift to the Altar, ſaith our Lord, and there remembreſt that thy Brother hath ought againſt thee, leave there thy Gift before the Altar, and go thy way, firſt be reconciled to thy Brother, then come and offer thy Gift, Matth. 5. 23, 24. To proceed to the matter of our Petitions.

1*ſt*, What we ask muſt be agreeable to the holy Will of God; for if we ask any thing according to his Will he heareth us, 1 John 5. 14. And this muſt be the limit of all our acceptable Deſires, it being neither poſſible in Nature, that he can, nor fit in Reaſon that he ſhould, permit our fooliſh Wills, to thwart the Counſel of his Wiſdom. It muſt be alſo ſomething which comporteth with, and tendeth to his Glory, that being the great end of all our rational Deſires, that God in all things may be glorified. And hence obſerve, that even ſpiritual Bleſſings may be asked amiſs, and ſo as not to be obtained, becauſe we are not fitted to receive them in that way in which alone 'tis for God's Glory to confer them. As when we would enjoy the End, but will not uſe the Means, by divine Wiſdom appointed, for the obtaining that End: v. g. He that deſires to be ſaved, deſires what is agreeable to his Will, who would have all Men to be ſaved; but if he will not alſo, by continuance in well doing, ſeek for Glory and Immortality, if he will not work out his Salvation with fear and trembling, if he will not have his Fruit unto Holineſs, the End can never be eternal Life, becauſe God hath made holineſs the Means, Obedience the Condition, of Salvation; and it is in the Nature of the thing impoſſible that an impure Soul, ſhould be prepared for the Enjoyment of an Holy God; nor is it for his Honour to confer this Bleſſing on the Diſobedient, or to admit unholy Souls into his bliſsful Preſence. And tho' our gracious God be willing we ſhould be ſaved, he is not willing we ſhould be ſo, whether we will or no; he is not willing we ſhould be ſaved, tho' we uſe not the Means appointed by him, to obtain Salvation. Again, it is certainly agreeable to the Mind of God, that we ſhould abſtain from that Iniquity, which is a Provocation to the pure Eyes of his Glory, and it is doubtleſs for his Honour, that we ſhould do ſo; but tho' we pray to be preſerved from it, yet if we add not our ſincere Endeavours, if we do not watch as well as pray, that we enter not into Temptation, and as much as in us lies, avoid the occaſions of, reſiſt the Temptations and Solicitations to it, our Prayer for Preſervation will not be ſucceſsful, becauſe we are not uprightly diſpoſed to uſe the Means, for Preſervation from it, which God hath put into our Hands.

2*dly*, What we thus ask, muſt be what is truly good for us, and were we entirely wiſe, we ſhould not be capable of tendring to God a Requeſt, which doth not miniſter to this End, becauſe good is the adequate Object of all our rational Deſires, and when we ignorantly put up Addreſſes for what he in his Wiſdom ſeeth not to be good for, but rather hurtful to us, 'tis out of pure Kindneſs and Concern for us, that he denieth our Requeſts. To proceed,

3*dly*, To the Manner requiſite to render theſe our Prayers ſucceſsful;

1*ſt*, We muſt pray in Faith, that is, with an entire Perſuaſion that God is able to ſupply all our Wants, that divine Wiſdom diſcerneth all our real Needs, and knows how to relieve them; ſees all our Miſeries and Troubles, and knows how to convert them to our Good, or work Deliverance from them in the fitteſt Seaſon, that he will be exactly true to all his Promiſes, and ſo will not withhold any good thing from them that lead a godly Life; that laſtly, he is a God of immenſe Goodneſs, and therefore willing to beſtow upon his Servants, all that his Wiſdom ſeeth good and neceſſary for them; what things ſoever you deſire in Prayer, believe that you ſhall receive them, and ye ſhall receive them, Matth. 21. 22. If you have Faith, καὶ μὴ διακριθῆτε, and doubt not, v. 21. if ye ask in Faith, μὴ διακρινόμενοι, not doubting of his Power, or Will to do what is for his Glory and your Good. See Note on James 1. 6. Ask and ye ſhall receive.

2*dly*, If our Petitions be not inſtantly granted, we muſt pray (for ſpiritual things eſpecially) with Perſeverance, and wait with Patience till he will be gratious, for we muſt pray always, and not faint, Luke 18. 1. Eph. 6. 18. And,

3*dly*, We muſt pray (at leaſt for ſpiritual Bleſſings) with fervency of Spirit, we muſt knock, ſaith the Metaphor here, we muſt ἀγωνίζεσθαι, be in Agonies of Devotion for them, Col. 4. 12. to ſhew how much we prize them, the fervent, being the availing Prayer, Jam. 5. 16.

d Ver. 9. Ἢ τίς ἐστιν ἐξ ὑμῶν ἄνθρωπος ὃν ἐὰν αἰτήσῃ — μὴ λίθον ἐπιδώσει αὐτῷ;] For the Conſtruction of theſe words, let it be noted from Stephanus, that ἤ at the beginning of a Sentence, no other Particle preceding, ſignifies an; ſo Judg. 14. 15. ἢ ἐκπυρῶσαι ἡμᾶς καλέσατε; have ye called Sampſon to do us Violence? 1 Sam. 10. 12. ἢ καὶ Σαοὺλ ἐν τοῖς προφήταις; Is Saul alſo among the Prophets? So Matth. 20. 15. ἢ οὐκ ἔξεστί — ἢ ὁ ὀφθαλμός σου; Is it not lawful for me to do what I will with my own? is thine Eye evil becauſe I am good? 1 Cor. 14. 36. ἢ ἀφ' ὑμῶν ὁ λόγος τοῦ Θεοῦ ἐξῆλθεν, ἢ εἰς ὑμᾶς μόνους κατήντησεν; came the word of God from you, came it to you only? So here, ἢ τίς, is there any Man among you, ὃν ἐὰν αἰτήσῃ — ἄρτον; of whom his Son ſhall ask Bread? μὴ is only the ſign of an Interrogation; ſo Gen. 18. 14. μὴ ἀδυνατήσει; ſhall any thing be too hard for God? v. 17. μὴ κρύψω, ſhall I hide from Abraham? v. 23. μὴ συναπολέσεις; wilt thou deſtroy the righteous with the wicked? Judg. 9. 9, 11, 13. μὴ ἀπολείψασα; ſhall I leave my Fatneſs? ſhall I leave my ſweetneſs? ſhall I leave my wine? Jer. 32. 27. μὴ κρυβήσεταί; ſhall any thing be hid from me? See Gen. 27. 38. — 30. 15. — 31. 14. — 41. 38. — 43. 7. So that the whole Verſe runs thus, Is there any Man among you of whom his Son ſhall ask Bread, will that Man give him a Stone?

Ver. 12. Πάντα οὖν ὅσα ἂν θέλητε ἵνα ποιῶσιν e
ὑμῖν οἱ ἄνθρωποι, οὕτω καὶ ὑμεῖς ποιεῖτε αὐτοῖς, Whatſoever you would that Men ſhould do to you, do you even ſo to them, &c.] Here the critical Note is this, that we are not to look for a Connection of theſe words to the former, tho' they be introduced with the Particle οὖν, therefore, that being, ſaith Phavorinus, often ἀργὸν, an expletive, or ſerving only by way of Tranſition from one thing to another; others connect the words thus, viz. that in the immediate preceding words our Lord inſtructs us by a Compariſon taken from Men, that we may reaſonably expect our heavenly Father will confer upon us all thoſe Bleſſings which he ſees needful for us, and we can reaſonably deſire, provided that we ask them with Faith and Importunity, and do with Diligence ſeek them; and hence, ſaith Grotius, our Lord infers, that we who ſtand engaged to be Followers of God as dear Children, ſhould be as ready to afford to others all needful Aid, which they on the account of Equity, Humanity, and Chriſtian Charity deſire of us; this being only that which in like caſes we expect from others. Hence in St. Luke, Chap. 6. 30. our Lord is introduced, ſaying, Give to every one that asketh, and as you would that Men ſhould do to you, do ye even ſo to them, v. 31. But for Explication of this Rule. Note.

1*ſt*, That it was a Rule which obtained both among Jews and Gentiles, and was delivered by them in ſome Variety of words, but with great Harmony of Senſe; firſt poſitively, as here, Quod tibi fieri vis, fac alteri.

Γνῶθι πάσιν ὡς σοι θέλεις πάντας. Nilus.

And

And alſo negatively,

Quod tibi fieri non vis, alteri ne feceris.
Quod damnaturus ſis in aliis, in te non admiſeris.
Ὅπερ συ μισεῖς παρ' ἑτέρων σοὶ γίνεσθαι, εἰς ἑτέρους μὴ ποιεῖ.
Ἃ πάσχοντες ὑφ' ἑτέρων ὀργίζεσθε, ταῦτα τοῖς ἄλλοις μὴ ποιεῖτε. Isocrat. ad Nicocl. Or. 3.

and in thoſe words of Hillel, Do not thou that to thy Neighbour, which thou hateſt when 'tis done to thee; which Rule in Tobit, Chap. 4. 15. is expreſſed thus, ὁ μισεῖς μηδενὶ ποιήσῃς, do that to no Man which thou hateſt.

2*dly*, That this Rule being given as the Sum of the Law and the Prophets, or an Abridgment of the Rules of Juſtice preſcribed by them, can never duly be ſo conſtrued, as to ſubvert any of the Laws, and Orders eſtabliſhed by them, or thwart the proper Rules of Charity, or Juſtice. And therefore this Rule admits theſe Limitations.

3*dly*, Whatſoever I deſire with a well ordered or regulated Will, that is, what I deſire agreeably to the Dictates of right Reaſon, or to the Principles of Chriſtian Religion, ſhould be done or not done to me, that I muſt do, or not do to others. It therefore will not follow from this Rule, that if a Pot Companion would give me drink to Exceſs, that I muſt give him Drink to Exceſs; or that, if Socrates would lend his Wife to his Friend, that Friend ſhould do the like to him; becauſe that which is here preſcribed as a Rule of Charity and Juſtice among Chriſtians, could never be intended to countenance, what is oppoſite to Charity, and Juſtice, to the Law and the Prophets, and more eſpecially to the Precepts of Chriſtianity. And ſo, as to the Negative part of this Rule, tho' a Criminal, or guilty Perſon, would not have the Judge condemn him, or the Witneſſes give in Teſtimony againſt him, but would be pardoned after Condemnation; yet he who is a Judge, were he ſuch a Perſon, muſt not forbear to condemn, or always pardon the condemned Criminal, ſince this Practice would take away vindictive Juſtice, and let all Offenders go unpuniſhed.

4*thly*, This Rule muſt be interpreted as a Rule of Proportion, binding us to do, or not to do that to others, which in like State, Condition, or Relation we would, or we would not have done to our ſelves. v. g. It requires not the Maſter to obey his Servants, becauſe he would have them obedient to him, but to be as obedient to his Maſters, as he can reaſonably expect they ſhould be to him, and to treat his Servants as kindly and favourably, as if he were a Servant, he could reaſonably deſire to be treated by his Maſter: The Prince muſt not be ſubject to his People, as he would have them be to him, but he muſt treat them with that Equity and Kindneſs, which if he were a Subject, he reaſonably might expect from a Prince duly regardful of his Subjects Weal; and ſo proportionably in the Relations of Father and Children, Man and Wife, Maſter and Scholar, Paſtor and Flock, &c.

5*thly*, This Rule muſt not be extended to every thing which another may lawfully do to me, and therefore I deſire he would do; but only to what I may deſire of him, or expect from him as his Duty, on the account of Equity and Juſtice, Charity, Friendſhip, or Relation. Thus, if a poor Man would deſire that ſome very wealthy Perſon would give him out of his Eſtate enough to make him rich; tho' were this rich Man poor he would be glad if ſome body would ſhew the like Kindneſs to him, yet he is not obliged by this Rule, tho' lawfully he might do it, to make this poor Man rich, becauſe he ſtands not bound by any Law of Charity or Juſtice ſo to do. And,

6*thly*, Note that this Rule, as it is Poſitive, reſpects not only our outward Actions, but even our words and Thoughts, requiring us to ſpeak, think, and judge of others, as in like Circumſtances we may in Equity and Reaſon expect they ſhould ſpeak, think, or judge of us. As it is Negative, it muſt require us not to ſpeak, think, or judge of others, as we conceive that in like Circumſtances, they ought not to ſpeak, think, or judge of us; for there is an Equity to be obſerved in our words and Thoughts of others, as well as in our Actions, and a Judgment of Charity, and a righteous Judgment, as well as a Labour of Love, and a righteous Deed; and alſo an evil Word and Thought, and a wrong Judgment, which therefore ought to be forborn from Principles of Love and Equity.

Ver. 13, 14. Enter in at the ſtrait Gate, &c.] Of the Metaphor of a ſtrait Gate, ſee Note on Chap. 8. 11. and note that the way of Virtue and Felicity is repreſented by the Heathen Sages under the like Metaphor; thus Cebes ſaith, that there is at the Entrance of it θύρα τις μικρὰ, a little Gate, and ἀνάβασις σφὸ πάνυ, the way hath a very ſtrait Aſcent, and is a way not trodden in, which πάνυ ὀλίγοι πορεύονται, very few walk in, as ſeeming to be difficult, τραχεῖα καὶ πετρώδης, rough and rocky. And yet this is no Contradiction to thoſe Scriptures, which repreſent the ways of Wiſdom, as ways of Pleaſantneſs, and the Yoke of Chriſt as eaſie, and his Commandments as not grievous; for this way is only rough and grievous at our firſt Entrance into it, when we have many old Acquaintance, and ſeeming Friends to part with, and evil Habits to put off, and till Faith and Patience have ſmoothed it to us; but then we can Rejoyce in Tribulations, and take Pleaſure in Infirmities, and Love will make it pleaſant to us, when Temperance and Patience, ſaith Cebes, have lifted us to the top of the Hill, then is it ὁδὸς ἡδεῖα τε καὶ ὁμαλὴ καὶ εὐπόρευτος, a way that is pleaſant, ſmooth, and eaſie to be trod, free from all Evil, and leading to the Regions of Felicity. And whereas it is added, ὅτι στενὴ ἡ πύλη, becauſe ſtrait is the Gate, ὅτι there ſhould be rendred but, for ſo the Hebrew כי which anſwers to it, often ſignifies, and is therefore rendred by the Septuagint, ἀλλὰ or ἀλλ' ἢ but, viz. 2 Chron. 20. 15. Pſal. 44. 3. Dan. 9. 18. Amos 7. 14. And ſometimes ὅτι in the ſenſe of but, ſo 1 Kings 21. 15. Naboth is not alive, כי מת ὅτι τέθνηκε but dead, 2 Kings 1. 4. He ſhall not deſcend down from his Bed, כי מות תמות ὅτι θανάτῳ ἀποθανῇ, but ſhall die. So Numb. 27. 3. Deut. 11. 7. Judg. 1. 19.—2. 17. 1 Sam. 17. 47. 2 Sam. 24. 24. and in many other places. g Ver. 15, 16. Προσέχετε ἀπὸ τῶν ψευδοπροφητῶν, v. 16. ἀπὸ καρπῶν αὐτῶν ἐπιγνώσεσθε αὐτούς, Beware of falſe Prophets, by their Fruits ye ſhall know them.] They who extend the word falſe Prophets to all Teachers of falſe Doctrines, will ſcarce be able to ſhew, how they who teach the Doctrine of the Millennium, or that the Promiſes of the Law were only temporal, or that the Baptiſm of Infants may be deferred till they come to Years of Diſcretion, or that the Sabbath Day is ſtill to be kept holy, can be proved to be falſe Prophets by the evil Tendence, or Conſequents of their Doctrine: Moreover, it muſt be noted that Chriſt here ſpeaks to the Multitude, v. 28, 29. and to the Ears of the People, Luke 7. 1. they therefore muſt beware of them, and ſo be able to know them by their Works, as the Tree is known by its Fruits, v. 20. from the Works of Iniquity they do, v. 23. not from their Doctrines; for that would render our Lord's Words ridiculous, viz. Beware of Teachers of falſe Doctrines, by their falſe Doctrines ye ſhall know them.

Object. But you may ſay, Chriſt owns they ſhall appear in Sheep's cloathing, that is, in a fair appearance of Piety and Innocence, and ſo it muſt be difficult to paſs a Judgment on them by their Works.

Anſw. It is not neceſſary that their coming in Sheep's cloathing ſhould ſignifie their ſeeming Innocency, but only their appearance in the Habit of Prophets. For ſo Elias wrapp'd himſelf ἐν τῇ μηλωτῇ αὐτοῦ, in his Sheep-skin Mantle, 1 Kings 19. 13. and when he aſcended ἡ μηλωτὴ his Mantle fell from him, 2 Kings 2. 13. This therefore may be the true import of this Phraſe, They ſhall appear in the Habit of Prophets. But (2.) admit it ſignifies their Hypocriſie, and Diſſimulation; things feigned, and diſſembled only, will in a little time be eaſily diſcerned from that which is ſincere and real; when ſuch hypocritical Pretenders have once got a liberty to do it, when their Advantage requires it, when Perſecutions for the Faith ariſe, they will ſoon put off the Mask, and diſcover themſelves to be Counterfeits.

Moreover, falſe Prophets both in the Old and the New Teſtament do always ſignifie ſuch Perſons as falſly pretend a Commiſſion from God for what they teach, or who promiſe, or foretel things falſly in his Name; as will appear from all the places of the New Teſtament, where this word occurs, viz. Matth. 24. 11. Mark 13. 22. Luke 6. 26. Acts 13. 6. 2 Pet. 2. 1. Rev. 16. 13. — 19. 20. — 20. 10. That ſuch falſe Prophets were ſuddenly to come into the World, our Lord foretels, Matth. 24. 11. that many of them were come, we learn from St. Peter, and St. John, 1 John 4. 1. And, Laſtly, The Apoſtles teach agreeably to Chriſt, that ſuch falſe Apoſtles, and falſe Prophets are to be diſcovered, not only by their Doctrines, but by their Works, as being Ravenous Wolves, not ſparing the Flock, Acts 20. 29. Teachers of what they ought not for filthy Lucre's ſake, Tit. 1. 11. ſuch as count Gain Godlineſs, 1 Tim. 6. 5. Lovers of Money, 2 Tim. 3. 2. through Covetouſneſs by feigned words making Merchandize of others, 2 Pet. 2. 3. admiring Perſons for Gain, Jude 16. Such as may be known by the evil Works they did, and taught others to do, as being Lovers of Pleaſure, 2 Tim. 3. 4. Abominable, Tit. 1. 16. defiling the Fleſh, and turning the Grace of God into Laſciviouſneſs, 2 Pet. 2. 10. Jud. 4. 8. And laſtly, ſuch as inſiſted upon Queſtions, which had no tendence to advance Godlineſs, but rather to nouriſh Strife, and to ſubvert the Hearers, 1 Tim. 1. 4. — 4. 7. 2 Tim. 2. 16, 23. Tit. 3. 9.

h Ver. 18. Οὐ δύναται δένδρον ἀγαθὸν πονηροὺς καρποὺς ποιεῖν, A good Tree cannot bring forth evil Fruit, neither can an evil Tree bring forth good Fruit.] i. e. while they continue ſuch; hence ſome make two Inferences, which are falſe and alien from the Mind of Chriſt.

1ſt, That he who once is regenerate can never ceaſe to be ſo; which no more follows, than that he who is once wicked cannot ceaſe to be ſo, and therefore that it is vain to call Sinners to Repentance, or bid them make the Tree good, as Chriſt doth, Matth. 12. 33.

2dly, That an irregenerate Perſon can do nothing that is good, becauſe he is an evil Tree, and ſo he muſt be purely paſſive in his whole Converſion; which is as if I ſhould argue, that a good Man cannot ſin, becauſe being a good Tree, he cannot bring forth evil Fruit.

i Ver. 21. Not every one that ſaith unto me, Lord, Lord, ſhall enter into the Kingdom of Heaven, &c.] Of the import of this Phraſe, the Kingdom of Heaven, ſee Note on Chap. 3. 2.

And

And note hence, that Faith, and Purpoſes of Obedience, without actual Obedience to the Commands of God, as long as we live, and have Opportunity to do ſo, will avail no Man to Salvation.

k Ver. 22. Many ſhall ſay in that day, Lord, ἐν τῷ σῷ ὀνόματι προεφητεύσαμεν, have we not propheſied, caſt out Devils, and done many mighty Works in thy Name?] I grant that it cannot be certainly infer'd from theſe words, that any Perſons will thus plead at the day of Judgment; but only that ſuch Pleas, if made, will be of no account with God from Workers of Iniquity; but yet it will hence follow, that ſuch Perſons might be Workers of Iniquity, and alſo that they might have ſome Expectations of Favour from Chriſt; on the account of theſe things performed in his Name. And that ſuch Miracles were actually performed by ſuch Men in the Name of Chriſt, we learn from (c) Origen, who ſaith, That ſo prevalent is the Name of Chriſt to caſt out Devils, ὡς ἔστ' ὅτε, καὶ ὑπὸ φαύλων ὀνομαζόμενον ἀνύειν, that ſometimes, as Chriſt ſaid, it avails when named by wicked Chriſtians. And (d) Pſeudo Juſtin confeſſeth of the Hereticks, ἐνεργεῖν τινὰς ἐν αὐτοῖς δυνάμεις, that ſome Miracles were wrought by them. For, tho' true Miracles cannot be wrought in confirmation of a falſe Doctrine, yet ſeeing Miracles wrought by the Name of Jeſus, are wrought not to confirm either the Doctrine, or Piety of him that doth them, but only to confirm his Doctrine, in whoſe Name they are wrought; I think it no abſurdity to grant, that evil Chriſtians may do them in his Name. Thus God put many true Propheſies concerning his People, into the Mouth of that Balaam, who loved the Wages of Unrighteouſneſs; and Judas was one of thoſe Twelve, to whom Chriſt gave power to caſt out unclean Spirits, and to heal all Diſeaſes, Matth. 10. 1.

Ver. 24. Πᾶς οὖν ὃς ἀκούει τοὺς λόγους τούτους μου καὶ ποιεῖ αὐτούς, Every one that heareth theſe words, and doth them, will I liken to a Wiſe Man.] Hence it appears, that this Sermon on the Mount, contains thoſe Rules of Faith which are ſufficient for Salvation; ſince otherwiſe, Chriſt could not promiſe it to them, who obſerved and practiſed theſe his Sayings.

(2.) That a Man may be diſpoſed to yield this Obedience, it is neceſſary, (1.) That he believe, Chriſt was a Teacher ſent from God into the World, to propound theſe Rules of Life and Death in his Name, and by his Authority; Faith being the Principle and Root of all Obedience. (2.) That he hath a ſufficient knowledge of theſe Rules, and doth retain them in his Memory; for, what he doth not know, he cannot; and what he retains not in his Memory, he will not do. We muſt add to our Faith, Knowledge, 2 Pet. 1. 5. and, keep in Memory the things that we have heard, 1 Cor. 15. 2. (3.) That he firmly believe, and frequently reflect upon the Motives to perform theſe Rules, viz. the Bleſſings promiſed to the obſervers of them, and the great Evils threatned to the neglecters of theſe Rules; for, the ſerious and frequent conſideration of theſe things, will not only animate us to the performance of our Duty, but will ſtrengthen us againſt all the Temptations and Allurements of the World, to divert us from it; whilſt we perceive, that the Advantages we ſhall receive, by living according to theſe Rules, are infinitely greater than any which the World can tender; and the Evils which will certainly enſue on our neglect to do ſo, are far more formidable than any we can ſuffer from a perſecuting World.

m Ver. 29. Ἦν γὰρ διδάσκων ὡς ἐξουσίαν ἔχων, The Multitude were aſtoniſhed at his Doctrine; for he taught them as one that had Authority, and not as the Scribes.] They certainly miſtake who interpret theſe words thus, He taught them as the Author of the Doctrine he preached, and one who had Authority in his own Name, to propound the Terms of Life and Death; and therefore ſaith not, as the Prophets, Thus ſaith the Lord, but I ſay unto you. This being not only contrary to the nature of his Prophetick Office, but to his frequent Declarations, That the Doctrine which he taught, was not his own, but his that ſent him; that he ſpake not of himſelf, or in his own Name, but as he had heard from his Father, and as he had commanded him to ſpeak, Joh. 7. 16. —17. 18. —8. 28. —12. 49. — 14. 10. This Interpretation therefore of St. Jerom, Theophylact and others is to be rejected: Others think, this relates to the confirmation of his Doctrine by Miracles; for, when he had cured all manner of Diſeaſes, Domoniacks, Lunaticks, and Paralyticks, the People flock to him from all Quarters, Matth. 4. 24, 25. and then he begins this Sermon: So Mark 1. 27. they all marvelled, ſaying, What is this new Doctrine? for καὶ ἐξουσίαν with Authority he commandeth the unclean Spirits, and they obey him: And, Luke 4. 32. they were amazed at his Doctrine; for his word was ἐν ἐξουσίᾳ, attended with the Power of Miricles, ver. 36. And, (3*dly*,) Becauſe it is here ſaid, they were aſtoniſh'd, not at his Miracles, but at his Doctrine. Others interpret the words thus, He ſpake as a Prophet, having Authority from God to deliver his Meſſage to them; not as the Scribes, who pretended only to deliver the Traditions of their Forefathers, and to teach only what they had learnt from Hillel, Shemaja, Abtalion, &c. So Lightf.

CHAP.

(c) Contr. Celſ. l. 1. p. 7. (d) Qu. 5.

CHAP. VIII.

1. WHen he was come down from the Mountain, (on which he delivered this Divine Diſcourſe,) great Multitudes followed him:

2. And behold, (when he was in, or near one of the Cities, Luke 5. 12.) there came a a Leper, and [a] worſhipped him, (kneeling, Mark 1. 40. and falling down before him; and Luke 5. 12.) ſaying, Lord, if thou wilt, thou canſt make me clean.

3. And Jeſus (having compaſſion on him, Mark 1. 41.)
b [b] put forth his Hand, and touched him, ſaying (to him,) I will, be thou clean; and immediately his Leproſie was cleanſed.

4. And Jeſus (ſtraightly charged him, and forthwith ſent him away, Mark 1. 43. and) c ſaith unto him, [c] See thou tell no Man (who hath done this;) but go thy way (firſt, d and) [d] ſhew thy ſelf to the Prieſt, and offer, (for thy Purification, Mark 1. 44. and Luke 5. 14.) the Gift that Moſes commanded, for e a [e] Teſtimony to them; (but he going from him, publiſhed it ſo much, that the Multitude hearing of it, came to him from every place to be healed of their Infirmities, Mark 1. 45. Luke 5. 15.)

5. And when Jeſus was entred into Capernaum, f [f] there came unto him, (by the Elders of the Jews, Luke 7. 3.) a Centurion, beſeeching him,

6. And ſaying, Lord, my Servant lyeth at home ſick of the Palſie, grievouſly tormented, (and nigh to Death, I deſire thou wouldſt come and heal him, Luke 7. 3.)

(Luke 7. 4. And when they came to him, thy beſought him inſtantly, ſaying, That he was worthy for whom he ſhould do this. Ver. 5. For he loveth our Nation, and hath built us a Synagogue.)

7. And Jeſus ſaith unto him, (i. e. to the Meſſengers ſent by him,) I will come, and heal him; (and having ſaid this, Jeſus went with them, and when he was now not far from the Houſe, Luke 7. 6.

8. The Centurion (hearing that Chriſt was coming to him, ſent other Friends to him, by whom he) anſwered, and ſaid, Lord, (trouble not thy ſelf to come to me; for) I am not worthy that thou ſhouldſt come under my Roof; (wherefore, neither thought I my ſelf worthy g to come unto thee, Luke 7. 6, 7.) but, [g] ſpeak the word only, and my Servant ſhall be healed.

9. For I am a Man under Authority, having (alſo) Soldiers under me; and I ſay unto this Man, Go, and he goeth; and to another, Come, and he cometh; and to my Servant, Do this, and he doth it: (How much more canſt thou, who haſt all Power in Heaven and Earth, command one of the miniſtring Spirits to come and heal my Servant?)

10. When Jeſus heard (this ſaying,) he marvelled, and ſaid to them, (the People) that followed him, Verily, I ſay unto you, I have not found ſo great Faith, no, not in Iſrael; (the People to whom I was promiſed, and to whom I am ſent.)

11. And I ſay unto you, That [h] many ſhall h come from the Eaſt and from the Weſt, (from the North and from the South, Luke 13. 29.) and ſhall ſit down with Abraham, and Iſaac and Jacob, (and with all the Prophets, Luke 13. 28.) in the Kingdom of Heaven; (i. e. ſhall be partakers of the Bleſſings promiſed to theſe Patriarchs.)

12. But the Children of the Kingdom ſhall be caſt out into utter Darkneſs, (ſo that) there ſhall be weeping and gnaſhing of Teeth; among them thus excluded from the Bleſſings of this Kingdom.)

13. And Jeſus ſaid unto the Centurion, Go thy way, and as thou haſt believed, ſo be it done unto thee; and his Servant was healed in the ſelf-ſame hour; (and they that were ſent, returning to the Houſe, found the Servant whole that had been ſick, Luke 7. 10.)

14. And when Jeſus was come into Peter's Houſe, he ſaw [i] his Wife's Mother laid (upon i a Bed,) and ſick of a Fever; (for they had told him of her, Mark 1. 30.)

15. And he ſtood over her, and rebuked the Fever, Luke 4. 39. and) he touched her Hand, and the Fever left her; and ſhe aroſe, and miniſtred unto them, (what was neceſſary for their Entertainment.)

16. And [k] when the Even was come, (ſo k that the Sun was ſet, Mark 1. 32. Luke 4. 40. and the Sabbath ended,) they brought unto him many that were (ſick, and many) poſſeſſed with Devils; and he caſt out the Spirits with his Word, and (laying his Hands upon them, Luke 4. 40.) healed all that were ſick.

17. That (in this ſenſe alſo) it might be fulfilled, which was ſpoken by the Prophet Eſaias, ſaying, (Chap. 53. 4.) [l] He himſelf l took our Infirmities, and bare our Sickneſſes.

18. Now when Jeſus ſaw great Multitudes about him, he gave Commandment (to his Diſciples) to depart unto the other ſide (of the Lake Genneſareth, Luke 8. 22.)

19. And (as they were preparing for their Departure,) a certain Scribe came, and ſaid unto him, Maſter, I will follow thee whitherſoever thou goeſt.

20. And Jeſus ſaith unto him, (If thou reſolveſt thus, upon proſpect of any temporal Advantages in my Kingdom, thou wilt be fruſtrated in thy Expectation; for) the Foxes have Holes, and the Birds of the Air have Neſts,

but

but the Son of Man hath not where to lay his (own) Head; (and therefore much leſs any Accommodations for his Followers.)

21. And another of his Diſciples (or Attendants, being bid to follow him, Luke 9. 59.) ſaid unto him, Lord, ſuffer me firſt to go, and (abide at home till I) bury my Father.

22. But Jeſus ſaid unto him, Follow me m (now,) and [m] let the Dead bury their Dead; (i. e. let thoſe who are unconcerned for the things of God, and unfit to engage in the promoting them, do ſuch Offices, which they may do as well as others; but do thou, who haſt begun to follow me, and to attend upon the Doctrine of the Kingdom of God, go on without Diverſion in that Work; for, no Man having put his Hand to the Plow, and looking back is fit for the Kingdom of God, Luke 9. 62.)

23. And when he was entred into a Ship, his Diſciples followed him:

24. And behold, there aroſe a great Tempeſt in the Sea, inſomuch that the Ship was (ſometimes) covered with the Waves, but he was aſleep (in the binder part of the Ship, Mark 4. 38.)

25. And his Diſciples came unto him, and awoke him, ſaying, Lord, ſave us, we periſh.

n 26. And he ſaith unto them, [n] Why are ye fearful, Oh ye of little Faith? Then he aroſe, and rebuked the Wind, and the Sea, (ſaying to them, Peace, be ſtill, Mark 4. 39.) and there was a great Calm.

27. But the Men marvelled, ſaying, What manner of Man is this, (and how great is his o Power,) that even [o] the Winds and the Sea obey him?

28. And when he was come unto the other ſide, into the Country of the Gergaſens, (ſee
p Note on Mark 5. 1.) there met him [p] two poſſeſſed with Devils, coming out of the Tombs, (one of which was) exceeding fierce, ſo that no Man might (ſafely) paſs by that way; (for no Man could tame him, or bind him ſo effectually with Chains, or Fetters, that he could not break them; and night and day he was in the Mountains, or among the Tombs, crying, and cutting himſelf with Stones; and ſeeing Jeſus afar off, they run unto him, and worſhip him, Mark 5. 3, 4, 5.)

29. And behold, they (i. e. the unclean Spirits in them,) cryed out, ſaying, [q] What q have we to do with thee, Jeſus thou Son of God? Art thou come [r] hither to torment us r before the time (appointed for our puniſhment?) (i. e. the fierce one ſaid this, the other being preſent with him: And this he ſaid after that Chriſt had ſaid to the unclean Spirit in him, Come out of the Man; and Jeſus asking, what was his Name? he had anſwered, ſaying, My Name is Legion, for we are many: And (farther,) had beſought him much, that he would not ſend them away out of the Country, Mark 5. 8, 10.)

30. And there was a good way off from them, (in the Mountains, Luke 8. 32.) an Herd of many Swine, (even two thouſand, Mark 5. 13.) feeding.

31. So the [s] Devils beſought him, ſaying, s
If thou caſt us out, [t] ſuffer us to go away in- t to the Herd of Swine.

32. And he ſaid unto them, (I ſuffer you to) Go; and when they were come out (of the Men,) they entred into the Herd of Swine; and behold, the whole Herd of Swine ran violently down a ſteep place into the Sea, and periſhed in the Waters.

33. And they that kept them, fled, and went their way into the City, (and Villages,) and told (them) every thing (that Chriſt had done,) and what was befallen to the (Men) poſſeſſed of the Devils.

34. And behold, the whole City came out to meet Jeſus; and when they ſaw him, they (being terrified at what he had done, and grieved for their loſs,) beſought him, that he would depart out of their Coaſts.

Annotations on Chap. VIII.

a Ver. 2. ΠΡΟΣΕΚΥΝΕΙ αὐτῷ, Worſhipped him.] The Jews paid civil Adoration both to Kings and Prophets, either by bending of the Knee, or by Proſtration, or falling down before them: So Abigail fell down before David, and bowed her ſelf to the ground, 1 Sam. 25. 23, 41. So alſo the Amalekite fell to the Earth before him, and did Obeyſance, 2 Sam. 1. 2. So Mephibo-ſheth fell on his Face, and did him Reverence, 2 Sam. 9. 6. So the Woman of Tekoah, 2 Sam. 14. 4. Nathan, 1 Kings 1. 23. So the whole Congregation worſhipped the Lord, and the King, 1 Chron. 29. 20. Thus alſo they reverenc'd the Holy Prophets: So Saul ſtooped with his Face to the ground to Samuel, 1 Sam. 28. 14. Obadiah fell on his Face before Elijah, 1 Kings 18. 7. See 2 Kings 1. 13. And Nebuchadnezzar fell on his Face before Daniel, Chap. 2. 46. Whence I conclude, that the Adorations given to our Bleſſed Saviour, by thoſe Jews and Gentiles who knew nothing of his Divinity, could be no argument of his Divine Nature, but rather were paid to him as the Meſſiah, or as a Prophet ſent from God, or as the King of Iſrael.

b Ver. 3. Καὶ ἐκτείνας τὴν χεῖρα ἥψατο αὐτοῦ ὁ Ἰησοῦς, And Jeſus ſtretching forth his Hand, touched him.] The Jews cannot reaſonably object, Thrt our Lord violated the Law, either by touching the Leper here, or by touching the Bier of the Dead, Luke 7. 14. for, as the Effect wrought upon both, demonſtrated, that the God, who gave theſe Laws, approved both theſe Actions, they being done by the Finger of God; ſo was it a received Rule among them, That a (a) Prophet might vary from, or even change a Ritual Law: So did Elijah, who took the Woman's dead Son out of her Boſom, and carried him up to his Bed, and ſtretched himſelf upon him three times, 1 Kings 17. 19, 21. So did Eliſha, when he lay upon the Shunamite's Child, and put his Mouth upon his Mouth, and his Eyes upon his Eyes, and his Hands upon his Hands, 2 Kings 4. 34. Whence (b) Theophylact obſerves, That our Lord touched the Leper, to ſhew, it was not neceſſary that he ſhould obſerve theſe leſſer Matters of the Law, and that a pure Perſon is not defiled by touching one unclean; but that it is the Leproſie of the Soul, which doth indeed defile.

c Ver. 4. Ὅρα μηδενὶ εἴπῃς, See thou tell no Man:] Viz. that thou waſt healed by me, till thou haſt offered thy Gift to the Prieſt; and he by receiving it, hath owned thee to be clean from thy Leproſie, leſt they hearing that thou waſt cleanſed by me, ſhould out of envy to me, refuſe to own, that thou waſt cleanſed: This ſenſe, the words offer the Gift for a Teſtimony to them, ſeem to require; for that which was always to be concealed from them, could be no Teſtimony to them of the Divine Miſſion. See Note on Chap. 9. 30.

d Ibid. Σεαυτὸν δεῖξον τῷ Ἱερεῖ, Shew thy ſelf to the Prieſt, &c.] Here it is well obſerved by Dr. Lightfoot, That tho' the Prieſthood was much degenerated from its Primitive Inſtitution, and Office, and many human Inſtitutions were added to God's Law, touching the Prieſt's Examination of the Leper, who pretended to be clean; yet doth Chriſt ſend this Leper to ſubmit to all theſe human Inventions, as knowing that they did indeed corrupt, but not extinguiſh the Divine Inſtitution.

e Ibid. Εἰς μαρτύριον αὐτοῖς, For a Teſtimony to them.] This ſome interpret thus, Offer thy Gift for a Teſtimony unto them, that thou art cleanſed from thy Leproſie; which muſt be the import of theſe words, if Chriſt had abſolutely forbid him to declare, who it was that cured him of his Leproſie; but in all other places where this Phraſe is uſed, it imports a Teſtimony to the Truth of Chriſt's Miſſion, or his Doctrine, and therefore moſt probably here ſignifies, that by pronouncing the Man clean, they may have a Teſtimony, that I am the Chriſt, or am a Prophet ſent from God; they themſelves owning, that the Leproſie can only be cured by the Finger of God, 2 Kings 5. 7. and therefore not ſuffering a Phyſician to attempt to cure it: So v. g. Matth. 10. 18. Ye ſhall be brought before Governours and Kings, εἰς μαρτύριον αὐτοῖς, for a Teſtimony to them, and to the Nations, Mat. 24. 14. This Goſpel of the Kingdom ſhall be preached in all the World, εἰς μαρτύριον, for a Teſtimony to all Nations; Luke 9. 5. If they receive you not, ſhake off the Duſt of your Feet, εἰς μαρτύριον ἐπ' αὐτούς, for a Teſtimony againſt them. Hence, the Lepers are cleanſed, Matth. 11. 5. is made the Sign of the Advent of the Meſſiah.

f Ver. 5. Προσῆλθεν αὐτῷ ὁ ἑκατόνταρχος παρακαλῶν αὐτὸν, There came to him a Centurion, beſeeching him.] Luke 7. 3. He ſent to him the Rulers of the Jews; and, ver. 8. the Centurion anſwered and ſaid, Luke 7. 6. the Centurion ſent Friends to him, ſaying: See theſe things reconciled, in Note on Luke 7. 1. It is conjectured by St. Chryſoſtom, Καὶ αὐτὸν μετὰ τὸ πέμψαι τοὺς φίλους προαγαγόμενον, That he himſelf, as Jeſus came nearer to his Houſe, came out of civility to meet him; becauſe Chriſt ſays unto him, Go thy way, as thou haſt believed, ſo be it done unto thee, ver. 13. but of that alſo, ſee Note on Luke 7. 1.

g Ver. 3, 8. Θέλω καθαρίσθητι, I will, be thou clean.] Here the Note of Woltzogenius is this, hic verè divina Chriſti vis eleucet; Here ſhines forth the Divine Power of Chriſt, that he could do ſo great things only by his Command: So alſo Moſes ſays, the World was created by God, ſaying, Let there be Light, and there was Light, Gen. 1. 3. and on thoſe words, ver. 8. only ſay the word, and my Servant ſhall be healed, &c. he ſaith, he repreſents the Faith of the Centurion, concerning our Lord's Divine Power, thus; If I who am ſubject to the power of another, have ſo much power over my Servants, that they inſtantly do, whatever I would have them; how much more ſhall all things which thou requireſt, be done at thy Word and Command, qui nullius poteſtati ſubjectus es, who art ſubject to the power of none? And, how can he deny him to be God, in whom ſhines forth that Divine Power which God exerted in the Creation of the World, and at whoſe Word all things that he commandeth muſt be done, and who is ſubject to the power of none? Surely, this Faith of the Centurion may induce us to conclude with St. Jerom on the place, Quod intra corporis tegmen Divinitatem latentem videret.

h Ver. 11, 12. Λέγω δὲ ὑμῖν, ὅτι πολλοὶ ἀπὸ ἀνατολῶν καὶ δυσμῶν ἥξουσι, καὶ ἀνακλιθήσονται μετὰ Ἀβραὰμ — ἐν τῇ βασιλείᾳ τῶν οὐρανῶν, And I ſay unto you, that many ſhall come from the Eaſt, and from the Weſt, and ſhall ſit down with Abraham, and Iſaac, and Jacob, in the Kingdom of Heaven, &c.] For the right underſtanding of theſe Words, note,

(a) Neve Shallom. l. 9. c. 19. (b) In Luke 7. 14.

1*ſt*, That to lye down with Abraham, Iſaac, and Jacob, in the Kingdom of Heaven, doth not here ſignifie to enjoy everlaſting Happineſs in Heaven with them, but only to become the Sons of Abraham thro' Faith, Gal. 3. 7. and ſo to be bleſſed with Faithful Abraham, ver. 9. to have the Bleſſing of Abraham coming on them, that they may receive the Promiſe of the Spirit, ver. 14. thro' Faith in Chriſt, to be the Seed of Abraham, and Heirs according to the Promiſe, ver. 29. viz. the Promiſe made to Abraham, Gen. 12. 3. renewed to Iſaac, Gen. 26. 4. and confirmed to Jacob, Gen. 28. 14. and to be according to Iſaac, the Children of the Promiſe, Gal. 4. 28. This, ſaith Chriſt, ſhall be the Bleſſing of the believing Gentiles, they ſhall be Sons of Abraham, and Heirs of the Promiſes made to the Patriarchs, and mentioned by all the Prophets of the Old Teſtament; whereas the unbelieving Jews wanting the Faith of Abraham, ſhall be deprived of the Bleſſings promiſed to his Seed; for they who ſeek to enter, and ſhall not be able, becauſe the Maſter hath ſhut to his Door, Luke 13. 24, 25. are thoſe Jews who ſought for Righteouſneſs by the Works of the Law, and not by Faith, and therefore found it not, Rom. 9. 31, 32. — 11. 7. who entred not into the Reſt prepared for them, by reaſon of their Unbelief, Heb. 3. 18, 19. — 4. 2, 5. and from whom the Kingdom of God was taken away, Matth. 21. 43. they are they, who ſhall ſay to Chriſt, we have eaten and drunk before thee, and thou haſt taught in our Streets, Luke 13. 26. which could be ſaid only by the Jews.

2*dly*, Obſerve that this Kingdom of God is repreſented here, and elſewhere, as a Nuptial Solemnity, or a Banquet, at which the Gueſts ſit down with the Maſter of the Feaſt. Now theſe Banquets were uſually made at night, and continued long in the night; hence were they called cænæ convivales, Suppers, (c) ὀψὲ γὰρ ἐδείπνουν ἀπὸ πράξεων, Becauſe they were wont to ſup late, after they had done their Buſineſs, ſaith Plutarch; thus have we mention of a great Supper, Luke 14. 16. of the Supper of the Lamb, Rev. 19. 7. and of the Bridegroom coming at midnight to his Supper, Matth. 25. 6. Hence at thoſe Suppers the Houſe of Reception was filled with Lights, called λάδες, λαμπάδες, λυχνεῖα, φανοὶ, in (d) Athenæus and (e) Plutarch, i. e. Torches, Lamps, Candles, and Lanthorns; and ſo they who were admitted to the Banquet, had the benefit of the Light: But they who were ſhut out, or could not enter, were in Darkneſs; whence the unhappy ſtate of thoſe, who were excluded from the Kingdom of God, or from a ſtate of future Happineſs, is frequently expreſſed by their being caſt out into utter Darkneſs, v. 12. See Matth. 22. 13. — 25. 30. and becauſe they who were thus ſhut out from the Marriage Feaſt, were not only expoſed to Shame, but alſo to Cold and Hunger, therefore is it added, there ſhall be weeping, and wailing, and gnaſhing of Teeth, Matth. 13. 42. Luke 13. 28. And Oh! how contrary is this Prediction of our Lord to the vain Opinions of the Jews, who were wont to ſay, that all Iſrael ſhould have a Portion in the World to come; But the Heathens, ſay they, are to be Fuel for Hell Fire, Pirk Eliezer, Cap. 9. Sect. 4. whereas our Saviour here declareth, that theſe Heathens ſhould ſit down with Abraham, Iſaac, and Jacob in the Kingdom of Heaven, and they, the Children of the Kingdom, ſhould be caſt into utter Darkneſs.

3*dly*, Obſerve for Explication of other places relating to theſe Banquets and nuptial Feaſts, that they who were invited to them, entred by a Gate deſigned to receive them; whence Chriſt by whom we enter in to this Marriage Feaſt, compares himſelf to a Gate, John 10. 1, 2, 7, 9. Now this Gate at the time when the Gueſts invited were to come, was made narrow, the Wicket only being left open, and the Porter ſtanding there, that they who were not bidden to the Marriage, might not ruſh in to it. Hence Chriſt exhorts the Jews to enter in at the ſtrait Gate, Matth. 7. 13, 14. Luke 13. 24. i. e. to ſtrive to enter into the Kingdom of Heaven, and be made Partakers of the Bleſſings of it, before it was taken from them. Laſtly, When all that were invited were once come, the Door was preſently ſhut, and was not to be opened any more to them who ſtood knocking without; ſo after the Wiſe Virgins had entred with the Bridegroom, the Gate was ſhut, and was not opened to the Fooliſh Virgins, who ſtood knocking without, Matth. 25. 11. And in this ſenſe are we to underſtand thoſe words of Chriſt, Luke 13. 24, 25. Many ſhall ſeek to enter, and ſhall not be able, viz. not for want of any Grace ſufficient on God's part, but becauſe of their coming too late, after the Gate is ſhut, and the Bridegroom is entred, as is apparent from the reaſon of that Admonition, ſtrive to enter in at the ſtrait Gate, for many will ſeek to enter in, and ſhall not be able, when once the Maſter of the Houſe is riſen up, and hath ſhut to the Door.

Ver. 14. Εἶδε τὴν πενθερὰν αὐτοῦ, And when Jeſus came unto Peter's Houſe, he ſaw his Wife's Mother laid, and ſick of a Fever.] Learn hence, ſaith Theophylact, that Marriage is no Hindrance to Virtue, ſince the chief of the Apoſtles had his Wife. Brugenſis here notes, that it is written of Peter only that he

he had a Wife, but that this is not exactly true, ſee Note on 1 Cor. 7. 8. and on Chap. 9. 5. Moreover we read in the interpolated (f) Ignatius, τῶν Πέτρε καὶ Παύλε καὶ τ̃ ἄλλων ἀποσ́λων τοῖς γάμοις πρσομιλησάντων, of Peter, and Paul, and other Apoſtles that were married. (g) St. Baſil reckons among thoſe that were married, Πέτρῳ καὶ τοῖς λοιποῖς τ̃ ἀποσ́λων, Peter and the reſt of the Apoſtles. And (h) St. Ambroſe ſaith, that omnes Apoſtoli, exceptis Johanne & Paulo, uxores habuiſſe dicuntur, all the Apoſtles, except John and Paul, are ſaid to have had Wives. See many other Teſtimonies in (i) Cotelerius's Notes on the Epiſtle of Ignatius to the Philadelphians.

k Ver. 16. Ὀψίας δ̃ γενομέν̃ης, and when the Even was come.] The Jews kept their Sabbath from Evening to Evening, according to thoſe words, Lev. 23. 32. from Even to Even ſhall ye celebrate your Sabbath; and therefore when it began to be dark, before the Sabbath, Nehemiah commands the Gates of Jeruſalem to be ſhut, Neh. 13. 19. and the Author of (k) Coſri ſaith, non ingreditur niſi occumbente Sole, the Sabbath doth not enter but when the Sun is ſet, as St. Mark and St. Luke ſpeak; ſee Lightfoot on the Place.

l Ver. 17. Ἵνα τὰς ἀσθενείας ἡμῶν ἔλαβε, That it might be fulfilled which was ſpoken by the Prophet, ſaying, He himſelf took our Infirmities, and bore our Sickneſſes.] This is one of thoſe places from which Interpreters conclude, a Prophecie is ſaid to be fulfilled only by way of Accommodation, tho' not according to the Intention of the Prophet. But I conceive without juſt ground: For, (1.) the Jews themſelves did think this Paſſage of the Prophet, related to the curing their Diſeaſes, as well as the procuring Remiſſion of their Sins; for thus they ſpeak, the Name of the Meſſiah, is the Leper, of the Houſe of Rabbi, as it is ſaid, ſurely he bore our Infirmities. And we eſteemed him, nequa quaſi leproſum, as a Leper, ſaith St. Jerom, and the Vulgar, ἀφήμυον ἐν ἀφῇ ὄντα, Sym. & aquila, now ἄφη, ſay Heſychius, Suidas, and Phavorinus is ἡ χροιὰ τ̃ λέπρας, the Color of the Leproſie See Lev. 14. 32, 35. And again, if Meſſias be among the Living, Rabbona Hakkedoſh is he, as being one who bears our Infirmities; and ſeeing Chriſt by healing our Diſeaſes, took away the temporal Puniſhment of our Sins, (ſee the Note on Chap. 9. 2.) and ſaid to ſome of them he healed, thy Sins are forgiven thee, why might not this Prophecie be twice fulfilled, when by taking away their Diſeaſes, he took away the temporal Puniſhment of their Sins, and when by ſuffering on the Croſs, he procured a full Remiſſion of the Guilt of their Iniquities?

m Ver. 22. Καὶ ἄφες τοὺς νεκροὺς θάψαι τοὺς ἑαυτ̃ν νεκρούς, And let the dead bury their dead.] That οἱ νεκροὶ the dead, in Scripture doth often ſignifie, not thoſe who in a natural Senſe are dead, by Diſſolution of the Soul and Body, but thoſe who in a ſpiritual Senſe are ſo, by being alienated from the Life of God, and dead in Treſpaſſes and Sins. See Note on 1 Pet. 4. 6. thus, * Clemens of Alexandria ſaith, that, ἐν τ῀ βαρβάρῳ φιλοσοφίᾳ νεκροὺς καλ῀σι τοὺς ἐκπέσοντας τ῀ δογμάτων καὶ καθυποτάξαντας τ῀ νῶν τοῖς πάθεσι τοῖς ψυχικοῖς, The Philoſophy of the Barbarians called them dead, who deſerted their Doctrines, and ſubjected their Minds to ſenſual Paſſions; and (l) Origen, That the Pythagoreans placed Cophins in their Room, ſymbolically to repreſent that Death; and Philo ſtiles this the Death of the Soul, ἐνταμιεύσαντας πάθεσι καὶ κακίαις ἁπάσαις, entomb'd in Paſſions, and all Wickedneſs, legis alleg. l. 1. p. 45. Here then Chriſt teacheth, that when we are called by him to the Promotion of the Goſpel, and the Salvation of Mens Souls, we ſhould not ſuffer earthly Buſineſs, which may be done as well by others, who are unfit to be employ'd in Spirituals, to give us the leaſt Hindrance from ſetting inſtantly upon that Work.

n Ver. 26. Τί δειλοί ἐστε ὀλιγόπιστοι, Why are ye fearful, Oh ye of little Faith?] Here I conceive it may be uſeful to lay down the Indications of a weak and little Faith, that we may guard our ſelves againſt them. And,

1*ſt*, The Fears, and Jealouſies of pious Perſons, betray the Weakneſs of their Faith, as is apparent from this Queſtion, Why are ye fearful, oh ye of little Faith? Now ſuch are not only thoſe evil Fears which terrifie us from the Performance of our Duty, but our irrational, and ſuperſtitious Fears of being left alone, or in the dark, the fear of evil Spirits, and the like, and alſo all anxious and tormenting Fears of what hereafter may befal our ſelves, our Chriſtian Brethren, or the ſincere, and living Members of Chriſt's Body; a fear of Caution, which renders us induſtrious to prevent the evil, may be uſeful in this caſe, but a fear of Diffidence becomes not the good Chriſtian; He, ſaith the Pſalmiſt, whoſe Heart is fixed, truſting in the Lord, will not be thus afraid of evil Tidings, Pſal. 112. 7.

2*dly*, Our Doubtings, and Deſpondings in the time of Peril, demonſtrate the weakneſs of our Faith, according to that Saying of our Lord to Peter, when he began to ſink, Oh thou of little Faith, wherefore didſt thou doubt? Matth. 14. 31. They then who doubt of God's Aſſiſtance in the time of Danger, or do ſuſpect he may deſert them, in the needful Hour, are weak in Faith.

3*dly*, Our anxious Solicitude for any temporal Concern, and our perplexing Cares for theſe Enjoyments, ſhew we are Men of little Faith, for our heavenly Father knoweth how far we have need of theſe things; and hence our Saviour argues thus, If God ſo cloath the Lilies of the Field, if he feed the Fowls of the Air, will he not much more cloath and feed you, Oh ye of little Faith? Matth. 6. 30. He therefore who ſuſpects the Kindneſs of his heavenly Father in theſe inferior Concerns, either miſtruſts his Power, as did the unbelieving Jews, ſaying, Can God prepare a Table in the Wilderneſs? Or elſe conceives his Goodneſs to his faithful Servants may be leſs than to the meaneſt of his Creatures. And,

4*thly*, Our Impatience under Troubles, argues our want of Faith, for he that believeth will not make haſte, Iſa. 28. 16. Our due Perſuaſions of God's paternal Love towards us, will engage us to poſſeſs our Souls in Patience, and tarry the Lord's Leiſure, and wait contentedly for any Bleſſing he hath promiſed, as knowing it will ſurely come in its moſt proper Seaſon, and when the Wiſdom of our heavenly Father ſees we are beſt fitted to enjoy it.

o Ver. 27. Οἱ ἄνεμοι καὶ ἡ θάλασσα ὑπακούουσιν αὐτῷ, The Winds and the Sea obey him.] It being ſo often made the Property of God, to ſtill the raging of the Sea, Pſal. 65. 7. — 107. 25, 29. it is not to be wondred that Chriſt's Diſciples ſhould conceive there muſt be a divine Power in him, who could perform ſuch things.

p Ver. 28. Ὑπήντησαν αὐτῷ δύο δαιμονιζόμενοι, There met him two poſſeſſed with the Devil, Mark 5. 2. A Man poſſeſſed with an unclean Spirit, So Luke 8. 27.] See this reconciled Note on Mark 5. 2.

q Ver. 29. Τί ἡμῖν καὶ σοί; What have we to do with thee?] Schmidius here ſhews, that this is not a form of ſpeaking proper to the Jews, and Helleniſts only, it being uſed by good Greek Authors, who had no converſe with them. So Arrian upon Epictetus τί ἡμῖν καὶ αὐτῷ; What have we to do with him? Lib. 1. Cap. 1. p. 85.

r Ibid. Ἦλθες ὧδε πρὸ καιροῦ βασανίσαι ἡμᾶς, Art thou come hither to torment us before the time?] That βασανίσαι ſhould here ſignifie only to impriſon theſe Demons, or ſend them to the place of their Reſtraint, a Reverend Perſon argues, becauſe the word βασανίζω ſometimes ſignifies to impriſon, and βασανισταὶ are Gaolers, Matth. 18. 34. And (2*dly*,) becauſe they intreat, Luke 8. 31. that he would not command them to go out, εἰς ἄβυσσον, that is into Hell. But (1.) βασανίζω never ſignifies to reſtrain but in order to Puniſhment, or torment, to extort the Truth; and βασανιστὴς only ſignifies a Gaoler, becauſe it is his Office to torture, and to puniſh Men. And, (2.) they who do afterwards intreat, not to be ſent into the Abyſs, had formerly intreated not to be tormented, v. 28. which ſhews that to be tormented, v. 28. and to be ſent to the Abyſs, v. 31. were two different things. That it rather ſignifies to torment, and puniſh them, may be gathered from the words of another unclean Spirit, parallel to theſe, What have we to do with thee, art thou come ἀπολέσαι ἡμᾶς, to deſtroy us? Mark 1. 24. Luke 4. 34. (2.) From theſe words, πρὸ καιροῦ; Art thou come to do this to us before the time of Torments? For tho' the Devils do at preſent believe, and tremble, Jam. 2. 19. yet are they not at preſent tormented in the Flames, prepared for the Devil and his Angels, but only are reſerved in Chains of Darkneſs to the day of Judgment to be puniſhed, 2 Pet. 2. 4. Jude 6. then Satan is to be caſt into the Lake of Fire and Brimſtone, Rev. 20. 10. at preſent he walks to and fro through the Face of the whole Earth, Job. 1. 7. and goes about like a roaring Lion, ſeeking whom he may devour, 1 Pet. 5. 8.

Ver. 31. Οἱ δὲ δαίμονες παρεκάλουν αὐτὸν, s The Devils intreated him.] Some are of Opinion that the Perſons repreſented in the New Teſtament, as Demoniacks, were only Perſons afflicted with ſome ſtrange Diſeaſes, Fits of the Mother, Convulſions, falling Sickneſs, and the like; but this cavil may be evidently confuted,

1*ſt*, From the Scriptures and Eccleſiaſtical Writers, which make a conſtant and a plain Diſtinction betwixt theſe two things, the curing Diſeaſes, and the caſting out of Devils. So Matth. 4. 24. They brought to him all ſick People, that were taken with divers Diſeaſes, and thoſe which were poſſeſſed with Devils, and thoſe which were Lunatick, and had the Palſie, and he healed them; and Matth. 10. 1. He gave to the Apoſtles Power againſt unclean Spirits to caſt them out, and to heal all manner of Sickneſs and Diſeaſes; Mark 1. 34. He healed many that were ſick of divers Diſeaſes, and caſt out many Devils. See alſo Luke 4. 40, 41. The Chriſtians, ſaith (m) Irenæus, truly caſt out Devils, and heal the Sick by Impoſition of Hands. They caſt out Devils, and heal many Diſeaſes, ſaith (n) Origen. How many honeſt Men have by us been healed, or freed from Devils? ſaith (o) Tertullian.

2*dly*, This will be farther evident from many Circumſtances relating to the Devils to be caſt out, or actually ejected. As v. g. that Chriſt ſuffered not the Devils to ſpeak, becauſe they knew him (Mark 1. 34.) to be the Chriſt, Luke 4. 41. that they ſaid, Thou art the Chriſt the Son of God, Luke 4. 41. That they expoſtulate with Chriſt, ſaying, What have we to do with thee, art thou come to deſtroy us?

(m) Lib. 2 cap. 56, 57. (n) Contra Celſum l. 1. p. 34. (o) Ad Scap. c. 4.

art thou come to torment us before the time? and pray that he would not torment them; that they ask his leave to enter into the Swine, and being entred hurry them down into the Sea, and beg they may not be ſent out of the Country; that they acknowledge that their Name was Legion, there being many of them, which poſſeſſed one Man, Mark 5. 1, 14. Luke 8. 27, 33. Now to make all theſe Sayings the effects of a Diſeaſe, or to conceive that Chriſt ſpake thus to a Diſeaſe, is too great an Evidence of one that is himſelf diſeaſed. For,

3*dly*, Chriſt ſometimes puts Queſtions to theſe Demons, asking their Names, ſometimes commands them to be ſilent, and ſometimes to come out of a Man, and enter no more into him, Mark 1. 25. Luke 4. 41. Mark 9. 25.

4*thly*, This we may argue from the Symptoms of theſe Demoniacks, their being of ſuch Strength, that no Chain, or Fetters, could bind them, Mark 5. 3. Nor could the diſeaſed Perſon fear to be deſtroyed, tormented, ſent out of the Country, or into the Abyſs by Chriſt.

Object. If it be ſaid that we find no mention of Perſons thus poſſeſſed with the Devil among Jews or Gentiles before our Saviour's Advent, nor have we any Experience of any ſuch thing, either among the Chriſtians, or in the Heathen World, and therefore cannot eaſily believe it was ſo then:

Anſw. I anſwer, That the Falſhood of this Suggeſtion, that Men poſſeſſed with evil Spirits were not known among the Jews in former Ages, hath been proved from the plain Teſtimonies of Joſephus, Juſtin Martyr, and Irenæus, in the general Preface to the Epiſtles, p. 43.

And that among the Heathens, there were Perſons thus poſſeſs'd, is there prov'd alſo, from the Teſtimonies of Plutarch, Lucian, Juſtin Martyr, and Origen; ſo that 'tis certain that the Hiſtory of Chriſt and his Apoſtles, caſting out Devils in Judæa, and of Chriſtians caſting them out throughout the World, was therefore never queſtioned by Jew or Gentile, becauſe they had among themſelves in every place Pretenders to it.

Object. 2. Whereas it is objected that to have a Devil, and be mad, are joined together as the ſame thing, John 10. 20. and to be Lunatick, and have a Devil, Matth. 17. 15, 18. and is hence inferr'd that theſe Diſeaſes were the ſame, as Devils; and according to the Jewiſh Phraſe, gave occaſion to the being ſaid, ſuch Perſons were poſſeſſed with a Devil:

Anſw. To this I anſwer, That I have ſufficiently confuted this Cavil, in this Note, by ſhewing both from the ſacred Records, and the Writings of the Fathers, that there is a conſtant and plain Diſtinction betwixt theſe two things, the curing of Diſeaſes, and the caſting out of Devils.

Ibid. Ἐπίτρεψον ἡμῖν, Suffer us.] He only t therefore ſent them into the Herd of Swine, Mark 5. 12. by permitting them to enter into them; and this he did, ſaith Grotius, to convince the Greeks who lived in this place, and kept theſe Swine, of the Sacredneſs of the Jewiſh Laws, which they ridiculed, eſpecially on the account of the Prohibition to eat Swine's Fleſh.

CHAP. IX.

1. AND he entred into a Ship, and paſſed over (a part of the Sea of Galilee) and came [a] into his own City (Capernaum.)

2. And (a Rumour being ſpread that he was in the Houſe, Mark 2. 1. as indeed he was, ſitting and teaching a Multitude; ſo great, that the Houſe and Porch could not receive them; and healing them by his divine Power, in Preſence of the Phariſees and Doctors of the Law, who came from Galilee, Judea, and Jeruſalem, Luke 5. 17.) behold they brought to him a Man ſick of the Palſie, lying on a Bed (carried by four Perſons, who being not able to come to him for the Preſs, they uncovered the Roof of the upper Chamber where he was, and let down the Bed to him; ſee the Note on Mark 2 3.) And Jeſus b c [b] ſeeing their Faith, [c] ſaid unto the ſick of the Palſie, Son, be of good Cheer, thy Sins are forgiven thee.

3. And behold certain of the Scribes, (and Phariſees ſitting there,) ſaid within themſelves, (i. e. in their Hearts, Mark 2. 6. and in their private Diſcourſes, Luke 5. 21.) this Man blaſphemeth, (making himſelf a God, for who can forgive Sins but God only? Luke 5. 21.)

4. And Jeſus knowing their Thoughts, ſaid, wherefore think you evil in your Hearts, (concerning me for theſe words?)

5. For, [d] whether is eaſier to ſay, thy Sins d be forgiven thee, or to ſay ariſe, (take up thy Bed,) and walk; (which is a certain Indication that the Sins which brought upon him that Diſeaſe, are pardoned, or that this Puniſhment of them is remitted?)

6. But, (I chuſe to ſay the firſt,) [e] that ye e may know that the Son of Man hath Power, (even whilſt he is) on Earth, to forgive Sins; Then (turning from them,) ſaith he to the ſick of the Palſie, ariſe, take up thy Bed, and go unto thy Houſe.

7. And

7. And he arose, (took up his Bed,) and departed to his House.

8. But, (and) when the Multitude saw it, they marvelled, and glorified God, which had given such Power unto Men; (acknowledging they never saw it so before, Mark 2. 12.)

9. And as Jesus passed from thence, he saw f [f] a Man named Matthew, (or Levi, the Son of Alpheus, Mark 2. 14. Luke 5. 27.) sitting at the Receipt of Custom, (or Toll-booth, and he saith to him, follow me; and he (leaving all things) arose, and followed him; (and made him a great Supper in his House, Luke 5. 29.)

10. And it came to pass as Jesus sat at Meat, in the House, (of Matthew) behold many Publicans and Sinners came, and sat down with him, and his Disciples.

11. And when the Pharisees saw it, they g (murmuring) said to his Disciples, [g] why eateth your Master with Publicans and Sinners? (why doth he who professeth himself a Prophet, and an holy Man, defile himself by touching, and vilifie himself by conversing with such Men?)

12. But when Jesus heard that, he said unto them, (such more especially need my help, for) they that be whole need not a Physician, but they that be sick.

13. But, (for your farther Satisfaction in this matter,) go ye and learn what that (of h the Prophet Hosea, chap. 6. 6.) meaneth, [h] I will have Mercy, and not Sacrifice, (and i how it suits with this Action of mine,) [i] for I came not to call the Righteous, but Sinners to Repentance, (and must not be diverted from such Acts of Mercy by your Rules.)

14. Then, (it being a day on which the Disciples of John and the Pharisees fasted, Mark 2. 18.) came to him the Disciples of k John, saying, (to Jesus) [k] why do we and the Pharisees fast oft, (even twice a week, Luke 18. 12.) but thy Disciples fast not, (but eat and drink on our fasting Days? Luke 5. 33.)

l 15. And Jesus said unto them, [l] can the Children of the Bride-chamber mourn as long as the Bridegroom is with them, (is this fit, or usual in such cases?) but (as for my Disciples,) the days will come when the Bridegroom shall (by Death) be taken from them, and then shall they fast.

16. (And he said also, by way of Parable, m Luke 5. 36.) [m] No Man putteth a piece of new Cloth to an old Garment, for (if so) that which is put in to fill it up taketh from the Garment, and the Rent is made worse.

17. Neither do Men put new Wine into old (leather) Bottles, else the Bottles break, and the Wine runneth out, and (so) the Bottles perish, but they put new Wine into new Bottles and both are preserved; (so in like manner my young Disciples, taken, not from the Schools or Academies, as perhaps those of John and the Pharisees might be, but from their fishing Trades, must not presently be put to such severe Tasks, for which they are not yet strong enough, lest they should be discouraged, and fall from me.)

18. While he spake these things (to them,) behold there came a certain [n] Ruler (of the n Synagogue, Jairus by Name, Mark 15. 22. Luke 8. 41.) and worshipped him, saying, my Daughter [o] is even now dead, (Gr. is o dead by this time, for when I came from my House she was at the last Gasp, Mark 5. 23.) but come, and lay thy Hand upon her, and she shall live.

19. And Jesus arose, and followed him, and so did his Disciples, (and a great Multitude, who press'd upon him, Mark 5. 24. Luke 8. 42.)

20. And behold a Woman, which was diseased with an Issue of Blood twelve Years, (and had spent all that she had upon Physicians, and was nothing better, but rather grew worse, Mark 5. 26. Luke 8. 43.) came behind him, and touched the Hem of his Garment, (and presently the Issue of her Blood was stanched, Mark 5. 29.)

21. For she (had) said within her self, if I may but touch his Garment, I shall be whole.

22. But Jesus, (knowing that Virtue was gone out of him,) turned him about, (to the Multitude, and said, who touched me?) and when he saw her (that had done so, and heard her tell the reason why she had done it, Luke 8. 45, 47.) he said (unto her,) Daughter, be of good Comfort, thy Faith hath made thee whole, and the Woman was made whole from that hour.

[Luke 8. 49. While he was speaking, there cometh one from the Ruler of the Synagogue's House, saying to him, thy Daughter is dead, trouble not the Master. 50. But when Jesus heard it, he answered him, saying, fear not, believe only, and she shall be made whole.]

23. And when Jesus came into the Ruler's House, and saw the Minstrels, and (heard) the People making a noise, (as at a Funeral Solemnity;)

24. He said unto them, give place, for [p] the p Maid is not dead, but sleepeth; (i. e. she shall be raised from it, as it were out of Sleep,) and they laughed him to Scorn.

25. But when the People were put forth (Peter, James, and John, and the Father and Mother of the Damsel being only left, Mark 5. 40.) He went in, and took her by the Hand, (and said unto her, Daughter, arise, and her Spirit returned unto her,) and the Maid arose, (and walked, being twelve Years old, and he commanded that something should be given her to eat, to strengthen her, and confirm them that she was alive, Luke 8. 54, 55.)

26. And

26. And the Fame hereof went abroad into all the Land; (tho' he ſtraitly charged them to tell no Man of it, Luke 8. 56.)

27. And when Jeſus departed thence, two blind Men followed him, crying and ſaying, Thou Son of David, (of whom the Prophet Iſaiah hath foretold, that he ſhould open the Eyes of the Blind, Chap. 29. 18.—35. 5.—42. 7.) have Mercy on us.

28. And when he was come into the Houſe, the Blind Men came to him; and Jeſus ſaith to them, Believe ye that I am able to do this? They ſaid unto him, Yea, Lord.

29. Then touched he their Eyes, ſaying, According to your Faith be it to you.

30. And their Eyes were opened; and Je-q ſus ſtrictly charged them, ſaying, [q] See that no Man know it.

31. But they, when they were departed, ſpread abroad his Fame in all that Country.

32. And as they went out (of the City,) behold, they brought to him a dumb Man poſſeſſed with a Devil:

33. And when the Devil was caſt out, the Dumb ſpake, and the Multitudes marvelled, ſaying, It was never ſo ſeen in Iſrael.

34. But the Phariſees ſaid, He caſteth out Devils thro' (Beelzebub, Luke 11.15. who is) the Prince of the Devils.

35. And Jeſus went about all the Cities, and Villages, teaching in their Synagogues, and preaching the Goſpel of the Kingdom, and healing every Sickneſs, and every Diſeaſe among the People.

36. But, (and) when he ſaw the Multitudes (that followed him,) he has moved with compaſſion on them, becauſe [r] they fainted, (or r ſtrayed) and were ſcattered abroad as Sheep having no Shepherd, (and he taught them many things, Mark 6. 34.)

37. Then ſaith he to his Diſciples, [s] the Har- s veſt truly is plenteous, but the Labourers are few; (i. e. there be many who are willing to receive Inſtruction, but few who are fit to give it to them.)

38. Pray ye therefore the Lord of the Harveſt, that he would ſend forth Labourers into his Harveſt; (to inſtruct thoſe aright who are ready to receive Inſtruction.)

a Ver. 1. Εἰς τὴν ἰδίαν πόλιν, Into his own City;] that is, into Capernaum, Mark 2. 1. Chriſt having left Nazareth, to go to dwell at Capernaum, Matth. 4. 13.

b Ver. 2. Καὶ ἰδὼν ὁ Ἰησοῦς τὴν πίστιν αὐτῶν, And Jeſus ſeeing their Faith;] i. e. the Faith of thoſe who let down the ſick of the Palſie: Whence it is evident, that the Faith of others may prevail for the obtaining temporal and corporal Bleſſings: Thus, in the preceding Chapter, ver. 13. the Faith of the Centurion prevails, to heal his Servant; and here, v. 33. the Devil is caſt out of a dumb and deaf Man, who had no Tongue to ask it, thro' the Faith of them that brought him: Thus the Daughter of Jairus is raiſed, Luke 8. 50. and the unclean Spirit is caſt out of the Son, by the Father's Faith, Mark 9. 22, 23. Note alſo that Theophylact here adds, καὶ αὐτοῦ τοῦ παραλυτικοῦ and the Faith of the Paralytick, for, ſaith he, had he not believed he ſhould be c healed, he would not have conſented to their Action.

Ibid. Εἶπε τῷ παραλυτικῷ ἀφέωνταί σοι αἱ ἁμαρτίαι σου, He ſaid to the ſick of the Palſie, Son, thy Sins are forgiven thee:] Shewing, ſaith Theophylact, That Diſeaſes, and chiefly Palſies, proceed from Sin, he firſt ſpeaks of forgiving them: But then it muſt be noted, That our Lord here ſpeaks of Remiſſion, not of the eternal Puniſhments, but of the temporal Puniſhments inflicted for Sin. (1.) Becauſe this Remiſſion is obtained by the Faith of others; whereas, the enjoyment of ſpiritual and eternal Bleſſings in Perſons capable of Faith, depends on their own Faith alone. (2.) Becauſe our Saviour ſaith, it is as eaſie to ſay, thy Sins be forgiven thee, as to ſay, Riſe up, and walk; which conſequence ſeems not to be good, if we take Remiſſion of Sins in the higheſt ſenſe; ſince by the Example of the Apoſtles, and ſeventy Diſciples, it appears, they might have power of healing ſuch Diſeaſes, who had no power of forgiving the eternal Puniſhments of Sin. Moreover, it is uſual in Scripture, and was ſo among the Jews, to repreſent bodily Afflictions, Miſeries, and Diſeaſes, as the effects of Sin, according to the common Proverb, Niſi eſſent peccata, non eſſent flagella; Were there no Sins, there would be no Chaſtiſements: Hence is the Enquiry of the Diſciples, touching the Man born blind, who hath ſinn'd, he or his Parents, that he ſhould be born blind? John 9. 2. and to the Paralytick, Chriſt having healed him, ſpeaks thus, Behold, thou art made whole, ſin no more, leſt a worſe thing come unto thee, Joh. 5. 14. For the Law of Moſes threatned various Kinds of Diſeaſes to the Tranſgreſſors of it, Deut. 28. 21, 22. and when they were remitted, theſe Diſeaſes were remov'd: According to thoſe words of Iſaiah, chap. 33. 24. The Inhabitants ſhall not ſay, That they are ſick; the People that are there ſhall be forgiven their Iniquity: And it is alſo uſual in the Old and the New Teſtament, to intimate Deliverance from corporal Diſeaſes by Remiſſion of Sins, as when the Prophet ſaith to David, 2 Sam. 12. 13. The Lord hath taken away thy Sin; thou ſhalt not die for it: And, d Ver. 5. Τί γαρ ἐστὶν εὐκοπώτερον εἰπεῖν; Whether is it easier to say, thy Sins be forgiven thee; or to say, rise up, and walk?] They who here tell us, 'Tis therefore easier to say the first, because he cannot so easily be disproved, who promiseth a thing invisible, as he who engageth to do that which is the Object of our Senses; do not compare together the things to be done, but only the ways of knowing when they are not done: They therefore interpret these words better, who say, That it must be as easie to say, do the one, as to say with effect the other; it being indeed the same thing to say, thy Sins, that is, the temporal Punishments of them are forgiven; and to say, be thou healed, or rise up, and walk effectually; seeing by being freed from the Disease, which was the temporal Punishment of Sin, 'twas manifest, that Sin was thus far forgiven.

e Ver. 6. Ἵνα δὲ εἰδῆτε ὅτι ἐξουσίαν ἔχει ὁ υἱὸς τ ἀνθρώπου ἐπὶ τ γῆς ἀφιέναι τὰς ἁμαρτίας, but that ye may know the Son of Man hath Power on Earth to forgive Sins;] i. e. of absolving or releasing Men from the temporal Punishments of Sin, whilst he is in his state of Humiliation; for that Christ speaks here only of the temporal Punishments of Sin, is evident, not only from what hath been already said, but also from the effect; Christ only giving him power to rise up, and walk. Moreover, that Christ here speaks of a Power inherent in him, and not only of the Power of God assisting him, as it did the Apostles, when they healed Diseases, is evident; because, had Christ only pronounced, that the Sins of this Paralytick were remitted by God, and the Cure performed by his Power, the Pharisees could have had no cause to be offended with him, and much less to have accused him of Blasphemy.

Lastly, Observe, that by this Power, the Distemper of this Paralytick was healed instantly; which shews, the Power that did effect it, was Divine; that Power only being able instantly to cure Diseases by a word. Hence do the Fathers conclude, our Lord was God as well as Man: So (a) Irenæus, By remitting the Sin, he cured the Man, and manifestly shewed who he was; for, if none can remit Sins but God, and yet our Lord did remit them, and cure the Man, it is manifest, that he was both the Word of God, and the Son of Man, receiving power of Remission of Sins from his Father, as God and Man: And, (b) Novatian, If only God can remit Sins, and yet Christ remitted them, Meritò Christus est Deus, He is truly God.

Ver. 9. A Man named Matthew:] That this Matthew here was the same with Levi, in St. Mark and Luke. See Note on Luke 5. 27. f

Ver. 11. Διὰ τί μετὰ τ τελωνῶν καὶ ἁμαρτωλῶν ἐσθίει ὁ διδάσκαλος ὑμῶν; Why eateth your Master with Publicans and Sinners?] The Pharisees looked upon Publicans and great Sinners, as if they had been Heathens, thinking it a sin even to converse with them, tho' it were to convert them from the evil of their ways; objecting this to the reproach of Christ, that he was a Friend to Publicans and Sinners, Matth. 11. 19. Hence saith our Saviour, of him that would not hear the Church, let him be to thee as a Publican and Heathen; i. e. abstain from any farther converse and familiarity with him, Matth. 18. 17. And if you love them that love you only, or lend to them only that lend to you again, what do you more than others? do not Publicans, and Heathens, Matth. 5. 46. and Sinners, Luke 6. 32, 33. do the same? And they bore the same Character among the Heathens: So the (c) Scholiast upon those words of Aristophanes, Καὶ τελώνου, καὶ φάραγγα, καὶ χάρυβδιν ἁρπαγῆς, a Publican, and a Whirle-pit, and a Gulph of Rapine: And Suidas notes, That ἐβδελύκτο τὸ τελώνου ὄνομα παρὰ τοῖς παλαιοῖς, the very Name of Publican was infamous to the Ancients. Theocritus says, that Bears and Lions were the most salvage Beasts in the Mountains; but in the Cities, τελῶναι Publicans and Sycophants. Apud Stob. Serm. 2. p. 31. And in Apollodorus he is join'd with Thieves and dissolute Men, κλέπτῃ τελώνει βαδιουργεῖ· Stob. Serm. 44. p. 307. (d) Cicero declares, The Name and Office was very grievous to the Greeks, and insinuates, that it was not much less abhorred among the Romans; and well it might be, since Suidas out of an old Author, agrees so exactly with Aristophanes, declaring, That the Life of a Publican was, Παῤῥησιασμὸν βία, ἀνεπιλήμονα ἁρπαγήν, an open and free Violence, and unpunished Rapine, ἀναίσχυντον πλεονεξία, ἀναίδης ἐμπορία, πρόσωπον μὴ ἔχουσα, a shameless Covetousness, an impudent Merchandise, and unreasonable Negotiation: Whence (e) Tacitus not only speaks, De novis acerbitatibus, & illicitis exactionibus Publicanorum, Of the new Grievances and unlawful Exactions of the Publicans; but adds, That Nero therefore was consulting, whether he should take away all Tributes, Idque pulcherrimum donum generi mortalium daret; and St. John Baptist requires them to exact no more than that which was appointed. See Dr. Hammond on the place. g

Prov. 8. 10. Receive Inſtruction, καὶ μὴ ἀργύριον, and not Silver, and Knowledge, ὑπὲρ before Gold, Joel 2. 13. Rent your Hearts, and not your Garments; ſee John 6. 27. 1 Cor. 1. 17. For that theſe words are not to be underſtood abſolutely, is evident, becauſe God had commanded Sacrifices, and therefore could not abſolutely ſay, he would not have them.

i Ibid. Οὐ γὰρ ἦλθον καλέσαι δικαίους ἀλλ' ἁμαρτωλοὺς εἰς μετάνοιαν· For I came not to call the Righteous, but Sinners to repentance.] Where, by the Righteous, we are not to underſtand thoſe who are only righteous in their own Conceits, ſuch as the Phariſees were, who juſtified themſelves before Men, Luke 16. 15. and truſted to themſelves that they were righteous, and deſpiſed others in compariſon of themſelves, Luke 18. 9. for ſuch are not whole, but have great need of the ſpiritual Phyſician, ver. 12. and ſuch eſpecially, the Goſpel calleth to repentance; Matth. 3. 8, 9, 10. Apoc. 3. 17. Moreover, the word Sinners here imports, ſuch Perſons as live in a cuſtomary practice of Sin; ſo that the tenour of their Lives is wicked, and who are therefore to be called to that Repentance which conſiſts in the change of their Lives, from the Service of Sin to Holineſs, from Slavery to Satan, to the Fear of God; and therefore, by the Righteous who need no Repentance, we are not to underſtand thoſe who are entirely free from Sin; for, ſo there is not a juſt Man upon Earth, Job 9. 2. Eccleſ. 7. 20. nor any Man who is not a Sinner, 1 Kings 8. 46. James 3. 2. 1 John 1. 8. but thoſe who are truly and ſincerely righteous, have truly reformed their Lives, who carefully endeavour to abſtain from all known Sins, and ſet themſelves ſincerely to the performance of their whole Duty both to God and Man, and ſo are righteous and accepted in the ſight of God; in which ſenſe, Job was righteous, and eſchewed evil; Zacharias and Elizabeth were righteous, walking in all the Commandments of God, Luke 1. 6. and Simeon, Luke 2. 25. and ſo they needed not that Repentance which conſiſts in the change of the Life, from a courſe of Sinning, to living unto God. So that the Argument here is double; (1.) That tho' familiar Converſe with Sinners was in the general to be avoided, yet was that only on this account, That we may not encourage them in Sin, or be defiled by them; and ſo it could not hinder that great Act of Charity and Mercy to their Souls, which was directed to the Converſion of them from their evil ways; the avoiding of Familiarity with them, being only as the Precept of Sacrifice, and therefore not to be regarded ſo, as to obſtruct that more important Duty, of ſhewing Mercy to their Souls. (2.) That Chriſt was the great ſpiritual Phyſician ſent to heal theſe Sin-ſick Souls, and call them to Repentance; and therefore, in converſing with them, in purſuance of this end, he was ſo far from tranſgreſſing his Father's Precepts, that he was doing the great Work for which he was ſent by him into the World. Note alſo, That this of the Phyſician was a proverbial Saying; for, when (f) Antiſthenes was asked, Why he converſed with wicked men? His Anſwer was, Καὶ οἱ ἰατροὶ μετὰ τῶν νοσούντων εἰσὶν, Phyſicians are with the Diſeaſed: And, when Diogenes ſaith (g) Stobæus, when Pauſanias ſaith Plutarch, was asked, Why he praiſed the Lacedæmonians, but ſtaid not with them? He anſwered, Ὅτι ὁ ἰατρὸς πρὸς τοῖς ὑγιαίνουσιν ὅπου οἱ νοσοῦντες διατρίβειν εἰώθασιν, That Phyſicians converſed not among the Healthy, but among the Sick.

Ver. 14. Διὰ τί ἡμεῖς καὶ Φαρισαῖοι νηστεύομεν k πολλὰ, Why do we and the Phariſees faſt much, but thy Diſciples faſt not?] It is here ſaid by Mr. Clerc, that it was not the Deſign of St John's Diſciples, to enquire ſimply, Why the Diſciples of Chriſt did not faſt, but why they did not follow the Example of all devout Men among the Jews, who did faſt often. But, (1*ſt*,) This ſeems to be a Miſtake; for they ask, why they did not faſt at all? And our Saviour's Plea for them, is, for an entire exemption from that Duty, whilſt he was preſent with them. (2*dly*,) Were it as Mr. Cl. would have it, yet is the Obſervation of the Reverend Dr. Hammond true and pertinent, That the Diſciples of John intended not to ask the reaſon, why they themſelves faſted often? They being ſo well ſatisfied with the reaſon of that, that they wonder why Chriſt's Diſciples did not as they did: This being, ſaith he, truly the meaning of their Queſtion; ſince we faſt ſo devoutly, why do not thy Diſciples do this as well as we?

Ver. 15. Μὴ δύνανται οἱ υἱοὶ τοῦ νυμφῶνος πενθεῖν; Can the Children of the Bride-chamber mourn, as long as the Bridegroom is with them?] The Sons of the Bride-chamber are thoſe who were admitted into it, ſtiled by the Grecians παράνυμφοι and παράχορροι· by the Latins, Pronubi; by the Jews, Shoſhebinim; and their buſineſs was, to enter into the Bride-chamber, and to rejoice and exhilarate themſelves with the Bridegroom, during the time of the Marriage Feſtival; which was, ſaith Dr. Lightfoot on the place, ſeven Days; and theſe were uſually φίλοι τοῦ νυμφίου, the Friends or Kindred of the Bridegroom: Whence, St. John Baptiſt repreſents himſelf, as rejoicing to hear the Voice of the Bridegroom, as being one of his Friends, John 3. 29. So then the Argument runs thus; I am the Bridegroom, and the Church is my Bride; as long as I am here, laſts the Marriage-Feaſt, and my Diſciples are are the Children, and Friends of the Bridegroom, and ſo are not to mourn, but to rejoice with me whilſt this time laſts; at my Death and Departure from them, this Bridegroom will be taken from them, and then will be the time for them to faſt, and mourn.

m Ver. 16, 17. Οὐδεὶς ὃ ἐπιβάλλει ἐπίβλημα ῥάκους ἀγνάφου ἐπὶ ἱματίῳ παλαιῷ, No Man putteth a piece of new Cloth to an old Garment.] It is the Opinion of many Fathers and Interpreters, that Chriſt by theſe two Similitudes intended to ſhew, he thought it not fit at their firſt Entrance, and before the Holy Spirit was come down upon his Diſciples, to impoſe the Burthen of Faſting on them, becauſe they were not fitted to bear it, by reaſon of their Infirmity, and that they might be tempted by ſuch Auſterities, as were frequent Faſtings, impoſed on them, to fall off from him. And hence they add, That Chriſt by his Example, recommends this condeſcenſion to weak and infirm Conſciences to his Diſciples, and to the Miniſters of the Goſpel, viz. not to impoſe upon them, that βάρος ἐπιταγμάτων, weight of Ordinances which they cannot bear: But, againſt this Expoſition, Epiſcopius objects, That no reaſon can be aſſigned, why Chriſt's Diſciples ſhould be leſs able thus to faſt, than the Diſciples of the Baptiſt, or the Phariſees. To which Objection I anſwer, That there were among the Jews, not only Sects of the Eſſens, and Phariſees, who led an auſtere Life, but alſo (h) Schools of the Prophets; and, thoſe frequently lived in Mountains and Deſerts, and were alſo many of them Nazarites, and conſecrated to the Service of God; they had alſo their Academical and private Schools, to train up Men in Diſcipline; and from theſe might come Diſciples to John in the Wilderneſs, and Diſciples to the Phariſees, who might be trained up in thoſe Duties; whereas 'tis certain, that the Diſciples of our Lord were choſen from their Fiſhing-Trade, and ſo came to him wholly unacquainted with, and ſo unfitted for thoſe Auſterities. His Interpretation is therefore this, That it is as unfit or unſeemly for his Diſciples to faſt, whilſt he is preſent with them, as it is to ſew a piece of new Cloth to an old, or to put new Wine into old Bottles; in which Interpretation, I cannot acquieſce, becauſe it is manifeſt from both theſe Similitudes, That our Lord repreſents not the unfitneſs, but the hurt and damage of doing either of theſe things, viz. that the doing of the firſt would make the Rent worſe; the doing of the ſecond, would endanger the breaking the Bottles, and the ſpilling the Wine: To which danger, the ſenſe given by Epiſcopius, hath no reſpect.

n Ver. 18. Ἄρχων, a Ruler:] This Ruler being in St. Mark and Luke, ἀρχισυνάγωγος, a Ruler of the Synagogue, it is not reaſonable to conceive, as ſome do, that he was one of the Twenty three Judges that were conſtituted in every City, but rather, that he was the Head, or Ruler of the Synagogue, which was at Nazareth: Of which Rulers we have mention, Acts 13. 15. — 18. 8, 17. Luke 13. 14. See Note on Mark 5. 22.

o Ibid. Ἄρτι ἐτελεύτησεν, Is now dead:] This being in St. Mark 5. 23. ἐσχάτως ἔχει, ſhe is at the laſt Extremity; the words muſt be rendred as in the Paraphraſe, She is by this time dead; and this is evident from the Story, becauſe, as Chriſt was going to the Ruler's Houſe, a Meſſenger comes from it, to tell him, That his Daughter was now dead, Luke 8. 49. which ſhews, that at his coming to Chriſt, ſhe was not ſo, but only at the laſt extremity.

p Ver. 24. Οὐ γὰρ ἀπέθανε τὸ κοράσιον ἀλλὰ καθεύδει, For the Maid is not dead, but ſleepeth.] From this place, the Jeſuits contend for their Equivocations, and mental Reſervations; by which, they certainly deceive the Hearer, who knows not what in their Minds they do conceal, alledging, That when our Lord here ſaith, ſhe is not dead, he reſerved in his Mind, in reſpect of my power, or ſo as to remain under the power of it. But the words of Chriſt were plainly ſpoken to thoſe who were preparing for her Interment, and performing the Funeral Rites belonging to it; and therefore only intimate, ſhe was not ſo dead, as that they needed to make theſe Preparations, he being come to awake her as out of a Sleep.

q Ver. 30. Ὁρᾶτε μηδεὶς γινωσκέτω, See that no Man know it.] That Chriſt ſhould take this care, that his Miracles in healing Perſons, and caſting out of Devils, ſhould not be known, only to avoid vain Glory, ſeems not very reaſonable; this being done ſufficiently by his Declaration, that he did this by the Finger of God, Matth. 12. 28. and that by theſe Works, he ſought not his own Glory, but the Glory of his Father, Joh. 5. 41. — 7. 18. Let it then be noted,

1*ſt*, That when he doth his Miracles among the Heathens, or upon them that dwelt among them, ſuch as were the Syrophœnician Woman, and the Woman of Paneas, or Cæſarea Philippi, he never impoſeth Silence on the Perſon healed, but ſometimes on the contrary, bids them declare what God had done for them; ſo when he had cured the Dæmoniack at Gadara, he bids him go to his Houſe, and his Acquaintance, and tell them what things the Lord had done for him, and how he had ſhewed Mercy even to an Heathen, Mark 5. 19. And tho' he charged his Diſciples to tell no Man among the Jews, that he was the Chriſt, till his Reſurrection, Matth. 16. 20. He doth himſelf declare to the Samaritan Woman, that he was the Meſſiah, Joh. 4. 25, 26. becauſe theſe things would prepare theſe Heathens and Samaritans, when Chriſt was preached to them by his Apoſtles, to receive their Teſtimony.

2*dly*, Obſerve, That the things which he forbids his Diſciples to declare, were not his Miracles, but either his Transfiguration on the Mount, Matth. 17. 9. or that he was the Chriſt, Mark 8. 29, 30. And this he only bad them to conceal, till he was riſen from the Dead; and this he did only, that their Teſtimony of him might not be looked upon as a thing compacted between him and them, but chiefly becauſe they were not fitted to be his Witneſſes of theſe things, till they had received Power from on high, by the coming down of the Holy Ghoſt to do it, Acts 1. 8. For he received before the Teſtimony of John, and appealed to it, John 5. 33. becauſe he was ſent by God to bear witneſs of him, John 1. 6, 7. and becauſe the blazing theſe things abroad by his Diſciples that he was the Meſſiah, ſent by God to be their Saviour, and that God by a Voice from Heaven commanded all Men to obey him; would have ſo far comported with that Imagination of a temporal Kingdom to be erected by him, and look'd ſo like the ſending his Diſciples as his Heralds to proclaim him King, as that it would have given too much occaſion to the Government, to ſuſpect that he deſigned ſome ſuch thing, and too much colour to the Accuſation of the Jews, that he forbad Men to give Tribute to Cæſar, ſaying, that he himſelf was Chriſt a King, Luke 23. 2. Now from the firſt Obſervation we learn, that the reaſon why he was thus concerned to have his Miracles concealed, muſt be ſomewhat peculiar to the Jewiſh Nation; and from the ſecond, that he did this chiefly to avoid all Suſpicion, that he intended to ſet up any temporal Kingdom, or to give occaſion to any Innovation, Sedition, or Diſturbance upon his account. We therefore may ſay,

1*ſt*, With the Reverend Dr. Hammond, that he did this to avoid the Malice of the Scribes, and Phariſees, and the Herodians againſt him, who were ſo far from being convinced by his Miracles, that they not only did blaſpheme them, but oft conſulted how they might entrap him in his words, and get ſomething out of his Mouth, by which they might accuſe him as an Enemy to God and Cæſar. So when he had pronounced his Woes againſt them, the Scribes and Phariſees began to urge him vehemently, laying Snares for him, and ſeeking to get ſomething out of his Mouth, that they might accuſe him (to the Government,) Luke 11. 53, 54. When in the Parable of the Kingdom of Heaven, he had told them what was like to be their Fate, they ſend out their Diſciples with the Phariſees to entrap him in his Words, and to put the Queſtion to him, Is it lawful to give Tribute to Cæſar, or not? Matth. 22. 15, 18. And when he doth but covertly declare himſelf to be the Son of God, they are ready to ſtone him for it, John 8. 59. — 10. 31. And at his Miracles they were ſo incenſed as to think of nothing leſs than cutting him off; and thus when he cured the Man that had the wither'd Hand, the Phariſees and Herodians take counſel together how they might deſtroy him, Mark 3. 6. Thus when the People hearing his words, and ſeeing his Miracles, began to be convinced by them, and to ſay that he was the Chriſt; the Phariſees and High-Prieſts hearing that they murmured ſuch things concerning him, ſend forth their Servants to apprehend him; John 7. 30, 31, 32. when he had raiſed Lazarus, the Chief Prieſts and Phariſees conclude that 'twas expedient that he ſhould die, and ſend forth their Commands, that if any one knew where he was, he ſhould declare it, that they might take him, John 11. 47, 49, 50, 57. That therefore they might not take him off before his time, and that they might have leſs occaſion to do it for his Popularity, or the reſort of Multitudes unto him, he commands his Miracles ſhould be concealed; and when they could not be ſo, he departs from the Multitudes into deſert places, and when his Fame was ſpread forth in one Country round about, he departs thence into ſome other place. But,

2*dly*, His chief Deſign in thus concealing that he was the Chriſt, and giving charge not to divulge his Miracles was this, that he might not indulge that pernicious Conceit which had obtained among them, that their Meſſiah was to be a temporal King; for the very Name of their Meſſiah being ſtill in their Targums, Meſſiah the King, and they ſpeaking ſo much of his Kingdom, and Dominion over the Nations, his delivering Iſrael, and ſubduing their Enemies; had our Lord openly declared himſelf the Meſſiah before his Reſurrection, and Exaltation to the right Hand of God, they would eaſily have made this Inference, that therefore he muſt be their King, their Deliverer, and the ſubduer of their Enemies, and would have attempted by Tumults, and ſeditions to ſet up his Kingdom: Thus when he had fed five thouſand with five little Loaves and two ſmall Fiſhes, they gathering hence, that he was able to make Proviſions for an Army, preſently conclude, that they would take him by force, and make him a King, John 6. 15. And this cauſeth him to depart from them into a Mountain alone. And his Miracles being ſo great a Conviction, that he was that Prophet that ſhould come into the World, this was thought warrant enough for this Attempt, v. 14. Chriſt's Kingdom therefore not being of this World, and therefore not to come with that Pomp, or Obſervation, or to the Ends which they expected, and it being his his great Concern, that no Sedition or Diſturbance of the Civil Government ſhould be laid, either to his Perſon or Doctrine, this ſeemeth to have been the chief reaſon, why he gave charge to thoſe he healed, not to make his Miracles known, and to his Diſciples not to declare that he was the Chriſt.

r Ver. 36. Ὅτι ἦσαν ἐκλελυμένοι, They fainted.] 'Tis certain that Chryſoſtom and Theophylact read here ἐσκυλμένοι, they were toſſed and wearied, either with the Burthens of the Scribes and Phariſees, or with going from one of theſe falſe Guides to another; from thoſe that bound, to thoſe that looſed the ſame thing. But our reading, they were ſcattered one from another, comports beſt with the Similitude of being as Sheep without a Shepherd.

s Ver. 37. Ὁ μὲν θερισμὸς πολὺς, The Harveſt indeed is great, but the Labourers few, &c.] From this Diſcourſe of Chriſt we learn theſe things, worthy to be regarded by all the Paſtors of Chriſt's Flock, viz.

1*ſt*, That he who doth not inſtruct his Flock in the ſincere Milk of the Word, and acquaint them with the things belonging to their eternal Peace, from an Heart full of Love to God, and to the Souls committed to his Charge, deſerves not the Name of a true Shepherd; for the want of theſe things in the Scribes and Phariſees, made Chriſt complain that the Jews were as Sheep without a Shepherd.

2*dly*, That where the Harveſt is great, and there be many who are white for the Harveſt, John 4. 35. or ready to receive Inſtruction, we ſhould be the more diligent, and laborious to afford it to them.

3*dly*, That in ſuch caſes, when either we are not called to that Work, or are placed in another Station, we ſhould pray fervently, that God would raiſe up Men fitted for their Inſtruction, and zealous for his Glory, and the good of Souls.

CHAP. X.

1. AND when he had called to him his a twelve Diſciples, he gave them [a] Power againſt unclean Spirits, to caſt them out, and to heal all manner of Sickneſs, and all manner of Diſeaſes; (as they went preaching in his Name.)

2. Now the Names of the twelve Apoſtles
b are theſe, the [b] firſt, Simon who is called Peter, and Andrew his Brother, James the Son of Zebedee, and John his Brother.

3. Philip, and Bartholomew, Thomas, and Matthew the Publican, James the Son of Alpheus, and Lebbeus, whoſe Sirname was Thaddeus,

4. Simon the Canaanite, and Judas Iſcariot, who alſo betrayed him.

5. Theſe twelve Jeſus ſent forth, (by two and two, Mark 6. 7.) and commanded them, ſaying, Go not (at preſent) into the way of the Gentiles, and into any City of the Samaritans enter ye not.

c 6. But go rather to the [c] loſt Sheep of the Houſe of Iſrael; (to whom this Doctrine of Salvation is firſt ſent, and is to be firſt preached, Acts 2. 26.)

7. And as ye go, preach, ſaying, the Kingdom of Heaven is at hand, (i. e. the Kingdom of the Meſſiah is now to be ſet up.)

8. (And in confirmation of this,) Heal the d ſick, cleanſe the Lepers, [d] raiſe the dead, caſt out Devils; freely ye have received (this e power from me,) [e] freely give, (the benefit of it to others.)

9. (Then he commanded them to take nothing by the way, Mark 6. 8. ſaying,) Provide neither Gold, nor Silver, nor Braſs in your Purſes:

10. Nor Scrip for your Journey, neither two Coat, neither Shoes, nor yet [f] Staves; f for the Workman is worthy of his Meat; (and therefore you may reaſonably expect to find it among them, for the benefit of whom you labour.)

11. And into whatever City, or Town ye ſhall enter, enquire who in it is [g] worg thy, (or prepared to receive Inſtruction,) and there abide till ye go thence, (or from that Town.)

12. And when ye come into an Houſe, ſalute it, (ſaying, Peace be to this Houſe.)

13. And if the Houſe be worthy, let your Peace come upon it, (your Bleſſing ſhall reſt on it,) but if it be not worthy, let your Peace
h [h] return to you; (i. e. they ſhall receive no Advantage by it.) h

14. And whoſoever ſhall not receive you, nor hear your words, when ye depart out of that Houſe, or City, [i] ſhake off the Duſt of i your Feet, (for a Teſtimony againſt them, Mark 6. 11. Luke 9. 5. that you count them as unclean, and unfit to be convers'd with any more, becauſe they have rejected the Word of Life propounded, and by your Miracles confirmed to them.)

15. Verily I ſay unto you, [k] it ſhall be k more tolerable for the Land of Sodom and Gomorrah in the (great) day of Judgment than for (the People of) that City; (becauſe the means of Knowledge rejected by them hath been greater, Chap. 11. 23, 24.)

16. Behold, I ſend you forth as (if) Sheep (were ſent,) in the midſt of Wolves; (i. e. on an Employment full of peril from the Men of the World;) be ye therefore wiſe as Serpents.

pents, (i. e. as prudent and wary as they are to preſerve themſelves from Danger,) and harmleſs as Doves; (that giving no Offence to any Man, you may give them no occaſion to do evil to you. See Rom. 16. 19.)

l 17. [l] But (and eſpecially) beware of (the) Men (of this Age and Nation,) for they will deliver you up to the Councils (of the Sanhedrim,) and they will ſcourge you in their Synagogues (for preaching in my Name.)

18. And ye ſhall be brought before Governours and Kings for my ſake, for a Teſtimony againſt (Gr. to) them, and (to) the Gentiles, (who believe not the Goſpel preach'd to them, that the Kingdom of God was come to them, Luke 10. 9.)

19. But when they deliver you up, (to m theſe Men,) [m] take no thought how, or what ye ſhall ſpeak; for it ſhall be given you in that ſame hour what ye ſhall ſpeak.

20. For it is not ye that ſpeak, (from your own Abilities,) but (it is) the Spirit of your Father that ſpeaketh in you.

21. And (know this, that when the Goſpel is thus preached by you, the effect of it will be this, that) the Brother (who believeth not) ſhall deliver up the (Chriſtian) Brother to Death, and the Father the Child; and the Children ſhall riſe up againſt their Parents, and cauſe them to be put to Death, (as being Chriſtians.)

22. And ye (alſo) ſhall be hated of all (the) Men (of the World,) for my Name's ſake, but he that endureth to the end (of theſe Days of Perſecution from the unbelieving Jews,) ſhall be ſaved (from the dreadful Deſtruction coming on them.)

n 23. But [n] when they perſecute you in this City, (i. e. in any one City,) flee ye into ano-
o ther; for verily I ſay unto you, [o] ye ſhall not have gone over the Cities of Iſrael, till the Son of Man be come; (with his Roman Army to deſtroy that Nation, and to burn up their Cities.)

24. (And to arm you againſt theſe Perſecutions, conſider that) the Diſciple is not (to expect to be) above his Maſter, nor the Servant (to be) above his Lord.

25. It is enough for the Diſciple to be as his Maſter, and (for) the Servant (to be) as his Lord; if (then) they have called the Maſter of the Houſe Beelzebub, how much more (ſhall they call, or proportionably revile) them of his Houſhold?

p 26. [p] Fear them not therefore, for there is nothing covered that ſhall not be revealed, and hid that ſhall not be known; (i. e. for my Doctrine which now ſeems obſcure, and hidden from the World, ſhall in time be revealed to all Nations, and overcome all the Calumnies, with which 'tis loaded, and all the Oppoſition it ſhall meet with.)

q 27. [q] What (therefore) I tell you in Darkneſs, (or parabolical Expreſſions,) that ſpeak ye in the Light, and what ye hear (from me) in the Ear, (i. e. more privately) that preach ye (publickly, and as it were) upon the Houſe tops.

28. [r] And fear not them which (can only) r kill the Body, but are not able to kill the Soul; but rather fear him, who is able to deſtroy both Soul and Body in Hell.

29. (Moreover you who are ſo highly valued by God, and live under ſuch a peculiar Conduct of his Providence, have no cauſe to fear, what they can do to the Body, for) are not two Sparrows ſold for a Farthing, (as being Birds of little value?) and one of them ſhall not fall on the ground (or die) without (the Providence of) your Father.

30. But (yet this Providence is more particularly concerned for you, for) the very Hairs of your Head are all numbred; (i. e. your minuteſt Concerns are under the eſpecial Conduct of this Providence.)

31. Fear ye not therefore, (for) ye are of more value, (in the Sight of God) than many Sparrows.

32. Whoſoever therefore ſhall (by theſe Conſiderations be encouraged ſtill to) confeſs (or own) me (and my Doctrine) before Men, him will I confeſs alſo (or own at the great Day, as my faithful Servant,) before my Father which is in Heaven.

33. But whoſoever, (notwithſtanding theſe Encouragements) ſhall, (to avoid their Perſecutions) deny me before Men, him will I alſo deny (and diſown at the great Day,) before my Father which is in Heaven.

34. (And) [s] Think not that I am come to s ſend (or cauſe) Peace on Earth, (and ſo to free you from theſe Perſecutions, for) I came not to ſend Peace, but a Sword.

35. For I am come to (preach that Doctrine, which will rather) ſet a Man at Variance againſt his Father, and the Daughter againſt her Mother, and the Daughter-in-Law againſt her Mother-in-Law.

36. And (thus it ſhall happen, that) a Man's Foes ſhall be they of his own Houſhold.

37. (And this Diſpenſation of Providence will diſcover, who is worthy to be owned as my Diſciple, for when this hapneth,) He that loveth Father or Mother more than me, (i. e. is moved by his regard to them, to diſown me, or diſobey my Precepts,) is not worthy of me; and he that loveth Son or Daughter more than me, is not worthy of me.

38. And he that taketh not (up) his Croſs, and followeth after me, is not worthy of me. (See Note on Luke 9. 23.)

39. (And know that by refuſing thus to follow me, Men will be the greateſt loſers, for) He that (by deſerting me in time of Perſecution,) findeth his Life (preſerved for for a little while,) ſhall loſe it, (probably here, and certainly hereafter;) and he that loſeth his Life for my ſake, ſhall find it, (happily improved into Life eternal, and ſo ſhall be the greateſt Gainer.)

40. (Nor ſhall my Kindneſs be confined only to thoſe who ſhew this Affection to my Perſon, but) t He that receiveth you, (preaching in my Name, ſhall be eſteemed as he that) receiveth me, and he that receiveth me, (as he that) receiveth him that ſent me.

41. (And) He that receiveth a Prophet in the Name of a Prophet, (i. e. as one ſent from God, and doth accordingly attend to him,) ſhall receive a Prophet's Reward; and he that receiveth a righteous Man, in the Name of a righteous Man, (i. e. out of true Love to his Righteouſneſs,) ſhall receive a righteous Man's Reward.

42. And whoſoever ſhall give to drink to one of theſe little ones, (i. e. the meaneſt of my Diſciples,) a Cup of cold Water only, in the Name of a Diſciple, verily I ſay unto you, he ſhall in no wiſe loſe his Reward.

a Ver. 1. ΕΔΩΚΕΝ αὐτοῖς ἐξουσίαν πνευμάτων ἀκαθάρτων, He gave them Power againſt (or over) unclean Spirits, to caſt them out, and to heal all manner of Sickneſs, and all manner of Diſeaſe.] ἐξουσία πνευμάτων, here is genitivus objecti, ſay Grammarians; Power of unclean Spirits, being put for power over, or againſt them. So βλασφημία τοῦ πνεύματος, Matth. 12. 31. is expounded, v. 32. Blaſphemy againſt the Holy Ghoſt. See Iſa. 3. 14. Joel. 3. 19. 1 Cor. 9. 12. But that which chiefly is to be obſerved here, is this, that Chriſt here delegates Power to the Apoſtles, and afterwards to the Seventy Diſciples, Luke 10. 9, 17. and after his Reſurrection to Believers in the general, to do this in his Name, Mark 16. 17, 18. And tho' the Apoſtles were not at preſent impowered to impart theſe Gifts to others, yet after our Lord's Reſurrection they were enabled to do it, by baptizing, and laying their Hands upon them; which is ſo eminent a Demonſtration of the Truth of Chriſtian Faith, as hath no Parallel in any Hiſtory, excepting that of Moſes, who laid his Hands upon Joſhua, and he was filled with the Spirit of Wiſdom; Deut. 34. 9. and of Eliſha, on whom the Spirit of Elijah reſted, 2 Kings 2. 15. Tho' this was done, not by any Power, they had to communicate to others the Vertue which reſided in them, but in the caſe of Joſhua by the particular Command of God; Num. 27. 19, 20. and in the caſe of Eliſha by the Will of God; and was a ſignal Confirmation that they were both Prophets ſent by God; and much leſs was it done, as here by Invocation of their Names. For among all the accounts the Heathens have given us of their famous Magicians, and Workers of Wonders, there is not one to be found, who ever pretended to a Power to delegate their Virtue to others, or to impart their Power to them, upon the invocation or uſing of their Names, or belief of their Doctrine. And hence (a) Arnobius, having ſummed up the Miracles our Saviour did, adds, that he not only did them by his Power, Verùm quod erat ſublimiùs multos alios experiri & facere ſui nominis cum adjectione permiſit, but permitted many others to do them, by invocation of his Name; nor did he any of thoſe Miracles which raiſed Aſtoniſhment in others, which he enabled not his little ones, and even Ruſticks to perform. And then he triumphs over the Heathens thus, What ſay you, Oh ye ſtiff and incredulous Minds? alicuine mortalium Jupiter ille Capitolinus hujuſmodi poteſtatem dedit? Did ever that Jupiter whom ye Romans worſhip in the Capitol, give the like Power to any Mortal? and then he concludes this to be the Evidence of a true divine Power, for to tranſfer your miraculous Power to a Man, and to give Authority and Strength to a Creature, to do that which you alone can do, ſupra omnia ſitæ eſt poteſtatis, continentiſque ſub ſeſe eſt rerum omnium cauſas, is an Evidence of one who hath Power over all, and hath the Cauſes of all things at his Beck.

Ver. 2. Πρῶτος Σίμων, Firſt Simon.] It is b the Obſervation of many of the (b) Fathers and Interpreters here, that Simon is here reckoned the firſt of the Apoſtles; not as being ſo in Dignity, but as being firſt called; for which ſee Mark 1. 16. Matth. 4. 18. And therefore this word is omitted both by St. Mark Chap. 3. 16. and St. Luke Chap. 6. 14. which ſure they would not have done, had they imagined it to be ſo remarkable, for eſtabliſhing St. Peter's Monarchy, as the Papiſts do.

Ver. 6. Πορεύεσθε δὲ μᾶλλον πρὸς τὰ πρόβατα τὰ ἀπολωλότα οἴκου Ἰσραήλ, but go rather to the loſt Sheep of the Houſe of Iſrael.] He c calls all Iſrael Sheep, tho' they were not obedient to the Voice of the Shepherd, as being all God's choſen People; he calls them loſt Sheep, becauſe they were in ſo great Peril of being loſt and ruined by the Ignorance and Wickedneſs of their Guides. Apoſtles are firſt ſent, becauſe they were Children of the Kingdom, Matth. 8. 12. to whom the Promiſe of the Meſſiah was made, Gen. 17. 1. and the Adoption and Promiſes eſpecially belonged, Rom. 9. 4. Whence the Apoſtle ſaith, the Goſpel ought firſt to be preached to them, Acts 13. 46. They who by ſheep here, underſtand the Elect by a ſecret Decree of God, muſt, contrary to the Tenor of the New Teſtament, make Chriſt and his Apoſtles to be ſent to none, who rejected the Goſpel; yea, they make Chriſt ſend his Apoſtles to them, whom they could never find; it being not poſſible for them, without a Revelation, to know who were thus the Elect of God.

d Ver. 8. Νεκρὸς ἐγείρετε, Raiſe the Dead.] Dr. Mills here notes, That theſe words are wanting in many Manuſcripts; and, becauſe the Apoſtles raiſed none from the Dead before Chriſt's Reſurrection, he conjectures, that they have been added to the Text: But, againſt this Imagination, let it be noted, That theſe words are to be found in the Vulgar, Syriack, Arabick, and Æthiopick Verſions, and left out only in the later Verſion of the Perſick; and the Argument which he and Grotius uſe for the excluding theſe words from the Text, would exclude alſo the cleanſing of the Lepers, for we read of none cleanſed by them in that interval: But it is to be obſerved, that the words in this Chapter reach to their Miſſion after Chriſt's Reſurrection, and many of them were not fulfilled before: For then only was it, that they were brought before Councils, and ſcourged in the Synagogues, and brought before Kings and Governours, for Chriſt's ſake, ver. 17, 18. then only was the Spirit given them, to teach them how to ſpeak, ver. 19. 20. then were they hated of all Men for his Name. Note therefore, that there was a double Miſſion of the Apoſtles. The

1*ſt*, Was to the Jews only, excluſively to the Gentiles, and Samaritans, ver. 5. and thus they were ſent, two, and two, Mark 6. 7. to go thro' the Cities and Villages of Iſrael to preach, ſaying, The Kingdom of Heaven is at hand, here ver. 7. 23. Luke 9. 5. 6. which Miſſion they compleated before our Saviour's Death, Luke 9. 10, 22, 35. and in this they were only impower'd to heal Diſeaſes, and to caſt out Devils, Matth. 10. 1. Mark 6. 7, 13. Luke 9. 1, 2. But,

2*dly*, They had a ſecond Miſſion after our Lord's Reſurrection conceived in theſe words, as my Father ſent me, ſo ſend I you, John 20. 21. And this was to be executed after the Deſcent of the Holy Ghoſt upon them, by being his Witneſſes in Jeruſalem, and all Judea and Samaria, and to the utmoſt ends of the Earth, Acts 1. 8. And to this Miſſion relates this Commiſſion, to cleanſe the Lepers, and to raiſe the Dead; for, beſides the many things already mentioned, which cannot poſſibly relate to their firſt Miſſion; moſt of the things mentioned in this Chapter, are the very things ſpoken in our Lord's Prediction of the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem, and are there mentioned as things to be done then, Matth. 24. 9. And theſe words, ver. 22. He that endures to the end, ſhall be ſaved, are the very words which Chriſt uſeth, when he ſpeaks of the Deſtruction of the Jewiſh Polity, Matth. 24. 13. Mark 13. 13. and therefore it is obſervable, That St. Mark and Luke, who relate only what appertained to their firſt Miſſion, ſpeak nothing, in the Chapters mentioned, of their Commiſſion to cleanſe the Lepers, or to raiſe the Dead; or, from ver. 15, to 31. as knowing, that theſe things belonged to their ſecond Miſſion.

Ibid. Δωρεὰν ἐλάβετε δωρεὰν δότε, Freely you have received, freely give.] Tho' theſe words are by latter Fathers extended to both the Sacraments, according to thoſe words of Tertullian, Nulla Res Dei pretio conſtat, We receive nothing for the things of God; yet, from the connexion of them with the Commiſſion given to cure Diſeaſes, caſt out Devils, and raiſe the Dead; and from the words of (c) Irenæus, ſaying, The Church did all theſe Miracles, neither ſeducing any Man, nor taking Money for them, ὡς γὰρ δωρεὰν ἔλαβε παρὰ Θεοῦ δωρεὰν καὶ διακονεῖ, for as ſhe hath received them freely of God, ſo ſhe freely miniſters them: I ſay, from theſe things it is evident, That theſe words only relate to the Diſpenſing of miraculous Gifts, and they aſſuredly do wreſt, and very much abuſe them, who plead from them againſt the maintenance of the Miniſtry. For, (1.) Chriſt ſending the Seventy on the ſame Errand, and inveſting them with the ſame Power, bids them into whatſoever Houſe they entred, to eat and drink what was ſet before them, becauſe the Labourer was worthy of his Hire, Luke 10. 7. And many of the Apoſtles, when executing this Commiſſion, even the Brethren of our Lord, and Cephas, did ſo, 1 Cor. 9. 4, 5. St. Paul alſo, who did not uſe this Liberty, not only juſtifies his right to do ſo, but requires them who are taught the Word, to communicate to him that teacheth in all good things, Gal. 6. 6. See the Note there; and pronounceth him that labours in the Word and Doctrine, worthy of double Honour, that is, Maintenance; and ſaith, the Lord hath ordained that they who preach the Goſpel, ſhould live of the Goſpel, 1 Cor. 9. 14.

f Ver. 10. Μηδὲ ῥάβδον, Nor yet Staves:] That the reading of Theophylact, and many MSS. μηδὲ ῥάβδους, nor Staves, is the true reading, is evident from Mark 6. 8. Luke 9. 3. where they are permitted to carry one Staff. And

(c) L. 2. c. 57.

And by this Precept, our Lord taught them, when they were imployed in his Service, to depend upon his Providence for the Proviſion of what they wanted; and therefore, he ſpeaks thus to them, When I thus ſent you forth, lacked ye any thing? Luke 22. 35. it follows, for the Labourer is worthy of his Meat; and therefore, even when they were diſpenſing theſe Miracles, our Lord allows them to receive it: Only Theophylact here notes, That Chriſt here ſays, he is worthy τροφῆς & τρύφης, of his Food, not of Dainties; for it becomes not a Teacher to fair deliciouſly.

g Ver. 11. Ἐξετάσατε τὶς ἐν αὐτῇ ἄξιός ἐστι, Enquire who in it is worthy.] So ver. 13. And if the Houſe be not worthy. Here Camero pronounces them Innovators, who conclude hence, that the reaſon why one is rather called than another, is in Men themſelves, i. e. in any diſpoſition in them to receive the Word; that is, he pronounceth all the Ancients, Innovators: For that they were of this Opinion, is evident from (d) Dally's Teſtimon. Veterum, and from Voſſius in his Pelagian Hiſtory, l. 7. c. 2. and is demonſtrable from theſe Words of Chriſt; for he ſends his Apoſtles to the loſt Sheep of the Houſe of Iſrael, i. e. to thoſe who had ſtrayed from the ſalutary Paſtures of the Law, and the Prophets, to them whom he calls to Repentance, Mark 6. 12. to whom the Goſpel was to be preached, Luke 10. 9. He ſpeaks therefore not of them, who were called already, but who were to be called to Chriſt's Sheepfold, to the Kingdom of Heaven, and to Faith, and Repentance, as the Preparations for entring into it. (2.) In thoſe who are thus to be called, Chriſt manifeſtly ſuppoſeth, ſome would be found by the Apoſtles ἄξιοι, worthy, ſome unworthy; bidding them to enquire, who were ſuch, and who not; and accordingly, to deport themſelves towards them: Now, whence ſhould they know this, but from ſuch Diſpoſitions found in ſome, which rendred them fit for the Kingdom, or from whom they might hope, they ſhould not labour in vain, in calling them to Repentance, and preaching the Kingdom of God to them: So alſo, when he ſends his ſeventy Diſciples on the ſame Errand, bidding them ſay, Peace to the Houſe they come to; and promiſing, that if a Son of Peace were there, their Peace ſhould reſt upon it, Luke 10. 6. What can this Son of Peace be, but one diſpoſed to receive ſuch Perſons peaceably, and kindly, and to hearken to their Admonitions? And is not this the very thing which fitted them for the Divine Benediction? This will be ſtill more evident, from the conſideration of the Perſons oppoſed to the Worthy, and the Sons of Peace; for they were ſuch as were not diſpoſed to hearken to the Word, or to receive the Preachers of it, Matth. 10. 14. Mark 6. 11. Luke 10. 10. for which they were to look upon them as impure; yea, for which, Chriſt pronounces, their Puniſhment would be greater in the Day of Judgment, than that of Sodom and Gomorrah: And muſt not ſuch dreadful Judgments befall them, for want of ſuch Diſpoſitions, as might, and ought to have been in them towards the Goſpel of the Kingdom, and thoſe who came to them with the kind Offer of the Bleſſings of it? They therefore, by refuſing to receive the word, judged themſelves unworthy of eternal Life, Act. 13. 46. when they might, and ſhould have done the contrary; and for want of thoſe good Diſpoſitions, which others had, and they might have had, fell ſhort of the Salvation tendred to them.

Ver. 13. Ἐὰν μὲν ᾖ ἡ ἀξία, But, if it be not worthy, let your Peace return unto you;] that is, They ſhall not obtain the Peace you wiſh them, or receive any benefit from your Wiſhes; ſo this Phraſe ſignifies in thoſe words of the Pſalmiſt, My Prayer returned into my Boſom, Pſal. 35. 14. See Iſa. 55. 11. H

Ver. 14. Ἐκτινάξατε τὸν κονιορτὸν τῶν ποδῶν ὑμῶν, Shake off the Duſt from your Feet.] The Jews thought, the Duſt of Heathen Lands polluted; ſo that the import of this Phraſe is this, Look upon ſuch, as thoſe Heathens whom I have forbid you to preach to; when therefore ye depart from them, ſhake off the Duſt of your Feet, as a Teſtimony that you ſo eſteem them. i

Ver. 15. Ἀνεκτότερον ἔσται γῆ Σοδόμων καὶ Γομόρρων ἐν ἡμέρᾳ κρίσεως, Verily, I ſay unto you, it ſhall be more tolerable for Sodom and Gomorrah in the Day of Judgment, than for that City.] The Gloſs which ſome have put upon theſe words, viz. That the Puniſhment of that City ſhall be greater, when Chriſt comes to execute his Judgment on the Jewiſh Nation, than that which Sodom and Gomorrah ſuffered, for refuſing the Preaching of Lot, doth certainly pervert the import of theſe words. For, (1.) Chriſt ſaith not, it hath been more tolerable for Sodom, but ἔσται, it ſhall be ſo; which ſhews, he had reſpect not to the paſt, but future Sufferings of Sodom and Gomorrah. (2.) Chriſt adds, It ſhall be more tolerable for Sodom, &c. in the Day of Judgment: Now, tho' the Times of the deſtruction of the Jewiſh Nation, are ſometimes ſtiled the Days of Vengeance, yet never are they called the Day of Judgment; but, that Phraſe ſtill relates unto the final Judgment, and perdition of ungodly Men, 2 Pet. 3. 7. that Day to which the Wicked are reſerved to be puniſhed, 2 Pet. 2. 9. See Matth. 12. 36. 1 John 4. 17. So alſo doth the Phraſe ἐν τῇ κρίσει, uſed by St. Luke, k

Chap. 10. 14. concerning the ſame Perſons, always ſignifie, Matth. 12. 41, 42. ſo that the Sodomites ſhall certainly receive a future Judgment. And, who can rationally conceive, that Men polluted with ſuch unatural Luſts, ſhould be fit to come into that place, into which nothing enters that is polluted, or defiled? Rev. 21. 27. Here alſo, it is well noted by Grotius, That the Sin of thoſe who reject the Goſpel, rendring them obnoxious to greater Puniſhment than Sodom and Gomorrah were to ſuffer at the Day of Judgment, becauſe committed againſt greater Light, and greater confirmation of the Truth, muſt be a wilful ſin, which it was in their power to avoid.

l Ver. 17. Προσέχετε ὑ ἀπὸ τ ἀνθρώπων, But beware of Men;] i. e. avoid as much as in you lyes, the Perſecutions you may ſuffer from them: For, as Theophylact here notes, this is to be wiſe as Serpents, viz. to be circumſpect in declining their Snares, and giving them no juſt occaſion to afflict us; and to be harmleſs as Doves, is, to offend no Man by Word, or Example, and ſo to give them no occaſion to do Evil to us.

m Ver. 19, 20. Μὴ μεριμνήσητε πῶς, ἢ τί λαλήσητε, Take no thought how, or what you ſhall ſpeak; for it is not you that ſpeak, but the Spirit of my Father which ſpeaketh in you:] Chriſt promiſing here to his Apoſtles, immediate Aſſiſtance from the Holy Spirit, forbids them, προμελετᾶν, to meditate before-hand what they ſhould ſay, Luke 21. 14. Vain therefore are the Papiſts, who aſcribe the ſame Aſſiſtance to their Fathers met in Councils, ſaying, It is not they that ſpeak, but the Holy Ghoſt that ſpeaketh in them; and yet make Prayers, and Diſputations, and many other things, requiſite to an infallible Deciſion. Vain alſo are the Anabaptiſts, Quakers, and whoſoever do now expect the like Aſſiſtance in Prayer, and Preaching, after theſe extraordinary Gifts are ceaſed, as the Apoſtles had by virtue of them; they may as well pretend to ſpeak with Tongues, and caſt out Devils, as the Apoſtles did, by virtue of the ſame Aſſiſtance.

n Ver. 23. Ὅταν ὲ διώκωσιν ὑμᾶς, &c. But when they ſhall perſecute you in this City, flee into another.] It follows not from theſe words, That a Paſtor, who is fixed to a particular Congregation, may fly from it in Times of Perſecution; their caſe being not the ſame with that of the Apoſtles, whoſe Commiſſion was to go thro' all the Cities of Judea, beginning at Jeruſalem, Acts 1. 8. ſo that they only fled from one part of their Juriſdiction to another, and were ſtill executing the Office and Truſt committed to them.

o Ibid. Οὐ μὴ τελέσητε τὰς πόλεις τ Ἰσραὴλ ἕως ἂν ἔλθῃ ὁ υἱὸς τ ἀνθρώπυ, I ſay unto you, ye ſhall not have gone over the Cities of Iſrael till the Son of Man come] This Dr. Lightfoot underſtands as ſpoken of their firſt Miſſion, and ſays, the meaning of the words is this, You ſhall not have finiſhed it, till the Son of Man riſe from the Dead. But, (1ſt,) In that firſt Miſſion, they met with no Perſecution in any City; but, where they were not received, left it of their own accord, ver. 11. (2dly,) They preſently returned from their firſt Commiſſion to their Lord, and told him all that they had done, and taught in proſecution of it, as we read, Luke 9. 10. Mark 6. 30. (3dly,) This Phraſe, the coming of the Son of Man, doth never, that I know of, ſignifie our Lord's coming at his Reſurrection, but either his coming with the Roman Army to deſtroy the Jews, as Matth. 24. 27, 30, 37, 44. — 25. 13. Mark 13. 26. Luke 18. 8. — 21. 27. or elſe, his coming to the final Judgment, Matth. 16. 27. And ſeeing the Apoſtles were none of them to live till the Day of Judgment, it ſeems neceſſary to underſtand this of his coming to avenge his Quarrel on the Jewiſh Nation. And to this ſenſe, lead the following words; and if you meet with great Obloquies, and Perſecutions, from the Jewiſh Nation, whilſt you are thus ſpreading the Goſpel thro' Judea, (as they did even to the beginning of the War; (e) James, the Brother of our Lord, and other Chriſtians, being ſlain by Ananus the High Prieſt, but three Years before the War broke out;) 'tis only what was done to your Lord; and therefore, what you have equal reaſon to expect, for the Diſciple is not above his Maſter, ver. 24. 25, 26.

p Ver. 26. Μὴ ὖν φοβηθῆτε αὐτὸς ὲν γὰ ἐστι κεκαλυμμμένον, ὃ ὐκ ἀποκαλυφθήσε, Fear ye not them therefore; for there is nothing hidden that ſhall not be revealed.] Theſe words are capable of two good ſenſes: (1ſt,) Let not the Dread of theſe Perſecutors affright you from preaching of the Goſpel, as deſpairing of the ſucceſs of it; for tho' at preſent, it ſeems to be hidden from the World, and it is like to be obſcured a while by the Calumnies of the Jews, and others, I will cauſe it to ſhine thro' all the World, and diſſipate all the Clouds they caſt over it, and break through all Obſtacles, and will render it mighty, to caſt down every high Thought that exalts it ſelf againſt the Knowledge of God, and bring into Captivity every Thought to the Obedience of Chriſt, 2 Cor. 10. 5. or thus; Fear not the Calumnies with which they ſhall load you, (as they did your Maſter, calling him Beelzebub, ver. 25.) for, I will make the Innocency and Excellency of your Doctrine, as clear as the Light; and your Integrity in the diſpenſing of it, and your Patience in ſuffering for it, to redound to your Praiſe, Honour, and Glory, throughout all Ages, and eſpecially

q Ver. 27. Ὁ λέγω ὑμῖν ἐν τῇ σκοτίᾳ εἴπατε ἐν τῷ φωτὶ, &c. What I ſay to you in Darkneſs, ſpeak ye in the Light, and what ye hear in the Ear, that preach ye upon the Houſe-tops;] i. e. what I have ſaid to you in private, and in obſcure Parables, and almoſt as the Jewiſh Doctors, whoſe cuſtom it is to whiſper into the Ear of one, who is to ſpeak what he thus whiſpers aloud to others; (See Dr. Lightfoot and Dr. Hammond on this place) that ſpeak ye openly and clearly in the Audience of all, and as it were, after the manner of the Jews, who having Battlements on the Tops of their Houſes, over which they could look, Deut. 22. 8. 2 Sam. 11. 1. Acts 10. 9. did often from them preach to the People. And ſo, ſaith (f) Hegeſippus, they carried James the Juſt to the Top of the Temple, to preach to the People at the Paſſover.

r Ver. 28. Καὶ μὴ φοβηθῆτε ἀπὸ τῶν ἀποκτεινόντων τὸ σῶμα τῆς ψυχὴν μὴ δυναμένων ἀποκτεῖναι, And fear not them who can kill the Body, but cannot kill the Soul, &c.] Theſe words ſeem to contain a certain evidence, that the Soul dies not with the Body, but continues afterward in a ſtate of ſenſibility: For, (1*ſt*,) That which it is allowed that Men can do to the Body, it is denied that they can do to the Soul; therefore Chriſt ſpeaks not in theſe words of Death eternal, (for that Men cannot inflict upon the Body, or hinder its Reſurrection;) therefore it is ſpoken of a temporal Death. Note, (2*dly*,) That they, who by killing the Body, make the Soul alſo to periſh, till the reunion and reviviſcence both of Soul and Body, do alſo kill the Soul, and ſo do more than they who can kill the Body only: And they, who by killing of the Body, render the Soul or Spirit of a Man inſenſate, and deprived of all poſſibility of thinking, or perceiving any thing, do alſo kill the Soul; for, 'tis not eaſie to perceive, how an intelligible, thinking, and perceiving Being, can be more killed, than by depriving it of all Senſation, Thought, and Perception; the Body it ſelf, being killed by a total privation of its Capacity of Senſe and Motion: Since therefore in St. Luke, chap. 12. 4. Chriſt ſaith, The Adverſaries of the Chriſtians can only kill their Bodies, and here, that they cannot kill their Souls; it remains, that the Soul doth not periſh with the Body, nor is it reduced into an inſenſible ſtate by the Death of it. And, (3*dly*,) Our Lord may well be ſuppoſed to ſpeak here as the Jews would certainly underſtand his words; now, they would certainly thus underſtand him, this being their received Opinion, That the Soul after the death of the Body, was capable of Bliſs, or Miſery, and therefore did continue in a ſtate of Senſation; (g) Man, ſay they, fears an earthly King, who may die to morrow, ſhould puniſh him; and, doth he not fear him, in whoſe hands his Soul is, both in this Life, and the future? And the Author, περὶ αὐτοκράτορος λογισμοῦ, ſaith, (h) Let us not fear them who ſeem to kill the Body; for, them who die for the Law, Abraham, Iſaac and Jacob, receive; but, they who tranſgreſs the Law of God, ſubject the Soul to a great danger of endleſs Torments.

s Ver. 34. Μὴ νομίσητε ὅτι ἦλθον βαλεῖν εἰρήνην ἐπὶ τὴν γῆν — ἀλλὰ μάχαιραν, Think not that I came to ſend Peace upon the Earth; I came not to ſend Peace, but a Sword, ver. 35, 36.] The uſual import aſſigned to theſe words, is this, Tho' all my Exhortations and Inſtitutions tend to conciliate the moſt indearing Love, and to eſtabliſh the firmeſt and moſt laſting Peace in the World; yet, the event of it, thro' Mens Ignorance and Wickedneſs, will be great Variance and Diſcord, even between neareſt Relatives, and Perſons of moſt intimate Acquaintance and Familiarity: Yet is the Expoſition of Dr. Lightfoot very ingenious and true, That he came to ſend upon the Land of Judea, not that Peace, and thoſe Halcion Days which they expected at the coming of their Meſſiah, but a Sword, and continual War, and Diſcords, to deſtroy them, not only by their Enemies, but by their own Hands: Of which, Joſephus gives us a full Comment in his Hiſtory of the continual Wars the Jews had with the Greeks, the Syrians, the Samaritans; which were, ſaith (i) Euſebius from him, στάσεις καὶ πόλεμοι καὶ κακῶν ἐπάλληλοι μηχαναὶ, continual Wars, and Seditions, and Machinations of Evils, with the Prognoſtication of them by a kind of flaming Sword hanging over Jeruſalem for a Year. See Note on Chap. 24. CHAP. XI.

1. AND it came to paſs, when Jeſus had made an end of commanding his twelve Diſciples, (whom he had ſent to preach, before his coming to the Cities of Iſrael, Matth. 10. 23. Luke 10. 1.) he departed thence (from Capernaum, Matth. 9. 1.) to teach and to preach in their Cities.

2. Now when John had heard in the Priſon (of Machærus,) the Works of Chriſt (being told of them by his Diſciples, Luke 7. 18.) he ſent two of his Diſciples, (whom he had called to him for that purpoſe, Luke 7. 19.)

3. And (they, in the Name of their Maſter, Luke 7. 20.) ſaid unto him, Art thou he that a [a] ſhould come, or do we look for another?

4. (And in that ſame hour, that the Diſciples of John came with this Queſtion, Chriſt cured many of their Infirmities, and Plagues, and of evil Spirits, and unto many that were blind he gave ſight, Luke 7. 21. and therefore) Jeſus anſwered, and ſaid unto them, Go, and ſhew John again thoſe things which ye do hear (Luke 7. 22.) and ſee:

b 5. The [b] blind receive their ſight, and the lame walk, the lepers are cleanſed, and the deaf hear, the dead are raiſed up, and the c [c] poor have the Goſpel preached to them.

6. And bleſſed is he whoſoever ſhall not be d [d] offended in me.

7. And as they departed, (or when they were gone,) Jeſus began to ſay to the Multitudes concerning John, (that they might not doubt of the Teſtimony John had given to him, by reaſon of this Enquiry, which ſeemed to render him now doubting, of what he before had teſtified; when you went forth into the Wilderneſs to be baptized of John,) What went you forth into the Wilderneſs to ſee? (was it to ſee) a Reed ſhaken with the Wind? (i. e. a Man wavering in his Teſtimony, and turning this way, and that way, as a Reed ſhaken with the Wind doth.)

8. But what went ye out for to ſee? (was it) a Man cloathed in ſoft Raiment? (a Courtier, or a Paraſite, apt to flatter, and ſpeak rather what will pleaſe others, than what Truth requires?) behold they that wear ſoft cloathing are in King's Houſes; (i. e. ſuch Perſons may be expected rather in King's Palaces, than in Deſerts.)

9. But what went you out for to ſee? (was it to ſee) a Prophet? yea, I ſay unto you, and (one that is) more than a Prophet; (his Doctrine being more excellent, and his Office being not only to foretel, but prepare the way of the Meſſias.)

10. For this is he of whom it is written, (Mal. 3. 1.) behold I ſend my Meſſenger before thy Face, which ſhall prepare thy way before thee. (See Note on Matth. 3. 3.)

11. Verily I ſay unto you, among them (i. e. thoſe Prophets) that are born of Women, there hath not riſen a [e] greater than John the Baptiſt, (on the accounts forementioned;) notwithſtanding, he that is leaſt in the Kingdom of Heaven, (the leaſt Prophet belonging to the Goſpel Diſpenſation) is [f] greater than he.

12. And from the days of John the Baptiſt until now, the Kingdom of Heaven (as it were) ſuffereth Violence, (by reaſon of the great concourſe of People that flie into it with a Fervour, like that which is uſed by a Multitude aſſaulting a City, or Caſtle,) and the [g] violent take it by force.

13. (I ſay from the days of John the Baptiſt;) For all the Prophets and the Law prophelied (of the Meſſiah, and were the Teachers which the people were to hear, Luke 16. 31.) until John. (And ἀπὸ τότε, from that time the Kingdom of God was preached, καὶ πᾶς ὁ βιάζεται εἰσέρχεται, and every one that is willing to enter, preſſeth, or ruſheth violently into it, Luke 16. 16. which ſeems to juſtifie the Expoſition of ver. 12.)

14. And if ye will receive (it, or him as ſuch, I tell you truly) this (perſon) is (that) [h] Elias which was for to come, (according to the Propheſie of Malachy.)

15. He that hath Ears to hear, (i. e. hath Judgment to diſcern, and is diſpoſed to receive the Truth,) let him hear, (and embrace it.)

16. But

16. But whereunto shall I liken this Generation? It is like to Children sitting in the Markets, and calling to their Fellows,

17. And saying, (by way of complaint to them,) we have [i] piped to you, (as they use to do at Festivals,) and ye have not danced; we have mourned to you, (as it is usual in Funerals, and times of Sadness,) and ye have not lamented; (i. e. You will neither follow us when we excite you to Mirth, or Sadness.)

18. For John came neither eating nor drinking, (in the usual manner; his Meat being only Locusts and wild Honey, Matth. 3. 4. and his Drink only such as the Wilderness afforded;) and (because of this Austerity,) they (who refuse, and reject his Baptism, Luke 7. 30.) say, he hath a Devil, (i. e. he is possessed by some melancholly Spirit.)

19. The Son of Man (on the other hand) came eating and drinking (in the usual manner,) and they (who reject him, and his Doctrine,) say (of him,) behold a Man gluttonous, and a wine-bibber, and (by his converse with them,) a Friend of Publicans and Sinners; but (Gr. and) Wisdom is [k] justified of her Children.

20. Then began he to upbraid the Cities, in which most of his mighty Works were done, because they repented not, (at his saying, repent ye, for the Kingdom of God is at hand, tho' he confirmed his Doctrine with the greatest Miracles, saying thus to them;)

21. Wo unto thee Chorazin, wo unto thee Bethsaida; for if the mighty Works which were done in you, had been done in Tyre and Sidon, they would have repented long ago in Sackcloth and Ashes.

22. But (or therefore) I say unto you, it shall be more tolerable for Tyre and Sidon in the day of Judgment than for you.

23. And thou Capernaum, which art exalted unto Heaven, (i. e. advanced highly above others by my Presence with thee, and my Miracles wrought in thee,) shalt be brought down to Hell, (i. e. into a state of extremest Misery,) for if the mighty Works which have been done in thee, had been done in Sodom, it would have remained to this day.

24. But (therefore) I say unto you, it shall be more [l] tolerable for the Land of Sodom in the day of Judgment, than for thee.

25. At that time Jesus [m] answered, and said, I thank thee, O Father, Lord of Heaven and Earth, because thou hast [n] hid these things from the wise and prudent, (in their own Esteem, and the Conceit of others,) and hast revealed them to (those whom they account) Babes. (Rom. 2. 20.)

26. Even so, Father, (hath the event been in my preaching,) for so it seemed good in thy sight.

27. [o] All things (appertaining to my Office) are delivered to me of (i. e. by) my Father, neither knoweth any Man the Father ('s Will aright) save the Son, and he to whomsoever the Son will reveal him.

28. [p] Come (therefore) unto me all ye that labour (under the Bondage and Condemnation of the Law,) and are heavy laden (with the Burthens of Pharisaical Impositions,) and I will give you rest, (ease, and deliverance from these Burthens.)

29. Take my Yoke upon you, (become my Disciples,) and learn (not of these blind Guides, but) of me, for I am (not like those severe and supercilious Doctors, which despise you as People of the Earth, and will not vouchsafe even to converse with Publicans and Sinners, for their Reformation, but I am) meek and lowly in Heart, (and full of pity to every burthen'd Soul,) and (so by coming to me) ye shall find Rest (Peace, Quiet, Satisfaction, and Refreshment) to your Souls.

30. For my Yoke is (not as theirs is, burthensom, and galling, but it is) easie, and my Burthen is light.

Annotations on Chap. XI.

a Ver. 3. ART thou ὁ ἐρχόμενος, he that cometh, or look we for another?]

Note here (1.) that ὁ ἐρχόμενος, he that is coming, was in those days the common Stile for the Messias; so is he stiled by St. John himself, ὁ ἐρχόμενος ὀπίσω μου, he that cometh after me, Matth. 3. 11. John 1. 15, 27. So by the Multitude, saying, Hosanna to the Son of David, blessed is ὁ ἐρχόμενος, he that cometh in the Name of the Lord, Matth. 21. 9. — 23. 39. or as it is Luke 19. 38. ὁ ἐρχόμενος Βασιλεύς, the King coming; and this Name of the Messiah they received from Habakkuk, where he is stiled ὁ ἐρχόμενος, he that shall come, Hab. 2. 3. and from Daniel, where he is stiled ὁ ἐρχόμενος, he that cometh with the Clouds of Heaven, Chap. 7. 13. See Matth. 24. 30. — 26. 64. Heb. 10. 37.

Note, (2*dly*,) that the Baptist could not make this Enquiry on his own behalf, or doubt whether Christ were the Messiah, or not, for he was sent to that very end to bear witness of Christ, John 1. 6, 7, 8. He was taught from Heaven a Sign by which he certainly might know him, v. 33. he proclaims him the Son of God, v. 24. the Lamb of God, v. 36. he bare witness to him, Chap. 3. 26. —5. 33. he declared of him, that he was come from above, from Heaven, that he spake the Words of God, that God had not given him the Spirit by measure, and that he who received ceived his Teſtimony, had ſet to his Seal, that God is true; John 3. from v. 29. to the end. It cannot therefore be imagined, that after all this, he ſhould doubt whether he were the Meſſiah, or not, much leſs can we imagine with many of the (a) Fathers, that the ſenſe of this Enquiry ſhould be this, Tu es qui venturus es in infernum? Art thou he that art to come to Hades, whither I am going, and ſhould I preach thee there? Chryſoſtom indeed produces, but approves not this Opinion; but (b) Origen bids us not to fear to aſſert it, and proves it from this place. Dr. Lightfoot, and others, conceive that John might imagine, as the Jewiſh Nation did, that Chriſt's Kingdom ſhould be temporal, and ſplendid, and ſo expected that Chriſt ſhould deliver him out of Priſon; and that therefore Chriſt ſaith to him, Bleſſed is he that ſhall not be offended in me. But ſeeing σκανδαλίζεσθαι to be offended, ſtill ſignifies to be ſo ſcandalized as to fall off from the Faith, and 'tis by no means credible after the Teſtimonies that John had given of Chriſt, he ſhould be guilty of ſuch Apoſtacy, or Infidelity, eſpecially ſince his Diſciples after his Death reſort to Chriſt, and cleave to him, Chap. 14. 12. it is moſt probable that John ſent theſe Diſciples not for his own, but for their Satisfaction in this matter, and that Chriſt ſaid to them, Bleſſed is he that ſhall not be offended in me.

b Ver. 5. The Blind receive their Sight, &c.] That he ſhould make the Blind to ſee, the Lame to walk, the Deaf to hear, and preach the Goſpel to the Poor, was propheſied of the Meſſiah, Iſa. 29. 18, 19. — 35. 5, 6. — 61. 1. but of the Lepers being cleanſed, and the dead raiſed by the Meſſiah, we read nothing in the Prophets; theſe therefore were the things they heard done at Naim, where the Widow's Son was raiſed, Luke 7. 18. and ſaw done before their Eyes, when Jeſus cured many τῶν μαστίγων of their Plagues, for Leproſie is often ſtiled נגע צרעת the Plague of Leproſie, and the word נֶגַע is by the Septuagint rendred πληγὴ and μάστιξ· it is ſtiled the Plague of Leproſie, Lev. 13. 2, 3, 9, 20, 25, 31, 47, 49, 51, 59. and Chap. 14. 3, 32, 34. and it was looked upon by the Jews as an immediate Chaſtiſement ſent from God. See Note on Chap. 8. 4.

c Ibid. The Poor have the Goſpel preached unto them.] Tho' the Poor here may ſignifie the poor and humble in Spirit, to whom the Goſpel was preached with the beſt Succeſs, they being beſt fitted for, and ſo moſt ready to receive it; yet I ſee no reaſon to recede from the obvious ſenſe of the words, that whereas the Men of mean Condition were by the proud Scribes, and Phariſees, and learned Rabbi's neglected, and contemned as People of the Earth, John 7. 49. Chriſt choſe chiefly to converſe with, and inſtruct them; and the Divine Wiſdom ſaw it fit, that when the things of the Goſpel were hid from theſe Men, who were indeed blind Guides, tho' wiſe and prudent in their own Conceits, they ſhould be revealed to theſe Babes, v. 25, 26. And indeed as the ſubject of the Doctrines of the Scribes, and Phariſees, was chiefly vain Traditions, everting the Law of God, Matth. 15. and the things they impoſed upon them heavy Burthens, and the Diſputes in their Bethi Midraſhoth, vain Janglings; ſo did they teach in ſuch a manner by cabaliſtical Deductions, and allegorical Interpretations, as tranſcended the Capacity of the Vulgar, ſo that they could profit very little, by repairing to their Schools, or hearing their Expoſitions upon the Law, or Prophets; as any one may learn from almoſt all their Expoſitions cited from their Talmuds, and their learned Rabbi's; and therefore our Saviour, in the cloſe of this Chapter, calls them from them to learn of him. See Note on v. 28.

d Ver. 6. Bleſſed is he who ſhall not be offended in me.] i. e. disbelieve, or fall off from me by reaſon of my mean Circumſtances in this preſent World, or becauſe of thoſe Afflictions he may ſuffer for my ſake, or for adhering to my Doctrine.

e Ver. 11. A greater than John,] His Office being more excellent than that of other Prophets, to prepare the way of Chriſt, and fit the People to receive him, by calling them to bring forth Fruits worthy of Repentance, that they might receive Remiſſion of Sins, and baptizing them in the Name of him that was to come after him, that was, of Chriſt, Acts 19. 4. (2*dly*,) His Doctrine being more excellent than theirs, the Goſpel of God beginning then to be preached, Luke 16. 16. the higheſt Precepts of Chriſtian Charity propounded, Luke 3. 11. Chriſt the true Light being then atteſted to by John, that all Men might believe in him, John 1. 7. and he being by him declared to be the Lamb of God that taketh away the Sins of the World, ver. 29. and who ſhould baptize them with the Holy Ghoſt, ver. 33. was the greateſt of Prophets. He was ſo (3*dly*,) by reaſon of the Succeſs, and Efficacy of his Doctrine, f Ibid. Ὁ δὲ μικρότερος, But he that is leaſt in the Kingdom of Heaven is greater than he.] Not the meaneſt Chriſtian, but the meaneſt Evangelical Prophet, or Preacher of the Chriſtian Doctrine is greater than he. (1.) In reſpect of his Office, which was to preach Chriſt crucified, his Reſurrection from the dead, his Exaltation to the right Hand of God, the Bleſſings tendred to thoſe that ſhould believe in his Name; and therefore alſo, (2.) In reſpect of his Doctrine, which was more ſpiritual, and heavenly, than that of John, and more expreſs in the Revelation of the new Covenant eſtabliſhed in the Blood of Jeſus, and founded upon better Promiſes, Heb. 8. 6. (3.) In reſpect of that Divine Aſſiſtance by which their Doctrine was confirmed, for John did no Miracle, John 10. 41. whereas they went forth preaching every where, the Lord working with them, and confirming the words with Signs following, Mark 16. 20. The Holy Ghoſt was not yet, John 7. 39. and ſo he fell not upon John; whence he comparing himſelf with Jeſus, who was from above, John 3. 31. and had the Spirit above meaſure, v. 34. ſaith of himſelf, He that is of the Earth, ſpeaketh of (or from) the Earth, v. 31. whereas the Evangelical Prophets ſpake by the Gifts, and Afflatus of the Holy Ghoſt, which Chriſt ſent down from Heaven on them.

g Ver. 12. And the violent take it by force.] i. e. And they who by their continual Attendance on the Doctrine of it preached to them, their Care to underſtand it, and readineſs to receive it, ſhew their ardent Deſires to be made partakers of it, and do ἀγωνίζεσθαι contend for an Entrance into it, do by theſe means prevail. There is another Expoſition of theſe words to this effect, i. e. the Publicans and Sinners, and the meaner Crowd of the Jews, who are look'd upon by the Scribes and Phariſees as Perſons who have no right to the Bleſſings of the Meſſiah, and ſo as violent Perſons, and invaders, and intruders, embrace the Goſpel, and as it were take it by force from the Scribes and learned Doctors, who challenge the chiefeſt place in this Kingdom, according to thoſe words of Chriſt to them, The Publicans and Harlots go before you into the Kingdom of God, for ye believed not John coming to you in the way of Righteouſneſs, but the Publicans and Harlots believed him, Matth. 21. 31, 32. and that which renders this Interpretation the more conſiderable is this Obſervation, that in the parallel place, Luke 7. 28, 29, 30. inſtead of theſe words, the Kingdom of Heaven ſuffers Violence, we have theſe, and all the People, and the Publicans juſtified God, being baptized with the Baptiſm of John, but the Phariſees and Lawyers rejected the Counſel of God, being not baptized of him.

Ver. 14. Καὶ εἰ θέλετε δέξασθαι, αὐτός ἐστιν h Ἠλίας ὁ μέλλων ἔρχεσθαι· And if you will receive it, that is that Elias which was for to come.] Here note,

1*ſt*, That it was the general Tradition of the Jewiſh Nation, that Elias the Tisbite was to come in Perſon, as the Fore-runner of the Meſſiah of the Jews, that he in Perſon was to anoint him, and make him known unto the People; and that before the Advent of the Son of David, Elias was to come to preach concerning him. This is the import of the Queſtion put to St. John, John 1. 21. Art thou Elias? And of the Saying of the Scribes, Elias muſt firſt come and reſtore all things; Matth. 17. 10. of the Interpretation of the Seventy, Behold I ſend unto you Ἠλίαν τὸν Θεσβίτην, Elias the Tisbite, Mal. 4. 5. and of that Saying of the Son of Sirach, Eccluſ. 48. 10. Elias was ordained for Reproofs in their times, to pacifie the Wrath of the Lord's Judgment before it break into Fury, and to turn the Heart of the Father to the Son, and to reſtore the Tribes of Jacob. And ſuitably to theſe Aſſertions, (c) Trypho the Jew declares, That ἡμεῖς πάντες προσδοκῶμεν τὸν Ἠλίαν χρίσαι αὐτὸν ἐλθόντα, all we Jews expect Elias to anoint Chriſt at his coming. It alſo was the general Tradition of the Writers of the Chriſtian Church, even from the ſecond Century, that Elias the Tisbite, by virtue of thoſe words of Malachy, is to come in Perſon before our Lord's ſecond Advent, to prepare Men for it. This Opinion of the coming of Elias, tradit tota Patrum antiquitas, all the ancient Fathers have delivered, ſaid (d) De la Cerda. Conſtans eſt Patrum, omniumque conſenſu receptiſſima Eccleſiæ opinio, it is the conſtant and moſt received Opinion of the Church, and all the Fathers, ſaith (e) Huetius. Conſtantiſſima ſemper fuit Chriſtianorum opinio, It was always the moſt conſtant Opinion of Chriſtians that Elias was to come before the day of Judgment, ſaith (f) *Maldonate. g Ver. 12. And the violent take it by force.] i. e. And they who by their continual Attendance on the Doctrine of it preached to them, their Care to underſtand it, and readineſs to receive it, ſhew their ardent Deſires to be made partakers of it, and do ἀγωνίζεσθαι contend for an Entrance into it, do by theſe means prevail. There is another Expoſition of theſe words to this effect, i. e. the Publicans and Sinners, and the meaner Crowd of the Jews, who are look'd upon by the Scribes and Phariſees as Perſons who have no right to the Bleſſings of the Meſſiah, and ſo as violent Perſons, and invaders, and intruders, embrace the Goſpel, and as it were take it by force from the Scribes and learned Doctors, who challenge the chiefeſt place in this Kingdom, according to thoſe words of Chriſt to them, The Publicans and Harlots go before you into the Kingdom of God, for ye believed not John coming to you in the way of Righteouſneſs, but the Publicans and Harlots believed him, Matth. 21. 31, 32. and that which renders this Interpretation the more conſiderable is this Obſervation, that in the parallel place, Luke 7. 28, 29, 30. inſtead of theſe words, the Kingdom of Heaven ſuffers Violence, we have theſe, and all the People, and the Publicans juſtified God, being baptized with the Baptiſm of John, but the Phariſees and Lawyers rejected the Counſel of God, being not baptized of him.

Ver. 14. Καὶ εἰ θέλετε δέξασθαι, αὐτός ἐστιν h
Ἠλίας ὁ μέλλων ἔρχεσθαι· And if you will receive it, that is that Elias which was for to come.] Here note,

1*ſt*, That it was the general Tradition of the Jewiſh Nation, that Elias the Tiſbite was to come in Perſon, as the Fore-runner of the Meſſiah of the Jews, that he in Perſon was to anoint him, and make him known unto the People; and that before the Advent of the Son of David, Elias was to come to preach concerning him. This is the import of the Queſtion put to St. John, John 1. 21. Art thou Elias? And of the Saying of the Scribes, Elias muſt firſt come and reſtore all things; Matth. 17. 10. of the Interpretation of the Seventy, Behold I ſend unto you Ἠλίαν τὸν Θεσβίτην, Elias the Tisbite, Mal. 4. 5. and of that Saying of the Son of Sirach, Eccluſ. 48. 10. Elias was ordained for Reproofs in their times, to pacifie the Wrath of the Lord's Judgment before it break into Fury, and to turn the Heart of the Father to the Son, and to reſtore the Tribes of Jacob. And ſuitably to theſe Aſſertions, (c) Trypho the Jew declares, That ἡμεῖς πάντες προσδοκῶμεν τὸν Ἠλίαν χρίσαι αὐτὸν ἐλθόντα, all we Jews expect Elias to anoint Chriſt at his coming. It alſo was the general Tradition of the Writers of the Chriſtian Church, even from the ſecond Century, that Elias the Tiſbite, by virtue of thoſe words of Malachy, is to come in Perſon before our Lord's ſecond Advent, to prepare Men for it. This Opinion of the coming of Elias, tradit tota Patrum antiquitas, all the ancient Fathers have delivered, ſaid (d) De la Cerda. Conſtans eſt Patrum, omniumque conſenſu receptiſſima Eccleſiæ opinio, it is the conſtant and moſt received Opinion of the Church, and all the Fathers, ſaith (e) Huetius. Conſtantiſſima ſemper fuit Chriſtianorum opinio, It was always the moſt conſtant Opinion of Chriſtians that Elias was to come before the day of Judgment, ſaith (f) Maldonate. It is, ſaith (g) Mr. Meade, well known that all the Fathers were of this Opinion. He is to come, ſaith (h) Petrus Alexandrinus, κατὰ τὴν τῆς ἐκκλησίας παράδοσιν, according to the Tradition of the Church, ſaith Arethas Cæſarienſis, according to the unanimouſly received Opinion of the Church. Note,

2*dly*, That in oppoſition to this received Tradition of the Jews, Chriſt here aſſerts two things; (1.) That John the Baptiſt was the very very Perſon of whom it was written, Behold I ſend my Meſſenger before thy Face, v. 10. St. Mark aſſures us of the ſame thing, by ſaying that the beginning of the Goſpel of Jeſus Chriſt, was, by the preaching, and baptizing of this John, as it was written of him, Behold I ſend my Meſſenger before thy Face, who ſhall prepare thy way before thee, Mark 1. 1, 4. (2.) That this Meſſenger deſcribed by the Prophet Malachy, Chap. 3. 1. as one to be ſent before the Face of the Lord, was the very ſame Perſon promiſed by the ſame Prophet in theſe words, Chap. 4. 5. Behold I ſend you Elijah the Prophet before the great and terrible day of the Lord come; and therefore that Elijah could be no other than John the Baptiſt: For when deſcending from the Mount, Chriſt ſaith to his Diſciples, Tell no Man of the Viſion, till the Son of Man is riſen from the dead, Matth. 17. 9. They thinking ſuitably to this Tradition, that this Elias, who appeared in the Mount, was viſibly to appear among them, to anoint the Meſſiah in the ſight of all the People, and order all things belonging to his Advent, ask this Queſtion; ſeeing according to the Doctrine of the Scribes, Elias muſt firſt come, v. 10. and do theſe things, why is it thou forbiddeſt to ſpeak of his Appearance? To this Enquiry our Saviour anſwers, that it is very true there is a Promiſe of an Elias to come, and reſtore all things, v. 11. But I ſay unto you, the Elias promiſed, ἤδη ἦλθε hath come already, and the Scribes knew him not, but did unto him whatſoever they would, v. 12. And then it follows, that his Diſciples underſtood that he ſpake to them of John the Baptiſt, v. 13. They therefore underſtood what the Fathers did not, and others will not learn from Chriſt's plain words, that John the Baptiſt was the Elias promiſed, as the Fore-runner of the great and terrible day of the Lord; whence it doth plainly follow, that they who do not think John Baptiſt, and he only, was the Elias mentioned by the Prophet, muſt miſtake. For our Lord plainly ſaying, That that Elias, of whom the Scribes made mention as the Fore-runner of his Advent, was already come, and giving them no intimation that any other was to be expected after the coming of this one, there can be no pretence from the Tradition of the Scribes, or from the Saying of the Prophet to expect any other. Moreover our Lord, as if he had foreſeen, and had deſigned to confute this Jewiſh Fable, ſpeaks here more plainly thus, All the Prophets and the Law propheſied until John, and if you will receive, i. e. attend to, and believe it, this is that Elias which was for to come. (i) By which words he moſt plainly teacheth, that that Elias of whom the Prophets ſpake as of one for to come, was come already; and makes it manifeſt, that all that was in Malachy, or any other Prophet, ſpoken of Elias, was made good in the Baptiſt, who came in the Power and Spirit of Elias, Luke 1. 16. and was to be underſtood of him alone, as much as if he had in expreſs words aſſerted, that he only was the Elias that was to come, and they were not, by virtue of any Propheſie, to look for, or expect another. For thus our Saviour ſpeaks, The Prophet Malachy ſaith, Behold I ſend my Meſſenger before my Face; Now, I aſſure you, the Baptiſt is the very Perſon of whom this is written; the ſame Prophet ſaith, Behold I will ſend you Elias the Prophet, &c. whence your Scribes teach you to expect the perſonal Appearance of Elias the Tisbite, as the Fore-runner of your Meſſiah; but if you will receive the true interpretation of thoſe words from me, St. John the Baptiſt is that Elias, which according to that Propheſie, was to be his Fore-runner.

Object. 1. But againſt this plain Aſſertion of our Lord it is objected, that in the Tranſlation of the Seventy, the words run thus, Behold I will ſend you Ἠλίαν τ Θεσβίτην, Elias the Tisbite, which denotes Elias in Perſon, and cannot be applied to St. John the Baptiſt.

Anſw. To this I anſwer, That this Argument is of no Force, becauſe it is founded not on the Original, but only on a Tranſlation which is not authentick. (2.) From this Tranſlation it may be probably collected, that this imagination of the Appearance of the Tisbite, obtained then among the Jews; but hence it will not follow that it was true, any more than that the Doctrine of the Millennium, and of Chriſt's temporal Kingdom muſt be true, becauſe they were received by that Nation as ſuch. (3.) By the ſame reaſon, and figurative way of ſpeaking, the Baptiſt may as well be called Elijah the Tisbite as Elijah the Prophet, that only ſhewing the Country of that Prophet, as the other doth his Office; ſo that if the Baptiſt deſerved to be called Elijah the Prophet, becauſe he came in the Spirit and Power of Elijah, he muſt deſerve to be called Elijah the Tisbite on the ſame account, ſeeing Elijah the Prophet was Elijah the Tisbite. But,

2*dly*, It is objected, That the day mentioned, Mal. 4. 5. as the time of the coming of Elijah, is ſtiled, the great and dreadful day of the Lord, which ſeemeth proper to the day of Judgment; whereas the day of Chriſt's firſt coming is not ſo called, but rather an acceptable day, and a day of Salvation.

Anſw. To this I anſwer, That the day of our Lord's firſt coming, conſidered as reaching to the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem, was indeed a very dreadful and terrible day. Thus in the Prophet Joel, we read of a day of the Lord

(i) Vide Pocock. in locum.

Lord deſcribed in the ſame Expreſſions. The Sun ſhall be turned into Darkneſs, and the Moon into Blood, before the great and terrible day of the Lord come; and yet St. Peter, ſpeaking of what was done after our Lord's Aſcenſion, and citing theſe very words, ſaith, This was that which was ſpoken by the Prophet Joel, Acts 2. 16. Moreover, our Bleſſed Lord ſpeaking of the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem, and of the Miſeries that ſhould befal that very Generation, ſaith, Theſe ſhall be the days of Vengeance, ſuch days of Tribulation as never were from the beginning of the World, and never ſhall be afterwards, Luke 21. 22. Matth. 24. 21. Yea, the Tradition of the Jews doth in their Talmud make mention of ſuch great Afflictions which ſhould happen in the days of their Meſſiah unto Iſrael, that happy ſhould he be who did not ſee them: (k) Which notwithſtanding, this day might be ſtiled, an acceptable day, a day of Salvation to them who received our Jeſus as their Saviour, believed in him, and obeyed his Sayings; according to the words of the Prophet Malachy, Behold the day cometh which ſhall burn as an Oven, &c. but to you that fear my Name ſhall the Sun of Righteouſneſs ariſe with healing in his Wings, Mal. 4. 1, 2. Whence after this moſt terrible Deſcription our Lord ſpeaks thus to his Diſciples, Luke 21. 18,19. Be not ye terrified, when theſe things ſhall happen, in patience poſſeſs your Spirits, for there ſhall not one Hair of your Heads periſh: when theſe things come to paſs, then look up, and lift up your Heads, for your Redemption draweth nigh, v. 28.

Object. It farther is objected, that John expreſly denies that he was Elias; for when the Jews from Jeruſalem, and the Prieſts and Levites were ſent to him, ſaying, Art thou Elias? He ſaid, I am not, John 1. 21.

Anſw. If this Objection be of any Force, it will alſo prove that John the Baptiſt was no Prophet; for to the following Enquiry, Art thou a Prophet? He ſtill anſwers no; whereas our Saviour atteſted, That he was a Prophet, yea, and more than a Prophet, Matth. 11. 9. and all the People ſo accounted of him. (l) His meaning therefore is only this, I am not that Elias in Perſon whom you expect, nor am I ſuch a Prophet, as in the days of the Meſſiah you expect to riſe from the Dead. And Expoſitors tell us, he choſe to anſwer thus out of Modeſty, that he might not commend, or bear witneſs of himſelf, thinking it more convenient that Chriſt ſhould thus bear witneſs of him, than that he ſhould aſcribe ſo great a Dignity to himſelf.

Object. 4. It is objected, that after St. John was beheaded, our Saviour ſaith, Elias truly ſhall firſt come and reſtore all things; now how, ſay they, can this be ſpoken as a thing future of John Baptiſt then? This therefore muſt be underſtood of ſome other Elias to come hereafter. This is the ground on which this Doctrine is eſtabliſhed by Juſtin M. that our Lord taught it, ſaying, (m) Ἡλίαν ἐλεύσεσθαι, that Elias ſhall come. And in this he is followed by Theodoret, and many of the Ancients.

Anſw. After that our Lord had uttered theſe words, not in the future, as the Vulgar reads them, but in the preſent Tenſe, Elias cometh, or Elias coming firſt reſtoreth all things, Matth. 17. 11. Mark 9. 11. he adds immediately of the ſame Elias, of whom he had ſaid, He cometh, or he ſhall come firſt, that ἤδη ἦλθη, he is now come, ὅτι ἐλήλυθε, that indeed he was come, Matth. 17. 12. And again, if you will receive it, this Baptiſt is that Elias, ὁ μέλλων ἔρχεσθαι, who is for to come; and when he had ſaid theſe words, then his Diſciples underſtood that he ſpake of John the Baptiſt, i. e. that he meant him, and no other, when he ſpake of an Elias who was for to come.

So that the meaning of our Lord's words is plainly this, True it is, as the Scribes ſay, Elias is to come before the Meſſiah, and it is alſo true, that John is that Elias which was, when Malachy ſpake thoſe words, to come afterwards, but then He was not yet to come when our Saviour ſpake of him, but as he ſaith expreſly, was already come; tho' they who ſaid Elias muſt firſt come, knew him not when he was come. And truly, had our Lord ſpoken of one Elias, viz. John the Baptiſt, and the Prophet Malachy of another; had Chriſt ſpoken of an Elias to come at his firſt Advent, and the Prophets and the Scribes of one to come at his ſecond Advent, he had not anſwered his Diſciples Queſtion, but deluded them. And that the Elias here ſpoken of was to appear at our Lord's firſt coming, is apparent from the Enquiry of the Diſciples: Why, ſay the Scribes, Elias muſt firſt come, before the Son of Man; for the Tradition of the Scribes was, that Elias was to anoint the Meſſiah, and make him known unto the People. And 'tis as evident from our Lord's Anſwer, Elias cometh firſt, i. e. before my Reſurrection, of which I now ſpeak; from this place therefore it never can be proved that any other under that Character, is to appear before his ſecond coming.

Object. It farther is objected, That the Elias mentioned by Malachy, was to turn the Hearts of the Fathers to the Children, and was, according to our Saviour's Acknowledgment, to reſtore, or ſet all things in order; which ſeemeth not to have been done by the Miniſtry of the Baptiſt, who continued but a ſhort time, and did no ſuch things as theſe words ſeem to imply; it remains therefore, that theſe words ſhould be fulfilled by an Elias, who ſhall be the Fore-runner of Chriſt's ſecond Advent.

Anſw. To this I anſwer, That all who will not give the Lie unto the Angel ſent to Zachary, muſt be obliged to confeſs, the Baptiſt did fulfil the Prophechy of Malachy. For, of the Baptiſt he thus ſpeaks, He ſhall be great before the Lord, and many of the Sons of Iſrael ſhall he turn unto the Lord; for he ſhall go before him in the Spirit and Power of Elias, to turn the Hearts of the Fathers to the Children, and the Diſobedient to the Wiſdom of the Juſt, to make ready a People prepared for the Lord: If then John Baptiſt did not fulfil the words ſpoken by the Angel, we muſt confeſs, the Angel was deceived, and Zachary deſerved not the Puniſhment he ſuffered for diſbelieving his Teſtimony; But, if he did fulfil theſe Sayings of the Angel, he alſo muſt fulfil the Words contained in the Prophet Malachy, becauſe the Angel ſpeaketh in the very words of Malachy.

Again, Our Saviour acknowledging, that an Elias was to come before him, and reſtore all things, adds, that he who was to come to reſtore all things, was already come, and was the Baptiſt: He therefore muſt have reſtored all things, or it muſt be confeſſed, that he did not execute his Office, or fulfil what was written of him. Moreover, the Holy Ghoſt, by the Mouth of Zachary, ſpeaks thus concerning John, And thou Child, ſhalt be called the Prophet of the Higheſt; for, thou ſhalt go before the Lord, to prepare his Way, Luke 1. 76. which is the very thing the Prophet Malachy declares to be the Office of his Meſſenger. And, whoſoever ſhall conſider what in the Goſpel is ſaid of John the Baptiſt, and ſhall compare thoſe things with what the Prophet Malachy, and even the Scribes averr'd, That the Elias promiſed ſhould do, will eaſily perceive all that was ſaid, or propheſied concerning Elias, was ſo punctually fulfilled by the Baptiſt, as to cut off all farther expectation of the completion of this Prophecy, by any perſonal Appearance of Elias, before our Saviour's ſecond Advent. (n) For the Prophet ſaith, Behold, I will ſend Elias; and the Goſpel ſaith, There was a Man ſent from God, whoſe Name was John; and, that this John was that Elias which was for to come. The Prophet ſaith of his Elias, that he was to come before the great and terrible Day of the Lord: And in the Goſpel, John is ſaid to come when the Day of Wrath was coming, when the Ax was laid to the Root of the Trees, and every Tree that brought not forth good Fruit, was to be hewn down, and caſt into the Fire, Matth. 3. 10. when He was now appearing, whoſe Fan was in his Hand, to purge his Floor, and gather the Wheat into his Barn, and to burn up the Chaff with unquenchable Fire, Matth. 3. 12. he came at the time, when, ſaith our Saviour, their Houſe was to be left unto them deſolate, Matth. 23. 38. when the deſolation of their City, Nation, and Temple, was irreverſibly at hand; when the Enemies of Jeruſalem were to caſt a Trench about her, and lay her even with the ground, and her Children within her; Luke 19. 43. Here it is ſaid, That this Elijah ſhould turn the Hearts of the Fathers to the Children, &c. i. e. that he ſhould preach to young and old, Converſion and Repentance: And in the Goſpel, it is ſaid of John, That he ſhould turn many of the Children of Iſrael to the Lord their God, that he ſhould turn the Hearts of the Fathers to their Children, and of the Diſobedient to the Wiſdom of the Juſt; that he preached to all the Baptiſm of Repentance, Luke 3. 3. and that with ſuch ſucceſs and good effect, that Jeruſalem, and all Judea, and all the Regions round about Jordan, went out to him, and were baptized of him, confeſſing their Sins, Matth. 3. 5, 6. that all the People and the Publicans juſtified God, being baptized of John, Luke 7. 29. So effectual was his Miniſtry, that many of the Scribes and Phariſees came to his Baptiſm, Matth. 3. 7. and even the Soldiers and the Publicans to be inſtructed by him. Luke 3. 13, 14. He prevailed generally with the Jews to unite in one common Baptiſm, that of Repentance; and, whereas the Tradition of the Scribes taught, That Elias was to anoint the Meſſiah, and make him known to the People, John did baptize him, and declare unto the People, that he was the Lamb of God, John 1. 29. and at his Baptiſm by St. John, he was anointed by the Holy Ghoſt, Matth. 3. 16.

What therefore better can agree, than the Prophecy in Malachy, and the Matter of Fact in the Goſpel?

What can be farther requiſite, to ſhew, That the Perſon who is characterized thus by the Prophet, and who ſo punctually anſwer'd to that Character in the Goſpel, is one and the ſame Perſon, and that no other ought to be expected by virtue of this Prophecy?

Ver. 17. Ἠυλήσαμεν ὑμῖν, &c. ἐθρηνήσαμεν ὑμῖν· We have piped to you, — we have mourned to you.] The Jews had their Tibiæ, or Pipes, ſaith Buxtorf, for two uſes; for Joy, and for great Lamentations. Hence ſaith the Prophet Jeremy, My Heart ſhall ſound for Moab like Pipes, Chap. 48. 35. ſaith Iſaiah like an Harp, Iſa. 16. 11. So (o) R. Salomon ſaith, Tibiæ adhibentur in Nuptiis & in Funeribus, Pipes

Pipes are uſed at Marriages and Funerals: Thus we read of the αὐλητὰι, or Tibicines, preſent at the Death of the Ruler's Daughter, Matth. 9. 23. καὶ ἀλαλάζοντας πολλὰ, and lamenting much; which Greek word ſeems plainly to be derived from חליל, a Pipe; and the Jews ſay, That a poor Iſraelite is bound to procure two Minſtrels, and one Woman to lament at his Wife's Funeral: To this double uſe of Pipes, which Children imitated, our Lord, ſaith Buxtorf, referreth in theſe words, In Voce, חלול, p. 766.

i Ver. 24. Ὅτι γῆ Σοδόμων ἀνεκτότερον ἔσται ἐν ἡμέρᾳ κρίσεως, ἢ σοὶ, It ſhall be more tolerable for the Land of Sodom in the day of Judgment, than for thee.] Here note from theſe words, becauſe they repented not, the Power of Miracles to confirm the Truth of Chriſt's Doctrine, and to prevail with thoſe that heard him to repent ſincerely, according to his Exhortation, Repent ye, for the Kingdom of Heaven is at hand; for had not the Miracles he wrought among them been a ſufficient means to induce them to this Repentance, Chriſt muſt not only have upbraided, but pronounced the heavieſt Judgments againſt theſe Cities, for not doing that which they had no ſufficient means afforded them to perform?

2*dly*, Thoſe words, If the Works that have been done in thee, had been done in Tyre and Sidon, they would have repented, ſeem to bear this ſenſe; if the Exhortations to Repentance, and the Threats made againſt Tyre and Sidon for their Sins, by the Prophet Iſaiah, Chap. 23. 1, 4. Jerom. 25. 22. — 47. 4. Ezechiel, Chap. 26. and Chap. 28. Zachariah 9. 2, 3, 4. had been confirmed to them by ſuch Miracles, as I have done in theſe two Cities, they would have wrought in them ſincere Repentance; for that our Lord here ſpeaks of ſuch Repentance is evident, (1.) Becauſe he ſays, they would have repented in Sackcloth and Aſhes; which is the uſual Deſcription of the moſt full Repentance, as in the caſe of Nineveh, Jonah 3. 5. See Iſa. 58. 5. Jer. 6. 26. Lam. 2. 10. Dan. 9. 3. Judith 4. 15. (2.) Becauſe the Lord here ſpeaks of that Repentance which his Doctrine and Miracles were deſigned to produce in thoſe Cities, and for the want of which he there upbraids them; which ſure muſt be the want not of external, hypocritical, but inward, and ſincere Repentance; nor doth our Saviour ſay, it may be, or 'tis likely they would have repented, but categorically, they would have done it. Note,

3*dly*, That to be exalted up to Heaven, and be brought down to Hell, are allegorical Expreſſions taken from the Old Teſtament, and ſignifying the higheſt Exaltation, and the loweſt Depreſſion. So Iſa. 14. 13, 15. Thou haſt ſaid in thy Heart, I will aſcend into Heaven, &c. but thou ſhalt be brought down to Hell. And Chap. 57. 9. Thou didſt debaſe thy ſelf to Hell. And laſtly, from thoſe words, It ſhall be more tolerable for Sodom, and for Tyre and Sidon in the day of Judgment; to that which hath been noted on Chap. 10. 15. add, that this ſeems to be ſpoken to ſuppreſs the Pride of the Jewiſh Nation, and the Severity of their Judgment upon others; they being wont to ſay, that the whole Jewiſh Nation, ſaving ſome few Hereticks and Apoſtates, ſhould be-ſaved, but that the People of Sodom ſhould have no Portion in the World to come; whereas our Lord declares, that even the Sodomites ſhould have a milder Doom in that great Day, than the unbelieving Jews.

m Ver. 25. Ἀποκριθεὶς εἶπεν, Anſwering ſaid,] This Phraſe is often uſed in the New Teſtament, when nothing had gone before to which an Anſwer could be accommodated; and therefore then it only ſignifies, that ſuch a one ſpake with relation to ſuch a matter, ſaying; ſo it occurs, Matth. 22. 1. Mark 9. 38.—— 11. 14. Luke 13. 14. See the Note there.

n Ibid. Becauſe thou haſt hid, &c.] Here our Saviour doth not thank God that he had hid theſe things from the Wiſe, but that having done ſo, He had revealed them to Babes. So the Apoſtle ſaith, Rom. 6. 17. God be thanked that ye were the Servants of Sin, but now ye have obeyed from the Heart the form of Doctrine delivered to you; that is, that whereas formerly ye were the Servants of Sin, ye have now been obedient to the Laws of Chriſt.

The Wiſe and Prudent here are not Men truly and ſpiritually wiſe, but Men poſſeſſed with carnal worldly Wiſdom, and with a ſwelling Conceit of their Proficiency in Wiſdom, both which things indiſpoſe Men to embrace true ſpiritual Wiſdom, and from theſe God is therefore ſaid to have hid the Wiſdom of the Goſpel, becauſe he permitted them to continue in that Self-conceit, and worldly Mindedneſs, which cauſed them to reject it, as being not agreeable to their Inclinations, and miſtaken Sentiments.

The Babes are thoſe humble, modeſt Perſons, who having a low eſteem of their own Wiſdom, give themſelves up to the Divine Wiſdom, and being free from carnal, and worldly Affections, and having nothing in them to oppoſe this ſpiritual Wiſdom, are fitted to embrace it when it is revealed; it being therefore ſuitable to the Wiſdom, and the good Pleaſure of that God who reſiſts the proud, but giveth Grace to the humble, to make known his Will to Perſons ſo prepared to receive it, our Lord adds, ſo it ſeemeth good in thy ſight.

o Ver. 27. Πάντα μοι παρεδόθη ὑπὸ τοῦ Πατρός μου, All things are delivered to me of my Father.] Here the Note of the Reverend Dr. Hammond is this, that all things here ſeem to belong to Perſons, rather than to things, for of thoſe he peculiarly ſpeaks under the Title of Babes; nor is the neuter Gender any Objection againſt this, it being ordinarily uſed for Perſons. So τὸ ἀπολωλὸς, that which is loſt, Chap 18. 11. is the little ones, v. 14. the loſt Sheep of the Houſe of Iſrael, Chap. 10. 6. So Heb. 12. 13. 1 John 5. 4. and ſo his Paraphraſe runs thus; all that come to me, and believe on me, are by my Father enlightning, and ſtirring up their Hearts, and uſing all powerful and proper means for that end, brought to me, John 6. 37, 44, 45. And none acknowledgeth me but the Father, and they who, by the Miracles which the Father enableth me to do, are attracted by me; as on the other ſide, none acknowledgeth the Father in that manner as he now requires to be acknowledged, but the Son, and he who believes his Doctrine concerning him. See John 1. 18. 1 John 2. 23.—5. 20.

p Ver. 28. Δεῦτε πρός με πάντες οἱ κοπιῶντες καὶ πεφορτισμένοι, κἀγὼ ἀναπαύσω ὑμᾶς, Come unto me all ye that labour, and are heavy laden, and I will give you reſt.] For Explication of theſe words let it be noted.

1*ſt*, That to come to Chriſt, in the Phraſe of the New Teſtament, is to believe in him, and become one of his Diſciples; thus he that cometh to me ſhall not hunger, John 6. 35. is in the following words expounded thus, He that believeth in me ſhall not thirſt. Again, If any Man thirſteth, let him come unto me to drink, ſaith Chriſt, John 7. 37. For he that believeth in me, out of his Belly ſhall flow Rivers of living Water, v. 38. Thus when our Saviour had complained of the Jews, that on him whom God had ſent, they would not believe, John 5. 38. he v. 30. changeth the Phraſe thus, You will not come unto me that you might have Life. Note,

2*dly*, That the taking the Yoke is a Judaical Phraſe, their Doctors ſpeaking frequently of the Yoke of the Law, the Yoke of the Commandments, and the Yoke of the Kingdom of Heaven, which is Chriſt's Yoke. Note,

3*dly*, That the Law of Ceremonies, impoſed on the Jews by Moſes, is ſtiled by St. Paul, ζυγὸς δουλείας, a Yoke of Bondage, Gal. 5. 1. and by St. Peter, a Yoke which neither they nor their Fathers were able to bear, Acts 15. 10. by reaſon of the long and frequent Journies to Jeruſalem, and the great Payments for Tithes, and Offerings, it impoſed upon them, and the Burthens which, beſides this, the Phariſees laid upon them by their Traditions, are ſtiled by our Lord, φορτία βαρέα καὶ δυσβάστακτα, heavy Burthens, and grievous to be born. Note,

4*thly*, That all theſe ceremonial Performances, when obſerved moſt exactly, could not perfect the Obſerver as to his Conſcience, or take away the guilt of Sin, and ſo could give no Peace, or Reſt unto the Soul, whereas being juſtified by Faith in Chriſt, we have Peace with God; Rom. 5. 1. This is the thing the Apoſtle deſigns to eſtabliſh in the Epiſtle to the Hebrews, and this is that to which the words, ἀναπαύσω and ἀνάπαυσις Reſt to the Soul, ſeem plainly to refer; thus Noah had his Name from נוח to reſt, becauſe, ſay they, οὗτος διαπαύσει ἡμᾶς, He ſhall give us Reſt from our Labours, Gen. 5. 29. That is, ſaith Aben Ezra on the place, from the Troubles of our Minds. And when after the Deluge Noah had ſacrificed, God ſmelled an Odour of Reſt, ſaith the Hebrew; ὠσμὴν εὐωδίας, an Odour of ſweet Savour, ſaith the Seventy; that is, ſaith the Targum, He reſted from his Anger, and was appeaſed. Here then our Saviour, who gave up himſelf for a Sacrifice and Oblation of ſweet Savour, Eph. 5. 2. with which which the Father was well pleaſed, repreſents himſelf, as a ſecond Noah, to give reſt to Men, from the Labours and Troubles of their Minds, and procure them Peace and Favour with God, as Noah by his Sacrifice had done.

CHAP. XII.

1. AT that time, (viz.) on the Sabbath day, (following the ſecond day of the Paſſover, Luke 6. 1. See the Note there,) Jeſus went through the Corn, and his Diſciples were an hungred, and began to pluck the Ears of Corn, and (rubbing them with their Hands, Luke 6. 1.) to eat (of the Corn.)

2. But when the Phariſees ſaw it, they ſaid a unto him, behold [a] thy Diſciples do that which it is not lawful to do on the Sabbath day.

3. But he ſaid unto them, have ye not read (a like caſe in) what David (and his Followers) did when he was an hungred, and they that were with him?

4. How he entred into the Houſe of God, (or the Court of the Tabernacle,) and did eat the Shew-bread, which (it) was not lawful (otherwiſe) for him to eat, neither for them which were with him, but only for the Prieſts?

5. Or have ye not read (what is contain'd) in the Law, how (it requires) that on the Sabbath days the Prieſts in the Temple (ſhould do thoſe works, which being done by others would) prophane the Sabbath, and are blameleſs?

6. But (and moreover) I ſay unto you, that in this place is one greater than the Temple; (ſo that if the Temple Service would excuſe their Labour, from being a Prophanation of the Sabbath, who attend on it, much more will the Service which my Apoſtles owe to me excuſe them from Prophanation of the Sabbath, by eating of the Ears of Corn, as they paſs along, that they may be the better able to attend upon my Service.)

7. But if (therefore) ye had known what this meaneth, I will have Mercy and not Sacrifice, (or that God prefers Charity towards them that are in need, even before his own Spiritual Inſtitutions,) ye would not not have condemned the guiltleſs.

(And he (alſo) ſaid unto them, the Sabbath was made for (the ſake of) Man, and not Man for (the ſake of) the Sabbath; and ſo the Reſt required by it muſt yield to the Neceſſities of Man.)

8. For the Son of Man is Lord alſo of the Sabbath; (i. e. he who is emphatically ſo ſtiled is ſo. See Note on v. 2.)

9. And when he was departed thence, he (on another Sabbath day, Luke 6. 6.) went into their Synagogue, (and taught.)

10. And behold there was a Man which had his Hand withered, (and they watched him, Mark 3. 2.) and [b] they asked him, ſaying, Is it lawful to heal on the Sabbath days? b that (if he did, by words, or Actions, juſtifie the doing this) they might accuſe him; (as not of God, becauſe he keepeth not the Sabbath day, John 9. 16. and might have a plauſible Cauſe to kill him, for violating the Reſt required on that day, John 5. 16.)

(Then he, knowing their Thoughts, ſaid unto the Man who had the withered Hand, ſtand forth in the midſt, and he aroſe and ſtood forth: Then ſaid Jeſus unto them, I will (alſo) ask you one thing, (in anſwer to your Queſtion,) Is it lawful on the Sabbath days to do good, or to do evil, to ſave Life, or to deſtroy it? Luke 6. 8, 9. and they held their Peace, Mark 3. 4.)

11. And he ſaid unto them, What Man ſhall there be among you, that ſhall have one Sheep, and if it fall into a Pit on the Sabbath day, will he not lay hold on it, and lift it out (on that day?)

12. How much then is a Man better than a Sheep? Wherefore it is lawful to do well (to Men) on the Sabbath days.

13. Then (looking upon them with Indignation, Mark 3. 5.) ſaith he unto the Man, ſtretch forth thy Hand, and he ſtretched it forth, and it was reſtored whole like as the other.

14. Then the Phariſees (were filled with Madneſs, Luke 6. 11. and) went out, and held a Council againſt him, how they might deſtroy him.

15. But when Jeſus knew it, he withdrew himſelf from thence (with his Diſciples to the Sea, Mark 3. 7.) and great Multitudes followed him, and he healed them all. (See Mark 3. 7, 8, 9, 10, 11.)

16. And charged them that they ſhould not make him known (to the Phariſees, who had conſulted how they might deſtroy him.)

17. [c] That (by this deportment) it might c be fulfilled which was ſpoken by Iſaias the Prophet, ſaying, (Chap. 42. 1.)

18. Behold my Servant whom I have choſen, my beloved in whom my Soul is well pleaſed, I will put my Spirit upon him, and he ſhall ſhew Judgment to the Gentiles.

20. A

20. A bruiſed Reed ſhall he not break, and ſmoaking Flax ſhall he not quench, till he ſend forth Judgment unto Victory; (i. e. he ſhall not ceaſe to exerciſe all Acts of Charity to the Souls of them who are any way diſpoſed to receive it, tho' they be weak in Faith, till he hath planted the Evangelical Diſpenſation compleatly in the World, or till the time come that he ſhall execute his Judgments on the unbelieving ſtubborn Jews.)

21. And in his Name ſhall the Gentiles truſt.

22. Then was brought unto him one poſſeſſed with a Devil, (who had caſt him into a Diſeaſe, that made him) blind, and dumb, and he healed him, inſomuch that the blind and dumb both ſpake and ſaw.

23. And all the People were amazed, and ſaid, is not this the Son of David?

d 24. But when [d] the Phariſees (and Scribes which came from Jeruſalem, Mark 3. 22.) heard it, they ſaid, this Fellow (hath a Devil, Mark 3. 22. and) doth not caſt out Devils, but by Beelzebub the Prince of the Devils; (he being a Violater of the Sabbath, and an Enemy to our Traditions, which are more weighty than the Law.)

25. And Jeſus knew their Thoughts, (and called them,) and ſaid unto them (in Parables, how can Satan caſt out Satan? Mark 3. 23. for) every Kingdom divided againſt it ſelf is brought to Deſolation, and every City, or Houſe divided againſt it ſelf ſhall not ſtand.

26. And if Satan caſt out Satan, (if he aſſiſt me in this Work, whoſe Doctrine is plainly oppoſite to the Concernments of his Kingdom, and who by theſe Miracles caſt him out of it,) he is divided againſt himſelf, how then ſhall his Kingdom ſtand?

e 27. And (moreover,) if I by [e] Beelzebub caſt out Devils, (let me ask you,) by whom do your Children, (who exorciſe them in the Name of the God of Abraham, Iſaac, and Jacob,) caſt them out? therefore they ſhall be your Judges; (i. e. your Judgment, that they do this by the Power of God, ſhall condemn you, who aſcribe the ſame thing done by me in my Father's Name to the Aſſiſtance of the Devil.)

28. But if I, (who profeſs my ſelf to be the f Meſſias,) caſt out Devils by the [f] Spirit of God, then the Kingdom of God is come unto (among) you.

29. Or elſe, how can one enter into a ſtrong Man's Houſe, and ſpoil his Goods, (as I ſpoil theſe Principalities and Powers by theſe Miracles,) except he firſt bind the ſtrong Man (Satan,) and then he will (be able to) ſpoil his Houſe? (I therefore who thus oppoſe his Intereſts and Deſigns, and defeat his Power, can be no confederate with him.)

g 30. [g] He that is not with me (contending againſt Satan's Kingdom,) is againſt me, and he that gathereth not with me (Subjects to God's Kingdom,) ſcattereth (Men) abroad (from it.)

31. Wherefore (this being ſo,) I ſay unto you, all manner of (other) Sin and Blaſphemy ſhall be forgiven unto Men, [h] but the h Blaſphemy againſt the Holy Ghoſt, (which is to come after me,) ſhall not be forgiven unto Men.

32. And whoſoever ſpeaketh a word againſt the Son of Man, (the Meſſias appearing in theſe humble Circumſtances) it ſhall be forgiven him; but whoſoever ſpeaketh againſt (the following Diſpenſation of) the Holy Ghoſt, it ſhall not be forgiven him, [i] neither i in this World, neither in the World to come, (but he ſhall be obnoxious to eternal Judgment, Mark 3. 29.)

33. (Therefore I ſay unto you,) either (take care to) make the Tree good, and (then) his Fruit (will be) good, or elſe (you will make the Tree corrupt, and (ſo) his Fruit (will be) corrupt, for the Tree is known by its Fruit; (and ſo you will be known by the corrupt Judgment which you paſs on me, and on thoſe Operations of the Holy Ghoſt which ſhall teſtifie of me.)

34. O (you that are a) Generation of Vipers, how can ye, being (thus) evil, ſpeak good things? for out of the Abundance of the Heart the Mouth ſpeaketh, (ſo that,)

35. A good Man out of the good Treaſure of the Heart, bringeth forth good things; and an evil Man out of the evil Treaſure (of his Heart,) bringeth forth evil things.

36. But (whatever you may think of thoſe malicious and blaſphemous words you ſpeak againſt me,) [k] I ſay unto you, that every k idle word that Men ſhall (thus) ſpeak, they ſhall give account thereof in the day of Judgment.

37. For by thy words, (if they be good,) thou ſhalt be juſtified, and by thy words, (if they be evil,) thou ſhalt be condemned.

38. Then certain of the Scribes, and of the Phariſees anſwered (ſpake,) ſaying, Maſter, [l] we would ſee a Sign (from Heaven) l from thee.

39. But he anſwered, and ſaid unto them, an evil and adulterous Generation ſeeketh after a Sign, and there ſhall no Sign be given to it, but the Sign of the Prophet Jonas, (lying three days in the Whale's Belly, and then riſing out of it.)

40. For as Jonas was three days and three nights in the Whale's Belly, [m] ſo ſhall the Son m of Man be three days and three nights in the Heart of the Earth.

41. The Men of Nineveth ſhall riſe in Judgment with this Generation, and ſhall condemn it, becauſe they repented at the Preaching of Jonas, (tho' he did no Miracle to convince them that he was a Prophet) behold a greater than Jonas is here.

42. The

42. The Queen of the South, (i. e. of Arabia and Saba lying South of Jeruſalem,) ſhall riſe up in Judgment with this Generation, and ſhall condemn it, for ſhe came from the uttermoſt parts of the Earth, to hear the Wiſ-n dom of Solomon, and behold a [n] greater than Solomon is here.

43. When the unclean Spirit is gone out of a Man, he walketh through dry places, ſeeking reſt, and findeth none.

44. Then he ſaith, I will return into my Houſe from whence I came out, and when he is come, he findeth it empty, ſwept, and garniſhed.

45. Then goeth he, and taketh with himſelf ſeven other Spirits, more wicked than himſelf, and they enter in and dwell there, and the laſt ſtate of that Man is worſe than the o firſt; even [o] ſo ſhall it be alſo to this wicked Generation; Satan caſt out by me and my Diſciples, finding no where elſe ſuch pleaſant deſirable Habitations, or Perſons ſo fitted to receive him again, as you of this Nation are, ſhall come back to you, and finding that Chriſt, whoſe Doctrine ſhall be entertained by the Heathens, hath found no Admiſſion among you, ſhall take a more durable Poſſeſſion of you, and render you ſeven times more the Children Satan than you were before.)

46. While he yet talked to the People, behold his Mother and his Brethren ſtood without deſiring to ſpeak with him; (and they could not come at him, becauſe the Multitude ſat round about him, Mark 3. 32. Luke 8. 19.)

47. Then one ſaid unto him, Behold thy Mother and thy Brethren ſtand without deſiring to ſpeak with thee.

48. But he anſwered and ſaid to him that told him, (and by him to the reſt, Mark 3. 33. Luke 8. 21.) who is my Mother, and who are my Brethren?

49. And (looking round about on them that ſat round him, Mark 3. 34.) he ſtretched forth his Hand towards his Diſciples, and ſaid, behold (thoſe whom I eſteem as) my Mother, and my Brethren.

50. For whoſoever ſhall do the Will of my Father which is in Heaven, the ſame is (as dear to me as) my Brother, and Siſter, and Mother.

Annotations on Chap. XII.

a Ver. 2. Οἱ μαθηταί σου ποιοῦσιν ὃ οὐκ ἔξεστι ποιεῖν ἐν σαββάτῳ, Thy Diſciples do that which it is not lawful to do on the Sabbath day.] I ſhall here in one view give all the Exceptions of the Jews againſt our Saviour, and his Diſciples for violating the Reſt required on the Sabbath day, and our Lord's Defence againſt them. And,

1*ſt*, They here declare that Chriſt's Diſciples by rubbing of the Ears of Corn, and eating that which they had rubbed out, did that which was not lawful to be done upon the Sabbath day. And this, ſaith Maimonides, was forbid, becauſe plucking the Ears of Corn was a kind of reaping; where, by the way, obſerve that they ſeem to be miſtaken, who think the fault objected to the Diſciples was this, that they did break their Faſts, before they had celebrated the publick Offices, againſt the common cuſtom of the Jews, Acts 2. 15. For as it is not intimated at what time of the day they did this, ſo was it againſt the Jewiſh Canons, at what time ſoever of the day it was done: Moreover, the Accuſation is not, that this was not lawful to be done before the Morning-ſervice was ended, but that it was not lawful to be done on the Sabbath day; and our Lord's whole Defence reſpects that only, and not the other ſuppoſed Accuſation; nor is our Saviour's Argument from what the Prieſts did on the Sabbath day applicable to that purpoſe, for tho' they were employed about the Sacrifices, they might abſtain from eating till the morning Sacrifice was offered. This Action of his Diſciples our Lord defends, (1.) By the Example of David and his Followers, who did eat of the Shew-bread, which the Law had appropriated to the Prieſts, and made unlawful for the Laity to eat of; for if the Hunger of David and his Followers made the violation of that ritual Law juſtifiable, the Hunger of his Diſciples muſt equally juſtifie their violation of that ritual Command touching the Sabbath. And even (a) according to the Jews this Example of David contains two things, tending to excuſe the violation of the Sabbath. (1.) That they ſuppoſe that David with his Men thus fled upon the Sabbath day, and yet were not guilty of violating the Reſt of the Sabbath. For thus they teach, our Maſters think it lawful for him whom the Gentiles or Thieves perſue, to prophane the Sabbath for preſervation of his Life; for ſo we read of David, that when Saul ſought to kill him, he fled, and eſcaped; and that he did this on the Sabbath day, they collect from thoſe words, 1 Sam. 21. 7. that Doeg was detained that day before the Lord, i. e. by the Religion of the Sabbath. (2.) That their own Canons allowed the Laity to eat of the Shew-bread for preſervation of Life; for thus ſpeaks (b) Kimchi on the place, our Rabbins of bleſſed Memory ſay, that he gave him him of the Shew-bread, &c. the Interpretation alſo of the Clauſe, yea, tho' it were ſanctified this day in the Veſſel, is this, It is a ſmall thing to ſay it is lawful for us to eat the Bread removed from the Table, it would be lawful for us in this extreme Hunger even to eat the Bread now ſanctified upon the Table, if there were no other; and indeed this Opinion, that it was lawful to violate the Sabbath for preſervation of Life, ſeems plainly to have obtained before the Tranſlation of the Septuagint, who render the words thus, Exod. 12. 16. Ye ſhall do no ſervile work on it, πλὴν ὅσα ποιηθήσε) πάσῃ ψυχῇ, τοῦτο μόνον ποιηθήσε) ὑμῖν, but that which ſhall be done for the ſake of Life, that only ſhall done by you. (2.) Chriſt's ſecond Argument is taken from the work performed Morning and Evening by the Prieſts, in preparing and offering the Sacrifices; this, ſaith Chriſt, by virtue of the ſame Law, and the Authority of the ſame Lawgiver who commanded the Reſt of the Sabbath, was done by the Prieſts upon each Sabbath day; whence it is evident that far more laborious work was to be done by God's Command, upon the Sabbath, to obey the ritual Precepts which concerned Sacrifices; and much more might my Diſciples do that leſſer work of rubbing out ſome Ears of Corn to ſatisfie their Hunger, which is a work of Charity, and to fit them for that higher work of attending me in preaching of the Goſpel. And to this agree thoſe Sayings of the Jews, cited by Dr. Lightfoot on the place, There is no Sabbath at all in the Temple, and the ſervile Works which are done about holy things are not ſervile. In Confirmation of this Argument, our Saviour adds, that all that work by which the Jewiſh Prieſts prophaned the Sabbath, was done only for the Service of the Temple, whereas the Service done by his Diſciples to their Lord, was Service done to one much greater than the Temple, both in reſpect of Dignity, as being a divine Perſon, and of Sanctity, as being not only relatively holy, but ſanctified even in his human Nature, by Inhabitation of the Spirit, and of the Fulneſs of the Godhead in him; what therefore might be done for the Service of the Temple, might much more be done for the Service of one much greater than the Temple. (3.) Our Saviour argues ſtill à comparatis, by way of compariſon, thus; the obſervation of the Reſt preſcribed by the Law, was only the obſervance of a ritual Command, like that of Sacrifice; the feeding of the Hungry was a moral Precept, God therefore by declaring he would have Mercy, rather than Sacrifice, ſufficiently declared he would diſpenſe with theſe ritual Precepts, when the obſervation of them did obſtruct the Rules of Charity and Mercy; and this was alſo ſuitable to that Declaration of the Jew, that to love our Neighbour as our ſelves, is more than all Burnt Offerings and Sacrifices, Mark 12. 33. (4.) Chriſt argues thus, that which is inſtituted for the ſake of another thing, muſt yield to the good of that for whoſe ſake it was inſtituted; but the Reſt of the Sabbath was inſtituted for the ſake of Man tired with the Labours of the Week, therefore it is to yield to the good of Man. (5.) The words following, For the Son of Man is Lord alſo of the Sabbath; or as they are, Mark 2. 28. ὥστε Κύριός ἐστιν ὁ υἱὸς τ ἀνθρώπ, κ τ σαββάτ, are differently interpreted by Learned Men; Grotius conceives, that the Phraſe, the Son of Man, hath no relation to Chriſt, but only ſignifies Man in general; his Reaſons are theſe, the firſt is taken from the connexion of theſe with the foregoing words in St. Mark, thus, The Sabbath was made for Man, not Man for the Sabbath, therefore the Son of Man is Lord alſo of the Sabbath. Now this Conſequence will not follow from the preceding words, if by them we underſtand Chriſt, but it directly follows from them, if by that Phraſe we underſtand Mankind in general. (2*dly*,) Did this relate to Chriſt's Authority over the Sabbath, it ſeems to be an intimation of his Power to abrogate, or diſſolve the Sabbath, which Power he was ſo far from aſſerting, that he declares he came not to diſſolve the Law, but to fulfil it. And they who were ſo highly offended with him for the works of Charity he did upon the Sabbath day, had he openly aſſerted his Power to abrogate it, would have been much more offended with him, and would have needed no leſſer Matter of accuſation againſt him; this being by their Law a Capital Crime. And, (3*dly*,) Becauſe this would have been a plain aſſerting, that he was the Chriſt; whereas he never ſpake thus to the People, or the Phariſees, nor would he ſuffer his Diſciples to declare it: But the Reverend Dr. Hammond, and Dr. Lightfoot, conceive, this Phraſe muſt ſignifie him who is the Son of Man, κατ' ἐξοχὴν by way of Eminence. (1.) Becauſe this Phraſe is uſed eighty eight times in the New Teſtament; and in all other places, doth unqueſtionably ſignifie our Bleſſed Lord. (2.) Becauſe, where his Phraſe occurs, Dan. 7. 13. all the ancient Chriſtians, and even the Jews, expound it, not as Mr. Cl. here doth, of Man in general, but ſay expreſly, this is the King Meſſiah; and that the Rabbins did rightly expound the words of Daniel concerning him: Chriſt therefore ſpeaking of himſelf ſtill in this Language to the Jews, muſt be ſuppoſed to uſe it in the ſenſe they underſtood it in Daniel; and ſo he plainly ſeemeth to interpret himſelf, by ſaying, Hereafter ſhall ye ſee the Son of Man coming in the Clouds, Matt. 26. 64. He ſaying this in anſwer ſwer to the Queſtion of the High Prieſt, Art thou the Chriſt? ver. 63. And, (3.) He who before had argued, that his Diſciples might lawfully do this in his Service, becauſe one greater than the Temple was here, ver. 6. might alſo argue from his Power, as the Prophet ſent from God to the Jews, for the exemption of his Diſciples in caſes of neceſſity, and greater good from the Reſt of the Sabbath, eſpecially ſince Chriſt was only greater than the Temple, as being emphatically the Son of Man: Nor is it difficult to anſwer the Arguments of Grotius. For, (1.) If we render the word ὡσε, denique, as Brugenſis, and Maldonate; or adhuc, moreover, as it is ſometimes uſed in Homer, there will be in theſe words of Mark, no conſequence from the former, but a new Argument like to that of St. Matthew, ver. 6. Here is one greater than the Temple. But, (2.) According to the ordinary import of that word, the conſequence runs plainly thus, The Sabbath was made for the good of Man; ſo that the Son of Man, who came not to deſtroy Men's Lives, but to ſave them, muſt have Power in ſuch caſes, as concern the good and welfare of Mankind, to diſpenſe with the ſtrict Reſt required by the Law of the Sabbath.

And this affords a ſufficient Anſwer to the ſecond Argument of Grotius; it being not aſſerted, that Chriſt here challengeth a Power to abrogate, or diſſolve the Sabbath, but only ſuch a Power as the Jews allowed to their own Prophets in caſes of neceſſity, and of higher importance, to diſpenſe with the Reſt from Labour requir'd by the Letter of it, as he ſufficiently does by juſtifying the Works of Mercy he did on that Day, by this Aphoriſm, that it is lawful to do good on the Sabbath Day.

To his third Argument, I anſwer, That our Saviour not only permits others to aſſert, he was the Chriſt, or the Meſſiah, as in the caſe of Andrew, Joh. 1. 42. of Philip, ver. 46. of Nathaniel, ver. 50. and eſpecially of John the Baptiſt, who was ſent on purpoſe to bear witneſs to him, that he was the Son of God; but he himſelf ſufficiently, and often doth it, declaring not only to the blind Man John 9. 35, 37. that he was the Son of God, but alſo to the Phariſees and Jews, inſomuch that they attempt to ſtone him for it, John 10. 31. and ſaying to them, if ye believe not that I am he, ἐγω εἰμι, Joh. 8. 24, 28. ye ſhall dye in your Sins; which is as much as, I am the Chriſt; for, what is abſolutely ἐγω εἰμι, Mark 13. 6. Luke 21. 8. is, I am the Chriſt, Matt. 24. 5. ſo that our Saviour only did forbid his Diſciples to divulge this before his Reſurrection for the Reaſons aſſigned, Note on Chap. 9. 30.

To theſe Arguments uſed by our Saviour here, we may add two others in St. Luke, where, Chap. 13. 15, 16. Chriſt argues thus, That if they looſed their Ox, or Aſs, from the ſtall on the Sabbath Day, and led them to Water, much more might he looſe a Daughter of Abraham, who had been bound by Satan eighteen Years, on that Day. And, again, Chap. 14. 15. Seeing when your Ox, or Aſs, falls into a Pit on the Sabbath Day, you draw them out of it on the ſame Day, much more may I cure an Hydropick Man on that Day; where the Argument is plainly à minori ad majus; it being a greater charity to work for the benefit of Man on that Day, than for the good of Beaſts; where Chriſt again, as Capellus and Lightfoot have obſerved, argues from the Jewiſh Canons, which permitted them not only to draw Water for their Beaſts, but alſo to lead them out to water on the Sabbath Day; and tho' the latter Jews, from hatred to Chriſt, will not allow the drawing of a Beaſt out of a Pit on the Sabbath, yet is it certain, both from thoſe words of Luke, they could not anſwer him a word, Ch. 14. 6. and from their Canons, cited by Dr. Lightfoot on the place, that they anciently allowed this. And this is ſtill more evident from the words cited from the Septuagint, allowing them to do what was requiſite, πάσῃ ψυχῇ, to preſerve all Life; from whence (*) Tertullian and St. Jerom have obſerved, that the Law allowed them to do on the Sabbath, quod fiet omni animæ, & quæ ad animi ſalutem pertinent, thoſe things which belonged to the preſervation of Life.

Our Lord's laſt Argument is taken from the Law of Circumciſion, which required, that their Children ſhould be circumciſed on the eighth Day, tho' that were the Sabbath; and Circumciſion was a work of conſiderable labour: If then, ſaith Chriſt, the Reſt of the Sabbath might be broken for the Circumciſion of an Infant, tho' that were a Ritual Precept, ſurely it may be ſo, to reſtore Health to a Man who hath been diſeaſed thirty eight Years; and this was alſo ſuitable to the Canons of the Jews; their Wiſe Men ſpeaking thus, They do all things neceſſary to Circumciſion on the Sabbath Day, tho' this may ſeem prophane on that Day. Pirk. Eliez. c. 29. p. 65.

Ver. 10. Ἐπηρώτησαν αὐτὸν λέγοντες, They aſked him, ſaying, Is it lawful to heal on the Sabbath Day?] This is not contrary to what St. Mark, chap. 3. 4. and St. Luke, chap. 6. 9. ſay, that Chriſt asked them; for both are true, that they asked him, Whether it were lawful to heal? And he replies, by ſaying, I will ask you alſo, whether it be not lawful to do good on the Sabbath day? b

Ver. 17. That it might be fulfilled which was ſpoken by Iſaias the Prophet, ſaying, Behold my Servant, whom I have choſen.—He ſhall not ſtrive nor cry.] Here many Phraſes c are to be explained for the due underſtanding of theſe words: As, 1ſt, I will put my Spirit upon him, and he ſhall ſhew Judgment to the Gentiles; where the ſhewing κρίσιν Judgment, being the effect of his having the Spirit upon him, muſt reſpect all the righteous Laws he was to deliver, by virtue of this Unction, in his Father's Name, according to the uſual Acceptation of the word κρίσεις, Judgments, for the Laws of God in the Old Teſtament; as when God is ſaid to have given to his People, δικαιώματα καὶ κρίσεις, Statutes and Judgments, Ex. 1. 25. Deut 4. 5. to teach, ver. 14. and command them to keep his Statutes and Judgments, Deut. 30. 16. Now 'tis obſervable from Mark 3. 6, 7. that when the Phariſees held a Council to deſtroy him, he recedes from them to the Sea of Galilee, whither came to him a great Multitude from Galilee, from Idumea, and beyond Jordan, and from the Parts about Tyre and Sidon; and by teaching them, and doing his Miracles before them, he ſhewed Judgment to the Gentiles.

He ſhall not ſtrive nor cry, neither ſhall any man hear his Voice in the Streets, i. e. he ſhall not be contentious, nor ſet forth himſelf with noiſe, or tumult, or oſtentation of his doings; and this was here fulfilled by his ceaſing to diſpute any longer with thoſe Phariſees, who, when they could not anſwer him a word, conſult how they might deſtroy him; and by his ſtrict charge to the Multitudes he had healed, that they ſhould not make him known.

A bruiſed Reed ſhall he not break, and ſmoaking Flax ſhall he not quench. Here, ſaith St. Jerom, Qui peccatori non porrigit manum, & qui non portat onus fratris ſui, he that ſtretcheth not forth his Hand to the Sinner, and he that beareth not the Burthen of his Brother, he breaks the bruiſed Reed; & qui modicam ſcintillam fidei contemnit in parvulis, and he that contemneth the ſmall Spark of Faith in little ones, quenches the ſmoaking Flax. Now, tho' Chriſt went from that place to avoid the rage of the Phariſees, the Text informs us, that he ceaſed not to heal the Multitudes, and to inſtruct them, ver. 15. Mark 3. 10. And by continuing ſtill ſuch Acts of Charity to the Souls of all that were diſpoſed to hear, tho' they were yet weak in Faith, and by healing all that came unto him for relief, he fully anſwered this Character.

Ἕως ἂν ἐκβάλῃ εἰς νῖκος τὴν κρίσιν, till he bring forth Judgment unto Victory, i. e. according to moſt Interpreters, till he hath made his Goſpel and his righteous Law victorious over all its Enemies; and to this ſenſe, the words of the Prophet, Iſa. 42. 4. till he hath ſtabliſhed Judgment in the Earth, agree. But the Phraſe εἰς νῖκος, doth often ſignifie to the end, to the utmoſt, or for ever. See the Note on 1 Cor. 15. 54. whence others probably interpet the words thus, till the time come, that he ſhall execute his Judgment on the ſtubborn unbelieving Jews, ſo that Wrath ſhall come upon them to the uttermoſt; and they being thus rejected, the Goſpel being taken from them, and their Houſe left deſolate, in him ſhall the Gentiles truſt.

Ver. 24. Οἱ δὲ Φαρισαῖοι εἶπον Οὗτος οὐκ ἐκβάλλει τὰ δαιμόνια εἰ μὴ ἐν τῷ Βεελζεβὰλ, But the Phariſees ſaid, He only caſteth out Devils by Beelzebul the Prince of the Devils.] That which made the Phariſees thus to calumniate our Saviour's Miracles, was this, That they found the People induced by them to believe he was the Son of David, ver. 23. or the Chriſt; thus, when they heard the People murmuring, John 7. 31. the Chief Prieſts and Phariſees ſend men to take him, ver. 32. and this they did, not only from an apprehenſion, that if this Belief obtained, it might bring the Power of the Romans upon them, John 11. 48. but chiefly, becauſe it would put an end to their Credit with, and Authority over the People, they being ſtill repreſented by our Lord, as blind Guides, and the worſt of Hypocrites. d

The word Beelzebul, or as St. Jerom hath it better, Beelzebub, ſignifies the Lord of a fly; which was a Name the Heathens gave not only to Hercules, but even to Jupiter, the Prince of their Gods; as doth (c) Pauſanias in Eliacis, and (d) Clemens Alexandrinus in his Protrepticks, and the Epithets given to him teſtifie. Tho' 'tis more probable that the Jews took this Name from the Philiſtines, where Baalzebub was worſhipped, 2 Kings 1. 6. as the God of Ekron, and what the Heathens fabulouſly write of the Temples of Hercules, and Jupiter, (e) Divinitùs illo neque canibus, neque muſcis ingreſſus eſt, That the Deity kept the Flies from them; that the Jews ſay of their Temple, that, in domo mactationis non conſpecta eſt muſca, A Flie was not ſeen in the Slaughter-houſe, Pirk Avoth. c. 5, 6, 7, 8. Note alſo that as the * Jews held there was one who was, Caput omnium Diabolorum, The chief of all the Devils; ſo alſo did the Heathens, for † Porphyry ſaith, that they who did evil by Enchantments, τούτους μάλιστα καὶ τὸ παρεστῶτα αὐτοῖς ἐκλιμῶσι, chiefly worſhipped them and their Preſident, and that ἡ παρεστῶσα αὐτοῖς δύναμις, the power that preſided over them would

e Ver. 27. Καὶ εἰ ἐγὼ ἐν τῷ Βεελζεβὰλ ἐκβάλλω τὰ δαιμόνια, and if I by Beelzebul cast out Devils, by whom do your Children cast them out?] That it was the custom of the Jews to cast out Devils by the invocation of the Name of the most High, or of the God of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, we learn from Justin Martyr, who speaks to (f) Trypho the Jew thus, If any of you do exorcise Devils by the Name of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, perhaps he will obey you. And from (g) Irenæus, who saith, All things are subject to the most High, and by invocation of his Name even before the Advent of our Lord, men were saved from evil Spirits and all kinds of Demons. (h) Josephus informs us, that God gave this Art to Solomon against Devils, that he should teach it, εἰς ὠφέλειαν καὶ θεραπείαν τοῖς ἀνθρώποις, for the profit and healing of men, and that he left behind him, τρόπους ἐξορκώσεως, those ways of exorcising by which those Devils were so effectually cast out as never to return again. Thus then our Saviour seems to argue, you doubt not but your Exorcists who use the Name of God, the God of Abraham, &c. do cast out Devils by virtue of that Name, 'twill then be matter of your Condemnation, who pass so favourable a Judgment upon them, to pass such an unjust Censure upon me, in whom you see far greater Evidences of the Finger of God, in casting out all manner of evil Spirits, and healing all kinds of Diseases; and whereas Episcopius objects against this Interpretation, that it is not certain that these Exorcisms were used by the Jews in Christ's time; this is an evidence he had not read these Authors, for Josephus doth expressly say, καὶ αὐτὴ μέχρι νυῦ παρ' ἡμῖν ἡ θεραπεία πολλὴν ἰσχύει, That this way of curing Demoniacks did even then prevail among them, and gives an instance of one Eleazer, who before Vespasian, his Sons and Soldiers, τὴν ὑπὸ τῶν δαιμονίων λαμβανομένους ἀπολύσια τούτων, delivered them from Demons who were possessed with them. And Irenæus saith in the forementioned place, Judæi usque nunc hac ipsa advocatione Dæmonas effugant, the Jews to this day expel Devils by this invocation: (i) Theophilus that οἱ δαιμονιῶντες ἐνίοτε καὶ μέχρι τῆς δεῦρο ἐξορκίζονται τῷ ὀνόματι τοῦ ὄντος Θεοῦ, till that very time those that were possessed were exorcised by the Name of the true God. And (k) Origen, that the Names of the God of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, being used by the Jews, ἐν τῷ καλεπάδειν δαίμονας, in the incantation of Devils, did great Miracles; and therefore were used to this effect not by them only, but by all others who us'd Magick and Inchantments. We read Luke 9. 49. of one among the Jews who did cast out Devils by the Name of Jesus, tho' he neither followed him, nor his Disciples; and some conceive this Question of our Lord relates to such, it being a strong Presumption of the Divine Power, and the Mission of Christ, that his Name was so powerful even in their Mouths, who did not own him; but because we read of one only that did this, and find not that the Pharisees thought better of him, than of Christ himself, I prefer the former Exposition of these words.

Ver. 28. Εἰ δὲ ἐγὼ ἐν πνεύματι Θεοῦ ἐκβάλλω δαιμόνια, &c. But if I by the Spirit of God do cast out Devils, no doubt the Kingdom of God is come unto you.] How Christ did Miracles, and cast out Devils by the Spirit of God, see Note on Chap. 3. The Inference of Christ from this is clear, that he was the Messias promised to set up the Kingdom spoken of by Daniel; for seeing in their own opinion their Messias was to erect this Kingdom, that Divine Assistance which proved that he was now come who was the Messiah, must also prove the Kingdom of God was come; and seeing that the Kingdom of Satan was by this Power overthrown, they reasonably might think the Kingdom of God was ready to be set up, and that one stronger than he was come among them, v. 29.

Ver. 30. Ὁ μὴ ὢν μετ' ἐμοῦ κατ' ἐμοῦ ἐστιν, He that is not with me, is against me.] He that sides not with me contending against Satan and his Kingdom, is against me, as being unwilling that his Kingdom should be destroyed. And he that in doing this Work is not against me, but casts out Devils in my Name, tho' he doth not yet follow me, is for me, Luke 9. 49. 50.

Ver. 31. Ἡ δὲ τοῦ πνεύματος τοῦ ἁγίου βλασφημία οὐκ ἀφεθήσεται ἀνθρώποις· But the Blasphemy against the Holy Ghost shall never be forgiven unto men.] Against the Holy Ghost, i. e. against the Miracles done by him, Theop. Of this Blasphemy see the Appendix.

Ver. 32. Οὔτε ἐν τούτῳ τῷ αἰῶνι οὔτε ἐν τῷ μέλλοντι, Neither in this Age, nor in the Age to come.] Hence the Papists argue for the Remission of some Sins in Purgatory after this Life is ended, which are not by God remitted here. But the Scripture knows only two times for the Remission of Sins, one here upon Earth, Matth. 9. 6. to the Believer, and penitent Person; and the other at the day of Judgment, when the great Judge shall pronounce the Sentence of Absolution to all his faithful Servants, when the times of refreshing freſhing ſhall come from the Preſence of the Lord, Acts 3. 19, 20. and they ſhall find mercy in that day, 2 Tim. 1. 18. Chriſt therefore ſaith, this Blaſphemy of the Holy Ghoſt ſhall neither obtain Remiſſion now, nor at the great day of our Accounts; that is, it ſhall not at all be remitted, for that this is the true import of this Phraſe, is evident from St. Mark, ſaying, he that doth thus blaſpheme, οὐκ ἔχει ἄφεσιν εἰς αἰῶνα, ſhall never find Remiſſion, Chap. 3. 29. but is obnoxious to eternal Judgment; and from St. Luke, declaring abſolutely οὐκ ἀφεθήσεται, he ſhall not be forgiven, Chap. 12. 10. This being a common mode of ſpeaking among the Jews; thus (l) R. Eliezer proves, that the Samaritans have no portion in the World to come, becauſe 'tis ſaid, it belongs not to you to build with us in this World, or in the World to come; and a ſick man is introduced, requiring his Son to give him the Water and Meat which the Phyſician had forbidden, threatning if he refuſed, not to forgive him in this World, nor in the World to come; i. e. never to forgive him. And indeed the Jews thought that the Pangs of Death might expiate Sins, but they held, nullam eſſe peccati expiationem poſt mortem, that there was no expiation for Sin after Death, and therefore could not uſe this Phraſe in the Popiſh ſenſe.

k Ver. 36. Λέγω δὲ ὑμῖν ὅτι πᾶν ῥῆμα ἀργὸν· But I ſay unto you, that of every idle word that men ſhall ſpeak, they ſhall give an account at the day of Judgment.] Agreeable to this is that of (m) Plato, κέφων καὶ ψιλενῶν λόγων βαρυτάτη ζημία, Grievous is the Damage of light and volatile words, for a Divine Nemeſis is appointed to overſee theſe things: Now the light idle words in Plato, are plainly words ſpoken of their Parents, or to the Defamation of Perſons they ought to have in Veneration, here then is one ſenſe of the Phraſe, that ſcandalous, ſlanderous reviling of thoſe we ought to venerate, and who have deſerved well of us, will render us obnoxious to Condemnation at the day of Judgment; and to this ſenſe the very Context leads: The ſcandalous defamatory words the Phariſees had here ſpoken of our Saviour's Perſon and Miracles, giving occaſion to theſe words, (n) Cicero farther ſaith, that appellatur à Philoſophis, ἀργὸς λόγος, cui ſi pareamus nihil omnino eſt quod agamus in vita, the Philoſophers call that an idle word, which if we hold to, there is nothing left for us to do, no Service to the Gods, no Acts of Virtue or Charity; ſo that what is obſtructive to Piety and Goodneſs, as was this ſaying of the Phariſees to the Admiſſion of our Saviour's Doctrine, on which the true Love of God, and of our Brother did eſpecially depend, is emphatically ἀργὸς λόγος. Others think that ῥήματα ἀργὰ here ſignifies falſe words, becauſe in the Hebrew דברם בטלים vain words, hath this Signification; as when they ſay, that Propheſie contains the pure Truth, but in Dreams are דברם בטלים falſe things contained; to be ſure the words here intended muſt not ſimply be words unedifying, or which do not directly tend to the Glory of God, from which Men of great Buſineſs, and Converſation cannot be wholly free; but wicked words, proceeding from an evil Heart: For our Lord having heard theſe words of the Phariſees, ſpeaks thus to them, O Generation of Vipers, how can ye being evil ſpeak good things, ſince out of the abundance of the heart the mouth ſpeaketh, v. 34. and v. 35. An evil man out of the evil Treaſure of his Heart, bringeth forth evil things, and then connects them thus, I ſay unto you therefore; whence it is evident that the words here ſtiled idle words, were ſuch as demonſtrated the Speaker to be an evil Man, out of an evil Heart ſpeaking evil words: See Kettlewell of groundleſs Scruples, l. 5. cap. 5.

Ver. 38. Θέλομεν ἀπὸ σοῦ σημεῖον ἰδεῖν, we would ſee from thee a Sign.] They had ſeen a withered Hand made whole, v. 13. a Devil caſt forth, and a blind and dumb Man ſee and ſpeak, v. 22. the Sign which they require farther muſt therefore be a Sign from Heaven, as we read, Chap. 16. 1. Luke 11. 16. viz. the Sign of the Son of Man coming in the Clouds of Heaven, Dan. 7. 13. In this our Saviour doth at preſent refuſe to gratifie them, the time of his coming thus, being after his Reſurrection, even when he was to come to the Deſtruction of their Nation, Matth. 24. 30. And therefore at his Death he ſpeaks thus to them, Verily I ſay unto you, hereafter ſhall ye ſee the Son of Man ſitting at the right Hand of Power, and coming in the Clouds of Heaven, Matth. 26. 64. l

Ver. 40. Οὕτως ἔσται ὁ υἱὸς τοῦ ἀνθρώπου ἐν τῇ καρδίᾳ τῆς γῆς τρεῖς ἡμέρας καὶ τρεῖς νύκτας· So ſhall the Son of Man be in the Heart of the Earth three days and three nights.] m

Object. Againſt the Truth of theſe words it is objected, that Chriſt was in the Sepulchre only two nights, one whole day, and two parts of a day, and ſo could not be there three days and three nights.

Anſw. In anſwer to this Objection note,

1*ſt*, That the Hebrews began their Computation of a natural day, from the evening or night preceding. So we read, Gen. 1. 5. and the evening and the morning were the firſt day. So Dan. 8. 14. unto 2300 evenings and mornings ſhall the Sanctuary be cleanſed. So Lev. 23. 32. from evening to evening ſhall ye celebrate your Sabbath: Hence both S. Mark and Luke obſerve that Chriſt taught in in the Synagogue on the Sabbath Day, Mark 1. 21. 32. Luke 4. 40. and when the Sun was set, and so the Sabbath ended, they brought their sick unto him; so that in their Phrase to say, so many evenings and mornings, days and nights, is the same as to say so many natural days; for in the measuring of any time which contains in it both days and nights, a day is always taken in that sense in which it includes both day and night. Moreover, the Greek Language hath its Compounds, and so is able to express a natural day by the word νυχθήμερον, but the Jews have no such compound words, and therefore cannot otherwise express a natural day, but by these two words, day and night. So Gen. 7. 4. I will cause it to rain upon the Earth forty days and forty nights. 1 Sam. 30. 12. That Egyptian did eat no Bread, nor drink Water three days and three nights. Exod. 24. 18. Moses was in the Mount forty days and forty nights.

2*dly*, Note that 'tis a (o) received Rule among the Jews, that a part of a day is put for the whole; so that whatsoever is done in any part of the day, is properly said to be done that day; since then our Lord was in the Grave one whole natural day, and part of two other natural days, he might truly be said, according to their Computation, to be in it three days and three nights. Note,

3*dly*, That it is very usual to reckon that to be done in so many days, or so many days and nights, which is done so as that the Action begins in any part of the first, and ends in any part of the last day; so 1 Kings 20. 29. They encamped against one another seven days, and in the seventh day the Battel join'd. And Easter saith, Chap. 4. 16. fast ye for me, and neither eat nor drink three days, night or day, I and my Maidens will fast also, and then will I go in unto the King; and yet Chap. 5. 1. she goes in to the King on the third day. So Luke 2. 21. When eight days were accomplished for the Circumcision of the Child, they called his Name Jesus; and yet the day of his Birth, and of his Circumcision, were two of these eight days, and the compleat days were only six. So St. Luke saith, that about eight days after these words, he took Peter, John and James, and went up into the Mount, Luke 9. 28. But St. Matthew, Chap. 17. 1. and St. Mark, Chap 9. 2. tell us it was six days after, i. e. including the day he spake the words, and the day he went up into the Mount, it might be reckoned eight, excluding them, 'twas only six. Since then our Saviour was in the Grave part of Friday, and the evening or night before, must, by the Hebrew Computation, be accounted to that day; seeing he was in the Grave all Friday night and Saturday, seeing he was in the Grave all Saturday night and part of the morning of the day following, and that morning with the precedent evening make a third natural day, he may, according to the Hebrew Computation, be truly said to have been three nights and three days in the heart of the Earth.

Ver. 42. Πλεῖον Σολομῶντος ὧδε, A greater than Solomon is here.] God therefore having promised to Solomon such Wisdom that, as there was none like him before, (among meer Men,) so should there after arise none like unto him, 1 Kings 3. 12. He that was greater in Wisdom than Solomon, must be more than a Man. n

Ver. 45. Οὕτως ἔσται καὶ τῇ γενεᾷ ταύτῃ τῇ πονηρᾷ· So shall it also be to this wicked Generation.] These words seem plainly to apply the preceding Parable to the unbelieving Jews of that Age, and therefore to import that the Devil, who by the Labours of Christ, and of his Disciples, had been cast out of so many of them, finding no rest among the Heathens, from whose Persons and Temples the Christians would every where expel him, and finding the Jewish Nation, by their prodigious Wickedness and obstinate Incredulity, still more prepared than ever to receive him, would return unto them, and render them more incredulous, contumacious, and obdurate, more impure and wicked, hypocritical and blasphemous, than they were before, till he had brought them to Destruction. o

7. And ſome fell among Thorns, and the Thorns ſprang up (with them,) and (overgrowing them,) choaked them, (and ſo theſe Seeds yielded no Fruit, Mark 4. 7.)

8 But other (ſeed) fell into good Ground, and brought forth Fruit (according to the goodneſs of the Ground,) [b] ſome an hundred Fold, ſome ſixty fold, ſome thirty fold. b

9. (And having ſaid this, he added, Mark 4. 9. Luke 8. 8. he) [c] who hath Ears to hear, let him hear. (See Chap. 11. 15.) c

10. And (when he was alone, Mark 4. 10.) d the Diſciples came, and ſaid unto him, [d] why ſpeakeſt thou to them in Parables? (and alſo asked him the meaning of the Parable, Luke 8. 9.)

11. He anſwered and ſaid unto them, (I ſpeak not to you, who prize and improve the Doctrine I impart, in Parables,) becauſe to (ſuch as) you it is given to know the Myſteries of the Kingdom of Heaven, (or what is obſcurely delivered concerning it,) but to them, (who ſlight and neglect what is plainly taught them,) it is not given (to know them.)

12. [e] For whoſoever hath, (i. e. duly improves the Knowledge which he hath,) to him ſhall be given (more,) and he ſhall have more abundance; but whoſoever hath not, (i. e. who by making no uſe of it, is as if he had it not,) from him ſhall be taken away even that he (unprofitably) hath. e

13. (Whence you may learn that,) Therefore ſpeak I to them in Parables, becauſe (they are like to thoſe inconſiderate and ſlothful men of whom it is proverbially ſaid, becauſe of their neglect to act according to their Knowledge, that) they ſeeing ſee not, and hearing they hear not, neither do they underſtand

14. [f] And (ſo by their ſhutting thus their Eyes againſt the Light, and ſtopping their Ears againſt Inſtruction,) in them is fulfilled the Propheſie of Iſaias, which ſaith, by hearing ye ſhall hear and ſhall not underſtand, and ſeeing ye ſhall (or will) ſee, and ſhall (or will) not perceive; (it being with them now, as it was with the ſame People then.) f

15. For this People's Heart is waxed groſs, (hath been made thick or condenſated, ſo that the word cannot pierce into it,) and their Ears are dull of hearing (Gr. they have heard heavily with their Ears,) and their Eyes they have cloſed (againſt the Light,) leſt at any time they ſhould ſee with their Eyes and hear with their Ears, and ſhould underſtand with their Heart, and ſhould be converted, and I ſhould heal them, (and their Sins ſhould be forgiven them, Mark 4. 12.)

16. But bleſſed are your Eyes for they ſee, and your Ears for they hear, (the things belonging to this Kingdom, well worthy of your regard.)

17. For verily I ſay unto you, that [g] many Prophets and righteous Men have deſired to ſee the things which ye ſee, (the Advent of the promiſed Meſſias,) and have not ſeen them, and to hear thoſe things which ye hear, (the Myſteries of the Kingdom of God revealed,) and have not heard them. g

(Mark 4. 13. And he ſaid unto them, know ye not this Parable, and how then will ye know all Parables, as it becometh them to do, who are to reveal the Myſteries of this Kingdom to others?)

18. Hear ye therefore the (meaning of the) Parable of the Sower; (He that ſoweth is the Son of Man, the Seed ſown is the Word of God, Luke 8. 11.)

19. [h] When any one heareth the Word of the Kingdom (of God,) and underſtandeth it not, (i. e. conſidereth not of it,) then cometh the wicked one, (the Prince of the Air, Eph. 2. 2.) and catcheth away that which was ſown in his Heart; this is he, (i. e. the Perſon ſignified by him,) which received the Seed by the way ſide. h

20. But he that received the Seed into ſtony places, (Gr. but he that is ſown upon ſtony places,) the ſame is he, (i. e. he is the Emblem of him) that [i] heareth the Word, and anon with Joy receiveth it. i

21. Yet hath he not Root in himſelf, but (having not received this Seed fully into his Heart, nor duly conſidered what he muſt do, and ſuffer to retain it there, he) dureth (only) for a while; for when Tribulation, or Perſecution ariſeth becauſe of the Word, by and by, (i. e. preſently) he is offended.

22. He alſo that receiveth Seed among the Thorns, is he that heareth the Word, [k] and the cares of this World, and the Deceitfulneſs of Riches, (and the pleaſures of Life, Luke 8. 14. and the Luſts of other things entring into it, Mark 4. 19.) choak the Word, and he becometh (ſo far) unfruitful, (as to bring no Fruit unto perfection.) k

23. But [l] he that (is repreſented as one that) received Seed into the good Ground, is he that heareth the Word, and underſtandeth it, (and receives it into a good and honeſt Heart, Luke 8. 15.) which alſo beareth Fruit (with patience, ibid.) and bringeth forth ſome an hundred fold, ſome ſixty, ſome thirty. (What is here added, Mark 4. 21, 22, 23, 24. is there accommodated to this Parable.) l

24. Another Parable put he forth unto them, ſaying, the Kingdom of Heaven, (the ſucceſs of the Goſpel,) is (may be) likened to (that of) a Man who ſowed good Seed in his Field:

25. But

25. But whilſt Men (to whom the manage- m ment of this Field was committed,) ſlept, [m] his Enemy came and ſowed Tares (or Cockle) among the Wheat, and went his way, (and this was not preſently perceived.)

26. But when the Blade was ſprung up, and brought forth Fruit, then appeared the Tares alſo:

27. So (Gr. then) the Servants of the Houſholder, (to whoſe Conduct this Field was committed,) came and ſaid unto him, (whoſe Servants they were,) Sir, didſt thou not ſow (only) good Seed in thy Field, from whence then hath it Tares?

28. He (anſwering) ſaid unto them, an Enemy (to me, and the good Seed) hath done this; the Servants (then) ſaid unto him n [n] wilt thou then that we go and gather them up?

29. But he ſaid, nay, (do not this now,) leſt while ye gather up the Tares, ye root up alſo the Wheat (growing) with them.

30. Let both grow together until the (time of) Harveſt, and in the time of Harveſt I will ſay to the Reapers, gather ye together firſt the Tares, and bind them in Bundles, to burn them, but (then) gather the Wheat into my Barn. (The Parable inſerted, Mark 4. 26, 27, 28. is there explained.)

31. Another Parable put he forth unto them, ſaying, (whereunto ſhall we liken the Kingdom of God, and with what compariſon ſhall we compare it? Mark 4. 30.) The Kingdom of Heaven is like to a Grain of Muſtard Seed, which a Man took and ſowed in his Field, (or Garden, Luke 13. 19.)

32. Which indeed (when it is ſown, Mark o 4. 31.) [o] is the leaſt of all Seeds, but when it is grown (up) it is the greateſt amongſt Herbs, and becometh a Tree, ſo that the Birds of the Air come and lodge in the Branches of it, (Luke 13. 19.) (and like to this will be the progreſs of the Goſpel.)

33. Another Parable ſpake he unto them, (ſaying,) the Kingdom of Heaven, (the Doctrine of the Goſpel) is like (for its powerful Influence,) to leaven, which a Woman took, and hid in three meaſures of Meal, till the whole was leavened (by it.)

34. All theſe things ſpake Jeſus to the Multitude in Parables, (as they were able to hear, Mark 4. 33.) and without a Parable ſpake he not unto them; (tho' he after interpreted all theſe Parables to his Diſciples, Mark 4. 34.)

p 35. [p] That it might be fulfilled which was ſpoken by the Prophet (David,) ſaying, (Pſal. 78. 2.) I will open my Mouth in Parables, I will utter things which have been kept ſecret from the Foundation of the World.

36. Then Jeſus ſent the Multitude away, and went into the (an) Houſe, and his Diſciples came unto him, ſaying, declare, (explain) unto us the Parable of the Tares of the Field.

37. He anſwered and ſaid unto them, he that ſoweth the good Seed is the Son of Man.

38. The Field is the World, the good Seed are the Children of the Kingdom, (who obey the Precepts of it,) but the Tares are the Children of (Satan) the wicked one, (whoſe Works they do, John 8. 44.)

39. The Enemy that ſowed them, is the Devil, the Harveſt is the end of the World, and the Reapers are the Angels.

40. [q] As therefore (at the time of Har- q veſt) the Tares are gathered, and burnt in the Fire, ſo ſhall it be in the end of this World.

41. (For then) The Son of Man ſhall ſend forth his Angels, and they ſhall gather out of his Kingdom all things that offend, and them that do Iniquity.

42. And ſhall caſt them into a Furnace of Fire, (and) there ſhall be wailing and gnaſhing of Teeth.

43. Then ſhall the Righteous ſhine forth as the Sun in the Kingdom of their Father. Who hath Ears to hear let him hear.

44. Again, the Kingdom of Heaven is like to Treaſure hid in a Field, the which when a Man hath found, he hideth (or conceals his finding) it, and for joy thereof goeth and ſelleth all that he hath, and buyeth that Field.

45. Again, the Kingdom of Heaven is like to a Merchant-man, ſeeking goodly Pearls,

46. Who when he had found one Pearl of great Price, he went and ſold all that he had, and bought it; (ſo muſt thoſe who deſire the Bleſſings of the Kingdom of Heaven, be ready to part with all their earthly Bleſſings, to poſſeſs and ſecure it to themſelves.)

47. [r] Again, the Kingdom of Heaven is like r to a Net which was caſt into the Sea, and gathered of every kind (good and bad Fiſh,)

48. Which, when it was full, they drew to Shore, and ſate down, and gathered the good into Veſſels, but caſt the bad away;

49. So (likewiſe) ſhall it be at the end of the World, (for) the Angels ſhall come forth, and ſever the Wicked from among the Juſt,

50. And ſhall caſt them into the Furnace of Fire, (and) there ſhall be wailing and gnaſhing of Teeth, (or the extremity of miſery.)

51. (Then) Jeſus ſaith unto them, Have ye underſtood all theſe things? They ſay unto him, Yea, Lord.

52. Then ſaid he to them, Therefore every Scribe which is inſtructed to the Kingdom of Heaven, is like to a Man that is an Houſholder, who bringeth forth out of his Treaſure things new and old, (to feed his Family; for, ſo muſt you produce from Moſes and the Prophets, and from the Doctrines belonging to this heavenly Kingdom, what you ſee needful to feed God's Family and Houſehold.)

and

53. And it came to paſs, that when Jeſus had finiſhed theſe Parables, he departed thence:

54. And when he was come (thence with his Diſciples, Mark 6. 1.) into his own Country, he taught them in their Synagogue (on the Sabbath-day, Mark 6. 2.) inſomuch that they (who heard him) were aſtoniſhed, and ſaid, Whence hath this Man this Wiſdom, and theſe mighty Works (which are done by him?)

55. Is not this the Carpenter's Son? (Mark 6. 3. the Carpenter; ſee the Note there:) Is not his Mother called Mary? And (are not) his [s] Brethren (called) James and Joſes, and Simon and Judas? s

56. And his Siſters, are they not all with us? (Bearing no Marks either of like Power or Wiſdom;) whence (then) hath this Man all theſe things?

57. And they were offended in him, (or ſcandalized at him, by reaſon of his mean Original and humble Circumſtances;) but Jeſus ſaid unto them, A Prophet is not without Honour, ſave in his own Country; and in his own Houſe, (there uſually he is moſt deſpiſed.)

58. And he did not many mighty Works there (ſave only that he laid his hands upon a few ſick Perſons, and healed them, Mark 6. 5.) becauſe of their Unbelief.

Annotations on Chap. XIII.

a Ver. 5. Ἐπ' ΘΕΩΣ ἐξανέτειλε διὰ τὸ μὴ ἔχειν Βάθος γῆς· It forthwith ſprang up, becauſe it had no deepneſs of Earth.] Thus Quintilian ſaith of the rath-ripe Wit, that it rarely comes to maturity, comparing it to thoſe Seeds which being ſown on the ſurface of the Earth, ſpring up quickly, becauſe the Root goes not deep into it; Illud ingeniorum præcox genus non temere unquam pervenit ad frugem—non multum præſtat, ſed cito — nec penitus immiſſis radicibus nititur, ut quæ ſummo ſolo ſparſa ſunt ſemina celerius ſe effundunt. Inſtit. l. 1. c. 3. p. 16, 17.

b Ver. 8. Ὃ μὲν ἑκατόν· Some an hundred fold, &c.] See Note on Mark 4. 8.

c Ver. 9. Ὁ ἔχων ὦτα ἀκούειν ἀκουέτω· He that hath Ears to hear, let him hear.] This is a proverbial Expreſſion uſed by Chriſt, when he ſpake of Matters of great importance which deſerved a ſerious conſideration, Mat. 11. 15. — 13. 43. Rev. 2. 7, 11, 17, 29. — 3. 6, 13, 22. — 13. 9. by which he excites them who had good inclination to, and a good judgment, and perception, as to things Divine, throughly to weigh, and conſider of the things ſpoken.

d Ver. 10. Διὰ τί ἐν παραβολαῖς λαλεῖς αὐτοῖς; Why ſpeakeſt thou to them in Parables?] It is certain, not only that the Jewiſh Doctors and all the Wiſe Men of the Eaſt, taught by Parables, משלי משלים παραβάλλοντες παραβολας, Expreſſing their Minds by Parables, as St. Mark ſpeaks in their own Phraſe, chap. 4. 30. but alſo, that ſome of our Lord's Parables, as that of the rich Glutton, Luke 16. that of the fooliſh Virgins, Matth. 25. and others were taken from the Jews. See Sheringham, Præf. ad Joma. Yet, becauſe this way of teaching had in it ſomewhat of Obſcurity, and the Doctrine contained under the covert of theſe Parables, was not ſo eaſie to be apprehended by the vulgar ſort, the Diſciples here enquire, Why ſpeakeſt thou to them in Parables? And to this Queſtion, for the ſatisfaction of others, I ſhall give a larger Anſwer: Let it be noted then,

1*ſt*, That albeit this way of teaching was ſomewhat cloudy and obſcure, yet was it intelligible to the attent and ſearching Auditor, as will appear from that Expreſſion with which our Saviour doth ſo oft conclude his Parables, viz. He that hath Ears to hear, let him hear: Accordingly, our Lord being to inſtruct the Multitude by Parables, Matth. 15. 10. he ſaith unto them, Hear and Underſtand: And when his Diſciples asked the meaning of that Parable, he reprehends them, ſaying, Ἀκμὴν καὶ ὑμεῖς ἀσύνετοί ἐστε; Are ye alſo yet without Underſtanding? intimating, That it was not ſo much the obſcurity of his Words, as their own Dulneſs, and want of Underſtanding, which made them not perceive the import of his Doctrine; and again, Mark 4. 13. he ſpeaks by way of Admiration to them, ſaying, Know ye not this Parable?

2*dly*, This Method of Inſtruction was not without its Uſes and Advantages, ſeeing hereby 'twas viſible who were the υἱοὶ τῆ Σοφίας, Sons of Wiſdom, who had a cordial love to Divine Things, and an enflamed deſire after them, and thought it worthy of their care and pains to ſearch them out, and ſo were Perſons fitly qualified for the reception of the Goſpel Light. It was the cuſtom of the Diſciples of the Jewiſh Doctors, when they underſtood not the meaning of their Parables, to go unto their Rabbi's to enquire the meaning of them; as did our Lord's Diſciples ask of him the meaning of thoſe Parables they underſtood not. And this Chriſt's Hearers might have done, had they not been indiſpoſed to receive the Doctrines which he taught, and choſen rather to be held in Error by the Scribes and Phariſees, than to receive inſtruction from the Mouth of Chriſt.

(2.) Such

(2.) Such Leſſons, as they are beſt remembred, ſo having once obtained to their ſenſe, they will ſtick cloſer to us; for the time ſpent in the unfolding of them, makes the Idea the more fixed and laſting in the Brain.

3*dly*, That Chriſt thus ſpake to them in Parables, did not proceed from his unwillingneſs to inſtruct them, but from their indiſpoſition to receive his Doctrine, delivered more plainly to them: Of this, St. Mark informs us, by ſaying, chap. 4. 33. He ſpake the Word to them in many Parables, as they were able to hear it. For, thoſe Parables the Scripture mentions, were either ſuch as were obvious in themſelves, as that of Dives and Lazarus, of the Rich Man pulling down his Barns, Luke 12. 16. their chuſing the uppermoſt Seats at Feaſts, chap. 14. 7. or ſuch as would, had they with greater plainneſs been delivered, have ſowred, and enraged the leading Jews, and ſtirred them up to a more violent oppoſition to his Doctrine, and a more quick Endeavour to deſtroy his Perſon; they being either ſuch as did proclaim him the Meſſiah, and the Son of God, which they ſtill look'd upon as Blaſphemy; as that which ſtiles him the good Shepherd, and concludes them Wolves, and Robbers; or, ſuch as contradicted their Traditions, and told them, 'twas not the Uncleanneſs of the Hands, or Outward Man, but the Defilement of the Heart, which made them loathſom in the Eye of God; which Doctrine did much offend the Phariſees, Matth. 15. 12. or, ſuch as did upbraid their Stubbornneſs and Diſobedience, as did the Parable of the Vineyard, planted by the Husband-man; the Parable of the two Sons, of which the eldeſt promiſed fair, but did not what he promiſed; or, ſuch as taxed their Pride, and Self-conceit; as did the Parable touching the arrogant Thankſgiving of the Phariſee, Luke 18. 9. or elſe, ſuch as told the great propagation, and increaſe of the Goſpel among the Heathens, as did the Parable of the Leaven, and of the Grain of Muſtard-ſeed; or, ſuch as did foretel the ruin and unchurching of the Jewiſh Nation, as did the Parable of cutting down the unfruitful Fig-tree, and the decree, that they who refuſed, upon invitation, to come to the Wedding Supper, ſhould not taſt thereof; or, ſuch as propheſied, that the Kingdom of God ſhould be taken from them; or, that their Sloth in not improving the Talents which they had received already, ſhould be puniſhed with the utter deprivation of them. Now, all theſe things were ſo offenſive to the Phariſee, as had they plainly been delivered to them, they would have provoked them to that rage, which might have quite diſcouraged his young Diſciples, and hindred the performance of thoſe Works which were preparatory to his Reſurrection, and to the glorious Appearance of his Kingdom. Beſides the Parables already mentioned, we have only thoſe recorded here, and in the parallel Chapter of St. Mark; of which two only recorded, were ſpoken to the Multitude, viz. the Parable of the Seed, and of the Tares; the reſt, when he had ſent the Multitude away, to his Diſciples, ver. 36. and both might probably reflect upon the Jews, as being the bad ground, and the Tares mentioned in them.

Laſtly, Conſider that what Chriſt thus delivered here, did not contain the fundamental Precepts and Doctrines of the Goſpel, they being delivered in the Audience of the People with ſufficient clearneſs, Matth. the 5th, the 6th, the 7th, but only the Myſteries relating to the Progreſs of the Goſpel, and the Event of it among Jews and Gentiles: Now, even the Jews acknowledge, that the Predictions of this Nature, were uſually taught in allegorical, improper, and parabolical Expreſſions, they being not ſo needful to be known as were the fundamental Rules of Faith and Manners. Moreover, the reaſon here aſſigned, why our Saviour ſpake ſo obſcurely to them, was their own Wickedneſs and Perverſeneſs, which indiſpoſed them to receive profit by his more plain Diſcourſes; for therefore, ſaith Chriſt, ſpeak I to them in Parables, becauſe they ſeeing, ſee not, and hearing, do not hear or underſtand. Now this, both in the Scripture and in other Authors, is a proverbial Expreſſion, concerning Men ſo wicked and ſo ſlothful, that either they attend not to, or will not follow the cleareſt intimations, and convictions of their Duty: Thus to a revolting and rebellious People, which had caſt off the Fear of God, the Prophet Jeremy ſpeaks thus, Chap. 5. 21. Hear now this, O fooliſh people, and without underſtanding, which have Eyes and ſee not, which have Ears and hear not: And God ſpeaks to Ezekiel thus, Son of Man, thou dwelleſt in the midſt of a rebellious Houſe, which have Eyes to ſee, and ſee not, they have Ears to hear, and hear not, for they are a rebellious Houſe, Chap. 12. 2. This is a frequent Form of Speech in (a) Philo, who ſpeaking of thoſe that were addicted to Wine and ſenſual Pleaſures; he ſaith, Ὁρῶντες ἂν ὁρῶσι καὶ ἀκούοντες ἂν ἀκούσωσι, they ſeeing, ſee not, and hearing, do not hear. And (b) again, Ὁρῶντες ἔστιν ὅτε ἂν ὁρῶμεν, it ſometimes happens, that ſeeing we ſee not, and hearing we hear not, viz. when the Mind is more intent upon other things. (c) Demoſthenes mentioned this as a παροιμία, or a Proverb, Ὁρῶντας μὴ ὁρᾶν, καὶ ἀκούοντας μὴ ἀκούειν· Yea, ſometimes this Phraſe is uſed in a good ſenſe, to ſignifie Men who will not hearken to any ſolicitations to Wickedneſs, but ſtop their Ears, and ſhut their Eyes againſt them. Thus, ὁ βαρυώων τὰ ὦτα, he that ſtoppeth his Ears from hearing of Blood; καμμύων τὸς ὀφθαλμὸς, he that ſhutteth his Eyes, that he may ſee no Evil, he ſhall dwell on high, Iſa. 33. 15, 16. Now, hence it evidently follows, That the Phraſe, to them it is not given to know the Myſteries of the Kingdom, only imports, That to them I allow or vouchſafe not a clearer knowledge of theſe things, whom I find too much diſpoſed to ſlight, and to neglect, but indiſpoſed to receive, and profit by them; and therefore by the Rule of contraries, to you it is given to know them, can only ſignifie, To you I think fit to allow, and vouchſafe the knowledge of them, as finding you diſpoſed to attend to, and to improve them: Nor is there any ſenſe more frequent in Scripture of the Phraſe, I give, or give not, than this, I allow, vouchſafe, permit, or think fit, that ſuch a thing be done, or not done; this being the ſenſe of the Phraſe, when mention is made of the Days of Life which God hath given us, Eccleſ. 5. 18. — 8. 15. — 9. 9. of the ſore Travel which God hath given, (i. e. allotted,) to the Sons of Men, Eccleſ. 3. 10. Give not thy Holy One to ſee Corruption, Pſal. 16. 10. Give not my Feet to ſlide, Pſal. 66. 1. Give not thy Mouth to cauſe thy Fleſh to ſin, Eccleſ. 5. 6. Give not thy Strength to Women, Prov. 31. 3. Give not Sleep to thine Eyes, Pſal. 132. 4. Prov. 6. 4. And when we ſay, ſuch a one is given to Wine, and to Women, i. e. he allows himſelf thoſe Liberties, or licentious Practices.

e Ver. 12. Ὅστις γὰρ ἔχῃ· For whoſoever hath, to him ſhall be given:] From the words, whoſoever hath not, ſhall be taken away that which he hath, it is manifeſt, That not to have, is not to have profitably, and to improvement: For, what a Man abſolutely hath not, cannot be taken from him. Whence it muſt follow, that τὸ ἔχειν here, muſt be ſo to have, as to improve it duly. So Phavorinus ſaith, That ἔχειν to have, is ἐπιμέλειάς καὶ φυλάσσειν, to take care of, and preſerve. Cauſabon obſerves, That ἔχειν in the Greek, doth ſometimes ſignifie, to have a thing with increaſe: So Sophocles in Ajace πρὸς γὰρ τ' ἔχοντα ὁ φθόνος ἕρπει, he that abounds, is envied; where the Scholiaſt notes, that ἔχειν is put for αὐξῆ ἔχειν· And in Democritus θαυμάζειν τὰς ἔχοντας, is to admire the Rich. So not to have, is not to uſe what we have, as in that of the Proverbs, Chap. 13. 7. There are who are rich, μηδὲν ἔχοντες, and have nothing, as not having power to eat of their Labours: Thus (*) Ariſtotle ſaith, That a man who hath Knowledge, and uſeth it not, as being drunk or mad, may be ſaid, ἔχειν πως, καὶ μὴ ἔχειν, to have it in a manner, and not to have it. See Matth. 25. 29.

Ver. 14. Καὶ ἀναπληροῦται ἐπ' αὐτοῖς· And in them is fulfilled the Prophecy of Iſaiah, &c.] f
The Apoſtle Paul informs us, That what the Law ſaith, it ſpeaks to them of all Times and Ages that are under the Law, Rom. 3. 19. So what the Prophets of the Jews ſaid, muſt in like caſes belong to the Jews of all Times; tho' ἐπ' αὐτοῖς, may be here rendred concerning them; and ſo the meaning may be only this, That what was ſaid by Iſaiah of the Men of his Times, was as truly fulfilled concerning the Jews, of our Saviour's time; they being as indiſpoſed to hearken to the Words of this great Prophet, as were the former Jews to attend to the Words of Iſaiah.

Ver. 17. Πολλοὶ προφῆται καὶ δίκαιοι ἐπεθύμησαν ἰδεῖν ἃ βλέπετε καὶ οὐκ εἶδον· Verily, I ſay unto you, That many Prophets and Wiſe Men have deſired to ſee the things that ye ſee, and have not ſeen them;] i. e. many Prophets who propheſied of the coming of the Meſſiah, and many righteous Men to whom God familiarly ſhewed himſelf, as he did to Abraham and the Patriarchs; many Kings, Luke 10. 24. from whoſe Seed he was to ſpring, and whoſe Kingdoms, and Perſons, were Types of the Meſſiah, deſired to ſee before their Eyes the things which ye thus ſee, and have not ſo ſeen them, they only ſeeing them afar off in the Promiſes made to them concerning theſe Days, Heb. 11. 13. and to them it was revealed, that not to themſelves, but to our times they miniſtred the things which are now revealed, 1 Pet. 1. 11, 12. g

Ver. 19. Παντὸς ἀκούοντος τὸν λόγον τ βασιλείας καὶ μὴ συνιέντος· When any one heareth the Word and underſtandeth it not.] Chriſt cannot here intend to ſignifie that his Word ever becomes unprofitable to any, either thro' the natural Weakneſs of their Underſtandings, which render them unable to diſcern his Mind; or through the Darkneſs or Obſcurity of the Word preached: Since this would lay the reaſon of the Unprofitableneſs of it, not in the Hearers, who cannot be ſuppoſed blame-worthy, becauſe the Underſtanding God hath given them, is weak; but in the Preacher who taught it ſo obſcurely that they were not able to diſcern it. The Greek word συνίεναι which we render underſtand, here ſignifies to ponder, to conſider of, to lay to Heart, and to obſerve in order to action, to conſider; ſo Prov. 21. 12. συνιεῖ δίκαιος, the righteous man wiſely conſiders the Houſe of the Wicked. Pſal. 41. 1. Bleſſed is he that conſidereth the poor, Gr. ὁ συνιῶν ἐπὶ πτωχὸν, Pſal. 106. 7. Our Fathers in Egypt, οὐ συνῆκαν, conſidered not thy Wonders: And that thus it here ſignifies, appears, (1.) Becauſe the following degree of Hearers, are ſuch as are affected ſomething with the Word preached, for they receive it with Joy, v. 20. The firſt h

Degree muſt therefore comprehend ſuch Men as are not thus affected with it, it making no Impreſſion on their Hearts. (2.) Becauſe the Devil is ſaid to ſnatch away this Word leſt they ſhould believe it. Now Faith being an act of the Underſtanding, he could not fear they ſhould believe what he knew they did not underſtand; and this Induſtry of Satan to ſnatch the Word out of our Hearts, as it diſcovers his Enmity againſt the Progreſs of the Goſpel, ſo doth it highly commend the Excellence, and Efficacy of it; for were it not of great Importance to preſerve it there, he would not be ſo induſtrious to ſnatch it thence; and were it not, when there, a powerful Inſtrument to work within us that Faith which purifies the Heart, why doth he do this leſt we ſhould believe? Why is it then that Men do call this quick, and powerful Word, this Word of Life, a dead Letter? And when they daily by Experience ſee that the Perſuaſions both of themſelves and others, are often prevalent, why do they think that God's can be of no effect without a Miracle?

i Ver. 20. Οὗτός ἐστιν ὁ τὸν λόγον ἀκούων, καὶ εὐθὺς μετὰ χαρᾶς λαμβάνων αὐτόν, This is he who bears the Word, and anon with Joy receives it.] Here he who is repreſented by the ſtony Ground, (1.) Hears the Word, and doth πρὸς καιρὸν πιστεύειν, for a time believe it, Luke 8. 13. but then only doth ſo for a time: And hence we learn, that it is not ſufficient that we at preſent do believe, profeſs, and practice ſuitably to the Truth delivered, unleſs we do continue ſo to do unto the end, and bring forth Fruit with Patience, Luke 8.15. for by comparing the Evangeliſts, we learn that 'tis in effect all one to be ἄκαρποι unfruitful, Matt. 13. 22. Mark 4. 19. and to bring no Fruit to Perfection, Luke 8. 15. (2.) He receives the Word with Joy, and is at preſent much affected with it, tho' afterwards he is offended at it; whence alſo it appears that it is not ſufficient to render us good Chriſtians, that we at preſent are ſomewhat affected with the Word, receive it with ſome Joy, Delight, and Pleaſure, unleſs it doth produce Sincerity, and Conſtancy in our Obedience to all its Precepts, even thoſe which are moſt grievous to Fleſh and Blood.

k Ver. 22. Καὶ ἡ μέριμνα τοῦ αἰῶνος τούτου, καὶ ἡ ἀπάτη τοῦ πλούτου, And the care of this Life, and the deceitfulneſs of Riches, καὶ ἡδοναὶ τοῦ βίου, and the pleaſures of Life, Luke 8. 14. καὶ αἱ περὶ τὰ λοιπὰ ἐπιθυμίαι, and our luſtings after other things, Mark 4. 19. entring in, choke the Word.] Here are enumerated all thoſe things which choke the Word of God, and render our Profeſſion of Religion unprofitable to the Welfare of our Souls.

Ἡ μέριμνα τοῦ αἰῶνος τούτου, Such a concernment for this preſent Life, as renders us diſtracted, and tormented with the fears of loſing it; ſo that we cannot think of parting with it without Horror, which makes us falter in the practice, and even fall off from the Profeſſion of it; or αἱ μέριμναι thoſe diſtracting worldly Cares which fill our Heads ſo full of Contrivances, and ſo employ our time, that we are not at leiſure ſeriouſly to think upon, and carefully perſue the Concernments of our Souls.

2*dly*, The Love of the deceitful Riches of the World; for when they ſo far enter into our Hearts, as that we are βουλόμενοι πλουτεῖν, very deſirous to be rich, this eagerneſs to have them, tempts us to ſin, that we may gain them, and ſin again that we may keep them, and will not ſuffer us to part with them as we ought, either for the Relief of others, or for the Welfare of our own Souls; whence, ſaith our Lord, ye cannot ſerve God and Mammon; and he that loveth the World, ſaith St. John, the Love of the Father is not in him, for the Friendſhip of this World is Enmity to God, Jam. 4. 4.

3*dly*, The pleaſures of Life, i. e. either thoſe which are the Works of the Fleſh, and ſo exclude us from the Kingdom of Heaven, as Fornication, Uncleanneſs, Laſciviouſneſs, Drunkenneſs, Gluttony; or thoſe which, tho' they be not ſinful in their Nature, or ſuch as Chriſtianity reſtrains us wholly from, as v. g. the Pleaſures of the Stage, and Theatre, of Gaming, and of Recreations of like kind, yet when our Deſires are ſtrongly carried out after them, when we ſpend that time in the perſuit of them, which makes us neglect our Duty to our God, our Neighbours, or our own Calling, and Concerns; when they miniſter Temptations to Fraud, to Covetouſneſs, to Contention, Paſſion, Swearing, Fretfulneſs, or Idleneſs; or often caſt us into the Company of looſe, prophane, debauched Perſons, by whoſe Example and Converſation we may be endangered; and notwithſtanding we are ſo enſlaved to, or ſo much under the Power of them, that we cannot deny our ſelves theſe Liberties, then are we φιλήδονοι, Lovers of Pleaſures more than God.

4*thly*, Αἱ περὶ τὰ λοιπὰ ἐπιθυμίαι, Our Luſtings after other things; as (1.) the Luſts of the Eye, or our Deſires of gay Apparel, rich Furniture, ſtately Buildings, great Attendance, and Equipage; or ſuch as by St. John are ſtiled the pride of Life, deſire of popular Applauſe, or of high eſtimation in the World, of advancement to high Poſts, and to great Places above others; or laſtly, our exceſſive Love unto our Relatives, our Parents, Wives, our Children, or our Friends; for when theſe Affections prove Temptations to Sin, as the Exceſs of them ſtill doth, they will be then obſtructive of that Influence, the Word of Life ſhould have upon us: St. John informs us, that all theſe are not of the Father, but of the World, that if we love or ſet our Hearts upon them, the Love of the Father is not in us, 1 John 2. 15, 16. And therefore Chriſt requires us to deny our ſelves in all theſe things, to hate, i. e. to love them leſs than him, that we may be his Diſciples.

l Ver. 23. Ὁ δὲ ἐπὶ τὴν γῆν τὴν καλὴν σπαρείς, But that which is ſown upon good Ground, is he who heareth the Word and conſiders of it,] And brings forth Fruit, Luke 8. 15. οἵτινες ἐν καρδίᾳ καλῇ καὶ ἀγαθῇ κατέχουσιν, καὶ καρποφοροῦσιν ἐν ὑπομονῇ, Who retain it in a good and honeſt Heart, and bring forth Fruit with Patience. What this good and honeſt Heart, or Man that hath it is, we may learn from Heathen Authors. Thus (d) Ariſtotle tells us that this Name, καλὸς καὶ ἀγαθὸς was by them given ἐπὶ τὸ τελέως σπουδαῖος, to one that is entirely good, ᾧ τ' ἀγαθὰ πάντα ὄντα ἀγαθὰ ἦν, who approved of all things that were truly good, and who was not corrupted by Riches and Dominion; and from the Requiſites in him which were wanting in all the other Grounds; for whereas he who was repreſented by the Seed ſown by the way ſide, did not σωτένειν conſider of it, he that receives the Word into a good Heart is σωτὸν, one that conſiders duly of it, he lays before his Eyes the Benefits he may receive, and the Afflictions he may ſuffer by adhering to it; what he muſt do to enjoy theſe Bleſſings, and what he muſt be ready to part with that he may ſecure them. (2.) Whereas in the ſtony Ground the Seed was only retained for a while, and then caſt out, it ſoon roſe up, and as ſoon withered; the Seed ſown in the good and honeſt Heart, κατέχει, is there retained, and brings forth Fruit with Patience; and (3.) Whereas in the thorny Ground it is ſo choaked as to become unfruitful where it is, or οὐ τελεσφορεῖ it brings forth no mature Fruit, no Fruit that can prevail, or get up above theſe Thorns; in the good Heart it brings forth Fruit unto Perfection, prevails and triumphs over all ſenſual and worldly Appetites, over our Love to Life, and our moſt near Relations, and becomes fruitful, abounding in all the Works of Righteouſneſs, which are through Jeſus Chriſt unto the Glory and Praiſe of God, Philip. 1. 11.

m Ver. 25. Ὁ ἐχθρὸς ἔσπειρε ζιζάνια ἀνὰ μέσον τοῦ σίτου, The Enemy ſowed Tares in the midſt of the Wheat.] Hence ſome collect that even theſe Tares muſt be Members of the Church of Chriſt, as well as the good Seed; which if it only ſignifie, they by Profeſſion may be ſo, is in it ſelf true; but if it be deſigned to prove, that they are true Members of that Body, of which Chriſt Jeſus is the Head, that cannot follow from theſe words; For, (1.) Our Saviour ſaith expreſly, the Field is not the Church, but the World; (2.) The Seed ſown in this Field by Chriſt is good Seed, the Children of the Kingdom, v. 38. the Juſt, v. 43. they therefore only can belong to him, becauſe they only are ſown by him; the Tares were ſown in it by the envious Man, that is the Devil, v. 28. the Enemy of Chriſt, and of his Church, v. 25. they are ſown while the Overſeers of the Church were aſleep, and are expreſly called, the Children of the Devil, v. 38. And is it reaſonable to conceive that the Devil, the great Enemy of the Church and of its Head, ſhould beget Members of his Church, ſince there is no Communion betwixt Chriſt and Belial, 2 Cor. 6. 15. or that the Devil's Children ſhould be the Members of Chriſt's Body?

Ver. 28, 29. Θέλεις οὖν ἀπελθόντες συλλέξωμεν n αὐτά; ὁ δὲ ἔφη οὔ. Wilt thou then that we go and gather them up? and he ſaid nay.] Vain hence is the Collection of the Eraſtians, that the wicked, and thoſe that cauſe Offences, are not by Excommunication to be excluded from the Communion of the Church, ſeeing the Field in which theſe Tares ſpring up is not the Church, but the World; and Chriſt in the Reddition of the Parable takes no notice of this Queſtion, or of the Anſwer to it. Nor doth this place prove that the Magiſtrate may not cut off evil Doers, ſeeing this was not ſpoken to them, but to the Miniſters of Chriſt's Church.

Ver. 32. Ὃ μικρότερον μέν ἐστι πάντων τῶν o σπερμάτων, Which is the leaſt of all Seeds, but when it is grown it is the greateſt among Herbs.] The Jews give a wonderful account of the growth and increaſe of this Seed; viz. There was a Stalk of Muſtard Seed in Sichin, from which ſprang out three Boughs, of which one was broke off, and covered the Tent of a Potter, and produced three Cabs of Muſtard; R. Simeon, B. Calipha ſaid, a Stalk of Muſtard Seed was in my Field, into which I was wont to climb, as Men do into a Figtree. Buxtorf. in voce Chardal.

Ver. 35. Ὅπως πληρωθῇ τὸ ῥηθὲν διὰ τοῦ Προ- p φήτου, That it might be fulfilled which was ſpoken by the Prophet, ſaying, I will open my Mouth in Parables, Pſal. 78. 2.] Here Mr. Cler. notes from St. Jerom on this place, that he had read in ſome Copies, quod dictum eſt per Prophetam Eſaiam, which was ſpoken by the Prophet Eſaiah; and becauſe no ſuch thing was found in that Prophet, I believe, ſaith he, it was taken away by ſome prudent Man; but I am apt to think that it was firſt written per Aſam Prophetam, the 77th Pſalm being entitled a Pſalm of the Prophet Aſaph; and that the firſt Tranſcriber not underſtanding what was meant by Aſaph, thinking it a miſtake in the Writer, corrected it by putting in the word Iſaiah; and that in his Notes on the 78th Pſalm, he ſaith, this was objected by Porphyry againſt the Evangeliſt St. Matthew, that that he was ſo ignorant as to ſay, quod ſcriptum eſt per Iſaiam, which was written by Iſaiah; but yet he is forced to confeſs that in all the Ancient Copies there are no Footſteps to be found, of the reading which St. Jerom ſpeaks of; neither Chryſoſtom, Theophylact, nor any of the ancient Fathers, except Jerom, make any mention of it; it is not extant in any of the ancient Verſions, nor ſaith St. Jerom any thing of Porphyry, in his genuin Work upon St. Matthew. And this I think ſufficient to juſtifie our reading againſt ſome ſingle corrupt Latin Copy, in which St. Jerom, if we may believe him, found it otherwiſe. The Senſe therefore may be this, Our Saviour ſpake in Parables, that what David filled with a Prophetick Spirit ſaid of himſelf, might be fulfilled alſo in that Son of David of which he was a Type. For he being our great Lawgiver might more truly ſay, hear my Law, oh my People.

q Ver. 40. Ὥσπερ οὖν συλλέγεται τὰ ζιζάνια καὶ πυρὶ καίεται, οὕτως ἔσται ἐν τῇ συντελείᾳ τοῦ αἰῶνος τούτου. As therefore tares are gathered together, and burnt in the Fire, ſo ſhall it be in the end of the World.] From this, as well as other places it ſeems probable, that the Wicked ſhall not be caſt into everlaſting Fire till the end of the World, that being the time when Chriſt will place the Goats on his left hand, and ſay unto them, depart from me, ye wicked, into everlaſting Fire, Matth. 25. 41. And when thoſe whoſe Names are not in the Book of Life, are to be caſt into the Lake of Fire. Rev. 20. 15. See the Note on 2 Tim. 4. 8.

r Ver. 47. The Kingdom of Heaven is like to a Net, &c.] Becauſe this Net contains both good and bad Fiſh; hence ſome conclude, that bad Men are Members of that Church which is Chriſt's Body as well as good; but (1.) 'tis neither the Church viſible, nor inviſible, but ἡ διδασκαλία τῶν ἁλιέων ἀποστόλων, the Doctrine of the Apoſtles, made by Chriſt Fiſhers of Men, which is here compared to a Net. So Theophylact. (2.) Theſe bad Fiſh are no ſooner pulled unto the Shore, but the Fiſhermen ſet down, and caſt them away, and thereby ſhew they belonged not to this Kingdom. Moreover, the Scope of this Parable is not to ſhew, who do at preſent belong to Chriſt's Kingdom, but who hereafter ſhall be excluded from the Kingdom of Heaven.

Ver. 55. Καὶ οἱ ἀδελφοὶ αὐτοῦ, &c. And are not his Brethren James and Joſes, and Simon and Judas?] It is now paſſed into a matter of Faith, that the Virgin Mary was ἀεὶ παρθένος ever a Virgin, and hath been ſtiled an Hereſie to hold the contrary; whereas I know not how it conſiſts with good Divinity, to make that an Article of Divine Faith, which is founded on no Divine Revelation; or with our ſixth Article, to make that neceſſary to be believed, which confeſſedly is not contained in Holy Scripture. (e) St. Baſil plainly diſtinguiſhes it from things neceſſary to be believed, and leaves it among the things not curiouſly to be enquired into, as his words plainly intimate. And tho' (f) Origen ſaith, That they who ſay ſhe after married, do not prove it, and that the Virgin had no other Son but Jeſus, καὶ τὰς υἱῶς περὶ αὐτῆς δοξάσεσιας, according to thoſe who thought ſoundly of her, yet he lays no Brand upon the contrary Opinion. However it is certain that theſe words do not prove that Mary the mother of our Lord had any Offspring; but, ſay all the Ancients before St. Jerom, they were the Children of Joſeph by a former Wife, which died before his eſpouſal to the Bleſſed Virgin; St. Jerom attempts to prove that James and Joſes here mentioned were not the Children of the Virgin Mother, but of her Siſter, Mary the Wife of Cleophas; for John 19. 25. we read thus, There ſtood by the Croſs of Jeſus his Mother and his Mother's Siſter, Mary the Wife of Cleophas, and Mary Magdalene. There were there, ſaith Matthew, Chap. 27. 56. and Mark, Chap. 15. 40. Mary Magdalen, and Mary the Mother of James the leſs, and of Joſes; whence he concludes, that James and Joſes, ſtiled here the Brethren of our Lord, were not the Sons of Mary his Mother, but of her Siſter, Mary the Wife of Cleophas; and hence infers, that they are only called his Brethren according to the Language of the Jews, as Lot is called Abraham's Brother, Gen. 13. 8. as being the Son of his Brother, Gen. 12. 5. and as the word Brother is uſed, Gen. 29. 12. Lev. 10. 4. i. e. becauſe they were his Couſin Germans. But this will not neceſſarily follow; for they might be the Sons of Joſeph by the Wife of Cleophas, who, ſaith Theophylact, dying without Iſſue, Joſeph, according to the Law, took her to himſelf, and of her begat James and Joſes, Simon and Judas. But Antonius de Dominis, in a very accurate Diſcourſe upon this Queſtion, gives us a better Anſwer to this Argument of St. Jerom, by ſaying, The Mother of Jeſus in St. John, is the ſame Perſon with the Mother of James and Joſes in St. Matthew and St. Mark; and that Mary, the Wife of Cleophas, called by St. Mark, Salome, and by St. John, the Siſter of the Mother of our Lord, was the Mother of the Sons of Zebedee; for, ſaith he, it ſeems evident, that the three Women named by the three Evangeliſts, were in all of of them the ſame Perſons; as therefore Mary Magdalen is the ſame, ſo Mary the Mother of the Sons of Zebedee, and Salome, ſo called by St. Mark from her Family, and the Siſter of the Mother of our Lord, muſt be the ſame; and then Mary, the Mother of our Lord, and the Mother, i. e. Step-mother of James and Joſes, muſt be the ſame alſo. And this Anſwer I like beſt, (1.) Becauſe it retains the proper ſignification of the word Brethren, which is always retained both in the Old and the New Teſtament, when there is profeſſedly an enumeration of Brethren. (2.) Becauſe it ſeems plain, that the Jews ſpeak ſtill of his Brethren and Siſters, even in the ordinary ſenſe of the word, even as they eſteemed him the Carpenter's Son, and Mary his Mother. So here, and Chap. 12. 46. Mark 6. 3. John 6. 42. And James here mentioned, is by (g) Joſephus expreſly ſtiled, ἀδελφὸς Ἰησοῦ, the Brother of Jeſus, called the Chriſt. (3.) They ſeem alſo to have lived with his Mother; whence we find them ſo oft together, as when 'tis ſaid, Thy Mother and Brethren ſeek thee, Matth. 12. 46. His Mother and Brethren, are they not here with us? i. e. do they not dwell at Capernaum? He went down to Capernaum, and his Mother and his Brethren, John 2. 12. (4.) This agrees beſt with Antiquity; for Dr. Pearſon confeſſeth, This was always the concurrent Judgment of Antiquity till St. Jerom's time; that theſe were indeed the Brethren of our Lord: And Spatalenſis ſhews, That many of the Fathers embraced the Opinion, that the Mother of our Lord in St. John, was the ſame Perſon whom St. Matthew ſtiles the Mother of James. CHAP. XIV.

1. AT that time (that Chriſt had ſent out his Diſciples, to preach the Goſpel, to caſt out Devils, and to heal Diſeaſes, and they by virtue of his Name had been ſucceſsful in that Work, and thereby ſpread his Name abroad, Mark 6. 12, 13, 14. Luke 9. 6, 7.) Herod the Tetrarch (of Galilee, Luke 3. 1.) a [a] heard of the Fame of Jeſus.

2. And (after ſome heſitation and enquiry, Luke 9. 7, 8.) he ſaid to his Servants, (I in- b cline to their Opinion, who ſay,) [b] This is c John the Baptiſt, [c] he is riſen from the Dead; and therefore, (tho' before he did no Miracle, John 10. 41. now) mighty Works do ſhew forth themſelves in him, (to clear his Innocence, and confirm his Miſſion.)

3. (And he had cauſe to be thus anxious, and perplexed at this Matter;) For Herod had laid hold on John, and bound him (with d a Chain,) and put him in Priſon [d] for Herodias ſake, his Brother Philip's Wife, (who having agreed with Herod to divorce her ſelf from her own Husband, at Herod's return from Rome, was married to him, and cohabited with him as his Wife, Mark 6. 17. Joſeph, Antiq. l. 18. c. 7. p. 626. C.)

4. For, (ſhe was thus incenſed againſt him, becauſe) John (had) ſaid to him, It is not lawful for thee to have her (as thy Wife.)

e 5. [e] And when (at the inſtigation of Herodias,) he would have put him to Death, (he could not think fit to do ſo, for) he feared the Multitude, becauſe they counted f him [f] as a Prophet.

6. But when Herod's Birth-Day was kept, the Daughter of Herodias danced before them (that were preſent,) and (her dancing) pleaſed Herod.

7. Whereupon he promiſed with an Oath, to give her whatſoever ſhe would ask, (even to the half of his Kingdom, Mar. 6. 23.)

8. And ſhe, being [g] before, (ſhe asked any thing,) inſtructed of her Mother, ſaid, Give g me here John Baptiſt's Head in a Charger.

9. And the King was ſorry, (that ſhe asked a thing ſo ungrateful to the People, ſo unagreeable to his Birth-Day, and ſo dangerous to himſelf;) nevertheleſs, for the Oath's ſake, (which he had made,) and (for the ſake of) them which ſate with him at Meat, he commanded it to be given her, (i. e. that it ſhould be given to her.)

10. And (accordingly,) he ſent (an Executioner, Mark 6. 27. and he went,) and beheaded John in the Priſon.

11. And his [h] Head was brought in a Char- h ger, and given to the Damſel, and ſhe brought it to her Mother.

12. And his Diſciples came, and took up the Body (of the Baptiſt,) and buried it, and went and told Jeſus (what had hapned to him.)

13. When Jeſus heard (of this, and the account which his Apoſtles ſent forth by him, Chap. 10. 5. gave of all that they had done and taught, Mark 6. 30. Luke 9. 10.) [i] he i departed (with them) thence by Ship, into a deſart place, apart (from the Multitude, which came ſo continually to them, that they had not time to eat, Mark 6. 31.) and when the People had heard (thereof, or whither he was gone, viz. to the Deſart of Bethſaida, Luke 9. 10.) they (took a compaſs by Land, and) followed him on foot out of the Cities; (ſeeing the Signs that he had done, John 6. 2. and

(g) Antiq. l. 20. c. 8.

and they got before him to the place where he was to Land, Mark 6. 33.)

14. And Jeſus went forth (out of the Ship unto a Mountain, and there ſate with his Diſciples, John 6. 3.) and ſaw a great Multitude (come to the place,) and he was moved with compaſſion toward them, (and ſpake unto them of the Kingdom of God, Luke 9. 11.) and he healed their Sick.

15. And when it was Evening, (after that Chriſt had enquired of Philip making tryal of his Faith, for that was done when Jeſus ſaw the Multitude, John 6. 5.) his Diſciples came (together, Luke 9. 12.) to him, ſaying, This is a Deſart Place, (where no Victuals are to k be had,) and [k] the time is now paſt, (or, the Day is ſpent;) ſend the Multitude away, that they may go into the Villages and buy themſelves Victuals.

16. But Jeſus ſaid unto them, They need not depart (to buy Victuals;) give ye them to eat, (having learned of Andrew, what Meat was there, Joh. 6. 9.)

17. And they ſay unto him, (Shall we go then and buy Two hundred penyworth, (i. e. Six pound five ſhillings worth) of Bread for them to eat? He ſaith unto them, How many Loaves have you here? And they, upon enquiry, ſay,) We have here but five (Barley) Loaves, and two (ſmall) Fiſhes? (And what are they among ſo many? Joh. 6. 9.)

18. And he ſaid, Bring them hither to me.

19. And he commanded (his Diſciples, Mark 6. 39. to make) the Multitude to ſit down upon the Graſs, (by Hundreds, and Fifties in a company, Luke 9. 14. Mark 6. 39, 40.) and (when they were thus ſat down, he) took the five Loves, and the two Fiſhes, l and looking up to Heaven, [l] he Bleſſed, (or, gave Thanks to God for them,) and brake (the Loaves, Mark 6. 41.) and gave the Loaves (thus broken) to his Diſciples, and the Diſciples (gave them) to the Multitude; (and the two Fiſhes divided he among them all.)

20. And they did all eat, and were filled; and, (when our Lord had ſaid to his Diſciples, Gather up the remaining Fragments, that nothing be loſt, John 6. 12.) they took up of the Fragments that remained, twelve Baskets full.

21. And they that had eaten (of the five Loaves, and two ſmall Fiſhes,) were about Five thouſand Men, beſides Women and Children.

22. And ſtraitway Jeſus (knowing, that the Multitudes deſigned to make him a King, John 6. 15. and that this might be pleaſing to his Diſciples,) conſtrained his Diſciples to get into a Ship, and to go before him unto (Capernaum on) the other ſide (Bethſaida,) while he ſent the Multitudes away.

23. And when he had ſent the Multitudes away, he went up into a Mountain apart to pray; and [m] when the Evening was come, he m was there alone.

24. But the Ship was now in the midſt of the Sea, toſſed with Waves, for the Wind was contrary;

25. [n] And in the fourth Watch of the n
Night, Jeſus (ſeeing them toiling in Rowing, Mark 6. 48.) went unto them, walking on the Sea, (and ſeemed willing to have paſſed by them;)

26. And when the Diſciples ſaw him walking on the Sea, (not perfectly diſcerning in the Twilight who he was,) they were troubled, ſaying, It is [o] a Spirit (or an Apparition,) o and they cried out for fear.

27. But ſtraightway Jeſus ſpake unto them, ſaying, Be of good cheer, it is I, be not afraid.

28. And Peter anſwered him, and ſaid, Lord, if it be thou, bid me come to thee upon the Water, (for having thy Commiſſion, I believe I may ſafely do it;)

29. And he ſaid (unto him,) Come; and when Peter was come down out of the Ship, he walked on the Water to go to Jeſus;

30. But when (his Mind diverting him from the conſideration of Chriſt's Power,) he ſaw the Winds boiſterous, (attending to them,) he was afraid; and beginning to ſink, he cried out (to Jeſus,) ſaying, Lord, ſave me.

31. And immediately Jeſus ſtretched forth his hand, and caught him, and ſaid unto him, [p] Oh thou of little Faith, wherefore didſt p thou doubt?

32. And when they (Chriſt and Peter,) were come into the Ship, the Wind ceaſed, (and the Ship was preſently at the Land whither they went, Joh. 6. 21.)

33. Then they that were in the Ship, came and worſhipped him, ſaying, [q] Of a truth thou q art the Son of God.

34. And when they were gone over (the Sea of Galilee, from Bethſaida back to Capernaum, Joh. 6. 17.) they came into the Land of Genneſaret. (See the Note on Ver. 22.)

35. And when the Men of that Place had knowledge of him, (he having been with them before, Luke 5. 1.) they ſent out into all that Country round about, and brought unto him all that were diſeaſed;

36. [r] And beſought him, that they might r only touch the Hem of his Garment; and as many as touched (it,) were made perfectly whole.

Annotations

Annotations on Chap. XIV.

a Ver. 1. Heard of the Fame of Jeſus.] Interpreters here enquire, why he heard not of the Fame of Jeſus ſooner, and ſay, the reaſon might be this; Becauſe he was at Rome at the beginning of our Saviour's Preaching, and when he wrought his former Miracles; but the true reaſon, why Herod then began to take notice of the Fame of Jeſus, ſeems rather to be this, That now theſe Miracles were wrought not only by himſelf in Perſon, but by others in his Name.

b Ver. 2. Οὗτος ἐστιν Ἰωάννης, This is John the Baptiſt;] So St. Matthew and St. Mark; but St. Luke ſaith, he was perplexed, διηπόρει, he doubted, he enquired, becauſe it was ſaid of ſome, that John was riſen from the Dead, and ſpake of that to his Servants as the moſt probable Opinion, deſiring notwithſtanding to ſee him, Luke 9. 9. that ſo he might more perfectly diſcern, whether he was John, or not.

c Ibid. Ἠγέρθη, He is riſen from the Dead.] Hence it appears, that this was ſaid by Herod, and ſome others, not from any Belief of the Pythagorean Metempſychoſis, or Tranſition of Souls from one Body to another, after the Death of the firſt Body; for this cannot be called in any propriety of Speech, a Reſurrection of the Body; nor could the Soul of John now dead, enter into the Body of Chriſt, which had for thirty Years been informed with another Soul: Neither the Jews nor the Philoſophers, ever maintained any ſuch Tranſition of Souls; this therefore muſt be underſtood of the ἀναβίωσις, or reviviſcence of the Baptiſt, whom all the Jews accounted as a Prophet, ver. 5. It being the Opinion of the Jews, that ſome of their Prophets ſhould ariſe at the coming of the Meſſiah; and it ſeemed leſs wonderful to them, that they who raiſed others whilſt they lived, as did Elias and Eliſha, and whoſe dead Bones revived a dead Corps, 2 Kings 13. 21. ſhould do ſo.

d Ver. 3. For Herodias ſake, his Brother Philip's Wife.] That Joſephus here differs from the Evangeliſts, making Herodias the Wife, not of his Brother Philip, but of another Brother named Herod, ought not to make us doubt the truth of what St. Matthew here, St. Mark, ch. 6. 17. and St. Luke, ch. 3. 19. unanimouſly aſſert, touching a Matter ſo well known, when they writ, that they could not be ignorant of it; eſpecially if we conſider, that the (a) Jewiſh Chronicles and Gorionides agree with the Evangeliſts; for, Gorionides ſaith, Herodias was firſt married to Philip, and then taken away from him by Herod Antipas. The old (b) Hebrew Chronicle, ſaith, Uxorem fratris ſui Philippi ipſo vivente junxit ſibi matrimonio, quæ liberos ex fratre ejus ſuſceperat, & tamen is eam duxit uxorem: And an (c) old Chronicle of the ſecond Temple, ſaith, Antipas Philippi fratris ſui uxorem accepit, ex qua ille liberos ante genuerat; i. e. Antipas married the Wife of his Brother Philip, he being yet living, and having had Children by her: Which agrees with what (d) Joſephus ſaith of his other Herod, Ἡρῳδίας ὃ ἐπὶ συγχύσῃ φρονήσασα τ̃ παλαίων Ἡρῴδῃ γαμεῖ τ̃ ἀνδρὸς ὁμοπαλαίῳ ἀδελφῷ διασᾶσα ζῶντι, Herodias in contempt of the Laws of her Country, married again to Herod, the natural Brother of her Husband, ſeparating her ſelf from him whilſt living, and having had a Child by her; ſhe therefore was guilty both of Inceſt and Adultery by the Law of Moſes, in thus agreeing μεταποιήσασθαι πρὸς αὐτὸν, to divorce her ſelf from her former Husband yet living, and to marry to Herod Antipas; and therefore the Baptiſt might well ſay to him, It is not lawful for thee to have her for thy Wife.

e Ver. 5. Καὶ θέλων αὐτὸν ἀποκτεῖναι, And when he would have put him to Death:] To reconcile this with Mark 6. 19. where it is ſaid, that Herodias would have put him to Death, but could not prevail with Herod ſo to do; it may be ſaid, Herod was willing enough to do it, but was withheld from the Action, partly out of fear of the People, and partly by the checks of his Conſcience, as knowing John to be a juſt and holy Man, whoſe Death might therefore be avenged on him by a righteous God, as the Jews, ſaith (e) Joſephus, thought it was, by the deſtruction of his Army.

f Ibid. Ὡς Προφήτην, i e. for a Prophet.] This being, as the Ancients note, Ὡς οὐχ ὁμοιώσεως ἀλλὰ βεβαιώσεως, not of Similitude, but of Confirmation: So Neh. 7. 2. Αὐτὸς ὡς ἀνὴρ ἀληθὴς, He was a true man, and one that feared the Lord. See the Note on Rom. 9. 32.

g Ver. 8. Προβιβασθεῖσα, Before admoniſhed;] i. e. before ſhe asked any thing, but not before the Offer made by Herod: For St. Mark, who relates this whole Story more fully, in many other Circumſtances, ſays, That upon it ſhe went out, and ſaid to her Mother, What ſhall I ask? and came in again by her inſtruction, to ask the Head of the Baptiſt.

h Ver. 11. And his Head was brought, &c.] Note here, that very remarkable ſeems the Providence of God, in avenging the Death of this Holy Man, upon Herod, Herodias, and her Daughter: For,

(a) Chap. 62. (b) Chap. 36. (c) F. 54. c. 4. (d) Antiq. l. 18. c. 7. p. 628. D. (e) Antiq. l. 18.

1*ſt*, As the War betwixt Herod and Aretas, King of Petrea, was cauſed by Herod's wicked Contract with Herodias, to reject the Daughter of Aretas his lawful Wife, and to marry with Herodias, his Brother Philip's Wife; ſo Joſephus declares, that the Jews look'd upon the putting John to Death, as the cauſe of the Miſcarriage of Herod's Army, (f) God being angry with him for the Death of John the Baptiſt.

2*dly*, Herodias envying the Glory of King Agrippa, who had that Honour given him by Caius, prevailed with her Husband to go to Rome, and accuſe Agrippa: Whereupon Caius deprived Herod of his Government, and her of her Money, and gave both to Agrippa, baniſhing Herod and Herodias to Lyons in France; which, ſaith (g) Joſephus, was done in Puniſhment of her Envy, and of his readineſs to hearken to her Solicitations. And,

3*dly*, Of her Daughter, it is related, That ſhe going over the Ice in Winter, the Ice brake, and ſhe ſlipt in to the Head, which at laſt was ſevered from her Body by the ſharpneſs of the Ice; Idque non ſine Dei Numine, God requiring her Head for that of the Baptiſt's, ſhe deſired; which if true, was a wonderful Providence.

l Ver. 13. Ἀνεχώρησεν ἐκεῖθεν, He departed thence into a Deſert Place,] to avoid the Fury of Herod, ſay Interpreters; teaching us by his Example, to avoid Dangers by all lawful Means. See Chap. 12. 15. But there ſeems no reaſon in the Context, why he ſhould be afraid of Herod, who had done nothing to incenſe him; it therefore ſeems more probable, from the collation of theſe words with thoſe in St. Mark, that he went to this Deſert to give ſome reſpite and refreſhment to his wearied Diſciples.

k Ver. 15. Ἡ ὥρα ἤδη παρῆλθεν, The Day is now ſpent.] Ὥρα both in Greek and Latin, ſignifies a Day; ſo the Greek word often ſignifies, eſpecially among the Phyſicians; ſo Galen, l. 7. c. 2. ψύχονται ὥραν μίαν, they are chill an hour, is preſently interpreted ἐπὶ ἡμέραν μίαν, for one Day; ſo in (h) Virgil, Nunquam te craſtina fallet hora, i. e. dies poſtera. So hora ultima, hora mortis, is the Day of Death.

l Ver. 19. Εὐλόγησε, He bleſſed.] Here it is diſputed, whether Jeſus by this Benediction, multiplied the Loaves and Fiſhes by a miraculous Power; or, whether he gave Thanks to God for them: That Chriſt multiplied the Bread and Fiſhes by a miraculous Power, all allow; but the Queſtion is, whether this be intended by the word εὐλόγησε, he bleſſed; or, whether the import of this word be this, he gave Thanks to God for them: That it is the latter, will be evident from theſe Conſiderations, (1.) That what is here εὐλόγησε, he bleſſed, is in St. John, εὐχαριστήσας διέδωκε, giving Thanks, he gave the Bread: And what is in this Chapter, εὐλόγησε, he bleſſed, is in the following Chapter in the like caſe, taking the ſeven Loaves and two Fiſhes, εὐχαριστήσας giving Thanks, he brake and gave to his Diſciples, ver. 36. and ſo in like manner in St. Mark, chap. 8. 6. (2.) That Chriſt bleſſed, looking up to Heaven, which is an indication, that this Action was directed not to the Bread, but to his heavenly Father. (3.) In the Inſtitution of the Lord's Supper, that which in St. Matthew and St. Mark, is εὐλογήσας, he bleſſing, brake the Bread, is in St. Luke and St. Paul, εὐχαριστήσας, giving Thanks, he break it. See Matth. 26. 26. Mark 14. 22. Luke 22. 19. 1 Cor. 11. 24. Yea, both St. Matthew, chap. 26. 27. and St. Mark, chap. 14. 23. ſpeaking of the Cup, ſay, εὐχαριστήσας, that Chriſt giving Thanks, gave it to them; which ſhews, that εὐλογεῖν and εὐχαριστεῖν, to bleſs, and to give thanks, are in ſenſe the ſame thing. And whereas it is objected, that St. Luke plainly refers this Benediction to the Bread, by ſaying, εὐλόγησεν αὐτούς, he bleſſed them, Luke 9. 16. it may be anſwered, that in ſome ancient MSS. the words run thus, εὐλόγησεν ἐπ' αὐτούς, he bleſſed over the Loaves; which agrees well with the ſenſe given of the words. (2.) That this is an elliptical form of Speech to be ſupplied thus, εὐλόγησε Θεὸν ἐπ' αὐτοῖς, he bleſſed God over them; it being familiar both with the Greeks and Hebrews to put εὐλογεῖν τίνα for εὐλογεῖν Θεὸν ἐπὶ τινός, to bleſs a thing, for bleſſing God over it. So 1 Sam. 9. 13. εὐλογεῖν θυσίαν to bleſs the Sacrifice, is to give Thanks to God for the Peace-offering before they dined upon it. So 1 Cor. 10. 16. the Cup of Bleſſing, ὃ εὐλογοῦμεν, which we bleſs, is the Cup for which we give thanks, according to the cuſtom of the Jews, with whom the Beracoth, or the Benediction of the Bread is conceived in theſe words, Bleſſed art thou, O Lord our God, the King of the World, who produceſt Bread out of the Earth; the Benediction of the Wine runs thus, Bleſſed art thou, O Lord, the King of the World, who createſt the Fruit of the Vine; and ſo in the Benediction of their Table and of their Fruits. See Buxtorf. de cœna Domini. § 46, and 74. de Synag. Jud. 12. p. 254, 255. Laſtly, this is confirmed by theſe words of St. John, Chap. 6. 23. Other Ships came by the place where they had eaten Bread, εὐχαριστήσαντος τοῦ Κυρίου, the Lord having given Thanks.

m Ver. 23. Ὀψίας ὑ γλυομλύης, the evening being come.] We learn from this and other places that the word Evening ſometimes imports the time from the declining of the Sun, ſometimes the time beginning at Sun ſetting, or when it began to be dark; the one was called δείλη πρωΐα, or the firſt Evening, ſay (i) Euſtachius and Phavorinus, the other, ſera veſpera, or the latter Evening, when the Sun is ſetting. So thou ſhalt kill the Paſſover between the two Evenings, Exod. 12. 6. About the going down of the Sun, Deut. 16. 6. So Joſhua 10. 26. They hanged upon the Trees until the Evening, and v. 27. at the time of the going down of the Sun they took them down; at the firſt of theſe Evennings the Diſciples deſire Jeſus to diſmiſs the Multitude, for the day was declining, ἤρξατο κλίνειν, it began to decline, Luke 9. 12. or dinner time was paſt; in the ſecond of them Jeſus is left alone, and his Diſciples were got to Sea. How Chriſt's praying is conſiſtent with his Deity, ſee Note on John 11. 41, 42.

n Ver. 25. In the fourth Watch of the night.] Which are thus numbred, at Even, at Midnight, at Cock-crowing, and in the Morning, Mark 13. 35. So that it began to be Morning before he came to them; hence he both ſaw them toiling from the Land, and they him alſo walking on the Sea. Note that to walk upon the Sea is made the Property of God, who alone ſpreadeth the Heavens, and treadeth upon the Waves of the Sea, Job 9. 8.

o Ver. 26. A Spirit.] That the Jews had then an Opinion of hurtful Spirits walking in the night is evident from the Seventy, who render, from the Peſtilence walking in Darkneſs, ἀπὸ πραγμάτων πνεύμάτων διαπορευομένων ἐν σκότει, from the fear of the Devils that walk in the night, καὶ ἀπὸ δαιμονίου μεσημβρινοῦ, and from the Noon-day Devil, that which is in the Hebrew, from the Deſtruction at Noon-day, Pſal. 91. 6.

p Ver. 31. Ὀλιγόπιστε, O thou of little Faith.] Of the Indications of this little Faith, ſee the Note on Matth. 6. 30. Chriſt ſuffered Peter thus to doubt, ſay Interpreters, that finding by Experience the Weakneſs of his Faith, he might by Prayer and Induſtry endeavour to encreaſe it, and aſcribe the whole Strength of it to God.

q Ver. 33. Ἀληθῶς Θεοῦ υἱὸς εἶ, Thou truly art the Son of God.] Epiſcopius here expounds this Phraſe, truly thou art the Meſſias, or that King to whom God hath given Divine Power to help us; for, ſaith he, it is probable the Apoſtles then knew nothing of the eternal Generation of the Son of God; and true it may be, they had no accurate Idea of ſuch an eternal, neceſſary Generation of the Son of God, as the Schools mention; nor do I believe that any of the unbelieving Jews had ſuch a Notion of this Phraſe; and yet we find them accuſing our Lord of Blaſphemy, and making himſelf equal with God, by ſaying that he was the Son of God. Seeing then our Saviour had given ſo many Inſtances of his Omnipotence and Divine Power, by multiplying Loaves and Fiſhes ſo wonderfully, as none could do but he who had Power to create; (2.) by walking on the Water, and cauſing the Wind inſtantly to ceaſe; why might not the Apoſtles from all theſe Evidences conclude that the Divinity reſided in him? Even the Gergeſens ſeem to have had ſome ſuch extraordinary Opinion of him, when they believed their ſick ſhould be healed only by touching the Hem of his Garment. This, ſaith Woltzogenius, was an Evidence of their Belief of a Divine Power reſiding in Chriſt. Now where the Divine Power is, there muſt be the Divinity, and where the Power of God is, there is God.

r Ver. 36. And beſought him that they might only touch the Hem, &c.] If theſe were the Gergeſens who lay on the other ſide of the Sea of Tiberias, and who formerly deſired him to depart out of their Coaſts, Matth. 8. 34. their Faith was thus encreaſed with the Fame of Chriſt's Miracles.

CHAP. XV.

1. (WHEN Chriſt had miraculouſly fed five thouſand, and was gone thence to Capernaum, John 6. 17.) then came to Jeſus Scribes and Phariſees which were of Jeruſalem, (who ſeeing ſome of Chriſt's Diſciples eat Bread with unwaſhen Hands, found fault, Mark 7. 2.) ſaying, a 2. Why do thy Diſciples [a] tranſgreſs the Tradition of the Elders? for they waſh not their Hands when they eat Bread; (whereas the Phariſees and all the Jews, except they waſh their Hands oft, eat not, holding the Tradition of the Elders; and when they come from the Market, except they waſh they eat not; and many other things there be which they have received to hold, as the waſhing of Cups, brazen Veſſels, and of Tables, Mark 7. 3, 4.)

3. But

(i) Διτλῆ χρὴ τὸν πρωΐαν ἡ δείλη ἡ μὲν γὰρ ὀψία δείλη τὸ τριδλαῖον φασὶ τῆς δείλης μέρος· τὸ δὲ ἑλίκης, δυσμὰς, ἑτέρα δὲ δείλη πρωΐα τὸ ἑωθινὸν ἐκ μεσημβρείας, In odyſſ. 17. — Δείλη πρωΐα ἡ μεσημβρινὸν ὥς· δείλη ὀψία ἡ πρὸς δύσιν ἡλίου. Phav. Heſych.

3. But he anſwered, and ſaid unto them, (I have greater reaſon to ask) why do you alſo (Gr. even ye, who pretend to ſo much ſtrictneſs in obſerving the Commandments of men,) tranſgreſs the Commandment of God, by your Tradition? (as certainly you do.)

b 4. For [b] God commanded, ſaying, honour thy Father, and thy Mother, and (alſo ſaid, Exod. 21. 17.) he that curſeth Father, or Mother, let him die the Death, (ſhewing that the violation of this Law deſerved Death.)

c 5. But [c] ye (following your vain Traditions) ſay, whoſoever ſhall ſay to his Father, or Mother, it is a Gift, (let it be no leſs forbidden to give it to thee, than to give of a thing devoted to God,) by whatſoever thou mighteſt be profited by me.

6. And (having ſaid this,) honoureth not his Father and Mother, (he doth only that which he ought to do, pronouncing him not only free from, but obliged not to obſerve the Precept, Mark 7. 12.) thus have ye made the Commandment of God of none effect by your Tradition.

de 7. Ye [d] Hypocrites, [e] well did Iſaias propheſie of you (by) ſaying (that which being ſpoken of the Jews, and agreeing as much to you of this, as to them of that Age, reſpecteth as well you as them, viz.)

8. This People draweth nigh to me with their Mouth, and honoureth me with their Lips, but (yet) their Heart is far from me.

9. But in vain they do (think to) worſhip f me, (by) teaching for Doctrines the [f] Commandments of Men, (as Doctrines neceſſary to be obſerved for acceptance with me.)

g 10. And (hereupon) he [g] called the Multitude, and ſaid unto them, hear (all ye) and underſtand:

h 11. Not that which [h] goeth into the Mouth defileth a Man, (for there is nothing from without a Man, that (by) entring into him can defile him, Mark 7. 15.) but that which (being in the Heart) cometh out of the Mouth; this (I ſay,) defileth a Man. (He that hath Ears to hear let him hear, Mark 7. 16.)

12. Then (he being entred into the Houſe from the People, Mark 7. 17.) came his Diſciples, and ſaid unto him, knoweſt thou that i the Phariſees were [i] offended after they heard this ſaying?

k 13. But he anſwered, and ſaid, [k] every Plant, (Gr. nurſery of Plants,) which my heavenly Father hath not planted, ſhall be rooted up; (theſe blind Guides, and Uſurpers of that Authority over Men's Conſciences which they have not received from God, ſhall by him be rooted out.)

l 14. [l] Let them (therefore) alone (to the Divine Judgment, for) they be blind Leaders of the blind, and if the blind lead the blind, they both ſhall (at laſt) fall into the Ditch.

15. Then anſwered Peter, (and by him the Diſciples, Mark 7. 17.) and ſaid unto him, declare to us (the meaning of) this Parable.

16. And Jeſus ſaid, are ye alſo yet [m] with- m out Underſtanding?

17. Do not ye yet underſtand that whatſoever entreth in at the Mouth, goeth into the Belly, and is caſt out into the Draught, (and ſo cannot defile the Man, becauſe it entreth not into the Heart, to raiſe up evil motions there, or it affects not the mind? Mark 7. 18, 19.)

18. But thoſe things which [n] proceed out n of the Mouth, come forth from the Heart, and they defile the Man, (in the ſight of that God who loveth Purity in the inward Parts.)

19. For out of the Heart proceed evil Thoughts (or Reaſonings,) Murthers, Adulteries, Fornications, Theſts, Falſe Witneſs, Blaſphemies, (Covetouſneſs, Wickedneſs, Deceit, Laſcivioufneſs, an evil Eye, Pride, Fooliſhneſs, Mark 7. 22.)

20. Theſe are the things which defile a Man, but to eat with unwaſhen Hands defileth not a Man.

21. Then Jeſus went thence, and departed into the Coaſts of Tyre and Sidon; (and he entred into an Houſe, and would have no man know it, but he could not be hid from them, Mark 7. 24.)

22. And behold a Woman of [o] Canaan o
(whoſe young Daughter had an unclean Spirit heard of him, and) came out of the ſame Coaſts, (and fell at his Feet, Mark 7. 25.) and cryed to him, ſaying, Have Mercy on me, O Lord, thou Son of David, my Daughter is grievouſly vexed with a Devil, (I beſeech thee caſt him forth.)

23. But he anſwered her not a word, and his Diſciples came and beſought him, ſaying, (grant her Requeſt, and ſo) ſend her away, for ſhe (ſtill) crieth after us.

24. But he anſwered and ſaid (to them,) p [p] I am not ſent but to the loſt Sheep of the Houſe of Iſrael, (to preach to, and Work Miracles firſt among them.)

25. Then came ſhe (the ſecond time,) and worſhipped him, ſaying, Lord help me.

26. But he anſwered and ſaid (to her, let the Children firſt be filled, Mark 7. 27. for) q
[q] it is not meet to take the Children's Bread, and to caſt it to Dogs:

27. And ſhe ſaid, [r] truth (Gr. I beſeech r thee,) Lord, yet (καὶ γὰρ for even) the Dogs eat of the Crumbs which fall from their Maſter's Table (or of the Children's Crumbs, Mark 7. 28.)

28. Then Jeſus anſwered, and ſaid unto her, O Woman, [s] great is thy Faith, be it s unto thee even as thou wilt, (the Devil is gone out of thy Daughter; and when ſhe was come to her Houſe, ſhe found it ſo, Mark 7. 29, 30.) and her Daughter was made whole from that very hour.

29. And Jeſus departed from thence, and came nigh to the Sea of Galilee, and went up into a Mountain, and ſat down there.

30. And great Multitudes came unto him, having with them thoſe that were lame, blind, dumb, maimed, and many others, and caſt them down at the Feet of Jeſus, and he healed them.

31. Inſomuch that the Multitude wondred when they ſaw the dumb to ſpeak, the maimed to be whole, the lame to walk, and the blind to ſee, and they glorified the God of Iſrael.

32. Then (the multitude being very great, and having nothing to eat, Mark 8. 1.) Jeſus called his Diſciples to him, and ſaid, I have compaſſion on the Multitude, becauſe they continue with me now three days, and have nothing to eat, and I will not ſend them away faſting, leſt they faint in the way, (for ſome of them came from far, Mark 8. 3.)

33. And his Diſciples ſay unto him, whence ſhould we have ſo much Bread in the Wilderneſs, as to fill ſo great a Multitude?

34. And Jeſus ſaith unto them, how many Loaves have you? and they ſaid, ſeven, and a few little Fiſhes.

35. And he commanded the Multitude to ſit down on the ground.

36. And he took the ſeven Loaves, and the Fiſhes, and gave Thanks (to God for them,) and brake them, and gave to his Diſciples, and the Diſciples to the Multitude.

37. And they did all eat, and were filled, and they took up of the broken Meat that was left, ſeven Baskets full.

38. And they that did eat were four thouſand Men, beſide Women and Children.

39. And he ſent away the Multitude and took Ship, and came into [t] the Coaſts of Magdala, (of Dalmanutha, Mark 8. 10. which was within the Bounds of Magdala.) t a Ver. 2. Δ ΙΑ' τὶ οἱ μαθηταί (ὃς παραβαίνουσιν τὴν παράδοσιν τῶν πρεσβυτέρων; Why do thy Diſciples tranſgreſs the Tradition of the Elders? for they waſh not their Hands, when they eat Bread.] Of this Tradition of the Elders let it be noted,

1*ſt*, That they held it a thing plainly unlawful, and highly criminal, to eat Meat, or common Bread till they had waſhed their Hands; hence do the Phariſees find fault with Chriſt's Diſciples, and ſtile their Hands unclean, becauſe they were not waſhed; Mark 7. 2. hence doth the Phariſee who invited Chriſt to Dinner, wonder that he waſhed not his Hands before Dinner, Luke 11. 38. For their Canon ſaith, Whoſoever deſpiſeth the waſhing of Hands, is worthy to be excommunicated, he comes to Poverty, and will be extirpated out of the World. And (a) Buxtorf citeth from their Talmud this Expreſſion, that he that eats Bread with unwaſhen Hands, does as bad as if he lay with a Whore. And, they ſay, Rabbi Eliazer Ben Hazar was excommunicated by the Sanhedrim, becauſe he contemned the waſhing of Hands. And that R. Aquiba being in Priſon, and not having Water enough to drink, and to waſh his Hands, choſe to do the latter, ſaying, It was better to die with thirſt, than tranſgreſs the Tradition of the Elders. Note,

2*dly*, That this waſhing of Hands before Meat, was not required by any written Law of God, and ſo the neglect of it could not be unlawful by virtue of any divine Law, but only as being a Tranſgreſſion of the Tradition of the Elders; hence Chriſt ranks it among the Traditions of Men, v. 9. And (b) Maimonides ſaith, that it depended on the words of the Scribes; and it is by Chriſt, ſpeaking to the Phariſees, called, your Tradition, v. 3, 6. And yet they held it as a thing neceſſary, becauſe, ſay they, (c) the words of the Scribes are lovely above the words of the Law, and more weighty than the words of the Law, or the Prophets.

3*dly*, They placed a great piece of Religion and Sanctity in waſhing thus their Hands, and looked upon them who neglected this, as Men of a defiled Soul. Thus Maimonides ſaith, "the religious of old did eat their com- "mon Food in Cleanneſs, and took care to "avoid all Uncleanneſs all their days, and "they were called Phariſees; and this is a "matter of the higheſt Sanctity, and the "way of the higheſt Religion; namely, "that a Man ſeparate himſelf, and go aſide "from the Vulgar, and that he neither touch "them, nor eat, or drink with them; for "ſuch Separation conduceth to the Purity of "the Body from evil Works, the Purity of "the Body conduceth to the cleanſing of the "Soul from evil Affections, and the Sanctity "of the Soul conduceth to the Likeneſs of "God. Hence they reckon this among the means to obtain eternal Life, ſaying, whoſoever hath his Seat in the Land of Iſrael, and eateth his common Food in Cleanneſs, and ſpeaks the holy Language, and recites his Phylatteries morning and evening, let him be confident that he ſhall obtain the Life of the World to come; and againſt this our Saviour teacheth, that to eat with unwaſhen Hands, defileth defileth not a Man, becauſe it defileth not the Heart. Thus have you ſeen how the Phariſees taught theſe Commandments of Men for Doctrines, i. e. things neceſſary to be believed, and done, and parts of God's Worſhip; and ſo how free the Ceremonies of the Church of England muſt be from this Guilt, they being reckoned not as neceſſary, but in themſelves things indifferent; not uſed for Sanctification, but only for Order and Decency; not reckoned as any Parts, but only Circumſtances of Worſhip. See Biſhop Sanderſon's Serm. on Matth. 15. 9.

b Ver. 4. Ὁ γὰρ Θεὸς ἐνετείλατο λέγων, τίμα τὸν πατέρα καὶ τὴν μητέρα, καὶ, ὁ κακολογῶν πατέρα, &c. For God commanded, ſaying, Honour thy Father and thy Mother, and he that curſeth Father or Mother let him die the Death.] Here obſerve,

1*ſt*, That the Commands of Moſes are to be received as the Commandments of God; for what is here God commanded, is Mark 7. 10. Moſes commanded.

2*dly*, That to honour Parents is not only to reverence them, but to afford them all the neceſſaries of this preſent Life, according to that of the Jeruſalem Targum on Deut. 15. 4. Honorare eſt viaticum providere, to honour is to make proviſions for them. And according to the Jewiſh Canons, a Son is bound to afford his Father, Meat, Drink, and Cloaths, to cover him, to lead him in and out, and to waſh his Hands, Face, and Feet. And according to (*) Hierocles, he is to honour them (ὡμαῖς) ὑπηρεσίᾳ καὶ χρημάτων χορηγίᾳ, with the Service of his Body, and his Goods; and this, ſaith he, Juſtice required him to do readily and bountifully. (d) Philo declares, that παίδων ἴδιον οὐδὲν ὃ μὴ γονέων ἐστιν, Children have nothing which is not their Parents, as having either received it from them, or having received from them the Faculties by which they procure it, that therefore they can never recompence them, and are both inhuman and ungodly, if they neglect to ſuccour them; and that the very Heathens taught the ſame: And that this is the frequent import of the word τίμη, ſee Note on 1 Tim. 5. 3, 8.

3*dly*, That which we render curſeth, is in the Greek κακολογῶν, to ſlight, contemn, or ſet light by, Father or Mother. So Ezek. 22. 7. Πατέρα καὶ μητέρα ἐκακολόγουν, they ſet light by Father and Mother; and that Death ſhould be the Puniſhment of thoſe who abuſed their Parents, is ſuitable to the Laws of Heathens, τὸ ὑβρίζοντα τὸν αὐτῶν πατέρα μὴ μετέχειν τῶν ὁσίων, That he who reviled his Father ſhould not live. Sopater ad Hermogenem.

ἢ τῇ μητρὶ, δῶρον ὃ ἐὰν ἐξ ἐμοῦ ὠφεληθῇς· But ye ſay, whoſoever ſhall ſay to his Father or Mother, it is a Gift by which thou mayeſt be profited by me, &c.] This Phraſe δῶρον or Corban doth doth import, that he who ſaid this had conſecrated his Goods to ſacred Uſes, or obliged himſelf to do ſo, but only that he had, according to the Doctrine of the Scribes, by Vow obliged himſelf not to give any thing to him, to whom he thus ſpake; for δῶρον ἔσω is the ſame with אשור among the Jews, which ſignifies a thing forbidden, and ſo imports, it is no leſs forbidden to give thee any thing of this, than if it were a Corban, or a thing conſecrated to God. So (e) Maimonides ſaith, Sit mihi Corban iſta Maſſa Panis, i. e. Let it be as much forbidden as what is conſecrated; let that Maſs of Bread be to thee a ſacred thing. So that whoſoever ſaid, let it be Corban, whereby I may be profitable to thee, they, by their Theology, declared him bound by a Vow not to relieve him, to whom he had ſaid thus, tho' he was his Father, unleſs they would abſolve him from his Vow: And by thus not ſuffering him to do any thing to his needy Parents, by reaſon of this raſh and wicked Vow, they made the Commandment of God void, and ſuffered them to ſlight and deſpiſe their Parents, by their Tradition. Note alſo that the following words running thus, Καὶ ὃς μὴ τιμήσῃ τὸν πατέρα αὐτοῦ, καὶ μητέρα αὐτοῦ, καὶ ἠκυρώσατε τὸν ἐντολὴν τοῦ Θεοῦ· The whole perhaps may be thus rendred, But ye ſay, Whoſoever ſhall ſay to his Father or Mother, let it be a Gift by which thou mayeſt be profited by me, he ſhall not then honour his Father and his Mother; therefore you make void the Commandment of God by your Tradition, καὶ ſignifying both then and therefore. St. Mark adds, ver. 13. Καὶ παρόμοια πολλὰ τοιαῦτα ποιεῖτε, And many ſuch like things do ye. Thus (f) Philo ſpeaks of ſome, ſo κατὰ φύσιν ἀμιξίοι καὶ ἀκοινώνητοι, unſociable and uncommunicable by nature, or ſo tranſported by Anger, that ὄρκῳ τὸν ἀγριότητα τρόπων τὸν ἠθῶν, they confirm their inhuman Manners by an Oath, ſaying, that they will not receive ſuch a one to their Table, or under their roof, ἢ πάλιν τῷ δεῖνι μὴ παρέξειν ὠφέλειαν τινα, or that they will afford no help to ſuch a one. And Dr. (g) Pocock ſaith, they have a Canon to this effect, Vota cadere in res Mandati, That Vows reach even to things commanded, or take place as well in things required by the Law, as things indifferent; and that a Man may be ſo bound by them, as that he cannot without great ſin, do what God had by his Law required to be done: So that if he made a Vow, which laid upon upon him a neceſſity to violate God's Law, that he might obſerve it, his Vow muſt ſtand, and the Law be abrogated.

d Ver. 7. Ὑποκριταὶ, Ye Hypocrites.] Our Lord here, and elſewhere, calls the Phariſees Hypocrites, not only becauſe they placed the Worſhip of God, and great Sanctity, and Religion, in Ceremonies of human Invention, and pretending to a regard to Purity and Religion, did nothing out of pure reſpect to God's Glory, but did all their Works to be ſeen of men, Matth. 23. 5. and to procure Glory from them, Matth. 6. 2. But alſo, becauſe being ſo ſuperſtitiouſly careful to avoid the outward Pollution of the Body, by abſtaining from touching any thing that was unclean, and waſhing their Hands when they thought they might have done it, and even their Pots, and Cups, and Beds; they left that which was within, viz. their Hearts, full of Hypocriſie and Iniquity, Uncleanneſs, Extortion and Exceſs, Matth. 23. 25, 26, 27. Luke 11. 39. Only here note, that we muſt not be forward, from Chriſt's Example, to pronounce Men Hypocrites, becauſe we have neither that Authority, nor Knowledge of the Heart which he had, to authoriſe us ſo to do.

f Ver. 9. Μάτην δὲ σέβονταί με διδάσκοντες διδασκαλίας ἐντάλματα ἀνθρώπων· But in vain do they worſhip me, teaching for, or as Doctrines, the Commandments of Men.] The Commandments of Men here, are things enjoined by meer human Authority, as is plain from theſe words of St. Paul, Col. 2. 22. Touch not, taſte not, handle not, which are all ἐντάλματα ἀνθρώπων, the Commandments of Men; tho' they come from their Cochmin, or Wiſe Men, tho' they be the Traditions of the Elders, or Governours of the Church, ver. 2. tho' they come from thoſe Scribes and Phariſees, which ſate in the Chair of Moſes, Matth. 23. 2. Yet, without a Divine Inſtitution, they are only the Commandments of men. To teach theſe Commandments of Men as Doctrines, is to enjoin them, or impoſe them on the Conſciences of others, as things neceſſary, or things to be obſerved for their goodneſs; as the Phariſees did this waſhing of Hands, counting thoſe ſinful and defiled who neglected ſo to do; and as Parts of God's Worſhip, for otherwiſe, they could not ſtrictly and properly be ſaid to worſhip God in vain; by teaching, and obſerving theſe things. Seeing then it is certain, that the Romaniſts have many Eccleſiaſtical Conſtitutions in which they place great Sanctity, and which they judge as neceſſary to be obſerved, and that as Parts of religious Worſhip, which yet are only the Traditions of their Elders, or of thoſe who ſit in St. Peter's Chair, as did the Scribes and Phariſees in that of Moſes, and which do alſo make void the Commandments of God; as doth the Doctrine of the Worſhip of Images, Communion in one Kind, and Prayer in an unknown Tongue; in vain muſt they alſo worſhip God, teaching for Doctrines the Commandments of Men.

Ver. 10. Καὶ προσκαλεσάμενος τὸν ὄχλον g And calling the multitude, he ſaid unto them all, Hear, and underſtand.] From theſe words ſpoken to all the Multitude, and the words, Mark 7. 16. ſpoken to the ſame Perſons, He that hath Ears to hear, let him hear; it is evident, that in our Lord's Judgment, the whole Multitude was capable of underſtanding thoſe things which the Phariſees did not, and by which the Traditions of the Scribes, Phariſees, and Elders, were overthrown; and that for this, nothing more was requiſite than Ears to hear, or good Attention to Chriſt's Sayings. Moreover, if theſe things parabolically ſpoken, could, and ought to be underſtood by the Multitude, as from this Exhortation to the Multitude, and the Reproof of Chriſt's Diſciples for not apprehending this, is manifeſt; much more muſt thoſe things which concern their Duty, and are delivered plainly, be eaſie to be underſtood by them: And from thoſe words, They are blind Guides, and if the Blind lead the Blind, they will both fall into the Ditch; it follows, that ſometimes the Multitude neither ought, nor can, without their utmoſt peril, follow the guidance of their Eccleſiaſtical Superiours.

Ver. 11. Οὐ τὸ εἰσερχόμενον εἰς τὸ στόμα κοινοῖ τὸν ἄνθρωπον· That which goeth into the mouth, polluteth not the man, i. e. by touching him;] i. e. the Man is not unclean in God's ſight, becauſe ſuch Meat or Drink hath touch-him, and ſo he needeth not to be waſhed from that Defilement; if it defile at all, it doth it either from the Quality, as being by God forbidden, and ſo the Diſobedience; or from the Quantity, and ſo the Exceſs defiles: Whence by the Rule of contraries, it follows, that nothing can ſanctifie by being touched, which confounds all Worſhip of Reliques; and that nothing by entring into the Mouth can make us holy, that is, more pure or acceptable in the ſight of God; and ſo the Sacramental Elements do not ſanctifie the Body, by the Touch, but the Soul only, by the due diſpoſition of Mind, with which we receive them, becauſe they go not into the Heart, they operate not upon the Spirit of Man. Chriſt himſelf, whilſt he was upon Earth, made many whole, as to their Bodies, by touching them; and many, by virtue of their Faith, were healed by touching him; but we read of none, whoſe Minds or Hearts were ſanctified only by touching of his ſacred Body. Ceremonial and Judaical Sanctity ſometimes required Freedom from touching a polluted Body, ὁσιότης δὲ ἀληθείας, Chriſtian Holineſs is the work only of the Spirit,

Spirit, and conſiſts wholly in the Renewal of the Mind, and of the Bent and Inclinations of the Heart, and ſo ariſeth not from the corporeal, but the ſpiritual manducation of the ſacred Elements; and were it otherwiſe, why would not the Sacrament ſanctifie, as well by being received into the Hand, or laid upon the Breaſt, as by being put into the Mouth? or, Why ſhould it more ſanctifie the Heart it comes not to, than the Draught thro' which even by the confeſſion of the (h) Romaniſts it ſometimes goes, as in caſe of a Lientery? This Doctrine is expreſly taught by (i) Origen in theſe words, Τὸ ἁγιαζόμενον διὰ λόγου Θεοῦ καὶ ἐντεύξεως διὰ τὴν ἰδίαν — λόγῳ ἁγιάζει τὸ χρώμενον, That which is ſanctified by the Word of God and Prayer, ſanctifies not him that uſeth it on its own account, for then it would ſanctifie him that receives it unworthily; nor would any upon that account, be ſick, weak, or fall aſleep, as St. Paul ſaith, ſome did, 1 Cor. 11. 30. Καὶ ἐπὶ τῆς ἅρτου τούτου τοῦ κυρίου ἡ ὠφελεία τῷ χρωμένῳ ὄντως ἐστὶν ἐὰν ἀμόλυντος τὸν νοῦν καὶ καθαρᾷ τῇ συνειδήσει μεταλαμβάνῃ τοῦ ἄρτου· and ſo in the receiving the Lord's Body, the profit ariſeth by receiving the Bread with a Mind undefiled, and a pure Conſcience, καὶ τὸ ἁγιαζόμενον βρῶμα διὰ λόγου Θεοῦ καὶ ἐντεύξεως, καθ' αὐτὸ μὲν τὸ ὑλικὸν εἰς τὴν κοιλίαν χωρεῖ, καὶ εἰς ἀφεδρῶνα ἐκβάλλεται, and ſo the Meat ſanctified by the Word of God and Prayer, according to its material part, goes into the Belly, and is caſt out into the Draught: And here it is to be wondred, that the Learned (k) Huet ſhould ſay, this is to be underſtood, De ſolis ſpeciebus ſive accidentibus, only of the Accidents inhering in the Subſtance of the Bread; for, if the Subſtance of the Bread remain after Conſecration, then Tranſubſtantiation is by him denied; if it be annihilated, How can the Accidents inhere in that which is not? Moreover, Can the meer Accidents be truly βρῶμα, Meat? Are they the Bread conſecrated by the Word and Prayer, or that which may be eaten unworthily? Are they ὕλη τοῦ ἄρτου, the Subſtance of the Bread, or σῶμα τυπικὸν καὶ συμβολικὸν, Chriſt's typical Body? Let Huetius ſhew one inſtance from Primitive Antiquity, where meer Accidents are ſo called, or confeſs he wreſts theſe words to a ſenſe of which Origen never thought.

i Ver. 12. Οἱ Φαρισαῖοι ἀκούσαντες τὸν λόγον ἐσκανδαλίσθησαν· The Phariſees hearing this word, were ſcandalized;] i. e. they were induced by it, not to reject their own, but Chriſt's Doctrine, and to deny him to be the true Meſſiah: And this Scandal ſeems to have had its riſe from a falſe Opinion which obtained among them, that the Meats forbidden them by the Law of Moſes, were therefore forbidden; becauſe, as (l) Maimonides ſaith, alimentum habent vitioſum, they yield a vitious, or corrupt Nouriſhment; or, as (m) Joſephus ſaith, becauſe the things they were permitted to eat, were τὰ μὴ εἰκεωθησόμενα ἡμῶν τοῖς ψυχαῖς, accommodated to, or convenient for their Souls; but the things forbidden, were τὰ ἐναντιωθησόμενα, contrary to them; and they by eating them, did μιαίνεσθαι, eat that which defiled the Soul; they therefore were ſcandalized at our Saviour's Doctrine, becauſe they judg'd it contrary to the Law. See the Note on Matth. 18. 6.

Ver. 13. But he anſwered and ſaid, Πᾶσα φυτεία, Every Nurſery of Plants which my Father hath not planted, ſhall be rooted out;] that is, ſaith Theophylact, Τὰς τῶν πρεσβυτέρων παραδόσεις καὶ τὰ Ἰουδαϊκὰ ἐντάλματα λέγει ἐκριζωθῆναι, He ſpeaks of the extirpation of the Traditions of the Elders, and the Judaical Precepts; and this is certainly true of thoſe Commandments of Men: But the Context inclines us to interpret this of the hypocritical Sect of the Phariſees, for they are the Perſons ſcandalized, ver. 12. and the blind Guides, ver. 14. and therefore are in likelihood the φυτεία, or Plantation mentioned in this Verſe. For tho' I find them in the Chair of Moſes, Matth. 23. 2. I find not that they had any Divine Commiſſion to be Teachers of the People; tho' what they or any Man truly taught from Moſes, was to be obſerved. Our Saviour ſeems rather to compare them to Thieves and Robbers, John 10. 1. See the Note there. And whatever might be their firſt Inſtitution, they were ſo degenerated from it into blind and pernicious Guides, as not to be of God's Planting, and therefore to be rooted out. k

Ver. 14. Ἄφετε αὐτούς, Let them alone;] l regard not what they ſay, or do, againſt me, or my Doctrine, ſeeing they ſay, and do it out of the Blindneſs of their Minds. Hence obſerve,

1*ſt*, That the Scandal of wicked and perverſe Men, is only ſo to be avoided, as that we do not ceaſe to do our Duty, or refuſe their pernicious Doctrines and deſtructive Courſes.

2*dly*, That ſometimes the Vulgar are obliged not to believe, or comply with the Rules of their Eccleſiaſtical Superiours, becauſe it is their Duty never to follow them into the Ditch.

Ver. 16. Ἀκμὴν καὶ ὑμεῖς ἀσύνετοί ἐστε; Are ye alſo ſtill without Underſtanding?] m That therefore this Parable was not underſtood by them, o Ver. 22. Καὶ ἰδοὺ γυνὴ Χαναναία· And behold a Woman of Canaan, Mark 7. 26. γυνὴ ἑλληνὶς ϗ Συροφοίνισσα, a Gentile of Syrophœnicia.] The ſame Perſon who is called one of Canaan in the Hebrew, is in the Septuagint a Phœnician. So Ex. 6. 15. we read of Shaul, the Son of a Canaanitiſh Woman, Seventy, Σαοὺλ ὁ ἐκ τ Φοινίσσης, Gen 46. 10. τ Χαναανίτιδος, Exod. 16. 35. they came into the Borders of the Land of Canaan, Seventy, εἰς μέρος τ Φοινίκης, Joſh. 5. 12. they did eat of the Fruit of the Land of Canaan, ἐκαρπίσαντο ἀπὸ τ χώρας τ Φοινίκης. Now ſeeing (n) Pliny doth inform us, Syriâ circumfundi Phœnicem, that Phœnicia is comprehended in Syria, the Phœnician Woman muſt be a Syrophœnician Woman; and Phœnicia being alſo Canaan, (Bochart. Phaleg. l. 4. c. 34, 36.) ſhe muſt be a Canaanitiſh Woman. See the Note of Dr. Hammond here.

p Ver. 24. Οὐκ ἀπεστάλην· I was not ſent but to the loſt Sheep of the Houſe of Iſrael:] By the loſt Sheep of Iſrael, we are to underſtand the whole Nation of the Jews, who being as Sheep diſperſed, having no Shepherd, are therefore called loſt Sheep, Matth. 9. 36. — 10. 6. To them the Meſſias was firſt promiſed, to them he firſt came, John 1. 11. He is ſtiled a Miniſter of the Circumciſion, Rom. 15. 8. and was firſt to be preached to the Jews, Acts 13. 46.

q Ver. 26. It is not meet to take the Childrens Bread, ϗ βαλεῖν τοῖς κυναρίοις, and to caſt it to Dogs.] He calls them Dogs, ſaith Theophylact, ὅτι τὰς ἐθνικὰς ἀκάθαρτον βίον ἔχειν, becauſe the Gentiles led an impure Life, and were converſant about the Blood of things offered to Idols; or perhaps he doth ſo far comply with the Language of the Jews, as to call this Woman Dog, becauſe he is here repreſenting of a Jew, or Phariſee; (1.) Not vouchſafing her one word of anſwer, becauſe they thought ſuch Perſons wholly neglected by God, and unworthy to be regarded by them. And, (2.) calling her Dog, according to the common Saying of the Jews, that the Nations of the World were likened to Dogs, whereas they were God's Sons and Daughters. See the Notes on Luke 15. 1, 2. and on Philip. 3. 2.

r Ver. 27. Ἡ ὃ εἶπε, ναὶ Κύριε· But ſhe ſaid, I beſeech thee, Lord.] The word ναὶ, as the Hebrew נא, imports beſeeching, as they ſay; nay, is not put, but in the way of Petition; ſo Gen. 18. 30, 32. I pray thee, let not my Lord be angry, Gen. 19. 7. אל נא, I pray you Brethren, do not ſo wickedly, Num. 12. 13. נא רפאנא לה, I pray thee, heal her, Philem. 20. ναὶ ἄδελφε, I pray thee Brother: So alſo is it uſed in prophane Authors: So (o) Ariſtophanes, ναὶ πρὸς τ θεῶν, I pray thee by the Gods; ſo (p) Euripides, ναὶ πρὸς (ῆς τ δεξίας ἐυωλένου, I pray thee by that fair right Hand.

s Ver. 28. Μεγάλη ϲου ἡ πίϛις· Great is thy Faith:] That having no Promiſe to rely upon, and ſuffering ſo many Repulſes with ſuch ſeeming Contempt, thou ſtill retaineſt a good Hope of my Kindneſs and Mercy, great is thy Faith. The Faith of thoſe who firmly rely upon God's Promiſe, and are not by great Temptations and Afflictions moved from their Confidence, is Praiſe-worthy; but highly excellent is their Faith, who depending only on his Goodneſs, do place an humble Confidence in God: Whence we may learn, that the Faith of Gentiles is not only pleaſing to God, but ſometimes more excellent than that of thoſe to whom the Promiſes belong, viz. when upon a leſſer motive it brings forth equal Fruits.

t Ver. 39. Καὶ ἦλθεν εἰς τὰ ὅρια Μαγδαλά· He came into the Coaſts of Magdala.] Mark 8. 10. into the Parts of Dalmanutha, which was, ſaith Dr. Lightfoot, a particular place within the Bounds of Magdala. Chorograph. Decad. on Mark, Chap. 5.

1. THE Phariſees alſo with the Sadducees came (Gr. and the Phariſees and a Sadducees coming) and [a] tempting (him) deſired him that (Gr. they tempting him, deſired that) he would ſhew them a Sign from Heaven.

2. He anſwered, and (Gr. but he anſwering) ſaid unto them, when it is Evening, ye ſay, it will be fair Weather, for the Skie is red, (and bright without Clouds.)

3. And in the Morning (ye ſay) it will be foul Weather to day, for the Skie is red and lowring, (the Clouds obſtructing the Brightneſs of the Sun,) O ye Hypocrites, ye can diſcern the Face of the Skie, (have skill enough to diſcern what kind of Weather it is like to be, by what at preſent ye obſerve in the Colour of the Skie,) but can ye not diſcern (can ye not then diſcern) [aa] the Signs of aa the times? heavenly Doctrine which I preach, and the mighty Miracles by which I confirm it, the Sign of the Son of Man coming among you? 'tis a ſure ſign of your Hypocriſie, that after all this, you are ſtill doubting of it, and requiring farther Signs to confirm this. I therefore ſay to you, not without Grief of Spirit for your Unbelief, Mark 8. 12. that)

4. A wicked and adulterous Generation ſeeketh after a Sign, and there ſhall no (farther) Sign be given to it, but the Sign of the Prophet Jonas, (for as his being preſerved three days in the Whale's Belly, and then caſt out ſafe on the dry Land, was a Sign of his being a true Prophet, ſent to preach to Nineveh, and call them to Repentance; ſo my being buried three days in the Earth, and then riſing up thence, ſhall be to you a Sign that I am alſo a Prophet, ſent from God to call you to Repentance,) and (having ſaid this,) he left them, and (going in a Ship to the other ſide of the Sea, Mark 8. 13. he) departed (from them.)

5. And when his Diſciples were come (to him) to the other ſide, they had forgotten to take Bread, (having but one Loaf with them in the Ship, Mark 8. 14.)

b 6. Then Jeſus ſaid unto them, [b] take heed, and beware of the Leaven of the Phariſees, and of the Sadducees; (i. e. of their Doctrines and Manners, which ſwell and ſowre its Diſciples as Leaven doth the Bread with which it is mixed.)

7. And they reaſoned among themſelves, ſaying, (he ſpeaks thus to us) becauſe we have taken no Bread with us.

8. Which when Jeſus perceived, he ſaid unto them, Oh ye of little Faith, why reaſon ye (thus) among your ſelves, (as if ye were like to famiſh) becauſe ye have brought no Bread, (and are bid to beware of the Leaven of the Phariſees?)

9. Do ye not yet underſtand (nor conſider,) neither remember the five Loaves (which fed the number) of five thouſand, and how many Baskets ye took up? (even twelve.)

10. Neither the ſeven Loaves (which fed the number) of four thouſand, and how many Baskets ye took up? (even ſeven; have you your Hearts yet hardned? having Eyes ſee ye not, and having Ears hear ye not? Mark 8. 17, 18. If it be otherwiſe.)

11. How is it that ye do not underſtand, that I ſpake this not to you concerning Bread, that ye ſhould beware of the Leaven of the Phariſees, and of the Sadducees, (as knowing by theſe inſtances, I cannot be unable to provide Bread for my ſelf and you, and therefore could not upon that account ſpeak of Bread?)

12. Then underſtood they how that he bad them not beware of the Leaven of Bread, but of the Doctrine of the Phariſees and of the Sadducees.

13. When Jeſus came (with his Diſciples, Mark 8. 27.) into the Coaſts of Cæſarea Philippi, he asked his Diſciples (being alone with them, Luke 9. 18.) ſaying, [c] whom do Men ſay that I the Son of Man am? c

14. And they ſaid, ſome ſay that thou art [d] John the Baptiſt (riſen from the dead,) ſome (that thou art) Elias, (the fore-runner of the Meſſiah,) and others (that thou art) Jeremias, or one of the Prophets; (they thinking none alive holy enough to be a Prophet ſent from God.) d

15. He ſaith unto them, but whom ſay ye that I am?

16. And Simon Peter anſwered, and ſaid, thou art [e] Chriſt, the Son of the living God. e

17. And Jeſus anſwered, and ſaid unto him, Bleſſed art thou Simon Bar (the Son of) Jona; for [f] Fleſh and Blood hath not revealed it (this) unto thee, but my Father which is in Heaven; (this Faith thou couldſt not learn from the Teſtimony of Man, but only from Divine Teſtimony, that of my Doctrine, and my Miracles, which the Father that is in me, enables me to teach and do.) f

18. And (as a ſuitable return to this Confeſſion,) I ſay alſo unto thee, that thou art (by name) [g] Peter, (that is a Rock,) and upon (thee who art) this Rock, I will build my Church; (laying the firſt Foundation of it upon thy preaching to the Jews, Acts 2. 41, 47. and to the Gentiles, Acts 10. 5, 44, 48.—15. 7.) and the [h] Gates of Hell, (i. e. Death it ſelf,) ſhall not prevail againſt it; (ſo as to hinder that Reſurrection to eternal Life, which I have promiſed to thoſe that believe in my Name.) g h

19. And I will give unto thee the [i] Keys of the Kingdom of Heaven, (the power of making Laws to govern my Church,) and whatſoever thou (aſſiſted by my Spirit,) ſhalt bind on Earth, ſhall be bound in Heaven, and whatſoever thou ſhalt looſe on Earth, ſhall be looſed in Heaven, (i. e. thy Doctrine taught by that Spirit concerning things required, forbidden, or allowed to Chriſtians, ſhall be confirmed there.) i

20. [k] Then charged he his Diſciples, that they ſhould tell no Man that he was Jeſus the Chriſt, (till after his Reſurrection, Chap. 17. 9.) k

21. [l] From that time forth (that they might not be ſhaken in this Faith, by what ſhould afterwards befal him,) began Jeſus to ſhew to his Diſciples how that he (the Son of Man) muſt go to Jeruſalem, and ſuffer many things, (and be rejected) of the Elders, and Chief Prieſts and Scribes, and be killed, and (notwithſtanding that he ſhould by God) be raiſed again the third day, (and this he ſaid to them openly, Mark 8. 32.) l

22. Then Peter took him and began to rebuke him, [m] ſaying, Be it far from thee, Lord, this ſhall not be unto thee. m

23. But he turned, and (looking on his n Diſciples, Mark 8. 33.) ſaid to Peter, [n] Get thee behind me, Satan, (thou who art to me a Tempter, and to the good of Men an Adverſary,) thou art an Offence to me, (as being a Solicitor to me to diſobey the Will of my Father,) for thou (in this) favoureſt not the things that be of God, but thoſe that be of Men, (regarding more what is pleaſing to Men, than God.)

24. Then ſaid Jeſus to his Diſciples, (and o to the multitude, Mark 8. 34.) [o] If any Man will come after me, let him (reſolve upon it that it will be neceſſary for him to) deny himſelf, and take up his Croſs (daily, Luke 9. 23.) and (ſo only will be prepared to) follow me.

p 25. [p] For whoſoever will (chuſe rather to) ſave his Life, ſhall loſe it, and whoſoever will (be ready to) loſe his Life for my ſake (and the Goſpel's, Mark 8. 35.) ſhall find it, (either graciouſly preſerved here, or improved into Life eternal.)

26. (And this it behoveth all to do,) For what is a Man profited if he ſhall gain the whole World, and loſe his own Soul (or Life,) or what ſhall a Man give in exchange for his Soul?

27. [q] For the Son of Man ſhall come in the q Glory of his Father with his (holy) Angels, and then he ſhall reward every Man according to his Works; (being aſhamed of, or not owning them who are aſhamed of him, or of his Words in this wicked and adulterous Generation, Mark 8. 38. but rewarding them who profeſs him, and adhere to his Doctrine.)

28. [r] Verily I ſay unto you, there be ſome r ſtanding here who ſhall not taſt of Death till they ſee the Son of Man coming in his Kingdom, (or the Kingdom of God coming with Power, Mark 8. 39. and the Son of Man giving a plain Experiment of his intended future Judgment, by the ſevere Puniſhment he will execute upon the unbelieving and diſobedient Jews of this Age.)

a Ver. 1. ΠΕΙΡΑ'ΖΟΝΤΕΣ αὐτὸν, Tempting him,] i. e. making trial whether he was able to do this, or not, or doubting whether he could ſhew ſuch a Sign as the Son of Man, according to Daniel, was to do: See the Notes on Matth. 4. 7. and Matth. 12. 38. And becauſe they came to him with an appearance of their willingneſs to be convinced that he was the Meſſiah, could they ſee Proofs ſufficient of it; whereas they had already reſiſted the cleareſt Evidence that he was the Chriſt, and ſo indeed came not to be convinced that he was ſo, but hoping he would fail in the Attempt, and ſo appear not to be ſo, therefore Chriſt calls them both Hypocrites.

a a Ver. 3. Σημεῖα τ καιρῶν· The Signs of the Times,] that is, ſay Grotius and the Syriack, the Signs of theſe Times; but this ſeems needleſs, οἱ καιροὶ, the Times, or Seaſons, both in the Old and New Teſtament, ſignifying ſet Times, and Seaſons appointed by God; and thoſe were either ordinary and ſtated Times, as when the Luminaries of Heaven are ſaid to be appointed εἰς σημεῖα κ καιρὸς, for Signs and for Seaſons, Gen. 1. 14. Pſal. 104. 19. and God is ſaid to have given to the Heathens, προτεταγμένους καιρὸς, the Seaſons appointed from the beginning of the World, Acts 17. 26. or extraordinary Seaſons in which God had determined to viſit his People, either in Mercy, or in Judgment; ſo καιρὸς and καιρὸ πέρας, Time, and the Period of Time is often uſed in Daniel, Chap. 7. 22. — 8. 19. — 11. 27, 29. In the New Teſtament Chriſt is thus ſaid to come in the Fulneſs of Time, and in the Diſpenſation, τ πληρώματα τ καιρῶν, of the Fulneſs of Times, Eph. 1. 10. and at his Advent the Phraſe runs thus, πεπλήρωται ὁ καιρὸς, the Time is fulfilled, Mark 1. 15. So when Chriſt's Apoſtles ask, Wilt thou now reſtore the Kingdom to Iſrael? Chriſt anſwers, It is not for you to know χρόνους ἢ καιρὸς, the Times or Seaſons, Acts 1. 17. In this Senſe the Apoſtle ſaith to the Theſſalonians, it is not needful to write to you περὶ τ χρόνων κ καιρῶν, of the Times and Seaſons, 1 Theſſ. 5. 1. in this Senſe is it ſaid of Chriſt's ſignal coming to deſtroy Jeruſalem, ὁ καιρὸς, the Time is near, Luke 21. 8, 24. Now all ſuch Seaſons had their Prognoſticks, which are here ſtiled the Signs of the Times.

b Ver. 6. Προσέχετε ἀπὸ ζύμης τ Φαρισαίων κ Σαδδουκαίων· Beware of the Leaven of the Phariſees, and of the Sadducees,] Mark 8. 15. and of Herod. See the Note there. This Leaven is v. 12. interpreted to be the Doctrine of thoſe Sects, as διδαχὴ imports both Doctrines to be believed, and Traditions, or Ordinances to be received from them; and ſo it is a caution to avoid the Precepts of thoſe Men who place the ſum of their Religion and Worſhip in outward Performances, which avail nothing to the Sanctification of the Soul: And ſuch were the Traditions of the Scribes and Phariſees; and alſo ſuch Doctrines as tended to ſubvert Religion, by cutting off all hopes of future Bleſſings after this Life, and turning the Kingdom of God, into an earthly, and a worldly Kingdom, as did the Doctrine of the Sadducees. Dr. Lightfoot ſaith, that Leaven in the notion of the Jews did ſeldom ſignifie Doctrines, but generally nerally Affections, and Pravity of Heart, which ſignification alſo it generally bears in Scripture; ſometimes relating to Hypocriſie, as in a like place, Luke 12. 1. Beware of the Leaven of the Phariſees, which is Hypocriſie; and ſometimes to the Leaven of Malice and Wickedneſs, oppoſed to Sincerity and Truth, 1 Cor. 5. 8. this being fitly compared to leaven becauſe it puffeth up our Spirits, and ſowers our Tempers. See Note on 1 Cor. 5. 8.

c Ver. 13. Τίνα με λέγουσιν ἄνθρωποι εἶναι τὸν υἱὸν τοῦ ἀνθρώπου; Whom do Men ſay that I, the Son of Man, am?] Some look upon theſe words τὸν υἱὸν τοῦ ἀνθρώπου, the Son of Man, as a Gloſs crept into the Text, but it is read by Irenæus, l. 3. 20. by Epiphanius, by Chryſoſtom, St. Jerom, Theophylact, and all the Verſions, and therefore is unreaſonably queſtion'd; others look upon theſe words as of no ſpecial Signification, becauſe not mentioned by St. Mark, or Luke, the firſt ſaying only, whom do Men ſay? Chap. 8. 27. the other, whom do the people ſay that I am? Chap. 9. 18. As if I ſhould ſay, the words given, Luke 22. 19. or broken, 1 Cor. 11. 23, 24. were of no ſpecial Signification, becauſe they are not mentioned by the Evangeliſts St. Matthew and St. Mark, Matth. 26. 26. Mark 14. 22. Dr. Lightfoot's conjecture is, that Chriſt here enquires not barely whether the People thought him the Chriſt, but what kind of Perſon they thought him to be, the Jews then doubting of his Original, who was to be the Meſſiah, and whether he was to come from the living, or the dead. And evident it is, that the word τίνα often relates to the Quality. So John 8. 53. τίνα, whom makeſt thou thy ſelf? 1 Sam. 17. 55. בן מי the Son of what kind of Perſon is this Youth? and thus it may retain its uſual import.

d Ver. 14. Οἱ μὲν Ἰωάννην τὸν Βαπτιστὴν, ἄλλοι δὲ Ἠλίαν, ἕτεροι δὲ Ἱερεμίαν, &c. Some John the Baptiſt, others Elias, others Jeremias, or one of the Prophets.] Perhaps they who held Chriſt to be Elias, did not think him the promiſed Meſſiah, but only his Fore-runner, this being the received Opinion of the whole Nation, that Elias was to come before the Meſſiah, and to anoint him when he came. They who thought he was John the Baptiſt riſen from the dead, ſpeak ſuitably to the Opinion of the Phariſees, who, ſaith (a) Joſephus, held there was for good Men ῥᾳθυμίαν τὴν ἀναβίωσιν. an eaſie return to Life again: That he was Jeremias, or one of the Prophets, was the conſequent of an Opinion that prevailed in that Nation, that the Meſſias was to come not from the living, but from the dead, they thinking none of that Age of Piety ſufficient to bear him, and thinking that the Reſurrection was to begin with his Kingdom, might eaſily be induced to think, he ſhould be one that ſhould riſe from the dead. And then God having ſaid peculiarly of Jeremiah, Before I formed thee in the Belly, I knew thee, and before thou cameſt out of the Womb, I ſanctified, and I ordained thee a Prophet to the Nations, Chap. 1. 5. and v. 10. ſee I have ſet thee over the Nations, and over the Kingdoms, to root out, and to pull down, and to deſtroy, and to throw down, to plant, and to build; and this being in their Opinion the great Buſineſs of the King Meſſiah, to pull down all the Nations that ruled over them, and make them Tributaries and Servants to the Jews; for this cauſe might they pitch on him as the fitteſt Perſon to be their Meſſiah. And that in theſe words, I ſee no Footſteps of a Metempſychoſis, but only of a Reſurrection, according to thoſe words of St. Luke, Chap. 9. 19. Others ſay, that one of the old Prophets was riſen again.

Ver. 16. Σὺ εἶ ὁ Χριστὸς ὁ υἱὸς τοῦ Θεοῦ τοῦ ζῶντος, e
Thou art the Chriſt, the Son of the living God.] Here let it be noted,

1*ſt*, That what Peter here profeſſeth, was before the Faith, and the Acknowledgment of all Chriſt's Diſciples; for they coming out of the Ship, ſaid, ἀληθῶς Θεοῦ υἱὸς εἶ, truly thou art the Son of God, Matth. 14. 33. And therefore Peter himſelf ſaith of them as well as of himſelf, we know, and have believed, that thou art Chriſt the Son of the living God, John 6. 69.

2*dly*, But whereas ſome conclude, that theſe words, the Son of the living God, ſignifie nothing more than the Meſſiah, becauſe St. Mark relates the Anſwer of Peter thus, thou art the Chriſt of God; and what in St. Matthew, Chap. 26. 63. runs thus, Art thou the Chriſt the Son of the living God? is in St. Luke, Chap. 22. 67. Art thou the Chriſt? I own that hence it may be gathered, that he that was the Chriſt, was alſo the Son of God; but yet I think there is this Difference betwixt the two Phraſes, that the one reſpects his Office, the other his Original, tho' perhaps neither Nathaniel, Joh. 1. 50. or the other Jews, nor the Apoſtles uſed it in that ſublime Senſe in which the Chriſtians did always take it.

Ver. 17. Σὰρξ καὶ αἷμα οὐκ ἀπεκάλυψέ σοι· f
Fleſh and Blood hath not revealed this to thee, but my Father which is in Heaven.] That Fleſh and Blood both in the Scripture, and the Jewiſh Writers, conſtantly ſignifies Man, as being compounded of Fleſh and Blood, ſee the Note on Gal. 1. 16. So that the import of the words is this, What others ſay of me, thou haſt learnt from Men, but this Faith thou haſt profeſſed concerning me, tho' it required in thee an attention to, a due conſideration ſideration of, and an aſſent to the Proofs given of it, yet theſe Proofs being the Doctrine taught from God, and the Miracles wrought in confirmation of it, being wrought by the Finger of God, the Faith it ſelf muſt be acknowledged to be the reſult, not of humane Induſtry, or Wiſdom, but of divine Revelation; and in learning of it thou muſt be ſaid to be θεοδίδακτος taught of God; the Doctrine believed being the words of God, and the Miracles which confirm it, being wrought by the Power of God. They who carry this higher, and ſay that Peter had a peculiar Revelation of this matter, not vouchſafed to any others, and that without this he could not have owned and embraced Chriſt, as the Son of God, muſt not only ſuppoſe the like ſpecial Revelation given to Nathaniel contrary to our Lord's own words, John 1. 51. Becauſe I ſaid I ſaw thee under the Fig-tree, believeſt thou? and to the Centurion, who ſeeing the Earthquake and the things which were done when Jeſus gave up the Ghoſt, ſaid, truly this was the Son of God, Matth. 27. 54. and to all others who had the ſame Faith; but muſt excuſe all thoſe Jews who did not believe this, it being not in their Power to do ſo, for want of this peculiar Revelation; whereas our Saviour ſtill appeals to the Works that he had done among them, as to ſufficient Teſtimonies that he was the Chriſt, the Son of God, John 5. 36, 37. — 8. 18. — 10. 25, 38. — 14. 11. And alſo ſaith, except ye believe that I am he, ye ſhall die in your Sins, John 8. 24.

g Ver. 18. Κἀγὼ δέ σοι λέγω ὅτι σὺ εἶ Πέτρος, And I ſay unto thee thou art Peter.] Here note,

That in theſe words, our Lord doth ſpeak not in the general to his Apoſtles, but in particular to Peter, and that that Promiſe was made particularly to him, ſeems evident from theſe Conſiderations;

1*ſt*, That the Text informs us, that Simon Peter, Simon the Son of Jona, made that Confeſſion, which gave occaſion to theſe words, and that our Lord ἔφη αὐτῷ did anſwer him as followeth: As if he ſhould have ſaid, As thou Peter haſt ſaid of me, that I am Chriſt, ſo ſay I now of thee, that thou art Peter; if therefore of the reſt of the Apoſtles, it cannot properly be ſaid, thou art Peter, much leſs that they were Sons of Jona, our Lord muſt ſpeak only to him who properly was ſo: And if the Text ſaith expreſly that our Lord ſpake to him, and doth not mention any others that were ſpoken to, it is a plain Addition to the Text to ſay, that our Lord equally did ſpeak to others; moreover when our Lord put the Queſtion to them all, Whom do Men ſay that I am? and they in general replied, Some thought that he was John the Baptiſt, ſome ſaid he was Elias, ſome Jeremias, or one of the Prophets; our Lord enquires farther, ὑμεῖς δὲ whom do you Apoſtles ſay I am? Now to this Queſtion, had they continued all to anſwer, as ſome imagine they in the Perſon of St. Peter did; why is it not ſaid as before, οἱ δὲ εἶπον they ſaid, but only St. Peter anſwered? why doth not Chriſt continue, as before, to ſpeak to them in the Plural Number, but ſo peculiarly direct his Speech to the Son of Jona?

2*dly*, Moreover, that Chriſt here promiſed to build his Church upon St. Peter, ſeems farther evident, becauſe theſe words contain a manifeſt Alluſion to the Name of Peter, and to that Syriac Name of Cephas, which our Lord had given him, both which do ſignifie a Rock or Stone; as if our Lord had ſaid, Thou art by Name a Rock, and ſuitable to that Name ſhall be thy Work, and Office; for upon thee, i. e. upon thy preaching, as upon a Rock, ſhall the Foundation of my Church be laid: Now the whole Grace of this Alluſion is entirely loſt, unleſs we do expound this Paſſage of St. Peter's Perſon, and not of his Confeſſion, or the Object of it. As therefore when God ſaid to Abraham, thy Name ſhall be called Abraham, for a Father of many Nations have I made thee, Gen. 17. 5. and to Jacob, thy Name ſhall be called Iſrael, for as a Prince thou haſt prevailed with God and Men, Gen. 32. 28. the following words are ſtill the reaſon of the Name; ſo may it rationally be conceived, that when Chriſt ſaid to the Son of Jona, thou art Peter, the following words, which are joined to them with a Conjunction Copulative, and on this Rock will I build my Church, contain the reaſon of that Appellation.

3*dly*, The demonſtrative Article, this, contained in the words, this Rock, do plainly intimate, that our Lord promiſed to build his Church upon that Rock, he had now mentioned; now of what Rock did he make mention in any other words than the foregoing? Thou art Peter, i. e. thy Name doth ſignifie a Rock.

4*thly*, It cannot rationally be doubted, but that our Lord intended to ſay ſomething ſingular to Peter, as the Reward of his ſo ſingular Confeſſion, if we conſider either the words preceding, Bleſſed art thou, Simon Bar-Jona, for Fleſh and Blood hath not revealed this unto thee, or the immediate Preface of them, κἀγὼ δέ σοι λέγω, And I do alſo ſay to thee, that thou art Peter; but had Chriſt ſpoken not of St. Peter, whom he had formerly called Cephas, when he made mention of the Rock, on which he did intend to build his Church, but either of himſelf, or the Confeſſion of St. Peter, he had ſaid nothing ſingular concerning this Apoſtle; Chriſt's building of his Church upon himſelf, or on this Truth, that he was the Meſſiah, or the Son of God, being no ſingular Reward of Peter. Laſtly, when our Lord adds adds in the enſuing words, And I will give to thee the Keys of the Kingdom of Heaven, i. e. I will cauſe thee firſt to open the Kingdom of Heaven by preaching to the Jew, and Gentiles, and laying the Foundation of a Church among them; 'tis evident by the Connexion of the words, he ſpeaks of Peter, When therefore he had ſaid in the foregoing words, upon this Rock I will build my Church, why ſhould we not conceive he ſpeaks of the ſame Perſon? But then alſo let it be noted, that by this Explication of the words which I contend for, all the Pretences of the Pope of Rome, to be Succeſſor of St. Peter are not eſtabliſhed, but moſt effectually overthrown; as will be evident if we conſider the Promiſe, that our Lord would build his Church upon him, and how that Promiſe was fulfilled.

1*ſt*, Then obſerve that our Lord ſpeaks here of his Church, not as a thing in preſent being, or as a Building now erected, but as hereafter to be raiſed, and therefore doth not ſay οἰκοδομῶ I build at preſent, but οἰκοδομήσω, upon this Rock I will hereafter build my Church, the Chriſtian Church commencing after our Saviour's Reſurrection and Aſcenſion; of ſuch a Church to be hereafter founded by St. Peter's preaching to the Jew and Gentile, and the baptizing of Men converted by his preaching, our Lord here plainly ſpeaketh in this Text. If then the Pope would be St. Peter's Succeſſor in this Affair, he muſt not ſit at Rome Lording it there over God's Heritage, but muſt in Perſon go to the unbelieving Jews, and Heathen World, as Peter did, and labour by his preaching to convert the Turk, the Jew, the Infidel, and when he hath ſo done, and ſetled Chriſtian Churches there among them, he may then have a better Title to be St. Peter's Succeſſor, than now he hath.

2*dly*, Obſerve this Promiſe punctually was fulfilled, by our Lord's uſing St. Peter's Miniſtry, in laying the Foundation of a Chriſtian Church among the Jews and Gentiles, and in his being the firſt Preacher to them of that Faith, which he doth here confeſs, and making the firſt Proſelytes to it; we therefore ſuitably to this Promiſe find that Peter laid the firſt Foundations of a Church among the Jews, by the Converſion of three thouſand Souls, Acts 2.41. who when they gladly had embraced St. Peter's Doctrine were all baptized, and then we firſt find mention of a Chriſtian Church in theſe words, and the Lord added daily to the Church ſuch as ſhould be ſaved, ver. 47. And the ſame Apoſtle laid the firſt Foundation of a Church among the Gentiles, by the Converſion of Cornelius and his Friends, Acts 10. for tho' we read before of Perſons in Samaria converted, and baptized by Philip the Evangeliſt, he being one of them, who were diſperſed through the Regions of Judea and Samaria, upon the Perſecution that aroſe concerning Stephen, yet doth the Holy Ghoſt inform us, that they who were thus ſcattered preached the Word to none but only to the Jews, Acts 11. 19. nor could they, ſuitably to their avowed Principles do otherwiſe, ſeeing they deemed it a thing unlawful to go in to, or to converſe with the uncircumciſed, Acts 11. 3. and had no Apprehenſions that God would grant Repentance unto Life to the Gentiles, ver. 18. Wherefore to qualifie St. Peter for this Work, the Lord doth by a Viſion convince him of the Lawfulneſs of preaching the glad Tidings of Salvation to the Heathen World, and of converſing with them for that end; and in purſuance of this Promiſe made to Peter, he commands Cornelius to ſend, not to Jeruſalem to James and John, not to Damaſcus for St. Paul, but to Joppa for St. Peter, whom Chriſt had by this Promiſe appointed for that Work, that from him, he might hear thoſe words by which he, and his whole Houſhold ſhould be ſaved. And in relation to this Promiſe of our Lord, as well as the Completion of it by the Converſion of Cornelius, it ſeems to be that this Apoſtle doth in the Synod met at Jeruſalem, ſpeak thus, Men and Brethren, you know how that a good while ago, ἀφ' ἡμερῶν ἀρχαίων, God choſe me out among you, that by my Mouth the Gentiles ſhould hear the Word, Acts 15. 7. He therefore was aſſuredly the Perſon, who firſt preached the Goſpel to the Gentiles, and by doing ſo, opened the Kingdom of Heaven to them; he was the Perſon choſen by Chriſt to perform this Work, he was choſen by him ἀφ' ἡμερῶν ἀρχαίων, from the beginning of Chriſt's preaching, when he was called Cephas, with relation to it: Nor is this Expoſition any new fancy of my own, it is as ancient as (b) Tertullian, who ſaith, that Chriſt did perſonally confer this Honour on St. Peter, ſaying, upon thee will I build my Church; Sic enim exitus docuit, in ipſo Eccleſia exſtructa eſt, i. e. per ipſum, ipſe clavem imbuit, ſo the event doth teach, the Church was built on him, that is, by him, he hanſel'd firſt the Key, he preach'd that Sermon by which three thouſand Jews were brought into the Faith, he laid the firſt Foundation of a Church among the Gentiles, he firſt by Baptiſm gave them entrance into the Kingdom of Heaven. He was, ſaith Ambroſe, ſtiled the Rock, becauſe he laid the firſt Foundations of Faith among the Nations. I conclude therefore, that the plain import of theſe words is this, that the Apoſtle Peter, by preaching firſt to the Jew and Gentile, and by baptizing thoſe to whom he preached, ſhould lay the firſt Foundations of the Chriſtian Church, and that againſt the Church thus planted by him, him, the Gates of Hell ſhould not prevail. This being ſo, 'tis evident that in this matter St. Peter neither hath, nor can have a Succeſſor, and that it is abſurd to claim a Title of Succeſſion to this Prerogative of St. Peter, this being in effect to ſay, that the Foundations of the Church of Chriſt are not yet laid, and to pretend to a Commiſſion to perform at preſent, what was fully done above a thouſand ſix hundred Years ago.

h Ibid. Καὶ πύλαι Ἅιδου οὐ κατισχύσουσιν αὐτῆς, And the Gates of Hell ſhall not prevail againſt it.] Here by the Gates of Hades, ſome underſtand the prevalence of Schiſm and Hereſie, of Wickedneſs and Vice. So Jerom, Ego portas inferi eſſe reor vitia & peccata, vel certe Hereticorum Doctrinas; others do underſtand the Subtilty of Satan, the Power of his Temptations and Aſſaults; but if we do examin the import of this Phraſe, the Gates of Hades, as it is uſed by all the ancient Greeks, the Jewiſh Writers, the Old Teſtament, and the Tranſlation of the Seventy Interpreters, we ſhall be ſatisfied that it is never uſed by them to ſignifie the Power of Hereſie, or Schiſm, Sin, or Satan, and therefore cannot be rationally ſuppoſed here to bear that ſenſe, but it conſtantly is uſed by them to ſignifie the ſtate of Death, the place, or receptacle of the Dead, into which Souls departed enter, or elſe the entrance into that Place. To make this evident conſider,

1*ſt*, That the Hebrew Sheol, and the Greek Ἅιδης, which anſwers to it in the Tranſlation of the Seventy, doth ſignifie both in the Scriptures, the Jewiſh Writers, and the Ancient Fathers, and more Ancient Heathens, the place and receptacle of the Dead, Ἀϊδὲς νεκρῶν χωρίον, exponunt Græci, ſaith the learned Windate. The Greeks call the place of the dead Hades, Ἅιδης ὁ τάφος, Hades is the Sepulchre, ſaith Heſychius; by Sheol is not meant the place of the damned Spirits, ſaith Mr. Ainſworth, but of all that go out of the World; whence in the Chaldee Paraphraſe it is ſtiled the Houſe of the Grave, or the place of Burial. Accordingly the Ancient Greeks aſſigned one Hades to all that died, whence they ſo often ſay, πάντας ὡμῶς θνητοὺς Ἅιδης δέχεται, all that die are in Hades, all Men ſhall go to Hades, ἐν Ἅιδου (ὡέχονται) ψυχαὶ δικαίων τε κ᾽ ἀδίκων, both juſt and unjuſt go to Hades, ſaith Caius, a Roman Preſbyter.

2*dly*, This place of Hades is generally repreſented as a Great Houſe, or Receptacle which hath Doors, and Bars, and Keys, and Gates, by which the dead are ſaid to enter; hence in the Poets we find frequent mention of the Houſe of Hades, and the Gates of Hades. Hence Job cries out, Sheol Bethi, Hades is my Houſe; and they who die are ſaid, κατῆλθεν εἰς Ἅιδου δόμους in Euripides, εἰς δόμ᾽ Ἀϊδάο, in Homer, i. e. to go to the Houſe of Hades.

3*dly*, The place, or receptacle of the dead being thus repreſented by the Ancients, as an Houſe that hath its Doors, and Gates; Death in their Language is repreſented as the Gate, or Entrance into Hades; to die, or to deſcend into the Grave, is in their Language to go down, to be brought down to, and to paſs through the Gates of Hades, as in thoſe words of Homer, ἔχθρος γάρ μοι κεῖνος ὅμως Ἀϊδάο πυλῆσιν, I hate him to the Gates of Hades, who does not ſpeak as he thinks; where the Scholiaſt informs us that this is περίφρασις θανάτου, a Periphraſis of Death, ἡ Ἀϊδάο πύλαν ἀραξῇ, he ſhall knock at the Gates of Hades, that is, he ſhall die, ſaith Theocritus; and thus Theognis bewailing the Miſeries of human Life, concludes, 'tis beſt of all not to be born, or being born ὡκιστα πύλας Ἀϊδάω παρῆσαι, to die as ſoon as may be. Accordingly to live again is in their Language to leave, or open the Gates of Death, or Hades: Thus, in Euripides, the Chorus ſings, That if Eſculapius were there, Alceſtis might then leave Ἀϊδου πύλας, the Gates of Hades, and return to Life, for he can raiſe the Dead: And when Menippus came from the Grave, he ſpeaks thus, That he came from the Gates of Hades; and ſuitably to this old Notion of the Gates of Hades, is the conſtant uſage of the Phraſe in the Old Teſtament and Jewiſh Writers. The Writing of Hezekiah after his Recovery, begins thus, I ſaid, in the cutting off of my Days, πορεύσομαι ἐν πύλαις Ἅιδου, I ſhall go to the Gates of Hades, I am deprived of the reſidue of my Years, I ſhall no longer be in the Land of the Living, Iſa. 38. 10, 11. And what is in the Hebrew, שערי מות, the Gates of Death, is by the Seventy tranſlated πυλωροὶ Ἅιδου· for ſo God puts the Queſtion to Job, Will the Gates of Death open to thee? i. e. Canſt thou command the Dead to live? or, Haſt thou ſeen the Gates of Hades, Job 38. 17. Thus they who are even at Death's Door, are in the Language of the Pſalmiſt, ſaid, ἐγγίζειν ἕως τῶν πυλῶν θανάτου, to draw nigh to the Gates of Death, Pſal. 107. 18. And when Ptolomæus Philopater threatned καταπέμψειν πρὸς Ἅιδου Ἰουδαίους, to kill all the Jews, and the Elephants were ready to fall in upon them, they cried to the Lord to have Mercy on them, ἤδη πρὸς πύλας Ἅιδου καθεστῶτες, being juſt at the point of Death, Macc. 3. ult. And when God ſhews his Power in reſtoring Men from ſuch a ſtate, he is then ſaid, to lift them from the Gates of Hades; as in thoſe words, Thou haſt the power of Life and Death, καταγεις εἰς πύλας Ἅιδου κ᾽ ἀνάγεις, thou bringeſt down to the Gates of Hades, and raiſeſt up again, Wiſd. 16. 13. Accordingly, when Theodoſius had pardoned pardoned some, whom Justice had condemned to die, Themistius tells him, he raised them to Life, ἐκ τ πυλῶν ἀχέρουσίων, from the Gates of Hell: Nor did (a) Eusebius doubt the truth of this Exposition of the words; for he declares, That God had hereby promised, that the Church should not be overcome by Death, and that by virtue of this one Voice, Upon this Rock — and the Gates of Hell shall not prevail against it; the Church continues not subdued by her Enemies, nor yielding to the Gates of Death. (b) St. Cyril of Jerusalem gives the same import of the words, saying, That Christ called Lazarus ἐξ ᾍδου πυλῶν, from the Gates of Hades, or Death's Door: And Photius, that when the Dead are drawn τ πυλῶν ᾍδου, from the Gates of Death to Life again, this is a demonstration of Divine Virtue. (c) Theodoret saith, He was cast into so great peril by the Hereticks, as to be brought εἰς αὐτὰς τ ᾍδου πύλας, even to the Gates of Hades. So that in all Languages with which I am acquainted, this seems to be the plain and constant import of the Phrase; and therefore in these words, it seemeth reasonable to conceive, it is a Promise, That even Death it self should not prevail against the genuine Members of Christ's Church, or that they should enjoy an happy Resurrection. Now from this Exposition, we may learn, how vainly these words are produced, to prove, that any Church or Council is infallible, or that the Church of Rome hath a just Title to that Privilege; for, if the Gates of Hades do never signifie in any ancient Writer, or any Eastern Language, Heresie or Error; to interpret these words of a Security from Error promised to the Church, must be to wrest them from their plain and constant sense, to such an import as they never had in any Language then in use.

i Ver. 19. Καὶ δώσω σοι τὰς κλεῖς τ βασιλείας τ οὐρανῶν, And I will give to thee the Keys of the Kingdom of Heaven.] Here note,

1*st*, That our Lord, by giving these Keys to St. Peter, cannot be reasonably supposed to give him a Supremacy over the rest of the Apostles, or over the whole Church of Christ, because the Text informs us, that these Keys were given to St. Peter, that with them he might bind, and loose; now, whatsoever binding and loosing may import, 'tis sure, doth equally belong to all the rest of the Apostles; Christ having said to them in general, as fully as he did to Peter, Verily, I say unto you, Whatsoever ye shall bind on Earth, shall be bound in Heaven; and whatsoever ye shall loose on Earth, shall be loosed in Heaven, Matth. 18. 18. See the words expounded there. Note,

2*dly*, That the use of a Key being to open a Door, or Gate, Christ here promises to Peter, that he should be the Person who should first open the Gate of the Kingdom of Heaven both to Jew and Gentile, by making the first Converts among both, and letting some of both into the Church; but then it is evident, that both James and John exercised this Office independently upon Peter, in converting those of the Circumcision as well as he; and that St. Paul was, by way of Excellency, and by virtue of his Mission, the Apostle of the Gentiles, Rom. 11. 13. — 15. 16. Gal. 1. 16. — 2. 8. 1 Tim. 2. 7. 2 Tim. 1. 11. and opened the Kingdom of Heaven to far more Gentiles than ever Peter did, Rom. 15. 18, --- 22. And therefore had this Key of the Kingdom of Heaven, given to him as much as to St. Peter.

k Ver. 20. Then charged he his Disciples, ἵνα μηδενὶ εἴπωσιν ὅτι αὐτός ἐστιν Ἰησοῦς ὁ Χριστός, that they should tell no Man that he was Jesus the Christ;] i. e. till after his Resurrection, when they were by Office to be his Witnesses, and to declare to others that he was the Christ, because then they could do it, not only without suspicion of Confederacy, but with greater Advantage, and better Success, after that Christ had taken possession of his Kingdom, and had testified this, by his sitting down at the right Hand of Power, and by sending down upon them the Holy Ghost, to enable them to confirm this Testimony; and when he was no longer to be subject to those humble Circumstances, and to that Death which might divert them from receiving him under the Character of the Son of God; whereas had his own Disciples publickly declared him to be the King of the Jews, and the Son of God, whilst he was on Earth, as this would have look'd like a Confederacy betwixt them and their Master, so might it have encouraged the Attempt of the Jews, to come and make him a King, John 6. 15. especially when he was shortly to go up to Jerusalem in Royal Triumph, Chap. 21. 8, 9.

l Ver. 21. Ἀπὸ τότε ἤρξατο δεικνύειν μαθηταῖς αὐτ ὅτι δεῖ αὐτὸν ἀπελθεῖν εἰς Ἱεροσόλυμα, From that time he began to shew to his Disciples, that he was to go up to Jerusalem, and to suffer many things of the Elders:] To what hath been hinted in the Paraphrase, that he was to go up to Jerusalem, because a Prophet could not suffer out of that City, Luke 13. 33. he being to be tried by the Sanhedrim which sat there; add also, that he was to be condemned by the Rulers, and those who had the Authority of Life and Death; that so being condemned and put to Death by them, who bore the Title of God's Vicegerents, he might more properly be said, to be smitten of God, and afflicted, Isa. 53. 4. tho' also alſo in an higher ſenſe, it pleaſed the Lord to bruiſe him, and put him to grief, by laying on him the Iniquity of us all, ver. 6.

m Ver. 22. Ἵλεώς ϛοι Κύριε, Far be it from thee, Lord.] This is a Phraſe very frequent in the Old Teſtament, and always uſed by way of abomination and abhorrence, anſwering to חלילהלך in the Hebrew; and it is always rendred either μηδαμῶς ϛοι, as Gen. 18. 25. 1 Sam. 2. 30.—12. 23.—20. 9.—22. 15. —24. 6. or μὴ γένοιτο, Gen. 44. 7, 17. Joſ. 22. 29. — 24. 16. 1 Kings 21. 3. i. e. abſit or nequaquam, and ſo is well rendred by us, far be it from thee: A like Phraſe חלילה־לו, is thrice rendred by the Septuagint, Ἵλεως μοὶ, 2 Sam. 20. 20. — 23. 17. where it is rendred, far be it from me; ſee 1 Maccab. 2. 21. and when Jehovah is added to it, and it is Ἵλεώς μοι ὁ Θεὸς, or μὴ γένοιτό μοι παρὰ τοῦ Θεοῦ, 1 Kings 21. 3. it is rendred, my God forbid it, 1 Chron. 11. 19. and this, ſome think, is the full import of the words here, ὁ Θεός, being underſtood, and therefore render them, God be merciful to thee, Sir.

n Ver. 23. Ὕπαγε ὀπίσω μου Σατανᾶ, Get thee behind me, Satan.] 'Tis ſomewhat ſtrange, that Origen, Hilary, Jerom, and St. Auſtin, ſhould conceive, that Chriſt ſhould only mean, Sequere meam ſententiam, follow my Opinion rather than thine own: Theſe words being doubtleſs a reprehenſion of St. Peter, with ſome vehemence and indignation, as under a pretence of Charity, ſhewing himſelf an Adverſary to Chriſt, as the word Satan ſignifies, Numb. 22. 32. 2 Sam. 19. 23. 1 Kings 5. 4. — 11. 14. Pſal. 109. 6. and doing the work of Satan by tempting him to diſobey his Father's Will and Command, John 10. 18. and to decline a Work ſo neceſſary for the Salvation of Souls; and being more concerned for the advancement of that Temporal Kingdom the Jews expected from their Meſſiah, than for the Glory of God, and the Good of Souls.

o Ver. 24. Εἴ τις θέλει ὀπίσω μου ἐλθεῖν, If any Man will come after me, let him deny himſelf, &c.] See Note on Mark 8. 34. and on Luke 14. 27.

p Ver. 25, 26. Ὃς γὰρ ἂν θέλῃ τὴν ψυχὴν αὐτοῦ ϛῶσαι ἀπολέσει αὐτὴν, For whoſoever will ſave his Life, ſhall loſe it.] That the word ψυχὴ ſhould be here rendred Life, rather than Soul, in the ſublimer acceptation of the word, ſeems highly probable, from theſe Conſiderations: (1.) Becauſe Chriſt, who came to ſave Mens Souls, could not require of any Perſons, that they ſhould loſe their Souls in the worſt ſenſe, but only that they ſhould lay down their Lives for his ſake. (2.) Becauſe in the Old Teſtament, this Phraſe continually occurreth in this ſenſe, where τηρεῖν τὴν ψυχὴν, Prov. 13. 3. — 16. 17. — 19. 16. — 23. 14. ϛῶσαι τὴν ψυχὴν, Amos 2. 14, 15. is to preſerve Life, ῥύσαι τὴν ψυχὴν, Pſal. 6. 4. — 7. 1, 2. is to deliver us from Death, ἀπολέσαι τὴν ψυχὴν, Pſal. 26. 9. to loſe Life, or die. (3.) Becauſe it frequently occurs in prophane Authors in this ſenſe, as when we read in (d) Agathias, What if we gain all Perſia, τὰς δ' ψυχὰς ἐζημιωμένοι; but loſe our Lives? And Achilles in (e) Homer, ſays, ὃ γὰρ ἐμοὶ ψυχῆς ἀνπάξιον ἄλλο, Nothing is comparable to my Life. Laſtly, The Benefit which will accrue to us by loſing of this Life, follows in the Reward ſuch Perſons ſhall receive at Chriſt's coming: And I humbly conceive, our Saviour's Argument may be to this effect; it is natural for all Men to have the greateſt regard for the preſervation of their Lives, whence they ſo frequently declare (f) τιμιώτερον οὐδὲν ὃ φίλτερον ἄλλο, that nothing is more pretious or deſirable, nothing is fit to be given in exchange for it; he therefore will act moſt ſuitably to this natural Principle, who continues ſtedfaſt in the Chriſtian Faith and Doctrine, for his Life will be prolonged happily for ever; whereas, he that forſakes it, will loſe his Intereſt in this Promiſe of eternal Life. For, the Son of Man will come to render to every Man according to his Works, to them who have been faithful to him to the Death, Eternal Life; whereas the Unbelievers and Apoſtates ſhall not ſee this Life, but ſhall be certainly obnoxious to the Second Death.

q Ver. 27. Μέλλει γὰρ ὁ υἱὸς τοῦ ἀνθρώπου ἔρχεσθαι ἐν τῇ δόξῃ τοῦ πατρὸς αὐτοῦ μετὰ τῶν ἀγγέλων αὐτοῦ, For the Son of Man ſhall come in the Glory of his Father, with his Angels, &c.] I do not think that there is any neceſſity of interpreting theſe words of the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem, to make them comport with the Verſe following: They ſeem more plainly to relate to the Day of Judgment. For, (1.) The Expreſſions are parallel to thoſe which are elſewhere unqueſtionably meant of that Great Day, as Matth. 25. 31. The Son of Man ſhall come in his Glory, and all his holy Angels with him, and ſhall place the Goats on his left hand, &c. 2 Theſſ. 1. 7. In the Revelation of the Lord Jeſus from Heaven, with his Hoſt of Angels, the Wicked ſhall be puniſhed with everlaſting Deſtruction from the Glory of his Power. See Matth. 13. 41, 49. Jude 14. (2.) The words, Then ſhall he render to every Man according to his Works, cannot relate to the Jews only; thoſe words, in all other places, plainly relating to the Day of Judgment; as Rom. 2. 6, 16. Rev. 22. 12. whereas, at the Deſtruction of the Jewiſh Nation, he only rendred to them according to their Works. The words may therefore be thus Paraphraſed; There is no cauſe why any Man ſhould fear to loſe his Life

Life for my ſake, or think himſelf wiſe in preſerving it, by denying me; for the Son of Man will come in the Glory of his Father, who hath made him Judge both of the Quick and the Dead, and then he will render a Reward of eternal Life, to them who have ſuffered for his ſake, and ſubject them to eternal Death, who have been aſhamed of him and of his Words; nor have you cauſe to doubt of his Power, thus to judge and inflict Puniſhments on Men, ſince he will ſhortly give a ſignal Experiment of it, in inflicting the ſevereſt Puniſhments on the unbelieving Jews. For,

l Ver. 28. Ἀμὴν λέγω ὑμῖν, εἰσὶ τινες τῶν ὧδε ἑστηκότων, Verily, I ſay unto you, there are ſome of them who are ſtanding here, who ſhall not taſte of Death, till they ſee the Son of Man coming in his Kingdom.] It ſeems wonderful, that ſome, both antient and modern Interpreters, ſhould conceive this Paſſage relates to our Lord's Transfiguration on the Mount, mentioned in the following Chapter; ſince (1.) The ſeeing that, could not be the ſeeing Chriſt's coming in his Kingdom; his Kingdom being not begun till after his Reſurrection, when all Power in Heaven and Earth was given to him, Matth. 28. 18. (2.) It was as true of all the Apoſtles, as of Peter, James, and John, that they ſhould not taſte of Death, till after that Viſion which hapned but ſix Days after theſe words were ſpoken, Chap. 17. 1. Nor did Chriſt at his Transfiguration, render to any one according to his Works. Nor, (3.) Can theſe words be underſtood of the Great Day of Judgment; there being none ſtanding there, who did not die long before that time; and to taſte of Death, in the Jewiſh Phraſe, ſignifies no more: Thus, when Chriſt ſaid, He that believeth in me, ſhall never die; the Jews repeat his words thus, He ſhall never taſte of Death, John 8. 52. And to be ſure, it can import no more, when it is ſaid of Chriſt, He taſted Death for every Man, Heb. 2. 9. Accordingly the Jews ſay, The firſt Adam was worthy not to taſte of Death. Nor, (4.) Can we underſtand this of Chriſt's Reſurrection and Exaltation to the right Hand of God, and the Miſſion of the Holy Ghoſt; for this being ſaid not long before his Paſſion, it is not reaſonable to conceive, Chriſt ſhould with an Aſſeveration ſay, ſome ſtanding here, ſhall not taſte of Death till they ſee that which was to happen in leſs time than half a Year: 'Tis therefore more probable, that this is ſpoken of Chriſt's coming after forty Years, to the Deſtruction of the Jewiſh Church and Nation, and to render to them according to their Works; for this was to happen in that Generation, Matth. 24. 34. and St. John, and many ſtanding there, might ſee it; that alſo is repreſented as the παρουσία, or coming of the Son of Man, Matth. 24. 3, 27, 39, 44. then was the Son of Man to come, John 21. 22. Heb. 10. 37. with Power, Matth. 24. 30. and great Glory, Mark 13. 26. and with his Angels, Matth. 16. 27. and to come in the Clouds, Rev. 1. 7. and then was the Kingdom of God near, Luke 21. 31. Well therefore might this Glorious Advent of the Son of God, in ſo great Majeſty, and ſuch Reſemblance of his Second Coming at the Day of Judgment, be introduced as a juſt ground to believe, and to expect that Day, viz. a time when Chriſt ſhould puniſh with Deſtruction from his Preſence, all that did not believe and obey his Goſpel, as he had then puniſhed the Unbelieving Jews, and that he ſhould afterwards ſay to all his Enemies, as he then ſignally did to the Jews, Bring theſe mine Enemies that would not I ſhould reign over them, and ſlay them before me, Luke 19. 27. And this Interpretation fully agrees with thoſe words of Chriſt, Matth. 24. 30. then ſhall they (the Jews,) ſee the Son of Man coming in the Clouds of Heaven with great Power and Glory; and, Matth. 26. 64. After a while, ye ſhall ſee the Son of Man ſitting at the right Hand of the Power of God, and coming in the Clouds of Heaven.

CHAP. XVII.

a 1. AND after ſix Days (from the Diſcourſe had with his Diſciples, till the Day of his Aſcent; ſee Note on Mark 9. 2.)
b Jeſus taketh Peter, James, and John his Brother, and bringeth them up into an high Mountain apart, (which he aſcended to pray there, Luke 9. 28.)

2. And (whilſt he was praying, Luke 9. 29. he) was transfigured before them, and his Face did ſhine as the Sun, and his Raiment was white, (and ſhining, Luke 9. 29.) as the Light.

c 3. And behold, there appeared to them Moſes and Elias talking with him, (of his Deceaſe which he ſhould accompliſh at Jeruſalem, Luke 9. 31.)

4. Then anſwered (i. e. ſpake) Peter, and ſaid unto Jeſus, Lord, it is good for us to be here; if thou wilt, let us make here three Tabernacles, one for thee, and one for Moſes, and one for Elias.

5. While he yet ſpake, behold a bright Cloud overſhadowed them, and behold a Voice (came) out of the Cloud, which ſaid, This is my beloved Son, in whom I am well pleaſed, hear ye him; (according to the prediction of Moſes, Deut. 18. 15. him ſhall ye hear.)

6. And when the Diſciples heard it, they fell on their Faces, and were ſore afraid.

7. And Jeſus came and touched them, and ſaid, Ariſe, and be not afraid.

8. And when they had lift up their Eyes (which were heavy with Sleep, Luke 9. 32.) they ſaw no Man ſave Jeſus only.

9. And as they came down from the Mountain, Jeſus charged them, ſaying, [d] Tell the Viſion to no Man, (no, not to your fellow Diſciples,) until the Son of Man be riſen again from the Dead.

10. And (upon this charge) his Diſciples asked him, ſaying, (If the Appearance of Elias muſt be ſo great a Secret, even till thy departure,) [e] Why then ſay the Scribes, that Elias muſt firſt come (to anoint the Meſſias, and make him manifeſt to Iſrael?)

11. And Jeſus anſwered, and ſaid unto them, Elias truly ſhall come firſt, and reſtore all things; (i. e. he indeed is to come firſt for this end, according to the words of the Prophet Malachy, chap. 4. 6.)

12. But (then) I (alſo) ſay unto you, That (the) Elias (of whom he ſpake) is come already; and they knew (i. e. acknowledged) him not, but have done unto him whatſoever they liſted; (the Phariſees rejecting his Baptiſm, and blaſpheming him as one that had a Devil, Luke 7. 30, 33.) likewiſe ſhall alſo the Son of Man ſuffer of them.

13. Then the Diſciples underſtood, that he ſpake to them of John the Baptiſt, (as of that Elias which was for to come.)

14. And (the Day following, Luke 9. 37.) when they were come to the Multitude, (he ſaw them about his Diſciples, and the Scribes queſtioning with them, and asked them, What they enquired about? Mark 9. 14, 16. and) there came unto him a certain Man, kneeling down to him, and ſaying,

15. Lord, have Mercy on my Son, (my only Son, Luke 9. 38.) for he is a Lunatick, and ſore vexed (with a dumb Spirit, Mark 9. 16.) for (this Spirit taketh him, and ſuddenly he cries out, and he ſhakes him; ſo that he foameth again, and bruiſing him, hardly departeth from him, Luke 9. 39. yea,) oft times he falleth into the Fire, and oft into the Water;

16. And (in thy abſence) I brought him to thy Diſciples, and they could not cure him, (and this raiſed the Queſtion betwixt the Phariſees and Lawyers, and thy Diſciples.)

17. Then Jeſus anſwered and ſaid (unto theſe Phariſees and Scribes,) [f] O faithleſs and perverſe Generation, How long ſhall I be with you? how long ſhall I ſuffer you? Bring him hither to me: (Luke 9. 42. And as he was yet coming, the Devil threw him down, and he fell on the ground, and wallowed foaming, Mark 9. 20. And Jeſus asked his Father, How long is it ago, ſince this came to him? And he ſaid, of a Child, ver. 21. But if thou canſt do any thing, have compaſſion on us, and help us, ver. 22. And Jeſus ſaid unto him, If thou canſt believe, all things are poſſible to him that believeth, ver. 23. And ſtraightway the Father of the Child cried out, and ſaid with Tears, Lord, I believe, help thou my unbelief, ver. 24.)

18. And (when) Jeſus (ſaw that the people came running together, Mark 9. 25. he) rebuked the Devil, and (ſaying to him, Thou dumb and deaf Spirit, I charge thee come out of him, and enter no more into him; the Spirit cried, and rent him ſore, and) he departed out of him, (but ſo as to leave him as one dead, inſomuch that many ſaid, He is dead; but Jeſus took him by the Hand, and lifted him up, and he aroſe, Mark 9. 24, 25, 26.) and the Child was cured from that very hour.

19. Then came the Diſciples to Jeſus apart, (when he was come into the Houſe, Mark 9. 28.) and ſaid, Why could not we caſt him out?

20. And Jeſus ſaid unto them, becauſe of your Unbelief, for verily I ſay unto you, [g] If ye have Faith as a grain of Muſtard-ſeed, (a ſmall degree of active growing Faith,) you ſhall ſay to this Mountain, Remove hence to yonder place, and it ſhall remove, and nothing (relating to your Office) ſhall be impoſſible to you; (i. e. you ſhall thro' Faith, be enabled to do very extraordinary things for the promotion of the Goſpel, and to remove the greateſt obſtructions to the progreſs of it, 2 Cor. 10. 4, 5.)

21. [h] Howbeit, this kind (of Devils) goeth not out but by (Faith, acquired by) Prayer and Faſting.

22. And while they abode in Galilee, (as they were privately going thro' it, Mark 9. 29.) Jeſus ſaid unto them, The Son of Man ſhall be betrayed into the Hands of Men,

23. And they ſhall kill him; and the third Day he ſhall be raiſed again; and they (not underſtanding what he meant by the Death and Reſurrection of the Meſſiah, Mark 9. 32. Luke 9. 45. or how to reconcile it with their received Notion, that their Meſſiah ſhould not die, John 12. 34.) were exceeding ſorry.

24. And when they were come to Capernaum, (where Chriſt and Peter dwelt, Mat. 8. 14.) they that received the Tribute Money, (that every Jew yearly paid to the Temple,) came to Peter, and ſaid (to him,) Doth not your Maſter pay Tribute?

25. He ſaith, Yes: And when he was come into the Houſe (of Peter,) Jeſus prevented him, ſaying, What thinkeſt thou, Simon? [i] Of whom do the Kings of the Earth take Cuſtom or Tribute, of their own Children, or of Strangers? (i. e. of others only, only, who are not of their Sons, or of their own Family.)

26. Peter ſaith unto him, Of Strangers. Jeſus ſaith unto him, Then are the Children free; (i. e. then this Tribute, which is paid to God for his Temple, belongs not to me to pay, who am his Son.)

k 27. [k] Notwithſtanding, leſt we ſhould offend them, (i. e. ſeem to them who know nothing of this reaſon of my Exemption, to contemn the Temple and the Service of it, for which this Tribute is deſigned;) Go thou to the Sea, and caſt an Hook, and take up the Fiſh that firſt cometh up; and when thou haſt opened his Mouth, thou ſhalt find a piece of Money (worth two Shillings and Sixpence, or two half Shekels;) that take, and give unto them (as the two half Shekels due) for me, and thee, (who dwell at Capernaum.)

a Ver. 1. ΚΑΙ' μθ' ἡμέρας ἕξ· And after ſix Days.] See Note on Mar. 9. 2.

b Ibid. Παραλαμβάνει ὁ Ἰησοῦς τὸν Πέτρον, Jeſus taketh with him Peter, James, and John:] Theſe being afterwards to be great Pillars of the Church, eſpecially of the Circumciſion, Gal. 2. 9. Chriſt changes their Names, admits them here to this Viſion in the Mount, he takes them with him, when he raiſes the Ruler of the Synagogue's Daughter to Life, Mark 5. 37. and in his Agony, Matth. 26. 37.

c Ver. 3. Καὶ ἰδοὺ ὤφθη αὐτοῖς Μωσῆς καὶ Ἠλίας μετ' αὐτοῦ συλλαλοῦντες· And behold, there appeared to them Moſes and Elias talking with him.] Becauſe Chriſt commands his Diſciples to tell no Man, τὸ ὅραμα, the Viſion, ver. 9. hence ſome conjecture, That Moſes and Elias were not truly there, or ſeen by them, but only that they had in their Phantaſie, or Imagination, an Appearance of them; but this is very improbable: For St. Luke ſaith expreſly, That theſe two talked with him, and ſpake of his Exit, which he was to accompliſh at Jeruſalem; and that all this was done whilſt theſe Diſciples were aſleep; and had ſeen nothing, adding, that after they were awake, they ſaw two Men ſtanding with them, Luke 9. 30, 31, 32. See alſo Mark 9. 4. And therefore this by St. Luke, is ſtiled, not ὅραμα, a Viſion; which, when it is repreſented to the Phanſie, hapneth rather to Men in a ſleep, than after they awake, but ὀπτασία, a repreſentation of the thing to their Eyes: 'Tis therefore probable, that God might preſerve both their Bodies to this end; for the Body of Elias was carried up into Heaven, 2 Kings 2. 11. The Body of Moſes was not found; it diſappeared, ſaith (a) Joſephus; he aſcended, ſay the Jews, and miniſtred to God in the Heavens: But the Text ſaying expreſly, that he was buried in a Valley in the Land of Moab, over againſt Beth Peor: Or as the Hebrew, He, i. e. God, buried him τῶν τῶν ἁγίων ἀγγέλων, by his holy Angels; ſaith (*) Epiphanius, his Body muſt be raiſed, or miraculouſly appear; and to this Burial by Angels, perhaps refers that Altercation mentioned by St. Jude, betwixt Michael and the Devil, touching the Body of Moſes; the coming of theſe two great Prophets, one the Deliverer, the other the Reſtorer of the Law of Moſes; when God ſaid of Chriſt, This is my beloved Son, hear him, ſhewed, that the Law was henceforth to give place to the Goſpel preached by him. Moreover, that theſe were two Men, as St. Luke ſpeaks, their Eyes informed them; that they were Moſes and Elias, their talk together might declare; for, how elſe Peter ſhould learn who they were, but either from their Diſcourſe with Chriſt, or Chriſt's Diſcourſe with him, and his Aſſociates as he went up into the Mount, that he was going to meet with them, I am not able to imagine.

Ver. 9. Μηδενὶ εἴπητε τὸ ὅραμα, Tell no man the Viſion,] the thing that ye have ſeen; not the reſidue of the Diſciples, that they be not troubled that they were not admitted to ſee it; not thoſe Believers that now follow me, that they be not ſcandalized at my Sufferings after ſo glorious a Transfiguration. d

Ver. 10, 11, 12. Why ſay the Scribes, &c. See Note on Mark 9. 11, 12, 13. e Ver. 17. Ὦ γενεὰ ἄπιστος καὶ διεστραμμένη· O faithleſs and perverſe Generation, how long ſhall I be with you? &c.] That Chriſt ſaid not this to his Apoſtles, appears, (1.) from thoſe words, Bring ye him to me, they being ſpoken, not to them, but to the Multitude, Mark 9. 20. among whom were the Scribes, v. 16. (2.) Becauſe if Chriſt had ſpoken thus to them, they could not have been ignorant of the reaſon, why they could not caſt out this Devil, and ſo they could not have put this Queſtion to Chriſt, Why could not we caſt him out? v. 28. the reaſon of it, if theſe words were ſpoken to them, being clearly given here, viz. their want of Faith. Nor (3.) doth Chriſt ſpeak this to the Father of the Lunatick, for, (1.) He was not faithleſs, but only ὀλιγόπιστος, one of little Faith. (2.) It ſeems not proper to ſay to one Man, Oh faithleſs Generation! (3.) There ſeemeth to be nothing in the Father which deſerved this ſharp Rebuke, he coming very f humbly on his Knees to Chriſt, to beg this Mercy for his Son, v. 15. and ſaying to him with ſuch ardor, Lord, I believe, help thou my Unbelief, Mark 9. 23. upon which ſaying his Son was ſtraitway cured.

It therefore is to be noted from St. Mark, v. 14, 16. that the Scribes were then diſputing with Chriſt's Diſciples, and perhaps inſulting over them, as having found out a Diſtemper, which could not be cured by his Name and Power; whence Chriſt asks them, what it was about which they diſputed? v. 15. It therefore ſeems moſt probable that Chriſt ſpake this to them, to whom at other times he uſes the ſame Language, ſtiling them a wicked and adulterous Generation; Matth. 12. 39. — 16. 4. Luke 11. 29.

g Ver. 20. Ἐὰν ἔχητε πίστιν ὡς κόκκον σινάπεως ἐρεῖτε τῷ ὄρει τούτῳ· If ye have Faith as a Grain of Muſtard Seed, ye may ſay to this Mountain, — and nothing ſhall be impoſſible to you.] By Faith as a Grain of Muſtard Seed, ſome underſtand a Faith that groweth and increaſeth as a Grain of Muſtard Seed, Matth. 13. 31, 32. or Faith as ſtrong and active in the Heart, as Muſtard-ſeed is on the Palate; and that becauſe Chriſt elſewhere, for the removing of a Mountain, i. e. to perform things moſt difficult, (See Note on Matth. 21. 21.) requires πίστιν Θεοῦ, Faith in God, which ſeems to ſignifie an excelling Faith, Mark 11. 22, 23. Faith without doubting, Matth. 21. 21. (2.) Becauſe St. Paul reckons Faith able to remove Mountains, as an indication of the ſtrongeſt Faith, 1 Cor. 13. 2.

Now according to this Expoſition the ſenſe runs thus, Did your Faith increaſe, according to the Examples of God's Power you have had before your Eyes; as a Grain of Muſtard-ſeed grows up to be the greateſt of all Herbs, ſo ſo would your Faith tranſmount and grow ſuperior to all Difficulties.

But Buxtorf in the word Chardal, doth inform us, that a Grain of Muſtard-ſeed was proverbially uſed among the Jews, pro re minima, for the leaſt thing, as he there ſhews by many Examples; and therefore it is probable that Chriſt, ſpeaking to them who were accuſtomed to this Phraſe, uſed it in their ſenſe, for the leaſt ſincere Faith in God, which they who fear, Mark 4. 40. or doubt, James 1. 6. ſeem not to have. So that the import of theſe words ſeems to be this, If you, who are commiſſionated by me, and by the Father which ſent me, to work all kinds of Miracles needful to confirm my Doctrine, in my Name, had the leaſt meaſure of that Faith which caſts out fear and doubting of ſucceſs in the diſcharge of your Office, you might perform things moſt difficult, and even this Faith in its effects would be moſt mighty.

Ver. 21. Τοῦτο δὲ τὸ γένος οὐκ ἐκπορεύεται εἰ μὴ h
ἐν προσευχῇ καὶ νηστείᾳ· But this kind goeth not out but by Prayer and Faſting;] i. e. but by the Faith which is to be acquired by Prayer and Faſting. And this is not ſaid to expreſs the pertinacy of this kind of Devils, or the Power, which the great Sins of the poſſeſſed had given them over him, this Perſon being thus poſſeſſed παιδιόθεν, from his youth, or Childhood; but to inform his Diſciples, that this miraculous Faith, being the ſpecial Gift of God, was to be ſought for, by flagrant Devotion, that it might never be wanting to them.

Ver. 25. Οἱ βασιλεῖς τῆς γῆς ἀπὸ τίνων λαμ- i βάνουσι τέλη; Of whom do the Kings of the Earth receive Tribute or Cuſtom, of their own Children, or of Strangers?] That our Lord ſpeaks here of the half Shekel paid every Year, by all Jews above twenty years old, to the Temple, for the buying the daily Sacrifice, and other things neceſſary for the Worſhip of God, appears, (1.) From the word δίδραχμα, uſed v. 24. for the Jews, ſaith (b) Joſephus, δυὸ δραχμὰς ἀνὰ πᾶν ἔτος εἰς τὸ ἐν Ἱεροσολύμοις νεὼν ἐτέλεσαν, paid yearly two attick Drams for the uſe of the Temple at Jeruſalem; and this they did according to the Precept requiring of them the half Shekel, called by the Septuagint τὸ δίδραχμον ἄργιον, Exod. 30. 13. Neh. 10. 32. (2.) Becauſe our Saviour's Argument why he ſhould not pay this Tribute as being the Son of that King to whom it was paid, holds not with reference to the other Tribute paid to Cæſar, he being not the Son of Cæſar, but of God.

Ver. 27. Ἵνα δὲ μὴ σκανδαλίσωμεν αὐτούς· k
Leſt we ſhould offend them;] i. e. give them occaſion to ſay, that I deſpiſe the Temple, and its Service, and teach my Diſciples ſo to do, pay a στατῆρα, or a piece of Money of the value of two Drachms, ſaith Phavorinus, for me, being here at Capernaum, and for thee, having thy Houſe there, Matth. 8. 14. By which Example Chriſt teacheth us to avoid the Scandal, and ſiniſter Suſpicions of Men, tho' they be groundleſs, with ſome Detriment to our ſelves, eſpecially when they have not means ſufficient clearly to convince them, that as the Son of God, he had his Freedom. The Scandal of the Phariſees proceeding not from Ignorance, but pure Malice, he is not thus concerned to avoid, Chap. 15, 12.

CHAP. XVIII.

a 1. [a] AT the ſame time (that Jeſus ſpake of his Death and Reſurrection, Chap. 17. 22, 23.) came the Diſciples to Jeſus, ſaying (among themſelves) who is (to be) the greateſt in the Kingdom of Heaven? (i.e. who ſhall have the chief place of Dignity, and Advantage in the Kingdom of the Meſſiah.)

2. And Jeſus (being willing by this Emblem to ſatisfie this Diſpute, as far as it was uſeful to them,) called a little Child unto him, and (taking him up in his Arms, Mark 9. 35. He) ſet him in the midſt of them;

b 3. And ſaid, verily I ſay unto you, [b] except ye be converted (from theſe ambitious and covetous Deſires,) and become as (free from them, as are) little Children, ye ſhall not (be fit to) enter into the Kingdom of Heaven; (which chiefly requires of its Members Humility, and a Contempt of the World.)

4. Whoſoever therefore ſhall humble himſelf, (and be) as (free from all Thirſt after worldly Dignities, and Honours, as is) this little Child, the ſame is greateſt, (and moſt uſeful) in the Kingdom of Heaven; (for this Frame will render him willing to miniſter even to the meaneſt of my Members.)

5. And (that you may not be unwilling thus to miniſter to thoſe my little ones, know that) whoſoever ſhall receive one ſuch little Child in my Name, (tho' in this reſpect alſo he be a little Child, as being lately born anew, and yet tender in the Faith, ſhall be reſpected as one that) receiveth me.

c 6. [c] But whoſo ſhall offend (and drive from the Faith) one of theſe little ones that d believe in me, [d] it were better for him that a Milſtone were hanged about his Neck, and that he were drowned in the depth of the Sea, (i.e. that he ſuffered the ſureſt temporal Deſtruction.)

7. Wo (therefore) to the World becauſe of Offences, (i.e. of Scandals which obſtruct the receiving of, or cauſe weak perſons to e deſert the Faith,) [e] for it muſt needs be (through the unreſtrained Iniquity of Men) that Offences (of this kind ſhould) come; But wo to that Man by whom the Offence (which procures this ruin either to himſelf or others) comes.

8. Wherefore if thy Hand or thy Foot offend, (or be a means of Scandal to) thee, (or others, ſo as to bring this wo upon thee,) cut them off, and caſt them from thee, (i.e. quit whatſoever cauſeth this Scandal, how dear and uſeful ſoever it may ſeem to be, for) it is better for thee to enter into Life halt or maimed, rather than having two Hands, or two Feet, to be caſt into everlaſting Fire.

9. And (likewiſe) if thine Eye offend thee, pluck it out, and caſt it from thee, it is better for thee to enter into Life with one Eye, rather than having two Eyes to be caſt into Hell-fire.

10. Take heed (therefore) that ye deſpiſe not one of theſe little ones, (as not regarding whether ye offend them or not,) [f] for I f ſay to you, that in Heaven their Angels do always behold the Face of my Father which is in Heaven; (i.e. the Angels of Heaven, which are miniſtring Spirits to them, ſtand always in the preſence of God ready to receive his Commands concerning them, ſo highly are they valued by them; I ſay, deſpiſe them not.)

11. For the Son of Man is come to ſave that which was loſt, (and ſo by ſcandalizing them to their ruin, you will act in contradiction to the deſign of his Advent, and of him that ſent him; for,)

12. How think ye, if a Man have an hundred Sheep, and one of them be gone aſtray, doth he not leave the ninety and nine, and goeth into the Mountains, and ſeeketh that which is gone aſtray?

13. And if ſo be that he find it, verily I ſay to you, he rejoiceth more (at the finding) of that Sheep, than (at the ſeeing) of the ninety and nine which went not aſtray.

14. Even ſo (is the Joy of God for the recovery of a loſt Sinner,) it is not (therefore) the Will of your Father which is in Heaven, that one of theſe little ones ſhould periſh (by any Scandal put before them.)

15. (And in this concern to ſave others, it becomes you to imitate him;) [g] Moreover, g if (then) thy Brother ſhall treſpaſs againſt thee, go (firſt) and tell him his fault (friendly) between thee and him alone; if he ſhall (ſo) hear thee (as to confeſs and amend it,) thou haſt gained thy Brother.

16. But if he will not (thus) hear thee, (do not preſently give him over, but) then take with thee one or two more, (it being ſaid, Deut. 19. 15. One Witneſs ſhall not riſe up againſt any man for any Iniquity, but) that in (at) the Mouth of two or three Witneſſes, every word (or matter relating to his Condemnation) may be eſtabliſhed.

17. And if he ſhall neglect to hear them, tell it to the Church, (i.e. make it a matter of publick Cognizance,) but if he neglect to hear the Church, let him be to thee as an Heathen Man, and a Publican (among the Jews, one wholly neglected by thee, and not thought fit to be converſed with.)

18. [h] Verily I ſay unto you, whatſoever h (things) ye ſhall (thus) bind on Earth, (declaring them Actions unworthy of your farther mercy,) ſhall be bound in Heaven, (i.e. ſhall not find mercy there;) and whatſoever ye ſhall ſhall looſe on Earth, (or by this means ſhall exempt from guilt,) ſhall be looſed in Heaven.

19. (And if he being thus convinced of his Sins, deſires you to join in Prayers with him, your Prayers ſhall be accepted; for) [i] Again I ſay unto you, that if two of you ſhall agree on Earth, as touching any thing that they ſhall ask, it ſhall be done for them of my Father which is in Heaven.

20. For where two or three are gathered together in my Name (requeſting a Bleſſing for my ſake,) there am I in the midſt of them; (i. e. with them, to ſpeed their Petitions.)

21. [k] Then came Peter to him, and ſaid, Lord, how oft ſhall my Brother ſin againſt me, and I forgive him, (ſhall it be) till ſeven times? (as ſome of our Doctors gather from theſe words, for three Tranſgreſſions, and for four, Amos 1. 3.)

22. Jeſus ſaith to him, I ſay not to thee (as they do) until ſeven times, but until ſeventy times ſeven.

23. [l] Therefore (in this) is the Kingdom of Heaven likened to a certain King, who would take account of his Servants.

24. And when he had begun to reckon (with them) one was brought to him, who ought him Ten thouſand Talents, (i. e. 875000 l.)

25. But (and) foraſmuch as he had not (wherewithal) to pay, his Lord commanded him to be ſold, and his Wife and Children, and all that he had, (as the Eaſtern manner was, Lev. 25. 39, 41. Iſa. 50. 1. Neh. 5. 5, 8.) and payment to be made (by the Sale of them.)

26. The Servant therefore fell down (at his Feet) and worſhipped him, ſaying, Lord, have patience with me, and I will pay thee all.

27. Then the Lord of that Servant was moved with Compaſſion (towards him,) and looſed him, and (frankly) forgave him the Debt.

28. But the ſame Servant (who had thus kindly been dealt with by his Maſter,) went out, and found one of his Fellow-ſervants who owed him an hundred Pence, (i. e. 3 l. 2 s. 6 d. a Rom. Penny being ſeven pence half penny,) and he laid Hands on him, and took him by the Throat, ſaying, pay me that thou oweſt (me.)

29. And his Fellow-ſervant fell down at his Feet (likewiſe,) and beſought him, ſaying, (as he had done to his Maſter,) have patience with me, and I will pay thee all.

30. And (but) he would not (bear with him,) but went and caſt him into Priſon till he ſhould pay the Debt.

31. So when his Fellow-ſervants ſaw what was done, they were very ſorry, (for both him that thus ſuffered, and the unkindneſs of this Servant to him,) and (they) came and told to their Lord all that was done.

32. Then his Lord, after that he had called him, ſaid to him, O thou wicked Servant, I forgave thee all that (great) Debt (which thou owedſt to me, meerly) becauſe thou deſiredſt me (ſo to do.)

33. Shouldſt not (then) thou alſo have had Compaſſion on thy Fellow-ſervant, even as I had pity upon thee?

34. And his Lord was wroth (with him,) and delivered him to the Tormentors (Gaolers) till he ſhould pay all that was due to him.

35. So likewiſe ſhall my heavenly Father, do alſo to you, if ye, from your Hearts, forgive not every one his Brother their Treſpaſſes.

Annotations on Chap. XVIII.

a Ver. 1. Ἐν ἐκείνῃ τῇ ὥρᾳ προσῆλθον οἱ μαθηταὶ τῷ Ἰησοῦ· At that time came the Diſciples of Jeſus to him, ſaying, who is greateſt in the Kingdom of Heaven.] St. Mark ſaith, Chriſt put this Queſtion to them, and they held their peace; Chap. 9. 33. St. Luke, that they had been diſputing this point among themſelves, and Chriſt knowing the reaſoning of their Hearts, took a Child, Chap. 9. 46, 47. Now theſe ſeeming Differences are to be reconciled thus; that Jeſus going to Capernaum the Diſciples followed him, λέγοντες πρὸς ἑαυτούς, diſcourſing among themſelves, Mark 9. 33. who of them was to be the greateſt in the Kingdom of Heaven; and when they came to him into the Houſe, Jeſus knowing what was ſtill upon their Hearts, and they were ſtill pondering among themſelves, Luke 9. 47. asks them, What was it you diſcourſed of in the way? which they being aſhamed to tell him, kept ſilence, Mark 9. 33, 34. then Chriſt who underſtood well what it was, endeavours by the Example of a little Child, to cure this Diſtemper. That the Participle λέγοντες relates not here to Chriſt, as if they put the Queſtion, but to themſelves, as I have here expounded it, is evident; (1.) From their ſilence, when asked touching this matter; and St. Luke's note, that Jeſus, perceiving the Thoughts of their Hearts, did this; for had they put that Queſtion to Chriſt, how could they, or why ſhould they hold their peace; or what need was there of ſaying, Jeſus knowing their Hearts, did this, in a matter which they had uttered to him with their Mouths? (2.) To a Queſtion it is uſually ſaid, Jeſus anſwered, or anſwering did ſo or ſo, which is not here ſaid;

ſaid; thus when he rebuked the Winds, the Apoſtles wonder, λέγοντες ſaying among themſelves, what manner of Perſon is this, Matth. 8. 27. the Multitude wondred λέγοντες ſaying among themſelves, we never ſaw it thus before, Chap. 9. 33. So Chap. 14. 26. — 16. 7. 19. 25. — 21. 9, 10. and v. 25. οἱ δὲ διελογίζοντο παρ' ἑαυτοῖς λέγοντες, and they reaſoned, ſaying among themſelves, Chap. 22. 23. Then came to him the Sadducees, οἱ λέγοντες, thoſe who ſay there is no Reſurrection. So Chap. 23. 16. — 26. 8. — 27. 54.

b Ver. 3. Ἐὰν μὴ στραφῆτε καὶ γένησθε ὡς τὰ παιδία· Except ye be converted, and become as little Children, you cannot enter into the Kingdom of Heaven.] In that temporal Kingdom of the Meſſiah, which the Jews expected, they thought they ſhould have rule over all Nations, having them for their Servants, and all their Wealth flowing in to them; and then the Twelve muſt naturally think, that they ſhould have the Preference above other Jews, and be advanced to higher Poſts of Honour and Grandeur, and have a greater Affluence of outward Bleſſings than other Jews; and ſeeing the King Meſſiah muſt have ſome Officers of higheſt Rank, they concluded it muſt be ſome of them, tho' they could not agree who of them were the fitteſt for, or beſt deſerved theſe high Poſts of Honour: Now our Saviour's Kingdom being not of this World, and therefore nothing of this nature being to be expected from him, but rather that his Followers, and the Apoſtles more eſpecially, ſhould ſuffer the loſs of all things, and lie under the utmoſt Infamy, Chriſt plainly tells them, that theſe Inclinations, Deſires, and Expectations were inconſiſtent with their being Members of that ſpiritual Kingdom, which he was to erect, ſince they who followed him chiefly on theſe accounts, when they ſaw no ſuch thing could be expected from him, but rather the quite contrary, muſt deſert him; and therefore here requires them to fit them for this Kingdom, to become as to theſe things, like little Children, who are abſolutely free from all Contrivances, and Deſigns of this nature, never concerned in the leaſt for Empire and Dominion over others, or for increaſe in Wealth or great Poſſeſſions, and know not what a Poſt of Honour, or what Wealth means; this, ſaith our Lord, being that which will remove, all that obſtructs your entrance into my Kingdom, and make you the moſt eminent Subjects of it, v. 4. and ſo ſhall be regarded by me; for to encourage all Men to ſhew the greateſt kindneſs to them, I let them know I will accept, and will reward all kindneſs done to them, as if it were done to my own ſelf, and will ſeverely puniſh all that ſhall offend them, v. 5, 6.

Ver. 6. Ὃς δ' ἂν σκανδαλίσῃ ἕνα τῶν μικρῶν τούτων τῶν πιστευόντων εἰς ἐμέ· But whoſo ſhall offend one of theſe little ones that believe in me.] It ſeemeth needleſs to note that Chriſt here ſpeaketh not of little ones by Age, (they being both incapable of Faith, and free from Scandal,) but by Quality and Temper of Spirit; to ſcandalize one of theſe little ones, is to occaſion his Ruin, and falling off from the Faith, by our ſinful Actions; as is apparent, (1.) From theſe words, ver. 14. It is not the Will of their heavenly Father, that one of thoſe little ones ſhould periſh. (2.) From the Severity of the Wo, and Puniſhment here threatned to him that ſcandalizeth, 'twere better for him that a Milſtone were hanged about his Neck, &c. even ſo much better, ſaith St. Jerom, as it is to ſuffer a ſhort, than an eternal puniſhment, the offending Eye and Hand cauſing us to be caſt into Hell-fire, v. 8, 9. and this ſenſe the word uſually beareth in the Goſpel, as when Chriſt ſaith, Matth. 11. 6. Bleſſed is he that ſhall not be offended in me, and Chap. 13. 21. that the ſtony Ground when Perſecution comes is preſently offended, i. e. falls off from the Faith; that when Tribulation ariſeth, many ſhall be offended, Matth. 24. 10. i. e. their Charity ſhall wax cold, nor will they perſevere to the end, ver. 12, 13. that the Hand and Eye do ſcandalize, when they cauſe the whole Body to be caſt into Hell-fire, Matth. 5. 29, 30. So the Jews were ſcandalized at Chriſt's mean Riſe and Parentage, Matth. 13. 57. Mark 6. 3. Luke 7. 23. and at his Words, v. 12. the Phariſees, Matth. 15. 12. the Multitude, and many of his Diſciples, John 6. 61, 62, 66. So Chriſt's Diſciples were ſcandalized for a Seaſon at his Paſſion, their Faith then failing, Matth. 26. 31, 33. Luke 24. 21. and Chriſt forewarns them of what they were to ſuffer, that they ſhould not be ſcandalized, John 16. 1. And that this is the conſtant import of this Phraſe in the New Teſtament, ſee Note on Rom. 14. 21. Falſe therefore is it, that they who truly do believe in Chriſt, and are of the number of thoſe whom God would not to periſh, ver. 14. cannot be ſo offended, as to fall from the Faith and periſh. And were this ſo, wherein lies the force of this pathetical Diſcourſe, and why are ſuch dreadful Woes and Puniſhments denounced to deter Men from doing, what not only is in it ſelf impoſſible, but which they alſo who are thus threatned, muſt believe to be ſo.

Ibid. 'Twere better Ἵνα κρεμασθῇ μύλος ὀνικὸς ἐπὶ τὸν τράχηλον αὐτοῦ· That a Milſtone were hanged about his Neck, and he caſt into the depth of the Sea.] Grotius here thinks, that this refers to a cuſtom of Drowning among the Syrians; but for this, he cites only from Euſebius, inſtances of Men drowned in the Sea,

Sea, and of a Stone hung at the Feet of the Martyr Agypius, but nothing of any Perſons who had a Milſtone hung about their Necks. Jerom upon the place, ſaith, that he ſpeaks according to the cuſtom of the Province; the Puniſhment of greater Criminals among the Ancients being this, that they ſhould be drowned in the Deep, with a Stone bound about them. Now of this cuſtom, ſaith Dr. Lightfoot, there is no mention either in the Law, or in the Rabbins: But Dr. Alix ſaith, it was cuſtomary for them, ἀναθέματα, in mare Sodomæ dejicere lapide annexo, to caſt execrable Men into the dead Sea with a Stone tied to them; and that there be divers places in the Miſnah which prove this. And certain it is from (a) Diodorus Siculus, and others, that this was the ancient Puniſhment of ſacrilegious Perſons, to be caſt into the Sea. That this cuſtom obtained in Greece, we learn from the Scholiaſt in (b) Ariſtophanes, who ſaith, that when they drowned any one, they hanged a weight about his Neck. To which cuſtom the (c) Poet alludes, by ſaying, he would hang a litigious Man about his Neck. And Suetonius ſaith of the Tutor and Servants of Caius, that Auguſtus ſuperbe & avare in provincia graſſantes oneratis gravi pondere cervicibus præciptavit in flumen, in Oct. Aug Chap. 67. for the Pride and Covetouſneſs by which they infeſted the Province, caſt them into the River with a great weight about their Necks.

e Ver. 7. Ἀνάγκη γάρ ἐστιν ἐλθεῖν τὰ σκάνδαλα· It is neceſſary that Offences ſhould come, but wo to the Man by whom the Offence cometh.] The neceſſity here mentioned is not a neceſſity ariſing from any Act of God ordaining, or procuring that Scandals ſhould come, or withdrawing, or not affording that Grace which is abſolutely neceſſary to prevent their coming, ſince otherwiſe it could be no Offence to ſcandalize, i. e. to do what 'twas not in my power to help; nor could it deſerve ſuch ſevere Woes and dreadful Puniſhments, ſince no Man deſerves Puniſhment for doing what he could not help, and God himſelf made neceſſary for him to do; nor could there be any force in, or ground for the following Exhortation, ſee that ye deſpiſe not one of theſe little ones; for to admoniſh any one not to do, what is neceſſary that he ſhould do, and what I who admoniſh him declare to be ſo, ſeems palpably abſurd. The neceſſity here mentioned is therefore only conditional, on ſuppoſition of the Wickedneſs of Men not hindred, the Subtilty and Malignity of Satan, and the Self-denial required of all who would embrace the Goſpel; whence nothing could be expected but that many ſhould be ſcandalized at, and be unwilling to embrace the Goſpel upon theſe terms, and many who had once embraced it ſhould flie off from it. And this ſeems to be hinted in thoſe words, Wo to him by whom the Scandal comes; which repreſents him as the proper cauſe of it; and from the words thus varied by St. Luke, Chap. 17. 1. ἀνένδεκτόν ἐστι, it is not to be expected that Offences ſhould not come; which word makes this ſenſe preferable to that of Grotius, that this is neceſſary ratione finis, to the ends of Divine Providence, for tho' it be neceſſary that God ſhould permit Men to do that which he hath foretold ſhall happen, as in the Crucifixion of our Lord; yet otherwiſe, as ſaith the Son of Syrach, God hath no need of the ſinful Man, Eccluſ. 15. 12. to accompliſh the Deſigns of his Providence, but rather foreſeeing that he will be ſo, he makes him his Inſtrument to fulfil them.

f Ver. 10. For I ſay unto you, ὅτι οἱ ἄγγελοι αὐτῶν ἐν οὐρανοῖς, that their Angels in Heaven do always behold the Face of my Father which is in Heaven.] Here St. Jerom's Note is this, Great is the Dignity of theſe little ones, ſeeing every one of them, from his Birth, hath an Angel delegated to preſerve him. This many of the Fathers did aſſert, as (d) Jerom, of all Souls; but others ſaid, this was the privilege only of the Juſt, as you may ſee in Petavius; and yet I think that neither of theſe Opinions concerning one particular Angel having the Cuſtody of one Soul, as his continual charge, hath any good Foundation in the Holy Scriptures; certain it is, that in this place Chriſt ſaith not, their Angel, but their Angels behold the Face of God; nor ſays he, that theſe Angels belong to all, but only to theſe little ones, nor that they always do attend upon their Perſons, but that they ſtand before the Face of God, ready to receive his Commands either to help them in their Exigencies, or puniſh them who injure them; hence then it follows not that they have always an Angel preſent with them, but only that the Angels in general, are miniſtring Spirits to them, Pſal. 34. 8. Heb. 1. 14. See the Note Acts 12. 15. And whereas theſe Angels are ſaid to behold the Face of God continually, that only ſeems to ſignifie their Intimacy in the Court of Heaven, expreſſed by Raphael, by going in and out before the Glory of the Holy One, Tob. 12. 15. and their Attendance on him as his Retinue, Servants, or as Meſſengers of his, that do his Pleaſure, Pleasure, Psal. 103. 21. thus speaks the Angel Gabriel of himself, I am Gabriel, ὁ παρεστηκὼς ἐνώπιον τοῦ Θεοῦ, who stand before God, Luke 1. 19. and so the Queen of Sheba, of Solomon's Servants, Blessed are thy Servants, οἱ παρεστηκότες ἐνώπιον σου διὰ ὅλου, who stand always before thee, 1 Kings 10. 8.

g Ver. 15. Ἐὰν δὲ ἁμάρτῃ εἰς σὲ ὁ ἀδελφός σου· If then thy Brother shall trespass against thee, go, and tell him his fault betwixt thee and him alone, — 17. let him be to thee as an Heathen Man, or a Publican;] i. e. the Son of Man being come to save that which was lost, v. 11. and God being unwilling that one of his little ones should perish, when thou seest any one in danger to be lost, or perish by his Sins committed against thee, use this Method to reclaim him; and if it fail, let him be to thee as a Heathen or Publican is to the Jews. So I interpret these words, because Christ neither neglected Publicans or Heathens, but freely conversed with both, in order to their Conversion, never ceasing to attempt the Cure of any, till they became incorrigible, as, in this case, the Brother admonished so oft in vain is supposed to be, and therefore to be one of whose Salvation we have as little hope, as the Jews had of Heathens and Publicans.

" The Papists hence argue for the Infalli" bility and final Decisions of all Doctrines
" by the Church Catholick, concluding thus,
" If he who will not hear the Church is in " the Judgment of God himself, to be held " as a Publican or Heathen, meerly because " he doth not hear her; and if God will ra-
" tifie in Heaven her Judgment here on Earth,
" as is asserted in the following Verse; then " cannot the Church err in any matter belong" ing unto Faith, because it is impossible, that " God should approve her Error in any mat" ter of Faith, or require us under this Penal" ty to hear her.

But the Command to tell the Offence of our private Brother, is not a Command to tell it to the Church Catholick met in Council; for then this Precept could not have been obeyed for the first three Centuries, no such Council ever meeting till the time of Constantine. Then, (2.) The Church must always be assembled in such a Council, because doubtless there are, and will be always Persons thus offending against their Christian Brethren. And (3.) then every private Person must be obliged at what distance soever he be from it, and how unable soever he may be to do so, to travel to this Council, and lay his private Grievance before them; all which are palpable Absurdities. Christ therefore only commands the offended Person to tell this to the Church, or particular Community of which he is a Member, as will be evident from the like Rule prescribed among the Jews, and practised by the primitive Christians. Thus in the Book (e) Mischar Happenenim the Wise Man saith, If thy Brother offend against thee, reprove him between him and thee alone, and if he hear thee, thou hast gained him, if he hear thee not, take with thee one or two Brethren, who may hear it; if then he hear thee not, count him a vile Person. And in the Book Musar, He that reproves his Brother, must do it first without Witnesses, betwixt his Brother and himself alone; if he amend, it is well; if not, take some Companions, that thou mayest shame him before them; if neither this way succeed, he ought to shame him, and lay open his Fault before many; nor is any thing more common among Jewish Writers, than to excommunicate the obstinate Person, Publico præconio, with Proclamation made in the Synagogue. And therefore this telling it to the Church, is in (f) Justin M. admonishing him, when his Obstinacy needs it, κατὰ κοινὸν, publickly; and the consequent excluding him from the Society, being done according to St. Paul's direction to his Corinthians, συναχθέντων ὑμῶν, when they were gathered together, 1 Cor. 5. 4. is therefore stiled by him, ἐπιτιμία ὑπὸ τῶν πλειόνων, the punishment inflicted by many, 2 Cor. 2. 6.

h Ver. 8. Verily I say unto you, Whatsoever things ye shall bind on Earth, shall be bound in Heaven; and whatsoever things ye shall loose on Earth, shall be loosed in Heaven.] For Explication of these words, let it be noted,

1*st*, That Christ saith not, what Persons ye shall bind on Earth; but what things; which seems to intimate, That our Lord speaks primarily of things, and only consequentially of Persons to be bound and loosed, as having contracted guilt by, or as being absolved from the guilt of those things. Note,

2*dly*, That λύειν, to loose in Scripture, and the Jewish Writers hath relation to Sin, and the pardon of it: So Job. 42. 9. Job prayed for his three Friends, and God accepted the Face of Job, καὶ ἔλυσεν ἁμαρτίαν αὐτοῖς, and forgave their Sin: So Ecclus 28. 2. Forgive the Injury of thy Brother; and so when thou prayest, ἁμαρτίαι σου λυθήσονται, thy Sins shall be forgiven: And then by the Rule of contraries, τὸ δῆσαι, to bind, must be to retain their Sins, or leave them under the Guilt, and obnoxious to the Punishment of them. Thus, because a Vow or Oath renders us obnoxious to Punishment upon a Transgression of it, the Person thus vowing or swearing, is said to bind his Soul by a Bond, Num. 30. 4, --- 11. And in the Jewish Phrase, to bind, is to forbid, under the Penalty of God's Diſpleaſure: So Numb. 11. 28. Moſes, Maſter forbid them; Oſarnun, bind them, ſaith the Chaldee; and to looſe, is to permit the doing this or that, and to pronounce them free from Sin and Puniſhment, or God's Diſpleaſure, tho' they do it. So in this very Chapter, The Lord of that Servant had compaſſion on him, and ἀπέλυσεν, he looſed him, and forgave him the Debt: And the Woman that had a Spirit of Infirmity, is ſaid to be looſed from it, Luke 13. 12. by the remiſſion of the Temporal Puniſhment inflicted on her for her Sin: This being premiſed, theſe words may have a threefold Interpretation.

1*ſt*, The firſt is, that of the Fathers, That whoſoever doth thus admoniſh his Brother as our Lord commands, if he refuſe to hearken to his Admonition, and therefore be eſteemed by him as a Heathen, he is bound by him, and ſhall be bound in Heaven; and being moved by his Admonition to that Repentance which obliges his Brother to remit his Sin, ſhall be looſed in Heaven. So (g) Origen. He ſpeaks not thus, ſay (h) Chryſoſtom and Theophylact, to the Ruler of the Church, but to the injured Perſon: For not he whom the Prieſt alone, but thoſe whom the offended Perſons bind, or looſe, are bound and looſed. And when thou, ſaith St. (i) Auſtin, holdeſt thy Brother an Heathen, or a Publican, thou haſt bound him upon Earth; when thou haſt procured his Amendment, ſolviſti eum in Terra, thou haſt looſed him upon Earth. Now this Solution and Ligation, which, ſaith Origen, agrees beſt with the Context, being the Work of any Chriſtian, who doth thus thrice admoniſh, and reprove his Brother, and who being the Perſon injured, is the moſt proper to looſe or pardon the Offence, can be no Evidence of any infallible Authority annexed to it, unleſs we do ſuppoſe all private Chriſtians to be infallible; and ſo according to this import of them, theſe words cannot be fitly uſed to plead for an infallible Authority in the Governours of the Church.

Moreover, Our Lord had ſpoken theſe very words to St. Peter, chap. 16. 19. where they can have no relation to this matter of Reproof, and therefore may be well ſuppoſed here to give the like Authority to his Apoſtles in the general. Let it be then remembred, that to bind, is to declare a thing forbidden, i. e. not to be done, under pain of the Divine Diſpleaſure; to looſe, is to abſolve from Obligation to do, or to abſtain from ſuch an Action, or to ſay, God will not hold us guilty for the doing, or omitting of it. In which ſenſe Iſis in (k) Diodorus Siculus, ſeems to ſay, Ὅσα ἐγὼ δήσω δεθείς ἄνευ ἐμοῦ λύσαι, I am the Queen of this Country, and whatſoever things I bind, (require or forbid, under pain of my Diſpleaſure,) no Man can looſe, (or exempt you from puniſhment upon Diſobedience:) And then the ſenſe of theſe Words will run thus; Nor ſhall you only in theſe caſes, have Power as Chriſtians, to looſe your Repenting, and bind your obſtinately offending Brother; but, as you are my Apoſtles, to whom I have promiſed my Spirit, to teach you all things, and lead you into all truth, John 16. 13. — 14. 26. Whatſoever things ye ſhall bind on Earth, or ſhall declare to be forbidden under pain of my Diſpleaſure, ſhall render them indeed obnoxious to my Wrath; and whatſoever things ye ſhall looſe on Earth, (tho' once required by Divine Authority, of thoſe who owned the Law of Moſes,) ſhall be looſed in Heaven, and Men ſhall be allowed to do them without incurring my Diſpleaſure. And in this ſenſe, this Promiſe is the Foundation of our obligation to believe and obey all the Commands and Doctrines of the Apoſtles, and of the Ceſſation of the Ritual Precepts of the Law of Moſes.

3*dly*, Others conceive, theſe words were ſpoken to the Apoſtles and their Succeſſors, and that they give them Power to excommunicate the ſtubborn Criminal, and to abſolve the Penitent: But then, (1.) It is confeſſed on all hands, That this Power of Excommunication and Abſolution, belongs ſeverally to every Prieſt; according to thoſe words of (l) Lombard, omnes & ſoli ſacerdotes recipiunt poteſtatem Clavium, all Prieſts, and they alone have the Power of the Keys; and then, ſurely it makes nothing for Infallibility. (2.) The Text plainly ſpeaks of Matters Criminal, which are the only Object of the Churches Cenſure, and not of Articles ticles of Faith: Now even Romaniſts themſelves acknowledge, that the Church may err in paſſing Judgment of theſe things, becauſe in caſes of this nature, ſhe depends on human Teſtimony, and therefore it is certain, that nothing can be hence concluded concerning the Infallibility of Councils, or any Articles of Faith defined by them.

i Ver. 19. Πάλιν λέγω ὑμῖν ὅτι ἐαν δυὸ ὑμῶν συμφωνήσωσιν, Again I ſay unto you, That if two of you ſhall agree upon Earth, as touching any thing that they ſhall ask, &c. for where two or three are gathered together in my Name, &c.] Here again,

1*ſt* One ancient Expoſition of theſe words, refers them to the offended Perſon, and the injurious Perſon repenting of his ſin, of whom it may be reaſonably ſuppoſed, that he will not only ask God pardon for his ſin, but will intreat his offended Brother to aſſiſt him in ſo doing, and then theſe words aſſure him, that the Prayer of Faith put up in the Name of Chriſt, ſhall obtain his pardon; the Prayer of Faith being effectual, not only for the Recovery of the Sick, but alſo for the Remiſſion of his ſins, James 5. 14, 15. This Expoſition of the words, we find twice in (m) St. Baſil, and in other Fathers; but it is liable to this Objection, that it reſtrains theſe words to one particular, viz. the pardon of the Penitent; whereas it is, περὶ παντὸς πράγματος, concerning any thing that they ſhall ask. And therefore,

2*dly*, Others reſtrain theſe words to the Apoſtles, looking on them as a Promiſe peculiarly made to them; as thoſe words, I ſay to you, ſeem to inſinuate; ſo (n) Chryſoſtom, Euthymius and Theophylact: And then the coherence will run thus, viz. and you may be aſſured of this Aſſiſtance of the Spirit, in any matter reſpecting the Diſcharge of your Apoſtolical Function, if you unanimouſly conſent to ask it in my Name, i. e. by interceding to the Father in my Name; according to theſe words of Chriſt, Hitherto have ye asked nothing in my Name; Ask, and ye ſhall receive, John 16. 24. and ver. 26. In that Day, ſhall ye ask the Father in my Name: Thus do they pray for Signs and Miracles to be done in the Name of Jeſus; and doing this, they were all filled with the Holy Ghoſt, Acts 4. 29, 30, 31. Now, according to either of theſe Interpretations, it is evident, that theſe words can afford no Argument for the Infallibility of Councils in their Deciſions.

k Ver. 21. Then came Peter to him, and ſaid, Lord, Ποσάκις ἁμαρτήσει εἰς ἐμὲ ὁ ἀδελφός μου καὶ ἀφήσω αὐτῷ ἕως ἑπτάκις; how oft ſhall my Brother offend againſt me, and I forgive him, till ſeven times?] The Determination of the Rabbins in this caſe, runs thus, That three Offences are to be remitted, but not the fourth; and this they gathered from thoſe words, For three Tranſgreſſions, and for four, I will not turn away my Wrath, Amos 1. 3. St. Peter puts the three, and four together, as perhaps others of their Doctors did, and asks, Whether he muſt forgive till ſeven times? Of this Forgiveneſs, ſee Note on Matth. 6. 14, 15.

Ver. 23. Διὰ τοῦτο ὡμοιώθη ἡ βασιλεία τῶν οὐρανῶν, The Kingdom of Heaven may be likened to a certain King, &c.] i. e. ſo will God deal with Chriſtian Profeſſors under the Goſpel, as this King did with his Servants: From this Parable ſome Inferences may be practically, ſome Doctrinally made. The Practical Inferences are theſe; (1.) From ver. 33. οὐκ ἐδεῖ καὶ σε, ſince I forgave thee ten thouſand Talents, oughteſt not thou to have forgiven thy Fellow-Servant his hundred Pence? We learn the Equity of this unlimited Forgiveneſs of our Brother here required, becauſe our God, and Saviour, have forgiven us more numerous and heinous Sins, than our Brother is capable of committing againſt us. (2.) The Lord forgiving here his Servant, becauſe he had not wherewith to pay, ver. 25, 27. and being angry with him, becauſe he would not have compaſſion on his Fellow Servant, but went and caſt him into Priſon, not having patience with him till he could pay the Debt: This ſeemeth to bear hard on thoſe unmerciful and unchriſtian Creditors, who caſt poor Men, who they know have nothing to pay, into Priſon for their Debt; augmenting thus their Debt by the Gaolers Fees, and rendring them leſs able to pay than they were before; and ſo rendring their Brother's ſtate more miſerable, and their Debt from him as deſperate as ever. For ſure, he that bids us lend, hoping for nothing again, will not allow us to impriſon, where nothing can be hoped for; and it is to be feared, that Men ſo unmerciful, may find but little Mercy at that Day: For, if it be a Crime that will be then objected to our Condemnation, that we did not viſit Chriſtians when in Priſon, what will it be to caſt them into Priſon?

The Doctrinal Obſervation, which truly ſeems to be inferrable from this Text, is this, That Sins once forgiven, may, by our Forfeiture of that Pardon by our Miſdemeanors, be again charged upon us: For after this Lord had forgiven his Servant the whole Debt, ver. 27. he being angry with him for his unmerciful Deportment towards his Fellow-Servant, delivers him to the Tormentors, till he ſhould pay all that was due to him, ver. 34. and then it follows, ſo likewiſe will my heavenly Father do to you, ver 35. The Concluſion from this place, ſaith Dr. Hammond, is this, That God's Pardons in this Life are not abſolute; but, according to the Petition of the Lord's Prayer, anſwerable to our Dealings with others, and ſo conditional, and are no longer likely to be continued to us, than we perform the Condition.

Object. It remains only, that I anſwer the Objection of Crellius from this place, againſt the Satisfaction of our Lord, viz. "That in "this Parable, God is compared to a King, "remitting a great Debt to his Servant, with-"out Satisfaction or Payment made, only be-"cauſe he deſired him, and requiring others, to "imitate his Compaſſion toward their Fellow-"Servants; whereas, if God remits no Sin "without requiring Satisfaction, he is not du-"ly repreſented, by a King that remits a Debt, "meerly becauſe his Servant begg'd him ſo to "do; nor can we by this Example, be induced "to a free Forgiveneſs of our Brother's Sins, "without a Satisfaction made to us: For, how "can we be moved to ſuch Forgiveneſs by his "Example, who will not forgive our Sins with-"out a Satisfaction made to his Juſtice?

Anſw. To this a plain and ſatisfactory Anſwer will ariſe from theſe Conſiderations.

1*ſt*, That all a Governour can inflict on the account of Sin, is Puniſhment; all that the Sinner can undergo by reaſon of it, is ſome penal Evil; and therefore, all that Forgiveneſs of the Sinner can imply, is the exempting him from Puniſhment, or from the Evil to which he was obnoxious by Sin.

2*dly*, That by admitting another to ſuffer in my ſtead, I am as much forgiven as I could be, did he not ſuffer in my ſtead, becauſe I am as much freed from ſuffering any Puniſhment on the account of my Offence; and, how can I be more forgiven, than I am by ſuch an Act, as removes from me the whole Puniſhment, as much as if I never had offended? That God requires ſuch Conditions as Faith and Repentance, in order to our freedom from the guilt of Sin, is by the Socinians themſelves allowed to be no Bar to the freedom of God's Grace and Mercy in the pardon of it: The reaſon is, becauſe there is nothing of ſuffering contained in theſe Conditions, and ſo nothing by way of Satisfaction or Puniſhment for Sin required. Hence then 'tis evident, That the Example of this Forgiveneſs may reaſonably induce us, to require no Satisfaction of him who hath offended us, becauſe God required none of us when we had offended. And the Parable here may well preſs us to a free Forgiveneſs of our Brother, by the Example of that God, who hath required no ſuffering at all from us in order to the Pardon of our Sins.

CHAP. XIX.

1. AND it came to paſs, that when Jeſus had finiſhed theſe Sayings, he departed from Galilee, and came into the Coaſts of Judea, beyond Jordan, (to the place where John was baptizing at the firſt, John 10. 40.)

2. And great Multitudes followed him, and (he taught them as he was wont, Mark 10. 1. and) he healed them there.

a 3. [a] The Phariſees alſo came unto him, tempting him, and ſaying unto him, Is it lawful for a Man to put away his Wife (as ſome of our Doctors ſay,) for every cauſe?

b 4. [b] And (but) he anſwered and ſaid unto them, Have ye not read, that he who made them at the beginning (of the Creation, Mark 10. 6.) made them Male and Female?

5. And ſaid (alſo,) For this cauſe ſhall a Man leave Father and Mother, and ſhall cleave to his Wife, and they twain ſhall be one Fleſh.

6. Wherefore (by virtue of this Inſtitution) they are no more twain but one Fleſh; what therefore God hath joined (thus) together, let no Man (by divorcing) put aſunder.

c 7. [c] They ſay unto him, (if this be ſo) Why did Moſes then command to give (to the Woman) a Writing of Divorcement, and (ſo) to put her away? (He anſwering (to this,) ſaith unto them, What did Moſes command you? Mark 10. 3. Then they ſaid, Moſes permitted (us) to write a Bill of Divorce, and to ſend her away, ver. 4. Then,)

8. He ſaith unto them, Moſes, becauſe of the hardneſs of your Hearts (writ that Commandment to you, Mark 10. 5. by which he) ſuffered you to put away your Wives; but from the beginning it was not ſo, (no Divorce being allowed or practiſed before.)

d 9. [d] And (therefore) I (who come to reduce things to their primitive Perfection,) ſay unto you, (That under the Goſpel Diſpenſation) whoſoever ſhall put away his Wife, except it be for Fornication, and ſhall marry another, committeth Adultery (with that other;) and whoſo marrieth her that is put away committeth Adultery (with her.)

e 10. His Diſciples ſay unto him, [e] If the caſe of the Man be ſo with his Wife (that he muſt be ſtill bound to her,) it is not good to marry.

11. But

f 11. But he ſaid unto them, [f] All Men cannot receive this (that) Saying, ſave (but) they (only) to whom it is given; (i. e. they only can lead a pure ſingle Life, who, by a ſpecial Gift of God, are enabled ſo to do; ſome indeed muſt do it.)

12. For there are ſome Eunuchs, which were ſo born from their Mother's Womb; and there are ſome Eunuchs which were made Eunuchs of Men; and (ſome reſolve upon it, that they may be fitter to ſerve God without diſtraction; for) there be Eunuchs that have made themſelves (as) Eunuchs for the Kingdom of Heaven's ſake: (And here the Rule is this;) He that is able to receive it, let him receive it. (He that by this ſpecial Gift of God is enabled to retain his Virgin, may do well to do ſo.)

g 13. [g] Then were there brought to him little Children, that he ſhould (touch them, and) put his Hands on them, and pray (over them,) and (but) his Diſciples rebuked them (that brought them.)

14. But Jeſus (being much diſpleaſed at this Action of his Diſciples, Mark 10. 14.) ſaid (unto them,) Suffer little Children, and forbid them not to come to me; for of ſuch is the Kingdom of Heaven; (nor ſhall any Man enter into it, who becomes not like unto them, Mark 10. 15.)

15. And he laid his Hands on them, and (bleſſing them) departed thence.

16. And behold one came, and ſaid to him, Good Maſter, What good thing ſhall I do, that I may have eternal Life?

h 17. And he ſaid to him, [h] Why calleſt thou me good? (i. e. Why giveſt thou me a Title not aſcribed to your renowned Rabbins, nor due to any meer Man? Thinkeſt thou, there is in me any thing more than human, or that the Father dwelleth in me? This thou oughteſt to believe, if thou conceiveſt this Title truly doth belong to me, ſeeing) there is none good but one, that is, God: But (to thy Queſtion, I ſay,) i [i] if thou wilt enter into Life, keep the Commandments.

18. He ſaith unto him, Which? Jeſus ſaid, (Thou knoweſt the Commandments to be theſe, Mark 10. 19.) Thou ſhalt do no Murther; Thou ſhalt not commit Adultery; Thou ſhalt not Steal; Thou ſhalt not bear falſe Witneſs:

19. Honour thy Father and thy Mother, and thou ſhalt love thy Neighbour as thy ſelf.

20. The young Man ſaith to him, (Maſter,) All theſe things have I kept from my Youth up: What lack I yet?

21. Jeſus (then beholding him, loved him, Mark 10. 21. and) ſaid to him, (one thing is yet lacking to thee,) k [k] If thou wilt be perfect, (fully inſtructed in the higheſt Duties of my Doctrine, they are theſe,) Go, and (now I require it,) ſell that thou haſt, and give to the poor, and thou ſhalt have Treaſure in Heaven; and come and follow me, (taking up thy Croſs, Mark 10. 21.)

22. But when the young Man heard that Saying, he went away (from Chriſt) ſorrowful; for he had great Poſſeſſions (on Earth, which he could not part with for Treaſures in Heaven.)

23. Then ſaid Jeſus to his Diſciples, Verily I ſay to you, that a rich Man ſhall hardly enter into the Kingdom of Heaven.

l 24. And again I ſay unto you, [l] it is eaſier for a Camel (or a Cable Rope) to go thro' the Eye of a Needle, than for a rich Man (who truſteth in his Riches, Mark 10. 24.) to enter into the Kingdom of God.

25. When his Diſciples heard it, (this,) they were exceedingly amazed, ſaying, Who then can be ſaved?

26. But Jeſus beheld them, and ſaid unto them, With Men this is impoſſible, but with God all things are poſſible; (i. e. human Perſuaſion can hardly thus take off Mens Hearts from the World, but the Power of God can do it.)

27. Then anſwered Peter, and ſaid unto him, Behold, we have forſaken all, and followed thee; what ſhall we have therefore?

28. And Jeſus ſaid to them, Verily I ſay to you, that ye who have (thus) followed me (now) m [m] in the Regeneration, (or this new ſtate of things,) when the Son of Man ſhall ſit in the Throne of his Glory, ye alſo ſhall ſit upon twelve Thrones, judging the twelve Tribes of Iſrael; (i. e. you ſhall be the chief Miniſters in my Kingdom, to preach that Doctrine to the Jews, by which they ſhall be judged, Luke 22. 29. See the Note.)

29. And every one that hath forſaken Houſes, or Brethren, or Siſters, or Father, or Mother, or Wife, or Children, or Lands, for my Names ſake, n [n] ſhall receive an hundred fold (now in this Life with Perſecution, Mark 10. 30. i. e. they ſhall have more and greater Bleſſings than they part with here,) and ſhall inherit everlaſting Life (hereafter.)

30. But many that are (now) firſt, ſhall be laſt; and (they that are now) the laſt, ſhall be firſt; (i. e. the Jews to whom the Bleſſings of this Kingdom are firſt to be offered, ſhall be the laſt that ſhall partake of them; and the Gentiles to whom they are to be offered after them, ſhall firſt enjoy them.

Annotations on Chap. XIX.

a Ver. 3. AND the Phariſees came unto him, tempting him, and ſaying, εἰ ἔξεστιν ἀνθρώπῳ ἀπολῦσαι τὴν γυναῖκα αὐτοῦ κατὰ πᾶσαν αἰτίαν; Is it lawful for a Man to put away his Wife for every Cauſe?] The School of Hillel taught, That a Man might put away his Wife for any cauſe, becauſe this Divorce was permitted, if ſhe found not Grace in his Eyes, Deut 24. 1. and this was ſuitable to the current Practice and Expoſition of theſe words. For that which we render, The Lord ſaith, he hateth putting away, Mal. 2. 16. is by the Chaldee and the Septuagint rendred thus, The Lord ſaith, ἐὰν μισήσας ἀποστείλῃς, If thou hateſt, thou ſhouldſt put her away. And the Son of Syrach ſaith, chap. 25. 26. If ſhe go not as thou wouldſt have her, cut her from off thy Fleſh, give her a Bill of Divorce, and let her go. And (a) Joſephus ſaith, the Law runs thus, He that would be disjoined from his Wife, καθ' ὃς ὑποδιδῶν αἰτίας πολλαὶ, ὅ' ἂν τοῖς ἀνθρώποις τοιαῦται γίνονται, for any cauſe whatſoever, as many ſuch cauſes there are, let him give her a Bill of Divorce: And he confeſſeth, that he himſelf (b) put away his Wife after ſhe had born him three Children, μὴ ἀρεσκόμενος αὐτῆς τοῖς ἤθεσι, becauſe he was not pleaſed with her Behaviour. The School of Sammah determined on the contrary, that the Wife was only to be put away for Adultery, becauſe it is ſaid, Becauſe he hath found ſome Uncleanneſs in her. The Phariſees ſeek the reſolution of this Queſtion from Chriſt, tempting him, i. e. to induce him to decide this Queſtion, either againſt the Law of Moſes, or elſe, as he muſt do, againſt the Determination of one of theſe two famous Schools, and ſo to render him offenſive to them.

b Ver. 4, 5. But he anſwering, ſaid unto them, Have ye not read, that he who made them at the beginning, made them ἄρσεν καὶ θῆλυ, Male and Female? — καὶ ἔσονται οἱ δύο εἰς σάρκα μίαν, and they two ſhall be one Fleſh;] i. e. God by making them at firſt Male and Female, made them ſo, that they might cleave together ſo as to become one Fleſh; and when they have, after a mutual conſent to enter into that Relation, done ſo, they are no more two, but one Fleſh; and therefore are not to be ſeparated, unleſs by cleaving ſo unto another, they have made themſelves one Fleſh with that other. That this is the effect of this Conjunction with one another, ſeems evident, (1.) From thoſe words of the Apoſtle, 1 Cor. 6. 16. Know ye not, that he that is joined to an Harlot, is one Body with her; for two, ſaith he, i. e. God, ſhall be one Fleſh. And, (2.) From the Inference ὥστε, ſo that they after this Conjunction, are no more two, but one Fleſh; and thoſe whom God from the beginning hath thus framed, and of whom he hath thus ſpoken, let no Man put aſunder: God himſelf who binds, may ſee cauſe to permit in ſome caſes, the Solution of this Obligation, to prevent Cruelty, and other Miſchiefs, as he did to the Jews, by reaſon of the hardneſs of their Hearts, allowing a Divorce; but, without ſuch Permiſſion, no Man ought to do it. There ſeems to be ſomething like this in that of (c) Hierocles that ἐπὶ γάμου ἐξοτρύνασα ἡ φύσις, Nature prompts us to Marriage, in that ſhe hath made us συζυγικοὺς, ſo that two ſhould live together, and have one common Work to beget Children. And that Tale of (d) Plato, in his Convivium, That Man at firſt was made Male and Female, and that Jupiter cleft them aſunder, and ſo there was a natural Love of one to the other, ἐπιχειροῦν ποιῆσαι ἓν ἐκ δυοῖν καὶ ἰάσασθαι τὴν φύσιν τὴν ἀνθρωπίνην, endeavouring to make one again of two, and to heal human Nature, ſeems to be only a Corruption of the Story in Geneſis, that Eve was made out of Adam's Rib.

c Ver. 7, 8. They ſay unto him, Τί οὖν Μωσῆς ἐνετείλατο δοῦναι βιβλίον ἀποστασίου, καὶ ἀπολῦσαι; Why then did Moſes command, to give her a Bill of Divorce, and put her away?] Here it is to be noted, that Moſes commanded no Man to divorce his Wife, but only ἐπέτρεψεν, he permitted in ſome caſes the doing of it; but then he acting in this as God's Miniſter, it muſt be a Divine Permiſſion. Note, 2*dly*, That it was a limited Permiſſion, viz. only to do it after ſuch a manner, viz. by writing a Bill of Divorce, and putting it into her Hand; for, if this might have been done by word of Mouth, or otherwiſe, it might have occaſioned great Evil on both ſides; for the Woman might have pretended, when ſhe liked another better than her Husband, that ſhe had been divorced, and ſo might marry him; and the Man might raſhly have divorced his Wife upon any little Quarrel, and never be in a condition of having her any longer as his Wife: To prevent which Divorces upon ſuch a ſudden pet, it was the cuſtom to ask the Perſon who came for a Bill of Divorce, before they delivered it to him, Whether his yea were yea? i. e. whether he continued in a ſettled reſolution to put away his Wife. See Note on 2 Cor. 1. 17. But the great Queſtion is, Whether this Permiſſion Permiſſion excuſed this Divorce from Sin, or only from Puniſhment? That it could not excuſe him that divorced his Wife from Sin, is argued, (1.) Becauſe our Saviour decides this Queſtion negatively, and that by reaſon of God's own Inſtitution founded upon Nature, ver. 4, 5. and repreſents the Permiſſion mentioned by Moſes, as contrary to it, ver. 8. Now all Tranſgreſſion of Divine Law, is Sin. (2.) Becauſe Chriſt ſaith, this Permiſſion was only granted to them for the hardneſs of their Hearts. Now whatſoever is done upon that Principle, is ſinful. (3.) And, eſpecially, ſince otherwiſe it follows, That Divorces are only evil, becauſe forbidden, and ſo are only Sins againſt a poſitive Command, and not forbidden, becauſe Evil, or, becauſe contrary to the Law of Nature; and then, either Adultery can be no ſin againſt the Law of Nature, or elſe Chriſt could not truly ſay, That he that putteth away his Wife, and marries another, committeth Adultery againſt her.

But on the other hand, That this Permiſſion excuſed thoſe Jews, who made theſe Divorces according to the Law, not only from Puniſhment by Man, but alſo from Fault before God, and more eſpecially from being guilty of Adultery, is evident. (1.) From the Permiſſion given to the Woman thus divorced, to marry with another, Deut. 24. 2. which plainly ſhews, The Bond of Matrimony muſt by it be diſſolved, ſince otherwiſe this muſt be a Permiſſion to be an Adulteress. (2.) From the Prohibition of the Perſon thus divorcing her, to receive her again as his Wife; which yet he was bound to do, if the Bond of Matrimony ſtill continued; and ſhe was ſtill in truth his Wife. And, (3.) Becauſe otherwiſe, the whole Commonwealth of Judea, by a Divine Permiſſion, muſt be filled with Adulteries, and with a ſpurious Off-ſpring. To anſwer therefore to the former Arguments:

1*ſt*, It is granted, That, as our Saviour ſays, theſe Divorces were indeed contrary to the equity and genuine intention of God's Primitive Inſtitution of Matrimony; but then it muſt be added, that God by Moſes diſpenſed with his own Inſtitution; and that Chriſt only ſays, that under his new Law, this Diſpenſation ſhould not obtain, but that he would have his Diſciples to act according to the Primitive Inſtitution.

2*dly*, In anſwer to the ſecond Argument, it may be ſaid, That what was permitted to the Jews, by reaſon of the Hardneſs of their Hearts, was no leſs permitted, than what they were allowed to do, by reaſon of the indifference of the thing: Whatſoever therefore was the cauſe of this Permiſſion, 'tis certain, that which was permitted, could not at the ſame time be forbidden, and therefore could not be a Fault, or that which God would puniſh in them.

3*dly*, To the third Argument, it may be anſwered, That a thing may be ſaid to be according to the Law of Nature two ways: (1.) Becauſe Nature doth direct us to it by the Proviſions it hath made for ſuch an End; in which ſenſe, it is natural for Women to give Suck to their Children; or, by the Relation in which it hath placed us, in which ſenſe the Apoſtle ſaith, That even Nature teacheth the Woman to be covered in the Church Aſſembles, and to wear long Hair; ſee the Note on 1 Cor. 11. 13. or by the Frame and Conſtitution of things, in which ſenſe Man and Wife are one Fleſh, and therefore ought not to ſeparate from one another. And Chriſtians ought, where greater reaſon doth not intervene, to act according to that which is thus ſuitable to the Law of Nature. Or, (2.) Becauſe the Law of Nature doth require it as neceſſary in reaſon to be done, or doth forbid it by reaſon of ſome moral Turpitude, which always of neceſſity adhereth to the Action; in which ſenſe it may be ſaid, That Divorces and Polygamy are not againſt a Law of Nature, but only againſt a poſitive Command. And whereas it is objected, That then Adultery will be no Sin againſt the Law of Nature; I anſwer, That as Adultery imports the lying of an Husband with another who is confeſſedly not his Wife, or of a Wife with another whom ſhe knows not to be her Huſband, it is unqueſtionably a Sin againſt the Law of Nature, as being contrary to Faith plighted by them; contrary to Juſtice, as being giving that to others which is not your own; and contrary to the good of Families and Commonwealths, as filling them with a ſpurious Off-ſpring, and looſing the Bonds of Conſanguinity and Affinity. But then, if the Polygamiſt then uſed only thoſe to whom by Matrimony he was contracted, there was not the like Injury, or Injuſtice done: Nor can I think, that Abraham, Jacob, David, and other pious Men, would have had more Wives, or Wives and Concubines, had this been a plain Violation of the Law of Nature; nor would God have ſo highly approved of them, had they lived in Adultery. And, if Divorce untied the Bond of Matrimony, it gives that liberty to each Party, which cannot be allowed of, whilſt that Bond continues; and ſo there could not be the ſame cauſe of Blame or Guilt in their cohabiting with another; it therefore may be granted, that theſe were rather Sins againſt a poſitive or natural Directive, than a moral Precept or Law of Nature.

Ver. 9. And I ſay unto you, Ὃς ἂν ἀπολύσῃ d τὴν γυναῖκα αὐτοῦ, εἰ μὴ ἐπὶ πορνείᾳ, καὶ γαμήσῃ
ἄλλην μοιχᾶται, Whoſoever ſhall put away his Wife except it be for Fornication, and ſhall marry another, committeth Adultery.] Here it ſeems evident, That Chriſt preſcribes a new Law, Law, which had not before obtained among the Jews; Divorce being permitted to them for other Cauſes: For, tho' it be ſaid, Deut. 24. 1. he muſt find ſome matter of Uncleanneſs in her; yet that cannot ſignifie Fornication or Adultery, ſeeing for theſe things, ſhe was by the Law to die by ſtoning, if ſhe committed Fornication before her Marriage was compleated, Deut. 22. 24. by Strangling, ſay the Jews, in caſe of Adultery, ver. 22. (2*dly*,) Becauſe this Divorce was permitted to all, except the Perſon who falſly pretended, he found her not a Maid; for that Law ſo peculiar to him, he may not put her away all his Days, Deut. 22. 19. ſhews, that others, were permitted ſo to do: Now Adultery being a Sin againſt the Law of Nature, could be permitted upon no account. And, (3*dly*,) Any other, excepting only the High-Prieſt, Lev. 21. 7. might marry her who was thus put away, Deut. 24. 2. whereas it could be lawful for no Man to commit Adultery with her. See alſo the Note one Mark 10. 10, 11.

Moreover, whereas all Commentators I have met with, by Fornication here, do underſtand Adultery, or the defiling of the Marriage Bed: I incline rather to take the word in its proper ſenſe, for Fornication committed before Matrimony, and found after Cohabitation. (1.) Becauſe Chriſt ſpeaking of this Divorce here and elſewhere, doth never uſe the word μοιχεία, which ſignifies Adultery, but always πορνεία, Matth. 5. 32. which word, both among Jews and Gentiles, doth properly import the Sin of unmarried Perſons lying one with another, and ſo being made one Body, 1 Cor. 6. 16. It is not therefore likely, that Chriſt receded from the known and common acceptation of the Word. (2.) The Puniſhment of Adultery after Marriage, was Strangling; after Sponſalia, Stoning; Divorce not being mentioned in either caſe; but ſimple Fornication was not thus puniſhed by the Jews. And, (3.) By this Interpretation, the Law of Marriage is by Chriſt reduced to its Primitive Inſtitution; that Conjunction with another, makes them both one Fleſh; and ſo the Woman who had thus tranſgreſſed, was to be diſmiſſed, becauſe ſhe before was one Fleſh with another, and therefore could not be ſo with the Man to whom ſhe afterwards did marry. Note alſo hence, that according to either Interpretation, where it is lawful to put away the Wife, it is ſo to marry again. For, (1*ſt*,) Such were the Divorces of the Jews, of which Chriſt ſpeaks. And, (2*dly*,) Chriſt by pronouncing ſuch Divorces, as were not for this cauſe, adulterous in him that married another, doth plainly inſinuate, there was no ſuch Crime committed in this caſe; and then the Marriage muſt be diſſolved by that Act.

e Ver. 10. If the caſe of a Man be ſo with his Wife, it is not good to marry.] If under the Prohibition of Divorce, that of Polygamy had not been contained, there would have been no cauſe for this Inference of Chriſt's Diſciples; ſeeing they might have had a Remedy, by taking one or more other Wives, whom they loved better; nor would there have been any ground for Chriſt's Diſcourſe, of making themſelves Eunuchs for the Kingdom of God.

Ver. 11. Οὐ πάντες χωροῦσι τὸν λόγον τοῦτον, f
All Men cannot receive this Saying;] i. e. All Men cannot live ſingle, and abſtain from Matrimony: Whence it follows, that Men and Women are not by Monaſtical Vows to be obliged ſo to do, becauſe none ought to be by Vow obliged to do, that which they cannot perform without Sin. (2.) By adding, that they only can do this, to whom it is given; he ſhews, this is a ſpecial Gift; according to theſe words of St. Paul, I would have all Men to be as I am, but every Man hath his proper Gift, 1 Cor. 7. 7. Now that which all Men may obtain by Prayer, Temperance, and Faſting, and ſuch like ordinary Means, cannot be called a ſpecial Gift, or a Gift proper to ſome. And, (3.) Some, ſaith Chriſt, have made themſelves Eunuchs, i. e. abſtained from Matrimony for the Kingdom of Heaven, i. e. to be more expedite in preaching the Goſpel, or more fit to regard only the things of the Lord, 1 Cor. 7. 34. He that can receive it, let him receive it, which laſt words ſufficiently intimate, all Men cannot do ſo.

Ver. 13, 14. They brought unto him little Children, that he ſhould put his Hands upon them and pray;] This being the Goſpel uſed by our Church at the Celebration of Infant's Baptiſm, it will be neceſſary to ſhew the fitneſs of it for that purpoſe. Note therefore, g

1*ſt*, That theſe little Children being ſtiled τὰ βρέφη, Infants, Luke 18. 15. and taken up in Chriſt's Arms, Mark 10. 16. it is plain that they were Children not yet come to the Age of Diſcretion; for βρέφος according to Euſtathius and Phavorinus is τὸ ἄρτι γενόμενος παιδίον καὶ τρεφόμενον ἀπὸ τήθης, a new born Child nouriſhed from the Teat, from his Birth, till he be four years old. So 1 Pet. 2. 2. whence they do not come to Chriſt but are brought to him.

2*dly*, They ſeem to be brought to Chriſt, by thoſe who believed he was a Prophet ſent from God, not from thoſe who had other Thoughts of him; for why ſhould they deſire for their Children his Prayers, or the Impoſition of his Hands?

3*dly*, Theſe Children were not brought to be healed of any bodily Diſtemper, for then the Diſciples would not have hindred them, but that he ſhould bleſs them, and pray over them; which ſhews that they were were capable of ſpiritual Bleſſings, and may receive advantage by Prayers, and that he might lay his Hands upon them. Now this Impoſition of Hands could not be to prepare them for any Office, nor ſeems it deſigned to procure to them any Remiſſion of Sin, of which the Jews conceived not Infants guilty, (tho' this would prove them capable of ſome means by which their Sins might be pardoned,) but to obtain for them ſome ſpiritual Bleſſing appertaining to the Kingdom of God; or (as Dr. Lightfoot ſaith, by this Rite to admit them into the Number of his Diſciples, or) to own them as belonging to his Kingdom. And,

4*thly*, From the reaſon why Chriſt would have them ſuffered to come to him, viz. for of ſuch is the Kingdom of God; it appears there is ſomething in little Children, why they ſhould not be hindred from coming to him, beſides their being Emblems of Humility; for this they are as much when they come not, as when they come; now what can that be, but the fitneſs of them to be early dedicated to the Service of God, and to enter into Covenant with him by Rites appointed by him for that end. And hence the Ancients looked upon this as a ſufficient ground for (c) Infants Baptiſm, as appears even from (d) Tertullian, whilſt he ſhews his diſlike of the Cuſtom.

Object. But ſay the Antipædo-Baptiſts, Chriſt neither did baptize them, nor command the Apoſtles to do it.

Anſw. That is not to be wondred at, if we conſider, that they already had entred into Covenant with God by Circumciſion, and Chriſtian Baptiſm was not yet inſtituted; and, 2*dly*, That the Baptiſm then uſed by John, and Chriſt's Diſciples, was only the Baptiſm of Repentance, and Faith in the Meſſiah, which was for to come, Acts 19. 4. of both which Infants were incapable, but not of being conſecrated to God from their Infancy, as Sampſon, Judg. 13. 7. and Samuel, 1 Sam. 1. 11. or of entring into Covenant with God, Deut. 29. 11, 15. as all the Male Infants of the Jews did by Circumciſion. 2*dly*, Chriſt here ſpeaks not of thoſe Children only, but of Children in general, ſuffer little Children to come to me, he adds a reaſon common to them all, for of ſuch is the Kingdom of Heaven; which if it import, they are fit to be admitted into Chriſt's Church and Kingdom as they were into the Jewiſh Church; they muſt be fit to receive Chriſtian Baptiſm, that being the only means of entring into Chriſt's Kingdom; if he means only that they are fit Emblems of Humility, what reaſon can be hence given, why they ſhould on this account be brought to Chriſt, that he might lay his Hands upon them? or why ſhould he be ſo diſpleaſed that they ſhould be forbidden to come to him?

Ver. 17. Τί με λέγεις ἀγαθόν; οὐδεὶς ἀγαθὸς εἰ μὴ εἷς ὁ Θεός, Why calleſt thou me good? there is none good but one, that is God.] Here 'tis acknowledged, that many of the moſt (e) Ancient Fathers, read, God my Father. That other reading of ſome (f) Fathers, why askeſt thou me concerning good? is neither in the Syriack, nor in any of the Evangeliſts, and ſo it ſeemeth to be only of a later date. Now from this place the Socinians argue thus againſt the Deity of Chriſt; he to whom the Title of Good doth not belong, cannot be God moſt High; by our Lord's own Words this Title belongs not to him, but only to God the Father, and therefore God the Father muſt be God alone: And whereas ſome of the Poſt-Nicene Fathers anſwer, that this young Man ſaid Good Maſter, out of Flattery or Ignorance, looking upon Chriſt as a meer Man, and ſo Chriſt anſwers, Why calleſt thou me good, whom thou doſt not acknowledge to be God? This, ſay they, is an addition to the Text, without any ground from Chriſt's words, yea, in oppoſition to them, he ſaying, that one thing only was lacking to him, viz. that he ſhould ſell all, &c. whereas the Knowledge that Chriſt was God muſt alſo be lacking to him, and ſo two things, according to the Trinitarian Hypotheſis. To this it might be anſwered, that when our Lord ſaith, one thing is lacking to thee, he reſpects not his Knowledge, but his Practice, intending not to ſay what was lacking in him as to the Knowledge of himſelf, for it appears not this young Man owned him as the promiſed Meſſiah; but to inſtruct him what was yet lacking to perfect his Obedience to the Commandments of God. Or, 2*dly*, That the Deity of Chriſt being not then revealed ſo fully as afterwards it was, might not then be neceſſary to be believed to Salvation. But not to inſiſt farther on this Anſwer; I reply, h

2*dly*, That Chriſt may be ſuppoſed to ſpeak to this young Man thus, Thou giveſt me a Title which is never given to your moſt renowned Rabbins, and which agrees to God alone; Doſt thou therefore think there is any thing in me more than human, or that the Father dwelleth in me? This thou oughteſt to believe if thou conceiveſt this Title truly doth belong to me, ſeeing there is but one that is Good, that is God. To confirm this Interpretation let it be conſidered, that Chriſt in preaching to the Jews aſſerted two things of himſelf; (1*ſt*,) That he was a Prophet ſent from God, even that Prophet that ſhould come into the World. (2*dly*,) That he had given them clear Evidence of his Commiſſion from his Father, by the Works done by the Power of God, which manifeſtly ſhewed that God dwelt in him, and that he was in the Father, and the Father in him, ſo that he and the Father were one; for ſo he ſpeaks, I and the Father am one; And if I do not the Works of my Father, believe me not; but if I do, though you believe not me, believe the Works, that ye may know and believe that the Father is in me, and I in the Father, John 10. 30, 37, 38. — 14. 8, 9, 10. which words the Jews ſo apprehended that they pronounced him guilty of Blaſphemy, for that being a Man, he made himſelf God, John 10. 31, 33. He therefore might well ſay to this young Man, Why calleſt thou me good Maſter? unleſs thou believeſt I am a Teacher ſent from God, ſeeing he who falſly pretends this, cannot be a good Maſter, or a Teacher of Truth; nor canſt thou own me as a Prophet ſent from God, but from my Works; from which I have proved, that I am in the Father, and the Father in me, yea, that I am one with the Father, and ſo partake with him of the Title of God.

3*dly*, Mareſius well anſwers, that the Father being the Fountain of the whole Deity, muſt in ſome ſenſe be the Fountain of the Goodneſs and Wiſdom of the Son. The Son, ſaith Dr. Bull, is rightly ſtiled, the perfect and adequate Image of his Father's Goodneſs, as he derives that Goodneſs, as he doth all his other Attributes with the Divine Nature, from the Father; and thus to be the Fountain of Good may belong only to the Father. Hence even the Heathens have declared that of all the Perfections of the Deity, that of ἀγαθὸς Good, was the moſt proper, he being only ſtiled by them Good who was (g) ὁ πάντα διδοὺς καὶ μηδὲν λαμβάνων, He who gave all to others, but derived nothing from them; and thence they placed Goodneſs, ἐν μόνῳ τῷ ἀγεννήτῳ, in him only who was unbegotten. And in this ſenſe many of the Ante-Nicene Fathers owned that the word did ſignally, and moſt excellently agree to the Father, and to Chriſt only by reaſon of the Goodneſs derived with the Divine Nature to him, as being God of God; or ἐκ τῆς πρὸς ἀλλήλους σχέσεως, from the eſſential Relation they had to each other: As (h) Clemens Alexandrinus well explains the matter, thrice ſaying, that the Father alone is Good, and Juſt, and yet that the Son καθὸ ὁ λόγος ἐστὶν αὐτὸς ἐν τῷ πατρὶ ἐστι, as being the Logos, as he is in the Father, is Juſt, τὸ ὃ δίκαιον ἀγαθὸν, and what is Juſt, is Good, and concluding Θεὸν ἕνα μόνον εἶναι ἀγαθὸν δίκαιον δημιουργὸν ὑὸν ἐν πατρί, that there is one only God, Good, Juſt, the Maker of all things, the Son in the Father. (i) Novatian anſwers to them who objected to the Orthodox, that they owned two Gods, that if Chriſt's being Lord hinders not that of the Apoſtle, there is one Lord, ſo neither did Chriſt's being good, and God, hinder there being one God, and one that is Good.

Ibid. Εἰ ὃ θέλεις εἰσελθεῖν εἰς ζωὴν τήρησον τὰς ἐντολάς, But if thou wilt enter into Life, keep the Commandments.] This being Chriſt's Anſwer to the young Man's Queſtion, What good thing ſhall I do, that I may inherit eternal Life? I cannot think, as many ſeem to do, that Chriſt here directs him to that way to obtain that Life, which neither was, nor could be ſufficient for that end; it being certain Chriſt elſewhere ſaith the ſame thing. For to the Lawyer enquiring, What ſhall I do, to inherit eternal Life? Chriſt anſwers, Thou ſhalt love the Lord thy God with all thy Heart, and thy Neighbour as thy ſelf; this do and thou ſhalt live, Luke 10. 25, 28. Now when Men came ſeriouſly to enquire of him the way to Life eternal, who can imagine he would deceive them by directing them to a way, which he well knew was not ſufficient to obtain that end? Moreover it is very evident that God in the Old Teſtament promiſeth Life to them who obſerve his Commandments, and pronounces them ſuch as, he that did them ſhould live by them, Lev. 18. 5. Ezek. 20. 11. promiſing to thoſe who obſerve them, that they ſhall ſurely live, and not die, Ezek. 18. 21. — 33. 15. i. e. not die eternally, ſeeing he cannot be ſuppoſed to promiſe that they ſhould not die a natural Death; 'tis alſo as certain that they who walked before God, as Zacharias and Elizabeth, in all the Commandments of God blameleſs, were righteous in his Sight, Luke 1. 6. and were ſaid to walk before him with an upright and a perfect Heart, Pſal. 18. 21, 24. and to love him with all their Heart and all their Soul. See Note on Chap. 22. 37. 'Tis therefore certain that all pious Perſons under the Old Teſtament obtained a right to Life eternal, by this obſervance of the Moral Precepts of the Law.

Object. But againſt this it is objected, that when the young Man had ſaid, all theſe have I kept from my Youth, Chriſt yet requires him to ſell all that he had, that he might be perfect, and have Treaſure in Heaven.

Anſw.

(g) Merc. Triſmeg. in Pæmandro c. 2. n. 8, 6. n. 2. (h) Pædag. lib. 1. p. 118, 119. (i) Cap. 30.

Anſw. True; but then this one thing was contained in the Precept of loving, honouring, and obeying God with all his Heart, for ſure he loves not God above all things, who will not, when he doth require him, part with all things to enjoy God in Heaven; nor doth he obey him ſincerely, and with a perfect Heart, who when he is required by his Ambaſſador to forſake them and follow him, refuſeth ſo to do.

Object. 2. It is farther objected, that the Law required perfect Obedience, and could not abſolve the Sinner from the guilt of Sin.

Anſw. To this I anſwer, That to require perfect Obedience to his Laws, is a thing abſolutely neceſſary on the part of God, both under the old and the new Covenant; for Sin being the Tranſgreſſion of the Law, and perfect and unſinning Obedience being the ſame, if God require under the new Covenant that I ſhould not tranſgreſs any of his Laws, as he moſt certainly muſt do, he muſt require me not to ſin againſt them, and ſo he muſt require perfect, that is, unſinning Obedience; and as ſincere Obedience which is the Condition of our acceptance with God, under the new Covenant, doth not procure the pardon of our Sins committed under that Covenant, but the Blood of Chriſt cleanſeth us from all Sin upon our Repentance; ſo tho' the Obedience to the Moral Law required under the old Covenant, could not abſolve the Sinner from the guilt contracted by the Violations of that Law, yet doth God there alſo promiſe expreſly the like Pardon to the Penitent, that when the wicked man turneth away from his iniquity, he ſhall not die, but live, Ezek. 18. that when he ceaſeth to do evil, and learneth to do well, tho' his Sins were as Crimſon, he ſhall be white as Wool, Iſa. 1. 17, 18. and that their Offerings, which before were vain Oblations, ſhould become Sacrifices of ſweet Savour, and procure an Atonement for their Sins, if not by virtue of his Inſtitution, yet certainly by virtue of the Lamb ſlain from the beginning of the World. And that God required no Obedience to his Law as neceſſary to Salvation, but that which pious Jews, by virtue of that Grace which he was ready to afford them, might be able to perform, is hence apparent, that he not only promiſes Life to them who did obey this Law, but by the ſacred Penmen doth pronounce them bleſſed, ſaying, Bleſſed is the man who meditates in this Law day and night, Pſal. 1. 6. Bleſſed are they who always keep Judgment, and do Righteouſneſs, Pſal. 119. 1, 2. that he that keepeth the Law is bleſſed, Prov. 29. 18. and that in keeping of it there is great Reward, Pſal. 19. 12. See Pſal. 119. 1, 2. Prov. 8. 32, 34. This Bleſſing therefore and Reward, all pious Perſons did, and had juſt reaſon to expect; and yet 'tis certain they could not expect it on the Performance of what it was not poſſible for them to do; tho' therefore God ſaid to them Curſed, i. e. obnoxious to a Curſe, is every one that continueth not in all things written in this Law to do them; they might be certain from the Expiation and Atonement he had appointed to be made for Sin, and from the gracious Promiſes made by him to the Penitent, that they ſhould be exempted from the Guilt, and conſequently from the Curſe due to thoſe Tranſgreſſions, tho' they might not expreſly know that this Redemption was to be procured by the Death of their Meſſiah.

Object. 3. But doth not the Apoſtle intimate that the Law could not give Life, by ſaying, If there had been a Law which could have given Life, verily Juſtification ſhould have been by the Law, Gal. 3. 21. that the Law worketh Wrath, Rom. 4. 15. and that as many as are under the Law, are under the Curſe, Gal. 3. 10.

Anſw. All theſe things prove, that the Tranſgreſſions of this Law, did render them obnoxious to Puniſhment for the guilt of it, and that the Law it ſelf only requiring Obedience, could not abſolve the Sinner from the guilt of his Diſobedience to it, and therefore could not procure Juſtification to Life for the Sinner, without an Act of Grace, temperating the Rigour of the Law; but yet this proves not there was no pardon to be obtained for the Sinner, upon his Repentance, and Faith in God, allowing an Atonement for his Sin; for then there could have been no place for Repentance, or a propitiatory Sacrifice under the Law, and ſo no Juſtification not only by the Law, which is all St. Paul aſſerts, but no Juſtification, that is, no Freedom from the Penalty denounced by it. As therefore under the Goſpel our Juſtification, or Abſolution from the guilt of Sin, ariſeth not from Works, but Grace through Faith, and yet good Works, and ſincere Obedience are the Conditions requiſite to Salvation, and the means neceſſary to obtain it; and therefore of our Love to God and to our Neighbour as our ſelves, it may ſtill be ſaid, Do this and live; ſo under the Law, Obedience to the Moral Precepts of it were the conditions of, and the means requiſite to obtain the ſame Life, and therefore of ſincere Obedience to it, it might well be ſaid, Do this and live, eſpecially ſeeing under the Law, Faith and Repentance were required for the Remiſſion of the Violations of it.

And as 'tis neceſſary from the Perfection of the Divine Nature, and his Relation to us as a Governor, to require that we ſhould not ſin, i. e. tranſgreſs any of his Laws; ſo it is alſo neceſſary through the imperfection of human Nature, that if he will enter into Covenant with lapſed ſinful Man, that Covenant ſhould be a Covenant of Grace, or ſhould admit of Favour upon his Repentance; ſeeing all other Covenants would depend, on Man's part, on an impoſſible Condition, which is apparently equivalent to none at all; it being in effect the ſame to promiſe or engage for nothing, as only to promiſe ſomething upon a Condition I cannot perform.

k Ver. 21. Εἰ θέλεις τέλειος εἶναι· If thou wilt be perfect, ſell what thou haſt, and give unto the Poor.] That to be perfect is to be fully inſtructed in our Duty, hath been proved, Note on 1 Cor. 2. 6. We ſpeak Wiſdom among thoſe that are perfect, i. e. ſaith Theodoret, τοῖς εἰλικρινῆ καὶ τελείαν δεξαμένοις πίστιν, among thoſe whoſe Faith is ſincere and entire; hence to know in part is oppoſed to τὸ τέλειον perfect Knowledge, 1 Cor. 13. 9, 10. in this ſenſe the word גמר is uſed by the Rabbins, as when they ſay, they conſtitute a Judge, who was not Gomar, i. e. fully inſtructed in the Knowledge of the Traditions of the Fathers; and tell us that one came to Hillel to be made a Proſelyte, and he ſaid, do not that to another, which is odious to thy ſelf, that is the whole Law, go thy way perfect, i. e. fully inſtructed in thy Duty, Cod. Talm. Shabbath. f. 31. 1*ſt*, Hence then we may diſcern the Vanity of the Popiſh Gloſs upon this Text, viz. if thou wilt be perfect, that is, If thou wilt obtain an higher degree of eternal Life, I give thee this Counſel, not ſimply neceſſary to Salvation, but to obtain an higher meaſure of it. For ſure the young Man needed not have went away ſo ſorrowful, if without obeying this Counſel, as they are pleaſed to call it, he might have obtained that eternal Life he enquired after, and which contained the whole of his Deſire. Note,

2*dly*, That ſeeing Chriſt here requires him not only to withdraw his Heart from an inordinate Love of his Poſſeſſions, but actually to ſell all, and give the Money to the Poor, we may be ſure that this was only a particular Command to this young Man, to convince him of the inſincerity of his pretended Love to Life eternal, and not a Precept common to all Chriſtians. For that there were rich Men in the Church, we learn from 1 Tim. 6. 17. James 1. 10. — 2. 2. the Apoſtle John had his own Houſe; Peter permits the Chriſtian to retain his own, Acts 5. 4. nor doth the Apoſtle bid the Corinthians ſell all, and give Alms, but only requeſt them to give of their Abundance, 2 Cor. 8. 13. So that if Riches fall into the Hands of one, who knoweth how to uſe them to God's Glory, and the Relief of indigent Chriſtians, as well as to the Supply of his own Needs, it ſeems a Contradiction to conceive that God doth require him to part with them, and thereby diveſt himſelf of any farther Opportunity of promoting his Glory, or doing good to his needy Members. We are therefore only to do this upon the like occaſions, viz. an expreſs Command from God, or when we find them an Impediment to the ſecuring our eternal Intereſts, for then we muſt part with our right Eye, or Hand.

Ver. 24. Εὐκοπώτερόν ἐστι κάμηλον διὰ τρυ- l
πήματος ῥαφίδος διελθεῖν· It is eaſier for a Camel to go through the Eye of a Needle, &c.] There is no neceſſity of reading κάμιλος for κάμηλος, for that both ſignifie a Cable, or thick Rope uſed by the Mariners in caſting Anchors, (k) Euthymius, Theophylact, and Phavorinus teſtifie; and that a Camel is not here to be underſtood, Bochartus argues, (1.) Becauſe the Hebrew Proverb ſpeaks only of an Elephant, not of a Camel. (2.) Becauſe the Syriack and Arabick Verſions here mention not a Camel but a Cable. (3.) Becauſe the Jews, as (l) Buxtorf notes, uſe the ſame Proverb of a Cable Rope; and (4.) Becauſe there is ſome Analogy betwixt drawing a Thread, and a Rope through the Eye of a Needle, but none at all between a Camel and a Thread. Bochart. Hieroz. Part. 1. l. 2. c. 5. p. 91, 92.

Ver. 28. Ἐν τῇ παλιγγενεσίᾳ· In the Regeneration, when the Son of Man ſhall ſit upon the Throne of his Glory, ye ſhall ſit upon twelve Thrones judging the twelve Tribes of Iſrael.] I know that Juſtin M. and Irenæus ſpeak of a παλιγγενεσία Regeneration, or Renovation which relates to their ſuppoſed Millennium, and others would refer this to the Stoical Renovation of the World, after its Conflagration; but it is evident that neither of theſe Opinions can here take place; not the ſuppoſed Renovation of the World after the Conflagration of it, ſince that muſt burn up all that remain of the twelve Tribes of Iſrael, and ſo leave none of them remaining to be judged by Chriſt's Apoſtles. Dr. Lightfoot finding that this Judgment of the twelve Tribes is promiſed to begin when the Son of Man ſits upon the Throne of his Glory, which he began to do ſoon after his Aſcenſion, exerciſing his Authority in Heaven by ſending down the Holy Ghoſt on his Diſciples, thinks they then ſat on theſe twelve Thrones, judging the twelve Tribes of Iſrael, when they preached that Goſpel to them in Jeruſalem, Judæa, and throughout their Diſperſions by which they were to be judged, and for contempt and disbelief of which they were rejected, condemned, and expoſed to the ſevereſt Puniſhment. Chriſt being mentioned throughout the Book of the Revelations, as ſitting on his Throne from the time of his Conqueſt over Death, and his Aſcenſion into Heaven, m

Heaven, the Doctrine of the Apoſtles preached to the twelve Tribes by the Apoſtles, and ſent to them in their Epiſtles, may be ſaid to judge and to condemn them, as the Law of Moſes is ſaid to do ſo, John 5. 45. and the Word of Chriſt, John 12. 47, 48. 1 John 3. 17, 18. And this ſeems to be confirmed by Chriſt's Words to them, I appoint to you a Kingdom, and ye ſhall ſit upon twelve Thrones judging the twelve Tribes of Iſrael. But,

2*dly*, I grant the παλιγγενεσία here mentioned, may be referred to the Conſummation of the World, and to the new Heavens and Earth, of which the Prophets ſpeak, but then I add, this παλιγγενεσία or new Birth, is only that of the Church of Chriſt, that ζωοποίησις or new Life, that ζωὴ ἐκ νεκρῶν Life from the dead, ſhe ſhall receive when all Iſrael ſhall be ſaved, and the fulneſs of the Gentiles ſhall flow in to them. For,

1*ſt*, The Perſons here to be judged are only the twelve Tribes of Iſrael, which makes it more than probable, that the whole Promiſe made to the Apoſtles reſpects their Government over theſe Tribes, coming in at the cloſe of the World, after the Fall of Antichriſt; and that not by a Reſurrection of their Perſons, but by a Reviviſcence of that Spirit which reſided in them, and of that Purity and Knowledge which they delivered to the World, and chiefly by admiſſion of their Goſpel to be the Standard of their Faith, and the Direction of their Lives.

2*dly*, It is obſervable, that the Delivery of the Jews from their former Captivities, and Miſeries, is always repreſented as a ζωοποίησις, a giving of Life, and a Reſurrection to the Jews. Seeing then their Return from their Captivity is in the ſtile of the Prophets uſually repreſented as a παλιγγενεσία, a reviving, or new Life; why may not the time of their moſt glorious Converſion, and Collection from all the Corners of the Earth, be by our Saviour here repreſented under that known Metaphor?

n Ver. 29, 30. Shall receive an hundred Fold, &c.] i. e. they ſhall have more and greater Bleſſings than they part with, viz. a full content of Mind, the comforts of an upright Conſcience, the joys of the Holy Ghoſt, increaſe of Grace, and hopes of Glory; and ſhall have God for their Father, and be rich towards God, and have Chriſt for their Spouſe, and all good Chriſtians bearing that warm Affection to them, which will render them more cloſely united to, and more affectionately concerned for them, than thoſe who were allied to them by the ſtricteſt Bonds of Nature. And that theſe words cannot reaſonably be interpreted of Bleſſings to be conferred upon them after their Reſurrection, will be evident from this, that they that are thought worthy to be the Sons of the Reſurrection, ſaith our Lord, neither marry, nor are given in marriage, Luke 20. 35. Whence therefore ſhould they have theſe Mothers, and theſe Children, not to add Wives, an hundred fold? They are made like to the Angels at their Reſurrection; and what ſhould ſuch Angelical Perſons do with, what advantage will they reap from an hundred Houſes, or a like increaſe of Land on Earth?

If you reply, that theſe words of our Saviour relate not to the firſt Reſurrection, of which this Text, which ſpeaks of Wives and Children, is to be interpreted, but only to the ſecond, and general Reſurrection; I anſwer, That the words are general, and therefore muſt include all that are Sons of the Reſurrection. Moreover, by admitting this double Reſurrection, the firſt, in which they that are raiſed might marry, or have Wives and Children, and the ſecond, in which they could not; the Objection, or Enquiry of the Sadducees is partly left unanſwered; for this Diſtinction doth ſuppoſe a Reſurrection, in which the ground of their Enquiry might take place.

(2*dly*,) This wonderful Increaſe is promiſed νῦν at preſent, ἐν τῷ καιρῷ τούτῳ, in this time of Life, Mark 10. 30. Luke 18. 30. in oppoſition to what they ſhall receive in the Age to come. Now the Millennium is ſtill placed by Dr. B. in the Age to come, after the Conflagration of the World; this Promiſe therefore cannot refer to his Millennium, nor yet to any other which begins after the Reſurrection of theſe Perſons, for that time can with no propriety of Speech be ſaid to be now, nor can the Bleſſings then received be ſaid to be received in this Life. Moreover, theſe Bleſſings are to be received μετὰ διωγμῶν, with Perſecutions, it being the known Obſervation of Criticks and Grammarians, that μετὰ with a Genitive Caſe ſignifies with, and denotes τὸ αὐτὸν καιρὸν the ſame time, and only with an Accuſative Caſe ſignifies after, and denotes ὑστερογενῆ a following time; ſo that theſe Perſecutions muſt be contemporary with the Enjoyment of theſe Bleſſings, whereas a general Peace, and Freedom from all Perſecutions, is made a neceſſary Character of the Millennial State.

Laſtly, Theſe words afford an Argument againſt the Doctrine of the Millennium, becauſe according to them, the only Bleſſing to be received ἐν τῷ αἰῶνι τῷ ἐρχομένῳ, in the Age to come, is Life everlaſting; which Bleſſing is confined to Heaven, and not to be enjoyed on Earth, our Houſe Eternal being in the Heavens, 2 Cor. 5. 1. and our Inheritance eternal reſerved in the Heaven for us: And therefore they to whom the Promiſe is here made, are not in the World to come to live a thouſand Years on Earth, or to enjoy joy the temporal Bleſſings promiſed here, becauſe they are not to be enjoyed in the World to come, but now, in this preſent Life; and becauſe the only Bleſſing promiſed in the World to come, is not to be enjoyed on Earth, but is reſerved in the Heavens for us, 1 Pet. 1. 4.

CHAP. XX.

1. FOR (this, that the firſt ſhall be laſt, may be confirmed to you by this Parable,) [a] the Kingdom of Heaven is like to a Man that is an Houſholder, who went out early in the morning to hire Labourers into his Vineyard, (as Chriſt went firſt to call the Jews to come into it.)

2. And when he had agreed with the Labourers for a penny a day, (i. e. had told them what ſhould be their Wages,) he ſent them into his Vineyard.

3. And he went out about the third hour, (by his Apoſtles ſent firſt to preach in their Cities, and Villages, Matth. 10.) and ſaw others ſtanding idle in the Market-place,

4. And ſaid unto them, Go ye alſo into the Vineyard, and whatſoever is right I will give you, and they went their way.

5. Again, he went out about the ſixth and ninth hour, and did likewiſe, (preaching by his Apoſtles, aſſiſted by the Holy Ghoſt, firſt to the Jews in Judæa, and then in the Diſperſions.)

6. And about the eleventh hour, he went out and found others, (i. e. the Gentiles,) ſtanding idle, and ſaith unto them, Why ſtand ye here all the day idle?

7. They ſay unto him, becauſe no Man hath hired us, (i. e. the Goſpel hath not yet been preached to us;) he ſaith unto them, Go ye alſo into the Vineyard, and whatſoever is right, that ſhall ye receive.

8. So when Even was come, the Lord of the Vineyard ſaith to his Steward, call the Labourers, and give them their Hire, beginning from the laſt unto the firſt.

9. And when they came that were hired about the eleventh hour, they received every Man a penny; (i. e. the Gentiles had equal Privileges and Advantages with the Jews.)

10. But when the firſt (the Jews) came, they ſuppoſed that they ſhould have received more, and (but) they likewiſe received every Man a penny.

11. And when they had received it, they murmured againſt the good Man of the Houſe, (that he had no more regard to them than to other Believers;)

12. Saying, theſe laſt have wrought but one hour, (i. e. theſe Gentiles were only called at the laſt,) and thou haſt made them equal to us (Jews) who have born the Burthen and heat of the day, (i. e. have been ſo long the Sons of God, and the Children of Abraham.)

13. But he anſwered one of them, and ſaid, Friend, I do thee no wrong, didſt thou not agree with me for a penny?

14. Take that thine is, and go thy way, I will give to this laſt, even as to thee; (who doſt not leſs partake of the Bleſſings promiſed by the Meſſiah, becauſe the Gentiles alſo do it.)

15. Is it not lawful for me to do what I will with mine own? (to confer the Bleſſings I have purchaſed as well upon the Gentiles as on thee, or) is thine Eye evil becauſe I am good (towards them?)

16. So the laſt ſhall be firſt, and the firſt laſt, (i. e. ſo the Gentiles believing in, and thankfully receiving Chriſt, ſhall become his Church, and People, whilſt the Jews, murmuring and falling off from Chriſt, becauſe of this his kindneſs to the Gentiles, ſhall be excluded, and caſt out from this Kingdom till the laſt,) for (tho') many (of them) be called (by the preaching of the Goſpel,) but few (of them will be) choſen, (or prevailed upon by believing, to become the Elect of God, Rom. 11. 5, 7.)

17. And Jeſus going up to Jeruſalem, took the twelve Diſciples, (who followed him, fearing what might befall him and them there, Mark 10. 32.) apart in the way, and ſaid to them,

18. Behold we go up to Jeruſalem, and the Son of Man ſhall be betrayed to the Chief Prieſts, and to the Scribes, and they ſhall condemn him to Death;

19. And ſhall deliver him to the Gentiles, to mock, and to ſcourge, and to crucifie him, and the third day he ſhall riſe again, (for all theſe things being written of him muſt be fulfilled, Luke 18. 31.)

20. [b] Then came to him the Mother of Zebedee's Children, with her Sons, worſhipping him, and deſiring a certain thing of him;

21. And he ſaid to her (ſpeaking for them as they deſired,) what wilt thou? She ſaith unto him, grant that theſe my two Sons may ſit the one on thy right Hand, and the other on the left Hand in thy Kingdom.

22. But Jeſus anſwered, and ſaid (to them,) ye know not what ye ask, (as being ignorant of the ſtate of my Kingdom, which will rather call you to Sufferings after the Example of your Lord, than to temporal Advantages,) [c] are ye (then) able to drink of the Cup that I ſhall drink of, and to be baptized with the Baptiſm Baptiſm that I am baptized with? They ſay unto him, we are able.

23. And he ſaith unto them, ye ſhall drink indeed of my Cup, and be baptized with the Baptiſm that I am baptized with, (i. e. ſhall ſuffer as I muſt do,) [d] but to ſit on my right Hand, and on my left, is not mine to give, but it ſhall be given to them (Gr. ſave to them) for whom it is prepared of my Father, (i. e. the higheſt Gifts, and greateſt Miniſtries in my Kingdom muſt be diſpenſed by me, according to the good pleaſure of my Father.)

24. And when the Ten heard it, (i. e. what theſe had asked,) they were moved with Indignation againſt the two Brethren, (for thus attempting to get that, which they thought themſelves as worthy of as they.)

25. But Jeſus (perceiving this,) called them unto him and ſaid, [e] ye know that the Princes of the Gentiles exerciſe Dominion over them, and they that are great exerciſe Authority upon them (at their pleaſure, and ſo you expect it will be in my Kingdom, eſpecially as to the Gentiles, that you Jews ſhall be Lords over them, and they ſhall be your Servants.)

26. But (let me tell you) it ſhall not be ſo among you (in the Aminiſtration of my Kingdom,) but whoſoever will be great among you (in my Kingdom,) let him be your Miniſter.

27. And whoſoever will be chief among you, let him be your Servant, (for the chiefeſt Offices in my Kingdom are only the doing the greateſt Services to, and Miniſtries for the good of others.)

28. (It therefore muſt be with them) Even as (it is with) the Son of Man, (who) came not to be miniſtred unto, but to miniſter, [f] and to give his Life a Ranſom for many.

29. And as they departed from Jericho, a great Multitude followed him.

30. And behold two blind Men ſitting by the way-ſide, when they heard that Jeſus paſſed by, cried out, ſaying, Have Mercy on us, O Lord, thou Son of David.

31. And the Multitude rebuked them, becauſe (that) they ſhould hold their peace, but they cried the more, ſaying, Have Mercy on us, O Lord, thou Son of David.

32. And (then) Jeſus ſtood ſtill, and called them, and ſaid, What will ye that I ſhall do unto you?

33. They ſay unto him, Lord, (our Requeſt is) that our Eyes may be opened.

34. So Jeſus had Compaſſion on them, and touched their Eyes, and immediately their Eyes received ſight, and they followed him.

Annotations on Chap. XX.

[a] Ver. 1. THE Kingdom of Heaven is like to a Man that is an Houſholder.] Something like this Parable being to be found in the Jeruſalem Talmud, as are many other of theſe Parables in ſome of their ancient Books, Mr. Cl. thinks it fitter to ſay, they afterwards uſed them in imitation of Chriſt, than that Chriſt, who was an inſpired Teacher, ſhould take them from the Jews. But (1.) whoever conſiders the Hatred they bore to Chriſt, will ſcarce believe, they would be concerned to imitate his Sayings; and ſeeing this inſpired Teacher made frequent uſe of their Proverbs; and, as ſome learned Men aver, took almoſt the whole Lord's Prayer, from the Prayers uſed by the Jews; why might not he, who uſed their parabolical way of teaching, by his Divine Wiſdom apply ſuch of their Parables, as he ſaw proper for that purpoſe, to reſemble the ſpiritual Matters of his Kingdom, they being ſuch as would be leſs offenſive, and better be remembred, becauſe uſed by them, and familiar to them. To proceed then to the critical Remarks upon this Parable, and ſo on to the import of it: Note,

1*ſt*, That theſe words, theſe laſt, μίαν ὥραν ἐποίησαν, are well rendred, have wrought one hour, for ſo ποιεῖν ſignifies, as Dr. Hammond notes in theſe words of the Book of Ruth, πῦ ἐποίησας; where haſt thou wrought? Ruth 2. 19. and ſhe ſhewed her Mother πῦ ἐποίησε where ſhe wrought, and the Name of the Man μῶ ὄ ἐποίησε with whom ſhe wrought, and in the Book Eccleſiaſtes ποίημα is ſtill a Work, and ποεῖν to work; ſo τὸ ποίημα τὸ πεποιημένον ὑπὸ τ ἥλιον is, the Work wrought under the Sun, Eccleſ. 2. 17. — 4. 3. — 8. 9. and Chap. 3. 9. So Profit is τ ποιοῦντα, to him that worketh in that which he laboureth. Note,

2*dly*, That ὀφθαλμὸς ἀγαθὸς, ver. 15. is a liberal, or bounteous Eye. So Eccluſ. 35. 8. glorifie God ἐν ὀφθαλμῷ ἀγαθῷ, by thy Bounty. So עין טוב is benignus oculus, ſee Buxt. in voce עין See Dr. Hammond, Note B. Note,

3*dly*, That the κλητοὶ here, are thoſe who were called by Chriſt and his Apoſtles to the Marriage-Feaſt or Supper of the Goſpel, offered to them with all its Benefits, and yet ſlighted and refuſed by them, Luke 14. 18. The ἐκλεκτοὶ thoſe among the Jews who embraced this Call, and ſo are called by St. Paul ἐκλογὴ the Election, and a Remnant, κατ' ἐκλογὴν, according to the Election of Grace, Rom. 11. 6, 7. And by St. Peter the Elect, 1 Pet. 1. 1. — 2. 9. For the import of this Parable ſeems to be this, That the Jews who who were firſt called to be God's People, and to whom the Goſpel was firſt preached, and the Bleſſings of the Meſſiah firſt offered, ſhall be, for their Unbelief, rejected from being God's People, and ſo ſhall be the laſt in God's Eſteem, and ſhall be only made partakers of theſe Bleſſings at the laſt; but the Gentiles, who therefore came not in before, becauſe they were not called before, ſhall accept the gracious Offer, and ſo become God's Church and People, and be preferred before the Jews, and firſt partake of the Bleſſings of the Goſpel. So that they who gloried in the Title of being the Firſt-born of God, and thoſe who had ſerved him ſo long, and therefore murmured that the Gentiles ſhould be admitted to the ſame Privileges and Favour with them, and that without Circumciſion, or Obedience to the Law of Moſes, and did on that account reject the Goſpel, ſhall themſelves be rejected, and put laſt; for tho' many of them are called both in Judæa, and throughout their Diſperſions, yet few of them do, or will accept that Call, or embrace the Chriſtian Faith. That this is the true import of this Parable, we learn, (1.) From the connexive Particle γὰρ for, which begins this Chapter, and thereby ſhews this Parable is deſigned to prove what was ſaid in the laſt Verſe of the former Chapter, and is repeated in the cloſe of this Parable, ver. 16. viz. that many which were firſt ſhall be laſt, and the laſt ſhall be firſt. And that this relates to the calling in of the Gentiles, and the rejection of the Jews is evident from theſe words, Luke 13. 28, 29, 30. So there ſhall be weeping and gnaſhing of Teeth, when ye ſhall ſee Abraham, Iſaac, and Jacob, and all the Prophets, in the Kingdom of God, and you your ſelves caſt out; and they ſhall come from the Eaſt and the Weſt, from the North and South, and ſhall ſit down in the Kingdom of God, and behold there are laſt which ſhall be firſt, and firſt which ſhall be laſt. For in theſe words Chriſt plainly ſhews that the Goſpel ſhould be received by the Gentiles diſperſed through all parts of the Earth, and they ſhould become the Seed of Abraham by Faith, whilſt the Jews ſhould be excluded from that Kingdom, and by this, the laſt ſhould be made firſt, and the firſt laſt; and the reaſon of this added, ver. 16. for many are called but few choſen, muſt reſpect the ſame Jews. Moreover, that this Parable cannot relate to the Rewards of another World, is evident from this, that amongſt them who receive thoſe Rewards, there can be no murmuring as here, againſt God, v. 11. no evil Eye, or Envy at the Felicity of, or Kindneſs ſhewed to others, as here, ver. 15. But the very preaching of the Goſpel to the Gentiles was a great Myſtery, Rom. 16. 25, 26. Eph. 3. 4, 5, 6. 1 Tim. 3. 16. For even the firſt Believers preached only to the Jews, Acts 11. 19. St. Peter durſt not do it till God by a Viſion told him that he ſhould; Acts 10. and when he had done it, thoſe of the Circumciſion condemn him for it, Acts 11. 2, 3. The unbelieving Jews could not hear it from St. Paul without crying out, away with ſuch a Fellow, it is not fit that he ſhould live, Acts 22. 21, 22. And therefore they forbad the Apoſtles to preach to the Gentiles that they might be ſaved, 1 Theſſ. 2. 16. Yea, even the believing Jews murmured at their Admiſſion to the like Privileges with them, without Circumciſion, and the Obſervance of the Law of Moſes, and made great Schiſms in all the Churches of the Gentiles upon that account, and the unbelieving Jews were Enemies to the Goſpel for their ſakes, Rom. 11. 28. This therefore ſeems to be the cauſe of the Murmuring, and evil Eye, mentioned in this Parable, which, ſaith Chriſt, was wholly without cauſe, ſince they had not the leſs ſhare of the Bleſſings of Abraham, and of the Meſſiah, becauſe the Gentiles alſo, through God's free Grace and Favour to them, were made partakers of them alſo. Note alſo that the words, I will give to theſe laſt as unto thee, do not ſignifie that God would give the Bleſſings of the Goſpel to theſe murmuring Jews, the Kingdom of God being to be taken from them, and they being to be caſt out into outer Darkneſs, but only that they ſhould be offered to both equally, and conferred upon them on the ſame terms of Faith, there being no diſtinction betwixt Jew and Gentile in the Goſpel Diſpenſation, as under the Law there was.

Ver. 20. Then came to him the Mother of Zebedee's Children, deſiring, ver. 21. that her two Sons might ſit one on his right Hand, the other on his left in his Kingdom.] How this is to be reconciled with Mark 10. 35. ſee there. To ſit on his right Hand, and on his left, is to have the moſt eminent places of Dignity and Honour after him; thus Solomon placed his Mother on his right Hand when he ſat upon the Throne, 1 Kings 2. 19. to which alludes that of Pſal. 45. 9. upon his right Hand ſtands the Queen in Gold of Ophir; and that among the Perſians was, μὲν αὐτὸν ἕξειν πρόσεδρον, to have the firſt Seat after the King, Joſeph. Antiq. l. 11. c. 4. δεύτερον καθίζειν Δαρείου, to ſit next Darius, or ἐχόμενον αὐτοῦ, to ſit by him, Eſd. 3. 7. — 4. 42. This the Mother might be encouraged to ask, becauſe of their Alliance to Chriſt, and becauſe ſhe was a continual Follower of him, and ſerved him ſo diligently; and ſhe might expect they ſhould be eminent in his Kingdom, becauſe Chriſt had called them Sons of Thunder, Mark 3. 17. and had admitted them and Peter at his Tranſfiguration, Matth. 17. 1. and at other times, Mark 5. 37. when the reſt of the Diſciples were excluded;

cluded; however, the reſt hearing of this ambitious Requeſt of the two Brethren, and being as deſirous, and, in their own Opinion, as worthy of the ſame Honour, as their frequent Contentions about it teſtified, they had Indignation againſt them, ver. 24. Now from this whole matter it appears, that none of Chriſt's Diſciples imagined he had promiſed the Supremacy to Peter, by thoſe words, thou art Peter; for then neither would theſe two Perſons have deſired it, nor would the reſt have contended for it afterwards, Luke 22. 24.

c Ver. 22. Δυνασθε πιειν το ποτηριον ὁ ἐγω μελλω πινειν ἢ το βαπτισμα, &c. Can you drink of the Cup that I am about to drink of, and be baptized with the Baptiſm with which I ſhall be baptized?] The word Cup among ſacred and prophane Authors ſignifies the Portion whether of Good or Evil which befals Men in this World; expreſſed by Homer, and others, by two Cups in the Hands of Jupiter,

Δοιοὶ γὰρ τε πιθοὶ κατακείαθ' ἐν δόμος Ἀΐδι Δώρων οἷα δίδωσι κακῶν ἑτερῷ θ' ἑάων, — Il. ω. v. 525.

of which ſee Plutarch περὶ φυγῆς, p. 600. C. Accordingly the Pſalmiſt ſaith, In the Hand of the Lord there is a Cup, and the Wine is red, and he poureth out the ſame; ἔκλινεν ἐκ τούτου εἰς τοῦτο, he poureth out from one into the other, ſaith the Septuagint, but the Dregs thereof ſhall the wicked drink, Pſal. 75. 9. Fire and Brimſtone, Storm and Tempeſt being the portion of their Cup. To drink of this Cup, is to have a meaſure of Afflictions, and to drink of the ſame Cup, is to have the ſame meaſure of Afflictions; as in theſe words of (a) Plautus, ut ſenex hoc eodem poculo quo ego bibo biberet, that the old Man might drink of the ſame Cup with me. See the uſe of this Phraſe, Iſa. 51. 17, 22. Jer. 25. 15, 17, 28. Lam. 4. 21. Ezek. 23. 31, 32, 33. Matth. 26. 39, 42. John 18. 11. Rev. 14. 10. — 16. 19. — 18. 6. and Taubman on Plautus, Rudent. 3. 6. The Metaphor of Baptiſm, or Immerſion in Waters, or being put under Floods, is alſo familiar in Scripture to ſignifie a Perſon overwhelmed with Calamities; as when the Pſalmiſt complains, that the Waves had gone over him, Pſal. 42. 7. that he was come into deep Waters, Pſal. 69. 2. See Pſal. 88. 7. Cant. 8. 7. Jer. 47. 2. Ezek. 26. 19. Dan. 9. 26. Jon. 2. 3. And in this ſenſe Chriſt ſaith of his Death, I have a Baptiſm to be baptized with, Luke 12. 50. Of this Cup the Apoſtle James drank, when he was killed by the Sword of Herod, Acts 12. 2. And St. John, when he was put into a Furnace of hot Oil, exil'd to Patmos, and ſuffered many other things for the Name of Jeſus.

Ver. 23. But to ſit on my right Hand and d
my left is not mine to give; οὐκ ἔστιν ἐμὸν δοῦναι ἀλλ' οἷς ἡτοίμασται ὑπὸ τοῦ πατρός μου, but to them for whom it is prepared of my Father.] The Arians of old, and the Socinians at preſent hence note, that Chriſt here ſignifies that there is ſome Power which the Father hath reſerved to himſelf, and hath not committed to him; whence, ſay they, it follows that he cannot be the ſame God which the Father is, becauſe he hath not the ſame Power which the Father hath. But to this it is anſwered, that Chriſt cannot be here ſuppoſed to deny this Power to himſelf, for then he muſt contradict himſelf when he ſays, Luke 22. 29, 30. I diſpoſe to you a Kingdom, — that you may ſit on twelve Thrones judging the twelve Tribes of Iſrael; and Rev. 3. 21. To him that overcometh will I give to ſit upon my Throne, as I have overcome, and ſit with my Father on his Throne; and ſurely he, to whom all Power in Heaven and Earth is given, muſt have Power to appoint the Miniſters of his Kingdom; whence the Apoſtle ſaith, there be divers Adminiſtrations but the ſame Lord of them, 1 Cor. 12. 5. Chriſt therefore only ſaith, he could give this to them only for whom it was appointed of his Father, and this he ſaith, not to ſignifie a defect of Power, but a perfect Conformity to his Father's Will; and that he could not do this without the Motion and Energy of the Divine Nature, which he calls the Father, abiding in him; ſaying, the Son can do nothing of himſelf, but what he ſees the Father doing, Joh. 5. 19, 20. and can ſpeak only what he hath heard from the Father, John 8. 38. which rather ſhews that the Divine Eſſence abideth in him, that that there is any want of Power in him.

Ver. 25. Ye know that οἱ ἄρχοντες τῶν ἐθνῶν e
κατακυριεύουσιν αὐτῶν καὶ οἱ μεγάλοι κατεξουσιάζουσιν αὐτῶν, the Rulers of the Gentiles have Dominion over them, and they that are great exerciſe Authority over them, but it ſhall not be ſo among you.] Here, ſaith Woltzogenius, we may clearly perceive that Chriſt in the Perſon of his Apoſtles underſtands all his faithful People, and forbids them who will be his Subjects, the Exerciſe of all Civil Dominion; which is certainly falſe, ſince then he had forbid the Dominion of Parents over their Children, and of Maſters over their Servants; the contrary to which is evident from Eph. 6. 1, 5. Coloſſ. 3. 22. 1 Tim. 6. 1. where the Power of Parents over their Children, and of Maſters over their Servants, is confirmed.

2*dly*, If by theſe words the Civil Magiſtracy ſhould be forbidden in a Chriſtian Commonwealth, all Order, all Defence of good Men, and puniſhment of evil Doers, would be taken away.

away. For what muſt be done in this caſe, muſt the Civil Government of Chriſtians be put into the Hands of Heathens? "I ſee no "cauſe, ſaith Schlinckingius, why a Chriſtian "ſhould not rather exerciſe it than any other "Man; for who is better than a Chriſtian? "who in the uſe of this Authority will be more "juſt and moderate? who more diligent in "defending the Good, and eſpecially thoſe "Chriſtians who are God's peculiar People? "who is fitter to promote Chriſtian Truth, "and Piety? when the whole Realm is Chri- "ſtian, can it be better to commit the Go- "vernment to an Adverſary, than to an Abet- "tor of Chriſtianity? ſince God would have "Kings themſelves to come to the Knowledge "of the Truth, would he require them at "the ſame time to lay aſide their Govern- "ment? what could render them more alien "from the Chriſtian Faith, or be a greater "reproach to Chriſtianity, than to ſay it for- "bad them that Government which is inſti- "tuted by the Law of Nature, and is ſo ne- "ceſſary for all People? And how contrary "is this to that Prediction, that Kings ſhould "be their nurſing Fathers? Moreover, it is "certain that the Exerciſe of this Civil "Power can be no evil thing, ſince he who "doth it is God's Vicegerent, the Ordinance "of God, the Miniſter of God for Good; "who then would have all Chriſtians diſ- "charged from what is lawful in it ſelf, and "highly beneficial to them, and not rather "wiſh that all Kings were Chriſtians, or that "only Chriſtians might be Kings? And whereas Woltzogenius adds, that this Empire conſiſts not with Chriſtian Humility, which calls us to miniſter to others; now to com- mand and miniſter is inconſiſtent; I anſwer, that Government is ſo far from being incon- ſiſtent with Miniſtry, that all Government, whoſe end is not our private, but the Good of others, is, in reſpect of them, a Miniſtry; hence is the higheſt Power ſtiled the Miniſter of God for Good to them, and ſaid λειτουργεῖν to ſerve, or officiate for that very end, Rom. 13. 6.

But why then, ſaith he, did not Chriſt the Head, and King of the Church exerciſe this Office? I anſwer, who knows not that he is King of Kings, and Lord of Lords, and is now in the actual exerciſe of his King- ly Office? He did not indeed exerciſe this Dominion upon Earth, becauſe his Kingdom was not of this World, and he would give no Umbrage to Cæſar, or the Jews, that he af- fected ſuch a thing; and partly becauſe he was to exerciſe his Prophetick Office upon Earth, and go from his Sufferings to the Glo- ry of his Kingdom, and leave us an Example of Patience, and Humility, and of Contempt of worldly Grandeur.

2*dly*, It is certain that this Text cannot condemn all Eccleſiaſtical Government, that being as neceſſary to an Eccleſiaſtical Society, or Community, or Civil Government to a Civil Society; hence among Gifts diſtri- buted for the uſe of the Church, we read of Governments, 1 Cor. 12. 28. we find the Apoſtles had their Rod, 1 Cor. 4. 21. and Power given of the Lord, 2 Cor. 10. 8. — 13. 10. to deliver to Satan, 1 Cor. 5. 5. 2 Tim. 1. 20. and to revenge all Unrighteouſneſs, 2 Cor. 10. 6. And we have mention of thoſe who are over us in the Lord, 1 Theſſ. 5. 12. and who are ἡγούμενοι Governours, to whom we muſt yield Obedience, and ſubmit our ſelves, Heb. 13. 7, 17. and without this, that Chri- ſtian Diſcipline on which the welfare of the Church ſo much depends, could not be exer- ciſed. Nor,

3*dly*, Do I think Chriſt only here forbiddeth ſuch Dominion as is attended with Tyranny, Oppreſſion, and Contempt of their Subjects, as ſome collect from the words καταχυριεύειν and κατεξουσιάζειν, which, ſay they, bear that ſenſe, Neh. 5. 14, 15. — 9. 37. Ezra 7. 24. Pſal. 10. 5, 10. Eccluſ. 20. 8. (1.) Becauſe St. Luke, chap. 22. 25. uſes only the words κυριεύειν and ἐξουσιάζειν, which bear no ſuch ill ſenſe. (2.) Becauſe Kings and Governours among the Gentiles, and much leſs among the Jews, were not always guilty of this Male Adminiſtration. And, (3.) Becauſe Chriſt does not oppoſe unto their Government a juſt Dominion, but a Miniſtry only. (4.) Obſerve, that ἐξουσιάζειν, Neh. 9. 37. doth plainly ſignifie, to govern them accord- ing to their Will; and this was plainly the Government which obtained in the Eaſtern Nations; the Will of thoſe Kings was their Law; and for this reaſon were they ſtiled αὐτοκράτορες, whereas your Office being only to make known my Will; You, ſaith Chriſt, ſhall have no ſuch Government, no Domini- on over the Faith of others, 2 Cor. 1. 24. ſhall command nothing for meer Will and Plea- ſure, but your whole Office ſhall conſiſt in being Miniſters to the good of others. Whence, ſaith the Apoſtle, What is Paul, what is Apol- lo, but διάκονοι, Miniſters by whom ye be- lieved? 1 Cor. 3. 5. And we our ſelves are your Servants, ſaith he, for Jeſus ſake, 2 Cor. 4. 5. Hence are they ſo often ſtiled Mini- ſters, and their Work, a Miniſtry to the Saints, to the Gentiles, to the Church. And there- fore, ſaith Chriſt, all the Office any Man can have in my Kingdom, can be only a larger Miniſtry to others; and in this he truly will reſemble me, who came not to be miniſtred to, but to miniſter.

Ver. 28. Even as the Son of Man came not to be miniſtred unto, but to miniſter; καὶ δοῦ- ναι τὴν ψυχὴν αὐτοῦ λύτρον ἀντὶ πολλῶν, and to give his Life a ranſom for many. Here note,

1*ſt*, That whereas it is ſaid here, that Chriſt gave his Life a Ranſom for many; and, Chap. 26. 28. that his Blood was ſhed for many; and, Heb. 9. 28. that Chriſt was once offered offered to take away the Sins of many: It doth not hence follow, that Christ died not for all; the word, πολλοὶ, many, being in other places used where all are certainly included: Thus when 'tis said, Dan. 12. 2. That many who sleep in the Dust, shall arise, some to everlasting Life, and some to everlasting Shame: This is certainly equivalent to that of Christ, John 5. 28, 29. The Hour cometh, that all that sleep in the Grave, shall hear the Voice of the Son of Man, and shall come forth, they that have done good to the Resurrection of Life, and they that have done evil to the Resurrection of Condemnation. When it is said, Rom. 5. 15. that through the Offence of one, many died; this is equivalent to that of the same Apostle, that in Adam all Men died, 1 Cor. 15. 22. And when 'tis said, ver. 19. That by the Disobedience of one, many were made Sinners; this is certainly equivalent to what is said, ver. 12. Death passed upon all Men, thro' that one Man in whom all have sinned. Note,

2*dly*, That from these words, he gave his Life λύτρον ἀντὶ πολλῶν, a ransom for many; it is evident, that Christ suffered in our stead, and gave his Life instead of our Lives, obnoxious to Death, the Wages of Sin, as hath been largely proved, Note on those words, 1 Tim. 2. 6. He gave himself, ἀντίλυτρον ὑπὲρ πάντων, a ransom for all; and will be farther evident from the like Expressions in Scripture, in Jewish and in Heathen Authors. Thus, Joshua 2. 14. the Agreement betwixt Raab and the Spies runs thus, ἡ ψυχὴ ἡμῶν ἀντὶ ὑμῶν εἰς θάνατον, Let our Lives die instead of yours, if ye utter not our Business. So when Eliazar died, he is introduced by (b) Josephus, speaking thus, Καθάρσιον αὐτῶν ποιῆσαι τὸ ἡμῶν αἷμα καὶ ἀντὶ ψυχῶν αὐτῶν λάβε τὴν ἡμῶν ψυχὴν, That God would accept his Blood as a propitiatory Sacrifice for the Jews, and take his Life instead of their Lives. So (c) Alcestis saith to Admetus, In honour of thee I die, that thou ἀντὶ τῆς ἐμῆς ψυχῆς, mightst live instead of me. And (d) Porphyry from Asclepiades, says, That the first Sacrifices were offered, τότε τινας καιροὺς ψυχὴ ἀντὶ ψυχῆς αἰτουμένους, on some occasions requiring Life for Life. See more of this, Outram de Sacr. l. 1. c. 22. And, Pearf. Vindiciæ Ignat. Par. 2. c. 15. p. 206, 207, 208. This being then the constant Opinion both of Jews and Gentiles, that their piacular Victims were λύτρα and ἀντίλυτρα, Ransoms for the Life of the Sinner; and that he who gave his Life for another, suffered in his stead, and to preserve him from Death; they could not otherwise judge, but that our Lord intended by this Expression, to signifie, that he gave his Life instead of the Lives of those for whom he suffered: Vain here are the Socinians, when they say, this Price was to be paid to Satan, who detained us captive; for the Price is only to be paid to him that retains the captive, when he doth this for Gain, to make Money of him, as the Turks now do at Tripoli and Algiers, not when a Man is detained in Custody or Prison for violation of a Law; for then 'tis not the Gaoler, but the Legislator, to whom the Price of his Redemption must be paid, or Satisfaction made. And Crellius in vain denies, That this Price was paid to God, for Christ became our Ransom as he offered up his Life and Blood for us; now he gave himself a Sacrifice and Oblation to God, Eph. 5. 2. He offered himself without spot to God, Heb. 9. 14. He therefore paid the Price of our Redemption to God.

CHAP. XXI.

1. AND when they drew nigh to Jerusalem, and were come (thro' Bethany,) to Bethpage to the Mount of Olives, then sent Jesus two of (his) Disciples, (Mark 11. 1. Luke 19. 29.)

a 2. Saying to them, Go into the [a] Village over against you, and straightway entring b (into it,) ye shall find [b] an Ass tied, and a Cold (tied) with her, (on which never Man sat, Mark 11. 2.) loose them, and bring them to me.

3. And if any Man say ought to you, (asking, why you do this, Mark 11. 3.) ye shall say, The Lord hath need of them; and straightway (hearing that) he will send them.

4. All this was done (by Christ,) that it might be [c] fulfilled which was spoken by the Prophet (Zachary, chap. 9. 9.) saying, c

5. Tell ye the Daughter of Zion, Behold, thy King cometh to thee, meek, and sitting upon an Ass, and (that is) a Colt, the Foal of an Ass.

6. And the Disciples went, and did as Jesus commanded them; (and they found the Colt tied by the Door without, in a place where two ways met, and they loosed them, Mark 11. 4. and the owners of the Colt standing by, said, Why do ye loose the Colt? ver. 5. And the Disciples answered, We do as Jesus, who hath need of him, commanded us, and then they suffered them, ver. 6. Luke 19. 31, 34.)

7. And (so they) brought the Ass and the Colt, and put on (one of) [d] them, (to wit, d the Colt) their Cloaths, and they ſet him thereon.

e 8. And a very great Multitude [e] ſpread their Garments in the way, others cut down Branches from the Trees, and ſtrewed them in the way, (as before a King; and as he was going down to the Mount of Olives, the whole Multitude of his Diſciples began to praiſe God with a loud Voice, for all the wonderful things that they had ſeen, Luke 19. 37.)

9. And the Multitude that went before, and that followed (after) cried, ſaying, (As they did uſually at the Feaſt of Tabernacles,) Hoſanna to the Son of David; Bleſſed is (he) he that cometh in the Name of the Lord; Hoſanna in the Higheſt; (wiſhing Proſperity to him, and his Kingdom, from him that dwells in the higheſt Heaven.)

10. And when he was come into Jeruſalem, all the City was moved, ſaying, Who is this?

11. And the Multitude ſaid, This is Jeſus the Prophet of Nazareth, (a City) of Galilee.

12. And Jeſus went (the next Day, Mark
f 11. 12.) into the Temple of God, and [f] caſt out all them that ſold and bought in the Temple, and overthrew the Tables of the Money-changers, and the Seats of them that ſold Doves.

g 13. And ſaid to them, It is written, [g] My Houſe ſhall be called the Houſe of Prayer (for all Nations, Iſa. 56. 7.) but ye (by theſe Practices) have made it a Den of Thieves; (i. e. by turning it into a place of unjuſt Gain, you have verified the Complaint of the Prophet Jeremy, Chap. 7. 11. that it was become a Den of Robbers.)

14. And the Blind and the Lame came to him in the Temple, and he healed them.

15. And when the Chief Prieſts and Scribes ſaw the wonderful things that he did, and the Children crying in the Temple, and ſaying, Hoſanna to the Son of David, they were ſore diſpleaſed.

16. And ſaid to him, heareſt thou what theſe ſay? (Rebuke them for it, Luke 19. 39.) And Jeſus ſaith unto them, Yea, (I hear them fulfilling the Propheſie of the Pſal- h miſt; for) [h] have ye never read (theſe words, Pſal. 8. 2.) out of the Mouth of Babes and Sucklings thou haſt perfected Praiſe? (They therefore are excited by him to do that which your Malice will not ſuffer you to do for the Glory of God.)

17. And (having ſaid this) he left them, and went out of the City into Bethany, and he lodged there (with his Diſciples, Mark 11. 11.)

18. Now in the Morning, as he returned into the City, he hungred;

19. And when he ſaw a Fig-tree in the way, he came to it, and found nothing thereon but Leaves only; and (he) ſaid unto it, Let no Fruit grow on thee henceforward for ever: And preſently the Fig-tree withered away; (by this Example ſhewing, that the Jewiſh Nation, which being watered with the Goſpel, brought forth no anſwerable Fruit, was nigh unto curſing, and would ſuddenly be rejected by God, Heb. 6. 8.)

20. And when (Peter, Mark 11. 21. and) the Diſciples ſaw it, they marvelled, ſaying, How ſoon is the Fig-tree withered away!

21. Jeſus anſwered, and ſaid unto them, Verily I ſay unto you, [i] If ye have Faith, and i doubt not, ye ſhall not only (be able to) do this, which is done to the Fig-tree, but alſo, if ye ſhall ſay to this Mountain, be thou removed, and be thou caſt into the Sea, it ſhall be ſo done.

22. And all things whatſoever ye ſhall ask in Prayer, believing, ye ſhall receive.

23. And when he was come into the Temple, the Chief Prieſts and the Elders of the People came to him as he was teaching, and ſaid, [k] By what Authority doeſt thou theſe k things? and who gave thee this Authority, (thus to controul us, and reprove our Practices, to whom the Government of the Temple, and of the People is committed?)

24. And Jeſus anſwered, and ſaid to them, I alſo will ask you one thing; which, if you tell me, I in like wiſe will tell you, by what Authority I do theſe things; (or, you may diſcern this without my telling you, for John bore Witneſs to me, John 5. 33.)

25. The [l] Baptiſm of John, whence was it? l from (the God of) Heaven, or of Men (only?) And they reaſoned with themſelves, ſaying, If we ſhall ſay, from Heaven, he will ſay to us, Why did ye not then believe him?

26. But if we ſhall ſay, of Men, we fear (leſt we ſhould be ſtoned by) the People; for all hold John as a Prophet.

27. And they anſwered Jeſus, and ſaid, We cannot tell: And he ſaid to them, Neither tell I you by what Authority I do theſe things.

28. But what think you (of this Parable, which fitly repreſents your ſtubbornneſs in rejecting the Doctrine of John?) [m] A certain m Man had two Sons; and he came to the firſt, and ſaid (to him,) Son, go, work to day in my Vineyard.

29. He anſwered, and ſaid (to his Father,) I will not: But afterwards he repented (of his undutiful Denial,) and went.

30. And he came to the ſecond, and ſaid likewiſe: And he anſwered and ſaid, I go, Sir, and (but he) went not.

31. Whether of them twain did the Will of his Father? They ſay unto him, The firſt (only:) Jeſus ſaith to them, (You fitly reſemble the ſecond Son; and the Publicans whom ye ſo much deſpiſe, are liker to the firſt; for) Verily I ſay unto you, That the Publicans and Harlots (heard John ſaying, Repent, for the Kingdom Kingdom of Heaven is at hand; and repenting) go into the Kingdom of God before you; (who are ſo far from going before them, in obedience to this Command of God by John, that you deſpiſe it.)

n 32. For [n] John came to you (to inſtruct you) in the way of Righteouſneſs, and ye believed him not; but the Publicans and the Harlots believed him: And ye, when ye had ſeen (them do) it, repented not afterward, that ye (alſo) might believe him.

33. Hear another Parable (reſembling God's kind Dealings with you, and your evil Returns
o to him:) [o] There was a certain Houſholder, which planted a Vineyard, and hedged it round about, and digged a Wine-preſs in it, and built a Tower (in it,) and let it out to Husband-men, and went into a far Country.

34. And when the time of the Fruit drew near, he ſent (ſucceſſively) his Servants to the Husband-men, that they might receive the Fruits of it.

35. And the Husband-men took his Servants, and beat one, and killed another, and ſtoned another, (as you have dealt with the Prophets, Matth. 5. 12.)

36. Again, he ſent other Servants more than the firſt, and they did to them likewiſe, (in this alſo reſembling you; for which of the Prophets did not your Fathers perſecute? Acts 7. 52.)

37. But laſt of all, he ſent to them his (only) Son, ſaying, (perhaps) they will reverence my Son.

38. But when the Husband-men ſaw the Son, they ſaid among themſelves, This is the Heir, come let us kill him, and let us ſeize on his Inheritance.

39. And (accordingly) they caught him, and caſt him out of the Vineyard, and ſlew him, (as you will do, chap. 20. 18.)

40. When the Lord therefore of the Vineyard cometh, what (think you) will he do to thoſe Husbandmen?

41. [p] They ſay to him, He will miſerably p deſtroy thoſe wicked Men, and will let out his Vineyard to other Husband-men, who ſhall render him the Fruits (of it) in their Seaſons.

42. Jeſus ſaith to them, Did you never read in the Scriptures (thoſe words recorded, Pſal. 118. 22.) The Stone which the Builders rejected, the ſame is become the Head of the Corner? This is the Lord's doing, and it is marvellous in our Eyes: (Now you are thoſe Builders, and I whom you reject, am that chief Corner-ſtone.)

43. [q] Therefore ſay I to you, The King- q dom of God ſhall be taken from you, and given to a Nation bringing forth the Fruits thereof.

44. And whoſoever ſhall [r] fall on (or ſtumble at) this Stone, (or thro' Ignorance, or the Prejudices he hath received from you, ſhall continue in his Unbelief,) ſhall be broken (by it;) but on whomſoever it ſhall fall (in vengeance, as it will heavily upon you,) it will grind him to Powder. r

45. And when the Chief Prieſts and Phariſees had heard his Parables, they perceived (at the laſt) that he ſpake of (what ſhould befal) them.

46. But when they ſought to lay hands on him, they feared the Multitude, becauſe they took him for a Prophet; (and this at preſent reſtrained them from ſo doing.) a Ver. 2. Πορεύεσθε εἰς τὴν κώμην τὴν ἀπέναντι ὑμῶν, Go to the Village over againſt you.] This could not be Jeruſalem that was againſt Chriſt, and his Apoſtles, as ſome gloſs the words; that being not a Village, but a City; but, as the (a) Arabian Geographer informs us, it was a little Village two Miles diſtant from the Mount of Olives towards the South. See Bochart. Hieroz. l. 2. c. 17. col. 210.

b Ibid. Εὑρήσετε ὄνον δεδεμένην, καὶ πῶλον μετ' αὐτῆς, Ye ſhall find an Aſs bound.] Seeing all the other Evangeliſts teſtifie, that the Colt was bound, the words of St. Matthew muſt be filled up thus, And a Colt bound with her.

Note alſo, that the other Evangeliſts make mention only of the Colt, becauſe our Saviour ſat upon him only. See Note on v. 7. Note alſo here, a wonderful inſtance of Chriſt's preſcience in the minuteſt Matters, viz. 1. You ſhall find a Colt, 2. On which no Man ever ſat, 3. Bound with his Mother, 4. In Bivio, 5. As you enter into the Village; 6. The Owners of which ſhall at firſt ſeem unwilling that you ſhall unbind him; 7. But when they hear the Lord hath need of him, they will let him go.

Ver. 4. All this was done, ἵνα πληρωθῇ τὸ ῥηθὲν διὰ τοῦ προφήτου, that it might be fulfilled, which was ſpoken by the Prophet, — meek and ſitting, ἐπὶ ὄνον, καὶ πῶλον, upon an Aſs, and upon a Colt, the Foal of an Aſs;] John 12. 15. ſitting ἐπὶ πῶλον ὄνου, upon the Foal of an Aſs, which makes it reaſonable to conceive, that καὶ here ſignifies, id eſt, as Vau oft does. See Note on Coloſ. 1. 2. Moreover, here note, (1.) That the ancient Jews refer this place of Zachary 9. 9. to the Meſſias. So Midras Coheleth, in Eccl. 1. 9. Such as our firſt Redeemer was, (i. e. Moſes,) ſuch c d Ver. 6, 7. They brought the Aſs and the Colt, καὶ ἐπεκάθισεν ἐπάνω αὐτῶν, and ſet him upon them,] ἐπ' αὐτῷ, upon him, Mark 11. 7. ἐπὶ τὸν πῶλον, upon the Colt, Luke 19. 35. it ſeeming not probable to moſt Interpreters, that in ſo ſhort a Journey Chriſt ſhould ride upon them both; and three Evangeliſts mentioning only one, it ſeems neceſſary here, to admit of the Figure called Enallage numeri, frequent in other places; ſo the Ark reſted upon the Mountains of Ararat, Gen. 8. 3. i. e. upon one of them; the Cities in which Lot dwelt. Gen. 19. 29. i. e. in one of which. See Gen. 23. 6. Joſ. 7. 1. Matth. 27. 44. Luke 23. 39. John 12. 14. St. Matthew ſeems to add both, either in compliance with the words of the Prophet, or becauſe he ſat upon the Colt, the Aſs going along with him.

Hieroz. l.* 2. c. 17. col. 213, 214. Note alſo hence from (c) St. Chryſoſtom, an Argument, that our Jeſus was their true Meſſiah; they being not able to ſhew any other that came thus to them.

e Ver. 8. And a very great Multitude, ὁ πλεῖστος ὄχλος ἔστρωσαν ἑαυτῶν τὰ ἱμάτια ἐν τῇ ὁδῷ, Strewed their Garments in the way, others cut down Branches.] Here obſerve, that this ſtrowing of Cloaths, Flowers and Branches in the way, were Ceremonies uſed toward great Men, and eſpecially to Kings and Emperors: Thus ſaith (d) Herodotus, They went before Xerxes, paſſing over the Helleſpont, μυρσίνησι στρώσαντες τὴν ὁδὸν, ſtrowing the way with Myrtle Branches: Thus when Cato left his Soldiers to return to Rome, ὑπέστρωσι τὰ ἱμάτια τοῖς ποσὶν ἢ βαδίζοι, they laid their Garments in the way; which, ſaith (e) Plutarch, was an honour then done only τοῖς αὐτοκράτορσιν ὀλίγοις. to few Emperours. And when the Captains proclaimed Jehu King, they put their Garments under him, 2 Kings 9. 13. This therefore the People do now to Jeſus, as being to proclaim him the King Meſſiah. (2.) Obſerve, That at the Feaſt of Tabernacles, it was the Cuſtom of the Jews, not only to ſing Hoſannas with the greateſt Joy, but alſo to carry Branches in their Hands, deſiring, as the Jews ſtill wiſh to do at this Feaſt, that they may thus rejoice at the coming of their Meſſiah; whence, owning Jeſus for the Perſon, they uſe the Hoſannas, and the Rites obſerved at that Feaſt, wiſhing Proſperity to him and his Kingdom, from him that dwelleth ἐν τοῖς ὑψίστοις, in the higheſt Heavens, Luke 19. 38.

Ver. 12. And Jeſus went into the Temple of f
God, καὶ ἐξέβαλε πάντας τοὺς πωλοῦντας καὶ ἀγοράζοντας ἐν τῷ ἱερῷ, &c. and caſt out all thoſe that bought and ſold in the Temple, and overthrew the Tables of the Money-changers, &c.] Chriſt ſeems not here abſolutely to forbid this Permutation; it being almoſt neceſſary for them who lived far from Jeruſalem, to bring up Money to purchaſe Sacrifices and Oblations there, rather than to bring them ſo long a Journey, and ſuitable in equity to the Law concerning Tythes, Deut. 14. 24, 25, 26. But he condemns the Avarice of the Prieſts, who, when theſe things were bought before in the Shambles and Markets of Jeruſalem, had for their ſordid Gain, now brought this Merchandize into the Houſe of God; and that this was done in honour of that ſacred Place, is evident from the words following, Mark 11. 16. See the Note there. The Money-changers ſat there not only about the payment of the Half Shekel to the Sanctuary, but chiefly for the Return of Money from remote Places; (this Payment being made even by the Jews in their ſeveral Diſperſions,) that ſo they who came to Jeruſalem to worſhip, paying it to Merchants at home, might have it ſafe from Thieves, and from the trouble of Carriage, at Jeruſalem.

Ver. 13. And ſaith unto them, It is written, g
My Houſe ſhall be called, οἶκος προσευχῆς, a Houſe of Prayer, (to all Nations, Mark 11. 17.) and ye have made it a Den of Thieves.] God ſaid by the Prophet, My Houſe ſhall be called an Houſe of Prayer for all People, Iſa. 56. 7. So Iſa. 60. 7. i. e. an Houſe dedicated to my Worſhip; of which, Prayer was eſteemed an eminent Part, as is evident from Solomon's Prayer at the Dedication of the Temple; which ſuppoſes, God's People ſhould continually pray in, or towards that Houſe; and that they did ſo at the time of offering Incenſe, we read Luke 1. 10. Thither alſo went the Phariſee and the Publican to pray, Luke 18. 10. Thither alſo went the Heathen Proſelytes of the Gate, and therefore had a Court ſtiled, The Court of the Gentiles, and this made it an Houſe of Prayer for all Nations: But you, ſaith Chriſt, by turning it into a place of unjuſt juſt Gain, i. e. of Gain got by Exactions, tending to the loſs and damage of the People, have given juſt occaſion to apply to you thoſe words of Jeremy, Chap. 7. 11. My Houſe is become a Den of Robbers in your Eyes; you making a Gain of that Service, which you ought freely to attend upon, having your Tythes from them, and a ſhare of their Offerings for that very end.

h Ver. 15, 16. Have you never read, that out of the Mouths of Babes and Sucklings I have ordained Praiſe?] I do not ſee reaſon to ſay, Chriſt cites theſe words as a Prediction of the things here done to him; but only to ſay, what was there ſaid, might well be accommodated to this Action; for, if when that young Stripling David, whoſe Son according to the Fleſh, I am, and who was an eminent Type of me, conquered Goliah, that great Enemy of God's People; all the Women, probably attended with their Children, came out of their Cities, dancing and ſinging Praiſe to God, 1 Sam. 18. 6. is it not reaſonable, that the Multitudes ſhould ſing Hoſanna to the Son of David, coming to vanquiſh the Devil, that great Enemy of his Church? And now that God hath raiſed up an Horn of Salvation for them in the Houſe of his Servant David, to deliver them from their Enemies, and from the Hands of all that hate them, Luke 1. 68, 74. that they ſhould ſing Glory to God in the Higheſt, and wiſh Proſperity to the Kingdom he is now erecting.

i Ver. 21. Ἐὰν ἔχητε πίστιν καὶ μὴ διακριθῆτε, If ye have Faith, and doubt not, — κὰν τῷ ὄρει τούτῳ εἴπητε, if ye ſhall ſay to this Mountain, Be thou removed, and be thou caſt into the Sea, it ſhall be done.] That μὴ διακριθῶσιν ſignifies not to diſcriminate, or put a difference; See Note on Rom. 14. 23. And ſo here it may import, If you have ſuch a Faith as puts no difference between things you can and things you cannot do, but makes you fully perſuaded, you can do any thing which tends to the Glory of God, and is requiſite for the Promotion of the Chriſtian Faith, you ſhall be able to perform the moſt difficult things; for that is the meaning of that Phraſe, to root up Mountains: It being ſaid by the Jews of their Doctors, which were able to ſolve the moſt difficult Queſtions, ſuch a one is a rooter up of Mountains. See Note on 1 Cor. 13. 2. Tho' therefore Nyſſen, ſaith that Gregory of Neocæſaria; and Jerom, that Hilarion removed Mountains; yet I prefer the Allegorical Expoſition, eſpecially conſidering, that what is here a Mountain, is Luke 17. 6. a Sycamore Tree.

Note alſo, That theſe words muſt be reſtrained to the Age of Miracles, and to the Perſons to whom they were ſpoken, the Apoſtles and firſt Propagators of the Goſpel; it being certain from Experience, that this is no ordinary and perpetual Gift of Chriſtians: And that the thing here promiſed, was extraordinary, appears from the Faith required to it, called by St. Mark, The Faith of God; i. e. either the greateſt and moſt excellent Faith, as πόλις μεγάλη τῷ Θεῷ, is a very great City, Jon. 3. 3. and ἀστεῖος τῷ Θεῷ, a very comely perſon, Acts 7. 20. So Wreſtlings of God, Gen. 30. 8. Mountains of God, Pſal. 36. 7. Cedars of God, Pſal. 80. 11. Or elſe Faith, that doth certainly perſuade us of God's extraordinary Aſſiſtance: And that this reſpects the Apoſtles, is evident, becauſe Chriſt elſewhere ſpeaks this to them, on the account of that defect of Faith which made them fail in caſting out a Devil, Matth. 17. 19, 20.

Ver. 23. Ἐν ποίᾳ ἐξουσίᾳ ταῦτα ποιεῖς, By what Authority doſt thou theſe things, and who gave thee that Authority?] This the Chief Prieſts and Rulers ask, becauſe the ordinary Authority of teaching in the Temple, was to be derived from them, of teaching elſewhere from their Doctors. But yet it was a vain Queſtion, after they had ſeen his Miracles, and knew he claimed a Commiſſion from God, and had told them that the Works he had done in his Father's Name bore Witneſs of him, John 5. 36. k

Ver. 25. Τὸ βάπτισμα Ἰωάννου πόθεν ἦν ἐξ οὐρανοῦ ἢ ἐξ ἀνθρώπων; The Baptiſm of John whence was it, from Heaven or from Men?] From Heaven, i.e. from God; for Heaven here is not oppoſed to Earth, but to Men. So to ſin againſt Heaven, Luke 15. 18, 21. is to ſin againſt God. See the Note there. John was a Voice crying in the Wilderneſs, prepare ye the way of the Lord, Matth. 3. 3. He baptized with the Baptiſm of Repentance, ſaying to the People, that they ſhould believe in him that was to come after him, that is, in Chriſt Jeſus, Acts 19. 4. He came to give Teſtimony to Chriſt, John 1. 7. 15. declaring that he was the Lamb of God, that took away the Sins of the World, v. 29. whence it is evident that the Chief Prieſts and Phariſees could not own the Baptiſm of John to be from Heaven, but they muſt alſo own Chriſt to be the Son of God, and him concerning whom God had teſtified by a Voice from Heaven, and by the Deſcent of the Holy Ghoſt upon him, that he was the beloved Son in whom he was well pleaſed; whence theſe great Doctors choſe rather to pretend Ignorance, than to confeſs that truth which would condemn them. And whereas it is added, ver. 26. that all held John ὡς προφήτην, as a Prophet, this as, doth not import Similitude, but that he was truly ſo; as when 'tis ſaid, we have ſeen his Glory, ὡς μονογενοῦς, as of the only begotten of the Father, John 1. 14. ὡς ἐξουσίαν ἔχων, as having Authority, Mat. 7. 29. See Note on Rom. 9. 32. hence he is ſaid to be a Prophet, Luke 20. 6. l

m Ver. 28, 31. A Man had two Sons.] By the firſt of theſe two Sons, all the Interpreters I have read, underſtand the Publicans, by the ſecond, the Scribes and Phariſees; becauſe Chriſt, in the cloſe of this Parable, ver. 32. ſeems ſo to interpret it. But yet it ſeems to me a probable Conjecture, that by the firſt Son, we may underſtand the Gentiles repreſented by the Prodigal Son, Luke 15. For it hath been noted on ver. 1, 2. of that Chapter, that Publicans by the Jews were ranked with the Heathens, and that the Heathens were repreſented by the Jews as πόρνοις Harlots, and born of Harlots. See the Note on John 8. 41. And when Chriſt came among them, or they came to him, he found them ſtill more ready to believe in him, than the Jews, and more eſpecially than the Scribes and Phariſees; he not finding ſuch Faith in Iſrael as in the Centurion, Matth. 8. 10, 11. and in the Syrophœnician Woman, Mark 7. 29. See Chap. 14. 34, 35, 36. John 12. 20, 23, 24. So the import of it may be this; You Jews who ſtile your ſelves the Sons of God, and you Scribes and Phariſees who pretend to ſo much Religion, and ſo great Zeal for God, and to be Guides to others in the way of Life, are not only more alien from it, when taught you by me and my Fore-runner, than the Publicans and Harlots, but than thoſe Gentiles are, whom you repreſent as ſuch.

n Ver. 32. For John came to you in the way of Righteouſneſs, and ye believed him not, &c.] So ſaith (f) Joſephus, that the Baptiſt came to teach them Virtue, and to come to his Baptiſm, exerciſing τὰ πρὸς ἀλλήλους δικαιοσύνῃ καὶ πρὸς τὸν Θεὸν εὐσεβείαν. Righteouſneſs towards one another, and Piety towards God. It follows, but the Publicans and Harlots believed on him, and you afterwards repented not that ye might believe, &c. Chriſt here ſaith, that the Publicans and Harlots, προάγουσιν, go before you into the Kingdom of God, ver. 31. not that the Scribes and Elders of the People of the Jews followed after them; for thoſe Scribes and Phariſees received not the Baptiſm of John, Luke 7. 39. but that by their Example they ſhewed them the way they ought to follow. Now from this Parable note,

1*ſt*, That the Scribes and Phariſees, and other Jews might, and ought to have been moved by the Admonitions of the Baptiſt, and the Example of the Publicans, to Repentance and Faith; for why elſe doth Chriſt here blame them, that they were not prevailed on by theſe means to believe, and repent?

2*dly*, That therefore an internal, irreſiſtible Force, or Power cannot be neceſſary to produce this Repentance, and this Faith. For if the Publicans and Harlots were thus moved to repent, what wonder is it that they went before the Scribes and Phariſees, who having no ſuch powerful Impulſe, were left under an impoſſibility of repenting? Why is it that 'tis repreſented as their Crime, that they did not repent at the preaching of John, or follow the Example of the Publicans, ſince the Event ſhews, that no ſuch irreſiſtible Motive to Repentance, was contained either in the Baptiſt's Preaching, or in their Example?

o Ver. 23. There was a certain Houſholder, &c.] For explication of this Parable obſerve that in it is repreſented,

1*ſt*, The Favour and Providence of God towards the Jewiſh Church and Nation, as being the Vineyard he himſelf had planted, and had watered with his heavenly Dew, the Waters of Life, i. e. the Doctrine of the Law and the Prophets; he alſo had incloſed it and hedged about it, not only by his Care and Providence, but by his Covenant of Circumciſion, and his Preſence with them, and his owning them for his own People above all the Nations of the Earth. Note,

2*dly*, That the Husbandmen to whom this Vineyard was let out were the Prieſts and Levites, Doctors and Rulers of that Church and People, who are here repreſented not only as wanting in their Duty, which was to make this Vineyard fruitful, and to prepare it to receive his Prophets, and Meſſengers with due Reverence, and eſpecially to receive his Son and their Meſſiah with Faith, Reverence, and Obedience; but even conſulted with, and ſpurred on the People to offer the moſt vile Affronts unto them, and even to deſtroy his Son and their Saviour; for tho' Chriſt ſpake this Parable to the People, Luke 20. 9. the Prieſts, and Phariſees perceived that he ſpake of them, v. 45. when therefore it is here ſaid, they will reverence my Son, ver. 37. theſe words, as Theophylact notes, Chriſt ſpake, not being ignorant what really they would do, ἀλλὰ τὸ ὀφεῖλον προαχθῆναι καὶ τὸ εἰκὸς λέγων, but ſhewing what was fitting to be done, and they ought to have done; and therefore, Luke 20. 13. the Phraſe is varied thus, ἴσως perhaps they will reverence my Son when they ſee him.

3*dly*, That this Deportment of the Huſbandmen, and of the People, led and excited by them to this Murther of his Son, and Treatment of his Prophets, would render them obnoxious to the heavieſt of Divine Judgments.

p Ver. 41. They ſay unto him, he will miſerably deſtroy thoſe wicked Men: How this is to be reconciled with St. Luke, ſee Luke 20. 16.

q Ver. 43. Ἀρθήσε᾽ ἀφ᾽ ὑμῶν ἡ βασιλεία τ̃ Θεοῦ διὰ τοῦτο, for this thing, i. e. the Builders refuſing this Stone, the Kingdom of God ſhall be taken from you, &c.] Hence it is evident that God deſerted the Jewiſh Church, and let this Stone ſo fall upon them, as to grind them to Powder, becauſe of their rejecting the Meſſiah: The Evidence that this affords to the Truth of the Chriſtian Faith, ſee in the Preface to the Goſpels.

r Ver. 44. And he that falleth on this Stone, ſhall be broken, &c.] i. e. He that ſtumbles on this Stone, whilſt he is here on Earth, being offended at his Doctrine, Life or Death, ſhall be broken by his fall upon it, as is the Perſon ſtoned, by the ſharp Stone he falls upon; but he on whom this Stone ſhall fall, when he is elevated to his Throne of Glory, ſhall be more violently ſhattered by it; as is the Perſon ſtoned by the great Stone, as big as two Men can lift, thrown down violently upon his Breaſt.

CHAP. XXII.

1. AND Jeſus anſwered (with relation to them) and ſpake to them again by Parables, and ſaid, a 2. The (Doctrine of the) [a] Kingdom of Heaven (preached to this Nation) is like (to find a Succeſs anſwerable) unto (that of) a certain King, who made a Marriage for his Son.

3. And ſent forth his Servants to call them who were (to be) bidden to the Wedding, (viz. the Apoſtles, and the Seventy ſent to the loſt Sheep of the Houſe of Iſrael, Matth. 10. 6. Luke 10. 1.) and (being thus lovingly invited) they would not come.

4. (Wherefore) Again, he ſent forth other Servants, (viz. the Apoſtles, and the hundred and eight on whom the Holy Ghoſt fell,) ſaying, tell them that were bidden, behold I have prepared my Dinner, my Oxen and Fatlings are killed, and all things are ready, come (I pray you) to the Marriage (Feaſt.)

5. But they made light of it, (i. e. the Invitation,) and went their way, one to his Farm, another to his Merchandiſe.

6. And the remnant (of them) took his Servants, and entreated them ſpitefully, and ſlew (ſome of) them.

7. But when the King heard thereof, he b was wroth, and he [b] ſent forth his Armies, and deſtroyed thoſe Murtherers, and burnt up their City, (and ſo will this ſpiritual King deal with thoſe of this Nation who not only refuſe his invitation to partake of the Bleſſings of the Goſpel, but alſo kill his Meſſengers; He by the Roman Army will deſtroy them, and their capital City.)

8. Then ſaith he to his Servants, the Wedding (Feaſt,) is ready, but they who were bid-c den were not [c] worthy, (and therefore ſhall not taſt of this Feaſt.)

d 9. Go ye therefore into the [d] Highways, (to the Diſperſion of the Jews, and to the Gentiles,) and as many as ye ſhall find, bid to the Marriage.

10. So theſe Servants went out into the Highways, and gathered together all, as many as they found, both bad and good, and the Wedding was furniſhed with Gueſts.

11. And when the King came in to ſee the Gueſts, he ſaw there a [e] Man which had not e on a Wedding Garment, (i. e. a Faith, and Converſation anſwerable to the Deſign of the Goſpel.)

12 And he ſaith to him, Friend, how cameſt thou in hither, not having a Wedding Garment, and he was (as one) ſpeechleſs.

13. Then ſaid the King to the Servants, bind him Hand and Foot, and take him away, and caſt him into utter Darkneſs, there ſhall be weeping and gnaſhing of Teeth, (ſo ſhall it be with the Jews, the Children of the Kingdom, Matth. 8. 12. Luke 13. 28.)

14. For [ee] many (of the Jews) are called ee
(by) but few (of them) are choſen, (i. e. Believers of the Goſpel, See Note on 1 Pet. 2. 9.)

15. Then went the Phariſees (perceiving that this Parable was deſigned againſt them,) and took counſel how they might entangle him in his Talk.

16. And (Accordingly) they ſent unto him their Diſciples with the [f] Herodians, ſaying, f
(with inſidious flattery,) Maſter, we know that thou art true, and teacheſt the way of God in Truth, neither careſt thou for any Man ('s perſon,) for thou regardeſt not the Perſon of Men.

17. Tell us therefore, what thinkeſt thou (in this Caſe?) Is it [g] lawful to give Tribute g to Cæſar, or not? (that if he had ſaid no, they might repreſent him as an Enemy to Cæſar; if yea, as no Friend to their Nation.)

18. But Jeſus perceived their Wickedneſs, (i. e. their evil Deſign,) and ſaid (to them,) why tempt ye me, ye Hypocrites, (endeavouring to enſnare me under pretence of reverence to me?)

19. Shew me the Tribute Money, and they brought to him a (Roman) Penny:

20. And he ſaith to them, Whoſe is this Image and Superſcription (that this Money bears?)

21. They ſay to him (it is) Cæſar's, then ſaith he to them, (this being an Evidence that Cæſar's Government hath obtained among you,) render therefore to Cæſar the things that are Cæſar's, and to God the things that are God's; (i. e. the Tribute due to his Temple.)

22. When they had heard thoſe words, they marvelled (at his Wiſdom,) and left him, and went their way.

h 23. The ſame day came to him the [h] Sadducees, who ſay that there is no Reſurrection (of the Body,) and asked him;

24. Saying, Maſter, Moſes ſaid, If a Man die having no Children, his Brother ſhall marry his Wife, and raiſe up Seed unto his Brother:

25. Now there were with us ſeven Brethren, and the firſt when he had married a Wife, deceaſed, and having no Iſſue, left his Wife to his Brother.

26. Likewiſe the ſecond alſo, and the third, (and ſo on) to the ſeventh.

27. And laſt of all the Woman died alſo;

28. Therefore in the Reſurrection, whoſe Wife ſhall ſhe be of the ſeven, for they all had her?

29. Jeſus anſwered and ſaid unto them, ye do err, not knowing the Scriptures, (declaring that there ſhall be a Reſurrection) nor the Power of God (enabling him to effect it.)

30. (And as for your Argument againſt it, it is grounded on a falſe Suppoſition,) for in i the [i] Reſurrection they neither marry, nor are given in Marriage, but are as the Angels of God in Heaven, (in that they cannot die, Luke 20. 36. and ſo can need no Reparation by new Births.)

k 31. But as touching the [k] Reſurrection of the dead, (this, I ſay, is denied by you, becauſe ye know not the Scriptures; for) have ye not read that which was ſpoken to you by God, ſaying,

32. I am the God of Abraham, and the God of Iſaac, and the God of Jacob, (and ſo I own them ſtill as my Sons and Children? now) God is not the God of (them who are to continue in the ſtate of) the dead, but of the living, (his Children being Sons of the Reſurrection, Luke 20. 36.)

33. And when the Multitude heard this, they were aſtoniſhed at his Doctrine.

34. But when the Phariſees had heard that he had put the Sadducees to ſilence, they were gathered together.

35. Then one of them, which was a Lawyer, (i. e. an Interpreter of the Law,) l [l] asked him a Queſtion, tempting him, (i. e. making a trial of his Skill,) and ſaying, 36. Maſter, which is the great Commandment in the Law?

m 37. Jeſus ſaid to him, thou ſhalt [m] love the Lord thy God with all thy Heart, and with all thy Soul, and with all thy Mind; (i. e. above and before all other things, affecting them only with Relation and Subordination to God.)

38. This is the firſt, and great Commandment.

n 39. And the ſecond is like to it, (viz.) [n] thou ſhalt love thy Neighbour as thy ſelf.

o 40. On theſe two Commandments [o] hang all the Law and the Prophets (theſe being an Abridgment of what is contained in them both.)

41. While the Phariſees were (thus) gathered together, Jeſus asked them;

42. Saying, What think you of Chriſt, whoſe Son is he? they ſay to him, (he is) the Son of David.

43. He ſaith unto them, how then doth David in (the prophetical Afflatus of the) Spirit call him Lord, ſaying, 44. The Lord ſaid to my Lord, ſit thou on my right Hand, till I make thine Enemies thy Footſtool.

45. If David then call him Lord, how is he his Son?

p 46. And no [p] Man was able to anſwer him a word (to that Enquiry,) neither durſt any Man from that Day forth ask him any more Queſtions.

Annotations on Chap. XXII.

a Ver. 2. THE Kingdom of Heaven is likened ἀνθρώπῳ βασιλεῖ ὃς ἐποίησε γάμους, to a King who made a Marriage for his Son.] That γάμος ſignifies a Marriage Feaſt we learn from (a) Phavorinus, and others on thoſe words of Homer, Od. a. v. 225. εἰλαπίνη ἢ γάμος. See Dr. Hammond on Mat. 9. e. And becauſe theſe Feaſts continued ſometimes a Week, or more, as we learn from thoſe words of Laban to Jacob, Gen. 29. 27. fulfil her Week, i. e. keep a ſeven days Feaſt for her Marriage; and from Sampſon, who at his Marriage ἐποίησε ὅτον ἡμέρας ἑπτὰ, made a Feaſt ſeven days, for ſo uſed the young Men to do, Judg. 14. 10. therefore the word is γάμους in the Plural, there being not many Marriages

(a) Ὁμοίως δὲ τὸ ἔρξεν μέτον ἀλλὰ καὶ πότισιν γάμον καλεῖ.

Marriages, but many Wedding Feasts at Marriage. This sense of the word is evident from ver. 4. my Oxen and Fatlings are killed, come, εἰς γάμους, to the Marriage Feast. The King here represents God the Father, the Son the Lord Jesus Christ, described often as the Spouse of his Church, Matth. 9. 15. — 25. 1. John 3. 29. 2 Cor. 11. 2. Apoc. 19. 7. the Servants sent to call them that were bidden, i. e. the Jews, invited by the Baptist, and our Lord calling them to Repentance, because the Kingdom of God was at hand, might be the Apostles, and the Seventy Disciples sent at first only to the lost Sheep of the House of Israel, Matth. 10. 5, 6. Luke 9. 2. — 10. 1. The Servants sent again after the Fatlings were killed, were the same Apostles and other spiritual Persons, sent after our Lord's Resurrection with a new Commission, to be Christ's Witnesses in Jerusalem, and throughout all Judea, Acts 1. 8. for the words Son, and the Kingdom of Heaven represented by this Parable, will not permit us to say these Servants were the Prophets sent before to the Jews.

b Ver. 7. The King was wroth, πέμψας τὰ στρατόπεδα αὐτοῦ ἀπώλεσε τοὺς φονεῖς ἐκείνους καὶ τὴν πόλιν αὐτῶν ἐνέπρησε, And sending his Armies destroyed those Murtherers, and burnt up their City;] i. e. Upon their refusal, he decreed to send the Romans to destroy the Jews, and burn their Temple, and their City; which they so fully performed as to destroy, during those Wars, saith Josephus, eleven hundred thousand Jews, to burn their Temple, consume, and so lay waste their City, as that all Men conceived, saith Josephus, it never could be built again.

c Ver. 8. Οἱ δὲ κεκλημένοι οὐκ ἦσαν ἄξιοι, But they that were called were not worthy;] They were not well disposed to receive the Gospel, not willing to repent, and believe, and entertain the Preachers of it kindly, which is the Indication Christ gives his Apostles who were ἄξιοι worthy, Matth. 10. 11, 13, 14. they were ἀμελήσαντες Despisers of this spiritual Banquet, out of Love to their secular Interests; here ver. 5. they loved other things more than Christ, and the Blessings of his Kingdom; which he that doth, saith Christ, οὐκ ἔστι μου ἄξιος, is not worthy of me, because he will not take up his Cross and follow me, Matth. 10. 37, 38

d Ver. 9. Πορεύεσθε οὖν ἐπὶ τὰς διεξόδους τῶν ὁδῶν, Go therefore into the Highways, &c.] i. e. to those of the Dispersion; for after they had begun at Jerusalem, and preached through Judea, they also were to preach the Gospel to the other Jews the Seed of Abraham; this Salvation being to be tendred to the Jews first, and also to the Gentile, Rom. 1. 16. — 2. 10. Hence Paul saith thus to the Jews of Antioch, It was necessary the Gospel should be first preached to you, Acts 13. 45, 46. — 18. 6. — 28. 28. and afterwards τοῖς ἔξω to those who were without the Covenant made to Abraham.

Ver. 11. Εἶδεν ἐκεῖ ἄνθρωπον οὐκ ἐνδεδυμένον ἔνδυμα γάμου, He saw there a Man not cloathed with a Wedding Garment.] Faith alone cannot be here the Wedding Garment, since to receive the Invitation, and to come to the Wedding Supper, must import believing. By the Man therefore who had not on this Garment, I conjecture we are to understand the false Brethren of the Jewish Nation, who preached Christ not sincerely, but out of contention, Phil. 1. 15. contending for the necessity of Circumcision, and of the Observation of the Law of Moses to Justification, and who by this subverted the Souls of others, Acts 15. 1, 24. made Christ to die in vain, Gal. 2. 21. Christians to fall from Grace, Gal. 5. 14. and the Apostles to labour in vain among the Gentiles, Gal. 4. 11. and of whom the Apostle saith, their end shall be according to their Works, 2 Cor. 11. 15. That this Man must represent the Jews is evident, (1.) Because he is cast out into utter Darkness, where is weeping and gnashing of Teeth, which Christ applies to the Jews the Sons of the Kingdom, Matth. 8. 12. Luke 13. 28. whilst the Gentiles are said to come to this Supper. (2.) Because the reason assigned of this Punishment is this, that many are called, but few are chosen, ver. 14. for that this belongs peculiarly to the Jews, see Note on Chap. 20. 16. (3.) Christ had said in the former Chapter, that the Kingdom of God should be taken from them; and here proceeding to discourse of the same thing, as appears from the connective Particle, v. 1. of this Chapter, he shews how worthy the Jews would be of this Punishment, as being either wholly refractory to God, calling them by his Son to the Participation of these Blessings, or coming to them without due Preparations, as the false Apostles, and deceitful Workers did, or else by casting off that Wedding Garment they had once put on, as did those Jews whose Charity waxed cold, Matth. 24. 10, 11, 12. and who being scandalized fell off from the Christian Faith: It remains then that these Backsliders, or these false Apostles must be the Persons represented by the Man not having on his Wedding Garment.

Ver. 14. Many are called, but few are chosen.] This Parable, saith Theophylact, respects the Jews who were called, but not elected, ὡς μὴ ἀκούσαντες, as not hearkning to God's Call; whence he infers, that τὸ μὲν Θεοῦ καλεῖν τὸ ὑπερκόσμιον ἐκλεκτὸς γένεσθαι ἢ μὴ ἡμέτερόν ἐστι, our calling is of God, but that we are elect, or not, is from our selves.

f Ver. 16. Μετὰ Ἡρῳδιανῶν, With the Herodians.] Here Jerom notes that some of the Latins ridiculously thought, they were called Herodians, who thought Herod was the Christ, and ſure this Opinion muſt ſeem ridiculous to them who conſider, that Herod was an Alien, not a Jew of the Seed of Abraham, or of the Root of David, and was dead before Chriſt's return out of Egypt; whereas all thought that Chriſt was to be found, not among the dead, but the living, and many that he ſhould never die, John 12. 34. See the Note on Matth. 16. 6.

g Ver 17. Ἔξεστι δῶναι κῆνσον Καίσαρι, ἢ οὔ; Is it lawful to give Tribute to Cæſar, or not? &c.] Her note,

1*ſt*, That tho' the Queſtion be only propoſed thus, ἔξεστι; Is it lawful to give Tribute to Cæſar, or not? Yet the Deciſion in the affirmative, that it was lawful to pay it to Cæſar, was plainly a Deciſion of the right of Cæſar to receive, and therefore to demand it, as being to them the Miniſter of God. (1.) Becauſe St. Paul hath plainly told us, that therefore pay we Tribute to him to whom we lawfully do pay it, becauſe he is the higher Power, and the Miniſter of God, Rom. 13. 6. And alſo becauſe it is his due; for ſo it follows, render therefore to all τὰς ὀφειλὰς their dues, Tribute to whom Tribute is due; and this is ſtill more evident from thoſe words of Chriſt, render to Cæſar the things which are Cæſar's, and to God the things which are God's; where Chriſt ſeems to me, even to ſtrike at the Root of that corrupt Opinion of the Gaulonites, and Zealots, that they being God's People, were not to own any other as their Lord, by this diſtinction betwixt things belonging to Cæſar, viz. Tribute, and things belonging to God, viz. the Shekel of the Sanctuary; but to omit this, either Chriſt, when he ſaid, render to Cæſar the things which are Cæſar's, ſpake to the purpoſe, and by way of Anſwer to the Queſtion propoſed, or he did not; to ſay he did not, is in effect to ſay, he ſpake impertinently, which I hope no Chriſtian will affirm: If he ſpake to the purpoſe of the Queſtion, ſeeing he ſaid, upon their owning the Tribute Money to bear Cæſar's Image, by way of Inference, ἀπόδοτε οὖν, Render therefore to Cæſar the things which are Cæſar's, he as plainly intimates the Tribute Money did of right belong to Cæſar, as by ſaying, render to God the things that are God's, that what he ſtiled the things of God, did of right belong to God. For thoſe Jews who held that Tribute was not to be paid to Cæſar, did ſo, becauſe they apprehended it unlawful to own any other, as their Lord, and Governor, but God, or one of their own Nation whom he had appointed to rule over them. See the Note on 1 Pet. 2. 16.

I therefore cannot think with Grotius, that Chriſt here leaves the matter of right undecided; or with Mr. Cl. that he doth not by his Anſwer own that Tribute was rightly demanded by Cæſar, ſeeing Chriſt could not then have ſaid by way of Inference, render therefore to Cæſar the things which are Cæſar's; and this right of Cæſar had its riſe from their own Act of Submiſſion to the Roman Government, as formerly they had done to the Aſſyrian; which national Submiſſion, with Promiſe of Fidelity, having obtained now about an hundred Years, was a juſt ground for Cæſar's right. And therefore King (b) Agrippa tells them, that οἱ τὸ μὴ ὑπηκοεῖν ἐκ διαδοχῆς εἰληφότες, they who had received this Subjection by Succeſſion from their Anceſtors could not rebel without contumacy. And (c) Joſephus tells them, that to ſeek now to ſhake off the Yoke ἐν μακρῷ τῇ ἐξαυλίας χρόνοις, when for a long time they had yielded to it, would ſubject them to an evil Death. Note,

2*dly*, That our Lord anſwers from the received Maxims of the Jews, that where ever the Money of any Perſon was owned as the current Coin of the Kingdom, there the Inhabitants owned that Perſon as their Lord and Governour; that is, they acknowledged him to be the higher Power, and the Miniſter of God in reſpect to them: Whence, he that doth adulterate, diminiſh, or counterfeit this Coin, becomes guilty of the Crime, Læſæ Majeſtatis: And David, tho' anointed by Samuel, is declared not to be their King whilſt Saul lived, becauſe, Numiſma Saulis adhuc obtinet, the Coin which had the Image of Saul upon it, was ſtill the current Coin. So that theſe captious Men could take no Advantage againſt him from this Anſwer, becauſe it was founded upon their own received Principles. Note,

3*dly*, That Chriſt juſtly calls theſe Perſons Hypocrites, becauſe they pretended to own him as a juſt Perſon, and one who bore no reſpect to Perſons, and yet came with deſign to accuſe him for an unjuſt Deciſion: And, (2*dly*,) Becauſe they, ſaith St. Luke, chap. 20. 20. feigned themſelves to be ſuch as they were not, and to have that Opinion of him which was far from their Hearts; both which are manifeſt indications of groſs Hypocriſie.

h Ver. 23. Προσῆλθον αὐτῷ Σαδδουκαῖοι λέγοντες μὴ εἶναι ἀνάστασιν, The Sadducees came to him, ſaying, There is no Reſurrection.] It is true, that the Sadducees held, That there was neither Angel of any permanent, nor Spirit of any ſeparate Exiſtence from the Body, Acts 23. 8. For their Opinion, ſaith (d) Joſephus, τὰς ψυχὰς ζωαφανίζειν τοῖς σώμασι, extinguiſhes Souls together with the Bodies; and that they rejected ψυχῆς ὃ τί ἀθανασίαν, both the duration of the Soul, and future Puniſhments and Rewards; but then it is true alſo, alſo, that the Sadducees ſay, μὴ εἶναι ἀνάστασιν, that there is no Reſurrection, Acts 23. 8. And hence the Jews introduce them, ſaying, (e) The Cloud fails, and goes away; ſo he that deſcends into the Grave, returns not from it. Nay, they denied, or at leaſt knew not that the Power of God was ſufficient to raiſe the Dead; for, ye err, ſaith Chriſt, not knowing the Scriptures, neither the Power of God, v. 29. And therefore, St. Paul ſpeaking of the Reſurrection from the Dead, asks, Why it ſhould be thought a thing incredible for God to raiſe the Dead? Acts 26. 7, 8.

(b) Apud Joſeph. de bello Jud. l. 2. c. 28. p. 805. (c) Ibid. l. 6. c. 26.
(d) Antiq l. 18. c. 2. p. 617. c. 2. De Bello Jud. l. 2. c. 12. p. 788. G.

i Ver. 30. Ἐν τῇ ἀναστάσει, In the Reſurrection they neither marry nor are given in marriage, but ὡς ἄγγελοι τοῦ Θεοῦ ἐν οὐρανῷ εἰσὶ, are as the Angels of God in Heaven.] They are as the Angels, not in all reſpects, but as to Immortality and Incorruptibility; and ſo they need no Marriage to perpetuate their Generations in the World: So ſaith St. Luke, They can die no more, but are ἰσάγγελοι, equal to the Angels, Luke 20. 36. And that in this eſpecially, conſiſts their Likeneſs to the Angels, we learn from the like words of Philo, concerning Abraham, That leaving the World, (f) προσίθεται τῷ Θεῷ λαῷ καρπὸν ἀφθαρσίαν ἴσον ἀγγέλοις γενόμενος, he was gathered to the People of God, having obtained Incorruptibility, being made like to the Angels. Vain therefore is the Inference of the Papiſts hence, That the Souls of the Juſt ſee God as the Angels do, and know of the Converſion of Sinners: This Likeneſs to the Angels relating not to the Qualities of their Souls, but to the Freedom of their Bodies from Corruption. Hence alſo it is evident againſt Heinſius, and others, on this place, that ἀνάστασις, even when it is not joined with Fleſh, or Body, ſignifies the Reſurrection of the Fleſh, or Body; and when the Reſurrection of the Dead is mentioned, as here, it never bears any other ſenſe.

k Ver. 31, 32. Περὶ δὲ τῆς ἀναστάσεως τῶν νεκρῶν, But concerning the Reſurrection of the Dead, — I am the God of Abraham, &c.] Thoſe Learned Men are very much miſtaken, who ſay, That Chriſt deſigned not here to prove the Reſurrection of the Body, but only the ἀναβίωσις, or Life of the Soul after Death. For, (1*ſt*,) The Argument of the Sadducees being taken from the Suppoſition, that if there was a Reſurrection, there muſt be Marriage, and the Perſons raiſed muſt be Man and Wife as they were before, ſhews plainly, That they put the Queſtion concerning the Reſurrection of the Body; for Marriage belongs not to ſeparate Souls, but only to Perſons in the Body: And therefore, if Chriſt ſaid any thing pertinent to their Objection, and oppoſed his Argument to that which they deſigned to diſprove, he muſt ſpeak of, and prove the Reſurrection of the Body. And therefore (g) Methodius well notes, That if Chriſt had not done this, but only had aſſerted the Permanency of the Soul, he had not anſwered, but confirmed the reaſoning of the Sadducees againſt the Doctrine of the Phariſees. (2*dly*,) Chriſt here declares the Sadducees thus erred, not knowing the Power of God, ver. 29. Now that conſiſts not in ſuſtaining an immortal Soul in Life, but in raiſing the Body from the Duſt to Life, Acts 26. 8. Epheſ. 1. 19, 20. Philip. 3. 21. Heb. 11. 19. And, (3*dly*,) This is extremely evident from the very words of Chriſt, both here, and in St. Mark and Luke; For, (1.) The Queſtion put to Chriſt is not put thus, If their Souls live, whoſe Wife is ſhe? but, ἐν τῇ ἀναστάσει ὅταν ἀναστῶσι, in the Reſurrection, when they ſhall ariſe, whoſe Wife ſhall ſhe then be? Mark 12. 23. To which Chriſt anſwers thus, Ὅταν ἐκ νεκρῶν ἀναστῶσι, When they riſe from the Dead, ver. 25. when they partake τῆς ἀναστάσεως τῆς ἐκ νεκρῶν, of the Reſurrection from the Dead, Luke 20. 35. they neither marry, nor are given in marriage: Now a time ſo determined, and reſpecting what ſhould be hereafter, cannot refer to the preſent ſtate of their Souls, which in no ſenſe are raiſed from the Dead, but only to the future condition of their Bodies. (2.) Chriſt manifeſtly declares, the Queſtion was περὶ τῶν νεκρῶν ὅτι ἐγείρονται, concerning the Dead, that they riſe again, Mark 12. 26. touching the Reſurrection of the Dead here; and that this was the thing he was to prove, from what they had read concerning Abraham, Iſaac, and Jacob, Luke 20. 37. And the Argument from them will appear ſtrong and convincing, upon conſideration of theſe following Particulars.

1*ſt*, That God is the God and Father of them only who are his Sons: Thus when God had choſen Iſrael to be his People in Covenant, and promiſed to be their God, κατ' ἐξοχὴν, or in diſtinction from others, he ſtileth them his Sons, ſaying, υἱοὶ ἐστὲ, Ye are the Sons of the Lord your God, Deut. 14. 1. — 32. 18. Iſa. 45. 11. Or elſe his Son, Iſrael is my Son, my Firſt-born; ſay then to Pharaoh, Let my Son go, Exod. 4. 22, 23. Jer. 31. 20. Hoſ. 11. 1. And in the New Teſtament, ἔσομαι αὐτῷ Θεὸς καὶ αὐτὸς ἔσται μοι υἱὸς, I will be to him a God, and he ſhall be to me a Son, Rev. 21. 7. I will be to you a Father, and ye ſhall be to me Sons and Daughters, 2 Cor. 6. 18. Note, (g) Ὁ ἓν Χριστὸς, εἰ μὴ ἓν ἀνάστασις σαρκὸς, ἀλλὰ μόνον ἐσώζετο ἡ ψυχὴ, σωίσθητο ἂν αὐτοῖς ὡς κλῆσις καὶ ἐρθῶς φρονῆσι, apud. Epiph. Hær. 64. §. 35.

2*dly*, That this υἱοθεσία, or Sonſhip, imports the Redemption of the Body from Corruption; for we wait, ſaith the Apoſtle, for the Adoption, that is, for the Redemption of the Body, Rom. 8. 23. The Revelation of the Sons of God expected, ver. 19. is there, Deliverance from the Bondage of Corruption into the glorious Liberty of the Sons of God, ver. 21. And the Apoſtle proves, that our mortal Bodies, dead becauſe of Sin, ſhall be raiſed by the Spirit of God dwelling in them, becauſe they who have the Spirit of God, are Sons of God, from ver. 11. to 17. And in this very Argument, St. Luke expreſly ſaith, That they that are thought worthy of the Life to come, and of the Reſurrection from the Dead, are υἱοὶ τῆ Θεῦ τῆ ἀναςάσεως υἱοὶ ὄντες, the Sons of God, as being Children of the Reſurrection, Chap. 20. 36. Hence, becauſe God, who is not the God of the Dead, but of the Living, is called the God of Abraham, Iſaac and Jacob. (g) Irenæus infers, That without doubt, they live to God, cum ſint Filii Reſurrectionis, being the Sons of the Reſurrection; and 'tis the ſame with him to be a Son of God, and hæreditatem conſequi incorruptelæ, to enjoy an incorruptible Inheritance. Hence the Apoſtle ſaith, The Sons of God muſt be the Heirs of God, joint Heirs with Chriſt, Rom. 8. 17. St. John, that they ſhall inherit all things, Rev. 21. 7. The Author to the Hebrews, that God was not aſhamed to be called the God of Abraham, and Iſaac, and Jacob, becauſe he had prepared for them a Kingdom, Heb. 11. 16. Nor were the Jews unacquainted with this Notion of a Son of God, as one who was to be rewarded by him after Death; or of a Son of Abraham, who was to be partaker of an happy Reſurrection. For thus the Book of Wiſdom introduceth the wicked, ſpeaking of the good Man, μακαρίζει τὰ ἔσχατα δικαίων καὶ ἀλαζονεύεται πατέρα Θεὸν, He pronounced the latter End of the Juſt Bleſſed, and boaſts, that he hath God for his Father; let us cut him off with a ſhameful Death; εἰ γάρ ἐστιν ὁ δίκαιος υἱὸς Θεῦ, for, if the juſt Man be the Son of God, he will receive him; and, by his words, there will be a Viſitation of him, Wiſd. 2. 16, --- 20. Thus, ſaith he, they ſpake, becauſe they knew not the Myſteries of God, nor hoped for the Reward of Holineſs, nor diſcerned the Recompence of blameleſs Souls; for God made Man ἐπ' ἀφθαρσίᾳ, for Incorruption, and to be an Image of his own Immortality, ver. 22, 23. And again, The Souls of the Righteous are in the Hands of God, καὶ ἡ ἐλπὶς αὐτῶν ἀθανασίας πλήρης, and their Hope is full of Immortality; in the Day of their Viſitation they ſhall ſhine, chap. 3. 1, 4, 7. And a third time, Then ſhall the Righteous ſtand with great Boldneſs before the Face of them who afflicted them; and they ſhall ſay, We Fools counted his Life Madneſs, and his End to be without Honour; how is he numbred ἐν υἱοῖς Θεῦ, among the Sons of God, and his Portion is with the Saints, Ch. 5. 1, 4, 5. The ſeven Sons mentioned in the Maccabees, are by Joſephus ſtill called Ἀβραὰμ παῖδες, Children of the Stock of Abraham; and as the Book of Maccabees ſtill introduces them, declaring, that God ἀναςήσει ἡμᾶς εἰς αἰώνιον ἀναβίωσιν ζωῆς, would raiſe them up to Life eternal, 2 Maccab. 7. 9, 23. And (h) Joſephus introduces their Mother, comforting them with thoſe words of Solomon, Wiſdom is a Tree of Life to them that do her Will; and thoſe of Ezekiel, εἰ ζήσεται τὰ ὀστᾶ τὰ ξηρά; ſhall theſe dry Bones live? and thoſe words of God in the Song of Moſes, I kill, καὶ ζῶ ποιήσω, and I will make alive; ſo he alſo declares of theſe (i) Martyrs, that dying for God, they alſo ζῶσι Θεῷ ὅπερ Ἀβραὰμ, καὶ Ἰσαὰκ, καὶ Ἰακὼβ, lived with God as do Abraham, Iſaac, and Jacob, and all the Patriarchs, and (k) ran ἐπ' ἀθανασίας ὁδὸν, in the way of Immortality, and that (l) Abraham, Iſaac, and Jacob, received them dying. He alſo mentions a παλιγγενεσία, reviviſcence of all that obſerve the Law of Moſes, tho' they die for it, ſaying, that to them (m) ἔδωκεν ὁ Θεὸς γένεσθ τε πάλιν καὶ βίον ἀμείνω λαβεῖν ἐκ παλιγγενῆς, God hath granted them to live again, and to receive a better Life in Reverſion, or at the Revolution of all things. So then Chriſt's Argument runs thus, Thoſe of whom God after their Death is the God and Father, they ſhall riſe again, (for they muſt be the Sons of God, and therefore Sons of the Reſurrection, to whom belongs the Adoption or Sonſhip, i. e. the Redemption of their Bodies from Corruption,) but God is the God of Abraham, Iſaac, and Jacob, therefore they ſhall riſe again.

Ver. 35. Ἐπερώτησεν αὐτὸν ὁ νομικὸς· A Lawyer asked him, (See the Note on Mark 12. 28.) ποία ἐντολὴ μεγάλη ἐν τῷ νόμῳ; which is the great Commandment in the Law?] This was a famous Queſtion among the Jews, ſome contending that the Precept of Sacrifices was the greateſt, as is inſinuated, Mark 12. 33. See Pirk Eleezer, Cap. 16. p. 33. Others were for the Precept of the Phylacteries, to whom Chriſt anſwers from what was written in the Phylacteries. l

Ver. 37. Thou ſhalt love the Lord thy God with all thy Heart.] Note here, m

1*ſt*, That this is a Precept given to the Jewiſh Nation, and ſo it follows that it ought to bear that ſenſe which is the certain import import of it in all thoſe other places of the Old Teſtament, where it only doth occur, it being only found in the New Teſtament as a Citation thence. 'Tis therefore certain, that it doth not require us to love God in Perfection of Degrees, or in the elevated ſenſe contended for by ſome, but only to love him with a ſincere, and a prevailing Love. For,

1*ſt*, God's Servants entred into a Covenant to ſerve the Lord after this manner; thus Aſa gathered all Benjamin and Judah, and they entred into Covenant to ſeek the Lord with all their Heart, and with all their Soul, 2 Chron. 15. 12. And good Joſiah, with all his People, made a Covenant before the Lord to walk after the Lord, and to keep his Commandments with all their Heart, and with all their Soul, 2 Kings 23. 3. Now if in this Covenant they promiſed to love God with every degree of every Power, i. e. with the whole poſſibility of the Soul, to make him not only the principal, but the only Object of their Love, they promiſed what they knew they never could, what to be ſure they never did perform. And why then is it ſaid, That the People ſtood to the Covenant, and that God was found of them? But if they only promiſed love of Sincerity, and love to God above all other things, and that they would adhere to him and his Service, then may this Phraſe import no more.

2*dly*, This God required them to do, to render them the Objects of his Grace and Favour, promiſing to have Mercy on them in their Captivity on this Condition. If from thence, ſaith Moſes, thou ſhalt ſeek the Lord thy God, thou ſhalt find him; if thou ſeek him with all thy Heart and with all thy Soul, Deut. 4. 29. And again, If thou ſhalt return to the Lord thy God with all thy Heart, and with all thy Soul, then the Lord thy God will turn thy Captivity, and have Compaſſion on thee, and will bring thee into the Land which thy Fathers poſſeſſed; and thou ſhalt poſſeſs it, and he will do thee good, Deut. 30. 2, 3. And upon this Condition only doth Solomon deſire this Mercy, ſaying, If they turn to thee with all their Heart, and all their Soul, in the Land of their Enemies, then hear thou their Prayer and Supplication, 1 Kings 8. 48. Now is it reaſonable to conceive that God required ſuch an abſolute Perfection of Degrees in their Affection and Obedience, to qualifie them for his Favour under their Captivity? If ſo, they muſt for ever have continued Captives. Or would he promiſe to reſtore them to their good Land, and to do them good upon a Condition that would not permit them either to deſire that pleaſant Land, or any other temporal Enjoyments as their Good? Sure the Suſpenſion of his Favour upon this Condition, is a clear Evidence, that this Phraſe bears a milder ſenſe.

3*dly*, God doth acknowledge that ſome of them did actually love him thus, that King David had kept his Commandments, and followed him with all his Heart, ſaving in the matter of Uriah, 1 Kings 14. 8. and yet we find him guilty of Miſtruſt of God's own Promiſe, by ſaying, I ſhall one day periſh by the Hand of Saul, 1 Sam. 27. 1. of lying to Abimelech, Chap. 21. 2. of a raſh Oath, in ſwearing to cut off the Houſe of Nabal, Chap. 25. 22. of Injuſtice in giving a deceitful Ziba half the Goods of Mephiboſheth, 2 Sam. 19. 29. and of Pride in numbring the People, Chap. 24. 1. God alſo teſtifies of good Joſiah, that he turned to the Lord with all his Soul, and all his Heart, and all his Might, 2 Kings 23. 24, 25. Since therefore God himſelf declares of Men thus ſubject to Imperfection, that they did thus love him, that Love cannot require a Perfection of Degrees, but only a ſincere, and prevalent Affection to him. This Precept therefore muſt imply three things.

1*ſt*, That we are to love God above all things appretiativè, i. e. ſo as to priſe him in our Judgments above all things, to eſteem him more valuable in himſelf, more beneficial to us, than all things elſe we can enjoy, according to that Saying of the Pſalmiſt, Thy loving Kindneſs is much better than is Life it ſelf, Pſal. 63. 3. to eſteem him as the only Felicity of our immortal Souls; their chief and moſt deſirable Good, the only Being in whom is perfect Reſt, entire Complacency, and full Satisfaction to be found, and conſequently to look on all things elſe as Loſs and Dung, compared to him. And whilſt we retain this value for him, we can never priſe or be concerned for any thing ſo much as his Favour, nor refuſe to part with any thing which tendeth to deprive us of it; we can never value any thing ſo much as to permit it to rival him, who is exceedingly more precious in our Eyes, and more deſirable to our Souls, and ſo we cannot over-value any worldly thing. This therefore may be truly ſtiled, the loving him with all our mind.

2*dly*, That we are to love God above all things comparativè, i. e. with a ſuperlative Affection, ſo as to be ready always to prefer his Favour before all other things. And this Affection, this cleaving of our Hearts unto him, muſt follow from the forementioned Eſtimation of him: For if we fully are convinced that there is infinitely more Excellency in God, more Happineſs to be expected from him, than all the Honours, Pleaſures, Profits, Intereſts, Relations, and Satisfactions of the World can tender, and ſo the higheſt reaſon that he ſhould always be preferred before them, and that we ſhould ſtill cleave unto him in oppoſition to any other thing; 'tis certain he can have no Rival in our Hearts, nothing that ſtands in competition for our Love, nothing we do not truly hate, and deſpiſe comparatively tively to his Favour; nothing that can tempt us to depart from him, or to do the thing which will hazard his Favour, or provoke his Diſpleaſure; and may we not then be ſaid to love him with an entire, and undivided Heart?

3*dly*, That we are to love God above all things intenſivè, that is, our Deſires muſt be more ardently enclined toward his Favour, and the Enjoyment of him; we muſt long, thirſt, and pant more after him; rejoice more in his Favour than in any other thing, be more concerned to retain it than to ſecure any worldly Bleſſings, and be more ſatisfied in it than in Marrow and Fatneſs, and what more can the Love of God with all our Souls import? For ſeeing ſuch a prevalence of our Deſires towards him, and delight in him, will not permit us to deſire any thing in oppoſition to him, or againſt his Will and Pleaſure; but will conſtrain us to quit all other Intereſts, that we may happily retain our Intereſt in him we thus deſire, and delight in above all other things; it follows, that by thus loving God with all our Souls, our Love unto, or Deſire of the Creature, can never be inordinate, or irregular, and ſo can never be offenſive to God; and then it cannot be forbidden by the Command, to love the Lord our God with all our Souls. In theſe things ſeems to be implied, or from them certainly will follow, that endeavour above all things to pleaſe him, that induſtrious Care, to ſerve, and obey him, that vigorous Employment of all our other Faculties in his Service, which will demonſtrate, that we comparatively do not labour for the Meat that periſheth, do not permit our ſecular Employments, or our purſuit of any temporal Enjoyments to impair our Diligence in the ſecuring our eternal Intereſts; and therefore that in the true import of the Phraſe, we love God with all our might, all other Senſes of it being inconſiſtent with that Diligence in our Callings, and that Induſtry in our civil Affairs which God himſelf requires of us. And,

4*thly*, Hence it follows, that we are to love all other things only in way of Relation, and Subordination to God; for if we do co ordinately love any other thing, we love it equally with God. And certainly if God requires us to love him with all our Hearts, and all our Souls, our Love to other things muſt virtually be compriſed in our Love to God, or be dependent on it, or ſubſervient to it, or elſe we muſt deprive him of ſome Portion of the Heart he calls for. Moreover, God being our ultimate, and chiefeſt Good, all other things can only be good as they conduce to the Enjoyment, or Service of him, and ſo are to be loved for him; that is, we muſt love them as they relate to him, as they enable us to ſerve him, as they are, or may be inſtrumental to his Glory, or to our Enjoyment of him.

And of this Expoſition of theſe words we cannot reaſonably doubt, if we conſider that our Lord himſelf doth plainly ſeem to favour and approve of it, making that Service, and ſo that Love which he requires from us, to conſiſt in that prevalence of Affection which enables us, in any Competition betwixt the Love of the World, and the Love of him, to cleave to God, and deſpiſe the World. This evidently is the import of theſe words, No man can ſerve two maſters, (when their Service and Commands do interfere) for he will either hate the one, and love the other, he will cleave to the one and deſpiſe the other; ye cannot (therefore) ſerve God and Mammon, Matth. 6. 24.

Again, Chriſt places the due Love of himſelf in the Prevalence of our Affections to him above other things, ſaying, He that loveth Father or Mother, Son or Daughter, ὑπὲρ ἐμὲ, above me, is not worthy of me, Matth. 10 37. Whence it muſt follow by the Rule of Contraries, that he who loveth Chriſt more than Father or Mother, Son or Daughter, or any worldly Intereſt whatever, muſt be worthy of him. From theſe two places it is therefore evident, that to love God ſo as to deſpiſe, and to forſake all other things, to cleave unto him; to love God ſuperlatively, ſo as to have our Affections more powerfully carried out after him than any other thing that is moſt dear unto us, is, in the Scripture Senſe, to love God with a whole and entire Heart. And ſurely, if I love God ſo as to love nothing which is contrary to him, or which he forbiddeth me to love, I can do nothing contrary to the Love I owe to him. If I love him, ſo as to priſe neither Friendſhip, Relations, Fame, Honour, Pleaſures, Riches, Life, or any temporal Concernments, ſo as to offend him by preſerving them, I do not inordinately love them, for Obedience being the true teſt of Love; where there is no neglect of Obedience, there can be no want of Love. Moreover, If I priſe nothing in compariſon with God in my Mind, if I cleave to nothing in competition with him in my Will, if I deſire nothing in compariſon with him in my Affections, if I perſue nothing but with relation to his Glory, and in ſubordination to his ſacred Will, how can I be wanting in my Duty to him? And if I be not wanting in my Duty to him, how can I ſin againſt him?

Ver. 39. Thou ſhalt love thy Neighbour as thy ſelf.] Here note, (1.) That by our Neighbour here we are to underſtand every other Perſon who is capable of Kindneſs from us, and ſtands in need of help. So St. Paul expounds it, Rom. 13. 8. Owe no man any thing, but to love one another, for ὁ ἀγαπῶν τὸν ἕτερον, he that loveth another hath fulfilled the Law, which ſaith, thou ſhalt love τὸν πλησίον thy Neighbour as thy ſelf. This will be evident,

1*ſt*, From our Lord's Anſwer to this Enquiry, who is my Neighbour? for ſuch a caſe did he propound in demonſtration of this Point, as did extort from a great Rabbi this frank Confeſſion, that even a Samaritan diſcharging a great Office of Humanity towards a Jew, acted the part of a true Neighbour to him, and conſequently that ſuch Humanity and Mercy was alſo due from any Jew to a Samaritan. Now Scripture, and the Jewiſh Records do inform us, that there was the greateſt ſtrangeneſs, and averſeneſs betwixt the Jew and Samaritan; they would have no converſe together, they would receive no kindneſs from one another; witneſs the Queſtion which the Woman of Samaria puts to Chriſt, How is it that thou being a Jew, askeſt drink of me, who am a Woman of Samaria; for the Jews have no Dealings with the Samaritans, John 4. 19. Hence, ſaith the Son of Syrach, two Nations doth my Soul hate, the Samaritans, and the Philiſtines, Eccluſ. 50. 26. And hence that Proverb of the Jews, that to eat Fleſh with a Samaritan, is as bad as to eat Swine's Fleſh. Now hence it clearly follows that Chriſt by ſhewing that the Jew and the Samaritan were Neighbours, muſt teach us that no difference of Nation, or Religion, no Alienation of Affections can exempt us from owning any Perſon as our Neighbour, and that by ſaying, Go thou and do likewiſe, our Lord obligeth us to love them, as we love our ſelves, and to be helpful to them in their need, according to our Power.

2*dly*, This is apparent from all thoſe Evangelical Commands which do extend this Duty to all Men, and thereby ſhew that all Men are to be beloved as Neighbours; ſuch are theſe Exhortations, As you have opportunity do good to all Men, Gal. 6. 10. See that none render evil for evil unto any man, but ever follow that which is good both among your ſelves, and to all men, 1 Theſſ. 5. 15. To this intent are thoſe Directions, to follow peace with all men, to be patient and gentle towards all men; ſuch laſtly is that fervent Supplication of St. Paul to his Theſſalonians, the Lord make you to encreaſe in love towards one another, and towards all men: All which Expreſſions make it evident that the Affection of the Chriſtian muſt extend to all Men, and that his Neighbourhood is univerſal, and unlimited.

3*dly*, This alſo will be evident from the Example we are called to imitate in this Affection, viz. the Love and Mercy of our God, and Saviour; for we are to be Followers of God as dear Children, and walk in Love, and to be perfect as our heavenly Father is perfect. Now God is good to all, and his Mercies are over all his Works, he is the Saviour of all Men, this Kindneſs he is willing to vouchſafe, this ſaving Health he freely tenders, and joyfully imparts to the greateſt of repenting Prodigals; he is kind to the unthankful and the wicked, and maketh his Sun to riſe upon the juſt and the unjuſt; and in this he expecteth to be imitated by us, as ever we deſire to be deemed his Children, or to enjoy the Bleſſings he hath prepared for them alone; thus our great Teacher doth inſtruct us, I ſay unto you, love your Enemies, bleſs them that curſe you, do good to them that hate you, and pray for them that deſpitefully uſe you, that you may be the Children of your Father which is in Heaven. Moreover, the Kindneſs of our Lord to all his Brethren, Partakers of the ſame Nature with him, diſpoſed him to taſt Death for every Man, and purchaſe their Redemption with his precious Blood, for he gave himſelf a Ranſom for all; ſince therefore we are called to imitate the Love and Kindneſs of our God and Saviour, our Duty muſt be anſwerable to the Divine Grace, our Charity muſt follow the Example of our Bleſſed Lord, and therefore every Man muſt be our Brother, not only as he is derived from the ſame common Stock by Nature, but as by Grace we are partakers of the ſame univerſal and redeeming Love. And,

4*thly*, If Chriſtianity obligeth us to bear a Brotherly Affection towards the worſt of Enemies, to treat them with the greateſt Love and Kindneſs, if without this Affection to them we vainly do pretend to act as Chriſtians, then muſt all Men become the Objects of the Chriſtian's Love. For as for Friends, even Nature and Gratitude oblige us to bear Affection to them, and if we do no more, our Lord informs us, that we do nothing which can entitle us to a Reward from him, or ſhew we are advanced above the Rank of Publicans, and Sinners; for if you only love them which love you, what Reward have you? do not even the Publicans the ſame? And if you only do good to them who do good to you, what thanks have you, for Sinners alſo do the ſame? Matth. 5. 46. Luke 6. 33. If then the worſt, the moſt deſpiteful, and diſobliging of our Enemies muſt, by the Chriſtian, be thus loved, and therefore owned as his Neighbour, what Man can be excluded from that Appellation?

To love this Neighbour as our ſelves, (1.) It is not neceſſary that we ſhould love him from the ſame inward Principles, and Diſpoſitions which excite our Affection to our ſelves: For we by Nature are ſo framed, that we are forcibly engaged to avoid that which is evil, and afflicting to us, from that quick ſenſe of Pain and Trouble it createth to us, and to perſue that which doth gratefully affect us, from the Experience of that inward Pleaſure, Joy, and Satisfaction which we reap from the Enjoyment of it; but we find no proportionable inward ſenſe of Pain from that which is afflictive to our Brother, nor yet of Pleaſure from what is advantagious, and grateful to him; and therefore cannot from the ſame inward Principles be moved ſo ſtrongly to prevent the Pain, Want, Infamy, he may labour under, or to procure his Pleaſure and Advantage. And therefore the Divine Wiſdom ſaw it meet to ſupply this Defect, by deterring us from the neglect of our Regard towards our Brother in his Miſery, by threatning the ſevereſt Puniſhments to this want of Mercy; and therefore by the Conſideration of the greateſt Evils which might befal our ſelves for that neglect, and to engage us to all the Acts of Kindneſs, Charity, and Mercy to our Brother in his Miſery, by the Promiſe of the moſt excellent Rewards, or of the choiceſt Bleſſings, and ſo to move us to theſe Duties from like Principles of Self-love.

2*dly*, This Rule doth not engage us upon pain of God's Diſpleaſure to an abſolute Equality in our Affection to our Brother and our ſelves, but only to make that Affection which we bear to our ſelves the Rule, and the Direction for the Expreſſion of our Love unto our Brother; it ſaith, ſicut teipſum, non quantum teipſum; it enjoins us to love our Brother in all the Inſtances in which we do expreſs our Love unto our ſelves, but not in equal Meaſure; for certainly my Love unto my ſelf muſt have Priority unto the Love I bear unto my Brother in all equal Circumſtances. For inſtance, If I ſee my Brother in danger of his Life, I am not bound to put my own in equal Danger to preſerve him, but only to do all I can without incurring the like Danger, to prevent his Death. If I perceive he is in want, the Law of Charity will not oblige me to put my ſelf in equal want, but only to impart to him what I do not want. It doth not bind me to quench his Thirſt, or to allay his Hunger with the Meat or Drink I want as much as he, but only with thoſe Viands I can miniſter without like ſenſe of want: If he be in the Peſt-houſe, or labours under an infectious Diſeaſe, I am not bound to venture the procuring the ſame fatal Malady, to comfort, or relieve him under it, but only to afford him what Comfort and Relief I can, without endangering my ſelf: The Reaſon is apparent from this very Rule, becauſe we cannot thus affect our ſelves, and therefore cannot be obliged thus to love our Brother; that is, No Man can put his Life in danger to prevent the danger of his Life; no Man can ſupply his own Wants by parting with that he equally wants, and therefore no Man can be obliged by this Rule to this Deportment towards others, nor can we rationally deſire that others ſhould do ſo for us, and therefore we cannot be obliged to do ſo for them. But then we abſolutely are obobliged by it,

1*ſt*, To the greateſt Freedom from all Hatred, Ill-will, or Malice to our Brother, all Alienation of Mind, or Averſeneſs from doing Offices of Kindneſs to him; for no Man hateth his own ſelf, or is averſe from doing Kindneſs to himſelf, Eph. 5. 29.

2*dly*, To be careful that we never do him any Injury, οὐδεὶς γὰρ ἑαυτῷ κακὰ βουλήσεται, for no Man wiſheth Evil to himſelf, and Love worketh no Evil to our Neighbour, Rom. 13. 10.

3*dly*, That we ſtill retain a kind Affection to him, and a readineſs to do him Good; for we have always this Good-will to our own ſelves; and this is neceſſary, both that our Charity may be acceptable to God, and that we may both ſeriouſly deſire, and as we have opportunity, to promote his Good. And therefore,

4*thly*, We are to be as helpful to him as our Circumſtances will permit, both in our Words, our Prayers, Inſtructions, Advice, Admoniſhments and Conſolations, and in our Works, the Labours of our Hands, our Bodies, and the Expences of our Purſe, that by thus ſerving and bearing one another's Burthens, we may fulfil the Law of Love, Gal. 5. 14.

5*thly*, We are to ſympathize with, and commiſerate him in his Afflictions, 1 Cor. 12. 26. and do what in us lyes to alleviate his Burthens, Gal. 6. 2. and to rejoice with him in his Proſperity; for we in our Proſperity rejoice, in our Adverſity are ſorry. This therefore is a Rule we are not only taught of God, 1 Theſſ. 4. 9. but we are taught it from our own ſelves; this being the great Advantage of this Rule, that it ſends us not to learn our Duty from the great Doctors of the World, but only to the Law written on all our Hearts, or to that celebrated Rule of the Philoſophers, noſce teipſum, know thy ſelf, reflect upon the inward Motions of thy Heart, and obſerve thy demeanour to thy ſelf; and this will faithfully admoniſh thee, and make thee skilful to diſcern, what is the love and kindneſs which thou oweſt to others, and will enable thee to judge aright in all the inſtances of Juſtice and Humanity.

Ver. 40. On theſe two Commandments hang all the Law and the Prophets.] This is a Metaphor taken from the cuſtom, mentioned by Tertullian, of hanging up their Laws in a Publick Place, to be ſeen of all Men; and it imports, that in them, is compendiouſly contained all that the Law and Prophets do require, in reference to our Duty to God and Man; for tho' there be ſome Precepts of Temperance which we owe to our ſelves, yet are they ſuch as we may be moved to perform, from the true love of God, and of our Neighbour; for, if we truly love God, we cannot be wanting in them; for the love of God will make us humble, contented with our Portion; it will preſerve us from all Intemperance, Impatience, and evil Luſtings; 'twill make us watchful over our ſelves, to keep a good Conſcience, and ſolicitous for our our eternal Weal; and the love of our Neighbour will free us from all angry Paſſions, Envy, Malice, and other Perturbations which ariſe againſt him.

p Ver. 46. Καὶ οὐδεὶς ἐδύνατο αὐτῷ ἀποκριθῆναι λόγον· And no Man could anſwer him a word.] Hence it is plain, that the Artifices which the Jews now uſe to evade this place, by ſaying, Theſe words belong to Abraham, or David, or as (n) Juſtin M. teſtifies, to Ezekiel, had not then obtained: For, if it had not then been the received Opinion, that this Pſalm belonged to the Meſſiah, Chriſt would not have alledged it to this End, much leſs would he have put the Scribes and Phariſees to ſilence by ſo doing. And whereas Woltzogenius here notes, that this place proves Chriſt is not God, becauſe he is here diſtinguiſhed from God by ſitting at his right Hand: This we grant, according to that human Nature, from which alone, he is ſaid to ſit at the right Hand of God; and tho', as he replies, the Human Nature is no Perſon, whereas it is the Perſon of Chriſt which ſits at the right Hand of God; this is nothing to the purpoſe: For, tho' it be Chriſt perſonally taken, who ſits at the right Hand of God, yet he is not ſaid to ſit there according to his Divine, but human Nature; thus is it, The Lord of Glory who was crucified, 1 Cor. 2. 8. yet he was not crucified as the Lord of Glory.

CHAP. XXIII.

1. THEN ſpake Jeſus to the Multitude, and to his Diſciples, a 2. Saying, [a] The Scribes and Phariſees ſit in Moſes's Seat; (i. e. are the received Interpreters of the Law of Moſes.)

3. All therefore whatſoever they bid you obſerve, (according to that Law,) that obſerve and do; but do not ye after their Works, for they ſay, and do not (themſelves that which they teach to be the Duty of others.)

b 4. [b] For they bind heavy Burthens, and grievous to be born, and lay them on Mens Shoulders, but (are ſo forgetful of the Mercy required by the Law, that) they themſelves will not move them with one of their Fingers; (i. e. they will do nothing to remove thoſe Burthens from them that are oppreſſed with them.)

c 5. But (and) all their Works they do to be ſeen of Men, (i. e. for oſtentation of Piety; to which end) [c] they make broad their Phylacteries, and enlarge the Borders of their Garments, (as Men highly concerned to remember the Commandments of the Lord, writ upon theſe Phylacteries, Num. 15. 38, 39.)

6. And (they) love the uppermoſt Rooms at Feaſts, and the chief Seats in the Synagogues,

7. And Greetings in the Markets, and to be called of Men, Rabbi, Rabbi.

d 8. [d] But be not ye called Rabbi, (Guides, but only Teachers and Miniſters of the Word, which ye have learn'd from Chriſt;) for one is your Maſter, even Chriſt, and all ye are Brethren, (or equally his Servants in this Miniſtry.)

9. And call no Man your Father upon the Earth; (i. e. be ſway'd by no Man in Matters of Faith, as Children are by the Will of their Fathers;) for one is your Father which is in Heaven, (to whoſe Will and Precepts alone, you owe an abſolute ſubjection.)

10. Neither be ye called Maſters; for one is your Maſter, even Chriſt; (from whom ye receive what you communicate to others, and ſo ye have no Power over the Faith of Men, as Maſters have over their Servants, but are only Steward and Diſpenſers of the Myſteries of Chriſt.)

11. But he that is greateſt among you, ſhall be your Servant, (for the ſake of Chriſt, 1 Cor. 3. 5. 2 Cor. 4. 5.)

12. And whoſoever ſhall exalt himſelf (by acting not as a Servant, but a Lord, and Maſter,) ſhall be abaſed; and he that ſhall humble himſelf (to the meaneſt Office in this Miniſtry,) ſhall be exalted.

13. But woe to you Scribes and Phariſees, (who are) Hypocrites; for [e] ye ſhut up e the Kingdom of Heaven againſt Men, (by your Example, Doctrine, and Authority;) for ye neither go in (to it) your ſelves, neither ſuffer ye them that are entring (into it,) to go in.

14. Wo to you Scribes and Phariſees, Hypocrites; for [f] ye devour Widows Houſes, and for a pretence, (that ye may be more truſted by them, ye) make long Prayer (as devout Perſons;) therefore ye ſhall (for this Hypocriſie,) receive the greater Damnation. f

15. Woe to you Scribes and Phariſees, (who are) Hypocrites; for ye compaſs Sea and Land: (Go to all the Regions of your Diſperſions,) to make one Proſelyte (to your Religion;) and when he is made (ſo,) [g] ye make g him two-fold more the Child of Hell, (more oppoſite to the Goſpel, and the Profeſſors of it,) than your ſelves.

16. Woe to you, ye blind Guides, which

(n) Dial. p. 256.

h ſay, [h] Whoſoever ſhall ſwear by the Temple, it is nothing (obligatory;) but whoſoever ſhall ſwear by the Gold of the Temple, he is a Debtor; (i. e. he is obliged to perform his Oath.)

17. Ye Fools and Blind; for (ſince ye ſwear by ſomething ſacred, let me ask,) Whether is greater the Gold, or the Temple that ſanctifieth the Gold? (i. e. makes it more ſacred than any common Gold.)

18. And whoſoever ſhall ſwear by the Altar, (you ſay) it is nothing; but whoſoever ſweareth by the Gift that is upon it, he is guilty, (if he do not perform his Oath.)

19. Ye Fools and Blind; for whether is greater, the Gift, or the Altar that ſanctifies the Gift? (which is therefore ſacred, becauſe offered on it.)

20. Whoſo therefore ſhall ſwear by the Altar, ſweareth by it, and by all things (all Gifts laid) thereon, (and by him to whom they are offered.)

21. And whoſo ſhall ſwear by the Temple, ſweareth by it, and by him that dwelleth therein.

22. And he that ſhall ſwear by Heaven, ſweareth by the Throne of God, and by him that ſitteth thereon.

23. Woe to you Scribes and Phariſees, Hypocrites; for ye pay Tythe of Mint, and Aniſe, and Cummin, and have [i] omitted the more i weighty Matters of the Law, Judgment, Mercy and Faith; theſe ought ye to have done, (becauſe your own Conſtitutions require them,) and not to leave the other undone, (which God eſpecially requires.)

k 24. Ye blind Guides, which [k] ſtrain at a Gnat, (i. e. who ſcruple things of the leaſt moment,) and ſwallow a Camel, (i. e. but venture freely on the groſſeſt Sins.)

25. Woe to you Scribes and Phariſees, Hypocrites; for ye (act as Men intent to) make clean the outſide of the Cup, and of the Platter, (to appear clean in the Eye of Men,) but within they are full of Extortion and Exceſs.

26. Thou blind Phariſee, cleanſe firſt that which is within the Cup and Platter, (the inward motions of thy Heart,) that the outſide of them, (i. e. thy Actions,) may be clean alſo.

27. Woe to you Scribes and Phariſees, Hy- l pocrites; for [l] ye are like to whited Sepulchres, which indeed appear beautiful outward, but are within full of dead Mens Bones, and of all Uncleanneſs; (and therefore have a white Mark ſet upon them, that they may be avoided.)

28. Even ſo ye alſo outwardly appear righteous to Men, but within ye are full of Hypocriſie and Iniquity.

29. Woe to you Scribes and Phariſees, Hypocrites; [m] becauſe ye build the Tombs of the m Prophets, and garniſh the Sepulchres of the Righteous.

30. And ſay, If we had been in the Days of our Fathers, we would not have been partakers with them, in (ſhedding) the Blood of the Prophets.

31. Wherefore ye be Witneſſes to (againſt) your ſelves, that ye are the Children of them who killed the Prophets.

32. Fill ye up then, (Gr. and ye will fill up) the Meaſure of your Father's (Sins, and ſhew greater malice againſt the Prophets now ſent by God to you.)

33. (For) Ye (are) Serpents, ye (are a) Generation of Vipers, (i. e. more venemous againſt me and my Diſciples, than ever your Fore-fathers were againſt the Old Prophets:) How (then) can ye eſcape the Damnation of Hell?

34. [n] Wherefore, behold, I ſend to you Pro- n phets, and Wiſe Men, and Scribes, (i. e. true Interpreters of the Law, and the Prophets;) and ſome of them ye ſhall kill, and crucifie; and ſome of them ſhall ye ſcourge in your Synagogues, and perſecute them from City to City:

35. [o] That upon you, (thus out-doing the o malice of your Fore-fathers againſt the Prophets, ſent to you by God,) may come (the puniſhment of) all the righteous Blood (of God's Prophets) ſhed upon the Earth, [p] from p the Blood of righteous Abel to the Blood of Zecharias, Son of Barachias, whom ye ſlew, (i. e. ſtoned, 2 Chron. 24. 22.) between the Temple and the Altar.

36. Verily I ſay unto you, All theſe things ſhall come upon this Generation.

37. Oh Jeruſalem, Jeruſalem, thou that killeſt the Prophets, and ſtoneſt them which are ſent unto thee, [q] how often would I have q gathered thy Children together, even as a Hen gathereth her Chickens under her Wings, (i. e. have treated you with the moſt tender Affection,) but ye would not (embrace my kind Offers.)

38. Behold (therefore now,) your Houſe is left unto you deſolate.

39. [r] For I ſay unto you, Ye ſhall not ſee r me henceforth, (Gr. after a while,) till (the time cometh, that) ye ſhall (would gladly) ſay, Bleſſed is he that cometh in the Name of the Lord; (i. e. it would be joyful News to you indeed, to hear of a Meſſiah coming to deliver you from the impendent Vengeance, and then you ſhall ſee him coming, not as a Saviour, but a ſevere Avenger.)

a Ver. 2. Ἐπὶ τ Μωσέως καθέδρας ἐκάθισ οἱ Φαρισαῖοι, — ver. 3. πάντα ὅν ὅσα ἂν εἴπωσιν ὑμῖν τηρεῖν, τηρεῖτε κ ποιεῖτε· The Scribes and Phariſees ſit in the Seat of Moſes; — ver. 3. And therefore whatſoever they bid you obſerve, that obſerve and do;] i. e. ſaith Theophylact, All that they require, ἐκ τ Μωσέως βίβλων ἀπὸ τ Θεῦ νόμ, from the Books of Moſes, or the Law of God: Which Interpretation muſt be allowed of, (1.) Becauſe Chriſt elſewhere requires his Diſciples to beware of the Leaven, that is, the Doctrine of the Scribes and Phariſees, Matth. 16 6, 12. and that becauſe they taught for Doctrines the Commandments of Men, and by their Traditions made void the Law of God, Matth. 15. 6, 9. and were Blind, leaders of the Blind into the Pit, ver. 14. bidding them to underſtand, that nothing from without a man defiled the man; than which, nothing could be more contrary to their Doctrins and Traditions. And elſewhere, refuting their Doctrine touching Divorce, Chap. 19. and touching Oaths, ver. 16, &c. he therefore could not here ſay, without this Reſtriction, that they ſhould do, and obſerve all their Commands, without a contradiction to his own frequent Doctrine. (2.) He ſpeaks of thoſe things which theſe Doctors ought to have done, but did not, ver. 3. whereas, they would have deſerv'd no reprehenſion for not doing that which was not required of them by the Law. Thus the word πάντα, all things, muſt be reſtrained, when the Apoſtle commands Servants to obey their Maſters, and Children their Parents, κ πάντα, in all things, Coloſ. 3. 20, 22. and Wives to be ſubject to their Husbands, ἐν παντὶ, in every thing, Epheſ. 5. 24. Thus (a) Iſidore Peluſiota teacheth us to interpret thoſe words. Note alſo, that Chriſt ſpeaks not here of the great Sanhedrim, or the Chief Prieſts; for, when mention is made of them in the New Teſtament, this is ſtill under the Name of Prieſts, Elders, Rulers, or Princes of the People; of whom here is no mention, but only of the Scribes and Phariſees, who are ſaid to ſit in the Seat of Moſes, becauſe they undertook to interpret the Law of their great Prophet Moſes, either publickly to the People, or privately in the Schools; and whilſt they determined things doubtful, and undetermined in the Law, not contrary to the Precepts of it, their Deciſions were to be obſerved for Orders ſake: Hence of the Tything Mint, and Cumnin, not mentioned in the Law of Moſes, but preſcribed by them, Chriſt ſaith, ταῦτα ἔδ ποιῆσαι, theſe things ought to be done, ver. 23.

b Ver. 4. Δεσμεύσι γδ φορτία βαρέα κ δυσβάστακτα· For they bind heavy Burthens, and grievous to be born, &c.] Theſe heavy Burthens, ſaith Theophylact, were παραδόσεις ἐπέκεινα τ νόμ, their Traditions added to the Law, and called by their own Writers, מכות פרושים, the Strokes of the Phariſees, as being ſuch as made the Service of God burthenſom. But then, when I conſider how punctual they pretended to be in the obſervance of them, what a Reverence they had for them, even above the Law of Moſes, and how highly they were offended with Chriſt, and his Apoſtles, for not walking according to them; I am apt with Menochius and Maldonate, to interpret thoſe words, They will not move them with one of their Fingers, not of their neglect to obſerve them themſelves, but of their tenacious exacting of them without Mercy, even from thoſe whom they ſaw grieved, and oppreſſed with theſe Burthens; and to refer thoſe words, they ſay, and do not, to the things taught by them, according to the Law, Mercy, Judgment, and the Love of God.

c Ver. 5. Πλατύνουσι γὰρ τὰ φυλακτήρια αὐτῶν· They alſo do make broad their Phylacteries.] What great Holineſs they placed in putting on theſe Phylacteries, we learn from the Targum on Cant. 8. 3. which introduceth the Jews, ſpeaking thus, I am choſen above all People, becauſe I bind my Frontals to my Head, and my left Hand, and my Parchment is fixed to the right ſide of my Gate, or Door, ſo that a third part of it comes up to my Bed, that the evil Spirits may not hurt me; and yet very Learned Men think, theſe Phylacteries are not commanded, Exod. 13. 9, 16. but that thoſe words are only metaphorically to be underſtood, as a Command to have God's Laws perpetually before their Eyes, and his Deliverances always in remembrance; according to the like Metaphor of Solomon, when he ſaith of the Precepts of Wiſdom, Bind them about thy Neck, and write them on the Tables of thy Heart, Prov. 3. 3. And that the like words, Deut. 6. 8, 9. are to be expounded by the foregoing words, ver. 6. The Word which I command thee this Day, ſhall be in thy Heart; and, Chap. 11. 18. Ye ſhall put my Words in your Heart, and in your Soul: For, ſince theſe words, Deut. 6. refer to the whole Law of Moſes, it ſeems not reaſonable ſonable to think; that God required them to write all the Precepts of it, upon their Phylacteries, or the Poſts of their Doors.

d Ver. 8. Ὑμεῖς δὲ μὴ κληθῆτε ῥαββεί, εἷς γάρ ἐστιν ὑμῶν ὁ καθηγητής, Be not ye called Rabbi, Fathers, Guides.] Here note,

1*ſt*, That Chriſt cannot reaſonably be ſuppoſed, to forbid either Fathers to be ſo called by their Children; this Appellation being frequent in the ſacred Writers; or aged and ſpiritual Perſons to admit that Title in the vulgar Acceptation of it: For thus St. John ſtiles the aged, Fathers, 1 John 2. 13. and St. Paul ſtiles himſelf, a Father to the Corinthians, 1 Cor. 4. 15. and to the Galatians, Chap. 4. 19. Theſe Titles therefore, which Men inſpired by the Holy Ghoſt, did uſe, after theſe words were ſpoken by our Lord, cannot be reaſonably thought to be the thing forbidden by Chriſt.

2*dly*, Nor doth Chriſt here forbid theſe Titles, only becauſe they ſavoured of Pride and Affectation, but becauſe they were a great Entrenchment on God the Father and the Son, aſcribing to thoſe Men who had uſurped theſe Names, what properly belonged to their heavenly Father; (ſo the Reaſon here aſſigned ſhews, viz. Call no Man your Father upon Earth, for one is your Father which is in Heaven, i. e. to whom alone belongs that Title;) and attributing to earthly Guides, and Maſters, what was due only to Chriſt our Teacher and ſpiritual Guide; Be not ye called Rabbi, for one is your Maſter, even Chriſt, ver. 8. Neither be ye called Maſters, (Guides or Leaders;) for one is ὑμῶν ὁ καθηγητής, your Leader, even Chriſt, ver. 10. Note,

3*dly*, That the words, Rabbi, Father, Guide, Maſter, or Teacher, were the Titles which were then uſually by the Jews, conferred on their Wiſe Men, the Fathers of Tradition, or the Men of the greateſt Underſtanding in the Law of Moſes; ſuch Perſons they thought fit to ſalute, not in a common Form of Words, but by theſe pompous Titles. Thus of Jehoſaphat, they tell us, That when he ſaw a Diſciple of the Wiſe, he would riſe from his Throne, embrace him, kiſs him, and ſay to him, Abbi, Abbi, Rabbi, Rabbi, Mori, Mori; that is, my Father, my Rabbi, my Guide, or Teacher: Theſe Titles were eſteemed ſo due to them, that they ſay, the Sanhedrim did twenty four times excommunicate thoſe, who gave not the honour of a Maſter to their Rabbins. Now by the word Rabbi, they underſtood ſuch a Teacher, whom they ſtood bound to hearken to, depending on his words, and not disbelieving, ſwerving from, or doubting of the truth of what he taught. Hence doth Gamaliel adviſe the ignorant among the Jews, to get themſelves Rabbies, that they may no longer doubt of any thing: And R. Eliezer ſaith, That he who ſeparates from the School of his Rabbi, or teacheth any thing which he hath not heard from his Maſter, provokes the Divine Majeſty to depart from Iſrael: Maimonides ſaith, That Men of the degree of Rabbi, were alſo called Abba, i. e. Father, and they took to themſelves this Title as well as that of Rabbi: Now to theſe Fathers, they aſcribed the ſame high and inconteſtible Authority. Hence Maimonides ſaith, That he that will be holy, muſt perform the words of the Fathers; and they declare that the words of Cabbala, or the Traditions of their Fathers, were equal to the words of the Law, and more to be regarded than the words of the Prophets; that a Prophet was not to be believed, except he could ſhew a Sign, or a Miracle; but as for theſe Elders, or Fathers, they were to be believed without them; it being ſaid of them, Deut. 17. 11. According to the Sentence of the Law which they ſhall teach thee, and according to the Judgment which they ſhall tell thee, thou ſhalt do. The word Mar καθηγητής, which they uſed in Babylon, to ſignifie one, who in Judea was called Rab, with them ſignifies a Guide, and Leader in the way of Happineſs: And of this, ſaith St. Paul, they are confident, that they are Guides to the Blind, a Light to them that ſit in Darkneſs, Inſtructers of the Simple, and Maſters of Babes, Rom. 2. 17, 18, 19. and that ſo certainly, that their Deciſions were not to be doubted of, but were to be reputed of equal Authority with the Determinations of the Prophets: For, ſaith (b) Maimonides, If a thouſand Prophets, who were equal to Elias and Eliſha, bring one Interpretation, and a thouſand and one Wiſe Men produce one contrary to it, we muſt encline to the moſt, and be obliged rather to act according to the Sentence of theſe Wiſe Men, than that of the thouſand Prophets. In his Explication of the Thirteenth Treatiſe of the Sanhedrim, he diſtributes Men, who interprets the Sayings of the Wiſe Men, into three Ranks; (1*ſt*,) Thoſe who ſay their words, are to be interpreted according to the Letter, as thinking, (c) Sapientes in omnibus indubitatæ veritatis in dictis ſuis, The Wiſe Men in all their Sayings, of undoubted Truth, meant only what they perceive by their words. (2*dly*,) Thoſe who illude the words of the Wiſe, judging themſelves more wiſe and perſpicacious, and ſaying, (d) that they were deceived: Theſe he pronounces Fools, and Accurſed, for ſaying theſe things againſt thoſe great Men, of whoſe Wiſdom they were well aſſured: The words of the Scribes, according to their blaſphemous Sayings, being (e) more amiable than the words of

of the Prophets, and more weighty; and, the words of the Cabala equal to the words of the Law. And even (f) Joſephus ſaith, That they who were of the Sect of the Phariſees, followed their Guide, and thought it neceſſary to obſerve and contend for whatſoever he would command; the Sadducees held it a virtue, to doubt of, or contend againſt the Teachers of the Wiſdom which their Traditions contained; but they yielded ſuch Honour to their Anceſtors, that they durſt not be ſo bold as to gainſay any thing that they had introduced as fit to be obſerved; where we have the διδάσκαλοι in expreſs words, the καθηγη in the word ἡγεμόνες, Guides, and Fathers in the τῇ ἡλικίᾳ πρεσβύτερος, or the Ancients; and all of them repreſented as Perſons, of whoſe Doctrines none ought to doubt, and whoſe Sayings no Man ſhould gainſay. And again, The Phariſees delivered νόμιμα πολλὰ, many things to be received as Laws, which were not in the Law of Moſes; from which, tho' the Sadducees diſſented, yet when they came to be Magiſtrates, they were forced to ſubſcribe to them, (g) ὅτι μὴ ἄλλως ἐνεκτὸς ἦσαν τοῖς πολίταις, ſince otherwiſe they would not be endured by the Multitude; among whom, ſo great was their Authority, that tho' they ſpake againſt the King, or the High Prieſt, (h) εὐθὺς πιστεύεται, they were preſently believed. And even the Scripture informs us, That they taught for Doctrines, or for things neceſſary to be obſerved, the Commandments of Men, Matth. 15. 9. and pronounced them accurſed who held contrary to their Sentiments, John 7. 47, 48, 49. The import therefore of theſe words ſeems to be this:

1*ſt*, That no Man was to be called Father upon Earth, ſo as that we ſhould yield an abſolute ſubjection to his Will and Pleaſure, or be abſolutely ſway'd and govern'd by it.

2*dly*, That we ſhould call no Man Guide or Maſter upon Earth, no Fathers, no Church, no Councils, ſo as abſolutely to ſubmit our ſelves in the concernment of our eternal Intereſts, to the conduct of their Judgments, or give them Dominion over our Faith and Conſcience; Chriſt being the ſole Guide, and Teacher of his Church, commiſſionated by his Father to reveal his Will, and teach us what is needful to be known, believed, or done, in order to Salvation; and even his Apoſtles being only to be looked upon as the Miniſters and Ambaſſadors of Chriſt, and only to be credited as by their Gifts; and by the miraculous Powers derived from him, they taught Men thoſe things he had commanded, and by his Spirit had revealed to them.

Ver. 13. Κλείετε τὴν βασιλείαν τῶν οὐρανῶν, Ye ſhut up the Kingdom of Heaven againſt Men.] The buſineſs of a Key, being to open, and give entrance into a place; they who obſtructed this Entrance, are here ſaid, to ſhut the Kingdom of Heaven againſt Men: And this the Scribes and Phariſees did, (1*ſt*,) By their Example; for pretending to be Guides to others, they themſelves refuſed to go into it, and ſo obſtructed the Entrance of others, by ſaying, Have any of the Scribes or Phariſees believed on him? John 7. 48. they made good that of Chriſt, you enter not in your ſelves. (2*dly*,) By their Doctrine, they cavilling at all that he ſaid, and endeavouring to render the Truth of it ſuſpected, rejecting him as not of God, becauſe he kept not the Sabbath, John 9. 16. and accuſing him of Blaſphemy, and caſting out of Devils by Beelzebub, Matth. 12. 24. and by their vain Traditions, which he deſervedly rejected, putting a Bar to the ſpiritual Doctrine of his Kingdom; thus did they ſhut up the Kingdom of Heaven againſt Men. (3*dly*,) By their Authority, excommunicating and maliciouſly proſecuting them who owned his Doctrine, and decreeing that they ſhould be caſt out of the Synagogue, John 9. 22. And profeſſing to have an Authority to paſs Judgment on true, and falſe Prophets. e Ver. 14. Κατεσθίετε οἰκίας τῶν χηρῶν καὶ προφάσει μακρὰ προσεύχεσθε, Ye devour Widows Houſes, and for a pretence make long Prayers.] This Sect, ſaith (i) Joſephus, pretended to a more exact knowledge of the Law, δι' χάριν ὡς τὸ θεῖον προσποιούμενοι ἀκριβῶς ἐπίστασθαι ἡ γυναικωνῖτις, on which account the Women were ſubject to them, as pretending to be dear to God. And when (k) Alexandra obtained the Government, they inſinuated themſelves into her, as being the exacteſt Sect of the Jews, and the exacteſt Interpreters of the Law, and abuſing her Simplicity, did as they liſted, remove, and diſpoſe, bind, and looſe, and even cut off Men. They were in ſuch Vogue for their long Prayers, which they continued ſometimes three hours, that perhaps they ſold them, as do the Roman Prieſts their Maſſes, or pretended others ſhould be more acceptable to God for them; and ſo might ſpoil devout Widows by the Gifts, or Salaries they expected from them. Now this being only an Hypocritical Pretence of Piety, muſt be hateful to God, and ſo deſerve a greater Condemnation. f

Περιεῖτε αὐτὸν υἱὸν γεέννης διπλότερον ὑμῶν, You compaſs Sea and Land to make one Proſelyte,— and ye make him two-fold more the Child of Hell than your ſelves.] It was the Complaint of the Jewiſh Nation, that their Proſelytes were the Scabs of the Church, and hindred the coming of the Meſſiah, as being ignorant of the Law, and bringing in Revenge. (l) Juſtin M. informs us of them, that theſe Proſelytes did not only disbelieve Chriſt's Doctrine, ἀλλὰ διπλότερον ὑμῶν βλασφημοῦσιν εἰς τὸ ὄνομα αὐτοῦ, but were twice more blaſphemous againſt him than the Jews themſelves, endeavouring to torment, and cut them (i. e. the Chriſtians) off whereſoever they could, they being in this the Inſtruments of the Scribes and Phariſees.

Ὃς ἂν ὀμόσῃ ἐν τῷ ναῷ οὐδέν ἐστι, Wo to ye which ſay, whoſoever ſhall ſwear by the Temple it is nothing, &c.] Of this ſee the Notes on Chap. 5. 36. and obſerve, (1ſt,) That τὸ ὀφιλεῖ ſignifies to be obliged to perform his Oath, ſo that they thought that other Oaths might be violated without Sin. (2dly,) That they ſo valued ſwearing by the Gifts of the Altar, ver. 18. becauſe they brought in Gain to them. (3dly,) Obſerve that thoſe words, He that ſweareth by the Altar, ſweareth by it, and by all things upon it, are to be thus underſtood, that he ſweareth by him whoſe Altar it is, for the Acceſſory follows the Principal; and an Oath muſt be ſuppoſed to be by ſomething which can teſtifie to the Truth, and puniſh the Falſhood of it; and ſo he that thus ſwears, muſt in all reaſon be ſuppoſed to ſwear by that God alſo, to whom the Altar doth belong.

i Ver. 23. Καὶ ἀφήκατε τὰ βαρύτερα τοῦ νόμου, And omit the weightier Matters of the Law, Judgment, Mercy, and Faith.] This is indeed the Bane of all Religion and true Piety, to prefer Rituals, and poſitive Inſtitutions, before the Precepts of natural Religion, which are always good and neceſſary upon their own account, and not only becauſe commanded; and Human Inſtitutions before Divine; and this is a certain ſign of groſs Hypocriſie. Faith in, or the Love of God, as it is, Luke 11. 42. is the Foundation of all Piety; Mercy, of all that Charity we ſhew to our Brother; and Judgment, of all righteous Dealing. Now that the Phariſees wanted this Faith and Love to God, was viſible from their Hypocriſie; that they were full of Rapine and Injuſtice we learn from ver. 25. that they were a crafty ſort of Men, prone to Envy, and Hatred, from Joſephus Antiq. l. 17. c. 3.

k Ver. 24. Οἱ διυλίζοντες τὸν κώνωπα τὴν δὲ κάμηλον καταπίνοντες, Who ſtrain at a Gnat, but ſwallow a Camel.] Vain here is the Suſpicion of Cajetan, that Camel cannot be the true reading, becauſe no Man can ſwallow it; he might as well have ſuſpected the Beam mentioned, Chap. 7. becauſe no Man's Eye can contain it. This the Rulers and the Phariſees did, in not admitting the thirty Pieces into the Treaſury, becauſe it was the Price of Blood, and yet with thoſe very Pieces hiring Judas to procure the ſhedding that Blood; and by ſcrupling to enter the Judgment Hall leſt they ſhould be defiled, but not ſcrupling to ſhed the Blood of the Innocent, John 18. 28.

l Ver. 27. Παρομοιάζετε τάφοις κεκονιαμένοις, Ye are like to whited Sepulchres;] (Luke 11. 44. ὡς τὰ μνημεῖα τὰ ἀδηλα, as Graves that appear not.) For Explication, and Reconciliation of the words of the Evangeliſts, note, (1.) That they who touched any part of a Sepulchre, were by the Law of Moſes polluted by it, Num. 19. 16. (2.) That therefore to avoid this Pollution, the Jews were wont to put ſome Sign or Mark upon it, by which it might be diſcerned to be a Sepulchre, and ſo might be avoided; for ſo their Canon runs, that if any Man finds a Sepulchre, he is bound to put a mark upon it, that it be not an Offence to others, ſince otherwiſe they might be in perpetual Danger of contracting Uncleanneſs; This Mark they made with Lime macerated with Water, which made them appear white; and when theſe Marks were worn out, and ſo the Sepulchres become ἀδηλα undiſcernable, the Graſs being grown over them, and the Herbs that grew upon them making them ὡραῖα beautiful, as to outward appearance, and like to other Earth, ſo that Men were in danger of being polluted by them, they were again marked and made white with Lime; they are therefore ſaid to appear beautiful to Men, by St. Matthew, for the ſame reaſon that they are ſtiled ἀδηλα indiſcernable by St. Luke, becauſe the white Mark was worn out, or ſo covered over with Graſs, and Herbs, that it could not be diſcerned. Such, ſaith Chriſt, are ye Phariſees, appearing outwardly ſpecious, and fair to Men, whilſt yet your inward Parts are full of Hypocriſie and Iniquity. Vain then is the imaginary Pretence of any Contradiction in what Dr. Hammond here offers from Dr. Pocock, the whited Sepulchres being Sepulchres which at firſt had received this white Mark, or Cippus; but yet the Sight of it was loſt by the Herbs growing up high enough to cover it, or by the Rain waſhing it away.

m Ver. 29, 30. Οὐαὶ οἰκοδομεῖτε τοὺς τάφους τῶν προφητῶν καὶ κοσμεῖτε τὰ μνημεῖα τῶν δικαίων, Wo unto you —for ye build the Tombs of the Prophets, and garniſh the Sepulchres of the Righteous;] Wherefore ye be Witneſſes to your ſelves, ſelves, (i. e. you your ſelves witneſs) that ye are the Children of them which killed the Prophets, ver. 31, 32. fill ye up then, καὶ πληρώσατε, and ye will fill up the meaſure of your Fathers Cruelties in this kind; being now fitly compared to Serpents and Vipers for the venomous Hatred you bear to me, the Prophet promiſed by Moſes, and thoſe ſent among you in my Name, and will thereby ſhew you are their Children, as well by Diſpoſition, as by natural Deſcent. The words in St. Luke, Chap. 11. 47, 48. run thus, Wo to you, for ye build up the Sepulchres of the Prophets, whom (you acknowledge that) your Fathers kill'd ἄρα μάρτυρές ἐστε, you therefore by this teſtifie, that you are by Nature the Children of thoſe Fathers, for they (i. e. their Fathers) killed them, and you (the Children of them) build their Sepulchres, (καὶ συνδοκεῖτε τοῖς ἔργοις τῶν πατέρων ὑμῶν) and by your Hatred againſt me and mine, you farther ſhew your likeneſs to them in Diſpoſitions alſo; ſo that I foreſee, that of thoſe Wiſe Men which I ſend to you, ſome of them you will perſecute, and ſome of them you will kill and crucifie, and ſo will ſo far fill up the Meaſure of their Sins, that upon you may juſtly fall the Puniſhment of all the Blood of the Prophets, and righteous Men ſhed by your Fathers, and by you their Children in Iniquity. All that can be objected againſt this Paraphraſe, which makes the words of Luke ſo plain, and ſo exactly to agree with the words here, is, that it puts theſe words, καὶ συνδοκεῖτε τοῖς ἔργοις τῶν πατέρων ὑμῶν, and ye allow of the Works of your Fathers, in a Parenthesis; of which we have Examples in the New Teſtament ſufficient to juſtifie the doing this; ſo Mark 12. 12. They ſought to lay hold upon him, (ἔγνωσαν γὰρ ὅτι πρὸς αὐτοὺς τὴν παραβολὴν εἶπε, for they knew he ſpake this Parable againſt them,) but they feared the People, Chap. 16. 3, 4. they ſaid, who ſhall roll away the Stone from the Door of the Sepulchre? (καὶ ἀναβλέψασαι θεωροῦσιν ὅτι ἀποκεκύλισται ὁ λίθος, and looking up, they ſaw it was rolled away,) for it was very great. See Luke 5. 15, 16, 17. Mark 14. 23, 24. Rom. 3. 5, 8. Rev. 20. 12, 13. o Ver. 35. Ὅπως ἔλθῃ ἐφ' ὑμᾶς πᾶν αἷμα δίκαιον ἐκχυνόμενον ἐπὶ τῆς γῆς, That upon you may come (the national Puniſhment of) all the Blood ſhed in the Land;] i. e. That it may come upon you, taking pleaſure in the Works of your Fathers, and by the ſame bloody Actions filling up the Meaſure of their Sins by killing your Meſſiah, the chiefeſt of all Prophets; and the Wiſe Men he ſent laſt of all to offer terms of Pardon, and Salvation to you: And this rendred their Puniſhment not only equitable, but almoſt neceſſary; for it being the Obſervation of their own Wiſe Men, from Gen. 15. 16. That God taketh not Vengeance of a Nation till they have filled up the meaſure of their Sins; the Jews of that Generation doing this to the utmoſt, and by their εὐδοκία, i e. the Pleaſure which they took in doing, not only the like, but even more bloody Actions, they becoming ex poſt facto, Partakers with their Fore-fathers in their Sins; and being not deterred from the like Actions by all the Puniſhments which they had ſuffered by them in the Captivity of their whole Nation, they made it both equitable and neceſſary this Puniſhment ſhould fall upon that Generation.

Ibid. Ἀπὸ τοῦ αἵματος τοῦ δικαίου Ἄβελ ἕως τοῦ αἵματος Ζαχαρίου τοῦ Βαραχίου, From the Blood of righteous Abel (the firſt Prophet and Preacher of Righteouſneſs, Heb. 11. 4. 2 Pet. 2. 5.) to the Blood of Zachariah Son of Barachias.] Here two things need to be explained, viz. who was this Son of Barachias, and why he is mentioned rather than any of thoſe righteous Perſons who were afterwards deſtroyed by the Jews. To the firſt Queſtion, I anſwer, (1*ſt*,) That he could not be Zacharias, υἱὸς Βαραχοῦ the Son of Baruch, mentioned by (m) Joſephus as μισοπόνηρος a hater of wicked things and Perſons, and therefore ſlain by the Zealots ἐν μέσῳ τῷ ἱερῷ, in the middle of the Temple. For, (1.) The Name ſeems not the ſame, for as Baruch in Jeremiah and the Apocrypha is always called by the Septuagint, Βαρούχ ſo ברוך is ſtill rendred by them Βαραχίας, Iſa. 8. 2. Zach. 1. 1. 7. and Neh. 3. we find Βαραχίας, ver. 4. and Βαρούχ, ver. 20. which ſhews they were not the ſame Names. (2*dly*,) The Blood of Βαραχίας was the Blood of a Prophet, Luke 11. 50, 51. whereas the Baruch mentioned by Joſephus was no Prophet, nor doth it appear that he was a righteous Perſon, he being an Unbeliever, and one of thoſe who rebelled againſt Cæſar; and, (3*dly*,) Chriſt ſpeaks here of the Prophets whom ἐφονεύσατε, they had ſlain, not of one who was only to be ſlain a little before the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem, for then none of the People could have underſtood his meaning. Nor, 2*dly*, could he be Zacharias, the Father of John the Baptiſt, for as he was not owned by the Jews to be a Prophet, nor was he ſent by God unto the Jews under that Character; ſo (n) Origen confeſſeth that it cannot be proved from Scripture either that he was the Son of Barachias, or that he was ſlain between the Temple and the Altar. And indeed that he was the Son of Barachias is only ſaid by Nicephorus out of Hippolytus; that he was ſlain in the Temple, is a Tradition more current among the (o) Ancients, but yet St. Jerom ſaith, it is only taken ex quibuſdam Apocryphorum ſomniis, from ſome Dreams of Apocryphal Writers. And indeed the Tradition is falſe in the Foundation, that he was ſlain for placing the Virgin Mary in that Apartment of the Temple, which was proper to the Virgins; whereas, tho' there was the Court of Women, yet there was no peculiar Apartment for the Virgins. Nor, (3*dly*,) Could it be Zacharias one of the minor Prophets, he living when the Temple was in its Ruins, and neither Temple nor Altar were ſet up again; nor do any of the Jewiſh Hiſtorians ſay that he was ſlain at all, much leſs that he was ſlain between the Temple, and the Altar: It remains therefore, (4*thly*,) That we here underſtand that Zacharias of whom we read, 2 Chron. 24. 20. that he ſaid to the People, why tranſgreſs ye the Commandments of God, that ye cannot proſper? becauſe ye have forſaken the Lord, he hath forſaken you, and that the People ſtoned him in the Court of the Houſe of the Lord, and ver. 22. that dying he ſaid, the Lord look upon it, and require it. But againſt this it is objected, Object. 1. That he was Zachariah Son of Jehoiada, ver. 20. this here was the Son of Barachiah.

Anſw. St. Jerom teſtifies that the Goſpel of the Nazarenes read the Son of Jehoiada, and the word Barachiah ſignifying, praiſe God, as Jehoiada doth, why might not that be tranſlated in Greek υἱὸς Βαραχίε, which was ſpoken in Syriack, the Son of Jehoiada? Moreover, it is common among the Jews to change proper Names, eſpecially when they have any thing of the Shem Hamphoraſh, or Jehova in them, into words of like Signification; ſo for Judas ſome uſed Thaddeus, of the ſame import, and from the ſame Root הדה and Jehojakim is the Name given by the King of Egypt to Eliakim, 2 Kings 23. 34. 2 Chron. 36. 4. that is, he turned El into Jah; and why then may not here Johjada be turned into Barachiah?

Object. 2. But ſince Chriſt begins with Abel the firſt Prophet and righteous Perſon which was ſlain, why ſhould he end with one ſlain before the Deſtruction of the Temple, and not in one near the time when he ſpake?

Anſw. That Chriſt, ſpeaking here of Prophets ſlain by the Jews, doth come to the loweſt Inſtance, no other Prophet being ſlain after by them; for if the Tradition touching Iſaias be true, he was ſlain, not by conſent of the Jews, as was the Son of Jehoiada, but only by the Cruelty of Manaſſes. 2*dly*, There could be no fitter Inſtance, than this was, for our Saviour's purpoſe, whether we conſider the occaſion of this Prophet's Death, the manner of it, or the Judgments which enſued upon them for it. For,

1*ſt*, He died, as Chriſt, and his Apoſtles were to do, for reproving the Jews for their Tranſgreſſions, and revolt from God, and was the Son of one who had ſhewed great Kindneſs to them.

2*dly*, He dying ſaid, the Lord look upon it, and require it, foretelling that God would, or deſiring that he would require his Blood at their Hands; which Prayer God anſwered ſo fully, that in a year all the Princes of Judah and Jeruſalem were deſtroyed by the Syrians, and the Spoil carried to Damaſcus, 2 Chron. 24. 23. And Joaſh who commanded this Murther, was ſlain by a Conſpiracy of his own Servants, ver. 25. And from this very time the ſtate of Judah and Jeruſalem grew worſe and worſe, till at laſt the City was broken up, the Temple burned, and the People captivated by Nabuzaradan; "who, "ſay the Jews, finding the Blood of this "Prophet bubling up in the Temple, enqui-"red whoſe Blood it was; and when the "Jews anſwered, it was the Blood of a Pro-"phet ſlain by them, who had foretold all "they had ſuffered by Nabuzaradan, he ſlew "ninety four thouſand of the Rabbins, Prieſts "and Members of the Sanhedrim to appeaſe "it. Hence the Jews ſpeak of it as of Blood "provoking God to Anger, he will call to "remembrance their Iniquity, that they may "be taken, Ezek. 21. 23. This, ſaith Midraſh Cobeleth, is the Blood of Zachariah. And when Jeremiah introduceth the Jews, ſpeaking thus, Lam. 2. 20. Behold, O Lord, and conſider, ſhall the Prieſt and the Prophet be ſlain in the Sanctuary of the Lord? The Targum introduces the Houſe of Judgment, anſwering, Was it fit for you, even in the day of Propitiation to kill a Prieſt, and a Prophet, as you did Zachariah the Son of Iddo in the Houſe of the Sanctuary of the Lord, becauſe he would have withdrawn you from your evil ways?

That by Jeruſalem we are to underſtand not only the Inhabitants of the City, but of all Judea, as appears, (1.) Becauſe this is the import of the word elſewhere, when neither the City is mentioned, nor is it taken metaphorically for the Heavenly Jeruſalem; as 2 Kings 19. 21. 2 Chron. 28. 10. Iſa. 37. 22. Lam. 2. 14, 15. Ezek. 9. 9. Joel 3. 6. Luke 2. 38. — 23. 28. (2.) From the Puniſhment denounced upon her, ſince that belongs to all whom Chriſt would have gathered, ver. 37. and to whom he wiſhed that they had known in their day the things belonging to their Peace. Whence it follows,

1*ſt*, That Chriſt did very ſeriouſly deſire the Converſion of thoſe Jews who continued in their Impenitence and Unbelief, as here he ſhews by the Similitude of the Affection of a Hen to her Chicken; and Luke 19. 41, 42, 43. by his weeping over them.

2*dly*, That they whom he ſo ſeriouſly deſired to convert, would not be converted when they might have been ſo, for therefore were they not converted, becauſe they would not be gathered.

t Ver. 39. I ſay unto you, that μὴ με ἴδητε ἀπάρτι ἕως ἂν εἴπητε εὐλογημένος ὁ ἐρχόμενος ἐν ὀνόματι Κυρίου, ye ſhall not ſee me from henceforth (Gr. after a while) till ye ſhall ſay, Bleſſed is he that cometh in the Name of the Lord.] Theſe words, by the Connexion of them with the former thus, behold your Houſe is left unto you deſolate, λέγω γὰρ for I ſay, &c. ſeem manifeſtly to relate to the time of the Deſtruction of the Jews, and to bear this ſenſe; You who have now with ſo much Indignation heard the Children and People ſaluting me thus, Bleſſed is he that cometh in the Name of the Lord, after a while ſhall lie under ſo great Calamities for the Puniſhment of your Infidelity, that you would be glad of a Deliverer to whom you might ſay theſe words. This may be alſo gathered from the word ἀπάρτι after a while; for after Chriſt's Aſcenſion they ſaw him not till he came to the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem, which in the following Chapter is ſo often ſtiled, the time of the coming of the Son of Man; the time when ἀπάρτι after a while they ſhould ſee the Son of Man coming in the Clouds, Matth. 26. 64. And Joſephus informs us, that when the Jews were nigh to Deſtruction, they earneſtly expected their Meſſiah, or one coming in the Name of the Lord to deliver them: And readily followed thoſe (p) falſe Prophets, and Deceivers, who promiſed them Deliverance, and bid them προσμένειν τὴν ἀπὸ τοῦ Θεοῦ βοήθειαν, expect help from God. If this Expoſition be not allowed, I would willingly refer this to the time mentioned by St. Paul, Rom. 11. 26. When the Deliverer ſhall come out of Sion, and turn away Iniquity from Jacob, and ſo all Iſrael ſhall be ſaved, by their Converſion to the Lord; and ſaying, Bleſſed is he that cometh in the Name of the Lord; till which time their Houſe ſhall be left to them deſolate, Luke 21. 24. And thus it is a Commination, that after a while the Kingdom of God ſhould be taken from the Jews of that Age, and this Calamity ſhould continue long on their Poſterity.

CHAP. XXIV.

1. AND Jeſus went out, and departed from the Temple, and his Diſciples came to him, to ſhew to him the Buildings of the Temple.

2. And Jeſus ſaid to them, ſee ye not all a theſe thing, [a] Verily I ſay unto you, there ſhall not be left here one Stone upon another, that ſhall not be thrown down.

3. And as he ſat upon the Mount of Olives, the Diſciples came to him privately, ſaying, b [b] tell us when ſhall theſe things be, and what ſhall be the Sign of thy coming (to do theſe things,) and of the end of the World? (or τοῦ αἰῶνος, of this Age.)

4. And Jeſus anſwered, and ſaid to them, take heed that no Man deceive you.

c 5. [c] For (before this happeth) many ſhall come in my Name, ſaying, I am Chriſt, and ſhall deceive many.

6. And (when) ye ſhall hear of Wars, and Rumours of Wars, ſee that ye be not troubled, for all theſe things (or this) muſt come to paſs, but the end (of the Jewiſh Age and Polity) is not yet.

7. For Nation ſhall riſe againſt Nation, and Kingdom againſt Kingdom, [d] and there d ſhall be Famines, and Peſtilences, and Earthquakes in divers places.

8. All theſe are the beginnings of (their pangs of) Sorrows.

9. [e] Then ſhall they deliver you up to be e afflicted, and ſhall kill (ſome of) you, and ye ſhall be hated of all Nations for my Name's ſake.

10. And then ſhall many be offended, (i. e. fall off from the Goſpel,) and ſhall betray one another, and ſhall hate one another.

11. And many falſe Prophets ſhall ariſe, and ſhall deceive many.

(p) De bello Jud. l. 7. c. 30. p. 960.

12. And becauſe Iniquity (and Perſecution) ſhall abound, the Love of many (to me, and my Doctrine) ſhall wax cold.

13. But he that ſhall endure to the end, the ſame ſhall be ſaved, (i. e. preſerved from this Deſtruction.)

f 14. [f] And this Goſpel of the Kingdom (of God) ſhall be preached in all the World, for a Witneſs to all Nations (that I am the Chriſt,) and then ſhall the end come (of that Church and Polity.)

g 15. [g] When ye therefore ſhall ſee the Abomination of Deſolation, (i. e. the Roman Army, Luke 21. 20.) ſpoken of by Daniel the Prophet, ſtand in the holy place, whoſo readeth let him underſtand (what the Prophet there intends.)

h 16. [h] Then let them which be in Judæa flee to the Mountains, (take this Opportunity to flee thence with the greateſt Expedition.)

17. Let him which ſitteth on the Houſe top not come down to take any thing out of his Houſe.

18. Neither let him who is in the Field, return back to take (up) his Cloaths.

19. And wo to them who are with Child, and to them that give ſuck in thoſe days, (and ſo are not in condition to flie ſwiftly, and ſpeedily out of this Danger.)

i 20. [i] But (and) pray ye that your Flight be not in the Winter, nor on the Sabbath day, (not in the Winter, when long and haſty Journies are moſt difficult; not on the Sabbath day, when your Flight will render you obnoxious to the Diſpleaſure of the Jews.)

k 21. [k] For then ſhall be great Tribulation, ſuch as was not ſince the beginning of the World to this time, no nor ever ſhall be (afterwards, and ſo your Flight will be more hazardous.)

l 22. [l] And except thoſe days ſhould be ſhortned, there ſhould no Fleſh be ſaved (or eſcape,) but for the Elects (i. e. the Chriſtians) ſake, thoſe days ſhall be ſhortned. (That this is the true import of the Elect, ſee Note on Mark 13. 20.)

23. Then if any Man ſhall ſay to you, Lo here is Chriſt, or there (he is,) believe him not.

m 24. For there ſhall (then) ariſe [m] falſe Chriſts and falſe Prophets, and (they) ſhall ſhew great Signs and Wonders, inſomuch, that if it were poſſible, they ſhall deceive the very Elect, (i. e. do all that poſſibly they can to deceive even Chriſtians by them.)

25. Behold I have told you before, (v. 5, 12. of theſe things.) n 26. Wherefore [n] if they ſhall ſay to you, behold he (i. e. Chriſt) is in the Deſert, go not forth (to ſeek him there, or if they ſhall ſay) behold he is in the ſecret Chambers (of the Temple) believe it not.

27. For (the coming of the Son of Man will not be ſecret, or obſcure, but) o as the Lightning (which) cometh out of the Eaſt and ſhineth even to the Weſt, ſo ſhall alſo the coming of the Son of Man be.

28. For whereſoever the Carcaſs is, (i. e. the Jews are,) there will the Eagles, (the Roman Armies, whoſe Enſign is the Eagle) be gathered together.

29. (And) [p] immediately after the Tribulation of thoſe days, ſhall the Sun be darkned, and the Moon ſhall not give her Light, and the Stars ſhall fall from Heaven, and the Powers of the Heaven ſhall be ſhaken, (i. e. all the Government both in Church and State ſhall be overthrown, as it was by the Zealots.)

30. And then ſhall appear the [q] Sign of the Son of Man (who is) in Heaven, (i. e. the Roman Army coming to the Deſtruction of the City, the Temple and People of Jeruſalem,) and then ſhall all the Tribes of the Earth (or Land) mourn, and (then) ſhall they ſee the Son of Man coming in the Clouds of Heaven with Power and great Glory.

r 31. And [r] (then) he ſhall ſend his Angels with a great Sound of a Trumpet, (i. e. his Meſſengers with the Trumpet of the Goſpel) and they ſhall gather together his Elect (among the Gentiles) from the four Winds, from one end of Heaven to the other, (Luke 13. 28, 29.)

32. Now learn a Parable of (from) the Fig-tree, (for) when her Branch is yet tender, and putteth forth Leaves, ye know that Summer is nigh.

33. So likewiſe ye, when ye ſhall ſee all theſe things (come to paſs,) know that it (i. e. the Ruin foretold) is nigh, even at the Doors.

s 34. [s] Verily I ſay to you, this Generation ſhall not paſs, till all theſe things be (aſſuredly) fulfilled; (for,)

35. Heaven and Earth ſhall paſs away (at the end of the World you enquire after,) but my words ſhall not paſs away (unperformed.)

t 36. But [t] of that day and hour (when they are thus to paſs away, you are not to enquire, for of that) knoweth no Man, no not the Angels of Heaven, (nor the Son, Mark 13. 32.) but my Father only.

37. But (know in the general,) as (in) the days of Noe, (the Flood, of which he propheſied, was unexpected) ſo ſhall alſo the coming of the Son of Man be (at both theſe times.)

38. For

38. For as in the days that were before the Flood, they were eating and drinking, marrying, and giving in Marriage, until the day that Noah entred into the Ark.

39. And knew not till the Flood came, and took them all away; ſo ſhall alſo the coming of the Son of Man (then) be.

u 40. " Then ſhall (the Providence of God be ſo remarkable in preſervation of his faithful People, that) two (ſhall) be in the Field, the one ſhall be taken (by the Roman Army,) and the other left.

41. Two (Women ſhall be) grinding at the Mill, the one ſhall be taken, and the other left, (and the like Diſtinction will the Angels make at the great day of Judgment, Chap. 25. 32.)

42. Watch therefore, for ye know not (at) what hour your Lord doth come.

43. But know this, (this ye know,) that if the good Man of the Houſe had known in what watch (of the night) the Thief would come, he would have watched, and would not have ſuffered his Houſe to be broken up.

x 44. Therefore be ye alſo * ready, for in ſuch an hour as ye think not (of) the Son of Man cometh.

y 45. Who then is y a faithful and wiſe Servant, whom his Lord hath made (a) Ruler over his Houſhold, to give them Meat in due Seaſon, (Inſtructions ſuitable to their Exigencies.)

46. Bleſſed is that Servant whom his Lord when he cometh ſhall find ſo doing, (i. e. employed in preſerving them from Apoſtacy in this hour of Temptation.)

47. Verily I ſay to you, that he ſhall make him Ruler over all his Goods; (i. e. ſhall amply reward his Fidelity.)

48. But if that evil Servant ſhall ſay in his Heart, my Lord delayeth his coming, (and ſo begin to doubt the Truth of it.)

49. And (by reaſon of this backſliding Heart) ſhall begin to ſmite his Fellow Servants, (i. e. Chriſtians,) and to eat and drink with the drunken, (i. e. indulge himſelf in ſenſual Pleaſures on this account, 1 Cor. 15. 32.)

50. The Lord of that Servant ſhall come in a day when he looketh not for him, and in an hour that he is not aware of.

51. And (for his Perfidiouſneſs) ſhall z cut him aſunder, and appoint (him) his Portion with the Hypocrites, there ſhall be weeping and gnaſhing of Teeth. z

a Ver. 2. VERILY I ſay unto you, ὃ μὴ ἀφεθῇ ὧδε λίθος ἐπὶ λίθον ὃς ὃ μὴ καταλυθήσεται, there ſhall not be left here one Stone upon another, which ſhall not be thrown down.] The exact Completion of the things foretold in this Chapter, touching the Deſtruction of the Temple, City, and People of Jeruſalem, being an eminent Confirmation of the Truth of Chriſt's prophetick Office, and of the Chriſtian Faith, I ſhall, as they occur, take notice of them, And, (1*ſt.*) To compleat this Prediction, (a) Joſephus doth inform us, that Titus commanded the Soldiers, τὴν τε πόλιν ἅπασαν καὶ τὸν νεὼν κατασκάπτειν, to dig up the Foundations both of the Temple and City. (b) Eleazer in Joſephus ſpeaking of this Houſe of God, ſaith, πρόῤῥιζον ἐκ βάθρων ἀνήρπασαι, it has been rooted up from the very Foundations. The (c) Jewiſh Talmud, and Maimonides add, that Turnus, (i. e. Terentius) Rufus, Captain of the Army of Titus, did with a Plowſhare tear up the Foundations of the Temple, and thereby ſignally fulfil thoſe words, Micah 3. 12. Therefore ſhall Zion for your ſakes be plowed as a Field, and Jeruſalem ſhall become Heaps, and the Mountains of the Lord as the high places of the Foreſt. And, ſaith (d) Joſephus, we may well admire the exactneſs of the time, for the burning of the Temple, καὶ μηνὶ καὶ ἡμέρᾳ ἐπετήρησε τῷ αὐτῷ, hapned on the ſame month and day on which it formerly was burned by the Babylonians.

b Ver. 3. Εἰπὲ ἡμῖν πότε ταῦτα ἔσται, καὶ τί τὸ σημεῖον τῆς σῆς παρουσίας, καὶ τῆς συντελείας τοῦ αἰῶνος, Tell us when theſe things ſhall be, and what ſhall be the Sign of thy Coming, and of the end of the World.] (Gr. αἰῶνος, of the Age.) This in St. Mark runs thus, tell us when theſe things ſhall be, καὶ τί τὸ σημεῖον ὅταν μέλλῃ ταῦτα πάντα συντελεῖσθαι, and what is the Sign when theſe things ſhall be accompliſhed, Mark 13. 4. In St. Luke thus, when ſhall theſe things be, and what is the Sign, ὅταν μέλλῃ ταῦτα γίνεσθαι, when theſe things are to be done, Luke 21. 7. From which places, compared with this, it appears that the three things here mentioned relate to the ſame time, and are only an Enquiry to this effect; when wilt thou come to deſtroy the Temple, and to put an end to the Jewiſh Church, and Age?

Age? For what is the Sign of thy coming in St. Matthew, is the Sign when theſe things ſhall be done, in St. Luke; what is in St. Matthew συντέλεια the end of the Age, is in St. Mark, the time when theſe things are about συντελεῖσθαι to be accompliſhed. (2*dly*,) Chriſt ſo anſwers to the Queſtion touching the Sign of his coming, as manifeſtly to ſhew it was contemporary with the Deſolation of the Temple, and Polity of Jeruſalem, ſaying, ver. 27. as the Lightning cometh from the Eaſt, and ſhineth to the Weſt, ſo ſhall be ἡ παρουσία, the coming of the Son of Man; for ver. 28. where the Carcaſs is, there ſhall the Eagles be gathered together, i. e. the Roman Army, whoſe Enſign was the Eagle; ſo that the coming of this Army to deſtroy them, and the coming of the Son of Man, muſt be contemporary. And again, ver. 37, 39. as it was in the days of Noah, ſo ſhall be ἡ παρουσία, the coming of the Son of Man, for two ſhall be in the Field, ver. 40. two grinding at the Mill, 41. the one ſhall be taken, and the other left; which words are followed in St. Luke with theſe, where the Carcaſs (or Body) is, there ſhall the Eagles be gathered together, Luke 17. 34, 37. (3*dly*,) This will be farther evident by comparing other words of Chriſt with thoſe contained in theſe three Chapters of St. Matthew, Mark, and Luke; for Chriſt ſaith, Mark 9. 1. There are ſome ſtanding here who ſhall not taſte of Death, till they ſee the Son of Man coming in his Kingdom, or, according to ſome Copies, in his Glory. And Chap. 26. 62. within a while ye ſhall ſee the Son of Man ſitting at the right Hand of Power, and coming in the Clouds of Heaven; when therefore it is ſaid, Matth. 24. 30. Mark 13. 26. Luke 21. 27. Ye ſhall ſee the Son of Man coming in the Clouds of Heaven with great Power, and Glory; this Advent muſt be while ſome were living that ſtood by Chriſt, and within a while, and ſo not at the end of the World. And in like manner that the συντέλεια τοῦ αἰῶνος, or the end of the Age, is the ſame with the end of the Jewiſh State, appears from theſe words, You ſhall hear of Wars and Rumors of Wars, ἀλλ' οὔπω ἐστὶ τὸ τέλος, but the end (you enquire after) is not yet, ver. 6. Mark 13. 7. Luke 21. 9. and ver. 13. he that endureth εἰς τέλος, to the end ſhall be ſaved, and ver. 14. the Goſpel of the Kingdom ſhall be preached through the World for a Teſtimony to the Gentiles, and then ἥξει τὸ τέλος, the end ſhall come; for what is in St. Matthew and St. Mark the end, is Luke 21. 20. ἡ ἐρήμωσις αὐτῆς, the Deſolation of Jeruſalem by the Roman Army compaſſing her about. Nor is it to be wondred that the Apoſtles who had learned that the coming of the Meſſiah, and the end of the then preſent World, ſhould be together, ſhould thus enquire of them together; or that this ſhould be ſtiled the end of the (Jewiſh) Age, Chriſt being ſtiled the Father of the Age to come, Iſa. 9. 6. and the Age of Chriſtianity, the Age to come, Heb. 6. 5. and the end of the Ages, 1 Cor. 10. 11.

Ver. 5. Πολλοὶ γὰρ ἐλεύσονται ἐπὶ τῷ ὀνόματί μου λέγοντες ἐγώ εἰμι ὁ Χριστός, Many ſhall come in my Name, ſaying, I am Chriſt; and ver. 11. Many falſe Prophets ſhall ariſe, and deceive many: So Mark 13. 6. Luke 21. 8.] A diſtinction is to be made betwixt falſe Chriſts and falſe Prophets: They properly are termed falſe Chriſts who took upon them to be the Chriſt, and came under that Name, as the words here ſhew. Such was (e) Doſitheus, who ſaid, οὗτος ἦν ὁ προφητευόμενος ὑπὸ Μωσέως Χριστός, He was the Chriſt foretold by Moſes. And (f) Simon M. who ſaid, He appeared among the Jews, ὡς υἱός, as the Son of God. And ſuch perhaps were thoſe many, whom, ſaith (g) Joſephus, βασιλείαν ὁ καιρὸς ἀνέπεισε, The time of the Advent of their King Meſſias prevailed with to ſet up for Kings. From theſe, ſaith (h) Hegeſippus, came falſe Chriſts and falſe Prophets: There aroſe, ſaith (i) Hippolytus, ſome, ſaying, I am Chriſt, as Simon M. καὶ οἱ λοιποὶ, and the reſt, whoſe Names I have not time to reckon up. The falſe Prophets were ſuch as promiſed, or foretold falſe things: And ſuch were, ſaith (l) Joſephus, (1*ſt*,) An Egyptian falſe Prophet, and Magician, who gathered together about Thirty thouſand Jews, whom he had deceived. (2*dly*,) One (m) Theudas, a Magician, προφήτης γὰρ ἔλεγεν εἶναι, for he ſaid, he was a Prophet, and deceived many. (3*dly*,) Ψευδοπροφήτης τις, a certain falſe Prophet, who bid them go into the Temple, where God would ſhew them manifeſt Signs of a Deliverance. He adds, that there were then (n) πολλοὶ προφῆται, many Prophets, who taught them even to the laſt, to expect help from God. See the Note on ver. 24. and 26.

Ver. 7, 8. There ſhall be λιμοὶ καὶ λοιμοὶ καὶ σεισμοὶ κατὰ τόπους, Famines, and Peſtilences, and Earthquakes in divers places; λιμοὶ καὶ ταραχαὶ, Famines and Tumults, Mark 13. 8, 9. φόβητρά τε καὶ σημεῖα ἀπ' οὐρανοῦ μεγάλα ἔσται, there ſhall be fearful Sights, and great Signs from Heaven, Luke 21. 11.] To ſpeak particularly of the Wars, rumours of Wars, and Tumults which then hapned, would be to tranſcribe a great part of the Hiſtory of Joſephus. But,

3*dly*, Grotius reckons up many Earthquakes, which hapned in the Reigns of Claudius, and Nero, at Crete, Smyrna, Miletus, Chios, Samos, Laodicea, Hierapolis, and Coloſs; in all which places the Jews lived. There hapned in Judea, ſaith Joſephus, vehement Winds, dreadful Thundrings, and Lightnings, καὶ μυκήματα ἐνόμβρου τε γῆς ἐξαίσια, and vaſt mowings of the ſhaken Earth, which, in the Judgment of all, portended no ſmall Evils. De Bello Jud. l. 4. c. 17.

4*thly*, Joſephus, in his Preface to his Hiſtory of the Wars of the Jews, undertakes to record the Miſeries, Calamities, and Deſolations which then befel them, καὶ περὶ τούτων σημεῖα καὶ τέρατα, and the Signs and Prodigies preceding them. In his (p) Seventh Book, Chap 21. he reckons up ἐναργῆ καὶ προσημαίνοντα τοῖς μελλοῦσιν ἐρημίᾳ τέρατα, the Prodigies which manifeſtly imported their future Deſolation; as v. g. That ὥσπερ τοῦ πόλιν ἄστρον ἔστη Ῥομφαία προσπλήσιον, καὶ κομήτης, ἐπ' ἐνιαυτὸν κομήτης, a Sword ſeemed to hang over the City, or a Comet pointing down upon it for a Year, which plainly ſeemed to portend their Ruin by the Sword: And that before the Sun went down, ὤφθη μετέωρα πρὸς πάσῃ τοῦ χώρᾳ ἅρματα καὶ φαλάγγες ἔνοπλοι διαθέουσαι τοῖς νεφοῖς καὶ κυκλούμεναι τὰς πόλεις, there were ſeen in the Clouds, Armies in Battel-array, and Chariots encompaſſing the Country, and inveſting their Cities, which there are, ſaith he, Men ſtill living to atteſt: That the great Gate of the Temple, which twenty Men could ſcarcely ſhut, and which was made faſt with Bolts and Bars, was αὐτομάτως ἀνεῳγμένη, ſeen to open of its own accord, to let in their Enemies; for ſo, ſaith he, our Wiſe Men conſtrued that Omen: That at the ninth Hour of the Night, at the Feaſt of unleavened Bread, τοσοῦτον φῶς περιέλαμψε τὸ βωμὸν καὶ τὸν ναὸν, as great a Light ſhone upon the Temple, and the Altar, as if it had been Noon-day: That at the Feaſt of Pentecoſt, when the Prieſts went at Midnight into the Temple to attend their Service, they firſt heard a kind of a Noiſe, as of a movement from the place, and then a Voice ſaying, μεταβαίνωμεν ἐντεῦθεν, Let us go hence. And theſe things (q) Tacitus, a Roman Hiſtorian of that Age, doth thus epitomize, Armies ſeemed to meet in the Clouds, Weapons were there ſeen glittering, the Temple ſeemed to be on a Flame with Fire iſſuing from the Clouds, and a Divine Voice was heard, That the Deity was quitting the place, and a great motion as of his departing. Joſephus adds, as τὸ τούτων φοβερώτερον, a thing ſtill more terrible, That four Years before the War, one Jeſus began at the Feaſt of Tabernacles, to cry, φωνὴ ἐπὶ Ἱεροσόλυμα καὶ τὸν ναὸν, φωνὴ ἐπὶ τὸν λαὸν πάντα, a Voice againſt Jeruſalem and the Temple, a Voice againſt all the People, Woe, woe to them; and that he continued crying thus about ſeven Years. So expreſs is the account of the τὰ φοβητρὰ, frightful Things, and Signs from Heaven, mentioned by our Lord; and of the Sign of the Son of Man coming in the Clouds of Heaven, μετὰ δυνάμεως καὶ δόξης, with a glorious Hoſt, or with Power and Glory, according to our Lord's Prediction, ver. 30.

Ver. 9, 10, 11, 12. Τότε παραδώσουσιν ὑμᾶς εἰς θλῖψιν, καὶ ἀποκτενοῦσιν ὑμᾶς· Then ſhall they deliver you up to Affliction, and ſhall kill you, &c. ver. 10. Then many ſhall be offended, and betray others; ver. 12. And becauſe Iniquity ſhall abound, the love of many ſhall wax cold.] Before all theſe things (are accompliſhed,) they ſhall lay their Hands upon you, and ſhall perſecute you, delivering you up to the Synagogues, and to Priſons, Luke 21. 12. They ſhall deliver you up to the Sanhedrims, and you ſhall be beaten in the Synagogues, and ſhall be brought before Kings and Governours, for my Name's ſake, Mark 13. 9 --- 14. Chriſt begins here to foretel what ſhould happen to his Apoſtles, and Diſciples, and to others, before the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem; the Troubles and Perſecutions which ſhould come upon them, both from their Enemies and ſeeming Friends, and what Event theſe Perſecutions ſhould have on ſome unſound and temporizing Chriſtians, and what Deliverance would be vouchſafed to thoſe who perſevered to the end: And that all theſe things exactly came to paſs, we learn from Scripture, and Church-Hiſtory. Annal. 15. p. 363. by the Jews, Juſtin. Mart. Dial. cum Tryph. p. 234, 235.

6*thly*, As we learn from the (r) Jewiſh Talmud, That in the Days of the Meſſiah, the Son ſhould afflict the Father, and a Man's Enemies ſhould be thoſe of his own Houſe: So do we alſo learn from Tacitus in the place forecited, That Chriſtians were delivered up by their Parents, Brethren, Kinsfolk, Friends: From (s) Joſephus, That Contention ſprang up ἐν οἰκίαις, in their very Houſes; and that the Idumæans ſlew πολλοὺς τῶν ζυγγλωῶν, many of their own Kindred; and from the Scripture, that the Jews perſecuted thoſe of their own Country, 1 Theſſ. 2. 14.

7*thly*, That upon occaſion of theſe Perſecutions, the love of many waxed cold, and many Jews revolted from the Chriſtian Faith: See the Preface to the Second Epiſtle to the Theſſalonians, Sect. 7. and on Chap. 2. ver. 3.

And, Laſtly, Of the care of God in preſerving his faithful Servants in this time of imminent Danger; (t) Euſebius informs us, ſaying, That before the War, all the Faithful of the Church of Jeruſalem, were admoniſhed, κατά τινα χρησμὸν τοῖς αὐτόθι δοκίμοις δι' ἀποκαλύψεως δοθέντα, μεθίστασθαι τῆς πόλεως, by an Oracle delivered by Revelation to men approved there, to depart from the City, and to get over Jordan, and go to Pella. And (u) Epiphanius declaring, That προεχρηματίσθησαν ὑπ' ἀγγέλου, they were forewarned by an Angel, to depart from the City, as being now ready to periſh. The occaſion of this departure was, ſaith Dr. Hammond, wonderful: For Ceſtius Gallus then beſieged the City; and if he would, ſaith (x) Joſephus, he might eaſily have taken it, and put an end to the War; but he without cauſe, raiſing the Siege, and going from it; πολλοὶ τῶν ἐπιφανῶν Ἰουδαίων ὥσπερ βαπτιζομένης νεὼς ἀπενήχοντο τῆς πόλεως, many eminent Jews fled from the City, as from a ſinking Ship; among whom doubtleſs, were thoſe Chriſtians, who remained, ſaith (y) Epiphanius, after the deſtruction of Jeruſalem.

Ver. 14. Καὶ κηρυχθήσεται τοῦτο τὸ εὐαγγέλιον f τῆς Βασιλείας ἐν ὅλῃ τῇ οἰκουμένῃ — καὶ τότε ἥξει
τὸ τέλος· And this Goſpel of the Kingdom ſhall be preached in the whole world,—and then ſhall the end come.] That it was thus before the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem, ſpread thro' the Roman Empire, ſtiled ἡ οἰκουμένη, the World; St. Paul informs us, ſaying of the Preachers of it, their Sound had gone forth into all the Earth, and their Words εἰς τὰ πέρατα τῆς οἰκουμένης, to the ends of the World, Rom. 10. 18. He alſo tells the Church of Rome, chap. 1. 8. that their Faith was ſpoken of throughout the World; and that of Coloſs, chap. 1. 6, 23. that the truth of the Goſpel was come, not to them only, but to all the World, and preached to every Creature. And (z) Clemens, Biſhop of Rome, his Contemporary ſaith, The Nations beyond the Ocean, τοῖς ὑπὲρ τὸν ὠκεανὸν ἔθνεσι, were governed by the Precepts of the Lord. Now this he only truly could foretel, who having all Power in Heaven and Earth, was able to effect it.

Ver. 15. Ὅταν οὖν ἴδητε βδέλυγμα τῆς ἐρημώ- g σεως· When then ye ſhall ſee the Abomination of Deſolation ſpoken of by the Prophet Daniel, ſtanding in the Holy Place; he that readeth, let him underſtand: That is, ſaith St. Luke, Chap. 21. 20. When ye ſee Jeruſalem compaſſed about with the Roman Armies, then know and underſtand, that her Deſolation draweth nigh.] This Army might be called an Abomination, as being ſo to the (*) Jews, by reaſon of the Images of Cæſar, and an Eagle in the Enſigns of it, The abomination of Deſolation, becauſe it was to lay the Country, City, and the Temple deſolate; and to ſtand in the Holy Place, as ſtanding within the Circuit of the Holy City Jeruſalem, as it is ſtiled Matth. 4. 5. 1 Maccab. 10. 31. and was eſteemed by the Jews. See Ainſw. in Numb. 5. 3. How exactly this Army fulfilled our Lord's Prediction, by encompaſſing this City, ſee Note on Luke 19. 43. Dan. 9. 27.

i Ver. 20. Προσεύχεσθε δὲ ἵνα μὴ γένηται ἡ φυγὴ ὑμῶν χειμῶνος μηδὲ σαββάτῳ· And pray that your Flight may not be in Winter, nor on the Sabbath-day.] Not in the Winter, the Ways being then ſcarce paſſable; not on the Sabbath-day, leſt you be expoſed to the indignation of the Jews for travelling on that Day, or hindred from doing it by your own Superſtition: For (b) Joſephus in his Life, informs us, their Laws would not ſuffer them either to Travel or to Fight on that Day; having ſent, ſaith he, armed Soldiers from Tarichee, I would not recall them, tho' I needed them much, becauſe they could not on the Sabbath ὅπλα λαβεῖν κωλυόντων ἡμᾶς τῶν νόμων, take up Arms, the Laws forbidding us. And (c) he informs us, that the Romans choſe that Day to fight againſt Jeruſalem, becauſe they found them more ſlow to fight upon that Day, διὰ τὴν θρησκείαν, becauſe of their Religion. The Nazarene Chriſtians alſo obſerved the Law; and moſt of thoſe who remained in Judæa till the time of Hadrian, as we learn from Sulpitius Severus, l. 2. §. 45. and Euſebius's Chronicon and Hiſt. Eccl. l. 4. c. 6. Chriſt therefore doth not by this Precept eſtabliſh the Jewiſh Sabbath, but ſpeaks this to prevent any Miſchiefs Believers might ſuffer from the Hatred of the Jews, or their own Superſtition.

k Ver. 21. There ſhall be then great Tribulation, οἵα οὐ γέγονεν ἀπ' ἀρχῆς κόσμου ἕως τοῦ νῦν οὐδ' οὐ μὴ γένηται, ſuch as never was from the beginning of the World, no, nor never ſhall be.] Theſe words ſeem to be a familiar Form of expreſſing a thing that is exceeding great, or perhaps the greateſt in its kind, rather than a Prediction that no future Calamity ſhould be like it. So Exod. 10. 14. Before them there were no ſuch Locuſts, neither after them ſhall there be ſuch. And, Joel 2. 2. A Day of Darkneſs and Gloomineſs, there hath not been ever the like, nor ſhall there be after it. Now (d) Joſephus ſpeaking of the ſame Deſtruction, ſaith, μηδὲ πόλιν ἄλλην τοιαῦτα πεπονθέναι, no other City ever ſuffered ſuch things, and again, τὰ γὰρ πάντων ἀπ' αἰῶνος ἀτυχήματα πρὸς τὰ Ἰουδαίων ἥττους μοι δοκεῖ κρίνειν, (e) all the Calamities which have ever hapned to any from the beginning ſeem not comparable to thoſe which befel the Jews.

Ver. 22. And if thoſe days had not been l
ſhortned, no Fleſh could be ſaved; but διὰ τοὺς ἐκλεκτούς, for the Elects ſake, thoſe days ſhall be ſhortned.] That by the Elect here, we are to underſtand not the Jews but the Chriſtians: See Note on Mark 13. 20. And ſo perillous were thoſe Times by reaſon of the Sicarii, and the Zealots, as well as of the Romans, and ſo hard was it with the Chriſtians flying to the Mountains, and being there without Houſe, and without Neceſſaries, that they could not have long ſubſiſted; and therefore God in his Providence ſhortned thoſe days by their mutual Slaughters, the burning their Granaries, and the Famine, and by enfeebling the Jews; ſo that Titus himſelf confeſſed, that (f) ὁ Θεὸς ἦν ὁ τούτων ἐξελὼν Ἰουδαίους βέλων, it was God who deprived the Jews of thoſe Fortreſſes.

Ver. 24. Falſe Chriſts, and falſe Prophets m ſhall ariſe, καὶ δώσουσι σημεῖα καὶ τέρατα, ὥστε πλανῆσαι εἰ δυνατὸν καὶ τοὺς ἐκλεκτούς, and ſhall ſhew Signs and Wonders, inſomuch that if it were poſſible, they ſhall deceive the very Elect.] That the falſe Chriſts, and Prophets, mentioned Note on v. 5. did great Wonders is certain, for the Scripture teſtifies of Simon M. that he bewitched the Samaritans ſo with his Sorceries, that they all gave heed to him, Acts 8. 9, 10. And Church-Hiſtory is very large in the accounts they give how he prevailed by them to be worſhipped in many places. And Doſitheus, ſaith (g) Origen, did τεραστιάζειν, do prodigious things. This is true alſo of the falſe Prophets mentioned by Joſephus, they being ſtill repreſented by him as μάγοι καὶ γόητες, Magicians and Sorcerers. See the Note on 2 Theſſ. 2. 9.

As for that Phraſe, they ſhall deceive, εἰ δυνατὸν, if it were poſſible, the very Elect, that it doth not argue the perſeverance of Believers to the end, and that it is impoſſible they ſhould fall away, will be apparent from theſe things;

1*ſt*, Becauſe Chriſt ſo ſolemnly exhorts them to uſe the greateſt Caution that they be not ſeduced by theſe Men, ſaying, v. 4, 5. Let no Man deceive you, for many ſhall come in my Name, ſaying, I am Chriſt, and ſhall deceive many, v. 11. And again, If they ſay here, and there is Chriſt, believe them not, v. 23. For many falſe Chriſts and falſe Prophets ſhall ariſe to deceive the Elect, look ye therefore to it, behold I have foretold you all things, Mark 13. 22, 23. Now is it ſuitable to the Wiſdom of our Lord to exhort Chriſtians to uſe ſo great Diligence and Caution, leſt they ſhould be deceived by theſe Men, and at the ſame time to aſſure them it was utterly impoſſible they ſhould be deceived? Moreover, I ask to whom doth he direct this Exhortation? To the Elect? Then muſt he do it to them who could not poſſibly be deceived, and ſo his Words muſt bear this uncouth Senſe, Be very careful, leſt ye be deceived by theſe men, for I aſſure you, it is abſolutely impoſſible they ſhould deceive you: Or was he thus concerned only for Reprobates? And why then did he from all Eternity decree, that they ſhould finally miſcarry, and never ſhould have Grace effectual, or ſufficient to preſerve them from thoſe Deceits?

2*dly*, In the ſame Chapter our Lord exhorts them to ſee to it, to watch and pray, leſt that day of Affliction, that hour of Temptation coming ſuddenly ſhould find them ſleeping, and leſt their Hearts ſhould be overcharged with Surfeiting and Drunkenneſs, and that day ſhould come upon them unawares; to watch and pray, that they may be accounted worthy to eſcape all theſe things, and ſtand before the Son of Man, Mark 13. 33, 35, 36. Luke 21. 34, 36. Now are theſe Suppoſitions which can agree to Men who cannot poſſibly be found ſleeping in this ſpiritual Senſe, on whom the day of Chriſt cannot come thus unprepared, who never can be unworthy to ſtand before the Son of Man? Can there be any need of ſuch vehement Exhortations to conſtant Prayer and Vigilance, Heed and Circumſpection to prevent what could not poſſibly befal them? Or was our Saviour thus concerned only to exhort them who he well knew could never poſſibly avoid theſe things?

3*dly*, Chriſt here declares that by reaſon of the extreme Affliction of thoſe Times, many ſhould be offended, i. e. ſhould fall off from the Faith; ſee Note on Matth. 18. 6. And adds, that becauſe Iniquity ſhall abound, the Love of many ſhall wax cold, but he that endures to the end ſhall be ſaved, ver. 12, 13. where that Chriſt ſpeaks not of an hypocritical, outward Profeſſion of Affection to him, may be gathered from his ſtiling of it, not Pretence, but Love; his Suppoſition that it was fervent Love, for what was never hot, cannot wax cold; yea ſuch Love, in which had they endured, they would have certainly been ſaved; and yet he doth not only intimate that ſome would not continue in this Love to the end, but plainly doth foretel that it in many would wax cold. To anſwer therefore directly to the Argument urged from this Text; I ſay,

1*ſt*, That the Phraſe εἰ δυνατὸν, if it be poſſible, or if it may be, doth not denote an abſolute Impoſſibility, but only a great Difficulty in the Performance of an Act poſſible. So Acts 20. 16. Paul haſtned εἰ δυνατὸν αὐτῷ, if it were poſſible for him to be at Jeruſalem before Pentecoſt, and yet ſure he made not all this haſte to do what was impoſſible. The Apoſtle commands, εἰ δυνατὸν, if it be poſſible, as much as in you lieth, have peace with all men, Rom. 12. 18. and yet doth not exhort us to uſe our utmoſt Endeavours to do what was impoſſible; εἰ δυνατὸν, if it be poſſible, let this Cup paſs from me, ſaith Chriſt, Matth. 26. 39. and yet he adds, all things are poſſible to thee, O Father, Mark 14. 35, 36. and hence the Phraſe is changed by St. Luke into εἰ βέλει, if thou wilt. Now that the deceiving of Chriſtians in thoſe times of miraculous Endowments was very difficult, is evident from that Speech of Galen concerning a thing hardly feaſible, Θᾶττον τις τὸν ἀπὸ Χρίστου μεταδιδάξειε, ſooner may a Chriſtian be turn'd from Chriſt.

2*dly*, This Phraſe imports not what the event would be upon the Elect, but the vehemence of the Endeavours of Seducers, that they would do the utmoſt they could poſſible to ſhock the Chriſtian, and ſeduce him from his ſtedfaſtneſs, as is evident from the words of St. Mark, Chap. 13. 22. They will ſhew Signs and Wonders, πρὸς τὸ ἀποπλανᾶν εἰ δυνατὸν, to deceive, if they are able, the Elect: Now to ſay, ſuch a one will do you miſchief if he can, or if he be able, is ſurely no Security that he can do you none. And,

3*dly*, Should this Phraſe reſpect the event, it may do it not abſolutely, but only with relation to the Means here mentioned, i. e. they ſhall ſhew great Signs and Wonders, which ſhall prevail to ſeduce Jews, Heathens, and Samaritans, and even Chriſtians, were it poſſible for Impoſtors by lying Signs and Wonders to deceive them who are inveſted with the Power of working true, and greater Signs and Wonders by the Aſſiſtance of the Holy Ghoſt, and will attend to the things wrought among them, or by them.

Ver. 26. If then they ſhall ſay to you, ἰδοὺ ἐν τῇ ἐρήμῳ ἐστὶ, μὴ ἐξέλθητε, behold he is in the Wilderneſs, Go not forth.] Here Chriſt points to the very place, where thoſe falſe Prophets ſhould appear, or whither they ſhould lead their Followers. Accordingly Joſephus ſaith, many Impoſtors and Magicians perſuaded the People, εἰς τὴν ἔρημον ἕπεσθαι, to follow them into the Deſert, where they promiſed to ſhew them manifeſt Signs and Wonders done by God. Antiq. l. 20. c. 6. p. 695. De Bello Jud. l. 2. c. 23. p. 796. G.

Ver. 27, 28. Ὥσπερ γὰρ ἡ ἀστραπὴ, &c. For as the Lightning goeth from the Eaſt to the Weſt, ſo ſhall the coming of the Son of Man be:] i. e. You will then need none to inſtruct you, where Chriſt is, or to ſay to you he is here, or there; for by the Roman Army which ſhall paſs through the Territories of the Jews like Lightning, his coming, to take Vengeance on that Nation, ſhall be manifeſt; and

p Ver. 29. Εὐθέως, Immediately after the Tribulation of thoſe days, ὁ ἥλιος σκοτισθήσεται, καὶ ἡ σελήνη οὐ δώσει τὸ φέγγος αὐτῆς, the Sun ſhall be darkned, and the Moon ſhall not give her Light, &c.] It being here foretold that this ſhould happen immediately after the waſting of the Jews by Veſpaſian's Army flying quickly through Galilee, Idumea, and Judæa; this cannot be taken literally, becauſe no ſuch thing then hapned either to the Sun, Moon, or Stars. It muſt be therefore a metaphorical Expreſſion to ſignifie, as it doth frequently in the Old Teſtament, and other Writers, an utter Deſolation, and terrible Deſtruction brought upon a Nation, and upon her Capital Cities, compared to the Sun, and Moon. For in this Language the Prophet Iſaiah ſpeaks of the Deſtruction of Babylon, ſaying, Chap. 13. 9. The Day of the Lord cometh, cruel both with Wrath and fierce Anger, to lay the Land deſolate, and he ſhall deſtroy the Sinners thereof out of it: For the Stars of Heaven, and the Conſtellations thereof ſhall not give their Light, the Sun ſhall be darkned in his going forth, and the Moon ſhall not cauſe her Light to ſhine. The Indignation of God againſt the Idumeans is repreſented in like dreadful words, Iſa. 34. 3, 4. So is the Deſtruction of Senacherib and his People, Iſa. 51. 6. So is the Deſtruction of Egypt, Ezek. 32. 7. And in theſe words this very Deſtruction is foretold by Joel, The Sun and the Moon ſhall be darkned, and the Stars ſhall not yield their Light. Joel. 3. 15. 2. 31. This therefore, ſaith (h) Maimonides, is a proverbial Expreſſion, importing the Deſtruction, and utter Ruin of a Nation. (i) Artemidorus alſo ſaith, that the Sun darkned or turned into Blood, and the Stars falling, or diſappearing, import the Deſtruction of many People. And in this Senſe it is almoſt incredible which Joſephus ſaith, viz. that eleven hundred thouſand periſhed in that Siege. De Bello Jud. l. 7. c. 45. p. 968. D.

Another Expoſition of theſe words is this, That then there ſhall be a Deſtruction of their Eccleſiaſtical and Civil State, and of the Rulers of them both; according to thoſe words of (k) Maimonides: This Metaphor imports, that men who for their State and Dignity might be compared to the Sun, Moon, and Stars, ſhall ſuddenly fall down as a Leaf from the Vine, and from the Fig-tree. And this hapned a conſiderable time before the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem, when the Thieves and Zealots, ſaith (l) Joſephus, kept all the Nobles, and τὰς κατ' χώραν φρουρὰς ἐσχηκότας, Rulers of the Country in cloſe cuſtody; (m) when the Zealots ſlew and conſumed τὸ γενναῖον the Nobility, and made it their buſineſs τὸ μηδένα τῶν δυνατῶν καταλιπεῖν, to leave none of the Men of Power alive, and when twelve thouſand of the Nobility periſhed after this manner, (n) when the High-Prieſts, and among them Ananus, were deſtroyed by the Idumeans, which Joſephus reckons (o) as ἀρχὴ τῆς ἁλώσεως, the beginning of their Captivity, (p) when they aboliſhed the Families of the High-Prieſt by Succeſſion, καὶ καθίσαντες ἀσήμους καὶ ἀγνῶτας, and placed in their room Men ignoble, and unknown, who neither belonged to the Prieſthood, nor knew what the Office of High-Prieſt meant. That this was to happen before the great and terrible day of the Lord, or at that time, we learn from the Prophet Joel, ſaying, that then Sun the ſhall be darkned, &c. this therefore cannot be referred to any time after the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem.

q Ver. 30. Καὶ τότε φανήσεται τὸ σημεῖον τοῦ υἱοῦ τοῦ ἀνθρώπου ἐν τῷ οὐρανῷ· And then ſhall appear the Sign of the Son of Man in Heaven, and they ſhall ſee the Son of Man coming in the Clouds with Power and Glory.] Some think that the Sign of the Son of Man in Heaven, and in the Clouds, muſt note ſome viſible Sign of his Appearance in the Heavens; and they refer this to the fearful Sights, the Sword and Comet hanging over Jeruſalem; and the Armies and Chariots ſeen in the Clouds; but theſe things hapned according to (q) Joſephus, πρὸ τῆς ἀποστάσεως, καὶ τοῦ πρὸς τὸν πόλεμον κινήματος, before their Revolt from the Romans, and the beginning of the War, and therefore cannot be the thing intended here. Our Saviour's coming here ſeems therefore to import his coming by the Roman Army to beſiege, and to deſtroy Jeruſalem, and the unbelieving Jews; for ſo Chriſt ſeemeth plainly to interpret this coming of the Son of Man, ver. 37. the coming of the Son of Man ſhall be as the Lightning ſhining from the Eaſt to the Weſt, ὅπου γάρ, for whereſoever the Jews are, thither ſhall the Roman Army be gathered; his coming therefore muſt be with the Roman Army. And this Interpretation will not ſeem ſtrange if we conſider, (1.) That God's coming to deſtroy, or execute his Vengeance on a wicked Generation, is repreſented as his coming in the Clouds of Heaven. So 2 Sam. 22. 8. The Earth trembled, and the Foundations of Heaven ſhook becauſe he was wroth; and v. 10. he bowed the Heavens, and came down, and thick Darkneſs, or a dark Cloud was under his Feet; Pſal. 97. 23. Clouds and Darkneſs are round about him, a Fire goes before him, and devours his Adverſaries round about: And, Nahum. 1. 4, 5. The Lord hath his way in the Whirlwind, and the Storm, and the Clouds are the Duſt under his Feet. Baſhan languiſheth, and Carmel and the Flower of Lebanon languiſheth; the Mountains quake, and the Hills melt, and the Earth is burnt at his Preſence, yea the World, and all that dwell therein. And this great day of the Lord is thus deſcribed by Joel, Chap. 2. as a Day of Darkneſs and Gloomineſs, of Clouds and thick Darkneſs,— a great People and a ſtrong, i. e. the Chaldeans, coming againſt Jeruſalem to deſtroy the City and the Temple, and after them the Romans to do the ſame thing. And of this Deſtruction by the Chaldeans, the Author of the Lamentations ſaith, Chap. 1. 13. He ſent a Fire into my Bones מִמָּרוֹם from on High, from Heaven, ſaith the Targum. And St. John ſpeaking of things that were to be done ἐν τάχει, quickly, v. 1. and of καιρὸς ἐγγὺς, a time that was near, v. 3. which is the Expreſſion uſed of this Deſtruction, v. 7. ſaith in theſe very words, Behold he cometh with Clouds, and every Eye ſhall ſee him, and they who have pierced him, and then ſhall the Tribes of that Land mourn; which words ſeem plainly to relate to this very time, and might be a Viſion ſeen by John before the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem, tho' the following Propheſies were imparted to him afterwards.

r Ver. 31. Καὶ (τότε Mark 13. 27.) ἀποστελεῖ τοὺς ἀγγέλους αὐτοῦ μετὰ σάλπιγγος φωνῆς μεγάλης· And (then) will he ſend forth his Angels with the Trumpet of a great Sound, or Voice, and they ſhall gather his Elect from the four Winds, from one end of the Heaven to the other.] Here the τότε then, in St. Mark ſo plainly ſhews that this relates to the ſame time mentioned in the foregoing Verſe, that no Explication of theſe words, referring them to a long time after the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem, ought to be admitted as the true Senſe of them. Dr. Lightfoot gives the ſenſe of theſe words thus; When Jeruſalem ſhall be reduced to Aſhes, and that wicked Nation cut off, then ſhall the Son of Man ſend his Miniſters (Chriſtians) of ſeveral Nations from the four Corners of the Heaven; ſo that God ſhall not want a Church, altho' that antient Nation be rejected, and caſt off, the Churches of the Gentiles ſucceeding to her. To ſtrengthen this Interpretation let it be conſidered,

1*ſt*, That God's Prophets, Meſſengers, and Miniſters both in the Old and the New Teſtament, are ſtiled οἱ ἄγγελοι αὐτοῦ, his Angels. So 2 Chron. 36. 15. God ſent his Prophets, but v. 16. they mocked τοῖς ἀγγέλοις αὐτοῦ, his Meſſengers. So Haggai is ἄγγελος Κυρίου, the Meſſenger of the Lord, Chap. 1. 13. So is the Prieſt, Mal. 2. 7. the Baptiſt, Mal. 3. 1. Matth. 11. 10. Mark 1. 2. Luke 7. 27.

2*dly*, That their Preaching is repreſented as a Voice, yea as the Voice of a Trumpet. As in theſe words, lift up thy Voice like a Trumpet, Iſa. 58. 1. See Jer. 6. 17. Ezek. 33. 3, 4, 5, 6. And the Preaching of the Apoſtles, is φωνὴ, a Voice going through the Earth, Rom. 10. 18.

3*dly*, That the calling, and coming in of the Gentiles at the caſting off the Jews is repreſented as their coming in from the four Winds, or the four Corners of the Earth. Many ſhall come from the Eaſt and from the Weſt, Matth. 8. 11. But the Children of the Kingdom ſhall be caſt out into utter Darkneſs, v. 12. You ſhall be caſt out, and they ſhall come from the Eaſt, and from the Weſt, from the North and the South, and ſhall ſit down in my Kingdom, Luke 13. 28, 29. And,

4*thly*, That the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem, and the unbelieving Jews in this extraordinary manner was ſo exact a Completion of our Lord's Prediction, ſo great a Demonſtration of his Indignation againſt Unbelievers, of his Protection of his faithful Servants, and ſuch a Juſtification of this Prophet againſt their Accuſations, and ſuch an Evidence of their Sin who crucified, and rejected him, that it might well prepare the Gentiles more freely to embrace the Chriſtian Faith.

Ver. 34. Verily I ſay to you, ὅ μὴ παρέλθῃ ἡ γενεὰ αὕτη ἕως ἂν πάντα ταῦτα γένηται· This Generation ſhall not paſs away till all theſe things be fulfilled.] Theſe words ἡ γενεὰ αὕτη, this Age, or Generation ſhall not paſs away, afford a full Demonſtration that all which Chriſt had mentioned hitherto, was to be accompliſhed, not at the time of the Converſion of the Jews, or at the final day of Judgment, but in that very Age, or whilſt ſome of that Generation of Men lived; for ἡ γενεὰ αὕτη, this Generation, never bears any other Senſe in the New Teſtament, than the Men of this Age. So Matth. 11. 16. To whom ſhall I liken γενεὰν ταύτην, the Men of this Age, Chap. 12. 42. The Queen of the South ſhall riſe up in Judgment μετὰ γενεᾶς ταύτης, with the Men of this Age, and v. 45. ſo ſhall it be τῇ γενεᾷ ταύτῃ τῇ πονηρᾷ, with the wicked of this Age. Matth. 23. 36. All theſe things ſhall come ἐπὶ τὴν γενεὰν ταύτην, upon the Men of this Age. Mark 8. 12. τί ἡ γενεὰ αὕτη; Why do the Men of this Age ſeek a Sign? no Sign ſhall be given τῇ γενεᾷ ταύτῃ, to the Men of this Age. Luke 7. 31. To whom ſhall I liken the Men τῆς γενεᾶς ταύτης, of this Age. Luke 11. 29. The Son of Man

Man shall be a Sign τῇ γενεᾷ ταύτῃ, to the Men of this Age. So again, v. 30, 31, 32, 50, 51. and Chap. 16. 8. And Acts 2. 40. Save your selves ἀπὸ τῆς γενεᾶς τῆς σκολιᾶς ταύτης, from this froward Generation. (2.) This is farther evident, because the Kingdom of God was then, instant, and at the Door, Luke 21. 29, 31. And having shewed, from Josephus, how punctually these Predictions were fulfilled, I may conclude with (r) Eusebius, Συγκρίνας ὅ τις τὰς τοῦ σωτῆρος ἡμῶν λέξεις τοῖς παρὰ τοῦ συγγραφέως ἱστορίαις, θαυμάσει τὸν σοφὸν τοῦ θεοῦ λόγον. He that shall compare the words of our Saviour with those of Josephus concerning the War of the Jews, cannot but admire the Wisdom of Christ, and own his Predictions to have been Divine.

t Ver. 36. But of that day and hour knoweth no Man, &c.] See the Note on Mark 13. 22.

u Ver. 40. Τότε δύο ἔσονται ἐν τῷ ἀγρῷ· Then two shall be in the Field, the one shall be taken and the other left, &c.] This, by Dr Hammond, seems to be well referred to the especial Providence of God discernable in those times, in rescuing some, who seemed equally exposed to Danger, from the Destruction which shall fall on others; for that it relates not to the final Judgment, but to the time of the Destruction of the Jews by the Roman Army, is evident from the same words recorded by St. Luke, Chap. 17. 35, 36. For there the Disciples ask their Lord, where this shall be, and Christ answers, v. 37. that where the Carcass, (i. e. the Jews) are, there will the Eagles, (i. e. the Roman Army, whose Ensign was the Eagle,) be gathered together. And hence 'tis also evident, that the following words being connected to these by the Copulative οὖν thus, watch therefore, must refer to the same Subject.

x Ver. 42, 44. Διὰ τοῦτο καὶ ὑμεῖς γίνεσθε ἕτοιμοι, Watch therefore, v. 42. Therefore be ye also ready.] It is probably conjectured by Dr. Lightfoot, that the Discourse of Christ upon this Subject, ended at v. 42, or 43, as in St. Mark and St. Luke it seems to do; and that the words following, were, as St. Luke places them, Chap. 12. 39. spoken at another time, and upon another occasion; but, because they well accord also with this place, and this occasion, and do there, as well as here, follow the Exhortation given, ver. 43. St. Matthew hath added them to this Chapter. Note,

2*dly*, That the Metaphor of Christ's coming as a Thief, i. e. unexpectedly, doth not prove, that these words must respect Christ's coming to the final Judgment only, they being used touching his coming unexpectedly, to execute any Judgment on a Church or Nation; as when Christ saith to the Church of Sardis, Rev. 3. 3. Watch, or I will come to thee as a Thief, and thou shalt not know the Hour when I will come upon thee; and some probably conjecture, they are used by St. Paul, 1 Thess. 5. 2. with a particular Relation to this Judgment inflicted on the Jews, which being the most signal preludium to, and proof of that final Judgment which shall be exercised on all the Enemies of Christ's Kingdom, may well be represented in a Similitude used by St. Peter, 2 Pet. 3. 10. and by our Lord, Luke 12. 39, 40. with relation to it.

y Ver. 45. Τίς ἄρα ἐστὶν ὁ πιστὸς δοῦλος καὶ φρόνιμος· Who therefore is that faithful and wise Servant, &c.] i. e. the Servant who continues constant in the Service of his Lord, under all the Persecutions, and abounding Iniquities of those times, he shall make him Ruler over all his Goods, i. e. shall greatly reward his Faithfulness, as this Phrase signifies, Chap. 25. 21, 23. for that this Phrase cannot import his Advancement to the highest Dignities in the Church, is evident from this, That then all that continued faithful to Christ in those times of Trial, must have been made Bishops. The evil Servant here mentioned, seems to be the Apostatizing Jew, who having deserted the Faith himself, was instrumental to smite his Fellow-servants, and to betray them to the Enemies of Christianity, as our Lord foretold it would be, Matth. 10. 21. — 24. 10. And that which induced them thus to Apostatize, was this very Imagination, That our Lord delayed his coming to deliver them, and execute the Judgments here foretold, 2 Pet. 3. 4. whence the Apostles encourage them to Perseverance, by saying, 'Tis but yet a little while, and he that cometh will come, and will not tarry, Heb. 10. 37. and that the Judge stands at the Door, Jam. 5. 9. and the coming of the Lord draweth nigh, ver. 8.

z Ver. 51. Καὶ διχοτομήσει· And shall cut him asunder.] This was the Punishment inflicted by Samuel on Agag, the Enemy of God's People, 1 Sam. 15. 33. and by David on the Ammonites, 2 Sam. 12. 31. and by (s) Trajan the Roman Emperour, on the rebellious Jews; it was by Nebuchadonosor threatned to the Blasphemers of the true God, Dan. 3. 29. and by young Daniel, to the false Accusers of Susanna, ver. 55, 59. It was used of old, to those who were false to their Creditors, saith (t) Tertullian, to Rebels, and Betrayers of their Country, and that not only in the East, but among the Romans, as we learn from (u) Suetonius in the a 1. THen ſhall the (Perſons admitted into the) Kingdom of Heaven be likened to ten Virgins, which took their Lamps, and went forth to meet the Bridegroom.

2. And five of them were wiſe, and five were fooliſh.

3. They that were fooliſh took their Lamps, and (but) took no Oil with them, (to repleniſh them, when the Oil in them was ſpent.)

4. But the wiſe took Oil in their Veſſels with their Lamps.

5. (And) While the Bridegroom tarried, they all ſlumbred and ſlept.

6. And at Midnight, there was a Cry (or Proclamation) made, Behold, the Bridegroom cometh, go ye out to meet him.

7. Then all thoſe Virgins aroſe, and trimmed (or to trim) their Lamps.

8. And the fooliſh ſaid to the wiſe, Give us of your Oil, for our Lamps are gone out.

9. But the wiſe anſwered, ſaying, Not ſo, b [b] leſt there be not enough for us and you, but go ye rather to them that ſell, and buy for your ſelves.

10. And whilſt they went to buy, the Bridegroom came, and they that were ready, went in with him to the Marriage (Feaſt,) and the Door was ſhut.

11. Afterwards came alſo the other Virgins, ſaying, Lord, Lord, open to us (alſo.)

12. But he anſwered and ſaid, Verily I ſay to you, I know you not; (i. e. I own not ſuch ſlothful and improvident Perſons as fit to be received to my Feaſt.)

13. Watch therefore, for ye know neither the Day, nor the Hour, wherein the Son of Man cometh.

14. For the Kingdom of Heaven (or the coming of the Son of Man) is as a Man travelling into a far Country, (as Chriſt might be ſaid to do, going to Heaven to receive a Kingdom, Luke 19. 12. and to return at the time of the reſtitution of all things, Acts 3. 21.) who (at his departure) called his own Servants, and delivered to them his Goods.

bb 15. [bb] And to one he gave five Talents, to another two, and to another one, to every Man according to his ſeveral Ability, and ſtraightway took his Journey.

16. Then he that had received the five Talents, went and traded with the ſame, and made (the increaſe of them) other five Talents.

17. And likewiſe, he that had received two, he alſo gained other two.

18. But he that had received one (only,) went and digged in the Earth, and hid his Lord's Money.

19. After a long time the Lord of thoſe Servants cometh, and reckoneth with them; (i. e. Chriſt comes from Heaven to take an account of Mens Actions.)

20. And ſo he that had received five Talents, came, and brought other five Talents, ſaying (to his Lord,) Lord, thou deliveredſt to me five Talents, behold, I have gained beſides them, five Talents more.

21. His Lord ſaid to him, Well done thou good and faithful Servant, thou haſt been faithful over (in) a few things, I will (therefore) make thee Ruler over many things; (i. e. will greatly reward and dignifie thee,) enter thou into the Joy of thy Lord; (i. e. thou ſhalt rejoice with me in Heaven.)

22. He alſo that had received two Talents, came, and ſaid, Lord, thou deliveredſt to me two Talents, behold I have gained two other Talents beſides them.

23. His Lord ſaid to him (alſo,) Well done (thou) good and faithful Servant, thou haſt been faithful over a few things, I will make thee Ruler over many things, enter thou (alſo) into the Joy of thy Lord.

24. Then he who had received the one Talent, came, and ſaid, Lord, I knew that thou art an hard Man, reaping where thou haſt not ſown, and gathering where thou haſt not ſtrewed; (i. e. requiring an encreaſe far exceeding what thou gaveſt.)

25. And I was afraid (that I ſhould not be able to improve thy Talent to ſuch advantage as thou mighteſt expect,) and (therefore) I went and hid thy Talent in the Earth; (whence now I bring it to thee,) lo there thou haſt what is thine.

26. His

(x) Serm. 1. Sat. 1. (y) Odyſſ. 5. v. 338.

26. His Lord answered and said to him, Thou wicked and slothful Servant, (thou professest, that) thou knewest that I reap where I sowed not, and gather where I have not strewed; (i. e. that I expected some Profit from the Talent I committed to thee.)

27. Thou oughtest therefore, (that thou mightest not be condemned by thine own Mouth,) to have put my Money to the Exchangers, and then at my coming, I should have received my own with Usury, (or Improvement: Then saith he to his other Servants,)

28. Take therefore the Talent from him, and give it to him that hath ten Talents; (they say to him, Lord, he hath ten Pounds already, Luke 19. 25. the Lord answers, Therefore I give him more.)

29. For to every one that hath (so as to improve it,) shall be given (more,) and he shall have abundance; but from him that hath not, (so as to improve it,) shall be taken away, even that which he hath.

30. And cast ye the unprofitable Servant into outer Darkness, (where) there shall be weeping and gnashing of Teeth.

31. (So likewise will it be at my coming;
c for) [c] When the Son of Man shall come in his Glory, and all the holy Angels with him, then shall he sit upon the Throne of his Glory (as a righteous Judge.)

32. And before him shall be gathered all Nations, and he shall separate them, one from another, as a Shepherd divideth his Sheep from the Goats.

d 33. [d] And he shall set the Sheep, (who are to receive the Sentence of Absolution) on his right Hand, but the Goats (who are to receive the Sentence of Condemnation,) on the left (Hand.)

34. Then shall the King say to them on his right Hand, Come, ye Blessed of my Father, e [e] inherit the Kingdom prepared for you from the Foundation of the World, (or from the Creation of Man.)

35. For I was an hungred, and ye gave me Meat; I was thirsty, and ye gave me Drink; I was a stranger, and ye took me in;

36. (I was) Naked, and ye clothed me; I was sick, and ye visited me; I was in prison, and ye came to me; (ye exercised all Offices of Charity towards my Members.)

37. Then shall the Righteous answer him, saying, Lord, when saw we thee an hungred, and fed thee? or thirsty, and gave thee Drink?

38. When saw we thee a stranger, and took thee in? or naked, and clothed thee?

39. Or when saw we thee sick, or in prison, and came unto thee?

40. And the King shall answer, and say to them, Verily I say to you, inasmuch as ye have done it (or this) to one of the least of these (whose Faith in me has rendred them as dear as, Matth. 12. 50. and whom by taking their Nature upon me, and dying in it to purge them from their Sins, I have made and treated as, Heb. 2. 11.) my Brethren, ye have done it to me; (these Members of my Body being one with their Head.)

41. Then shall he say also to them on the left Hand, [f] Depart from me ye cursed, into f everlasting Fire, prepared (not originally for you, but) for the Devil and his Angels.

42. (This being the just Reward of your Impiety, and Unmercifulness, which hath made you like to them:) For I was an hungred, and ye gave me no Meat; I was thirsty, and ye gave me no Drink;

43. I was a stranger, and ye took me not in; naked, and ye cloathed me not; sick, and in prison, and ye visited me not.

44. Then shall they (also) answer him, saying, Lord, when saw we thee an hungred, or thirsty, or a stranger, or naked, or sick, or in prison, and did not minister to thee?

45. Then shall he answer them, saying, Verily I say to you, [g] inasmuch as you did it not g to one of the least of these (my Members,) ye did it not to me; (for had you born a kind Affection to me, you would have thus ministred to my Members for my sake.)

46. And these shall go away into everlasting Punishment; but the Righteous (shall go) into Life eternal.

Annotations on Chap. XXV.

a Ver. 1. Τότε ὁμοιωθήσε) ἡ βασιλεία τ̃ ὐρανῶν δέκα παρθένοις, Then shall the Kingdom of Heaven be likened to ten Virgins.] Here note,

1*st*, That the Kingdom of Heaven sometimes signifies the Kingdom of the Messiah, or the Gospel Dispensation; as when this Kingdom is said to be come to the Jews, or they are bid to pray, that it may come; and when it is said to be at hand, and they are advised to enter into it, and pronounced fit, or unfit to do so. Sometimes it signifies the Doctrine, or the Preaching of the Doctrine of that Kingdom, or as it is, Matth. 13. 19. ὁ λόγ̃ τ̃ βασιλείας, the word of the Kingdom; Matth. 24. 14. τὸ ἐυαγγέλιον τ̃ βασιλείας, the Gospel of the Kingdom; as when Christ or his Apostles are said to speak, τὰ περὶ τ̃ βασιλείας τ̃ Θε̃, the things which concerned the Kingdom of God, Acts 1. 3. — 8. 12. — 19. 8. to preach and testifie the Kingdom of God, Acts 20. 25. — 28. 23, 31. Rom.

Rom. 14. 17. 1 Cor. 4. 20. εὐαγγελίζεσθαι, to Evangelize the Kingdom of God, Luke 4. 43. And when Chriſt threatneth to the Jews, that the Kingdom of God ſhould be taken from them, Matth. 21. 43. But when it is ſaid, the Kingdom of Heaven is like, or may be likened to this, or that, the meaning ſeems to be chiefly, So will it be in reference to the Preaching, the Propagation, or Reception of the Goſpel, or Doctrine of the Kingdom; as in the Parable, or the Similitude and Reſemblance of the good Seed propounded; v. g. when this good Seed is ſown, it will by ſome be trod under feet, in others choaked with worldly Cares, in others withered by the cold Blaſts of Perſecution; but in ſome it will bring forth Fruit to Perfection; when it is ſown, the Enemy will come, and ſow Tares among it; when Men are invited to it, ſome will make Excuſes, why they do not accept the Invitation; ſome will perſecute the Meſſengers of it; ſome will come to it without a Wedding Garment, ſome without Oil in their Lamps; ſome improving the Talents, given, and ſome hiding them in a Napkin, and the like. Note,

2*dly*, That this Parable, or ſomething very like it, is to be found in the Jewiſh Records; ſo in Reſchith Cochma, we read thus, Our Wiſe Men of Bleſſed Memory ſay, Repent whilſt thou haſt Strength to do it, whilſt thy Lamp burns, and the Oil is not extinguiſhed; for, if thy Lamp be gone out, thy Oil will profit thee nothing: Our Doctors add in (*) Midraſh, That the Holy Bleſſed God ſaid to Iſrael, My Sons, repent, whilſt שערי תשובה, the Gates of Repentance ſtand open; for I receive a Gift at preſent, but when I ſhall ſit in Judgment in the Age to come, I receive none. Another Parable of theirs runs thus, (†) This thing is like to a King, who invited his Servants, but appointed no ſet time; thoſe that were wiſe, adorned themſelves, and ſat in the Porch of the Palace; thoſe that were fooliſh, went about their own Buſineſs: (‖) The King on a ſudden called for his Servants; the firſt went in adorned, the ſecond undreſs'd; the King was pleaſed with the Wiſe, and angry with the Fooliſh, and ſaid, They who are prepared, ſhall eat of my Banquet; they that are unprepared, ſhall not eat of it. Note,

3*dly*, That (a) Origen, (b) St. Chryſoſtom, and St. Jerom, and others of the Ancients, ſay, That this Parable is deſigned againſt late Repentance, and declares, it will be invalid to them, who live under the Goſpel; as will be evident, if we conſider, that from this Parable, our Lord concludes for the neceſſity of conſtant Vigilance, ver. 13. and for the neceſſity of aſſiduous Prayer and Vigilance againſt all the Cares of this Life, Luke 21. 34, 36. and of Fidelity in doing the Work of the Lord, Matth. 24. 45, 46. For what neceſſity can there be, of ſo great Vigilance, ſuch aſſiduous Prayer, ſuch Fidelity in doing the Lord's Work, if the neglect of all theſe Duties, till God call us hence, will not prejudice our eternal Intereſts? This alſo is evident from the deſign of the like Jewiſh Parables; and note, that the Door was ſhut, ver. 10. ſeems to be an Alluſion to the Jewiſh Phraſe of ſhutting the Gates of Repentance; as when the Prieſts offered their Oblations, and they found no acceptance, becauſe the Governour of the World had ſhut the Gate of Repentance; and the ſame we learn alſo from the Parable of the Talents. Good therefore is the Advice of the Son of Syrach, Humble thy ſelf before thou beeſt ſick, and in the time of Sins ſhew Repentance, and defer not till Death to be juſtified, Ecclus. 18. 21, 22.

Ver. 9. Μήποτε ὐκ ἀρκέσῃ, Perhaps it will not ſuffice for us and you.] Here μήποτε is uſed for fortaſſe, perhaps, as I have ſhewed, Note on 2 Tim 2. 26. b

Ver. 15. Καὶ ᾧ μὲν ἔδωκε πέντε τάλαντα, ᾧ δὲ δύο, ᾧ δὲ ἕν, And to one he gave ten Talents, to another two, and to another one.] Of this Parable, as it reſpects the Maſter travelling into a far Country, and the Servants to whom the Talents were delivered; ſee Note on Luke 19. 12. where it is alſo proved, that it relates to the Jewiſh Nation, and therefore is here mentioned after Chriſt's Prediction of the dreadful Judgments which ſhould befal that Nation, for murthering their Meſſiah, and not improving the Day of their Viſitation. Here therefore I ſhall only add theſe few ſhort Notes: bb

1*ſt*, That the Maſter here diſtributes his Talents, κατ' ἰδίαν δύναμιν, according to the ſeveral Abilities of his Servants, which in ſome were greater, and ſo they were fitted to manage a greater Sum; in ſome leſs, and ſo they were intruſted with a leſſer, and accordingly he is ſatisfied with a leſs increaſe in them: So v. g. Chriſt gave to his Diſciples a clearer and a fuller Knowledge of the Myſteries of the Goſpel, Mark 4. 11. but ſpake to other Jews in Parables, καθὼς ἠδύναντο ἀκούειν, as they were able to hear, v. 33.

2*dly*, That theſe Talents were ſpiritual, and given for a ſpiritual End; that they who uſed them well, might have more, and might enter

(b) Πᾶ νῦν εἰσιν οἱ διὰ παντὸς μὲ τῆ βιῶ ῥάθυμοι, Chryſoſ. in v. 10. μωραὶ καθὸ τότε ἐζήτων τὸ ἔλαιον ὅτι ὐκ ἔτι καιρὸς προσμαθείας. Theoph.

enter into the Joy of their Lord, or rejoice with him at his Banquet, or the Marriage-Feaſt prepared for them; and that they who did not improve them, might have their Talents taken from them, and they be caſt into utter Darkneſs. And, becauſe Banqueting and Nuptial Feaſts were ſtill attended with great Joy, (inſomuch that the Hebrew word משתה, which ſignifies a Banquet, and a Nuptial-Feaſt, is by the Seventy rendred ſometimes δοχὴ, a Banquet, Gen. 26. 30. Eſth. 1. 3. — 5. 4, 8, 12, 14. ſometimes γάμος, a Marriage-Feaſt, Gen. 29. 22. Eſth. 2. 18. — 9. 22. and once χαρὰ, Joy, Eſth. 9. 17.) Therefore, the entring into this Marriage-Feaſt, or Supper, prepared for this Lord, is here ſtiled, entring into the Joy of his Lord. Note, 3*dly*, That none to whom theſe Talents were imparted, wanted Power to improve them for the advantage of their Maſter, and ſo to receive the reward of their Induſtry; for Chriſt ſaith to them all, Negotiate till I come, Luke 19. 13. All therefore could have done ſo.

Hence, he who did not improve his Talent, is ſtiled not only a ſlothful, but a wicked Servant, and is accordingly puniſhed: Now there can be no Iniquity in not doing what he could not do, nor any Puniſhment due upon that account; this being to puniſh becauſe he did not an Impoſſibility.

4*thly*, That ἔχειν, to have, here is εὖ ἔχειν, to improve; and not to have, not to improve. See Note on Matth. 13. 12.

5*thly*, When it is ſaid here, ἤδεις, thou kneweſt, or kneweſt thou, that I was an auſtere Man, reaping what I did not ſow; this is not a conceſſion that the Maſter was truly ſo, but an argument out of his own Mouth to condemn him, for not acting ſuitably to his own hard Conceptions of his Lord, Luke 19. 22. Nor do thoſe words, Thou oughteſt to have put my Money to the Exchangers, ſhew, that Chriſt approved of Uſury; but only, that he who thought ſo ſordidly of his Maſter, ſhould have uſed his Talent agreeably, that ſo he might have had his own with Uſury.

c Ver. 31. Ὅταν δὲ ἔλθῃ ὁ υἱὸς τ ἀνθρώπ ἐν τῇ δόξῃ αὐτ, When therefore the Son of Man ſhall come in his Glory, and all the holy Angels with him.] It is to me a wonder, that Men ſhould imagine, this refers not to the general Day of Judgment, but either to the time of exerciſing Judgments on the Jewiſh Nation, or to the ſetting up a triumphant Kingdom here on Earth; ſeeing, (1.) Here is a moſt clear Deſcription of Chriſt's coming to Judgment in words and circumſtances elſewhere acknowledged to relate to the great and final Judgment; for here he comes in Majeſty and Glory, attended with all the holy Angels, and ſits down upon the Throne of his Glory; and thus will he be attended, when he comes to render to every one according to his Works, viz. in the Glory of his Father, with his holy Angels, Matth. 16. 27. When he ſhall come in flaming Fire to take Vengeance on all that obey not his Goſpel, and to be glorified in his Saints, 2 Theſſ. 1. 7, 8, 9. Jude 14. 15. (2.) He ſpeaks here of the time, when he ſhall gather before him all Nations, ver. 32. all Sheep and Goats, ver. 33. all that ſhall receive a Sentence of Bliſs or Condemnation, v. 34, 41. and of the time, when they that are the bleſſed of the Father, ſhall receive the Kingdom prepared for them, and when the wicked ſhall go into everlaſting Puniſhment, ver. 46. which are manifeſt Indications of the final Judgment.

Ver. 33. Καὶ στήσ τὰ μὲ πρόβατα ἐκ δεξιῶν d
αὐτ τὰ δὲ ἐρίφια ἐξ εὐωνύμων, And he ſhall ſet the Sheep on his right Hand, but the Goats on his left.] Here ſeems to be an Alluſion to the received Cuſtom of the Jews in capital Cauſes, to place them who were to receive the Sentence of Abſolution on the right Hand in the Sanhedrim, but thoſe who were to receive the Sentence of Condemnation, on the left: As (e) Maimonides ſaith, They that ſtand on the right Hand, are the Juſt; they on the left, the Guilty. Kimchi on 1 Kings 22. 19. On his right Hand is Life, on his left Death. So *R. Ver. 34. Κληρονομήσατε τ ἡτοιμασμένην ὑμῖν e

Eleezar*, c. 4. §. 1. The Fathers on the contrary, viz. Origen, Chryſoſtom, Euthymius, and Theophylact, obſerve, 1*ſt*, That Chriſt ſaith not of the Puniſhment as he doth of the Bleſſing here pronounced, that it was prepared from the beginning of the World, leſt it ſhould be thought, that God deſigned Men's Puniſhments before they ſinned. 2*dly*, That tho' Chriſt ſaith, Come ye bleſſed of my Father; he ſaith not, Go ye curſed of my Father;

becauſe God is the Author and Procurer of Mens Happineſs, but Man only is the Author of his own Miſery. And, 3*dly*, That he ſpeaks of this eternal Fire, as deſigned originally, not for Man, but for the Devil and his Angels; but Man, by giving himſelf up to the Thraldom of that Evil One, and working himſelf up to his Likeneſs, ſinks himſelf down to the infernal Regions, and becomes like to him in Torments, whom in Manners he hath ſo much reſembled.

CHAP. XXVI.

1. AND it came to paſs when Jeſus had finiſhed all theſe Sayings, he ſaid to his Diſciples; a 2. Ye know that [a] after two days is the (time of the Jews,) Paſſover, and the Son of Man is (then to be) betrayed (Gr. delivered up) to be crucified.

3. Then (i.e. two days before the Paſſover) aſſembled together the Chief Prieſts and the Scribes, and the Elders of the People to the Palace of the High-Prieſt, who was called Caiaphas.

4. And (they) conſulted that they might take Jeſus by Subtilty, and kill him.

b 5. But they ſaid (let us) not (do this) on the [b] Feaſt-day, leſt there be an Uproar among the People, (for they feared the People, Luke 22. 2.)

6. Now when Jeſus was in Bethany in the Houſe of Simon the Leper, (whom Chriſt had healed of his Leproſie.)

7. There came to him a Woman having an Alabaſter Box of very precious Ointment, and (ſhe taking it) poured it on his Head, as he ſat at Meat.

c 8. But when (ſome of, Mark 14. 4.) [c] his Diſciples ſaw it, they had Indignation, (and murmured againſt the Woman, Mark 14. 5.) ſaying, To what purpoſe is this waſt (of the Ointment made?)

9. For this Ointment might have been ſold for much, and (the money might have been) given to the Poor.

10. When Jeſus underſtood (it, i.e. knew that they thus murmured,) he ſaid to them, why trouble ye the Woman (without cauſe) for ſhe hath wrought a good (and charitable) work upon me.

11. For ye have the Poor (for whom you pretend ſuch kindneſs) always with you, (and when you will you may do them good, Mark

d 14. 7.) but (as for) me, [d] ye have not always (a like Opportunity of ſhewing kindneſs to me, I being ſhortly to be taken from you.)

12. (She therefore hath piouſly choſen the preſent Opportunity,) for in that ſhe hath poured this Ointment on my Body, ſhe did it (tho' unwittingly, as a Preparation) for my Burial, (nor ſhall her Charity be loſt; for,)

13. Verily I ſay to you, whereſoever this Goſpel ſhall be preached (as it will be) in the whole World, there ſhall alſo this, that this Woman hath done, be told for a memorial of her (to all future Ages.)

e 14. Then [e] one of the Twelve (who was) called Judas Iſcariot (Satan being entred into him, Luke 22. 3.) went to the Chief Prieſts.

f 15. And ſaid to them, what will ye give me, and I will deliver him to you? (and they were glad, and promiſed to give him Money, Mark 14. 11.) and they covenanted with him for [f] thirty Pieces of Silver.

16. And from that time he ſought (an) Opportunity to betray him.

g 17. Now the [g] firſt day of the Feaſt of unleavened Bread (being come, two of) the Diſciples came to Jeſus, ſaying to him, Where wilt thou that we prepare for thee to eat the Paſſover.

18. And he ſaid, Go into the City to ſuch a Man, (who will meet you carrying a Pitcher of Water, Mark 14. 13. follow him, Luke 22. 10.) and ſay to him, the Maſter ſaith, my time is at hand, I will keep the Paſſover at thy Houſe with my Diſciples, (where therefore is the Room where I may eat it with them? Luke 22. 11. and when he hath ſhewed you the Room, there make ready, ver. 12.)

19. And the Diſciples did as Jeſus had appointed them, and (finding that it was as he had ſaid, Mark 14. 16. they) made ready the Paſſover.

20. Now when the Evening was come he ſat down with the Twelve.

21. And as they did eat, he ſaid, verily I ſay to you, that one of you ſhall betray me, (for the Hand of him that betrayeth me is with me in the Diſh, Mark 14. 18. Luke 22. 21.)

22. And they were exceeding ſorrowful, and began every one of them to ſay to him, Lord, Is it I (that ſhall do this thing?)

23. And

23. And he answered, and said, he that h (h now) dippeth his Hand with me in the Dish, the same shall betray me.
i 24. The i Son of Man goeth (to suffer Death,) as it is written of him, but (seeing God's Fore-knowledge how wicked any Man will be if left to act according to those evil Dispositions which he hath wilfully contracted, lessens no Man's Guilt; notwithstanding) wo to that Man by whom the Son of Man is betrayed, it had been good for that Man if he had not been born, (it being better not to be, than to be miserable.)

25. Then Judas which betrayed him, answered, and said, Master, is it I (that shall betray thee?) He said unto him, (it is as) thou hast said.

26. And as they were eating, Jesus took k Bread, and k blessed it, and brake it, and gave l it to the Disciples, and said, take, eat, l this (broken Bread) is (the memorial of) my Body (given, Luke 22.19. and broken for you, 1 Cor. 11. 24.)

27. And he took the Cup (after Supper, Luke 22. 20.) and gave Thanks, and gave it
m to them, saying, Drink ye m all of this (Cup.)

28. For this (Wine, given separate from the Bread) is (the memorial of) my Blood of the New Testament, which is shed for many for the Remission of (their) Sins.

n 29. But I say to you, n I will not drink henceforth of this Fruit of the Vine, until that day, when I drink it new with you in my Father's Kingdom, (i. e. till the Kingdom of God come, Luke 22. 18. and you eat, and drink with me in my Kingdom, ver. 30.)

30. And when they had sung an Hymn (with them) they went out to the Mount of Olives.

31. Then saith Jesus to them, all ye shall o be o offended because of me this night, for it is written, I will smite the Shepherd, and the Sheep of the Flock shall be scattered abroad, (Zach. 13. 7. and this will be fulfilled in you.)

32. But after I am risen again, I will go before you into Galilee.

33. Peter answered, and said to him, tho' all Men shall be offended because of thee, yet will I never be offended (on that account.)

34. Jesus said to him, Verily I say to thee, p that this night, before the p Cock crow (in the morning,) thou shalt deny me thrice.

35. Peter said to him (again) tho' I should die with thee, yet will I not deny thee, (and) likewise also said all the Disciples.

36. Then cometh Jesus with them to a place called Gethsemane, (situate between the River Kedron, mentioned, John 18. 1. and the Mount of Olives, ver. 30.) and saith to the Disciples, sit ye here, while I go and pray yonder.

37. And he took with him Peter, and the two Sons of Zebedee, and began to be sorrowful and very heavy, (and afraid, Mark 14. 33.)

38. Then saith he to them, my Soul is q q exceeding sorrowful even to Death, tarry ye here, and watch with me (against Temptation.)

39. And he went a little farther (about a Stone's cast from them) and r fell upon his r
Face, and prayed, saying, O my Father, if it be possible (that thy Glory, and the Salvation of Men may equally be promoted otherways,) let this Cup pass from me, nevertheless (be it) not as I will, but as thou wilt, (then an Angel appeared to him from Heaven to strengthen him, Luke 22. 43, 44.)

40. And (then) he cometh to the (three) Disciples, and findeth them asleep, and saith to Peter (why sleep you) what could ye not watch with me one hour?

41. Watch and pray that ye enter not into Temptation (so as to be foiled by it,) the s s Spirit indeed is willing (to make good Resolutions, ver. 35.) but the Flesh is weak, (and so unable to perform them without Divine Assistance to be obtained by Prayer, and improved by Vigilance.)

42. He went away again the second time, and (being heard in what he feared, Heb. 5. 7. he) prayed, saying, O my Father, if this Cup may not pass away from me, except I drink it, thy Will be done.

43. And he came (back to the Disciples) and found them asleep again, for their Eyes were heavy, (and they knew not what to answer him, Mark 14. 40.)

44. And he left them, and went away again, and prayed the third time, saying the same words.

45. Then cometh he to his Disciples, and t said to them, t sleep on now, and take your Rest, (for by your watching ye can shew no farther kindness to, or concern for me,) behold the hour (of my Apprehension) is at hand, and the Son of Man is betrayed into the Hands of Sinners.

46. Rise, let us be going, behold he is at hand that doth betray me.

47. And while he yet spake, lo Judas, one of the Twelve came, and with him a great Multitude with Swords and Staves from the Chief Priests, and Elders of the People.

48. Now he that betrayed him gave them a Sign, saying, whomsoever I shall kiss, the u same is he, u hold him fast, (and lead him away securely, Mark 14. 44. See John 18. 8, 12.)

49. And forthwith he came to Jesus, and said, Hail Master, and kissed him.

50. And Jeſus ſaid to him, Friend, wherefore art thou come? (Is it to betray the Son of Man with a Kiſs? Luke 22. 48.) then came they, and laid Hands on Jeſus, and took him.

51. And behold one of them which were with Jeſus, (to wit, Simon Peter, ſeeing what was done, ſaid, Maſter, ſhall I ſmite with the Sword? Luke 22. 49. and ſtraightway he) ſtretched out his Hand, and drew his Sword, and ſtruck a Servant of the High-Prieſts, and ſmote off his (right) Ear, (and the Name of that Servant was Malchus, John 18. 10.)

52. Then ſaid Jeſus to him, put up again x the Sword into its place, [x] for all they that take the Sword, ſhall periſh with the Sword. (See the Note here.)

53. Thinkeſt thou that I cannot now pray to my Father, and he ſhall preſently give me more than twelve Legions of Angels (for my Defence?)

54. But (ſhould I do this) how then ſhall the Scripture be fulfilled, that thus it muſt be, (or how can I refuſe the Cup which my Father hath given me to drink? John 18. 11.)

55. In that ſame hour Jeſus ſaid to the Multitudes (ſent to apprehend him,) are ye come (now) out as againſt a Thief with Swords and Staves for to take me? (whereas) I ſat daily with you teaching in the Temple, and ye laid no hold on me (but this is your hour, and the Power of Darkneſs, Luke 22. 53.)

56. But all this was done that the Scriptures of the Prophets might be fulfilled; then all the Diſciples forſook him and fled.

57. And they that had laid hold on Jeſus led him away to (Annas firſt, John 18. 13, y 14. and thence to) [y] Caiaphas the High-Prieſt, where the Scribes and the Elders were aſſembled.

58. But Peter followed him afar off to the High-Prieſt's Palace, and (being introduced by another Diſciple, John 18. 15, 16.) went in, and ſat with the Servants to ſee the end (of this matter.)

59. Now the Chief Prieſts and Elders and z all the Council [z] ſought falſe Witneſs againſt Jeſus to put him to Death.

60. But found none, yea tho' many falſe Witneſſes came, yet found they none (that could teſtifie any thing againſt him which deſerved Death,) at the laſt came two falſe Witneſſes,

61. And ſaid, this Fellow ſaid, I am able to deſtroy the Temple of God, and to build it in three days.

62. And (then) the High-Prieſt aroſe, and ſaid to him, anſwereſt thou nothing? [aa] What aa is it which theſe witneſs againſt thee? (Gr. why do theſe witneſs (thus) againſt thee if it were not true?)

63. But Jeſus held his Peace, and the High-Prieſt anſwered and ſaid to him, [bb] I adjure bb thee by the living God, that thou tell us, whether thou be the Chriſt the Son of God, (or not.)

64. Jeſus ſaith to him (it is as) thou haſt ſaid, nevertheleſs I ſay to you, [cc] hereafter cc ſhall ye ſee the Son of Man, ſitting on the right Hand of Power, and coming in the Clouds of Heaven; (i. e. you ask me whether I am the Chriſt, and will not believe that I am ſo, but ye ſhall ſhortly be convinced of it by the miſſion of the Holy Ghoſt from Heaven, and by my coming in the Clouds of Heaven to take Vengeance on you for your Unbelief.)

65. Then the High-Prieſt [dd] rent his Clothes, dd ſaying, he hath ſpoken Blaſphemy, what farther need have we of Witneſſes? behold now ye have heard his Blaſphemy.

66. What think ye (of it?) They anſwered and ſaid, he is guilty of Death.

67. Then did they (who were Officers of the Court) ſpit in his Face, and (they) buffeted him, and others (of them) ſmote him with the Palms of their Hands, (ſpeaking many blaſphemous words againſt him, Luke 22. 65. And,)

68. Saying, Propheſie to us, thou Chriſt, who is he that ſmote thee?

69. Now Peter ſat without in the Palace, and [ee] a Damſel came to him, ſaying, thou ee alſo waſt with Jeſus of Galilee.

70. But he denied (it) before them all, ſaying, I know not (any thing of) what thou ſayeſt.

71. And when he was gone out into the Porch, another Maid ſaw him, and ſaid to them that were there, this Fellow was alſo with Jeſus of Nazareth.

72. And again he denied (it) with an Oath, (ſaying,) I do not [ff] know the Man. ff

73. And after a while came to him they that ſtood by, and ſaid to Peter, ſurely thou alſo art one of them, for thy Speech bewrayeth thee.

74. Then began he to curſe and to ſwear, ſaying, I know not the Man; and immediately (after he had ſaid this) the Cock crew.

75. And Peter remembred the words of Jeſus, who ſaid to him, before the Cock crow thou ſhalt deny me thrice, and he went out and wept bitterly.

Annotations

a Ver. 2. AFTER two days is the Paſſover, and the Son of Man ſhall be delivered up to be crucified.] Here Grotius notes, that it is a Tradition of the Jews, which appears yet in the Books of their Cabbaliſts, that in the days of the Meſſiah they ſhould be redeemed on the very day that they came out of Egypt; which is true if it reſpect the day of their coming out of Egypt, that being the fifteenth day of Niſan, but is not true of the fourteenth day on which the Paſchal Lamb was offered, Chriſt being not crucified on Thurſday, but on Friday.

b Ver. 5. Ἔλεγον δὲ μὴ ἐν τῇ ἑορτῇ ἵνα μὴ θόρυβος γένηται ἐν τῷ λαῷ, And they ſaid, not on the Feaſt day, leſt there be an Uproar among the People.] (a) Maimonides ſaith, it was the cuſtom among the Jews, to puniſh thoſe who rebelled againſt the Sentence of the Judge, or the High-Prieſt, or were notoriouſly criminal, at one of the three Feaſts, becauſe then only, by reaſon of the publick Congreſs of People, all might hear and fear, according to the Law, Deut. 17. 12, 13. from this received cuſtom, the Fathers of the Sanhedrim ſeem willing to recede for fear of the Multitude; but having ſo fair an Offer made by Judas, they embrace that Seaſon.

c Ver. 8. Ἰδόντες δὲ οἱ μαθηταὶ αὐτῶ ἠγανάκτησαν, But when his Diſciples ſaw it they had Indignation, ſaying, to what purpoſe is this waſt?] This was only ſaid by Judas, and that out of Covetouſneſs, John 12. 3, 6. Some of the Diſciples ſeemed to like the Motion by reaſon of the ſpecious Pretext of Charity under which it was covered, Mark 14. 5. and the reſt did not contradict it, but ſeemed rather by their ſilence to approve it, and therefore are here mentioned without exception, as Co partners with him; but Chriſt calls this a good Work, ver. 10. as being in its ſelf lawful, and done out of a good End and Intention, and juſtifies this from an Argument à pari, that had ſhe laid out this Expence on his dead Body, they who did cuſtomarily uſe ſuch Ointments, and ſweet Odours at their Funerals, could not have reaſonably found fault with it, and therefore had no ground to do it now, his Body being ſhortly to be buried; to the pretence of Judas he anſwers, that by reaſon of his approaching Death, this muſt be ſhortly done to him, or not at all; whereas they having the Poor always with them, could never want Objects of their Charity; and that good Work which was to be done now, or never, was then preferable to that for which they had perpetual Occaſions.

d Ver. 11. Ἐμὲ δὲ οὐ πάντοτε ἔχετε, But me ye have not always.] Theſe words deſtroy the Doctrine of Tranſubſtantiation; for if Chriſt were, as to Soul, Body, and Divinity truly in the Hoſt, that being always with them of Rome, they would have Chriſt always with them, and might at any time ſpend their Money in adorning the Hoſt, or upon the Oblation of it, and ſo Chriſt's reaſon for doing that then, would be invalid. Note alſo from the words following, ver. 13. that this good Deed ſhould be mentioned, wherever the Goſpel was preached, for a memorial of her, that we may laudably proſecute that which will procure us a good Name, and ſpread our Reputation to future Ages.

e Ver. 14. Τότε πορευθεὶς εἷς τῶν δώδεκα, Then one of the Twelve went to the Chief Prieſts.] He is noted to be one of Chriſt's Diſciples to aggravate the Foulneſs of the Crime, and to denote the Completion of the Propheſie, He that eateth Bread with me, hath liſt up his Heel againſt me, Pſal. 41. 9. The time when Judas thus betrayed him, is hinted in the Particle τότε then, viz. according to the Tradition of the Church, the Conſultation of the Sanhedrim with him, and his Agreement to betray Chriſt to them was on Wedneſday, this being aſſigned as one reaſon why they faſted on Wedneſday and Friday, (b) becauſe Chriſt was betrayed on Wedneſday, and he ſuffered on Friday.

f Ver. 15. For thirty pieces of Silver;] i. e. For thirty Shekels, that is, 3 l. 15 s. of our Money, ſaith Dr. Hammond, This, as Mr. Ainſworth, and Maimonides obſerve on Exod. 21. 32. was the Price paid for a Man, or a Maid Servant, when being ſmitten by an Ox, they died, ſo vilely was he eſteemed by them, who ſhed his precious Blood for them. Of Satan's entring into Judas, ſee Note on Luke 22. 3, 4.

g Ver. 17. Τῇ δὲ πρώτῃ τῶν ἀζύμων, &c. Now the firſt day of unleavened Bread, came his Diſciples to him, ſaying, where wilt thou that we prepare the Paſſover? &c.] Of the time when our Saviour kept the Paſſover, ſee the Appendix to the 14th Chapter of St. Mark. Here note, 1*ſt*, from the word ἀνέκειτο, he lay down, ver. 20. that Chriſt obſerved not the Paſchal Supper in that manner, or geſture in which it was inſtituted at firſt, viz. that they ſhould eat it ſtanding, &c. Exod. 12. 11. but but did eat it lying down or inclining on the left Side, as it was the manner of the Jews then to do; and tho' the Jewiſh Doctors required, and impoſed this Rite as a ſignificative Ceremony of their Reſt in Canaan, to which they were but going, or travelling, when they celebrated the Paſſover in Egypt, and of their Redemption; and upon that account would (c) permit none to eat it otherwiſe than in this Poſture; yet Chriſt uſed it: Whence we may learn, that our Bleſſed Lord was not ſo ſcrupulous as ſome Men are, who dare not uſe a ſignificant Ceremony, or receive the Euchariſt kneeling, becauſe that was not the Poſture uſed at the firſt Inſtitution of it, tho' they do receive it ſitting, and therefore not in the Poſture uſed by Chriſt and his Apoſtles when it was firſt inſtituted. 2*dly*, Upon theſe words, Where wilt thou that we keep the Paſſover? Dr. Lightfoot obſerves, that the Houſes of Jeruſalem were not then to be let, but were of common Right for any that would eat the Paſſover in them.

h Ver. 23. Ὁ ἐμβάψας μετ' ἐμοῦ ἐν τῷ τρυβλίῳ τὴν χεῖρα, He that dips his Hand with me in the Diſh, the ſame ſhall betray me.] Hence it appears, that Judas was preſent with them at the Celebration of the Paſchal Supper; and that he continued with them at the Celebration of the other Sacrament, is evident from the words following the Inſtitution and Diſtribution of it, But behold the Hand of him that betrayeth me is with me on the Table, Luke 22. 21.

i Ver. 24. The Son of Man goeth as it is written of him, but woe to that Man by whom he is betrayed, it were good for that Man that he had not been born.] Hence two things clearly follow, (1.) That the Prediction of this Event, that Jeſus ſhould thus ſuffer, and that by the Treachery of Judas, did lay on Judas no antecedent neceſſity of doing this Action, becauſe it did not leſſen the woe due to him for it, but only doth ſuppoſe in God a Knowledge how the Will of Man, left to his own Freedom, will determine, or encline it ſelf. Of this ſee Note on Luke 22. 22. (2.) That Chriſt, by ſaying, It is good for that Man that he had not been born, ſufficiently ſhews this cannot be the Portion of all Men, except ſome few Elect, as ſome Men think, and as it follows from the ſuppoſal of an immutable Decree, that ſuch Perſons only ſhould be ſaved, and all others left under ſuch a Preterition as will infallibly render it better for them never to have been born; and would have made this the condition of Judas, tho' he had not done this, provided he was none of God's Elect.

k Ver. 26. Jeſus took Bread, καὶ εὐλογήσας ἔκλασε, and bleſſed it, and brake it.] That εὐλογεῖν, to bleſs, here and in St. Mark is the ſame as εὐχαριστεῖν, to give thanks in St. Luke, and St. Paul, and that the Bread was only bleſſed by giving thanks over it, ſee proved on Matth. 14. 19. And that the breaking of the Bread to be diſtributed is a neceſſary part of this Rite is evident. For, (1.) the continual mention of it, by St. Paul and all the Evangeliſts, when they ſpeak of the Inſtitution of this Sacrament, ſhews it to be a neceſſary part of it, according to that obſervation of the (d) Council of Toledo, That Chriſt by breaking the Bread, and diſtributing it broken to his Diſciples, id ſine dubio egit quod nos in poſterum facturos edocuit, did doubtleſs teach us hereafter to do as he did. (2.) Chriſt ſaid, Take, this is my Body broken for you, 1 Cor. 11. 24. whereas where the Elements are not broken, it can be no more ſaid, this is my Body broken for you, than where the Elements are not given, this is my Body given for you. (3.) Our Lord ſaith, Do this in remembrance of me, i. e. eat this Bread broken in remembrance of my Body broken on the Croſs; now where no Body broken is diſtributed, there nothing can be eaten in memorial of his broken Body. Laſtly, the Apoſtle, by ſaying, The Bread which we break is it not the Communication of the Body of Chriſt? ſufficiently informs us, that the eating of his broken Body is neceſſary to that end, 1 Cor. 10. 16. Hence was it that this Rite of diſtributing Bread broken continued for a thouſand Years, and was as (e) Humbertus teſtifies, obſerved in the Roman Church in the eleventh Century.

l Ibid. Τοῦτό ἐστι τὸ σῶμά μου, This is my Body.] Here let it be obſerved, (1*ſt*,) That theſe words contain not all that our Lord ſaid, for our Lord ſpake theſe words but once, and therefore they who ſay, as do St. Luke and the Apoſtle Paul, his words were theſe, This is my Body given, or my Body broken for you, can ſay no more than our Lord ſaid at the firſt Inſtitution of this Sacrament; for otherwiſe they muſt aver that Chriſt then ſaid, what really he never ſaid. When then St. Matthew and St. Mark inform us, that he ſaid, This is my Body, they muſt ſay the Truth, but not the whole Truth, that being as St. Luke and Paul inform us, this is my Body given, or broken for you. Moreover it is to be obſerved, that neither the Evangeliſt, nor the Apoſtle uſe the future, but both the preſent tenſe, ſaying, this is my Body, τὸ διδόμενον, given, τὸ κλώμενον, broken, this is my Blood τὸ ἐκχυνόμενον, νόμῳον, shed: Now from these Observations it is manifest, that these words cannot signifie, this is substantially, and really my Body broken, and my Blood shed for you; for this being spoken before Christ's Body was broken on the Cross, and before his Blood was shed, Christ could not say in the literal and proper sense, this is my Body broken, or my Blood shed for you; but he might say, this Bread is broken to represent to you my Body which shall be broken, and my Blood which shall be shed for you; for so the Scripture usually speaks in sacramental Matters, saying of Circumcision, even before Abraham was circumcised, This is my Covenant betwixt me and thee, Gen. 17. 4, 10, 23, 36. and of the Paschal Lamb, This is the Lord's Passover, before God, passing over the Israelites, had smitten the Egyptians, Exod. 12. 11. and this was therefore thus affirmed of these two Sacraments, before the Celebration of them, because they were then instituted as Rites to be observed by his People when they did celebrate these Sacraments: And in like manner the Bread in the first Institution of this Sacrament is called Christ's broken Body, as being instituted then to represent to all future Ages, his Body which was to be broken for them; and the Wine is stiled his Blood shed, as being instituted then as the perpetual Representation, and Memorial of his Blood shed, and separated from his Body on the Cross; so that there is no need of the Criticism of Grotius and others here, that the present tense is put for the future, broken for that which shall be broken, and shed for shall be shed. Nor could this way of speaking either seem harsh to, or otherwise be understood by Christ's Disciples, who had even then been eating of that Paschal Lamb which they who laid before them, were said, apponere corpus Paschatis, to place before them the Body of the Passover, or Paschal Lamb, called also by them corpus Paschatis, the Body of the Passover; and they who ate of it were said, comedere de corpore Paschatis, to eat of the Body of the Passover, or of the Lamb eaten in memorial of it; and when they ate of the unleavened Bread, they said, hic est panis afflictionis quem comederunt patres nostri in terra Egypti, this is the Bread of Affliction, (i. e. the Representation and Memorial of that Bread) which our Fathers did eat in the Land of Egypt: What therefore could Men accustomed to such sacramental Phrases think of the like words of Christ, This (Bread) is my Body, but that it was to be the Representation, or Memorial of it? Moreover, how could the Apostles think that they had eaten Christ's broken Body, or drank his Blood shed for them, when they yet saw his Body whole before them, and knew his Blood was in his Veins? how could they have been persuaded to drink Blood against the express Letter of the Law, or to have eaten human Flesh, or swallow their Lord and Master down their Throats? this being so absurd in the Opinion of all Mankind, not excepting Lanfrank, Algerus, Guitmund, and others, who first stickled for an Absurdity beyond all Example, that they ingeniously confess, That did their Senses perceive, what their Faith doth oblige them to believe, the Horrour of it would be so great, that (f) rarus esset qui ab hoc Sacramento non abhorreret, almost all Persons would adhor the receiving this Sacrament: Hence they give these two notable Reasons why, tho' they do substantially eat the Flesh, and drink that very Blood which our Lord shed upon the Cross, yet they do this under the covert of the Accidents of Bread and Wine, viz.

1*st*, That human Piety might not abhor the Sacrament, (g) as they then would do; for, say they, should they see the colour of human Flesh, and the colour of human Blood, and tast the savour of them, the horrour of it would hinder the receiving of the Sacrament, or the profit of so doing.

2*dly*, That this was digna causa, a just reason why our Lord's Body and Blood should lie thus concealed under the Species of Bread and Wine, (h) lest it should be known to the Infidels, and lie open to their Blasphemies; lest the Action should be ridiculous to them, scandalous, inhuman, and execrable. And indeed this being not only ἀνθρωποφαγία, the eating of Man's Flesh, and drinking human Blood, but also θεοφαγία, the eating of their God, who knows not that on both these accounts the Christian Faith was, and is still execrable both to Jew and Gentile, to Pagan and Mahometan? For,

1*st*, The Apologies of the Primitive Christians tell us, this was one of the great Accusations which the Heathens made against the Christians, That they did eat human Flesh. This

This Trypho owns to be a common Imputation upon Chriſtians, tho' he judged it incredible. (i) Juſtin Mart. Irenæus, Tertullian, Minutius, and others, take notice of it, and refute it, and conſtantly reject it, as the vileſt Calumny, and an abominable thing, ſaying, (k) We Chriſtians ἀνθρωπίνων σαρκῶν βορᾶς οὐ γινόσκομεν, do not own the eating human Fleſh, it is an infamous thing, and falſly is reported of us. This is, ſaith, (l) Theophilus, the moſt wicked, and inhuman of all Crimes objected to us, σαρκῶν ἀνθρωπίνων ἡμᾶς ἐφάπτεσθαι, that we partake of human Fleſh, it is not poſſible that we ſhould be guilty of ſo vile a thing. Amongſt us there is no eating human Fleſh, ſaith (m) Tatian, you are falſe Witneſſes who thus accuſe us. No Man, ſaith (n) Athenagoras, who is not mad, can charge us with this thing, ὃ γὰρ ὅτι πάσασθαι κρεῶν ἀνθρωπίνων, for we may not eat human Fleſh. It is the Calumny of the Devil, ſaith Minutius; you may be aſhamed to object it to us, ſaith (o) Tertullian. Whereas, had they received this as an Article of Faith, that they did daily eat the Fleſh of the Man Chriſt, and thought his Word obliged them to do this, with what ſincerity could they, without all limitation or diſtinction, not only have denied, but even deteſted the doing ſo? But that which makes it certain, and beyond all doubt, that they conceived, that Chriſt had never taught them properly and ſubſtantially to eat his Fleſh, and drink his Blood in the Sacrament, is the memorable Hiſtory of Sanctus and Blandina, two Chriſtian Martyrs, written by (p) Irenæus, and preſerved to us by Oecumenius, viz. that the Heathens having apprehended the Servants of Chriſtians catechiſed, and uſing Force with them, that from them they might learn ſomething ſecret; the Servants having nothing elſe to ſay, that might be pleaſing to their Tormentors, having heard from their Maſters, that the Sacrament was the Body and Blood of Chriſt, told this to the Inquiſitors, who apprehending, that the Chriſtians had done this very thing, gave notice of it to other Heathens, who endeavoured to force the Martyrs, Sanctus and Blandina, to confeſs it; to whom Blandina readily and boldly anſwered, How ſhould they endure thoſe things, who ſo faſt as not to enjoy lawful Fleſh? Now, had the Antient Chriſtians believed this Doctrine, that they did truly eat Chriſt's Fleſh and Blood in the Sacrament, how could Irenæus have repreſented it as a plain Miſtake, both in thoſe Servants, and the Heathens, to think the Sacrament was really Chriſt's Fleſh and Blood? or, have introduced Blandina refuting this Imagination, had it been the Sentiment of the Church of Chriſt then, ſince by ſo doing ſhe muſt have rejected one Article of Chriſtian Faith? or, how could Oecumenius have put theſe words into his Commentary, without endeavouring to explain, or reconcile them to the Doctrine of Oral Manducation, had it then obtained? Let us then again conſider, whether that ought to be received as an Article of Faith, owned by all Chriſtians from the beginning, which from the beginning was ſo expreſly denied to be ὄντως καὶ αὐτόχρημα, in deed, reality, or in the thing it ſelf, the Fleſh and Blood of Chriſt; which made all the Apologiſts for, and firſt Defenders of the Chriſtians, deniers of the Truth; and to repreſent that as a falſe Report, an infamous Thing, a calumny of the Devil, which was the plain and evident reſult of their own Faith, and of the Words of their great Maſter, as they are now interpreted by the Church of Rome.

But then when we advance to the conſideration of this Doctrine, not only as it makes the Chriſtian to eat human Fleſh, and drink of human Blood, but as it is the eating of that very God we worſhip, as the (q) Trent Council hath defined; this renders it abſurd, ridiculous, and blaſphemous. For,

1*ſt*, The very Heathens owned this, as the abſurdeſt and moſt abominable thing, to be abhorred more than Death. When we call Wine Bacchus, ſaith (r) Cicero, and our Fruits Ceres, we uſe the common Mode of ſpeaking, ſed ecquem tam amentem aſſe putas qui illud quo veſcatur Deum credat eſſe? but can you think any Perſon ſo mad, as to imagine, that which he eats to be a God? The Egyptians, ſaith (s) Origen, think a brute Creature to be God; and therefore they do μέχρι θανάτου φυλάξασθαι ἀπὸ τοῦ τὴν ζῶον κρεῶν γεύσασθαι, abſtain from eating of his Fleſh, more than from Death. We read, Gen. 43. 32. that 'twas an abomination to the Egyptians, to eat Bread with the Hebrews, becauſe, ſay Onkelos and Jonathan, Jonathan, the Hebrews did eat thoſe Cattel which the Egyptians worſhipped: And Moſes would depart from Egypt before he ſacrificed to the God of Iſrael, leſt he ſhould ſacrifice to him the abomination of the Egyptians before their Eyes, Exod. 8. 26. i. e. the Beaſts, which the Egyptians worſhipped, and therefore did abhor to kill, or to ſee killed before their Eyes. See Bochart. Hieroz. Part 1. l. 2. c. 34, 53. Part 2. l. 4. c. 16. (t) Averroes was a learned Heathen, who flouriſhed in the 11th Century; when this portentous Doctrine firſt obtained, and it forced him thus to blaſpheme the Chriſtian Faith; I have enquired into all Religions, and have found none more fooliſh than the Chriſtians, becauſe that very God they worſhip, they with their Teeth devour; and thus he concludes, quandoquidem Chriſtiani id comedunt quod adorant, becauſe the Chriſtians eat what they do worſhip, let my Soul go to the Philoſophers. And (u) Bellarmin himſelf confeſſeth, that this, among the Heathens, was always judged ſtultiſſimum Paradoxum, the moſt fooliſh Paradox, as, ſaith he, from the words of Averroes doth appear. Hence, as the higheſt Infamy which the Mahometans can caſt upon us, we are by them reproached as the devourers of our God, as (x) M. la Boulay informs us; and they affirm, that by thus eating of Chriſt's Fleſh, the Chriſtians uſe him worſe than did the Jews, becauſe, ſay they, (y) it is more ſavage to eat his Fleſh, and drink his Blood, than only to procure his Death.

2*dly*, That the Jewiſh Sentiments as to this Matter, were the ſame, we learn from the Epiſtle of the Prophet Jeremy to the Captive Jews; for he informs them, that what the Babylonians worſhipped, ſhould afterwards be eaten; and, by this, ſaith he, ye may know they are no Gods, Baruch 6. 72. Nor can we doubt of this, if we believe what is ſo oft declared by the Chriſtian Fathers, that this was God's Deſign in making the diſtinction betwixt clean and unclean Beaſts, to ſecure his People from Idolatry; becauſe, in Egypt, all Beaſts were deified, ſaith Pſeudo Juſtin, except Swine; God therefore calls ſome of them unclean, ſome clean, and did permit them to ſacrifice the clean Beaſts, and forbid them to eat of the unclean; (z) δεικνύων αὐτὰ ἀνάξια ὄντα τῆ τοῦ Θεοῦ προσηγορίας τε καὶ τιμῆς καὶ δόξα τοῦ θύεσθαι καὶ ἐσθίεσθαι, by both theſe things, ſhewing, they were unworthy the Name, and honour of a Deity, becauſe they were ſacrificed and eaten, and becauſe they were called unclean. God, ſaith (a) Theodoret, pronouncing ſome Beaſts clean, and others unclean, perſuades us not to think, that any of them could be Gods; for how, ſaith he, can any Man of ſenſe think that to be a God, which he abominates as unclean, or which is offered to the true God, and eaten by himſelf; and this he frequently repeats. (b) St. Jerom informs us, That Moſes did beat the Golden Calf to Powder, and then made the Jews drink of it; ut diſcant contemnere quod in ſeceſſum projici viderant, that the People might learn to contemn what they ſaw went down into the Draught. Now, could the ſame God, who had taken ſuch care under the Old Teſtament to teach the People, that that could not be their God which they did eat and ſacrifice, appoint under the New Teſtament, that the Chriſtian's God ſhould be continually ſacrificed and eaten? But,

3*dly*, Nothing is more certain, than that the Chriſtian Apologiſts, or Fathers, continually ridiculed the Heathen for worſhipping ſuch Deities as might be eaten and ſacrificed, and pronounced it the higheſt Abſurdity to do ſo. And,

(1.) They declaim againſt the thing it ſelf, as infinitely abſurd, and fooliſh, declaring, that it was (c) ἀφροσύνης ἔσχατης τὸ ἐδώλιμον προσκυνεῖν, the extremity of madneſs, to worſhip what we eat; that no man of ſenſe can think, that a God which is παρ' ἑαυτῷ ἐδώλιμον, eaten by himſelf; (d) that the great Law-giver of the Jews commanded them to eat what other Nations worſhipped as Gods, ἵνα ἐυκαταφρόνητα φαίνηται ὡς παρ' αὐτοῖς ἐδώλια, that they might appear deſpicable in their Eyes, as being eaten by themſelves; (e) that theſe things muſt be unworthy the Name and Honour of a God, διὰ τὸ ἐδώδιμα, becauſe they were eaten.

(2.) They upon this account, deride the ignorance and folly of the Heathens, and look upon this as a ſure indication of it, that they did worſhip what was eaten. The Greeks thro' ignorance, ſaith (f) Clemens of Alexandria, (ἕβδον) καὶ ἃ δέδωκεν αὐτοῖς εἰς βρῶσιν ὁ Θεὸς, worſhip even thoſe things which God hath given them to eat, and ſo become ungrateful to him. Nonne & Apim bovem cum Ægyptiis adoratis & paſcitis? Do not you, ſaith (g) Minutius, with the Egyptians, worſhip, and alſo feed upon an Ox, which you call Apis? And is not this as great a folly as the Worſhip of an Aſs's Head, which without reaſon you object to us? This (h) Athanaſius looks upon as an inſtance of the abominable Worſhip of the Egyptians, that the ſame Fiſh, which ſome of them did conſecrate as a God, was made the Food of others. The Egyptians adore a Calf, the Lybians worſhip Sheep, both which, in other Nations, are ſacrificed and fed upon; this, ſaith he, is a certain indication of the Folly of the Heathen Worſhip. The Heathens, ſaith (i) Theodoret, ſhould have conſidered, ὡς τούτων τὰ μὲν ἐσθίουσιν, that ſome of theſe things they eat, ἀλλ' ἐξ ἀκριβείας καὶ περιπλήξιας ἑκάτης καὶ ὧν ἤσθιον τὰς εἰκόνας ἀθεοποίησε, but thro' extremity of Folly and Stupidity, they conſecrate the Images of thoſe things themſelves did eat. See Tatian, p. 149. Orig. contr. Celſum, l. 5. p. 249. Now can it poſſibly be conceived, that all theſe Fathers ſhould ridicule and expoſe the Religion of the Heathens, for that very thing which made ſo great a part of their own Religion? That they ſhould look on it as an abominable and repugnant thing in Heathens, only to worſhip that which others did eat, if it had been a conſtant cuſtom of all Chriſtians to worſhip as God what themſelves did eat? Could they brand that as the extremity of Madneſs, Stupidity and Folly, when done by Heathens, which their Faith taught them, was the higheſt Act of religious Worſhip, when performed by themſelves? Surely, theſe things give us ſufficient reaſon with (k) Scotus, to admire, why ſuch an Interpretation ſhould be put upon this one Article, as makes our Faith contemptible to all who are guided by reaſon? Nor can we abſtain from thinking with (l) Petrus Cluniacenſis's carnal Man, That it is againſt Humanity, againſt Piety, to break with our Hands, to tear with our Teeth, and to devour, as we do common Meat, the Fleſh and Blood of Chriſt, or that God and Man ſhould be devoured by Men, the Maſter by his Diſciples, the Lord by his Servants, and Chriſt by Chriſtians.

m Ver. 27. Πίετε ἐξ αὐτοῦ πάντες· Drink ye all of this.] From theſe words it is evident, That all who come to the Holy Communion, are by Chriſt's Precepts, obliged as well to drink of the Cup, as to eat of the Bread: For, whereas Romaniſts pretend, that Chriſt ſaid only, Drink ye all of this, to them, to whom he ſaid, when ſpeaking of the Bread, Do this; and that thoſe words were only ſpoken to his Apoſtles, whom he then made Prieſts. To this I anſwer, That we have clear and convincing Evidence, that theſe words, Drink ye all of this, are to be applied to others beſides the Apoſtles; as, v. gr. (1.) From Chriſt's Inſtitution; whence I argue thus, Chriſt inſtituted no other Supper, than that which he adminiſtred to his Diſciples: If then he did not inſtitute that for all Believers capable, they have no right to any part of it, by virtue of Chriſt's Inſtitution; it can be to them no Sacrament for whom it was not inſtituted by Chriſt, ſince, by the Definition of the (m) Trent Council, the Sacraments of the New Teſtament, were all inſtituted by him; they can expect no Bleſſing from it, ſince that depends upon Chriſt's Ordinance; nay, they muſt be eſteemed ſacrilegious Uſurpers, as laying claim to that Sacrament which never by Chriſt's Inſtitution did belong to them. If Chriſt did inſtitute that Sacrament for all Believers capable, that is, to be a ſtanding Ordinance, by which, as his Diſciples then did, ſo all Believers capable, ſhould afterwards eat of what he called his Body, and drink of what he called his Blood; then did he inſtitute it to be received of all that were fitted for, and capable to receive it, and in it ſaid unto them, Drink ye all of this.

This appears farther, from the reaſon annexed to the receiving of the Sacrament by Chriſt's Apoſtles; for, ſince that reaſon equally concerns all Believers capable, and fitted to receive it, the Inſtitution muſt concern them all. Now the reaſon why Chriſt ſaid to his Apoſtles, Take and eat what I have broken, is by himſelf declared to be this; becauſe it was his Body broken, or, his Body given for them: Take it, ſaith Chriſt, this is my Body given for you: This therefore being the reaſon, why they were to take, and eat; and this reaſon concerning all Believers capable, and fitted to receive it, as much as the Apoſtles and ſucceeding Prieſts, the Inſtitution or Command, to take and eat, muſt equally concern them. This Argument tranſferred upon the Cup, runs thus: The reaſon of the participating of the Cup, viz. becauſe it is the Blood of the New Teſtament, which is ſhed for the Remiſſion of Sins, doth concern Laicks as well as Prieſts, his Blood being ing equally shed for both; therefore the Command, Drink ye all of this, to which the reason is annex'd, concerns them also. Again, Another reason why Christ said to his Apostles, Eat this Bread, and drink this Cup, was, that by so doing, they might remember his Death, his Body broken, and his Blood shed for them, saith St. Luke; and shew it forth till his Second Coming, saith St. Paul. Now this, as St. Paul clearly shews in his Discourse to the Corinthians, and all the World believes, as well concerneth all Believers as it doth Priests; and therefore the drinking of the Cup, by which, as well as eating of the Bread, this Commemoration is by our Lord's Institution to be made, must equally concern them.

n Ver. 29. I will not henceforth drink of the Fruit of the Vine, &c.] Of this and the following Verse, see Note on Mark 14. 25, 26.

o Ver. 31. Πάντες ὑμεῖς σκανδαλισθήσεσθε· All ye shall be offended,— for it is written, I will smite the Shepherd, &c.] It is certain, that these words, All you shall be offended because of me, must signifie a great Sin in his Disciples, viz. that of deserting their Lord, and ceasing to own themselves his Disciples, which was a virtual renouncing their Master; for σκανδαλίζεσθαι ἐν ἐμοὶ, to be scandalized because of me, never bears any other Sense in the New Testament. See the Note on Matth. 11. 6.—18. 6. The words of Zachary, Chap. 13. 7. seem primarily to be understood of an evil Shepherd, or of such evil Teachers to whom God threatneth the Sword. Christ therefore seemeth here to mention them, not as a Prediction concerning him, and his Apostles, but only as a proverbial Expression, or rather an Argument à majori; that if this would happen on the account of smiting an evil Shepherd, much more at the smiting the good and great Shepherd of the Sheep.

p Ver. 34. Πρὶν ἀλέκτορα φωνῆσαι, before the Cock crow, πρὶν ἢ δὶς φωνῆσαι, before he crow twice, Mark 14. 30.] Here note, that there is a double crowing of the Cock mentioned by Heathen Authors, (n) Ammianus, (o) Aristophanes, and (p) Juvenal; the first was about Midnight, the second at the fourth Watch of the Night, or the breaking in of the Day, and this latter as being the louder and more observable, in the enumeration of the times of the Night, is that which is properly called ἀλεκτοροφωνία, or Cock-crowing; so Mark 13. 35. Ye know not when the Son of Man comes, in the Evening, or at Midnight, or at Cock-crowing, or in the Morning. So (q) Censorinus and (r) Macrobius reckon from Midnight to Cock-crowing, and from thence to the Morning; and (s) Julius Pollux says the same. Of this crowing of the Cock, is St. Matthew, and the other Evangelists to be understood, when they relate Christ's words thus, before the Cock crow, (i. e. before that time of the Night which bears that Name, and that crowing of the Cock which is emphatically so called) thou shalt deny me thrice, as appears from St. Mark, saying, that the Cock crew after his first Denial of Christ, Chap. 14. 68. and crew the second time after his third Denial, v. 72.

Ver. 38. Περίλυπός ἐστιν ἡ ψυχή μου ἕως θανάτου, My Soul is exceeding sorrowful even to Death.] There be many Circumstances in our Saviour's Passion which seem to shew his Sorrow was exceeding great, and much surpassing the common Sorrow of many who have been condemned to die. As v. g. q

1*st*, The emphatical Expressions by which the Scripture represents these Sorrows, for to express the Greatness of them, they are here stiled deadly Sorrows; it was Sorrow which reached to, and surrounded his whole Soul, it filled him with Grief of Heart, for ἤρξατο λυπεῖσθαι, he began to be grieved, saith St. Matthew, v. 37. ἐκθαμβεῖσθαι, to be filled with Fear and Anguish, saith St. Mark, Chap. 14. 33. ἀδημονεῖν, to be faint, and restless in his Spirit, say they both.

2*dly*, The greatness of the Sorrows he endured, may be concluded from his importunate Petetitions to be delivered from what he feared, for he pathetically cries out, Oh my Father, if it be possible, let this Cup pass from me; this Prayer he thrice repeats upon his Knees, and falling flat upon his Face to shew the Strength, and Vehemence of this Desire, and yet St. Luke adds, that being in an Agony he prayed ἐκτενέστερον, with greater vehemency than before, Luke 22. 44. He put up Prayers and Supplications, with strong Cries, and Tears, Heb. 5. 7. and sure that Cup must be exceeding bitter which he so highly dreaded, and with such Cries, and Tears, and humble Importunities desired to be delivered from.

3*dly*, This will appear if we consider the Agonies he suffered in the Garden upon the apprehension of this bitter Cup, for such was then his Sorrow, that it forced open all his Pores, and made even Clods of Blood to issue from them; now if a sudden watry Sweat shews an Extremity of Fear and Con-ſternation of the Mind, who can ſufficiently conceive the greatneſs of that Horrour which produced theſe Clods of Blood.

4*thly*, This will be farther evident from the Conſideration of that Angel which, by God's Commiſſion, came from Heaven to ſtrengthen and ſupport him under the apprehenſion of his Sufferings; for ſure that Burthen muſt be very weighty, which our Lord ſeemed thus unable to ſuſtain, and under which his Father ſeemed ſo concerned to ſupport him. And,

5*thly*, This may be probably concluded from that pathetical Expreſſion with which his Soul expired, viz. My God, my God, why haſt thou forſaken me. See the Note on Chap. 27. 46.

I add, That this exceſs of Sorrow could not ariſe meerly from the apprehenſion that he was to die, that his Soul was for a Seaſon to be ſeparated from his Body, or that he was to ſuffer a Death full of Pain and Ignominy. For, (1.) the Apoſtle doth inform us, that he was heard, i. e. delivered from this Fear, Heb. 5. 7. See the Note there. And yet we know he was not delivered from the Pain and Ignominy of the Croſs, but ſuffered Death upon it. (2.) If this exceſs of Sorrow and Conſternation of his Soul proceeded only from the fear of ſuch a Death as any mortal Man might ſuffer, for which he knew he ſhould be glorioufly rewarded, and from which he knew he ſhould in three days be delivered; we muſt confeſs he was more troubled at the apprehenſion of it, than Socrates, and many other Philoſophers of old, who had learned μὴ ἐν τῇ ξυμφορᾷ πολλὰ πάσχειν, not to be much afflicted with Calamities; who ſuffered Death with an undaunted Courage, and waxed not pale at the divulſion or breaking of their Limbs, tho' they had no ſuch Encouragements to ſuffer as he had; and that he was far more timorous than were thoſe Martyrs, who with undaunted Courage, ſuffered for his ſake the greateſt Cruelties. And yet 'tis very difficult to aſſign any other cauſe of this exceſs of Sorrow which then ſeized him, it being certain,

1*ſt*, That he could not lie under the ſenſe of any Anger or Indignation God had conceived againſt him; for ſure he could not think God was then angry with him, when he was doing an Act of moſt profound Obedience to him, for which he had declared his Father loved him, and for which he knew he would reward him; nor is this well conſiſtent with his commending his Soul into the Hands of his affectionate Father, his Aſſurance he ſhould go to Paradiſe, or his conſtant Faith that he was ſtill the Son of God, in whom his Soul delighted: And hence it follows,

2*dly*, That he could not lie under any doubtings of his Father's Love, or any deſpondings upon that account; for he ſtill addreſſes to him as his God, and Father, and commends his Spirit into his Father's Hands; he declares his Father therefore loved him, becauſe he laid down his Life for his Sheep, John 10. 17. And he thus ſuffered in proſpect of the Joy, or the Reward of theſe his Sufferings from God ſet before him. And this demonſtratively follows from this Conſideration, that had he then doubted of God's Love, and Favour to him, he could not at the ſame time have believed, that he was the Son of God in whom he delighted; and ſo tho' Satan did not prevail upon him at the firſt, he muſt have in this laſt Temptation induced him to doubt of this Particular. Nor,

3*dly*, Can I believe that God laid any Grief, or Puniſhment upon the Soul of Chriſt by his immediate Hand. I have declared my Opinion that 'tis not neceſſary to ſay, the future Evils, which the Souls of wicked Men ſhall ſuffer, come from God's immediate Hand, and endeavoured to ſhew that they may be accounted for, by conſidering their perpetual excluſion from a State of Happineſs, their eternal Duration, and from the natural workings of their Conſciences in ſuch a State; and what God doth not do to the Wicked, doubtleſs he did not to his own beloved Son, when he became obedient to the Death at his Command. And, 2*dly*, I am not able to conceive what he could ſuffer from the immediate Hand of God; could God withdraw from him the ſenſe of his Favour, and yet not only highly love him at the ſame time for this very Action, but ſet before him the Joy, and the Reward he would confer upon him for thus Suffering? If there were any ſeeming Diminution of the Senſe of the Divine Love, and of that Senſe of Joy and Conſolation which deriveth from it, that may be better attributed to his exceſs of Sorrow, which ſo poſſeſſed him, as that his human Nature could not as formerly attend to the Conſideration of it; and this being innocent in it ſelf, and ſometimes incident to the moſt pious Men, might then befal our Saviour, when he was in all things, Sin only excepted, to be made by like to us, that he might ſuccour us when tempted, Heb. 2. 17, 18. —4. 15, 16. Or did he raiſe within him any ſenſe of what might juſtly be inflicted on him for the Sin of Man, when he thus undertook to ſuffer in his ſtead? This ſurely muſt be needleſs, in reſpect to him who had the cleareſt View of the Deſert, and Heinouſneſs of Sin, and the moſt perfect Knowledge of what God's Law had threatned to it. This Apprehenſion I conceive moſt likely to have been the Ground of this our Saviour's bitter Agony, but then this was the product not of God's immediate Hand, but of his perfect Knowledge, Purity, and Hatred of Sin. 3*dly*, Add to this, that the Scripture ſeems to be wholly ſilent in this matter; it ſaith indeed, The Lord laid on him the Iniquity of us all, or made our Sins to meet upon him, Iſa. 53. 6. But ſurely they then only were thus laid on him when he bare them. Now St. Peter doth aſſure us, that he bare our Sins in his own Body on the Tree; and that by the Stripes with which he was there ſmitten, we are healed, 1 Pet. 2. 24, 25. Again 'tis ſaid, he gave his Soul an Offering for Sin, Iſa. 53. 10. But then 'tis evident to a Demonſtration that his Soul there only ſignifies his Life, for ſo it follows, v. 12. he poured forth his Soul unto Death; in which ſenſe Chriſt himſelf declares that he did δοῦναι τὴν ψυχὴν αὐτοῦ, give his Life a Ranſom for many, Matth. 20. 28. 'Tis farther ſaid that he was made a Curſe for us, Gal. 3. 13. but then it is declared expreſly, that he was only ſo by being hanged on a Tree, or by ſuffering that Death which all that ſuffered were by the Law pronounced accurſed. See the Note there. Laſtly, 'Tis often ſaid, He ſuffered for our Sins, the juſt for the unjuſt: But then it well deſerves to be obſerved, that the Scripture repreſents him as doing the great Work of Redemption, rather by what he ſuffered for us in the Body, than by what he ſuffered in his Soul; for it informs us, that he bare our Sins in his own Body on the Tree, that we are ſanctified through the offering of the Body of Chriſt once; that he died, and ſuffered for our Sins, 1 Pet. 2. 24. Heb. 10. 10. and yet 'twas not his Soul but his Body only which was ſubject to Death; that he ſhed, he poured out his Blood for the Remiſſion of our Sins, that he waſhed us from our Sins in his Blood, that he made our Peace through the Blood of the Croſs, that he obtained eternal Redemption for us by his own Blood, that he ſanctified us by his own Blood, and by it cleanſeth us from all Sin, that we have Redemption through his Blood, even the Remiſſion of Sins, and that he is our Propitiation through Faith in his Blood. The Sacrament we are to celebrate in thankful remembrance of what he ſuffered for us, doth only call us to remember that his Body was given, or broken for us, and his Blood ſhed for the Remiſſion of our Sins; ſo that if we would ſpeak according to the conſtant Language of the Holy Ghoſt in Scripture, we muſt aſcribe the Work of our Redemption to our Lord's Sufferings in the Body for us; in which 'tis certain that he could ſuffer nothing anſwerable unto the Puniſhment of damned Spirits, but only give his Life a Ranſom for many.

r Ver. 39. Ἔπεσεν ἐπὶ πρόσωπον· He fell upon his Face, &c.] At firſt he fell upon his Knees, and afterwards upon his Face, ſaying, Father, εἰ δυνατόν, if it be poſſible, (i. e. if it be ſo, not in the Nature of the thing, for thus he declared, all things were poſſible to his Father, Mark 14. 35, 36. but according to his Decree, and the Divine Wiſdom, if that ſaw any other way, by which his Glory, and the Salvation of Men might equally be conſulted,) let this Cup paſs from me; and when he ſaith, v. 42. If this Cup cannot paſs from me, except I drink it, thy Will be done; as this Prayer is in effect the ſame with the former, it being ſaid, that he prayed thrice, ſaying the ſame words, ſo the import of it ſeems to be to this effect; tho' the condition of Human Nature prompts me to deſire Freedom from this bitter Cup, yet ſeeing for this end came I to this hour, John 12. 27. and had a Body prepared for me, that being obedient in it to the Death, I might do thy Will, O God, Heb. 10. 5, 7. I ſubmit my Natural to thy Divine Will.

Ver. 41. Τὸ πνεῦμα πρόθυμον ἡ δὲ σὰρξ ἀσθενής· Watch and pray, &c. the Spirit is willing, but the Fleſh is weak.] What it is to enter into Temptation, ſee Note on Matth. 6. 13. Chriſt therefore here bids them to pray, not that they might not be tempted, for that this ſhould befal them, our Lord aſſured them when he ſaid, Satan had deſired to ſift them as Wheat, Luke 22. 31. but that they might not give place to it, or fall by it into Sin. The following words, the Spirit is willing, but the Fleſh is weak, are not intended as an Excuſe, or Mitigation of their Sin, but as a Motive to this Prayer and Vigilance; as if he ſhould have ſaid, you have all made large Promiſes that if you ſhould die with me you would not forſake me, and this you ſaid readily and with a purpoſe ſo to do; yet let me tell you, that when the Temptation actually aſſaults, when Fear, Shame, Pain, the danger of Puniſhment, and Death are within view, and preſent to your ſenſe, the weakneſs of the Fleſh will certainly prevail over theſe Reſolutions, if you uſe not the greateſt Vigilance, and do not pray with Fervency for the Divine Aſſiſtance. s

Ver. 45. Sleep on now, &c.] For by your watching you can ſhew no farther Kindneſs and Concern for me, who am now to be delivered into the Hands of them who are emphatically ſtiled Sinners of the Gentiles, Gal. 2. 15. or καθεύδετε τὸ λοιπὸν, ſleep hereafter, and take your reſt; behold, now is no time of ſleeping, for the hour of your and my Temptation is at hand; ariſe therefore, let us be going. So Phavorinus ſaith, τὸ λοιπὸν ἀντὶ τοῦ ἀκολούθως. Stephanus, deinceps, poſtea, i. e. the word λοιπὸν ſignifies hereafter. So τὸ λοιπὸν may be well rendred, Acts 27. 20. 1 Cor. 1. 16. 2 Cor. 13. 11. 2 Tim. 4. 8. Heb. 10. 13. And this Interpretation ſeems to be confirmed by the word ἀπέχει, added by St. Mark, Chap. 14. i. e. it is enough that you have ſlept already: Or if with the Vulgar, the Gloſſaries, and our Bois, we here interpret τὸ λοιπὸν, jam, now, as our Tranſlation doth; theſe t

words being rendred interrogatively, give the ſenſe thus, Do you ſleep now, and take your reſt, when the Hour of Temptation and the Traitor is at hand? Ἀπέχει, it is enough that you have ſlept ſo long, Ariſe now, and let us go hence.

u Ver. 48. Hold him faſt.] See Note on Mark 14. 44.

x Ver. 52. Put up thy Sword into its place, πάντες γὰρ οἱ λαβόντες μαχαίραν ἐν μαχαίρᾳ ἀπολοῦνται, for all that take the Sword ſhall periſh by the Sword.] St. Auſtin here tells us Gladium accipit quiſquis, Magiſtratu legitimo non concedente, eo utitur ad ſanguinem proximi fundendum, He takes the Sword who uſes it to ſhed his Neighbour's Blood without Licence from the Magiſtrate; which certainly is true of private Perſons in all caſes, ſeeing Self-defence againſt the Aſſault of another private Perſon is permitted by the Magiſtrate: For if it be once granted that private Perſons, when they conceive that they are injured by him, may take up the Sword againſt the Magiſtrate, and repel Force by Force, Tumults will be endleſs, and the Authority of Laws, and the Deciſion of Judges will be precarious, it being ordinary for private Perſons, and for all Sects, and Parties who are reſtrained by the Laws to think that they are injured; but yet it is not certain that this is the true import of theſe words, which Grotius and others thus interpret, Put up thy Sword, thou needeſt not to uſe it in my cauſe againſt the Injuries of the Jews, for by God's Sentence and Decree, they that take the Sword to ſhed the Blood of the Innocent, ſhall periſh by the Sword; and this the Jews will find by that tremendous Vengeance, the Sword of the Romans ſhall execute upon them for this Fact. And this Interpretation is confirmed from the like words uſed, Rev. 13. 10. viz. he that killeth (you) with the Sword, ſhall be killed with the Sword (of Chriſt;) here is (the Ground of) the Faith and Patience of the Saints, viz that that God to whom Vengeance belongeth, will plead their Cauſe, and recompence Vengeance to their Enemies, Rom. 12. 19.

y Ver. 57. To Caiaphas.] See Note on Mark 14. 53.

z Ver. 59, 60. They ſought falſe Witneſſes, and found none.] See Note on Mark 14. 55, 56.

aa Ver. 62. Τί οὗτοί σου καταμαρτυροῦσιν; What is it that theſe witneſs againſt thee?] Note here that τί is very frequently put for διὰ τί, why; ſo Matth. 8. 26. τί δειλοί ἐστε; why are ye fearful? Luke 2. 48. τί ἐποίησας; why haſt thou dealt thus with us? John 1. 25. τί οὖν βαπτίζεις; why then baptizeſt thou? Mark 2. 16. τί ὅτι; why is it that he eats with Publicans. See more Examples in the Note there. So that theſe words ſeem to be better rendred either as in the Paraphraſe, or to what end do men witneſs againſt thee, if thou wilt anſwer nothing?

Ver. 63. Ἐξορκίζω σε κατὰ τοῦ Θεοῦ· I adjure thee by the living God, that thou tell me, whether thou art the Chriſt, the Son of God?] That this Adjuration was equivalent to an Oath is proved, Note on Matth. 5. 34. and on 1 Theſſ. 5. 27. This Queſtion in St. Luke runs thus, art thou the Chriſt, Chap. 22. 67. Whence it is highly probable that in the Jewiſh Senſe to be the Chriſt, or the Meſſiah, and to be the Son of God, was the ſame thing. bb

Ver. 64. Ἀπαρτὶ ὄψεσθε τὸν υἱὸν τοῦ ἀνθρώπου καθήμενον ἐκ δεξιῶν τῆς δυνάμεως, καὶ ἐρχόμενον ἐπὶ τῶν νεφελῶν τοῦ οὐρανοῦ· From henceforth ye ſhall ſee the Son of Man ſitting at the right Hand of Power, and coming in the Clouds of Heaven.] Here note, (1.) That the right Hand of Power or Greatneſs, as it is, Heb. 1. 3. —8. 1. is the right Hand of God, who by the Jews is called Power. So Buxtorf in the word גבורא ſaith, the word is uſed by the Rabbins and the Cabbaliſts as an Epithet of God, it being uſual with them to ſay, this comes מפי הגבורה i. e. from the Mouth of God. So Kimchi on Joſh. 7. what was ſaid to Moſes לפני הגבורה before God; and Ainſworth on Numb. 7. informs us, that Solomon Jarchi ſaith, Moſes received not the Offerings of the Princes at the Dedication of the Tabernacle, till he was commanded by the Mouth of the Power, that is, of God, Chap. 22. 69. Note, 2*dly*, That to come in, or with the Clouds of Heaven, was by the Jews looked on as a certain indication of their Meſſiah: So the Targum on 1 Chron. 3. 24. and the Sons of Elioenai are Hodajah וענני and Hanani he is the King Meſſiah; who is to be revealed. So Tanchum, he is the King Meſſiah, for it is ſaid, Dan. 7. 13. I ſaw in a Viſion of the Night, and behold עם ענני he comes with the Clouds, or as the Son of Man; and in the Talmud, in the Treatiſe of the Sanhedrim the Meſſias is called Bar Nepheli, the Son of the Clouds, which, ſaith R. David Cohen de lara, is the Greek word νεφελαὶ, Clouds, anſwering to עננים and that the Meſſiah is ſo called becauſe it is written in Daniel, behold, one like the Son of Man came with the Clouds of Heaven. Now hence we learn how appoſite Chriſt's Anſwer is to the Queſtion of the High Prieſt, viz you ask me whether I am the Chriſt, and will not believe that I am ſo, but you ſhall ſhortly be convinced of it to your great Sorrow, when you ſee me coming with the Clouds of Heaven to take Vengeance of you for your Unbelief. Note alſo that theſe words cannot relate to the final Day of Judgment, becauſe it is ſaid ἀπαρτὶ, within a little while, and by St. Luke ἀπὸ τοῦ νῦν, from this time ſhall ye ſee the Son of Man coming, &c. Moreover, as his ſitting at the right Hand of Power was viſible to them by cc

the Effuſion of the Holy Ghoſt, ſo was his coming to the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem. See Note on Chap. 24. 30.

dd Ver. 65. Then the High-Prieſt rent his Cloaths:] This is expreſly forbidden the High-Prieſt, not only as to his ſacerdotal Veſtments, but alſo as to his other Garments, Levit. 21. 10. becauſe he was not to appear before God in the Habit of a Mourner; but they by their Traditions had ſo qualified that Precept as to allow the High-Prieſt to rend his Cloaths at the Bottom, but allowed him not to do it from the Top to the Breaſt. So Cunæus de Rep. Heb. l. 2. c. 3. tho' others ſay, he only was forbidden ſo to do in the time of his Miniſtry. For Jonathan the High-Prieſt rends his Cloaths, 1 Mac. 11. 71. and in (t) Joſephus we read twice in one Chapter, that the High-Prieſts τὰς ἐσθῆτας διερρήξαντο, rent their Cloaths.

ee Ver. 69. Peter ſat without in the Hall, καὶ προσῆλθεν αὐτῷ μία παιδίσκη, and a Damſel came to him, &c.] To reconcile the ſeeming Contrarieties in the Evangeliſts, obſerve,

1*ſt*, That whereas St. Matthew ſays, Peter ſat, St. John that he ſtood, he might do both, being ſometimes ſitting, and ſometimes ſtanding.

2*dly*, Whereas it is ſaid here he ſat without, and yet v. 58. that he followed Chriſt into the High-Prieſt's Palace; both are true, he being without that place where Chriſt was examined by the Council, but not without the Door of the Houſe of Caiaphas; for afterward he went out of it, ver. 75.

3*dly*, Whereas the Damſel here ſaith to Peter, Thou waſt with Jeſus; but the Perſon in St. John 18. 25. Art not thou one of his Diſciples? It may be anſwered, That the Queſtion in St. John, according to the Hebrew way of ſpeaking, is equivalent to an Affirmation; and his Diſciples being all with him, when he was apprehended; to be then with him, and to be one of his Diſciples, muſt be the ſame.

4*thly*, Whereas here in Matthew and St. Mark, the ſecond Perſon who ſaid, this Man was with Jeſus, was ἄλλη, another Woman, v. 71. παιδίσκη, a Damſel, Mark 14. 69. in St. Luke, ἕτερος, another Perſon ſaid, Thou art one of them, Luke 22. 58. I think not fit in anſwer to this, to ſay, ἕτερος may ſignifie another, whether Man or Woman, as ſome do; for Peter's Anſwer is, Man I am not. The Text affords us a better Anſwer, viz. that the Damſel ſaid the ſecond time, This Man was with Jeſus; but then ſhe ſaid this, not to Peter, but τοῖς ἐκεῖ, ver. 71. τοῖς παρεστηκόσιν, to the ſtanders by, Mark 14. 69. and ſaid only ἐξ αὐτῶν, this Man was one of them; upon this, a Man of the Company accoſts him perſonally, ſaying, Σὺ Thou art one of them.

Ver. 72. Οὐκ οἶδα τὸν ἄνθρωπον, I know not the Man.] Very frivolous is the excuſe of (*) Hilary here, and (u) St. Ambroſe on Luke 22. which they make for Peter, ſaying, He lied not, in ſaying, I know not the man, becauſe he knew him to be God: For this is, ſaith St. (x) Jerom, ſo to defend the Servant, as to accuſe his Maſter of a lie: For if St. Peter did not deny him, Chriſt muſt have falſly ſaid, Thou ſhalt deny me thrice. Cornelius à Lapide ingenuouſly confeſſeth, That he ſinned mortally, by denying Chriſt with his Mouth, and by that Denial fell from Grace; and it is certain, that by confirming this Denial with an Oath, and adding horrid Execrations to it, his Sin was highly aggravated. I therefore would not willingly ſay, as our beſt Divines do, that his Sin was a Sin of Infirmity; it being hard to conceive, he could do all this without great checks of Conſcience; but rather, that his bitter Weeping, and his quick Repentance, after Chriſt looked upon him, made atonement for it. ff

CHAP. XXVII.

1. WHen the Morning (of the ſecond Day of the Paſchal Feaſt) was come, all the chief Prieſts and Elders of the People took Counſel againſt Jeſus to put him to Death.

2. And (accordingly) when they had bound him, they led him away (from the Houſe of Caiaphas to the Judgment-Hall, John 18. 28.) and delivered him to Pontius Pilate, the Governour, (as one who by their Law was to die as a Blaſphemer, John 19. 7. and by the Roman Laws, as one who forbad the People to pay Tribute to Cæſar, and made himſelf a King in prejudice to Cæſar, Luke 23. 2. John 19. 12.)

3. Then Judas which had betrayed him (to them,) when he ſaw that he was condemned (by them, and reſcued not himſelf out of their Hands,) repented himſelf, and (Gr. repenting,) [a] brought again the thirty Pieces a of of Silver to the chief Prieſts and Elders, (which he had received from them, that he might betray him to them.)

4. Saying (to them,) I have ſinned, in that I have betrayed the innocent Blood; and they ſaid (to him,) what is that to us? ſee thou to that.

5. And he caſt down the pieces of Silver in the Temple, and departed, and went and b [b] hanged himſelf, (executing upon himſelf that Judgment which he had deſerved for that Fact.)

6. And the chief Prieſts took (up) the Silver Pieces, and ſaid, It is not lawful to put them (again) into the Treaſury, (among the Oblations conſecrated to the Service of God,) becauſe it is (the Sum given as) the price of Blood.

7. And they took counſel (together,) and bought with them the (Field, called the) Potter's Field, to bury Strangers in; (i. e. which they allotted for Strangers to bury their Dead in.)

8. Wherefore that Field (being bought with that Money which was the price of Blood,) was called the Field of Blood until this Day.

9. Then was fulfilled that which was c ſpoken by [c] Jeremy the Prophet, ſaying, (in the words recorded, Zach. 11. 12.) And they took the thirty Pieces of Silver, (which was) the price of him that was (ſo) valued, whom they of the Children of Iſrael did value, (as a Slave, or Servant; ſee Note on Chap. 26. 15.)

10. And gave them for the Potter's Field, as the Lord appointed me.

11. And Jeſus ſtood before the Governour, and the Governour asked him, ſaying, Art thou the King of the Jews? And Jeſus ſaid to him, (It is as) thou ſayeſt.

12. And when he was accuſed of the chief Prieſts and Elders, he anſwered nothing, (as knowing, it was to no purpoſe to ſpeak to them, Luke 22. 68.)

13. Then ſaith Pilate to him, Heareſt thou not how many things they witneſs againſt thee, (yet thou anſwereſt nothing?)

14. And he anſwered him to never a word; inſomuch that the Governour marvelled greatly.

d 15. Now at that [d] Feaſt (of the Paſſover, John 18. 39. kept in memory of their Redemption from Egyptian Thraldom,) the Governour was wont to releaſe to the People, a Priſoner whom they would (deſire.)

16. And they had then a notable Priſoner called Barabbas, (guilty of Robbery, John 18. 40. Sedition and Murther, Luke 23. 19.)

17. Therefore when they were gathered together, Pilate (hoping they would be aſhamed to releaſe ſuch a Villain,) ſaid to them, Whom will you that I (ſhould) releaſe to you? Barabbas, or Jeſus, who is called Chriſt, (the King of the Jews? Mark 15. 9.)

18. (And this notorious Malefactor he propoſed to them, to preſerve Jeſus;) for he knew, that for Envy they had delivered him, (i. e. Jeſus into his Hands.)

19. When he was ſet down on the Judgment-Seat his Wife ſent to him (a Meſſenger,) ſaying, Have thou nothing to do with (the condemnation of) that juſt Man; for I have ſuffered many things this Day in a Dream, becauſe of him; (which convince me, it will be dangerous for thee to condemn him.)

20. But the chief Prieſts and Elders perſuaded the Multitude, that they ſhould ask Barabbas, and (deſire the Governour to) deſtroy Jeſus.

21. (Then) the Governour (being willing to releaſe Jeſus, Luke 23. 20.) anſwered, and (ἀποκριθεὶς, ſpeaking again,) ſaid to them, whither of the 'twain (mentioned,) will ye that I releaſe to you? They ſaid, (let it be) Barabbas.

22. Pilate ſaid to them, What ſhall I do then with Jeſus, who is called Chriſt? They all (in compliance with the chief Prieſts and Elders, ver. 20.) ſaid to him, Let him be crucified.

23. And the Governour ſaid, Why, (I find no cauſe of Death in him, Luke 23. 22.) what Evil hath he done (to deſerve it?) But they cried out the more, ſaying, Let him be crucified.

24. When Pilate ſaw that he could prevail nothing (in the behalf of Chriſt,) but that rather a Tumult was made, [e] he took Water, e and waſhed his Hands before the Multitude, ſaying, (I by this Ceremony declare, that) I am innocent of (from) the Blood of this juſt Perſon; ſee ye to it, (that it lye not heavy upon you.)

25. Then anſwered all the People, and ſaid, (Whatſoever Guilt there is in ſhedding) his Blood, (may it) be on us, and on our Children.

26. [f] Then (to gratifie the multitude, Mark f
15. 15.) releaſed he Barabbas to them; and when he had ſcourged (Gr. ſcourging,) Jeſus, he delivered him (up to them) to be crucified.

27. Then the Soldiers of the Governour took Jeſus into the Common-Hall, and gathered to him the whole Band of Soldiers.

28. And they ſtripped him (of his own Garments,) and [g] put on him a ſcarlet Robe, (ſuch g as was worn by Kings.)

29. And when they had platted a Crown of Thorns, they put it upon his Head; and (inſtead of a Scepter, they put) a Reed in his right Hand; and they bowed the Knee before him, and mocked him, ſaying, Hail King of the Jews.

30. And

30. And they ſpit upon him, and took the Reed (out of his Hand,) and ſmote him on the Head (with it.)

31. And after that they had (thus vilified and) mocked him, they took the Robe off from him, (dethroning him from his pretended Kingdom,) and put his own Raiment on him, and led him away to crucifie him.

32. And as they came out, they found a Man of Cyrene, Simon by Name, (coming h from the Field, Mark 15. 21.) [h] him they compelled to bear his Croſs (with him, who thro' Weakneſs, was not ſufficient to bear it to the place of Execution.)

33. And when they were come to a place i called [i] Golgotha, that is to ſay, a place of a (the) Skull, (where, ſaith Tradition, the firſt Adam was buried.) k 34. [k] They gave him Vinegar to drink, mingled with Gall, (to intoxicate him, and take off the ſenſe of his Pain;) and when he had taſted (thereof, or what it was,) he would not drink of it.

35 And (when) they (had) crucified him, and parted his Garments, (except his woven Coat, into four parts, John 19. 23, 24.) caſting Lots (for his Coat,) that it might be fulfilled which was ſpoken by the Prophet, (Pſal. 22. 19.) They parted my Garments among them, and upon my Veſture did they caſt Lots.

36. And then ſitting down, they watched him there.

37. And (Pilate) ſet up over his Head his Accuſation, written (in Hebrew, Greek, and Latin, Luke 23. 28.) THIS IS JESUS THE KING OF THE JEWS.

l 38. [l] Then were there two Thieves crucified with him, one on the right Hand, and another on the left; (and ſo that Scripture was fulfilled which ſaid, he was numbred with the Tranſgreſſors, Matth. 15. 28.)

39. And they that paſſed by, reviled him, wagging their Heads,

40. And ſaying, Thou that deſtroyeſt the Temple, and buildeſt it in three Days, ſave thy ſelf if thou be the Son of God, (and) come down from the Croſs.

41. Likewiſe alſo, the chief Prieſts mocking him, with the Scribes and Elders, ſaid, 42. He ſaved others, (but) himſelf he cannot ſave; if he be (indeed) the King of Iſrael, let him now come down from the Croſs, and we will believe (in) him.

43. He truſted in God, let him deliver him now, if he will have him, (or delighteth in him, Pſal. 22. 9.) for he ſaid, I am the Son of God.

44. (One of) the Thieves alſo, which were crucified with him, caſt the ſame in his Teeth, (ſaying, If thou be the Chriſt, ſave thy ſelf and us; but the other rebuked him, &c. Luke 23. 39, --- 43.)

45. Now from the ſixth Hour, there was Darkneſs over all the Land (of Judea,) until the ninth Hour, (the Sun being darkned, Luke 23. 45.)

46. And about the ninth Hour, Jeſus cried with a loud Voice, ſaying, [m] Eli, Eli, lama m ſabachthani, that is to ſay, My God, my God, why haſt thou (ſo) forſaken me, (as to give me into the Hands of my Enemies?)

47. Some of them that ſtood there, when they heard that, ſaid, This Man calleth for Elias.

48. And ſtraightway [n] one of them ran, and n took a Spunge, and filled it with Vinegar, (which the Soldiers drank,) and put it on a Reed, and gave (it) him to drink, (to recreate his Spirits.)

49. The reſt ſaid, Let be, (Gr. let him alone,) let us ſee whether Elias will come to ſave him.

50 Jeſus, when he had cried again with a loud Voice, (ſaid, Father, into thy Hands I commend my Spirit; and having ſaid this, John. 19. 28, --- 30. he) yielded up the Ghoſt.

51. And behold, [o] the Veil of the Temple o
(which parted the Holy Place from the moſt Holy,) was rent in twain from the top to the bottom; (Chriſt having, by his Death, procured for us an Entrance into the Holy of Holies, Heb. 10. 20.) and the Earth did quake, and the Rocks rent,

52. And the Graves were opened, and [p] ma- p ny Bodies of Saints, which ſlept, aroſe,

53. And came out of the (ir) Graves after his Reſurrection, (who was the Firſt-born from the Dead, Coloſ. 1. 18.) and went into the Holy City, and appeared to many.

54. Now when the Centurion, and they that were with him, watching Jeſus, (viz. the Soldiers, ver. 36.) ſaw the Earthquake, and thoſe things that were done; they feared greatly, ſaying, (Some of them) [q] truly, this q was the Son of God; (and others, this was a juſt Man, Luke 23. 47. and all that were preſent, ſmiting their Breaſts, departed, ver. 48.)

55. And many Women were there beholding afar off, which followed Jeſus from Galilee (to Jeruſalem,) miniſtring to him (of their Subſtance.)

56. Among which, was Mary Magdalene, and Mary the Mother of James (the leſs,) and Joſes, and the Mother of Zebedee's Children.

57. When the Even was come, there came r [r] a rich Man of Arimathea, (an honourable Counſellor, Mark 15. 43. a good and juſt Man, who expected the Kingdom of God, and conſented not to the Counſel or Deeds of them that condemned him, Luke 23. 50, 51.) named Joſeph, who alſo himſelf was Jeſus his Diſciple.

58. He went to Pilate, and begged the Body of Jeſus (that it might not be buried with the Malefactors;) then Pilate (enquiring of the Centurion, and being certified by him, that Jeſus was dead indeed, Mark 15. 44, 45.) commanded the Body to be delivered (to him.)

59. And when Joſeph had taken the Body, he wrapped it in a clean (fine) Linen Cloth; (and Nicodemus bringing a mixture of Myrrh and Aloes, of about an 100 l. weight, they wrap up the Body in the Linen Cloths, with the Spices, as the Jews uſe to Bury, John 19. 39, 40.)

s 60. And laid it in his own new Tomb, which he had hewn out of the (a) Rock, (and wherein was never yet Man laid, Joh. 19. 41.) and he rolled a great Stone to the Door of the Sepulchre, and departed.

61. And there was Mary Magdalene, and the other Mary, ſitting over againſt the Sepulchre; (who beheld where he was laid, Mark 15. 47. and prepared Spices and Ointments for his Body; Luke 23. 56.)

62. Now the next day that followed the Day of the Preparation, (viz. the Sabbath-day in the Morning,) the chief Prieſts and Phariſees came together to Pilate,

63. Saying, Sir, we remember that that Deceiver ſaid, whilſt he was yet alive, after three Days I will riſe again.

64. Command therefore, that the Sepulchre be made ſure until the third Day, leſt his Diſciples come by Night and ſteal him away, and ſay to the People, He is riſen from the Dead; ſo the laſt Error ſhall be worſe than the firſt.

65. Pilate ſaid to them, Ye have a Watch; go your way, and make it as ſure as you can.

66. So they went, and made the Sepulchre ſure; ſealing the Sone, (as Dan. 6. 17.) and ſetting a Watch, (i.e. a Guard of Sixty Roman Soldiers.)

a Ver. 3. Πέρεψε τὰ τριάκοντα ἀργύρια· Judas, when he ſaw that he was condemned, repenting, returned the thirty Pieces of Silver to the Chief Prieſts.] It ſeems to me not improbable, that Judas when he betrayed Chriſt, might have imagined, as the Diſciples did, and as the Jews thought of their Meſſias, that he would not have died, but either would have conveyed himſelf out of the Soldier's Hands, as he did from the Multitude when they ſought to ſtone him, or caſt him down a Precipice; or by ſome other miraculous way, would have preſerved himſelf: And when he ſaw it was otherwiſe, he is not only ſorry for what he had done, but confeſſes his Sin, throws back the Money as unlawfully got, and therefore not to be retained, but renounced together with the Sin; and proclaims the Innocency of his Lord: Yet that his Sorrow was not that godly Sorrow that works true Repentance, is evident from our Lord's Declaration, chap. 26. 24. That it had been better for him he had not been born; and from his going to his own place, Acts 1. 25. Moreover, it alſo ſeems to me a wonderful ſign of the ſtupidity of the Chief Prieſts and Elders, that they could anſwer, What is that to us? For, could they think it no ſin to hire a Man to betray innocent Blood? Do they not confeſs, this very Money was the price of Blood? ver. 6. And, was it not the very Money they gave to purchaſe that Blood? And, was not the Field they bought with it, ſtiled upon this account, The Field of Blood? And, was not this a laſting Teſtimony of their Guilt, whoſe Money purchaſed this Blood? And therefore, Stephen roundly tells them, that they had been οἱ προδόται, the Betrayers and Murtherers of that juſt one, Acts 7. 52. And they themſelves, when the Miracles done in Chriſt's Name, had awakened them, begin to be troubled, that the Apoſtles ſhould bring this Man's Blood upon them, Acts 5. 28.

b Ver. 5. Καὶ ἀπελθὼν ἀπήγξατο· And going away, he hanged himſelf.] That this is the proper import of theſe words, we learn from a parallel place in Arrian, upon (a) Epictetus, viz. That it is no intolerable thing to be hanged; for when any Man judges it reaſonable ſo to do, he goes and hangs himſelf. It bears no other ſenſe in Tobit, when Sarah, the Daughter of Raguel, is ſaid to be ſorry, ὥστε ἀπάγξασθαι, as to think of hanging her ſelf, Chap. 3. 10. or in the words of Job, Chap. 7. 15. Her Soul choſe Strangling, that violent kind of Death, rather than Life. This is evident, (1.) From the provocation which cauſed this Grief, viz. That her Maids reproached her as ἀποπνίξασα, having ſtrangled her ſeven Husbands; and, ſeeing they were thus dead, bid her go after them, ver. 8, 9. by theſe words, putting this very Thought into her Head; whence it follows, that hearing theſe things, ſhe was ſo troubled, ὥστε ἀπάγξασθαι, as to think of ſtrangling her ſelf. (2.) This is ſtill farther evident, from the conſidera-conſideration that reſtrained her, not from her Grief, but from doing as they bad her, ver. 9. If I ſhall do this, I ſhall be a reproach to my Father; not ſurely by being grieved and melancholy, but by cutting off my ſelf by ſuch a kind of Death as is the puniſhment of great Malefactors, ver. 10. And, (3.) That her Grief and Melancholy, and her deſire of Death, continued ſtill as long as ever, appeareth from her following Prayer to God, εἰπον ἀπολῦσαι μὲ, which is not to be rendred as Mr. Cl. doth, I ſaid, Take me away; for the words preceding, καὶ νῦν κύριε, will not admit of that Tranſlation. And, Now, O Lord, I ſaid, &c. but they are to be rendred in the Imperative thus, And now, O Lord, command, or ſpeak, that I may be taken away, and may not hear any more theſe Reproaches, ver. 13. and, if it pleaſes thee not to kill me, ἐπίταξον ἀπολυθῆναι, command that I may be delivered, ver. 6. So again is the Phraſe uſed of Achitophel, 2 Sam. 17. 23. ἀπῆλθεν καὶ ἀπήγξατο, He went way and hanged himſelf; not dying with exceſs of Grief and Melancholy, as ſome think; ſince that in all likelihood, would have hindred him from ſetting his Houſe in order, or giving ſuch a ſolemn charge concerning it: As for the Hebrew חנק that it very properly ſignifies ſuch a violent Suffocation, is apparent, in that this Chenek or Chinnuk, is one of their four Kinds of Death inflicted upon Malefactors, and that they uſed proverbially to ſay, (b) If you would be ſtrangled, hang your ſelf upon a great Tree. Nor is it neceſſary, that the word ſhould bear any other ſenſe in (c) Ælian, when he ſays, χλεύασμα δὲ μόνον ἐλύπησε ἀλλὰ καὶ ἀπέκτεινε, Scoffs have not only made Men ſad, but killed them: For tho' Socrates being ſcoffed at, laughed; yet Poliager ἀπήγξατο hanged himſelf: For theſe Scoffs might be ſaid to kill him, which cauſed him thus to ſlay himſelf. But then it will be asked, how this hanging himſelf can be reconciled with St. Peter's Account of the Death of Judas, that πρηνὴς γενόμενος, falling down headlong, or as ſome Copies have it, ἀποκρεμάμενος, thus hanging, he burſt aſunder, and all his Bowels guſhed out; ſuſpenſus crepuit medius, ſaith the Vulgar; that is, leaping down, or precipitating himſelf from the Tree on which he hanged himſelf, he had a Rupture, by reaſon of the great jerk of that Fall, which broke his Peritonæum, and made his Bowels fall into his Scrotum; which frequently happens upon Leaping, or other violent Motions of the lower Parts. And, if this reading of the Latin and ſome Greek Copies be allowed, St. Peter's Account will be only an improvement of what St. Matthew ſaid, and a Declaration of what followed upon hanging himſelf: Or, if we retain πρηνὴς γενόμενος, that is, ſaith Stephanus, in caput ſe dejiciens ex alto, ſeu πρηνιχθεὶς, and may be rendred præcipitatus, or ſemet præcipitans crepuit medius, and precipitating himſelf, he burſt in the middle; and then the Halter which made him πρηνὴς, or in caput propendens, will be ſtill hinted at by St. Peter. Or, if the falling of his Bowels into the Scrotum, be not thought ſufficient to anſwer thoſe words, his Bowels guſhed out, the Rim of his Belly being burſt, I know not why, in this extraordinary inſtance, we may not admit of a more than ordinary Providence, to render the Death of this Traytor the more remarkable. Thus of Herod Agrippa, (d) St. Chryſoſtom ſaith, That becauſe he gave not Glory to God, διερράγη καὶ ἐξεχύθη τὰ σπλάγχνα αὐτῦ, he burſt aſunder, and his Bowels guſhed out.

Ver. 9. Then was fulfilled that which was ſpoken, διὰ Ἱερεμίου τοῦ προφήτου, by Jeremiah the Prophet.] Againſt the Truth of this the Jews object, That the words cited here, are not to be found in Jeremy, but only in the Prophet Zachary: To which the Learned anſwer, e

1*ſt*, That it is not certain, that the word Jeremy was in the Original Copies; for the Syriac and Perſic Verſions have it not: So, when this Objection was made in (e) St. Auguſtine's time, he anſwers, Let this Objector know, that all Copies read not by Jeremy the Prophet, but ſome only by the Prophet, we may ſay therefore, thoſe Copies are moſt to be relied on which have not the Name of Jeremy: But then he ingeniouſly confeſſes, That he durſt not depend upon this Anſwer, becauſe moſt of the Latin, and moſt Greek Copies, had the word Jeremy; and it is not to be thought, they would have put in a word to make the Scripture faulty.

2*dly*, Dr. Lightfoot ſays, the Prophecy of Jeremiah was placed firſt in the Volume of the Prophets, and ſo became the running Title of that whole Volume; ſo that what was writ in any of them, might be ſaid to be written by Jeremy the Prophet; but, tho' Jeremy might be placed firſt, I can hardly think, that Jeremy the Prophet ſhould ſignifie the Prophet Iſaiah; and finding no other words of other Prophets cited thus in the whole New Teſtament, I can hardly believe theſe words were cited after this manner. And therefore,

3*dly*, Obſerve, that (f) St. Jerom expreſly affirms, That theſe very words, were writ, and read by him in an Apocryphal Book of the Prophet Jeremy. And ſeeing we find, 2 Maccab. 2. from ver. 1. to 9. many words ſpoken by the Prophet Jeremy, which are not in the Book of his Propheſie, why might not theſe words alſo have been ſpoken by him, and kept in memory, or in ſome Writing, till the time of Zachary? Of whom, it is obſervable, that he loved to uſe the words of Jeremy, as will appear by comparing Zach. 1. 4. with Jer. 18. 11. and Zach. 3. 8. with Jer. 23. 5. Hence the Jews uſed to ſay, the Spirit of Jeremy was in Zachary, and ſo both made but one Prophet; and the Biſhop of Bath and Wells, and Mr. Mede, think it highly probable, that Jeremiah wrote the 9th, 10th, and the 11th Chapters of Zechariah, in which laſt Chapter theſe words are.

d Ver. 15. Κατὰ δὲ ἑορτὴν εἰώθει ὁ ἡγεμὼν ἕνα ἀπολύειν, At the Feaſt he was wont to releaſe.] There being no ſuch Releaſe made by the Governour at the other Feſtivals of the Jews, but at this only; and becauſe a Releaſe was then κατὰ ἑορτὴν, according to the Nature of the Paſchal Feaſt, kept in memory of their releaſe from Egyptian Bondage; ſee Note on Mark 15. 6. 'Tis not here ſo proper to obſerve, that 'twas the cuſtom among other Nations, to releaſe their Priſoners on Feſtival Days, eſpecially if we conſider, that at leaſt at other Feſtivals, it was the cuſtom of the Jews to puniſh Criminals. See Note on Chap. 26. 5.

e Ver. 24. Λαβὼν ὕδωρ ἀπενίψατο τὰς χεῖρας, He took Water and waſhed his Hands before the Multitude, ſaying, I am clean from the Blood of this juſt Man.] He did this, ſaith (*) Origen, according to the cuſtom of the Jews, or, ex conſuetudine Judaica, volens eos de Chriſti innocentia non ſolum verbis, ſed facto inſtruere, being willing to aſſert Chriſt's Innocency to them not in words only, but by deed. Thus in the inſtance of unknown Murther, the Elders of the City were to waſh their Hands and ſay, our Hands have not ſhed this Blood, Deut. 21. 6, 7. and the Pſalmiſt having renounced all Confederacy with wicked and miſchievous Men, ſaith, I will waſh my Hands (in Teſtimony of my) Innocency, Pſal. 26. 6. And (g) Wagenſeil upon Sota thinks that Pilate had reſpect to this Rite; but others think he rather did it according to the cuſtom of the Gentiles, who thought to purge themſelves from Blood ſhed by them by waſhing. So the (h) Scholiaſt upon Sophocles in Ajace 3. 1. ſaith, It was the cuſtom among the Ancients when they had killed a Man, or ſhed Blood, to waſh their Hands in Water, to purifie them from their Defilement. And (i) Æneas in Virgil ſpeaketh to the ſame purpoſe.

f Ver. 26. Τότε ἀπέλυσεν αὐτοῖς Βαραββᾶν, Then he releaſed to them Barabbas.] This Barabbas was impriſoned for Sedition, and Murther, Luke 23. 25. So that if this were cuſtomary at this Feaſt to releaſe ſuch Criminals, then the Law concerning the ſhedding of the Blood of the wilful Murtherer, Num. 35. 31, 32. muſt admit of ſome Diſpenſation.

g Ver. 28. Περιέθηκαν αὐτῷ χλαμύδα κοκκίνην, They put on him a Purple Robe.] Some think the Soldiers did this by advice of the Jews, intending by this Purple to deride Chriſt's Pretence of being their Meſſiah; it being a Tradition with them, that when their Meſſiah comes he ſhall be cloathed with fine Purple. Moſes Haddarſ. in Breſchith Rabba cap. 49. 11. But this Conſultation of the Jews with them being mentioned by none of the Evangeliſts, I think the Soldiers rather did it in Deriſion of his Title to be King of the Jews. The κόκκινος ἁλικτόφυρος, and χιτὼν πορφυροῦς μεσόλυκος, the Sea Purple Coat, and Purple mixt with white, being proper to the Kings of Perſia. See Briſſon de Reg. Perſ. l. 1. p. 37, 38.

h Ver. 32. Τοῦτον ἠγγάρευσαν ἵνα ἄρῃ τὸν σταυρὸν αὐτοῦ, They found a Man of Cyrene, — him they compelled to bear his Croſs.] It was the cuſtom that he that was to be crucified ſhould bear his own Croſs, as (k) Lipſius proves from Artemidorus, and Plutarch; and ſo our Saviour for ſome time did, for he went forth βαστάζων τὸν σταυρὸν αὐτοῦ, bearing his Croſs, John 19. 17. Heb. 12. 2. but then ἐρχόμενοι going out with him, and finding it too burthenous for him, they compel this Simon to bear it either with or for him.

i Ver. 33. And when they were come to a place called Golgotha, ὅς ἐστι λεγόμενος κρανίου τόπος, that is to ſay, the place of a Skull.] It is, ſaith (l) Theophylact, 'a Tradition come down down to us from the Fathers, that Adam was buried here, and therefore, saith he, Christ, who was to heal the Fall, and Death of Adam, was here crucified, that where the beginning of Death was, there might be the dissolution of it; his Witnesses of this Tradition, are Origen, Tertullian, Epiphanius, Athanasius, and St. Augustin; St. Jerom only on this place saying, This is a favourable Interpretation and pleasing to the Ears of the People, nec tamen vera, but not true.

k Ver. 34. Ἔδωκαν αὐτῷ πιεῖν ὄξος μετὰ χολῆς μεμιγμένον, They gave him Vinegar to drink mingled with Gall.] They gave him, Mark 15. 23. οἶνον ἐσμυρνισμένον, Wine mixed with Wormwood, which differs not from this account, for לענה which signifies Wormwood, is by the Seventy rendred χολή, Prov. 5. 4. Lam. 3. 15. And so Merora, which hath its Name from Bitterness, is rendred, Job 16. 13. — 20. 14. This kind of Wine was given to intoxicate the condemned, and so to take away the sense of Pain, whence it is called οἶνος καλαυρήξεως, the stupifying Wine, Psal. 60. 3. on which account our Saviour, who needed none of these Arts to diminish his sense of Pain, that he might shew his Patience, and Readiness to suffer, refused to drink it. See Note on Luke 23. 36.

l Ver. 38. Then were crucified with him δύο λῃσαὶ, two Thieves, and ver. 44. οἱ λῃσαὶ, the Thieves upbraided him.] And yet one of them only did upbraid him. See Note on Luke 23.40. So the Soldiers brought him Vinegar, Luke 23. 36. John 19. 29. one of them did it, Matth. 27. 48. Mark 15. 36. the Disciples had Indignation, Matth. 26. 8. some of them, Mark 14. 4. one of them, John 12. 4. So Mark 16. 5. Matth. 28. 2. there is mention of one Angel only, but Luke 24. 4. John 20. 12. there is mention of two.

m Ver. 46. Θεέ μου, ἱνατί με ἐγκατέλιπες; My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me?] ~~Wonderful are the Tragedies some make, and~~ the Scruples they have raised upon these plain words; when yet,

1*st*, It is certain that in the Hebrew way of speaking, God is said to leave, or forsake any Person, when he suffers him to fall into great Calamities, and lie under great Miseries, and doth not help him out of them. And therefore Zion being long afflicted is brought in by the Prophet Isaiah thus complaining, ἐγκατέλιπέ με Κύριος, the Lord hath forsaken me, Κύριος ἐπελάθετό μου, the Lord hath forgotten me, Chap. 49. 14. And the Psalmist, as he is frequent in the same Complaint, viz. Psal. 10. 11. — 42. 10. — 43. 2. so doth he manifestly thus explain himself in the following words, Why art thou far from my Prayer, so that tho' I cry in the day time thou hearest not? Psal. 22. 2, 3, 4. Nor could David have any other meaning, when he calls God, so fiducially his God, as Christ also here doth, and even breaths his last in these words, Father, into thy Hands I commit my Spirit; and saith of his suffering Condition, it is finished, and doubted not but his Soul should that day be in Paradise; so impossible is it that in these words he should intimate any failure of his Trust in God, or any Perturbation of Spirit arising from the sense of Divine Wrath; this being certain and allowed, let Men say if they please, that now Satan was let loose upon him, because, after his first Temptation, he receded only from him for a Season, Luke 4. 13. And this was the hour of the Prince of Darkness, provided they still own, that the Prince of Darkness coming, found nothing in him, for his Temptations to work upon, John 14. 30. Let them add, if they please, that the Divine Glory parted from him, provided that they understand this κυριοπρεπῶς in a sense becoming our Lord; either as Dr. Hammond hath it on Psal. 22. 2. that the Divinity suspended its Influence so far as to deliver up his Body to Death; or that the sense of what he suffered was so great, as that he could not then attend, as formerly, to that sense of Divine Favour, or receive the Joy and Consolation from it, which he did before; the Experience of the highest Sorrows and the sublimest Joys at the same time being not well compatible even with the innocent Infirmities of human Nature; these things are perhaps gratis dicta, but not dishonourable to our blessed Lord.

n Ver. 48. One — taking a Sponge, filled it with Vinegar, καὶ περιθεὶς καλάμῳ ἐπότιζεν αὐτὸν, and putting it on a Reed gave him to drink.] So Mark 15. 36. whereas St. John saith, ὑσσώπῳ περιθέντες, putting it upon Hyssop they put it to his Mouth, Chap. 19. 29. which words the Criticks would without reason ~~change into δόρυ, a Javelin~~; whereas St. John's Hyssop may not only signifie the Leaves which by the Smell do recreate, but also the Stalk or Stem which might support the Sponge, that being, as their Mustard Seed, much greater in those Countries than it is with us.

o Ver. 51. Τὸ καταπέτασμα τοῦ ναοῦ ἐσχίσθη εἰς δύο, The Vail of the Temple was rent in twain.] They built no Partition Wall, saith Maimonides, in the second Temple between the Holy Place, and the Most Holy, tho' in the first Temple there was a Wall built betwixt them of the thickness of a Cubit, but they were divided by two Vails, one from the Extremity of the Most Holy Place, another from the Extremity of the Holy, with a void space of a Cubit. And so likewise was it, saith (m) Josephus, in the Temple restored by Herod, (m) Τὸ δ' ἐνδοτάτω μέρος διαίρετο ὁμοίως καταπετάσμασι πρὸς τὸ ἔξωθεν De bello Jud. l. 6. c. 14. p. 918.

Herod, in which there were two Vails, one for the Holy Place, another for the Adytum: This Vail, ſaith the Apoſtle, ſignifying, that the way into the Holy of Holies was not yet opened, Chriſt's Death procuring a new and living way into it, Heb. 9. 8. and therefore he having ſuffered, this Vail is rent.

p Ver. 52. Καὶ πολλὰ σώματα τῶν κεκοιμημένων ἁγίων ἠγέρθη, And many Bodies of the Saints which ſlept aroſe, &c.] Here note,

1*ſt*, That according to the Opinion of the Jews, when their Meſſiah came, there ſhould be a Reſurrection of ſome pious Men. Albo in libro Ikarim, par. 4. c. 35. Note,

2*dly*, That it is here expreſly ſaid, theſe Saints aroſe out of their Sepulchres μετὰ τὴν ἔγερσιν αὐτοῦ, after Chriſt's Reſurrection, he being the Firſt-born from the dead: By this Example Chriſt would confirm them in his great Promiſe, that he would raiſe all that believed in him to eternal Life. And (n) ſome, ſay they, were raiſed to live in Paradiſe with Enoch and Elias.

3*dly*, Who were the Perſons raiſed after this manner, it is not eaſie to conjecture. (o) Ignatius ſaith, they were the holy Prophets, who were his Diſciples, and expected him, and who are ſaid, to enter into the Kingdom of God, with Abraham, Iſaac, and Jacob, Luke 13. 28. My Conjecture is, they might be ſome of thoſe who believed in Jeſus as old Simeon did, and died before his Reſurrection; for it is obſervable from St. John, that Chriſt not only promiſed a Reſurrection, to all that believed on him, at the laſt day, but alſo ſaid, the hour is coming, and now is, that the dead ſhall hear the Voice of the Son of Man, John 5. 25. And that this Reſurrection was both a proper Reſurrection, and was to precede the general Reſurrection, is proved in the Note on that place, and ſo could be no other than the Reſurrection mentioned here. Moreover of theſe Perſons it is ſaid, that they went into the holy City, and appeared to many; whence it is probable they were Perſons known to them to whom they did appear, and if ſo, they muſt be Men who lived in the time of their Knowledge.

Ver. 54. Ἀληθῶς Θεοῦ υἱὸς ἦν οὗτος, Truly this was the Son of God.] It ſeems apparent from theſe words, that the Son of God did not always ſignifie one that was ſo by virtue of an internal, and eternal Generation, but one that was his beloved, and adopted Son; for what is here the Son of God, is in St. Luke, Chap. 23. 47. this was a juſt Man, and v. 43. they ſpeak thus, he truſted in God, let him deliver him if he delighteth in him, for he ſaid, I am the Son of God. The Jews knew very well from Pſal. 2. that their Meſſiah was to be the Son of God; but that they did not know him to be ſo in this higher ſenſe ſeems evident, becauſe they did not know how David could call him Lord, Chap. 22. 46. q

Ver. 57. Joſeph of Arimathea.] See the Note on Mark 15. 43. r

Ver. 60. Καὶ ἔθηκεν αὐτὸ ἐν τῷ καινῷ αὐτοῦ μνημείῳ, And put it in his new Tomb.] What follows here, tends highly to the Confirmation of the truth of our Lord's Reſurrection; for his Body being put into a Tomb, in which no Man had laid before, if any one roſe from it, it muſt be our Lord. 2*dly*, The Tomb being hewed out of a Rock, there could be no digging through it to convey Chriſt's Body thence. 3*dly*, There being a Band of ſixty Roman Soldiers placed there, as a Watch to preſerve the Body from being ſtollen, 'tis not to be ſuppoſed that the Diſciples ſhould beat this Band, and ſo there could be no ground of Suſpicion that our Lord was not truly riſen. s a b 1. IN the [a] end of the Sabbath, as it began [b] to dawn towards the firſt day of the week, came Mary Magdalen, and the other Mary (mentioned, Chap. 27. 56.) to ſee the Sepulchre, (having with them Spices to embalm his Body, Luke 24. 1. and about the Sun riſing they got thither, Mark 16. 2.)

2. And behold (while they were conſulting by the way who ſhould roll away the great Stone from the Sepulchre, that they might get to him) there was (before they came thither) a great Earthquake, for the (an) Angel of the Lord (had) deſcended from Heaven, and came, and rolled (Gr. and coming rolled) back the Stone from the Door (of the Sepulchre) and ſat upon it.

3. (And) his Countenance (or Appearance) was like Lightning, and his Raiment (was) white as Snow.

4. And for fear of him, (and by reaſon of the Earthquake) the Keepers (of the Sepulchre) did ſhake, and became as dead Men.

5. And

(n) Author. Q. & Reſp. ad qu. 85.

(o) Οὐ γὰρ οἱ τυχόντες τῷ πνεύματι ὡς διδάσκαλον αὐτὸν προσεδόκων, καὶ διὰ τοῦτο οὓν δικαίως ἀνέμενον παρὼν ἠγειρεν αὐτοὺς ἐκ νεκρῶν. Epiſt. ad Magneſ. §. 9.

5. And the Angel anſwered, (i. e. ſpake) and ſaid to the (affrighted) Women, fear not ye, for I know that ye ſeek Jeſus which was crucified;

6. He is not here (where you expected to find his Body,) for he is riſen as he ſaid (he would, and for your Satisfaction that it is even ſo) come (nearer to the Sepulchre, and) ſee the place where the Lord lay.

7. And go quickly, and tell his Diſciples (and Peter in particular) that he is riſen from the dead, and behold he goeth before you into Galilee (as he ſaid to you, Matth. 26. 32. Mark 14. 28.) there ſhall you ſee him, lo I have told you (the Truth.)

8. And they departed (Gr. departing) quickly from the Sepulchre with Fear and great Joy, and did run, (Gr. ran) to bring his Diſciples word (of what they had ſeen, and heard.)

9. And as they went to tell his Diſciples, behold Jeſus met them, ſaying, all hail, (i. e. be joyful,) and they (when they were ſatisfied that it was Jeſus) came, and held him by the Feet, and worſhipped him.

10. Then ſaid Jeſus to them, be not afraid, (but) go tell my Brethren, (i. e. my Diſciples,) that they go into Galilee, and there ſhall they ſee me.

11. Now when they were going (gone,) behold ſome of the Watch came into the City, and ſhewed to the Chief Prieſts, all the things that were done.

12. And when they were aſſembled with the Elders, and had taken Counſel (what was to be done to diſguiſe the matter) they gave large (Sums of) Money to the Soldiers (that watched,)

13. Saying, (having received this) [c] ſay ye, his Diſciples came by Night, and ſtole him aways while we ſlept. c

14. And if this come to the Governour's Ear, we will perſuade (or pacifie) him, and ſecure you (from harm.)

15. So they took the Money, and did as they were taught: And this ſaying is commonly reported among the Jews until this day.

16. [d] Then (and) the eleven Diſciples went away (from Jeruſalem) into Galilee, to a Mountain where Jeſus had appointed them (to meet him.) d

17. And when they ſaw him, they worſhipped him; but ſome (of the Company) doubted (whether it was he indeed, or not.)

18. And Jeſus came (nigh) and ſpake unto them, ſaying, [e] all Power is given to me in Heaven and in Earth, (and ſo you need not doubt of my Protection, and Aſſiſtance.) e

19. [f] Go ye therefore and teach all Nations, baptizing them in the Name (or into the belief) of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghoſt. f

20. Teaching them to obſerve all things whatſoever I have commanded you; and [g] lo, I am with you alway, even to the end of the World. Amen. g a Ver. 1. Ὀψὲ τ Σαββάτων, In the end of the Sabbath,] Or rather after the Sabbath; ſo ὀψὲ τούτων, after theſe things, ὀψὲ νυκτὸς, after night; ſee many Examples of this in Stephanus: And ſo this perfectly agrees with the other Evangeliſts, who ſay, this was done the Sabbath being ended, Mark 16. 1. or the firſt day of the week, Luke 24. 1. John 20. 1. And perhaps St. Matthew mentions Sabbaths in the Plural, becauſe there were two Sabbaths in that week, the Paſchal Sabbath on Friday, and the ordinary Sabbath on Saturday.

b Ibid. Ἐπιφωσκούσῃ εἰς μίαν Σαββάτων, When it began to dawn into the firſt day of the week;] i. e. To Sunday, or the Lord's day, for μία τ Σαββάτων always ſignifies the firſt day of the Week, or the Lord's day, or the day of his Reſurrection from the Dead; and thus the word μία uſually ſignifies in the Septuagint, when it is joined with days, weeks, or months; as the Evening and the Morning were ἡμέρα μία, the firſt day, Gen. 1. 5. So ἡμέρα μία τ μηνὸς, is the firſt day of the month, Exod. 40. 2. Ezra 3. 6. — 10. 17. And ſo is μία τ μηνὸς, Lev. 23. 24. Numb. 1. 1, 18. — 29. 1. — 33. 38. Deut, 1. 3. Ezek. 26. 1. — 32. 1. — 45. 18. Hag. 1. 1. — 2. 1. See Note on 1 Cor. 16. 2. Upon this day in the Evening Chriſt appeared to the Twelve, John 20. 19. and again, ver. 26. and to the two Diſciples, Luke 24. 13. It alſo is reported of the Chriſtians by (a) Pliny, that they uſed ſtato die ante lucem convenire, to meet upon a ſet day before it was Light, and this day from the beginning was called ἡ κυριακὴ, the Lord's day, and was by Chriſtians from the beginning employed in acts of religious Worſhip. See the former Note. So (b) Ignatius exhorts Chriſtians not to ſabbatize with the Jews, but to live κατὰ κυριακὴν, according to the Lord's Day, in which our Life aroſe with him. So the true Gnoſtick, ſaith (c) Clemens of Alexandria, κυριακὴν ἐκείνην τ ἡμέραν ποιεῖ, obſerves the Lord's day, glorifying in himſelf the Reſurrection of our Lord, when he caſts away every evil Thought, and receives the true Knowledge. (d) Irenæus ſaith, c Ver. 13. Εἴπατε, ὅτι οἱ μαθηταὶ αὐτοῦ νυκτὸς, ἐλθόντες ἔκλεψαν αὐτὸν ἡμῶν κοιμωμένων, ſay, that his Diſciples came by Night and ſtole him away while we ſlept.] If this Hiſtory of the Soldiers be true, it is the greateſt Confirmation of our Lor'ds Reſurrection; for then they muſt not only have been convinced of it by the Earthquake, and the Viſion of the Angel which ſtruck them with the greateſt Terror, but muſt have told all theſe things that were done in the City, ver. 11. and ſo have raiſed all Mens Curioſity to go, and ſee whether Chriſt's Body was yet in the Grave; beſides here the whole Body of the Sanhedrim or Elders of the Jews are charged with a moſt execrable Fact, viz. the hiring the whole Band of Soldiers to tell a Lie againſt their certain Knowledge, and their former Declaration made in the City; yea to tell a ſenſeleſs Lie, viz. that the Diſciples ſtole away Chriſt's Body while they ſlept, for if they were indeed aſleep, they could not tell that his Diſciples came at all; if they were not aſleep, they lied in ſaying that they were. Now is it eaſie to believe that the Sanhedrim who had theſe Men ſo oft before them, and under Examination for this very Teſtimony that Chriſt was riſen from the Dead, ſhould never ſay one word to vindicate themſelves from this vile Imputation, ſo expreſly charged upon them, within eight Years after the thing was done, or that Money ſhould ſo corrupt a Band of Soldiers, that not one of them ſhould ever after this divulge the Truth? Beſides, how unlikely it was that the Apoſtles either would attempt to ſteal away their Maſter's dead Body, or having done this to continue teſtifying, that he was riſen from the Dead, or that they ſhould ſucceed in this Attempt, hath been already ſhewed in the general Preface to this Work.

d Ver. 16. Οἱ δὲ ἕνδεκα μαθηταὶ ἐπορεύθησαν εἰς τὴν Γαλιλαίαν, Then the eleven Diſciples went into Galilee, unto a Mountain where Jeſus had appointed them.] That Chriſt promiſed after his Reſurrection to go before them into Galilee, we read, Chap. 26. 32. thither the Angel here, ver. 7. and Chriſt himſelf directs them to go to ſee him, ver. 10. but there is not the leaſt mention of any Mountain in Galilee to which he bad them go to ſee him; and therefore theſe words, where Chriſt had appointed them, refer not to the Mountain, but to Galilee; but there being a Mountain which Chriſt frequented, and on which he had been before transfigured, this moved the Diſciples to go to that Mountain. Moreover 'tis obſervable, that they went not into Galilee till above eight days after Chriſt's Reſurrection. for Chriſt appeared to them at Jeruſalem eight days after, John 20. 19. And when they went, doubtleſs they went not alone, but the Curioſity of thoſe that were with them, Luke 24. 9, 33. would likely move them to go to the place where he had appointed to be ſeen; and they, and the other Diſciples which were then in Galilee, make up the five hundred Brethren of which he was ſeen at once, 1 Cor. 15. 6.

e Ver. 18. Ἐδόθη μοι πᾶσα ἐξουσία ἐν οὐρανῷ καὶ ἐπὶ τῆς γῆς, All Power is given me in Heaven and in Earth.] That this Power was given to Chriſt is, ſaith Woltzogenius, a certain Argument that he is not God, for the moſt high God judgdeth, and commanded by his own Power, which he always had, and received from none, whereas Chriſt received this Power from his Father, and that in time, viz. after his Reſurrection.

Anſw. To this I anſwer, That it is true that this Power was given to Chriſt, becauſe he was the Son of Man, John 5. 27. i. e. becauſe he in his human Nature had exerciſed the Office of a Prophet, and after of a Prieſt, but then it was exerciſed by the fulneſs of the Godhead dwelling in him. So all the Bleſſings of the Jews are ſaid to come out of Zion, or from the Sanctuary, but they came thence becauſe the Divine Majeſty dwelt there; now the human Nature of Chriſt is the Temple of the Deity, or the Tabernacle in which the λόγος dwels, and from it all Bleſſings are derived on the Church by virtue of the Deity united to him. And this will be apparent from the Conceſſions of (e) Woltzogenius here, that Chriſt hath obtained an illimited Empire over all things, a Divine Power over the Bodies, and Souls of Men, and Wiſdom to diſcern their Hearts and Reins; for he to whom any Office duly is committed, muſt have ſufficient Power, and Wiſdom to diſcharge that Office. Now to govern all things in Heaven and Earth, belongs only to him who is the Lord and Maker of them, and therefore is known by this Title both in Scripture and among the Heathens. See Note on Rom. 9. 5. and and Psal. 33. 18. —97. 5, 9. To have Power over Death, and to be able to raise the Dead, is to have that Power which is proper to God alone. See Note on Philip. 3. 20. and to have Power over the Souls of Men, and have the Knowledge of all Hearts, belongs to God alone, 1 Kings 8. 39. Jer. 17. 10.

Object. There was no need this Power should be given to the human Nature, seeing he had received it by virtue of the Hypostatick Union.

Answ. He had before received the Power by which he doth still exercise this Dominion, but he could not exercise it whilst he was in the state of his Humiliation and in the form of a Servant, as now he doth, being exalted in this nature to the right Hand of Majesty, and placed upon the Throne of Glory.

Object. But Christ's human Nature is no Person, whereas to govern and judge are Actions proper to a Person.

Answ. So to eat, drink and sleep are in us personal Actions, and yet they agreed only to Christ's human Nature. To speak in the Language of the Schools, the principium quod of these Actions is God and Man, or Christus θεάνθρωπος, but the principium quo is sometimes the divine, sometimes the human Nature of Christ, v. g. Christ walked upon the Sea, i. e. he walked by virtue of his human Nature, he sustained himself from sinking by the Divine, and he who thus walked was God and Man.

f Ver. 19. Μαθητεύσατε πάντα τὰ ἔθνη, Teach all Nations.] Μαθητεύειν here is to preach the Gospel to all Nations, and to engage them to believe it in order to their Profession of that Faith by Baptism; as seems apparent, (1.) From the parallel Commission, Mark 16. 15. Go preach the Gospel to every Creature, he that believeth, and is baptized shall be saved. (2.) From the Scripture Notion of a Disciple, that being still the same as a Believer: As in that Question of the Blind Man, will you also be his Disciples? i. e. will you believe he is a Prophet sent from God? And in the Answer of the Pharisees, we are the Disciples of Moses, for we know that God spake by him, and therefore believe what he spake in the Name of God, John 9. 27, 28, 29. Hence we find many besides the Twelve who were called Christ's Disciples, even as many as assented to his Doctrine, and judged him a Prophet sent from God. And we find many of his Disciples murmuring and crying out, this is an hard Saying, who can bear it? John 6. 60, 61. And many of his Disciples departing from him, ver. 66. and many of his Disciples going with him to the City Naim, Luke 7. 11. tho' it is probable that these Disciples did not yet believe that he was the Christ the Son of the living God, as the Twelve did, John 9. 27. And even the Disciples of the Baptist are called Disciples, i. e. Professors to believe the Gospel, tho' they had no Knowledge of the Holy Ghost, nor had received Christian Baptism, Acts. 19 2, 6. And in this sense the Holy Jesus made many Disciples, and by his Apostles baptized them into this Faith, that he was a Prophet sent from God, John 4. 1, 2. tho' he would not suffer his Disciples to publish that he was the Christ, the Son of the living God, till after his Resurrection, Matth. 16. 20. After which time all that believed on him had no other name for a season but that of his Disciples, Acts 9. 1, 10, 19, 26, 38. As when 'tis said, the Disciples were multiplied, Acts 6. 1, 2, 7. tho' afterwards at Antioch the Disciples began to be called Christians, Acts 11. 26.

If here it should be said that I yield too much to the Antipædobaptists, by saying that to be made Disciples here, is to be taught to believe in Christ, that so they might be his Disciples, I desire any one to tell me how the Apostles could μαθητεύειν make a Disciple of an Heathen or unbelieving Jew without being μαθηταὶ or Teachers of them; whether they were not sent to preach to those that could hear, and to teach them to whom they preached that Jesus was the Christ, and only to baptize them when they did believe this. This is so absolutely necessary in the Nature of the thing, till a Christian Church among the Heathens, or the Jews was founded, and so expresly said by (f) Justin Martyr to have been the practice in the first Ages of the Church, that to deny what is confirmed by such Evidence of Reason and Church History, would be to prejudice a Cause, which in my poor Judgment, needs not this Interpretation of the word μαθητεύειν, nor needs it be asserted that Infants are made Disciples, any more than that they are made Believers by Baptism, but only that they are, and ought to be admitted into the Christian Church and Kingdom of God, and into the new Covenant by Baptism, if they be Children of believing Parents. Now against this I presume 'tis no Objection, that the unbelieving Jews and Gentiles were first to be taught, and believe the Christian Faith, before they were baptized and could not be baptized without it, or that Infants cannot be taught, or believe whilst they continue such.

Ver. 20. Ἐγὼ μεθ' ὑμῶν εἰμι πάσας τὰς ἡμέρας ἕως τῆς συντελείας τοῦ αἰῶνος, And lo I am with you always to the end of the World.] That these g words contain a Promiſe of Chriſt's Preſence with, and Aſſiſtance of the Miniſters of the Goſpel, throughout all Ages of the World, is evident from the words πάσας τὰς ἡμέρας, at all times; for had our Lord made this Promiſe with relation to the Apoſtles only, he would have ſaid πᾶσας τὰς ἡμέρας ὑμῶν, all your days; and it is ſtill more evident from the following words, ἕως τ῀ συντελείας τ῀ αἰῶνος· for that they are duly rendred to the end of the World, is evident from the continual uſe of them elſewhere, eſpecially in this Evangeliſt, who in one Chapter uſes this Phraſe three times, concerning the general Judgment which is to be at the end of the World, viz. Chap. 13. 39, 40, 49. and Chap. 24. 3. of that time which the Jews thought contemporary with the general Reſurrection, and ſo with the end of the World. For as Dr. Lightfoot notes on the place, the Jews held that at the coming of the Meſſiah, the old World ſhould be deſtroyed, and there ſhould be a Renovation of it. And, (3.) This may be farther argued from the apparent Falſhood of the new Expoſition of theſe words, Behold I will be with you till the end of the Jewiſh Age, or till the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem, ſeeing according to this Interpretation, Chriſt ſending his Servants to preach his Goſpel to all the Heathen Nations, doth only promiſe his Preſence with them, till the Jewiſh Church was ſubverted, but not when, after the ſubverſion of it, the Churches of the Gentiles were chiefly to be erected; yea then no Perſon, no not the Evangeliſt St. John, had any Commiſſion from Chriſt to preach the Goſpel to the Heathen Nations any longer, nor any Promiſe of Chriſt's Aſſiſtance with them, which yet is plainly falſe, ſeeing the Promiſe of Chriſt's miraculous Aſſiſtance made in the parallel place, Mark 16. 16, 18. continued ſenſibly till the beginning of the fourth Century.

AN

To Chapter the Second:

Concerning the Import of that Phraſe ἵνα πληρωθῇ, that it might be fulfilled, &c.

HERE being many things ſaid to be done, ἵνα, or ὅπως πληρωθῇ, that it might be fulfilled which was ſpoken by the Prophet, ſaying, thus or thus; I think it needful to ſay ſomething of the true import of that Phraſe, by way of Enquiry, Whether it ſometimes only notes that ſuch an Action may by Accommodation be ſaid to be the fulfilling of the words of the Prophets cited, becauſe they were more ſignally accompliſhed by that Action, than by the Actions to which they in the Prophet do relate, tho' no ſuch thing was by the Prophet, or by the Spirit of God intended when the words were ſpoken? Or, whether it be neceſſary by virtue of thoſe words, to ſay the Holy Ghoſt intended that thoſe words ſhould be more ſignally accompliſhed by ſome Actions or Paſſions which were afterwards to happen? In anſwer to which Queſtion I ſay;

1*ſt*, That when the Phraſe runs thus, this was done ἵνα, or ὅπως πληρωθῇ, i. e. to this end, that ſuch or ſuch a Propheſie might be fulfilled; I think it neceſſary to ſay, that very Completion of it by that Action ſhould be intended by the Holy Ghoſt, ſince otherwiſe that Action can in no propriety of Speech be ſaid to be performed for that end.

Object. The only conſiderable Inſtance to the contrary is taken from thoſe words of St. John, Chap. 12. 38, 39. But tho' he had done ſo many Miracles among them they believed not, ἵνα πληρωθῇ, that the Saying of Iſaiah might be fulfilled, viz. Who hath believed our Report? &c. For ſeeing the Prediction of the Prophet could be no cauſe of their Infidelity, it ſeems improper to affirm, that they believed not, that this Prediction might be verified.

Anſw. To this I anſwer, That in all Predictions of evil Actions to be performed by free Agents, or Agents capable of being diverted from them by providential Actions, or ſtrong Impreſſions made upon their Spirits, there is not only a Fore-knowledge that the Action, if Providence interpoſe not, will be done, but a Decree, or Declaration that Providence will not interpoſe to hinder them, but will permit ſuch Perſons to act according to their evil Inclinations. So that the Import of theſe words may be only this; that God foreſeeing the Infidelity of the Jews, left them to the Blindneſs and Hardneſs of their own Hearts, permitting them to continue in it, that the ſaying of Iſaiah might be fulfilled. So that tho' the Prediction was not the proper, and internal cauſe of their Infidelity, yet was the Completion of it the final cauſe of the Divine Permiſſion; and therefore the Action, tho' he be no way productive of it, or obliged to hinder it, yet being a Permiſſion by way of Puniſhment of Mens evil Diſpoſitions, in ſuch caſes is aſcribed to God; as when God is ſaid to ſend among Men ſtrong Deluſions to believe a Lie, becauſe they received not the Truth in the Love of it, but had pleaſure in Unrighteouſneſs, 2 Theſſ. 2. 10, 11, 12.

2*dly*, Of the places where this Phraſe ἵνα or ὅπως πληρωθῇ, that it might be fulfilled, occurs, I thus diſtinguiſh, that in ſome of them the Jews might know, before the doing of the Action, that ſuch a thing was by the Prophet intended or deſigned to be fulfilled by the coming of their Meſſiah; as v. g. that a Virgin ſhould conceive and bear a Son, Iſa. 7. 14. Matth. 1. 23. that their Meſſiah was to die for the Sins of the people, Iſa. 53. 7, 8. Matth. 26. 54. that he ſhould come riding on a Colt, the Foal of an Aſs, Zach. 9. 9. Matth. 21. 4, 5. that his Side ſhould be pierced, Zach. 12. 10. John 19. 37. It being natural for the Jews to enquire touching ſuch words as theſe, of whom ſpeaketh the Prophet this? and hence we find their Doctors

Moreover, it being ſo expreſly foretold, and generally received among the Jews, that their Meſſiah was to be the Son of David, and therefore to reſemble him, that nothing is more common in their Writings than to apply to him the words of David, and even to call him David, after the Example of the Holy Prophets, Ezek. 34. 23, 24. — 37. 24, 25. Hoſ. 3. 5. ſaying of their King Meſſiah, דוד הדשמיה, David is his Name. See Dr. Pocock on Hoſ. 3. 5. and Pugio fidei par. 2. c. 5. §. 8. I ſay this being ſo, it could not be difficult for them to believe, or conceive the words ſpoken by, or relating to David, might by the Intention of God, have an higher, or more eminent Completion in this ſecond David their King; thus that by his ſpeaking in Parables, Matth. 13. 35. that of the Pſalmiſt might be more eminently fulfilled, I will open my Mouth in Parables, Pſal. 78. 2. that by the providential Preſervation of his Bones from being broken, that which the ſame Pſalmiſt ſaith of the righteous Man, ſhould be more eminently fulfilled in him; he keepeth all his Bones, ſo that not one of them is broken, Pſal. 34. 20. That by the Treachery of Judas in betraying his Maſter, John 13. 18. that which was ſpoken of Abſalom's Inſurrection againſt David, might have a more eminent completion in our Lord, viz. He that eateth Bread with me hath lift up his Heel againſt me. In all theſe things, I ſay, there could be nothing ſtrange to the Jews, who, as their Targum on the Pſalms demonſtrates, do expound places, more obſcurely if at all relating to him, of their King Meſſiah. And this they had greater reaſon to believe, when by their own Confeſſion, the Pſalm from which the words are cited, doth relate to Chriſt, and the words cited were not verified of David, as when, by the Soldiers parting of Chriſt's Garments, and caſting Lots for his Coat that was without Seam, John 19. 24. that of Pſal. 22. 19. is ſaid to be fulfilled, they parted my Garments among them, and for my Veſture did they caſt Lots.

But then in other Inſtances it was not neceſſary that the Jews ſhould underſtand, nor is it eaſie to conceive how, without teaching, they could underſtand they were to be accompliſhed in their Meſſiah; or by theſe Actions done by him, to which they are applied by the Evangeliſt; as v. g. that the words of Hoſea, Chap. 11. 1. Out of Egypt have I called my Son, ſhould be accompliſhed by God's calling his Son Chriſt out of Egypt, Matth. 2. 15. or how that which was ſaid by the Prophets of Chriſt's being deſpiſed, and rejected, ſhould be made good by Chriſt's dwelling at Nazareth, ver. 23. or that by the coming of the Meſſiah to them, the Land of Zabulon and Naphthali ſhould be enlightned, Matth. 4 14. that by the doing his Miracles in ſuch Secreſie, and without Contention, that of the Prophet ſhould be fulfilled, He ſhall not cry, nor liſt up, nor cauſe his Voice to be heard in the Streets, Iſa. 42. 2. All theſe, I ſay, are things the Jews could never know, unleſs they did receive it by Tradition, that they were things relating to the Meſſiah promiſed to them.

But then I add, that there was no neceſſity they ſhould before hand know that any of theſe things were thus intended by the Prophets, they being not produced by the Evangeliſts, to prove our Jeſus muſt be the Meſſiah promiſed to the Jews, or to convince the Infidel, but only as Inſtances, which they, by the ſame Spirit which ſpake by the Prophets, were aſſured did belong unto him; and of this all the believing Jews, and Gentiles might be aſſured by the Authority of the Evangeliſts, whom they ſaw aſſiſted by the ſame Spirit which moved the Prophets, and thereby equally enabled to give us the true Interpretation, and Intendment of them. From what is here laid down it follows,

1*ſt*, That it is no ſufficient Objection againſt this Aſſertion, that if theſe myſtical Senſes were intended by the Prophets, or by the Holy Ghoſt ſpeaking by them; the Jews could never underſtand theſe Propheſies before the Event. For it was ſufficient that they might be underſtood by them in the primary and literal Senſe of them before, and that after the Event they might be underſtood by them in the myſtical Senſe alſo, by virtue of that Explication, which Men aſſiſted by the ſame Spirit, which did at firſt indite them, gave of them, or in which they averred they were again fulfilled. And I hope it is no Objection againſt the Predictions contained in the Revelations of St. John, that we do not at preſent underſtand them, it being ſufficient that Chriſtians ſhall underſtand them in thoſe times in which they are to be fulfilled. Nor,

2*dly*, Is it adviſedly ſaid that the Authority of the Apoſtles is not in theſe paſſages produced as that which added Strength to their Reaſonings? For in theſe Paſſages they never do pretend to Reaſon, but barely to aſſert; and ſurely the Authority of Men delivering theſe things by virtue of the Spirit, ſent down from Heaven to teach them all things, and lead them into all Truth, muſt be ſufficient to prove the Truth of what they ſay concerning all theſe places: Now this Authority the Apoſtles, and Evangeliſts muſt aſcribe to themſelves in all theſe Writings, or the whole Church of Chriſt muſt be continually miſtaken, in receiving the Goſpels written by them, as the word of God, and the unqueſtionable Rules of Faith; for if you only have recourſe to their Honeſty in relating things, you never will perſuade Men to believe, that by the Strength of Memory they could record, not only all they have delivered of Chriſt's Actions, but all his Sermon on the Mount, and his long Diſcourſes in St. John, eſpecially Chapter the ſixth, and Chap. 13. to the 17. ſo exactly, as that we can be certain they did in nothing vary from the true meaning of the words of Chriſt, eſpecially if the Goſpel of St. John was written, as is ſuppoſed, almoſt ſeventy Years after the words recorded in it had been ſpoken by our Lord; it therefore either muſt be ſaid, that the Holy Spirit promiſed to them for that end, did bring theſe things to their remembrance, and did enable them by comparing ſpiritual things with ſpiritual, thus to apply theſe places to their particular Events; or it muſt be owned that theſe Goſpels in which theſe Paſſages are ſo applied, and all theſe long Diſcourſes are recited, are of no certainty, and ſo can be to us no Rule of Faith.

Moreover, let it be noted that they neither did, nor could they take it for granted, that any of theſe places ſhould be ſo explained, by reaſon of any received Tradition of the Jews, there being no ſuch Explication of them to be found in any of their Targums, or cited by thoſe who have converſed moſt in the Rabbinical and Cabbaliſtical Expoſitions of the Jews. In a word, either theſe ſuppoſed traditionary Expoſitions were intended by the Holy Ghoſt, or they were not; if they were, the Apoſtles deliver'd a certain Truth, when they ſaid theſe things were done, that it might be fulfilled which was ſpoken by the Prophets; if they were not, they muſt be guilty of a manifeſt untruth, in declaring they were done that the Scriptures, or the Sayings of the Prophets might be fulfilled; when by the doing of them, only the falſe, and extravagant Traditions of the Jews were accompliſhed, but nothing at all was done which the Holy Ghoſt intended in the enditing of thoſe Scriptures.

3*dly*, I add, that when the words run only thus τότε ἐπληρώθη, then was fulfilled ſuch a thing ſpoken by the Prophets, tho' I ſee no neceſſity of ſo doing, we may admit of a Completion by way of Accommodation. That there is no neceſſity of granting this, I hope I have made appear in my Notes on Matth. 2. 17. — 27. 9. the only places where this Phraſe is uſed; yet ſince the end of doing ſuch an Action is not here expreſſed, and therefore the ſame reaſon of any farther Intention of the Holy Ghoſt doth not here obtain; I ſay, we may in theſe caſes admit of an Accommodation. And having thus ſaid what doth ſufficiently anſwer all that Mr. Cl. and Woltzogenius ſay on this Subject; I proceed with all due reſpect both to the Piety, and Learning of Mr. Dodwell, to conſider what Mr. Clerc here citeth from him. And,

1*ſt*, Whereas he ſuppoſes God did intend the Prophecies which were committed to Writing, and enrolled in the publick Canon of the Church, ſhould be underſtood by the perſons concerned in them; I grant this when they are concerned in them, i. e. when they are fulfilled by the Event; but will any Man hence infer that the Jews muſt rightly underſtand in every Age the Propheſies of Jacob, Gen. 49. or the Song of Moſes, Deut. 33. or Ezekiel's Deſcription of the Temple, from Chap. 40. to the end; or Daniel's Propheſies, Chap. 9. and 11. or that the Chriſtians muſt in all Ages underſtand the Contents of the Revelations of St. John, which were to be ſent to the Churches, and which undoubtedly concern what ſhould befal them? Old Jacob ſaith to his Sons, Come, I will tell you what ſhall befal you in the laſt days, Gen. 49. 1. then he propheſies of Simeon and Levi thus; I will divide them in Jacob, and ſcatter them in Iſrael; of Judah, that he is a Lion's Whelp, from the prey, my Son, thou art gone up, and v. 8. that Iſſachar is a ſtrong Aſs, couching down between two Burthens; v. 14. that Dan ſhould judge his people, viz. by Sampſon of the Tribe of Dan, v. 16. and he ſhould be a Serpent in the way, and an Adder in the path, &c. v. 17. of Gad, that a Troop ſhould invade him, i. e. the Ammonites and Moabites, and that he ſhould overcome at the laſt, viz. by Jephtha the Gileadite, v. 19. that Naphthali is a Hind let looſe, he giveth goodly words, v. 21. Now what neceſſity is there, or what probability, that his Sons, or the Jews ſhould preſently underſtand the import of theſe myſtical Expreſſions, which were to be fulfilled by ſuch Perſons as Sampſon and Jephtha, of whom they could have no knowledge, and by ſuch Providences, as the chuſing the Tribe of Levi to be God's Inheritance, and ſetling the Scepter in the Line of David, of which they then knew nothing? Theſe Propheſies muſt therefore, many of them, be expounded only by the Event.

2*dly*, When he adds, that Propheſies committed to Writing, and deſignedly propagated to future Ages, muſt needs have been of a general and permanent Concernment. I beg leave to ſay it is ſufficient that they be of Concernment to thoſe Ages in which they are to be fulfilled; for otherwiſe Experience ſhews, the Jews had no juſt Notions of Ezekiel's Viſions, or of Daniel's Propheſies, or the Propheſies of Zachary; nor have the Chriſtians any certain Interpretation of many Propheſies contained in the Revelations. If indeed they be Propheſies deſigned for the Support, and Comfort of his People under their Circumſtances, as the Propheſie of the return of the Jews from their Captivity in Babylon, after ſeventy Years; or Propheſies containing any Promiſe reſpecting the coming of the Meſſiah, and pointing out the time when they were to expect him, as that of their Meſſiah ſuddenly coming to his Temple, Mal. 3. 1. and the deſire of all Nations filling that Houſe with Glory, Hag. 2. 7. Theſe being Propheſies by which their Faith was to be ſtrengthened, and their Hopes erected, it may reaſonably be expected that in ſuch caſes they ſhould have ſome preſent Knowledge of the import of them, tho' much inferiour to that which the Event, and actual Completion of them would afford; and therefore as many Prophets and righteous Men deſired to ſee theſe things, and therefore underſtood the import of them, Matth. 13. 17. So ſaith St. Peter, was it revealed that not unto themſelves, but unto us, they did miniſter theſe things? 1 Pet. 1. 11, 12. But then when the Predictions were of things meerly typical, and related not to the literal, and primary import of the words, but only to a myſtical ſenſe of them, to be accompliſhed by an Event which afterwards ſhould happen, it is ſufficient that they might know this myſtical import of them by the Event. So v. g. when Jacob ſaith of Simeon and Levi, I will divide them in Jacob, and ſcatter them in Iſrael, Gen. 49. 7. It was ſufficient that they then underſtood the meaning of theſe words, when it ſo fell out, that the Poſterity of Simeon had no ſeparate Inheritance by themſelves, but only a Portion in the midſt of the Tribe of Judah, Joſh. 19. 1, 9. And when the Tribe of Levi was diſperſed among all the Tribes; nor have we any reaſon to believe they underſtood this before.

3*dly*, When he adds, that the Church concerned in thoſe Propheſies cannot be only thoſe Ages which were to ſurvive the Accompliſhment, but alſo thoſe before, becauſe the only momentous Reaſon that muſt be conceived concerning theſe as well as other Revelations, muſt be ſome Duty which could not otherwiſe be known; I deſire him to ſhew upon what Duty which could not otherwiſe be known, depended the true Interpretation of Ezekiel's Viſions, or Daniel's Propheſies, or the words of Jacob now cited, or many Paſſages in the Revelations which are yet myſterious; and why this poſtnate Knowledge might not ſerve, as to illuſtrate the Divine Preſcience, ſo to confirm the Chriſtians in what they did believe already, and for the Conviction both of Jews and Infidels, when the Event was, by Men ſo miraculouſly aſſiſted by the Holy Ghoſt, declared to be a Completion of theſe Propheſies, the Author of the Revelations having ſaid, that the Teſtimony of Jeſus is the Spirit of Propheſie, Rev. 19. 10. I do not underſtand.

And whereas he inſiſts much on the word Revelations, which name he thinks theſe Propheſies could not deſerve, unleſs they could be underſtood by ordinary means without new Revelations. I anſwer, that as the Writings of Ezekiel and Daniel are never called Revelations, but only Viſions, and thoſe of the Revelations are ſo ſtiled, not as made known, as to their import, to the Churches, but as revealed to St. John; ſo is it evident from the New Teſtament, that there was need of a new Spirit of Propheſie to underſtand the Myſteries of the Old Teſtament; and of a Revelation or extraordinary Aſſiſtance of the Holy Spirit, to know that ſuch Paſſages of the Prophets belonged to ſuch Actions of our Lord, and ſuch Tranſactions relating to the Propagation of the Goſpel; nor will any Man be able to eſtabliſh the Application made of them, to ſuch Paſſages on any other foot: And in like manner when the Fulneſs of the Gentiles ſhall come in, and the Body of the Jews ſhall be gathered to the Chriſtian Faith, I know not why a new Effuſion of the Spirit may not be expected.

In a word, when I ſhall ſee this learned Perſon by his Skill in Oneirocriticks, expounding either Ezekiel's Viſions, or the Revelations of St. John, from Chap. 6. to the 20. then only ſhall I begin to think it not incredible, that Skill in the Art of the Oneirocriticks was the the means by God deſigned for the expounding thoſe Viſions, Propheſies, and Revelations. See Grotius on Matth. 1. 22.

AN

AN APPENDIX

To Chapter the Fifth:

Relating to the Queſtion, Viz.

WHether the Duties there enjoined by Chriſt, did really belong to the ſcope and intention of the moral Law, and rather were Corrections of the Miſapprehenſions of the Scribes and Phariſees about it, than Additions to it; or were indeed Precepts not contained in, but by himſelf ſuperadded to the moral Law?

In anſwer to this Queſtion, I ſay,

1*ſt*, Whatſoever Chriſt doth here, it muſt be confeſſed, that elſewhere he hath added to the Law of Nature, or the moral Law, viz. when he commands Chriſtians to love one another, as he hath loved them, i. e. ſo as to lay down their Lives for the Brethren, 1 John 3. 16. For I know no Law of Nature, or of Moſes, that required this before; nor did the reaſon of it, viz. Chriſt's laying down his Life for us, obtain before; and therefore this is ſtiled his Commandment by way of Excellency, John 15. 12, 13. yea his New Commandment, John 13. 34. 1 John 2. 8. See the Note there.

2*dly*, I grant, that Chriſt hath added to the permiſſive Laws of Moſes, or rather hath reſtrained Chriſtians from acting ſuitably to thoſe Permiſſions; v. g. whereas the Law of Moſes permitted a Man to divorce his Wife, if ſhe found not favour in his Eyes, by reaſon of ſome matter of Uncleanneſs in her, Deut. 24. 1. that is, as the Jews interpret that Clauſe, ſomething that rendred her diſguſted by, and offenſive to him: Chriſt plainly hath forbidden all Divorces upon any other Cauſe, than that of Fornication; but then he doth this, not by introducing a new Law, but by reviving an old one, and ſhewing, That no man ought to put aſunder thoſe whom God by his firſt inſtitution of Matrimony, had joined together, and made one.

He hath alſo added to the Law of Retaliation; but then, according to the conſtant Doctrine of the Jews, that Law, tho' it bound the Judge to execute it, when by the Sufferer he was required ſo to do, yet bound it not the Sufferer to require that Execution; and therefore in reſpect of him, it only was permiſſive: And this Permiſſion, Chriſt ſeems to have reſtrained, not by impoſing any new Law, but by preferring it to the Laws of Charity and Mercy, and of a peaceable Diſpoſition, under leſſer, and therefore tolerable Injuries; which thing is ſuitable to the Law of Nature: And by reſtraining us from gratifying our Revenge, or our Diſpleaſure againſt any Perſon, or deſiring his Hurt, when we receive no benefit or advantage by it, and from reſiſting Force by Force to our greater Damage; or going to Law for leſſer Matters, to the ſcandal of our Profeſſion, or the impairing of Brotherly Charity and Friendſhip.

Moreover, There ſeems to be even in the words of Chriſt, this ſignal Difference betwixt his manner of ſpeaking of the permiſſive Laws of Moſes, and of the Precepts of the Decalogue; for treating of the latter, he ſtill ſaith, Ye have heard it hath been ſaid to them of old; but of the former, he only ſaith, Ye have heard that it hath been ſaid, ver. 31, 38, 43. which by the way, ſhews, that thoſe words, Thou ſhalt hate thine Enemy, are not preceptive, but permiſſive only; and that they contain a Permiſſion not given by God, but by the Phariſees to do ſo. See the Note on ver. 43.

Now this Conceſſion gives a ſufficient anſwer to that Objection, That Chriſt here doth not oppoſe the Doctrine of the Scribes and Phariſees, but the Permiſſion of Divorce, and of Retaliation, allowed by the Law of Moſes; it being granted, that Chriſt hath given Precepts tranſcending theſe permiſſive Laws of Moſes, occaſioned by the ſourneſs of the Jewiſh Nation, and by the hardneſs of their Hearts, and denied only, that he hath added any thing to the true ſcope and intention of the moral Law.

So alſo, when 'tis added, That Chriſt gives ſuch Precepts of which we find no Footſteps in the Law of Moſes, as thoſe of not reſiſting Evil, but rather turning the other Cheek; and therefore in them, ſeems not to explain the Old, but to have given a New Law.

It

It is granted, that in these words, he gives a New Law opposed to the positive permissive Law of Talio; but then it is denied, that he, discoursing of the preceptive moral Laws, hath added any thing to them, which was not virtually contained in them. And therefore,

3*dly*, I add, that according to all the Rules given by Divines for the interpretation of the Decalogue, what our Lord adds unto the Letter of the Third, the Sixth, and the Seventh Commandments, must be contained under the genuine import of those Precepts. For these are two known Rules relating to that Subject, viz.

1*st*, That where any Vice is forbidden, that must be consequentially forbidden, which is a natural Means, an ordinary Occasion of, a Provocation, Inducement or Temptation to that sin; it being, say Civilians, the property of a good Law, non solum tollere vitia, sed etiam occasiones vitiorum; and this may be confirmed from the very Nature of Means; for they receive their Name and their Morality from the End we aim at; and so, if they be such as have a proper tendency to what is good, then are they stiled good; but if they do thus tend to what is evil, they must be evil also.

2*dly*, That when any Evil is forbidden in the Decalogue, the least degree of that evil Action is forbidden; for gradus non mutat speciem; so that the least degree of Sin is Sin, and Sin is the transgression of a Law, and therefore of that Law which doth forbid that kind of Sin. Now hence it follows,

1*st*, That vain swearing, or swearing in our ordinary Discourse, must be forbidden in the Command, requiring us not to swear falsly, or take the Name of God in vain. For, (1.) The reason of the Prohibition of false swearing is this, because it is an horrid prophanation of the sacred Name of God, as is apparent from those words, Levit. 19. 12. Thou shalt not swear by my Name falsly, neither shalt thou prophane the Name of thy God; now by swearing in our common Discourse, we make this sacred Name common, and therefore do prophane it. (2.) Because this custom of swearing in our common Discourse, doth naturally lead us to the Sin of Perjury: It being the observation both of (a) Hierocles an Heathen, of (b) Philo a Jew, and St. Austin a Christian, That ἐκ πολυορκίας ψευδορκία, from the custom of swearing, men quickly slide into Perjury: And, what can be expected from a common Swearer, but that he sometimes should swear falsly, and as well violate as prophane the Oath of God, since by his frequent swearing, he shews, that he esteemeth not an Oath as sacred, nor looks upon it with due reverence? And he that doth not reverence an Oath, it is his chance, and not his care is to be thanked, if he be not perjured. Moreover, not only Christians, but even Jews, have always thought, that swearing lightly, or upon frivolous occasions, and without necessity was here forbidden. Hence, Thou shalt not take the Name of the Lord in vain, is, saith the Septuagint, Thou shalt not use it ἐπὶ τῷ ματαίῳ, saith Aquila, εἰς εἰκῆ, vainly or rashly; thou shalt not swear ῥαδίως, easily, saith Philo, not without cause, saith the Targum: Nor is it reasonable to conceive, God should permit the Jews to swear thus lightly by his Name, seeing the (c) Heathens by the Light of Nature, did condemn this Practice; and yet we find no Precept in the Law of Moses; in which this Practice is so likely to be forbidden, as in this.

2*dly*, Hence it doth also follow, That all causeless Anger, and rancour of Spirit against others, and all the Expressions of it, by provoking Language, and reviling Censures, must be consequentially forbidden by those words, Thou shalt not kill, because they tend, and do dispose us to those Contentions which often end in Blood; and to that Contempt of others, which makes us not to value their Lives, and therefore not much fear the taking them away; and lastly, to beget in us that hatred, which in divine Construction is accounted Murther; for he that hateth his Brother, is a Murtherer, 1 John 3. 15. And,

3*dly*, Hence it also follows, That all Lustings of the Heart, after the forbidden Enjoyment of a Woman, and all such Usage of the Eye, the Hand, or other Senses, which naturally are incentives to any Filthiness of the Flesh, must be forbidden by those words, Thou shalt not commit Adultery: the last as being plain incentives to that Uncleanness which is forbidden under that Name, the first as being a kind of Adultery; for seeing out of the Heart, saith Christ, come Fornications and Adulteries, Matth. 15. 19. they must be in it first; and in it they cannot be, but by the lusting of the Heart towards these Actions.

Here then is a plain demonstration, That Christ in his discourse on these three Precepts, hath made no addition to them; for what is is certainly contained in theſe Commandments, and forbidden by them, can be no addition to them.

(a) In Cam. Pythag. p. 34. (b) De Decal. p. 584.

2*dly*, Againſt theſe ſuppoſed Additions to the Moral Law contained in the Decalogue, I argue thus, Chriſt hath not added to the Duties formerly belonging to the firſt, or to the ſecond Table, therefore he hath not added to this Law: To ſuppoſe that Chriſt hath added to the Moral Precept of the firſt Table, is to ſuppoſe, that he hath added to Perfection; for that required the Jew to love his God with all his Soul, Mind, Heart and Strength, Deut. 6. 5. And even the Voice of Nature will inſtruct us, that he is worthy thus to be beloved? And is not this as much as Chriſt requireth of the Chriſtians? Could the Jew comply with this Precept in its greateſt Latitude, without exerting his utmoſt Vigour in his Service, and doth Chriſt require more? Will he not accept the Engagement of our whole Heart, Mind and Spirit, in his Service? Doth he require, that our Obedience ſhould exceed our Strength?

Nor can it reaſonably be ſuppoſed, That Chriſt hath added to the Duties of the ſecond Table, ſince that requires us to love our Neighbour as we do our ſelves, Matth. 19. 18, 19. Now the Apoſtle Paul aſſures us, That all the Commandments of the ſecond Table, and every other Precept relating to our Duty to our Neighbour, is comprized in that one Word or Precept, Thou ſhalt love thy Neighbour as thy ſelf, Rom. 13. 9. and that love worketh no Evil to our Neighbour; therefore Love is the fulfilling of the Law, ver. 10. See the Note there. But againſt this, it is objected, 1*ſt*, That if Chriſt had intended in this Diſcourſe to have corrected the imperfect or falſe Interpretations which the Scribes and Phariſees had made of theſe Commandments, he would have named them, as you do in the interpretation of his Words.

Anſw. This he ſufficiently hath done by ſaying, ver. 20. Except your Righteouſneſs, (i. e. your Obedience to the Moral Law,) exceed the Righteouſneſs of the Scribes and Phariſees, ye ſhall in no caſe enter into the Kingdom of God; and then proceeding forthwith to ſhew, how, and in what particulars we muſt exceed their Righteouſneſs. And indeed, had our Lord deſigned to teach us, that in order to our Entrance into his Kingdom, we muſt exceed the Righteouſneſs preſcribed in the Moral Law, why doth he only ſay, Except your Righteouſneſs exceed that of the Scribes and Phariſees, who did in many caſes evacuate the Law, and who are branded by him with Hypocriſie for omitting the weightier Matters of the Law?

Object. 2. 2*lly*, It is objected, That had our Lord deſigned not to add any thing to the moral Law, but only to expound it better than the Scribes had done; he would not, after the recital of the Law, have added, but I ſay unto you; but rather would have ſaid, The Law of Moſes farther ſaith unto you.

Anſw. To this I anſwer, That let our Saviour's Preface to theſe Expoſitions of the Words, cited by him, be conſidered, and then we may diſcern ſufficient reaſon for theſe words; for having ſaid, ver. 17. I came not to deſtroy the Law, ἀλλὰ πληρῶσαι, but to eſtabliſh, and confirm it; he in the following inſtances, may rationally be ſuppoſed to ſhew, how he did this, viz. by producing firſt the Law, and then by adding for the eſtabliſhment and confirmation of the true import of it, But I ſay to you: And when he ſaith, ver. 19. that he that looſeth one of the leaſt of theſe Commandments, and teacheth others ſo to do, ſhall be accounted leaſt in the Kingdom of Heaven; he by the leaſt of theſe Commandments, ſeems not to underſtand any Command expreſly written in the Decalogue, ſince none of them can be called little, but the leſſer degrees of offence againſt them; and then by adding of theſe words, But I ſay unto you, he ſhews how we ſhould teach Men to obſerve them.

To Chapter the Sixth, Ver. 16.

IN this Appendix I ſhall endeavour briefly, and I hope clearly to ſtate theſe two Queſtions.

1ſt, Whether Faſting be a Duty now incumbent on Chriſtians, or a thing left indifferent under the Chriſtian Inſtitution?

2dly, Whether it be any part of Divine Worſhip, or not?

In anſwer to the firſt Enquiry, Whether Faſting be a Duty, or a thing indifferent under the Chriſtian Inſtitution, I anſwer,

1*ſt*, That as Faſting ſignifies in the Grammatical import of the word, abſtaining only for a time from that Meat we ordinarily take at other times, it is undoubtedly a thing indifferent; for in this ſenſe if we eat not we are not the better, for God accounts no Man the better purely becauſe his Stomach is more empty; and if we eat ſomewhat even on our days of Faſting, when the Impotency, or Indiſpoſition of our Bodies doth require it, we are not the worſe; but as it in the Scripture ſignifies a Day, or Time ſet apart for the Affliction of the Soul, and calling it to an account for our paſt Sins, in order to our godly Sorrow for, and Reformation of them; or a Day ſet apart for Prayer, and humbling of our ſelves, in order to the averting Divine Judgments, or the obtaining any publick, or private Bleſſings from God's Hands; I think it continues a Duty ſtill, and a thing highly acceptable to God, when it ſincerely is performed in proſecution of theſe Ends.

2*dly*, 'Tis certain that under the Old Covenant, publick Faſts were commanded by God, and one of them with that Severity, that the Puniſhment of him who did not then afflict his Soul, was Exciſion, Lev. 16. 16. And when any Adverſity befel them, which made this Duty proper, not only pious Kings, 2 Chron. 20. 3. but God alſo by his Holy Prophets called upon them to ſanctifie a Faſt, Joel 1. 14. — 2. 12, 15. This alſo pious Perſons voluntarily did upon extraordinary Occaſions. I wept, ſaith David, and humbled my ſelf with Faſting, Pſal. 69. 10. See Pſal. 35. 13. — 109. 24. Nehemiah faſted when he heard of the Affliction of the People at Jeruſalem, Neh. 1. 4. So did Daniel, Chap. 9. 3. Theſe Faſts they ſanctified.

(1.) To avert the impendent Wrath of God, Joel 1. 14, 15. — 2. 17. and to render him propitious to them in their Diſtreſs, that he might be jealous for his Land, and pity his People, Joel 2. 18. Thus did the People of Iſrael faſt when they were twice ſmitten by the Benjamites, Judg. 20. 26. Jehoſhaphat and his People, when diſtreſſed by the Ammonites, 2 Chron. 20. 3. the Jews when in danger of Death from the contrivances of Haman, Eſther 4. 16.

(2.) To beg pardon for, and reform their Offences; as when they faſted for their Idolatry at Mizpeh, and did put away Baalim and Aſtaroth, and ſerve the Lord only, 1 Sam. 7. 5, 6. and when they ſeparated themſelves from their ſtrange Wives, Neh. 9. 1.

(3.) To beg eſpecial Mercies of God, as when Ezra and his Company faſted to ſeek of God a right way, Ezra 8. 21. And all this they did with good Succeſs, and ſo as to obtain God's Bleſſing. Theſe Faſts, when duly celebrated, are ſtiled ſuch Faſts as God hath choſen, Iſa. 58. 5, 6. an acceptable day to the Lord, v. 5. a Sabbath, a day holy to the Lord, and honourable, v. 13. and faſting thus was indeed faſting to the Lord, Zech. 7. 5.

And as for voluntary and private Faſts, I have obſerved that pious Perſons ſtill uſed them as occaſion did require. Anna the Propheteſs faſted and prayed night and day, and ſerved God, as well by faſting, as by praying, Luke 2. 37. And in our Saviour's time the Diſciples of John and of the Phariſees faſted often, and this was thought ſo neceſſary a piece of Devotion, that they admire and look upon it as a great defect in Chriſt's Diſciples, that they did not the like, Matth. 9. 14.

3*dly*, Obſerve that Chriſt is ſo far from diſapproving theſe times of Faſting as unſuitable, or unneceſſary under the Chriſtian Diſpenſation, that he declares the time was coming when his Diſciples ſhould faſt, as well as others, Matth. 9. 15. He teacheth all Chriſtians after what manner they ought to faſt, that their Faſtings might be acceptable to God, promiſing a Reward from God, on them who did ſo, and being no leſs ſolicitous that they might faſt than that they might pray, and do their Alms, ſo as to be rewarded by God for them, Matth. 6. 16. and lets his Diſciples know, that their want of Faith in caſting out a Devil, proceeded from their want of ſeeking it by Prayer and Faſting, Mat. 17. 21. Now ſurely he who declares that his Diſciples ſhould faſt after he was taken from them, he who is ſolicitous they might perform this Duty without Hypocriſie, and who excites them to it by the Promiſe of a Reward from God, and who informs them that their want of Faith, proceeded from their want of Faſting, ſufficiently demonſtrates he looked upon this as a Duty to be performed by his Diſciples under the Goſpel Diſpenſation. And therefore,

4*thly*, That Chriſt's Apoſtles and Diſciples did ſo eſteem it, we learn ſufficiently from their Practice; they being in Faſtings often, 2 Cor. 11. 27. and approving themſelves as the Miniſters of God, by Faſtings, as well as other Chriſtian Duties, 2 Cor. 6. 4, 5. This being alſo the uſual Preface to the Impoſition of Hands, they doing this with Prayer and Faſting, Acts 14. 23. and in commending the Miniſters of the Goſpel to the Lord for his Aſſiſtance, Acts 13. 3. And married Chriſtians being permitted to ſeparate from one another for a ſeaſon, that they might give themſelves to Prayer and Faſting, 1 Cor. 7. 5. Note, Laſtly, That Faſting is not a ceremonial Precept, there being no Command under the Law for voluntary Faſting, or publick Faſtings on extraordinary Occaſions, but only for one ſtated Faſt on the day of Expiation, it therefore muſt be ranked among thoſe moral Duties or Precepts of the Law of Nature, which Chriſt came not to diſſolve, but to fulfil. And this appears becauſe it was the practice not only of the Jews and devout Proſelytes, Acts 10. 30. but even of the Heathens alſo. Theſe days of Faſting to avert Judgments obtaining not only among the Eaſtern Nations, Jon. 3. 5. but among the Egyptians, the Greeks, and Romans, and being part of their Sacred Rites, at which times they were Ζίτων ἄμοιροι, or ἄβρωτοι, that is, Faſting. In a word, it is owned by them who contend Faſting is a thing indifferent, that it is an help to the Worſhip of God, and an Inſtrument of Piety. It is by Phavorinus defined to be the Mother of Health to the Body, and the preſervative of the Soul; and ſurely that which is an help to Devotion, and a means of promoting Piety, muſt be as much required to thoſe good ends, as are the Helps, and Means of ſober living required by the Command of Temperance.

That I may anſwer to the ſecond Queſtion, I muſt premiſe the Diſtinction ſo frequent in the Schools, betwixt an imperate, and an elicite Act of Worſhip; an elicite Act of Worſhip is an Act which hath God for its immediate Object, and ſolely is deſigned to do him Honour, or to agniſe ſome Divine Excellency or Perfection. Thus an Act of Faith is an elicite Act of religious Worſhip, becauſe it doth, and is deſigned purely to acknowledge the Divine Power and Veracity; and Prayer is an elicite Act of Divine Worſhip, becauſe by it we do acknowledge the Power, Wiſdom, and the Goodneſs of God; whereas an imperate Act of Worſhip is that, which hath another Object beſides God, and only hath relation to him, becauſe it is performed in obedience to his Command; thus Charity hath for its Object our indigent or our afflicted Brother, and only hath relation to God, as it is done to others in obedience to his Command; and Juſtice is an imperate Act of Worſhip only becauſe it immediately relateth to what belongeth to our Brother, tho' we deal juſtly with him from the conſideration of that God who is the Avenger of thoſe who do defraud, or over-reach their Brother. Now to apply this Diſtinction to our preſent purpoſe, they who deny that Faſting is an elicite Act of Worſhip, do freely grant it to be an imperate Act of Worſhip, as being ſerviceable to Prayer, and that Repentance towards God, which are immediate Acts of Worſhip. Here therefore note,

1*ſt*, That even Mr. Dally grants, that Faſting was a part of Divine Worſhip under the Old Teſtament; whence we may gather that it muſt be ſo alſo under the New Teſtament, ſince under both it hath the ſame Object, End, and Reaſons, and ſo muſt be as much an Act of religious Worſhip under the New Teſtament, as it was under the Old; where to obſerve it was to ſanctifie a Faſt, to keep a day holy and acceptable to the Lord, and as much λατρεύειν to ſerve God by Faſting as by Prayer, Luke 2. 37.

2*dly*, It is confeſs'd that Faſting conſidered as an help to Prayer, Repentance, or pious Meditations, is only an imperate Act of Religion; but as it is an Act of Revenge upon our ſelves for our Offences done againſt the Divine Majeſty, and an acknowledgment that we are by them become unworthy to receive from him our daily Bread; and as it is a part of our time conſecrated to the Service of God, I ſee not why it ſhould be leſs eſteemed an Act of religious Worſhip, than the Obſervation of a Sabbath, or a day of Thankſgiving.

AN

To Chapter the Twelfth:

Concerning the Nature of the Sin againſt the Holy Ghoſt, and the Reaſon why it is ſaid to be ſuch as will never be forgiven.

1*ſt*, FOR Explication of this Subject, I do not think it proper with the learned Grotius to mollifie the Severity of this Sentence, by ſaying, that what is abſolutely ſpoken by our Lord, muſt be comparatively underſtood, and only intimates, that it is very difficult to obtain the pardon of this Sin, not that it will admit of no Forgiveneſs: For our Saviour ſays expreſly of this Sin, both negatively, that it ſhall never be forgiven, and affirmatively, that the perſon guilty of it, ſhall be obnoxious to eternal Judgment, and confirms all this with an aſſeveration, Verily I ſay unto you, he that blaſphemeth againſt the Holy Ghoſt hath never Forgiveneſs, but ἔνοχός ἐστιν, is liable to eternal Judgment, Mark 3. 29. much leſs are we to admit of Dr. Hammond's Deſcant on the words, that this Sin ſhall not be pardoned but upon a particular Repentance, for that is as true of every known and wilful Sin, as of the Blaſphemy againſt the Holy Ghoſt; and therefore this Interpretation makes no Diſcrimination of this, from any other wilful Sin, which yet our Saviour plainly deſigned by thoſe words to do; moreover, againſt both theſe Expoſitions it is obſervable, that our Lord ſaith expreſly of all manner of other Sins againſt the Son of Man, or the Meſſiah, that they ſhall be forgiven; and yet doubtleſs Mens Blaſphemies againſt the Saviour of the World, and other heinous Crimes, will not be pardoned without particular Repentance, and 'tis very difficult to bring ſuch grievous Sinners to Repentance. Let it be noted,

2*dly*, That from our Saviour's words, it plainly ſeems to follow that this Sin conſiſts, or is compleated, not in our Thoughts, or in our Works, but in our Words, for it is he that ſpeaketh, v. 32. He that blaſphemeth againſt the Holy Ghoſt, that ſhall not be forgiven. Simon the Magician conceived as vilely of the Holy Ghoſt as we can well imagine, when he thought he might be purchaſed by Money, Acts 8. 18, 19. for this was to conceive the Holy Ghoſt was given only by ſome higher Art of Magick, than he had attained to; and yet St. Peter exhorts him to pray that the Thoughts of his Heart might be forgiven, v. 22. and they who by Uncleanneſs, Fornication, and Adultery, deſpiſed the Commandments, which God hath given them by his Apoſtles, to poſſeſs their Veſſels in Sanctification and Honour, are ſaid to have deſpiſed not only Man, but God who alſo had given them the Holy Ghoſt, 1 Theſſ. 4. 8. and yet St. Paul ſuppoſes ſuch Perſons might repent of the Uncleanneſs, Fornication, and Laſciviouſneſs they had committed, 2 Cor. 12. 21. This Sin muſt therefore be committed not only by our evil Thoughts, and Works, but alſo by our blaſphemous words againſt the Holy Ghoſt.

3*dly*, Obſerve that 'tis not any Blaſphemy againſt the Spirit in his miraculous Operations, ſuch as were caſting out of Devils, and healing of Diſeaſes, which is here ſtiled the Blaſphemy againſt the Holy Ghoſt, this being here done by the Phariſees againſt the Son of Man, for he declareth, ver. 28. that he did caſt out Devils by the Spirit of God; they therefore muſt blaſpheme that Spirit by which our Saviour did this, by ſaying, he caſt out Devils by Beelzebub the Prince of the Devils; and yet our Saviour ſaith, that even this Blaſphemy againſt the Son of Man ſhould ſhould be forgiven, but it was properly the Blaſphemy againſt the Holy Ghoſt; and therefore,

4*thly*, Let it be noted, that there is a plain difference in Scripture, betwixt the Operations of the Spirit, and the Gifts, or Diſtributions of the Holy Ghoſt; all the miraculous Operations which were done upon others, viz. the caſting out of Devils, the healing of Diſeaſes, the curing of the Lame, the Blind, the Dumb, the Maimed, the raiſing of the Dead, were the extraordinary Operations of the Spirit; but all the inward Gifts by which the Underſtanding was enlightned, and was enabled to perform things which by Nature it could not do, without the immediate working of the Holy Spirit, are ſtiled the Gifts or Diſtributions of the Holy Ghoſt; as v. g. the Gifts of Wiſdom, Knowledge, Faith, Propheſie, Diſcerning of Spirits, the Gift of Tongues, and the Interpretation of them. That there is ground for this Diſtinction, will appear from theſe Conſiderations;

(1.) Becauſe our Saviour whilſt he was upon Earth, gave to his Apoſtles and the Seventy Diſciples Power to heal the Sick, cleanſe the Lepers, caſt out Devils, and to raiſe the Dead, Matth. 10. 8. Luke 10. 9. and yet St. John informs us, that the Holy Ghoſt was not yet come, becauſe that Jeſus was not glorified, Chap. 7. 39. And Chriſt informed his Diſciples, that if he did not go away, the Comforter, that is, the Holy Ghoſt would not come to them, but when I go, ſaith he, I will ſend him to you, John 16. 17. — 14. 16. And St. Peter tells the Jews, that our Lord being exalted to the right Hand of God, received the Promiſe of the Holy Ghoſt, and ſent him down upon his Apoſtles, Acts 2. 33. the Holy Ghoſt muſt therefore ſignifie ſomething diſtinct from the Power of working Miracles.

(2.) The Apoſtle John producing his Witneſſes to prove that Jeſus is the Son of God, ſaith thus, there are three that bear witneſs upon Earth, the Spirit, the Water, and the Blood; and there be three that bear witneſs from Heaven, the Father, the Word, and the Holy Ghoſt, 1 John 5. 7, 8. clearly diſtinguiſhing the Witneſs of the Holy Ghoſt from the Teſtimony of the Spirit.

(3.) Throughout the Hiſtory of the Acts of the Apoſtles, where St. Luke hath occaſion to mention the Miracles which the Apoſtles, and other Chriſtians did, he always uſeth the words τέρατα, σημεῖα, δυνάμεις, Wonders, Signs, and Powers; but where he ſpeaks of Perſons propheſying, or ſpeaking with Tongues, he doth as conſtantly aſcribe this to the Holy Ghoſt deſcending on them.

And (Laſtly,) Where the Scripture mentions theſe things together, it puts a manifeſt Diſtinction betwixt Signs, and Wonders, and the Gifts and Diſtributions of the Holy Ghoſt. Thus the Apoſtle ſpeaks of the things God had wrought by him, in the Power of Signs and Wonders, and in the Power of the Spirit of God, or of the Holy Ghoſt, as other Copies read, Rom. 15. 19. And God, ſaith St. Paul, bare witneſs to the Doctrine which the Apoſtles preached, by Signs and Wonders and divers Miracles, and Gifts of the Holy Ghoſt, Heb. 2. 4. Hence obſerve,

5*thly*, That this Blaſphemy of the Holy Ghoſt, neither was, nor could be then committed when our Saviour ſpake theſe words, or whilſt he was on Earth, becauſe the Holy Ghoſt was not yet come, ſaith the Evangeliſt, John 7. 39. nor was he to be ſent till Jeſus was glorified, i. e. till he was riſen from the Dead, and was exalted to the right Hand of the Father. And therefore after our Lord's Reſurrection, he breaths on the Apoſtles, and ſaith unto them, Receive ye the Holy Ghoſt, John 20. 22. and farther promiſes at his Aſcenſion, that within few days they ſhould receive the Power of the Holy Ghoſt, deſcending down from Heaven, to render them able Witneſſes of our Lord's Reſurrection; and that after his Departure from them, the Comforter, that is, the Holy Ghoſt ſhould come, and ſhould convince the World of Sin, becauſe they believed not in him, and of his Righteouſneſs, becauſe he went unto the Father, John 16. 9, 10. Tho' therefore our Saviour entred upon this Diſcourſe upon occaſion of that Saying of the Phariſees, He caſts out Devils through Beelzebub, yet his Deſign ſeems chiefly to be this, to terrifie them from going on from the blaſpheming the Son of Man, and of that Spirit by which he wrought his Miracles, to the blaſpheming of the enſuing Diſpenſation of the Holy Ghoſt, which was the laſt he ever would vouchſafe, to call them to that Repentance which would procure the Remiſſion of their Sins. Theſe words may therefore be thus paraphraſed; You have repreſented me as a Wine-bibber, a Friend of Publicans and Sinners, and as one who caſts out Devils by Beelzebub; and you will ſtill go on, after all the Miracles which I have done among you, to repreſent me as a falſe Prophet, and a Deceiver of the People; but notwithſtanding, all theſe grivous Sins ſhall be forgiven you, if that laſt Diſpenſation of the Holy Ghoſt, which I ſhall after my Aſcenſion ſend among you, ſhall prevail with you to believe in me: But if when I have ſent the Holy Ghoſt to teſtifie the Truth of my Miſſion and of my Reſurrection, you ſhall continue in your Unbelief, and ſhall blaſpheme blaſpheme the Holy Ghoſt, and repreſent him alſo as an evil Spirit, your Sin ſhall never be forgiven, nor ſhall there any thing be farther done to call you to Repentance. That this is the true import of our Saviour's words is evident,

1*ſt*, Becauſe they ſtill run in the future tenſe, reſpecting not what had been done already by the Phariſees, or others, but only what hereafter ſhould be done; whoſoever ſhall blaſpheme againſt the Holy Ghoſt, Mark 3. 28. Luke 12. 10.

2*dly*, Becauſe the Blaſphemy here mentioned in theſe words, He caſteth out Devils by Beelzebub, or by Confederacy with Satan, was certainly a Blaſphemy againſt the Son of Man; and therefore ſuch to which the Promiſe of Forgiveneſs is here made, and could not be the Blaſphemy of the Holy Ghoſt, becauſe he was not yet come. And,

3*dly*, Had the Phariſees been guilty of this Blaſphemy againſt the Holy Ghoſt, by ſaying of our Lord, he caſts out Devils by Beelzebub, our Saviour could not afterwards have prayed for their Forgiveneſs, or offered to them any farther terms of Mercy, or Salvation; whereas he on the Croſs prays thus, after the Phariſees and Rulers had moved Pilate to crucifie him, Father, forgive them, they know not what they do, Luke 23. 34. and in this very Chapter he promiſeth one farther Sign for their Conviction, even that of his Death and Reſurrection the third day; and farther ſaith, that he would ſend the Holy Spirit to convince them of their Sin, in that they believed not on him, and of his Righteouſneſs. St. Peter alſo ſaith both of the People, and the Rulers who ſo importunately ſued to Pilate that he might be crucified, I know ye did it ignorantly, as did alſo your Rulers, Acts 3. 17, 19. And then he calls upon them to repent, and be converted, that their Sins may be blotted out, thereby clearly inſinuating they had not yet committed that Offence, which could not be forgiven. And St. Paul in the 13th Chapter of the Acts tells them, he preached the Goſpel, and offered Remiſſion of Sins to all among them that would believe, ver. 32, 39, 46.

And having thus conſidered the Nature of this Sin, I proceed to ſhew the Difference betwixt it, and all the Blaſphemies which the Jews vented againſt our Bleſſed Lord, whilſt he was here on Earth, and why they were all pardonable, or ſuch as might be forgiven unto Men; whereas the Blaſphemy againſt the Holy Ghoſt is here pronounced ſuch as ſhould never be forgiven.

'Tis therefore to be obſerved that tho' the Jews ſtill repreſented the Bleſſed Jeſus as a Wine Bibber, and a Glutton, becauſe he uſed not that Abſtinence, and ſevere Diet, and thoſe frequent Faſts which John, and his Diſciples did; tho' they ſtiled him a Friend of Publicans, and Sinners, becauſe he freely did converſe with them for their Good; tho' they ſtiled him a Blaſphemer, becauſe he called himſelf the Son of God; tho' laſtly they crucified him, and pronounced him worthy of Death, as a falſe Prophet, and Deceiver of the People; our Saviour not only promiſes Pardon of theſe things to them, who ſhould believe after his Reſurrection, but even prays for them upon the Croſs, ſaying, Father, forgive them, for they know not what they do. Now this he did upon theſe two Conſiderations.

1*ſt*, Becauſe the meanneſs of his Birth and Education, State and Condition upon Earth, cauſed many to be offended at him, and indiſpoſed them to believe ſuch high things of him, as that he was the Son of God, and was to be the King of Iſrael: Thus when they were amazed at the Divine Doctrine which he taught, and the mighty Miracles by which he had confirmed it, and thereupon enquire, Whence is this Wiſdom given to him, and theſe mighty Works done by him? The Thought that he was the Son of a Carpenter, and of a poor Woman called Mary, cauſed them to be offended at him; and when he repreſents himſelf as a Perſon coming down from Heaven, they do not believe him on the ſame account, but ſay, Is not this Jeſus the Son of Joſeph? know we not his Father and his Mother, how therefore, ſaith he, that I came down from Heaven? John 6. 42. This therefore being ſo ſpecious a Pretence for their rejecting of, and not believing on him, our Saviour promiſeth the Pardon of their Infidelity, till by his Reſurrection, and the Miſſion of the Holy Ghoſt, he had quite taken off the Force of the Objection, and ſhewed by his Return unto the Father, and his ſitting down at the right Hand of God, and ſending of the Holy Ghoſt from Heaven, that he was indeed the Son of God. Hence is he ſaid to be declared the Son of God with Power by the Reſurrection from the Dead, Rom. 1. 4. of which, ſaith the Apoſtle Peter, we are Witneſſes, and ſo is alſo the Holy Ghoſt, which he hath given to them that believe, Acts 5. 32. and Chriſt himſelf declares, that when this Holy Ghoſt was by him ſent from Heaven, he ſhould convince the World of their Sin, who believed not in him, and of his Righteouſneſs, becauſe he went unto the Father, John 16. 8, 9.

2*dly*, Chriſt thought their Caſe more pitiable, till after his Reſurrection and Aſcenſion, and till this Miſſion of the Holy Ghoſt, by reaſon of thoſe Prejudices which their whole Nation had entertained againſt his Perſon and his Doctrine, and which were not entirely removed, till he had thus aſcended: Now they were ſuch as theſe. (1.) That they were very well acquainted with his Birth and Parentage, but when Chriſt cometh, no Man can know, ſaith their Tradition, whence he is, John 7. 27. (2.) That Elias did not come in Perſon to uſher in his Advent, according as it was foretold by Malachy, Chap. 4. 5. Thus when a Voice from Heaven had declared him to be the Son of God, in the Audience of St. Peter, James, and John, they ſtill object againſt it, the Tradition of the Scribes, that Elias muſt firſt come, Matth. 17. 10. And, (3.) That they had got a general Tradition that their Meſſiah was to abide for ever, John 12. 34. whereas Chriſt ſtill declared, he was to be lifted up, and die an ignominious Death; a Doctrine ſo diſtaſtful to his own Diſciples, that Peter, after his Confeſſion that he was the Chriſt, rebukes our Saviour for it, ſaying, Far be it from thee, this ſhall not happen unto thee, Matth. 16. 22. And tho' he very frequently, and plainly told them that he was to ſuffer, yet do St. Mark, and Luke inform us, that they underſtood not this Saying, and it was hid from them, Luke 9. 45. yea, that they underſtood not theſe things, nor knew they what was ſaid, Chap. 18. 34. And yet Chriſt's Words were plain enough, only they could not reconcile them with their Tradition, that the Meſſiah was to abide for ever, and ſet up a temporal Kingdom among them. For, (4.) This was the great Prejudice their whole Nation laboured under, that their Meſſiah was to come in a triumphant manner, to ſubdue Nations under them, and make the Jews to Lord it over all their Enemies, and to continue this his Kingdom over them for ever; their Prophets having ſtill repreſented him as a great King over all Nations: His own Diſciples were ſo fully poſſeſſed with this Opinion, that after our Lord's Reſurrection they preſently enquire, Wilt thou at this time reſtore the Kingdom to Iſrael? Acts 1. 6. It is not therefore to be wondred that this ſo ſtrong, and pleaſing Apprehenſion ſhould prejudice their Minds, againſt a Perſon ſeemingly ſo mean and deſpicable, who ſpake ſo often of his Sufferings, declared that his Kingdom was not of this World, and that he came not to be miniſtred unto, but to miniſter. Now by our Saviour's Reſurrection, Aſcenſion, and ſending of the Holy Ghoſt, all theſe Objections were fully ſolved, and all theſe Prejudices were removed. For when our Lord was thus declared to be the Son of God with Power, by his Reſurrection from the Dead, then muſt they be convinced, that beſides that Human Nature which he received from his Parents, he had another, according to which they knew not whence he was, and neither knew him nor his Father, John 8. 14, 19. When at his Aſcenſion all Power in Heaven and in Earth was given to him, and he was there to reign till all his Enemies were made his Footſtool; then might they eaſily perceive, how this Meſſiah was to abide for ever, and to reign over the Houſe of Jacob for ever, Luke 1. 33. Hence from this Exaltation to the right Hand of Power, St. Peter makes this Inference, Therefore let all the Houſe of Iſrael know aſſuredly, that God hath made this Jeſus whom ye crucified both Lord and Chriſt, Acts 2. 36. They from his Reſurrection were aſſured his former Sufferings were well conſiſtent with this Kingdom; and from his Aſcenſion into Heaven, that his Kingdom was not to be a Temporal Kingdom upon Earth, but a Spiritual, and Heavenly Kingdom, and that he was to rule not over Mens Bodies, but their Souls and Conſciences; and when they ſaw this Kingdom ſo powerfully erected by the Holy Ghoſt, aſſiſting the Apoſtles in the preaching of the Goſpel, and making numerous Converts throughout the Heathen World, they could not but diſcern how 'twas foretold by the Holy Prophets, that he ſhould reign over all Nations; or how John Baptiſt, who had pointed him out, and ſaid, Behold the Lamb of God, the Saviour of the World, and had foretold he ſhould baptize them with the Holy Ghoſt, was that Elias which was to come as his Fore-runner. And thus you ſee why our Saviour puts this Diſtinction betwixt the Blaſphemies committed againſt him in his ſtate of Humiliation, and the Blaſphemies committed againſt the Holy Ghoſt he promiſed to ſend down from Heaven, after his Exaltation to the right Hand of Majeſty in the Heavens.

It remains to ſhew how the Blaſphemy againſt the Holy Ghoſt becomes unpardonable, and why it was ſo rather than any Sin committed againſt Chriſt whilſt in the ſtate of his Humiliation: Now this it was upon theſe ſeveral Accounts;

1*ſt*, Becauſe this was the laſt, and chiefeſt Evidence which God deſigned to make uſe of, to cure the Infidelity of that perverſe and ſtubborn Generation, or to prevail upon them, and upon other Nations to believe in Chriſt: In all the other Evidences which came before to win Men to that Faith in Chriſt, on which the Pardon of their Sins depended, God had ſtill a Reſerve, and reſolved upon ſome farther means when they had proved ineffectual. If the Teſtimony of John the Baptiſt that he was the Chriſt, if the Innocency of our Saviour's Life, if the Wiſdom of his Words, the heavenly Nature of his Doctrine, and all the Miracles by which it was confirmed, proved ineffectual to perſuade that perverſe Generation to receive, and own him as their promiſed Meſſiah; God ſtill reſolveth, yea, he had promiſed to ſend this Holy Ghoſt, as a more powerful Evidence to convince the World of Sin, becauſe they believed not in him, and of the Righteouſneſs of him whom they had hitherto rejected: Hence when the Holy Ghoſt in this miraculous manner had fallen down on the Apoſtles, and enabled them to ſpeak with Tongues and Propheſie; this is that, ſaith St. Peter, which was ſpoken by God in thoſe words of Joel, In the latter Days I will pour my Spirit upon all Fleſh, and your Sons and your Daughters ſhall propheſie, Acts 2. 16, 17. And again, v. 38, 39. Repent and be baptized in the Name of the Lord Jeſus, for the Remiſſion of Sins, and ye ſhall receive the Holy Ghoſt; for the Promiſe is to you and to your Children. When therefore the Apoſtles, being endued with this Power from on High, had been Chriſt's Witneſſes, throughout Judæa, and Samaria, and to the ends of the Earth, God had done all that he deſigned, to bring Men to the Faith of Chriſt; ſo that when many would not be perſuaded by it, but inſtead of being convinced, and reclaimed, proceeded to ſlight, and deſpiſe, yea to revile and blaſpheme it; God was unalterably reſolved to ſtrive no more with them, but to let them die in their Sins: And therefore 'tis obſervable, that when the Jews had thus reſiſted the Holy Ghoſt, contradicting and blaſpheming that Holy Spirit, by which they preached unto them, Acts 13. 45. they give them over as deſperate, and Perſons in whom that of the Prophet was fulfilled, Behold, ye Deſpiſers, and periſh, ver. 41. and therefore turn unto the Gentiles, ver. 46. Chap. 28. 28. And St. Paul repreſents them as Perſons given up to a Spirit of Slumber, and judicial Blindneſs, Rom. 11. 8, 9. and ſo rejected from being any more God's Church and People.

And as this was the laſt, ſo was it the moſt powerful Evidence: As for the working of Miracles, and caſting out of Devils, the Heathen Prieſts and Exorciſts, and many of the Jews pretended to them; our Saviour alſo foretold of the falſe Chriſts and falſe Prophets, that they ſhould work Signs and Miracles ſufficient to ſeduce, if it were poſſible, the very Elect, Matth. 24. 24. and the Apoſtle, that Satan ſhould come among thoſe, who received not the Truth in the Love of it, with ſtrong Deluſions, and with all Deceivableneſs of Unrighteouſneſs, with all Power, Signs and lying Wonders, 2 Theſſ. 2. 8, 9, 10. but yet none ever did, or could pretend unto theſe inward Gifts, and Operations of the Holy Ghoſt, ſuch as enabled the illiterate to ſpeak with all kind of unknown Tongues, and to interpret the Tongues of others, and to diſcern the Secrets of Mens Hearts, and underſtand all Myſteries by an internal Inſpiration, and Illumination, and much leſs to confer Gifts on others by Impoſition of their Hands, as the Apoſtles did: When therefore Chriſtians ſaw thoſe Gifts exerciſed continually in their Aſſemblies, and daily conferred on Perſons at their Baptiſm, they could ſcarce have a ſtronger Evidence of the Truth of the Chriſtian Faith, and therefore could not blaſpheme thoſe Gifts by which it was ſo wonderfully confirmed, without the utmoſt degree of Infidelity. And therefore.

2*dly*, This Sin is repreſented as unpardonable, becauſe the Faith of ſuch perverſe and ſtubborn Perſons is impoſſible, they having rejected all the Evidence that can be offered for their Conviction, and all the Motives that can be tendred to provoke them to repent of their Infidelity. So St. Paul ſpeaks in caſe of thoſe who living under this Diſpenſation of the Holy Ghoſt, did yet apoſtatize from Chriſtiaity to Judaiſm, or Heatheniſm; let us not go about to lay again the Foundations of Repentance and Faith towards God, which were the Doctrines they firſt preached to the Jew and Gentile; of Baptiſm, by which believing they made profeſſion of the Chriſtian Faith, and covenanted to perform the Duties it required of them; of Impoſition of Hands of the Apoſtles, by which they after Baptiſm received the Holy Ghoſt; of the Reſurrection of the Dead, which was the glorious Promiſe by which all Chriſtians were encouraged to be ſtedfaſt, immoveable, and always abounding in the Work of the Lord; and of a future Judgment, by which they were terrified, and affrighted from falling off from that Obedience: For 'tis impoſſible, ſaith the Apoſtle, for them who have been once enlightned, as Chriſtians were in Baptiſm, which therefore, from the beginning of Chriſtianity was called Illumination, as appears from the Teſtimonies of Juſtin Martyr, Irenæus, and Clemens of Alexandria; and who have taſted of the heavenly Gift, and have been made partakers of the Holy Ghoſt, which they received by the Impoſition of Hands, and who have taſted of the good Word of God, i. e. have been acquainted with that Goſpel which affords the Promiſe of Remiſſion of Sins, and of Juſtification here, and of a Reſurrection to eternal Life hereafter, and have felt the Powers of the World to come, i. e. the powerful Perſuaſions which the Doctrine of a future Judgment adminiſters to Repentance, a new Life, and ſtedfaſt perſeverance in the Chriſtian Faith; and after all theſe Engagements to perſevere in the profeſſion of it, fall away from it by Apoſtacy to Judaiſm, or to Heatheniſm; to renew them to Repentance, Heb. 6. 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7. Becauſe you cannot lay again any other Motive or Foundation to it, than hath been already laid, you cannot call upon them to Repentance, and to Faith in God by any other Arguments, than by thoſe Miracles by which they were at firſt induced to believe; you cannot incite them to be true to their Profeſſion by any other Engagements than thoſe which they had made in Baptiſm, you cannot give them any higher Evidence of the Truth of Chriſtianity, than that of their parcipation of the Holy Ghoſt; no greater Motive to continue ſtedfaſt in the Chriſtian Faith, than is the Promiſe of an happy Reſurrection to eternal Life; nor propoſe any thing more dreadful to affright them from Apoſtaſie, than are the Terrors of a future Judgment; and ſo you can do nothing to renew them to Repentance which hath not been already ineffectually performed in order to that end.

AN APPENDIX To Chapter the Twenty fourth.

GROTIUS, in his Notes on the third Verſe of this Chapter, makes theſe three Queſtions to refer to three ſeveral Epochas, viz.

1. The Queſtion, When ſhall theſe things be? To the time of the Deſtruction of the Temple: And this, ſaith he, our Saviour anſwers to ver. 23.

2. The Queſtion concerning his παρουσία, or Advent, to ſet up his Kingdom; which he refers to the time of Conſtantine, but others to the time of the general Converſion of the Jews, and the Millennium; and of this time, ſay they, Chriſt ſpeaks from the 23d to the 30th Verſe.

3. The Queſtion concerning the End of the World; and of this, ſaith he, Chriſt ſpeaks from the 30th Verſe to the end of the Chapter.

I on the contrary do aſſert, That at leaſt to the 34th Verſe, Chriſt ſpeaks only of the Deſtruction of the Temple, the City, and People of Jeruſalem, and of the Jewiſh Nation.

Now that the παρουσία, or Advent of the Son of Man, belongs not to his coming to deſtroy Jeruſalem, but to another coming of this Son of Man to ſet up his Kingdom, he proves, becauſe the words here, from ver. 23. to the 27th, are like thoſe in which our Lord ſpeaks of his Kingdom, Luke 17. 22. to the end; but that Chriſt there, from ver. 22. to the end, is ſpeaking of the time when the Jews ſhould be in great diſtreſs by the Roman Army, and ſhould periſh by it, and when Chriſt ſhould come to execute his Vengeance on them, is exceeding evident from the words, and is there alſo confeſs'd by Grotius: For, ſay St. Matthew, Mark, and Luke, When you ſhall ſee Jeruſalem compaſſed about with Armies, let him that is on the Houſe-top, not come down to take any thing out of his Houſe; nor let him that is in the Field, &c. for theſe are the Days of Vengeance: And the words of the ſame St. Luke, chap. 17. 31. run thus, On that Day, he that is on the Houſe-top, and his Stuff in the Houſe, let him not come down to take it away, and likewiſe he that is in the Field; who ſees not now, that that Day, Luke 17. is the ſame with the Days of Vengeance? chap. 21. Now this one Obſervation confounds all theſe ſeveral Epochas, into which ſome have divided this Chapter. For,

1*ſt*, Hence it appears, That the time when they ſhould ſay, See here, and ſee there is the Son of Man, Luke 17. 22, 23. viz. he that is to deliver Iſrael, Luke 24. 21. to ſave them from their Enemies, Luke 1. 71, 74. is the very time preceding the Deſtruction of the Jewiſh Nation. For, when thoſe Days of Tribulation come upon them, ſaith St. Mark, chap. 13. 19, 21. St. Matthew, chap. 24. 21, 23, 26. then ſhall they ſay to you, Lo, here is Chriſt, and there is Chriſt; and this is ſtill more evident from Matth. 24. 26. when they ſhall ſay, Behold, he is in the Deſert, go not forth; for this they often ſaid before their Deſtruction. See the Note there.

2*dly*, Hence it muſt follow, That the falſe Chriſts and falſe Prophets mentioned, Matth. 24. 24. muſt alſo be contemporary with the Times of Tribulation preceding that Deſtruction, and that they muſt riſe up as falſe Chriſts, by pretending to deliver Iſrael; and as falſe Prophets, by declaring to them Salvation as from God; for the Appearance of theſe very Perſons to deceive, is given as the reaſon why they ſhould not follow, or believe them who ſaid, Lo, Chriſt is here; or, lo, he is there, Matth. 24. 23, 24. Mark 13. 21, 22.

3*dly*, Hence it appears, That the παρουσία, coming of the Son of Man like Lightning, muſt be at the ſame time; not only, becauſe it is given in St. Matthew as a reaſon, why Chriſt was not then to be look'd for in Deſerts, or in ſecret Chambers; and, Luke 17. 24. as a reaſon why they ſhould not follow them, who would then ſay, See, he is here; or, ſee, he is there; but alſo, becauſe St. Matthew aſſigns this as the reaſon of that conſpicuous Appearance, that where ever the Body (of the Jews, the Carcaſs) is, there would the Eagle (i. e. the Roman Army) be gathered together, to prey upon, and to deſtroy them.

4*thly*, Hence it appears, That when it is ſaid, Matth. 24. 37, 38, 39. As it was in the Days of Noah, ſo alſo ſhall the coming of the Son of Man be: This alſo muſt refer to the ſame time, tho' theſe words may alſo refer to the Day of Judgment, and be then accompliſhed; for the ſame words, Luke 17. 26, 27. are mentioned by Chriſt; and then it follows, In that Day, (viz. of his coming) he that is on the Houſe-top, and his Stuff in the Houſe, let him not come down to take it away; which, as we have proved, reſpects the time preceding the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem.

5*thly*, Hence it appears, That the words following in St. Matthew, ver. 40, 41. Then ſhall two be in the Field, two grinding in the Mill, the one ſhall be taken, and the other left, refer to the ſame time alſo, as well as to the Day of Judgment; for when Chriſt had ſaid theſe words to his Diſciples, Luke 17. 35, 36. they enquire, Where, Lord, ſhall this be? And he anſwers, ver. 37. That where ever the Body is, thither ſhall the Eagles be gathered together; which, as is proved already, refers to the ſame time.

Hence then 'tis manifeſt, there can be no ſuch interval in this Propheſie as ſome imagine, viz. an interval of above 1700 Years betwixt what is ſpoken of the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem, to ver. 23. and what is ſpoken of the Millennium, from thence to ver. 30.

Arg. 2. Moreover, That what is aſſigned as a ſecond Epocha to follow the firſt, according to Grotius, three or four hundred Years after; and according to others, almoſt 1700 Years after, was indeed to happen in, or about the firſt Period, is evident from moſt of the Paſſages recorded from ver. 23. to the 34th. Of the 23d, 26th, 27th, 28th Verſes, this hath been proved already.

That thoſe words, ver. 24. For there ſhall ariſe falſe Chriſts, and falſe Prophets, belong to the ſame Period, as it hath been proved already from the connective Particle, for; which ſhews, this Verſe is introduced as a reaſon of what was ſaid in the foregoing Verſe; ſo alſo is it proved from the words following, ver. 25. Behold, I have told you before, viz. ver. 5. by ſaying, Many ſhall come in my Name, (i. e. as falſe Pretenders to be the Chriſt, and that Prophet which ſhould come into the World,) and ſhall deceive many; which words undoubtedly belong to the firſt interval. So when St. Mark had introduced Chriſt, ſpeaking the ſame words, ver. 22. he adds, ver. 23. See to it; Behold I have foretold you all things, viz. all that related to theſe Perſons, ver. 6. and therefore St. Luke having given us Chriſt's words thus, Chap. 21. 8. Many ſhall come in my Name, ſaying, I am Chriſt, and the time draweth near; he adds thoſe words, Go not after them; which are the ſame in ſenſe with thoſe that go before, and follow in St. Matthew, Believe them not; and upon that account, he doth not at all repeat thoſe words, as do St. Matthew and St. Mark.

2*dly*, St. Mark ſaith, ver. 24. In thoſe Days, after this Tribulation, (mentioned ver. 19.) the Sun ſhall be darkned; it ſhall be thus immediately after this Tribulation, ſaith St. Matthew, ver. 29. Now, can that which was not to happen till 1700 Years after this Tribulation, be ſaid to happen, either immediately after that Tribulation, or in thoſe days?

3*dly*, They both go on, and ſay, And then ſhall appear the ſign of the Son of Man coming in the Clouds, viz. in thoſe days, and immediately after that Tribulation, Matth. 24. 30. then ſhall they ſee the Son of Man coming in the Clouds with Power, and great Glory, ſurely not 1700 Years after the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem; for, why then did our Saviour ſay to them that crucified him, ἀπαρτὶ, Within a little while ſhall ye ſee the Son of Man coming in the Clouds? Matth. 26. 64.

4*thly*, The 31ſt Verſe following thus in St. Matthew, And he ſhall ſend; and in St. Mark thus, καὶ τότε, And then he ſhall ſend his Angels, and ſhall gather his Elect, ſhew evidently, That the gathering of the Elect there mentioned, muſt happen then.

5*thly*, The 33d Verſe follows thus, When all theſe things ſhall come to paſs, then know ye ὅτι ἐγγύς ἐστι, that it is near: Now theſe words, if they be rightly rendred by our Tranſlation, it is near, do neceſſarily refer to the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem, mentioned Luke 21. If they refer to the coming of the Son of Man, as is more probable, from the words of St. Paul, Phil. 4. 5. ὁ κύριος ἐγγύς, The Lord is at hand; and of St. James, Chap. 5. 7, 8, 9. The coming of the Lord ἤγγικε, is at hand, and the Judge ſtandeth at the door; they alſo muſt refer to the coming of the Son of Man to the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem, as they do in St. James, chap. 5. 7. ſee the Note there; and as we have proved the coming of the Son of Man doth in the foregoing places of this Chapter, and in St. Luke 17. And this is ſtill more evident from the variation of the Phraſe in St. Luke, Lift up your Heads, for the Kingdom of God draweth nigh; for as this being given as an encouragement to Chriſt's Diſciples, then to perſevere under theſe Tribulations, and to poſſeſs their Souls in patience, muſt reſpect thoſe of that Generation, and not thoſe Chriſtians which were to live above 1700 Years after; ſo the Kingdom of God, mentioned by St. Luke, enforceth the ſame ſenſe, ſince Chriſt in all theſe three Evangeliſts, had told them, There were ſome then alive that ſhould not taſte of Death, till they ſaw the Son of Man coming in his Kingdom, Matth. 16. 28. or, till they ſaw the Kingdom of God coming in Power, Mark 9. 1. Luke 9. 27.

Laſtly, Our Saviour adds, ver. 34. This Generation ſhall not paſs away till all theſe things be fulfilled; which ſhews, that this relates to that which was to be done in that Age: For this Generation, ſaith Grotius, is ejus ætatis homines, the Men of his Age, as hath been fully proved there; and this, ſaith he, Chriſt ſpake, Templum oſtendens, ſhewing them the Temple; and ſurely then, he ſpake this of the Deſtruction of the Temple.

Object. 1. But againſt this Opinion it is objected, 1*ſt*, That theſe words of St. Matthew, Then ſhall all the Tribes of the Earth (or Land) mourn, and then ſhall they ſee the Son of Man coming in the Clouds of Heaven with Power and great Glory, cannot relate to the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem, becauſe St. John, who writ his Prophecy long after the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem, ſaith thus, Rev. 1. 7. Behold he comes with Clouds, and every Eye ſhall ſee him, and they who pierced him, and all the Tribes of the Earth ſhall weep becauſe of him.

Anſw. But to this Objection Grotius himſelf gives a ſufficient Anſwer, by ſaying, Novum non eſt eadem verba, præſertim ex Prophetis petita, diverſis rebus aptari, It is no unuſual thing to adapt the ſame words taken from the Prophets, as theſe are from Zach. 12. 12. to divers Events, eſpecially when they reſpect the ſame Subject, and relate to the ſame People. Now, after the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem, in the 18th of Trajan, the Jews become ſeditious again in Libya, Cyrene, Egypt, Alexandria, Meſopotamia, and that War extinguiſhed πολλὰς μυριάδας Ἰουδαίων, many myriads of Jews, Euſeb. H. Eccl. l. 4. c. 12. And after that, from the 16th to the 18th of Hadrian, they rebel again; and then an innumerable Multitude of Men, Women, and Children, periſhed with Barchochebas their Leader; and they are utterly ſuppreſſed, and from thenceforth not permitted to ſee Jeruſalem, Chap. 6. and had not St. John, ſeeing theſe things by the Spirit of Propheſie, ſufficient occaſion upon theſe accounts, to adapt theſe words of Zachary to the like Calamities befalling the ſame Perſons.

Object. 2. St. Matthew and St. Mark ſay, Of that Day and Hour knoweth no Man, no, not the Angels of Heaven, nor the Son, but the Father only, Matth. 24. 36. Mark 13. 32. which ſeems not to be true of the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem, foretold ſo punctually by Daniel, but only of the Day of Judgment, of which the Ancients did generally interpret theſe words.

Anſw. About the time to which theſe words refer, I ſhall not much contend; for the preceding words being theſe, Heaven and Earth ſhall paſs away; theſe words may bear this ſenſe, But of the time when Heaven and Earth ſhall paſs away, knoweth no Man; and therefore in the Paraphraſe, I have ſo interpreted the following words, as to relate to both theſe Times; the Deſtruction of the Jewiſh Nation, being an Argument, and a Symbol of the general Judgment.

AN APPENDIX

To Chapter the Twenty ſixth:

In an Anſwer to an Objection of Crellius againſt Chriſt's Satisfaction.

THE great Objection which Crellius makes againſt Chriſt's Satisfaction is to this effect, That the Death Chriſt ſuffered for our Sins, was only Temporal; the Puniſhment we deſerved, and therefore ſhould have ſuffered in our Perſons for them, was eternal Death: Chriſt therefore did not ſuffer the Puniſhment of our Iniquities, becauſe he did not ſuffer an eternal Puniſhment. To this I anſwer, Anſw. 1*ſt*, By Confeſſion, that our Lord did not ſuffer the Torments which the Damned ſhall hereafter ſuffer; for that in the midſt of all his Agonies, he lay not under any Deſperation, or under any ſenſe of the Anger, or Indignation of God againſt him, is evident from what hath been diſcourſed on ver. 38. of this Chapter.

2*dly*, It alſo is confeſſed, That he could not ſuffer Death eternal, or eternal Puniſhments; for his Sufferings and Death laſted not three Days: To ſay, he ſuffered theſe Puniſhments intenſively, is, (1.) To ſpeak improperly, ſeeing Eternity applied to Puniſhments, plainly reſpecteth the Duration, not the Intenſion of them. (2.) 'Tis certain, our Lord ſuffered only in his human Nature; now that was not capable of ſuch intenſive Puniſhments as could be equal to the eternal Puniſhment of the whole World, for which he died; nor can the Dignity of the Perſon be conſidered here; for tho' that makes the Sufferings more valuable, it doth not make them either more durable, or more intenſe, ſeeing a Peaſant ſuffers as much, and as long, by hanging on a Croſs, as doth a Prince. And, (3.) Wherein did he ſuffer ſuch intenſive Puniſhments as could be any way equivalent to the eternal Torments of the Damned? Not in his Soul; for, could that Soul which knew no Sin, lie under a remorſe of Conſcience for any thing that he had done; Could the Worm that never dies, lodge in his ſacred Breaſt? Could he, who, for the Joy that was ſet before him, endured the Croſs, lie under any ſenſe of God's unchangeable Diſpleaſure? under an abſolute Deſpair of any better State? Could he, who knew his Soul ſhould not be left in Hades, nor ſhould his Body ſee Corruption, lie under any apprehenſion of an unavoidable Pain, or of no Releaſe from what he was to ſuffer? Now in theſe things, conſiſt the Miſeries and Torments of the damned Spirits; and, ſince it was impoſſible the Holy Jeſus ſhould thus ſuffer in his innocent and ſpotleſs Soul, it was impoſſible that he ſhould ſuffer in his Soul thoſe Puniſhments which are equivalent to the Puniſhments of damned Spirits; nor could he ſuffer theſe eternal Puniſhments in his Body, for that could only die, by what he ſuffered on the Croſs.

Again, As 'twas impoſſible that Chriſt ſhould ſuffer Death eternal, ſo was it unneceſſary that he ſhould do it. It was unneceſſary that he ſhould do it for the ſake of the Impenitent, and Unbelievers; for they in their own Perſons, are by the Order and Decree of God, to ſuffer an eternal Death; and, why ſhould our Lord ſuffer that for them, which, notwithſtanding all that he had ſuffered, they muſt in their own Perſons actually ſuffer? No Sacrifice for Sin, not even that of our Bleſſed Lord, can avail any thing for the Impenitent and the Ungodly; becauſe it cannot, merely as being offered, render them pure from habitual Sin, it cannot create in them the clean Heart, it cannot give them a Divine Nature, or a Likeneſs to God, and ſo it cannot fit them for a ſtate of Happineſs, or exempt them from being everlaſtingly excluded from the Face of God, and ſo for ever miſerable. Why therefore ſhould our Saviour ſuffer ſuch direful Puniſhments for them, who could receive no benefit from what he ſuffered? As for true penitent Believers, Chriſt came to ſave them from the Wrath to come, by ſuffering, to obtain Grace and Mercy for them in the Pardon of their Sins, and to eſtabliſh that new Covenant in his Blood, in which God promiſeth to be merciful to their Iniquities, and to remember their Sins no more, and to juſtifie them freely by his Grace, thro' the Redemption that is in Jeſus: Now, had Chriſt ſuffered for them Death eternal, or, all that Juſtice could demand by way of Puniſhment, for them in whoſe ſtead he ſuffered, what need had he to ſuffer to procure this rich Grace and Mercy, in the pardon of thoſe Sins for which he had already paid the utmoſt farthing? or, how then did he eſtabliſh a new and better Covenant in his Blood, ſeeing no Covenant did, or could require more than the full Puniſhment which our Sin deſerved? or, how was this a Covenant, to be merciful to our Iniquities? Where, Laſtly, is the Grace and Freeneſs of that Juſtification, which after a full payment, imputeth only to me nothing of that Debt which is intirely diſcharged?

Wrath

Anſw. 2. I ſhall not inſiſt upon it, tho' it be very true, That the words, Death eternal are never mentioned in the Old or the New Teſtament, but only ſhall obſerve from Covarruvias, and others, that to a Surrogation in the caſe of Puniſhment, it is not requiſite the ſubſtitute ſhould ſuffer what is accidental, but only that which is eſſential to the Puniſhment. Now to apply this to our purpoſe, let it be noted,

1*ſt*, That Death is accidentally to us eternal, becauſe we have no Power, being dead, to raiſe our Bodies unto Life; nor have we any Promiſe, that our dying Bodies ſhall not ſee Corruption; or becauſe Sin had given Satan a Power to detain us in that ſtate till Chriſt had made a ſatisfaction for it, Death neither was, nor could be ſo to Chriſt, who knew no Sin, becauſe he had this Power to reaſſume his Life, and had a Promiſe that his Body ſhould not ſee Corruption; but ſtill his Death was both as truly, and as much Death, as that which Sinners ſuffer in the Body, becauſe it was as much the Diſſolution of the Soul and Body, and the Ceſſation of the Functions of Human Life in Chriſt as it is in them; that therefore our Lord Jeſus ſhould redeem us from eternal Death, it was not neceſſary that he ſhould ſuffer the ſame Death, but only that he ſhould atone for that Sin, which made us ſubject to Death, and procure for us a bleſſed Reſurrection by his Death, which he hath done; For as by Man came Death, by Man alſo came the Reſurrection of the Dead; and as in Adam all Men die, ſo in Chriſt ſhall all be made alive, 1 Cor. 15. 21, 22.

2*dly*, Moſt of the Evils which the Soul ſuffers after Death, are alſo accidental, and may more properly be ſtiled the neceſſary Conſequents, than the formal, and poſitive Puniſhments of Sin: For inſtance, that Souls departed, are deprived of the Love of God, are Objects of his Wrath, and are excluded from his Preſence, is not merely becauſe they are Souls ſeparated from the Body; for pious Souls, when ſeparated from the Body, are entirely exempted from theſe Evils; but this ariſeth from the natural Purity and Holineſs of God, and the Defilement and Impurity which theſe unhappy Souls lie under; it is, becauſe God is of purer Eyes than to behold Iniquity, neither ſhall Evil dwell with him; there being no Communion betwixt Light and Darkneſs; and becauſe nothing which is undefiled, or unclean, can enter into the new Jeruſalem, or be capable of enjoying Happineſs from God. The Worm of Conſcience, the Deſpair, and direful Expectations which follow this ſenſe of Loſs, and this Excluſion from God's Preſence, are alſo natural Reſults of the Soul's Separation in an impenitent State, and an unſanctified Condition, and of its being conſcious of its own Doom, and of thoſe wilful Follies which did ſubject it to that Doom, Chriſt being then the Lamb of God, not having Spot or Blemiſh; he being ſuch an High Prieſt who was holy, harmleſs, ſeparate from Sinners, he could not be expoſed to the Evils conſequent to the Separation of unholy Souls. And that his Members might alſo be exempted from them, he was not only to ſuffer for them; ſince, as I have obſerved, the Sufferings of another for us, can never of themſelves render us holy, renew our Natures, and make us like to God; but he was alſo to make them holy by his Word and Spirit, by the waſhing of Regeneration, and renewing of the Holy Ghoſt; whence we are ſaid to be juſtified by the Name of the Lord Jeſus, but to be ſanctified by the Holy Spirit of God, 1 Cor. 6. 11. And upon this Sanctification depends our Intereſt in the Blood of Chriſt; for, if we walk in the Light, as God is in the Light, we have Communion with him, and the Blood of Chriſt cleanſeth us from all Sin, 1 Joh. 1. 7. And tho' Chriſt doubtleſs ſuffered to redeem us from all Iniquity, and purifie to himſelf a peculiar People zealous of good Works; yet is it ſaid, that he gave himſelf to the Death for us, that he might cleanſe us by the waſhing of Water and the Word, Epheſ. 5. 26. His Death is indeed a moſt powerful Motive to Holineſs of Life, but yet 'tis the immediate Fruit of his Holy Spirit, and his Word. 'Twas alſo neceſſary for this End, that he ſhould purchaſe for us an Entrance into the Holy of Holies, that he ſhould there appear before God with it; for by this, ſaith the Apoſtle, we obtain a Liberty of Entrance into the Holy Place, Heb. 10. 19.

3*dly*, The Reſurrection of the Bodies, and Union of the Souls of wicked Men to them, is is the natural Reſult of that impartial Juſtice, which will render to every Man according to what he hath done in the Fleſh: That being raiſed, and ſentenced to Condemnation, and puniſhed with everlaſting Separation from the Preſence of the Lord, they are tormented in the Flames, which will then ſeiſe upon that World, which is reſerved unto Fire againſt the Day of Judgment, and Perdition of ungodly Men, 2 Pet. 3. 7. hapneth becauſe they are not able to conveigh themſelves out of thoſe Flames, and are not worthy to be ſnatched up to Heaven, and live for ever with the Lord; that then Chriſt might exempt the Members of his Body from theſe Puniſhments, it was not neceſſary that he ſhould deſcend to Hell, or be caſt into thoſe Flames, but only that he ſhould free them from condemnation at that Day, as he moſt certainly hath done, there being no condemnation to them that are in Chriſt Jeſus, and that they ſhould be caught up by him into the Clouds, to meet the Lord in the Air, and ſo to be for ever with him, as the Apoſtle ſaith they will, 1 Theſſ. 4. 17.

Anſw. 3. I add, That tho' Chriſt did not undergo eternal Puniſhments, yet did he ſuffer ſuch Evils as contained ſome Analogy, and bore ſome Reſemblance to thoſe which Sinners do, or are to ſuffer, and which he would not otherwiſe have ſuffered, had he not been puniſhed for our Sins. For,

1*ſt*, As the Sinner lyeth under the Sentence of Condemnation, and is ſure to find a publick exemplary Judgment; ſo was our Saviour ſolemnly condemned, and ſentenced as a Malefactor, not without ſemblance of Juſtice, and of Law to warrant their Proceedings; for we, ſay the Jewiſh Doctors, would not deliver up this Jeſus, were he not a notorious Malefactor. They lay upon him the imputations of an Impoſtor, a ſeditious Perſon, a perverter of the Nation, a Rebel unto Cæſar, and a Blaſphemer againſt God, pretending to deſire his Execution out of pure Zeal unto their Law; for by our Law, ſay they, he ought to die, becauſe he maketh himſelf the Son of God; thus was he numbred with the Tranſgreſſors.

2*dly*, As Sinners will be expoſed to Shame and Ignominy at the Great Day of Judgment, before Men and Angels, ſo did Chriſt ſuffer a very ignominious and ſhameful Death; the Puniſhment he endured, was ſervile ſupplicium, that Puniſhment which only Slaves did ſuffer by the (a) Roman Law, it was attended with all the Mockeries, and Flouts, Affronts, and Obloquies, his Enemies could caſt upon him; as for the Rulers, ἐξεμυκτήριζον, they reviled, and ſnuffed up their Noſes at him, and they that went by, ἐβλασφήμων, wagged their Heads, and with their Tongues, vented their Blaſphemies againſt him, Luke 23. 35, 36. He himſelf declares to his Diſciples, that he ought to ſuffer theſe Indignities, that he ought ἀποδοκιμασθῆναι, to be reprobated by the Chief Prieſts, and Elders of the Jews, Luke 9. 22. ἐξουθενῆσθαι, to be vilified, and ſet at nought by them, Mark 9. 12. This Condemnation, and this Shame, was therefore part of what he was deſigned to ſuffer for us. And,

3*dly*, Whereas Sinners are obnoxious to Sufferings in their Bodies, he ſuffered in his Body a Death ſo painful, that the moſt exquiſite afflicting Torments are ſtiled Cruciatus, from the Croſs. And ſurely, he muſt ſuffer ſharp and pungent Grief, when his Hands were pierced and nailed to the Croſs, ſuſtaining thus the weight of his whole Body; and by that Burthen, ſuffering a continual Rack and Torture, when all his Bones were out of joint, by being ſtretched upon the Croſs; when he being ſtretched out thus, was nailed to it, and left to die no other Death, but what the ſharpneſs of his Pains, and the exceſs of Torments would produce.

4*thly*, He ſuffered in his Soul moſt dreadful Agonies; for he himſelf declares, That he was troubled in Spirit, John 12. 27. — 13. 21. at what he was to ſuffer; and that his Soul was full of deadly Sorrow, Matth. 26. 38. See the Note there. This we may learn from thoſe ſtrong, earneſt, and repeated Cries he uttered, to be delivered from this bitter Cup, for being heard in what he fear'd, Heb. 5. 7. and yet not freed from ſuffering Death, we may imagine, that his Fears were greater than the Impreſſions of mere Death could make upon him.

Laſtly, Are Sinners then to ſuffer from the hand of God? So do the Scriptures teach us, that our Saviour ſuffered from his Hand, that he delivered him up for us all, Rom. 8. 32. and that he made him ſin for us, who knew no ſin, 2 Cor. 5. 21. that is, he in his Providence ordered, that he ſhould be dealt with as a Criminal, or ſinful Perſon, for our ſakes, who in himſelf was wholly innocent: It was by Men who acted in his Name, and claimed his Authority, that he was ſentenced to death; it was by them who ſat in Moſes's Chair, that he was judged worthy of Death, and by his Vicegerents that he was delivered up to be crucified; and therefore he tells Pilate, He could have no Power over him, had it not been given him from above, John 19. 11. It pleaſed the Lord to bruiſe him, ſaith the Prophet, and to put him to to Grief, and to make our Sins to meet upon him; and what Men did againſt him, was only that which God's Hand and Council determined before to be done, Acts 4. 28. ſo that, altho' I dare not ſay, that he was ſmitten by the immediate Hand of God, yet do theſe Scriptures ſeem to teach, that what he ſuffered from the Hand of Man, befel him by the over-ruling Providence of him, who orders all things according to the Counſel of his Will. Now from this fair reſemblance betwixt what our Lord actually ſuffered, and what Sinners had deſerved to ſuffer, there ſeems ſufficient ground to ſay, He bore the Puniſhment of our Iniquities, and ſuffered in our ſtead, altho' he did not undergo what accidentally the Sinner was to ſuffer, and what it was impoſſible for him to ſuffer, being Innocent and perfectly Holy: Had not our Lord been holy in Perfection, and ſeparate from Sinners, he muſt have ſuffered for his own Sins; and ſo he could have been no Saviour to us, by his Sufferings; and being thus holy, he could not be obnoxious to the Puniſhments I ſay he did not ſuffer: Now, is it not unreaſonable to ſay, Chriſt could not ſuffer in our ſtead, or for our Sins, unleſs he ſuffered that eternal Death we had deſerved? ſince, this is plainly to affirm, he could not ſuffer in our ſtead, had he not been a Sinner as we were, i. e. had he not been incapable of ſuffering for us, and liable to ſuffer for his own Offences.

THE PREFACE TO THE Goſpel of St. Mark.

IN confirmation of the Authority of theſe two enſuing Goſpels, let it be conſidered,

1*ſt*, That two things have been already proved in the General Preface to the Goſpels, viz. (1.) That all the four Goſpels were received from the beginning, by the whole Church of Chriſt, as genuine, and never queſtioned by any beſides Hereticks. (2.) That they were owned as their Rule of Faith, and Writings of Divine Inſpiration; and that therefore (a) Copies of theſe Goſpels were carried by the Diſciples of the Apoſtles, or Apoſtolick Men, into all Countries, whither they went to build up the Churches planted by their Hands.

2*dly*, (b) Euſebius farther adds, that it was related, That the three other Goſpels being come to the knowledge of all Men, and ſo to St. John's knowledge, he approved of them, and gave in his Teſtimony to the truth of them.

3*dly*, Concerning this Goſpel of St. Mark in particular, (c) Euſebius informs us from Clemens of Alexandria, and Papias, That when it was endited by him, St. Peter being informed of the writing it by the Revelation of the Holy Ghoſt, confirmed it as a Writing to be read in the Churches; which ſure he would not have done, had he not found it an exactly true and authentick Record of the things related in it. And as for the Goſpel of St. Luke, (d) Origen declares, That it was τὸ ὑπὸ Παύλου ἐπαινούμενον εὐαγγέλιον, the Goſpel praiſed by St. Paul, plainly referring to thoſe words of the Apoſtle, 2 Cor. 8. 18. The Brother, οὗ ὁ ἔπαινος ἐν τῷ εὐαγγελίῳ διὰ πασῶν τῶν ἐκκλησιῶν, whoſe Praiſe is in the Goſpel, throughout all the Churches.

Now if theſe things be true, we muſt allow the truth of what (e) Tertullian ſaith, That theſe Apoſtolical Men writ theſe Goſpels, ſed non ſoli, ſed cum Apoſtolis, but this they did not alone, but with the Apoſtles; and that the Goſpel of St. Mark, Petri adſirmetur, might be ſtiled the Goſpel of St. Peter; and that of St. Luke, quod Paulo adſcribere ſolent, which the Ancients aſcribed to St. Paul, might truly bear thoſe Titles; not as being dictated by, or being any Extract, or Compendium of the Doctrine which they preached to the Churches, but as being approved by them; and then the Authority of St. Mark's Goſpel depends on the Authority of St. Peter, and the Authenticknes of St. Luke's on the Authority of St. Paul, and both upon the approbation of the Apoſtle John. As then this Axiom obtained among the Jews as an unqueſtionable Rule, that he is to be admitted as a Prophet, whoſe Propheſie is confirmed by the Teſtimony of an undoubted Prophet; ſo by parity of Reaſon, he muſt be admitted as a true Evangeliſt, whoſe Goſpel is approv'd by an Apoſtle, of whoſe Authority to indite a Goſpel, there is no doubt; which is, according to theſe Teſtimonies, the caſe as to the Goſpels of St. Mark and Luke. But, I confeſs, I cannot fully acquieſce in this laſt ground, of the Canonical Authority of theſe two Evangeliſts, for Reaſons which will do no body any good, and therefore ſhall do no body any hurt; and upon this account, I ſhall endeavour, in the Preface to St. Luke's Goſpel, to found the Authority of theſe two Evangeliſts, liſts, on Principles which to me ſeem more certain.

As for the time and place, when and where this Goſpel was indited, we are wholly in the dark; for all that Theophylact ſaith of this Goſpel, That it was written ἐν Ῥώμῃ μετὰ δέκα ἔτη τὴν τοῦ Χριστοῦ ἀνοδήψεως, in Rome ten Years after our Lord's Aſcenſion, is certainly a miſtake, and inconſiſtent with all the Accounts the Church Hiſtorians give us, That it was written at the Deſire of the Roman Converts, as an Extract of what St. Peter had preached there; it being certain, that St. Peter never came to Rome till ſome Years after. See the Preface to the Epiſtle to the Romans, and Note on Chap. 1. 15. If he died in the 8th of Nero, as St. Jerom, Dorotheus, and Theophylact affirm, (f) Irenæus muſt miſtake, in ſaying, That he writ his Goſpel after the Death of Peter, who ſuffered only in the 13th or 14th Year of that Emperor; or μετὰ τὴν τούτου ἔξοδον, after the departure of St. Peter and St. Paul from Rome, ſeeing St. Paul went not thence till the 9th of Nero; I therefore leave this matter uncertain, as I find it, inclining to the Opinion of (g) Valeſius, That we have nothing certain touching the Goſpels from the Ancients, but that they were four, and were written by thoſe Authors whoſe Names they bear, quo autem tempore, & quam ob cauſam ſcripta ſunt, parum conſtat, but at what time, and upon what occaſion they were written, it doth not appear.

A PARA-

A PARAPHRASE WITH ANNOTATIONS ON THE Gospel of St. Mark.

CHAP. I.

a 1. THE [a] beginning of the Gospel of Jesus Christ the Son of God, (was from the Preaching of John the Baptist, Luke 16. 16.)

b 2. As it is written in the [b] Prophets (Malachy saying, Chap. 3. 1.) behold I send my Messenger before thy Face, who shall prepare thy way before thee; (And Isaiah saying, Chap. 40. 2, 3. that when the Messiah was about to come to save his People from their Sins, there should be)

3. The Voice of one crying in the Wilder-c ness, [c] prepare ye the way of the Lord, make his Paths straight: (and accordingly,)

4. John (who was the very Person spoken of by those Prophets, being sent of God for that end,) did baptize in the Wilderness, d and preach the [d] Baptism of Repentance, for the Remission of Sins; (and so endeavoured to prepare Men for the coming of that Messiah, who was to save his People from their Sins.)

5. And (so disposed were the People to receive his Baptism, that) there went out to him all the Land of Judea, and they of Jerusalem, (and all the Region round about Jordan, Matth. 3. 5.) and were all baptized of him in the River of Jordan, confessing their Sins.

6. And (this) John (being a Preacher of Repentance, and coming in the Power and Spirit of Elias, Luke 1. 17. resembled him in Habit, 2 Kings 1. 8. for he) was cloathed with (a Garment of) Camel's Hair, and with a Girdle of a (leathern) Skin about his Loins, and he did eat Locusts and wild Honey:

7. And (he) preached, saying, there cometh one mightier than I after me, the Latchet of whose Shoes I am not worthy to stoop down and unloose, (i. e. whose Servant I am not worthy to be.)

8. I indeed have baptized you with Water, e but he shall baptize you with the [e] Holy Ghost (sent down from Heaven; the Promise of him being made to you and to your Children, Acts 2. 39.)

9. And it came to pass in those days (of John's Baptism at the River Jordan,) that Jesus came from Nazareth of Galilee, and was baptized of John in Jordan.

10. And straightway coming up out of the Water, he saw the Heavens opened, and the (holy) Spirit descending upon him like a Dove; (i. e. in that hovering manner which a Dove useth when she descends or rests upon any thing.)

11. And (then) there came a Voice from Heaven, saying, Thou art my beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased.

12. And immediately the Spirit [f] driveth f (leadeth, Luke 4. 1.) him into the Wilderness.

13. And he was there in the Wilderness, g [g] forty days, (which being ended, he was visibly) tempted of Satan, and was with the wild Beaſts; and (when Satan had ended his Temptation, Matth. 4. 3, 11.) the Angels miniſtred to him.

14. Now after that John was put in Priſon (by Herod,) Jeſus came into Galilee, preaching the Goſpel of the Kingdom of God,

15. And ſaying; The time (foretold for the coming of the Meſſiah) is fulfilled, and the Kingdom of God is at hand, repent ye (therefore) and believe the Goſpel.

16. Now as he walked by the Sea of Galilee, he ſaw Simon, and Andrew his Brother (gone out of their Ship, and) caſting a Net into the Sea (to waſh it, Luke 5. 2.) for they were Fiſhers.

17. And Jeſus ſaid unto them, come ye after me, and I will make you to become Fiſhers of Men; (i. e. I will enable you to draw them into the Net of the Goſpel.)

18. And ſtraightway (upon his call) they forſook their Nets, and followed him.

19. And when he had gone a little farther thence, he ſaw James the Son of Zebedee, and John his Brother, who alſo were (now) in the Ship mending their Nets, (which they had waſhed; ſee Luke 5. 2.)

20. And ſtraightway he called them, and they (upon his Call) left their Father Zebedee in the Ship with the hired Servants, and went after him.

21. And they went into Capernaum, and ſtraightway on the Sabbath day he entred into the Synagogue, and taught (them.)

22. And they were aſtoniſhed at his Doctrine, for he taught them as one who had Authority (from God to do ſo) and not as the Scribes, (who only told them what were the Traditions of their Fathers.)

23. And there was in their Synagogue a Man (poſſeſs'd) with an unclean Spirit, and he (the evil Spirit) cried out,

24. Saying, Let us alone, what have we to do with thee, thou Jeſus of Nazareth? Art thou come to deſtroy us (before the time appointed for our Puniſhment?) I know thee, who thou art, (to wit) the holy One of God.

25. And Jeſus (being not willing to receive Teſtimony from Satan, v. 34.) rebuked him, ſaying, Hold thy peace, and come out of him.

26. And when the unclean Spirit had torn, (Gr. and the unclean Spirit ſhaking or moving) him, (ſee Note on Chap. 9. 18. ſo that he fell down, Luke 4. 35.) and cried with a loud Voice, he came out of him.

27. And they were all amazed, inſomuch that they queſtioned among themſelves, ſaying, What (ſtrange) thing is this, what new Doctrine is this? For with Authority commandeth he even the unclean Spirits, and they obey him; (which is an indication that his Doctrine is attended with a more than ordinary Power.)

28. And immediately his Fame ſpread abroad throughout all the Region round about Galilee.

29. And forthwith when they were come out of the Synagogue, they entred into the Houſe of Simon, and Andrew, with James and John.

30. But (Gr. and) Simon's Wife's Mother lay ſick of a Fever, and anon (i. e. preſently) they tell him of her (condition.)

31. And (or, then) he came and took her by the hand, and lifted her up, and immediately the Fever left her, and ſhe (being recovered) miniſtred to them.

32. And at Even when the Sun did ſet, (and ſo the Sabbath was ended,) they brought unto him all that were diſeaſed, and them that were poſſeſſed with Devils.

33. And all the City was gathered together, at the door (of Simon's Houſe.)

34. And he healed many that were ſick of divers Diſeaſes, and [h] caſt out many Devils, [h] and ſuffered not the Devils to ſpeak, becauſe they knew him.

35. And in the morning, riſing up a great while before day, he went out, and departed into a ſolitary place, and there prayed.

36. And Simon, and they that were with (i. e. belonged to) him, [i] followed after him. [i]

37. And when they had found him, they ſaid to him, all Men ſeek for thee.

38. And he ſaid unto them, let us go into the next [k] Towns, that I may preach there alſo, for therefore came I forth (from this Houſe, being ſent by my Father to preach to them alſo, Luke 4. 43.) [k]

39. And he preached in their Synagogues throughout all Galilee, and caſt out Devils.

40. And there came a Leper to him, beſeeching him, and kneeling down to him, and ſaying to him, if thou wilt thou canſt make me clean.

41. And Jeſus moved with Compaſſion, put forth his Hand, and touched him, and ſaith unto him, I will, be thou clean.

42. And as ſoon as he had ſpoken (this,) immediately the Leproſie departed from him, and he was cleanſed.

43. And he ſtraitly charged him, (Gr. and being earneſt with him to repair inſtantly to the Prieſt, he) forthwith ſent him away.

44. And ſaid unto him, ſee thou ſay nothing to any Man; but go thy way, ſhew thy ſelf to the Prieſt, and offer for thy cleanſing thoſe things which Moſes commanded, for a Teſtimony to them (that thou art cleanſed.)

45. But he went out, and began to publiſh it much, and to blaze abroad the matter; inſomuch that Jeſus could no more openly enter into the City, but was (forced to be) without in deſert places; and they came to him from every Quarter.

Annotations

a Ver. 1. ΑΡΧΗ εὐαγγελίου Ἰησοῦ Χριστοῦ υἱοῦ Θεοῦ, The beginning of the Gospel, &c.] So saith St. Mark; beginning his History from John the Baptist, by the Fathers stiled, the beginning of the Gospel, because he began his Office by preaching Repentance as the Preparation to receive it, and Faith in the Messiah the Subject of it; so Christ himself plainly testifies, by saying, the Law and the Prophets were until John, from thence the Kingdom of God εὐαγγελίζεται is preached, Luke 16. 16. This Gospel he stiles the Gospel of the Son of God, who was, or is in the Bosom of the Father, John 1. 18. and came down from Heaven, John 3. 13. to reveal his Father's Will unto us, that so we might have worthy Thoughts both of the Gospel, as being the Revelation of it, and of the Author, as being so intimate with, and so nearly related to the Father.

b Ver. 2. Ὡς γέγραπται ἐν τοῖς προφήταις, As it is written in the Prophets.] Other Copies read, ἐν Ἡσαΐᾳ τῷ προφήτῃ, In Isaiah the Prophet; so do Iren. l. 3. c. 11. p. 259. Orig. in Celsum, p. 60. and in John p. 14. But then it is to be noted that the former reading is in Irenæus twice before in the same Chapter thus, Marcus initium Evangelicæ conscriptionis fecit sic, initium Evangelii Iesu Christi Filii Dei, quemadmodum dictum est in Prophetis, p. 256. and after, Marcus, ait, initium, quemadmodum scriptum est in Prophetis, &c. 18. So reads the Arabick, so the Alexandrian Copy, so most MSS. so Theophylact; and this reading is to be preferr'd; (1*st*,) Because it is not so proper to say, As it is written in Isaiah the Prophet, when the Citation immediately following is not in Isaiah, but in Malachy; nor is there one instance of any thing so cited in the New Testament, (2*dly*,) It is the common Phrase among the Jews, when they cite many Passages of the Prophets, to say, As it is written in the Prophets: But it is without all Example, when two Testimonies are taken from two Prophets, to cite only the last.

Object. But Grotius objects, That if this had been the true reading, there can be imagined no reason for the alteration of it; whereas, if the other were so, the reason of the change is manifest, viz. because St. Mark cites Testimonies out of the Prophets.

Answ. The reason of the change seems very manifest, it being done in compliance with Matth. 3. 3. Luke 3. 4. John 1. 23. for all these Evangelists citing expressly what is written in Isaiah the Prophet; they would have had St. Mark do so also.

Ver. 3. Prepare ye the way of the Lord.] See Note on Matth. 3. 3. c

Ver. 4. Βάπτισμα μετανοίας, The Baptism of Repentance.] This Baptism, saith Dr. Lightfoot, may belong to Children, tho' it be the Baptism of Repentance, and they know not what Repentance means; for it requireth not their Repentance at the receiving of this Sacrament, but it engageth them to it for the time to come, viz. when they shall come to the use of Reason, and the knowledge of the Engagement. And so was it with the Children that were circumcised, for they by that Sacrament became Debtors to observe the whole Law, Gal. 5. 3. when they knew not what Obedience, or the Law, meant, but that bound them to it when they came to Years of Knowledge and Discretion. d

Ver. 8. Βαπτίσει ὑμᾶς ἐν πνεύματι ἁγίῳ, He shall baptize you with the Holy Ghost,] καὶ πυρί, and with Fire, Matth. 3. 11. Luke 3. 16. i. e. whose Symbol is Fire, or Flame. So he descended on the Apostles, Acts 2. 3. So Justin M. saith, that when Christ was baptized, πῦρ ἀνήφθη ἐν τῷ Ἰορδάνῃ, a Fire was kindled in Jordan; and the Gospel of the Nazarenes, and the Liturgy of the Syrians, that περιέλαμψε τὸν τόπον φῶς μέγα, a great Light shone round the place. e

Ver. 12. Τὸ πνεῦμα αὐτὸν ἐκβάλλει, The Spirit driveth him out;] ἤγετο he was moved by the Spirit inwardly to go into the Wilderness; so Luke 4. 1. ἀνήχθη, he was led up from the Plains of Jordan by the Spirit into the Mountains of the Wilderness; so Matth. 4. 1. the Spirit ἐκβάλλει, sends him away into the Wilderness; so the word signifies, v. 43. Jesus ἐξέβαλεν αὐτὸν, sent him away. See Matth. 9. 38. — 12. 35. — 13. 52. f

Ver. 13. Ἡμέρας τεσσαράκοντα πειραζόμενος, Being forty days tempted of Satan, — and the Angels ministred to him.] These forty days, saith Dr. Lightfoot, the Holy Angels ministred to Christ visibly, and Satan tempted him invisibly; at the end of them Satan puts on the appearance of an Angel of Light, and pretends to wait on him, as they did. g

Ver. 34. He healed many that were sick, and cast out many Devils.] Hence it is evident that the Devils cast out were not Diseases; as also appears from Chap. 3. 11, 15. — 5. 12. — 6. 13. See Note on Matth. 8. 28. h

Ver. 36. Καὶ κατεδίωξαν αὐτὸν, And Simon and they that were with him followed him.] Here the Criticks note that τὸ διώκειν when it respects Persons, is usually to pursue in an hostile manner, (except here and Luke 17. 23.) but when it respects things, it is to prosecute with a Desire to obtain them; as i

when we are bid to follow after Charity and Hospitality, Rom. 12. 13. — 14. 19. 1 Cor. 14. 1. Philip. 3. 12, 14. 1 Thess. 5. 15. 1 Tim. 6. 11. Heb. 12. 14. 1. Pet. 3. 11.

k Ver. 38. Εἰς ἐχομένας κωμοπόλεις, To the adjoining Towns.] Κωμοπόλεις, Towns, saith Dr. Lightfoot, are Villages which had a Synagogue in them, κώμαι, Villages which had none, πόλεις Towns girt about with Walls.

Ibid. Εἰς τοῦτο γὰρ ἐξῆλυθα, For therefore came I forth.] Εἰς τοῦτο ἐπέσταλμαι, Luke 4. 43. for therefore was I sent. Whence it may be granted that going forth, and being sent to preach the Gospel, are the same thing, but not when it is said of Christ, ἐξῆλυθα, I came forth from God, and return to God. See the Paraphrase. 1

CHAP. II.

1. AND again he entred into Capernaum [a] after some days, and it was noised (reported) that he was in the House (of Simon, Chap. 1. 29.) a

2. And straightway many were gathered together (about it,) insomuch that there was no room to receive them, no not so much as about the Door, and he preached the Word unto them.

3. And they come unto him, bringing one sick of the Palsie (in a Bed,) which was born of four (Men.)

4. And when they could not come nigh to him for the Press, they [b] uncovered the Roof (of the upper Chamber, see the Note,) where he was, and when they had broken it up, they let down (to him) the Bed wherein the sick of the Palsie lay. b

5. When Jesus (by this instance) saw their Faith, he said to the (Man) sick of the Palsie, Son, thy Sins (which brought this Disease upon thee) be forgiven thee (as to the temporal Punishment of them, see Note on Matth. 9. 2.)

6. But (and) there were certain of the Scribes sitting there, and (upon occasion of these words, thus) reasoning in their Hearts.

7. Why doth this Man thus speak Blasphemies, (ascribing that to himself which is proper to God alone? for) who can forgive Sins but God only?

8. And immediately when Jesus perceived in his Spirit, that they so reasoned within themselves, he said unto them, why reason ye these things in your Hearts?

9. (For) Whether is it easier to say to the sick of the Palsie, thy Sins (as to their temporal Punishment) be forgiven thee, or to say (effectually, that which is a certain Indication of it,) Arise, and take up thy Bed, and walk.

10. But (I chuse to say the first,) that ye may know that the Son of Man hath Power (even whilst he is) on Earth, (thus) to forgive Sins, (and then) he saith to the sick of the Palsie, 11. I say unto thee, arise, and take up thy Bed, and go thy way into thine House.

12. And immediately he arose, took up the Bed (on which he lay) and went forth before them all; insomuch that they were all amazed, and glorified God, saying, we never saw it on this Fashion (before.)

13. And he went forth again by the Sea side, and all the Multitude resorted to him, and he taught them.

14. And as he passed by (from thence, Matth. 9. 9.) he saw Levi the Son of Alpheus sitting at the Receipt of Custom, and (he) said to him, follow me; and he arose and followed him.

15. And it came to pass, that as Jesus sat at Meat in his House, many Publicans and Sinners sat also together with Jesus, and his Disciples, for there were many (of them) and they followed him.

16. And when the Scribes and Pharisees saw him eat with Publicans and Sinners, they (judging them unworthy to be conversed with, and a Defilement to those who did so,) said to his Disciples, [c] how is it that he (your Master, who professeth himself a Prophet, and an holy Man,) eateth and drinketh with Publicans and Sinners? c

17. When Jesus heard (the Pharisees speak thus) he saith unto them, (these 'tis most necessary to converse with, for) they that are whole have no need of the (spiritual) Physician, but they that are sick; (and this is more especially the Business of my Prophetick Office, for) I came not to call the Righteous, but Sinners to Repentance.

18. And (then) the Disciples of John, and of the Pharisees used to fast, (Gr. were fasting, and they (the Disciples of John, Matth. 9. 14.) come, and say unto him, why do the Disciples of John, and of the Pharisees fast, but thy Disciples fast not?

19. And Jesus said unto them, [d] can (it be fit for) the Children of the Bride-chamber (to) fast, while the Bridegroom is with them? as long as they have the Bridegroom with them they cannot (decently) fast. d

20. But the days will come, when (I) the Bridegroom shall be taken away from them, and then shall they (have occasion to) fast in those days.

21. (And he said also by way of Parable, Luke 5. 36.) no Man also seweth a piece of new Cloth on an old Garment, else the new piece piece that filled it up, taketh away from the old, (that being tender, and this ſtrong) and (ſo) the rent is made worſe, (i. e. greater.)

22. And no (skilful) Man putteth new Wine into old, (i. e. weak) Bottles, elſe the new Wine (fermenting) doth burſt the Bottles, and (ſo) the Wine is ſpill'd, and the Bottles will be marred, (broken or rent,) but new Wine muſt be put into new Bottles, (See Matth. 9. 16, 17.)

23. And it came to paſs that he went through the Corn Fields on the (firſt) Sabbath day (after the Paſſover, Luke 6. 1.) and e his Diſciples [e] began, as they went, to pluck the Ears of Corn, (and rubbing them in their Hands to eat of the Corn, ibid.)

24. And the Phariſees (ſeeing this) ſaid unto him, behold, why do they (by thy permiſſion) on the Sabbath day, that which (according to our Traditions) is not lawful (to be done upon that day?)

25. And he ſaid unto them, Have ye never read what (is ſufficient to juſtifie this Action of theirs, viz. that which) David did when he had need, and was an hungred, he, and they that were with him?

26. How he went into the Houſe of God, in the [f] days of Abiathar the High-Prieſt, f (ſee the Note,) and did eat the Shew-bread, which is not lawful to eat, but for the Prieſts, (i. e. of which it is not lawful for any, but the Prieſts to eat,) and gave alſo (of it) to them that were with him?

27. And he ſaid (moreover) to them, the Sabbath was made for (the ſake of) Man, and not Man for the Sabbath; (now that which was inſtituted for the ſake of another thing, muſt yield to the good of that, for whoſe ſake it was inſtituted.)

28. Therefore (ὥστε ſo that) the Son of Man, (who came to ſave Mens Lives, and promote their good,) is (doubtleſs ſo far) Lord alſo of the Sabbath, (as to diſpenſe with the ſtrict Reſt of it, when he ſees it neceſſary for their good. For the Expoſition of theſe ſix laſt Verſes, ſee the Note on Matth. 12. 1.)

a Ver. 1. Δι' ἡμερῶν, After ſome days.] So Theophylact, διὶ ἡμερῶν ἀντὶ τῦ διελθόσων ἡμερῶν τινῶν, after days, that is, when ſome days were paſſed. So Gen. 4. 3. in proceſs of time, μετὰ ἡμέρας, after days it came to paſs.

b Ver. 4. Ἀπεστέγασαν τὴν στέγην ὅπου ἦν, They uncovered the Roof where he was.] Dr. Lightfoot upon the place ſhews, that there was a Door in every Roof by which they went from the ὑπερῶον or upper Chamber upon the Roof. Now theſe Men, knowing that it was this upper Chamber to which the Jews cuſtomarily went up, when they diſcourſed of the Law, or Religious Things, aſcend by Stairs or Ladders to this Roof; and not finding the Door wide enough for the Man's Bed to go down at, they widen it, by looſening ſome Stones about it, and ſo let down the Paralytick.

c Ver. 16. Τί ὅτι, How is it that he eateth? &c.] Τί for διὰ τί; why is it? or wherefore is it? is very frequent both in the Old and New Teſtament; Examples from the Old are numerous. See Gen. 21. 29. —38. 29. Exod. 14. 15. — 17. 2. Joſh. 7. 25. Judg. 8. 1. 2 King. 6. 33. — 7. 3. Iſaiah 1. 11. —3. 15. Lam. 3. 39. In the New, ſee Matth. 8. 26. — 19. 17. — 22. 18. Mark 2. 24. — 8. 17. — 10. 18. — 12. 15. Luke 2. 48, 49. — 6. 41, 46. — 22. 46. John 1. 25. — 7. 19. — 9. 27. — 10. 20. — 14. 22. — 18. 21, 23. — 20. 13.

d Ver. 19. Μὴ δύνανται; Can the Children of the Bride Chamber faſt?] Becauſe there is little to be obſerved in this Chapter which hath not been explained already, till we come to the 26th Verſe, I ſhall here obſerve the various acceptations of the Phraſe μὴ δύναται.

And (1*ſt*,) It ſignifies that which is unfit, incongruous, or inconvenient to be done, as not ſuiting with the Rules of Decency; as when Moſes ſays, Exod. 8. 26. οὐ δυνατόν, it is not meet to do ſo; ſo Luke 11. 7. οὐ δύναμαι, I cannot riſe, and give thee; and Chap. 6. 42. πῶς δύνασαι λέγειν; how canſt thou ſay to thy Brother, let me caſt the Mote out of thine Eye?

(2*dly*,) That which cannot juſtly, or without violation of ſome Law, or rule of Equity and Juſtice be performed. So Deut. 12. 17. οὐ δύνῃ φαγεῖν, thou mayeſt not eat within thy Gates the Tithe of thy Corn. So Act. 10. 47. μήτι τὸ ὕδωρ κωλῦσαι δύναταί τις; Can any hinder Water that theſe ſhould not be baptized? 1 Cor. 10. 21. οὐ δύνασθε, Ye cannot drink the Cup of the Lord and the Cup of Devils, 2 Cor. 13. 8. οὐ γὰρ δυνάμεθα, For we can do nothing againſt the Truth.

(3*dly*), That which is not agreable to the Divine Oeconomy, Counſel, or Will. So Gen. 19. 22. οὐ γὰρ δύναμαι, For I can do nothing till thou beeſt come hither. Matth. 26. 42. ἐὰν οὐ δύναται, If this Cup cannot paſs from me, unleſs I drink it; and in this ſenſe Chriſt often ſaith, οὐ δύναται ὁ υἱὸς, the Son cannot of himſelf do any thing, but what he ſees the Father do, John 5. 19, 30.

(4*thly*,) That which we cannot do by reaſon of the Trouble of it, or becauſe of ſome other Employment, which interferes with it, ſo the Children of Jacob ſay to Joſeph, οὐ δυνάσεῦ τὸ παιδίον, the Lad cannot leave his Father, Gen. 44. 22. and to Jacob, οὐ δυησόμεθα καταβαίνειν, we cannot go down without our Brother: So we read of Chriſt, μηκέτι δυάσθαι αὐτὸν, that he could not openly enter into the City, Mark 1. 45. and of his Diſciples, μὴ δυάσθαι φαγεῖν, that they could not eat Bread, Chap. 3. 20. i. e. they had no opportunity to do it: Of Herod, that he would have killed John, καὶ οὐκ ἠδύατο, and he could not do it for fear of the People, Mark 6. 19, 20. So, I have married a Wife, and therefore οὐ δύαμαι ἐλθεῖν, I cannot come, Luke 14. 20.

(5*thly*,) That which cannot be done, not for want of Power in the Agent, but upon account of ſome defect, or fault in the Patient; ſo Chriſt οὐκ ἠδύατο, could do no mighty Works, becauſe of their unbelief, Mark 6. 5, 6. So Luke 16. 2. οὐ δύνῃ, thou canſt be no longer Steward: So Chriſt ſpake to the Jews, καθὼς ἠδύαντο ἀκούειν, as they were able to hear him, Mark 4. 33. And in this ſenſe Chriſt enquires, πῶς δύασθε; how can you believe, who receive Honour one of another? John 5. 44.

(6*thly*,) That which cannot be done by reaſon of ſome Diſpoſition in us which renders us averſe to, and unwilling to do any thing, till it be removed. So Joſeph's Brethren οὐκ ἠδύαντο, could not ſpeak peaceably to him, Gen. 37. 4. behold their Ears are uncircumciſed, and οὐ δύνανται ἀκούειν, they cannot hear, Jer. 6. 16. So πῶς δύασθε; how can you, being evil, ſpeak good things? Matth. 12. 34. οὐ δύναται, the World cannot hate you, John 7. 7. οὐ δύασθε, you cannot hear my Word, John 8. 43. οὐκ ἠδύαντο, therefore they could not believe, John 12. 39. the World οὐ δύναται, cannot receive the Spirit, John 14. 17. they that are in the Fleſh οὐ δύνανται, cannot pleaſe God, Rom. 8. 8. and ſo concerning a good Diſpoſition we read, that a good Tree οὐ δύναται, cannot bring forth evil Fruit, Matth. 7. 16. of the Diſciples, οὐ δυάμεθα, we cannot but ſpeak the things which we have heard, Acts 4. 20. of him that is born of God, that οὐ δύναται ἁμαρτάνειν, he cannot ſin, 1 John 3. 9. and Chriſt ſaith of the Church of Epheſus, οὐ δύνῃ, thou canſt not bear them that are evil, Rev. 2. 2.

e Ver. 23. Ἤρξαντο, began.] That in the Hebrew Phraſe to begin to do a thing, and to do it, is the ſame, ſee the Note on Acts 1. 1. tho' I do not think that ἄρχομαι is wholly an expletive in this and other places, but it ſignifies to deſire, to be willing, to covet, or be pleaſed with a thing; and anſwers to the Hebrew לאה. So Joſh. 17. 12. ἤρξαντο ὁ Χαναναῖος κατοικεῖν ἐν τῇ γῇ, the Canaanite would dwell in the Land. So when Micah had promiſed the Levite a Salary, ἤρξατο παροικεῖν, he was willing to dwell with him, Judg. 17. 11. ſo 2 Sam. 7. 29. and now ἄρξαι καὶ εὐλόγησον, let it pleaſe thee to bleſs the Houſe of thy Servant. So alſo 1 Chron. 17. 27. and Hoſ. 5. 11. ἤρξατο πορεύεσθαι, he willingly walked after vain things; and Judg. 1. 35. ἤρξατο ὁ Χαναναῖος, the Canaanite would dwell in the Mountain, i. e. the Mountain of the Amorites, near the Tribe of Dan, of which Tribe was Sampſon, Judg. 13. 2. Note alſo, that the reading of the Septuagint here, gives us an Anſwer to the Enquiry where Sampſon had his Foxes; even from this Mountain, ἐν ᾧ ἀλώπεκες, in which, ſay they, were Foxes; they reading perhaps שעלים not שעלבים as we now read.

Ver. 26. Ἐπὶ Ἀβιάθαρ τοῦ ἀρχιερέως, In the days of Abiathar the High-Prieſt.] That Abimelech was then High-Prieſt ſeems evident, (1.) Becauſe Abiathar, who ſucceeded him, was, and is here ſtiled High Prieſt; for he being the Father, and Abiathar his Son, 1 Sam. 21. 20, 22. and Chap. 22. 6. if Abimelech had been only an ordinary Prieſt, his Son Abiathar could not have been High-Prieſt, that Office then ſucceeding orderly from Father to Son. It is indeed by Mr. Wh. ſaid, that that Abiathar that eſcaped from Doeg, never was High-Prieſt, but he is ſo called, (1*ſt*,) By the Septuagint, ſaying, that Solomon made Zadok ἱερέα ἀντὶ Ἀβιάθαρ, High-Prieſt in the room of Abiathar, even of that Abiathar who bare the Ark of the Lord before David, and who was afflicted with him in all things, 1 Kings 2. 26, 35. (2*dly*,) He is ſo called thrice by (a) Joſephus, who ſays, they had the Catalogue of their High-Prieſts preſerved from 2000 Years. (2.) Becauſe Abimelech his Father is accuſed by Doeg of enquiring of the Lord for David, 1 Sam. 22. 10. and he himſelf ſeems to confeſs, v. 15. that he had often done the ſame thing before without blame; whereas the High Prieſt alone having on the Ephod of Judgment, had not Abimelech been the High-Prieſt, he could neither have done this, nor reaſonably been accuſed of doing it. To this it is ſaid, that Abimelech might aſſiſt David in enquiring of the Lord, but not by Urim. I anſwer, that I find no way of enquiring of the Lord but by a Prophet, or by an High-Prieſt wearing the Ephod in which was the Urim, or by a Dream, of which we read nothing here. Moreover, that the Ephod was then with him is certain, becauſe when Abimelech was ſlain, Abiathar went down to David with the Ephod in his Hand, 1 Sam. 23. 6. And that he ſpeaks of the High-Prieſt's Ephod is manifeſt, becauſe he doth not call it a Linen Ephod, ſuch as the Prieſts wore, but the Ephod; and becauſe David enquires by it, v. 9. and Chap. 30. 7. which ſhews it was the High-Prieſt's Ephod in which was the Urim and the Thummim, ſince otherwiſe no Enquiry Enquiry could have been made by it. 3*dly*, Becauſe he is ſtiled Abimelech the Prieſt; for it is a certain Truth, tho' not obſerv'd by many, that from the end of the Book of Deuteronomy, to the end of the Book of Chronicles, not one Perſon is by name ſtiled N. N. the Prieſt who was not an High-Prieſt; and tho' Jehoiaba is called the High-Prieſt where he is not named, viz. 2 Kings 12. 10. 2 Chron. 24. 11. yet is Hilkiah alone ſtiled, Hilkiah the High-Prieſt, during that long interval. Now what reaſon is there to deny that Abimelech Hacohen ſignifies here, as in like caſe it always did before from the days of Eleazar Hacoen, Joſ. 14. 1. the High-Prieſt? Laſtly, becauſe Joſephus who being a Jew, and a Prieſt, muſt be ſuppoſed a competent Witneſs in this caſe, calls him ſix times High-Prieſt, viz. l. 6. c. 14. p. 196. B. C. F. 197. A. G.

The ancient Solutions of the Fathers, are ſum'd up by Theophylact thus, we muſt ſay therefore either that Abiathar had two Names, being called alſo Abimelech, or that Abiathar was then with Abimelech, or that τοῦ υἱοῦ is to be underſtood, and the words to be read thus, ἐπὶ Ἀβιάθαρ τοῦ (υἱοῦ τοῦ) Ἀρχιερέως, in the days of Abiathar the Son of the High-Prieſt; or that Abiathar is mentioned ὡς ἐπισημότερον, as moſt celebrated in the days of David. The ſecond of theſe Opinions, viz. That Abiathar being there with him, and made High-Prieſt by the Death of his Father but a few days after this Action, it might well be ſaid to be done in the days of Abiathar the High-Prieſt, tho' he was not then actually ſo, is embraced by the Learned Biſhop of Eli on 1 Sam. 21. 6. this being ſaid to be done in his days, as things may be ſaid to have been done in the days of Henry the Eighth, or any other King of England, which came to paſs but a little before he began to reign; to which may be added the Criticiſm of Dr. Hammond, that ἐπὶ is to be rendred before, ſo ἐπὶ μετοικεσίας muſt be rendered before the Captivity, Matth. 1. 11. Jechonias and his Brethren being begotten not under, but before the Captivity. Dr. Lightfoot falls in with the two laſt Solutions, rendring the words in the days of Abiathar the Son of the High-Prieſt, as τοῦ Ἡλὶ is the Son of Eli, Luke the third, and ſo on to the end of the Chapter; and ſaying, that he therefore is named, rather than Abimelech, becauſe he brought the Ephod to David, 1 Sam. 22. 6. and by him Enquiry was made by Urim and Thummim, 1 Sam. 21. 2, 4, 9, 11, 12. Chap. 30. 7, 8. 2 Sam. 2. 1, 5. — 19. 21. whence it was uſual, ſaith he, for the Jews by Abiathar to underſtand the Urim and the Thummim; this therefore ſeems to give ſome advantage to this Inſtance, to ſay it was done under that Abiathar who had the ordering of that Divine Oracle, and ſo might be ſuppoſed to do this by Divine Direction; but becauſe this alſo is very rare, I offer, thirdly, that Interpretation which ſaith, that by the High Prieſt here we are to underſtand, not him who was ſtrictly ſo called, but one who was an eminent Man of that Order, this being the import of the word.

1. When mention is made of Power given ἀπὸ or παρὰ τῶν ἀρχιερέων, from, or by the High-Prieſts, Acts 9. 14. — 26. 10, 12.

2. Of High-Prieſts gathered together, Matth. 2. 4. — 26. 3. — 27. 62. John 11. 47. — 12. 10.

3. Of the Chief Prieſts coming to Jeſus, Matth. 21. 15, 23, 45. and that Chriſt ought to ſuffer by the Chief Prieſts, Matth. 16. 21.

4. Of Judas coming to the High-Prieſts, Matth. 26. 14, 47. Mark 14. 10, 43. Matth. 27. 3, 6, 12, 20, 41. John 18. 3.

5. Of the Chief Prieſts and Scribes, Mark 8. 31. — 10. 33. — 11. 18. — 14. 1. — 15. 1.

6. Of the Chief Prieſts and Elders, John 7. 32. Acts 4. 23. — 25. 15.

7. Of all the High-Prieſts, Matth. 27. 1. Mark 14. 53. See the like Expreſſions, Mark 14. 1. — 15. 3, 10, 11, 31. Luke 23. 4, 13, 23. — 24. 20. John 18. 35. — 19. 6, 15, 21. Acts 5. 24. — 9. 21. — 22. 30. — 23. 14.

CHAP. III.

1. AND he entred again into the Synagogue (of Capernaum, Chap. 1. 21.) and there was a Man there which had a withered Hand:

2. And they (asked him, ſaying, Is it lawful to heal on the Sabbath day? Matth. 12. 19. and) watched him whether he would heal him on the Sabbath day, that (if he did ſo) they might accuſe him, (as one that profaneth the Sabbath.)

3. And he ſaid to the Man who had the withered Hand, Stand forth (in the ſight of the Synagogue;)

4. And (then) he ſaith unto them, [a] Is it lawful to do good on the Sabbath days, or to do evil? to ſave life, or to kill, (by refuſing to preſerve it on that day? And this Queſtion he put to them by way of Anſwer to their Queſtion;) but they held their peace. a

5. And when he had looked round about on them with [b] Anger, being grieved for the hardneſs of their Hearts, (which would not yield to all the Convictions he had given them, that it was lawful to do good on the Sabbath day;) he ſaith to the Man (who had the withered Hand,) Stretch forth thy Hand; and he b ſtretched it out; and his Hand was reſtored whole as the other (was.)

6. And (this being done) the Phariſees went forth, and ſtraightway took counſel with the Herodians againſt him, how they might deſtroy him.

7. But Jeſus (his time of Suffering being
c not yet come) [c] withdrew himſelf with his Diſciples to the Sea; and a great Multitude from Galilee followed him, and from Judea,

8. And from Jeruſalem, and from Idumea, and from beyond Jordan, and they about Tyre and Sidon, (I ſay) a great Multitude, when they had heard what great things he did, came unto him.

9. And he ſpake to his Diſciples, that a ſmall Ship ſhould wait on him, becauſe of the Multitude, leſt they ſhould throng him:

10. For he had healed many, inſomuch d that they [d] preſſed upon him for to touch him, as many as had Plagues.

11. And unclean Spirits, when they ſaw him, fell down before him, and cried, ſaying, Thou art the Son of God.

12. And he ſtraitly charged them, that they ſhould not make him known.

13. And he goeth up into a Mountain, and calleth to him whom he would; and they came unto him.

14. And he ordained Twelve, that they ſhould be with him (as his Attendants,) and that he might ſend them forth to preach:

15. And (preaching in his Name,) to have Power to heal Sickneſſes, and to caſt out Devils:

16. And (they were) Simon, (whom) he ſirnamed Peter;

17. And James the Son of Zebedee, and John the Brother of James, and he ſirnamed e them [e] Boanerges, which is, the Sons of Thunder.

18. And Andrew, and Philip, and Bartholomew, and Matthew, and Thomas, and James the Son of Alpheus, and Thaddeus, and Simon the Canaanite, f 19. And [f] Judas Iſcariot, which alſo betrayed him; and they went into an Houſe (in Capernaum, chap. 2. 1.)

20. And the Multitude cometh together again, ſo that they could not ſo much as (have leiſure to) eat Bread:

21. And when his Friends heard of it, they went out to lay hold on him; for they ſaid, He is [g] beſides himſelf; (Gr. he is fainty by g ſpending his Spirits.)

22. And the Scribes which came down from Jeruſalem, ſaid, He hath Beelzebub, and by the Prince of the Devils, caſteth he out Devils.

23. And he called them unto him, and ſaid unto them in (two) Parables, (Firſt,) How can Satan caſt out Satan?

24. And (for) if a Kingdom be divided againſt it ſelf, that Kingdom cannot ſtand:

25. And if an Houſe be divided againſt it ſelf, that Houſe cannot ſtand:

26. And if (then) Satan riſe up againſt himſelf, and be divided, he cannot ſtand, but (his Kingdom) hath an end.

27. (And again, in another Parable he ſaid,) No Man can enter into a ſtrong Man's Houſe, and ſpoil his Goods, except he will firſt bind the ſtrong Man, and then he will (be able to) ſpoil his Houſe.

28. (Then he added theſe words,) Verily I ſay unto you, All Sins ſhall be forgiven unto the Sons of Men, and the Blaſphemies wherewith ſoever they ſhall blaſpheme (me upon Earth:)

29. But he that ſhall blaſpheme againſt (the following Diſpenſation of) the Holy Ghoſt, hath never Forgiveneſs, but is in danger of (Gr. obnoxious to) eternal Damnation.

30. (And thus he ſpake,) Becauſe they ſaid, He hath an unclean Spirit.

31. There came then his Brethren, and h [h] his Mother, (to the place where he was;) h and (they) ſtanding without, ſent unto him, calling him (to them:)

32. And the Multitude ſat about him, and they ſaid unto him, Behold, thy Mother and thy Brethren without ſeek for thee:

33. And he anſwered them, ſaying, Who is my Mother, or my Brethren?

34. And he looked round about on them which ſat about him, and (pointing to his Diſciples, he) ſaid, Behold my Mother, and my Brethren.

35. For whoſoever ſhall do the Will of God, the ſame is (by me valued as dearly as) my Brother, and my Siſter, and Mother.

Annotations on Chap. III.

a Ver. 4. "Ἐξεστι τοῖς Σάββασιν ἀγαθοποιῆσαι, ἢ κακοποιῆσαι; Is it lawful to do good on the Sabbath days, or to do evil? to ſave Life, or to kill?] Hence it ſeems to follow, That he who doth not do good to his Neighbour when he can, doth evil to him; it being a want of Charity, and therefore evil, to neglect any opportunity of doing good, or ſhewing kindneſs to any Man in miſery; and that not to preſerve his Life when it is in danger, is to tranſgreſs that Precept which ſaith, Thou ſhalt not kill; becauſe, by this Delay, ſo much is taken from the Pleaſure of his Life; and, ſaith the Aphoriſm, non eſt vivere ſed valere, vita: Hence the Tradition of the Jews informs us, That the Hands of Moſes were heavy, becauſe when Amalek came againſt them, he deferred their Deliverance rance till the morrow, Ex. 17. 9. and was not ready on that very day to give Redemption to Iſrael. B. Uziel. in Exod. 17. 12.

b Ver. 5. Καὶ περιβλεψάμενος αὐτοὺς μετ' ὀργῆς, And looking upon them with Anger.] Hence we learn, that Anger is not always ſinful; this Paſſion being found in him in whom was no ſin. But then it muſt be noted, that Anger is not properly defined by Philoſophers, ὄρεξις ἀντιλυπήσεως, a deſire of Revenge, or cauſing Grief to him who hath provoked, or hath grieved us; for this deſire of Revenge is always evil; and tho' our Saviour was angry with the Phariſees for the hardneſs of their Hearts, yet had he no deſire to revenge this Sin upon them, but had a great compaſſion for them, and a deſire to remove this Evil. Anger is rather an inward Motion, and ſerious Diſpleaſure of the Mind, ariſing from the apprehenſion of ſome Injury done, or intended to our ſelves, or others, for whom we are concerned, with a deſire to remove the Injury. See Note on Matth. 5. 22.

c Ver 7. Καὶ Ἰησοῦς ἀνεχώρησε, And Jeſus withdrew himſelf with his Diſciples to the Sea.] When Chriſt by his Doctrine and Miracles, could do no good upon Men, by reaſon of the hardneſs of their Hearts, v. 5. but they conſult how they may deſtroy him, v. 6. he uſually departs and conceals himſelf, that he may give place to their Wrath, and ſecure himſelf from their Malice. See Matth. 12. 15. John 8. 59. Whence we learn not only, that in ſuch caſes, it is lawful thus to conſult our ſafety, but that when Men are ſo perverſe, we by concealing of the Truth, do not betray it, but rather do comply with our Lord's Precept, not to caſt Pearl before Swine, Matth. 7. 6.

d Ver. 10. Ὥστε ἐπιπίπτειν αὐτῷ, Inſomuch that they preſſed upon him.] Dr. Hammond ſays, They fell down before his Feet, requeſting, that they might touch him, or in order to the touching of him, as they did, Chap. 6. 56. But the preſſing on him ſeems more agreeable to the reaſon why he deſired a Ship, viz. that they might not throng him.

e Ver. 17. Καὶ ἐπέθηκεν αὐτοῖς ὀνόματα Βοανηργές, And he named them Boanerges, which is, Sons of Thunder.] Concerning the Derivation of this word, ſee Dr. Lightfoot and Grotius. Chriſt ſeems to have given them this Name from a foreſight of the Heat and Zeal of their Temper, of which they quickly gave an inſtance in their deſire to call down Fire from Heaven, or Thunder and Lightning to conſume the Samaritans, Luke 9. 54. And John alſo ſhewed his Zeal, in forbidding them that caſt out Devils in Chriſt's Name, becauſe he followed not them. Hence we find in the Acts of the Apoſtles, Peter and John are the chief Speakers and Actors in the Defence and Propagation of the Goſpel: And the Zeal of James and Peter, ſeems to be the reaſon why the one was ſlain by Herod, and the other impriſoned in order to the like Execution.

Ver. 19. Καὶ Ἰούδαν Ἰσκαριώτην, And Judas Iſcariot, who alſo betrayed him.] The Wiſdom of Chriſt ſaw fit to admit Judas amongſt his Diſciples, that by him the Counſel of God in giving up his Son to the Death, and the Scriptures might be fulfilled, Acts 1. 16. And he is by him ſent to preach, to cure Diſeaſes, and to caſt out Devils, who had himſelf a Devil, John 6. 70. to teach us, that the Miſſion of a Perſon may be valid, tho' he be not ſanctified; and that we ſhould hearken to, and, in things belonging to their Miniſterial Office, ſhould obey even ſuch Perſons. f

Ver. 21. Ἔλεγον γάρ ὅτι ἐξέστη, And when his Friends heard of it, they went out to lay hold on him; for they ſaid, he is beſides himſelf.] This is ſpoken upon occaſion of the Multitudes coming ſo faſt upon him, as that he had not time to take any Food to recreate his weary Spirits; and ſo that Interpretation which renders the words thus, They ſaid, he is fainty, or may fall into a deliquium by ſpending thus his Spirits, hath nothing I can ſee to render it improbable; this being frequently the import of the word in the Old Teſtament. So when the Brethren of Joſeph told Jacob, that his Son was living, ἐξέστη τῇ καρδίᾳ, Jacob's Heart fainted, Gen. 45. 26. and afterwards his Spirit revived, ver. 27. So Raab ſaith, when we heard that God had dried up the Red Sea for you, ἐξέστημεν τῇ καρδίᾳ ἡμῶν, our Hearts fainted, nor did there remain any Breath in us, Joſh. 2. 11. So when the Kings of Rezin and Iſrael conſpired againſt Ahaz King of Judah, ἐξέστη ἡ ψυχὴ αὐτοῦ, his Heart fainted, and the Heart of his People, Iſa. 7. 2. ſee Chap. 33. 3. And of Emath and Arphad, Jeremiah ſaith, Chap. 49. 23. ὅτι ἤκουσε ἀκοὴν πονηρὰν ἐξέστησε, when they heard evil Tidings, their Heart fainted; ſee alſo Gen. 42. 28. CHAP. IV.

1. AND he began again to teach by the Sea ſide, and there was gathered to him a great Multitude, ſo that he entred into a Ship, and [a] ſat in (it on) the Sea; and the whole Multitude was by the Sea (ſide) on the Land.

2. And he taught them many things by Parables, and ſaid to them in his Doctrine;

3. Hearken, behold, there went out a Sower to ſow:

4. And it came to paſs as he ſowed, ſome (Seed) fell by the Way ſide, and the Fowls of the Air came, and devoured it up.

5. And ſome fell on ſtony Ground, where it had not much Earth, and immediately it ſprang up becauſe it had no depth of Earth, (and ſo could not be long covered by it.)

6. But (and) when the Sun was up it was ſcorched, and becauſe it had no (deep) Root, it withered away.

7. And ſome fell among Thorns, and the Thorns grew up, and choaked it, and it yielded no Fruit.

8. And other (Seed) fell on good Ground, and did yield Fruit that ſprang up, and increaſed, and brought forth, [b] ſome thirty, and ſome ſixty, and ſome an hundred (ſold increaſe.)

9. And he ſaid unto them, he that hath Ears to hear, let him hear.

10. And when he was alone, (i. e. retired from the Multitude,) they that were about him, with the Twelve, asked him (the meaning of) the Parable.

11. And he ſaid unto them, to you it is given to know the Myſtery of the Kingdom of God, (the effect and progreſs it will have among Men,) but [c] unto them that are without, (and not prepared to receive the Doctrine of this Kingdom,) all (theſe) things are done in Parables; (they having ſhut their Eyes, and hardned their Hearts, Matth. 13. 15.)

12. That ſeeing, they may ſee, and not perceive, and hearing, they may hear, and not underſtand, leſt at any time they ſhould be converted, and their Sins ſhould be forgiven them.

13. And he ſaid unto them, know ye not this Parable? [d] and how then will ye know all Parables? (as might be reaſonably expected from you, who ſhould have Ears to hear, i. e. diſcerning Spirits in ſuch things.)

14. (Take then the ſenſe of this Parable thus:) The Sower (is he who) ſoweth the Word:

15. And theſe are they (who are repreſented by the Seed ſown) by the way ſide, where (among whom) the Word is ſown; but when they have heard (it,) [e] Satan cometh immediately, and taketh away the Word that was ſown in their Hearts.

16. And theſe are they likewiſe which are (repreſented by the Seed) ſown on ſtony Ground, who, when they have heard the Word, immediately receive it with gladneſs;

17. And (yet) have no Root in themſelves, and ſo endure but for a time; (and) afterward, when Affliction or Perſecution ariſeth for the Word's ſake, immediately they are offended.

18. And theſe are they which are (repreſented by Seed) ſown among Thorns, (to wit,) ſuch as hear the Word;

19. And the cares of this World, and the deceitfulneſs of Riches, and the Luſts (or Deſires) of other things entring in (to the Heart,) choak the Word, and (ſo) it becometh unfruitful.

20. And theſe are they which are (repreſented by Seed) ſown on [f] good Ground; (to wit,) ſuch as hear the Word, and receive it, and bring forth Fruit, ſome thirty fold, ſome ſixty, and ſome an hundred.

21. [g] And he ſaid unto them, Is a Candle brought to be put under a Buſhel, or under a Bed? and not (rather) to be ſet on a Candleſtick? (i. e. Do I give you this Light into my Doctrine, that you may conceal it? Surely no:)

22. For there is nothing hid, (as being ſpoken by me in obſcure Parables,) which ſhall (ſhould) not be manifeſted; neither was any thing kept, (Gr. made) ſecret (by me,) but that it ſhould come abroad.

23. If any Man have Ears to hear, let him hear; (i. e. let theſe things be duly underſtood, and accordingly performed by you.)

24. And he ſaid unto them, [h] Take heed what, (i. e. how you attend to what) you hear; (for) with what meaſure ye mete, it ſhall be meaſured to you, and to you that hear ſhall more be given; (i. e. according to your proficiency in hearing, will the Word be diſpenſed to you.)

25. For he that (improveth what he) hath, to him ſhall be given (more;) and he that hath not (improved his preſent Knowledge,) from him ſhall be taken even that (Knowledge which) he hath.

26. And he ſaid, [i] So is (it with the Doctrine of) the Kingdom of God, (received into a good Heart,) as if a Man ſhould caſt (good) Seed into the Ground;

27. And (having done ſo,) ſhould ſleep, and riſe night and day, and the Seed ſhould ſpring and grow up he knoweth not how; (as indeed it is with reſpect to the Seed ſown in the Earth;)

28. For the Earth bringeth forth Fruit of her ſelf, firſt the Blade, then the Ear, after that the full Corn in the Ear:

29. But

29. But when the Fruit is brought forth (to Maturity,) immediately he putteth in the Sickle, becauſe the Harveſt is come; (ſo when by the preaching of the Word, Men are made ripe for the Harveſt, i. e. prepared to receive the Goſpel, the Apoſtles will come and gather them into my Kingdom.)

30. And he ſaid (alſo,) Whereunto ſhall we liken the (Doctrine of the) Kingdom of God? or with what Compariſon ſhall we compare it?

k 31. [k] It is like a Grain of Muſtard-ſeed, which, when it is ſown in the Earth, is leſs than all the Seeds that be in the Earth;

32. But when it is ſown, it groweth up, and becometh greater than all Herbs, and ſhooteth out great Branches, ſo that the Fowls of the Air may lodge under the Shadow of it; (even ſo the Kingdom of the Meſſiah, before his Death and Burial in the Earth, will have only a ſmall and inſenſible Increaſe, but after his Reſurrection, it will ſpring up, and become the greateſt of all Kingdoms.)

33. And with many ſuch Parables ſpake he the Word unto them, as they were able to hear it (without offence.)

34. But without a Parable ſpake he not unto them; and when they were alone, he expounded all things (which he thus ſpake) to his Diſciples.

35. And the ſame Day, when the Even was come, he ſaith unto them, Let us paſs over to the other ſide (of the Lake.)

36. And when they had ſent away the Multitude, they took him (along with them,) even as he was (ſleeping) in the Ship; (for he went firſt into the Ship, and his Diſciples after him, Matth. 8. 22.) and there were alſo with him other little Ships.

37. And there aroſe a great Storm of Wind, and the Waves beat into the Ship, ſo that it was now full;

38. And he was in the hinder part of the Ship aſleep on a Pillow; and they awake him, and ſay unto him, Maſter, careſt thou not that we periſh?

39. And (then) he aroſe, and rebuked the Wind, and ſaid unto the Sea, Peace, be ſtill; and (inſtantly) the Wind ceaſed, and there was a great Calm.

40. And he ſaid unto them, Why are ye ſo fearful? How is it that ye have no Faith? (And this he had cauſe to ſay,) [l] for they feared exceedingly, (tho' he was preſent with them, and they had ſuch experience of his Power.) l

41. And (ſeeing that the Wind ceaſed at his Word, they) ſaid one to another, What manner of Man is this, that even the Wind and the Sea obey him?

ſown on good Ground, brings forth Fruit to perfection.

g Ver. 21, 22. Καὶ ἔλεγλν αὐτοῖς μήτι ὁ λύχνος ἔρχε, &c. And he ſaid unto them, is a Candle brought to be put under a Buſhel? &c.] Theſe words being only ſpoken to Chriſt's Diſciples, when he was alone with them, and both here and in Luke 8. 16, 17. ſubjoined to the Explication of this Parable, I think it beſt to explain them accordingly; as if Chriſt had ſaid, "I give you a clear Light, by which "you may diſcern the import of this and other "Parables; but this I do, not that you may "keep it to your ſelves, and hide it from "others, but that it may be beneficial to "you, and by you be made beneficial to "others; and that having thus learn'd, "you may inſtruct them how they ought "to hear, and to receive the Word heard "in good and honeſt Hearts, ver. 20. Βλέπετε ἓν πῶς ἀκούετε, Take heed what, (Luke how) you hear, for with what meaſure you mete, &c.] I think theſe words are well paraphraſed by Theophylact thus, Let not any thing you have heard, ſlip from you, but lay it up in your Heart; for, according to that meaſure of Attention, and readineſs of Mind you uſe in hearing of the Word, and your diligence in pondering it, and care to practiſe ſuitably to what you know already, will be your farther Proficiency in Knowledge: And, he that hath προθυμίαν καὶ σπουδὴν, σωθήσεται αὐτῷ καὶ ὠφελεία, this readineſs and care, ſhall profit by it; that τί ſignifies as πῶς, we learn from theſe words, τί γὰρ οἶδας, How knoweſt thou, O Husband, or, O Wife, 1 Cor. 7. 16.

i Ver. 26. Καὶ ἔλεγλν ὅτως ἐστὶν ἡ βασιλεία τ Θεῦ, And he ſaid, So is the Kingdom of God.] This Parable is mentioned only by St. Mark, and it ſeems to me to relate to the good Ground; for that only brought forth ripe Fruit, or Fruit unto perfection: I therefore paraphraſe it thus, "What I ſaid of the "Seed ſown upon good Ground, may be il-"luſtrated by this Parable, That the Doctrine "of the Kingdom of God, received into a "good and honeſt Heart, is like Seed ſown by "a Man in his Ground, manured, and tilled, "and ſo prepared to receive it; for, when "he hath ſown it, he ſleeps and wakes day "after day; and looking on it, he ſees "it ſpring, and grow up through the vir-"tue of the Earth in which it is ſown, tho' "he knows not how it doth ſo; and when "he finds it ripe, he reaps it, and ſo re-"ceives the Benefit of the Seed ſown: So "is it here, the Seed ſown in the good and "honeſt Heart, brings forth Fruit with Pa-"tience, and this Fruit daily increaſeth, tho' "we know not how the Word and Spirit "worketh that increaſe; and then Chriſt "the Husbandman, who ſows this Seed, at "the time of the Harveſt, ſends forth the "Angels his Reapers, and gathers this good "Seed, i. e. the Sons of the Kingdom re-"preſented by it, into his celeſtial Manſions. See Matth. 13. 38, 43. I ſee no neceſſity of enquiring here how Chriſt may be ſaid to ſleep, and riſe day and night; Chriſt being like to this Husbandman only in ſowing and reaping of his Seed, nor can it be ſaid of him, his Seed grows up he knows not how; nor yet would I depend much on that Remark of the Fathers, that here is a proof of Man's free will, and power to do good of himſelf, the Seed being only ſown and no farther care taken of it; for as Seed ſown in the Earth is only fruitful by being watered from Heaven, and ripened by the Sun, ſo a like Influence of the Word and Spirit upon the Heart of Man, ſeems requiſite to bring the Seed ſown in it to Perfection.

k Ver. 31. Ὡς κόκκῳ σινάπεως, The Kingdom of God is like to a Grain of Muſtard Seed;] i. e. The Kingdom of the Meſſiah may fitly be compared to a Grain of Muſtard Seed, which before it is caſt into the Earth is the leaſt of all Seeds, but being ſown in it, it groweth up, and becomes the greateſt of Herbs: See Note on Matth. 13. 31. So this Kingdom of the Meſſiah before his Death and Burial in the Earth, which is called the ſowing the Body in the Earth, 1 Cor. 15. 42, 43. will have only a ſmall and inſenſible increaſe, but will afterwards ſpring up and become the greateſt of all Kingdoms, for being lifted up, he will draw all Men after him.

l Ver. 40. Καὶ ἐφοβήθησαν φόβον μέγαν.] Theſe words I would join to the former thus, He ſaid to them, why are you ſo fearful? &c. for they feared exceedingly; and begin this Verſe thus, And they ſaid one to another, what manner of Man is this? &c. For this accords beſt with Matth. 8. 27. Luke 8. 25.

CHAP.

CHAP. V.

1. AND they came over unto the other ſide of the Sea, to the Country of a the [a] Gadarens.

2. And when he was come out of the Ship, immediately there met him (coming) out of b the Tombs; a [b] Man with an unclean Spirit,

3. Who had his Dwelling among the Tombs, and no Man could (effectually) bind him, no not with Chains,

4. Becauſe that he had been often bound with Fetters and Chains, and the Chains had been pluck'd aſunder by him, and the Fetters broken in pieces, neither could any Man tame him:

5. And always Night and Day he was in the Mountains, and in the Tombs, crying (out) and cutting himſelf with Stones.

6. But when he ſaw Jeſus afar off, he ran (to him) and worſhipped him.

7. And (the unclean Spirit in him) cryed
c with a loud Voice, and ſaid, [c] What have I to do with thee, Jeſus, thou Son of the moſt high God? I adjure thee by God, that thou torment me not.

8. For he (Jeſus had) ſaid unto him, Come out of the Man, thou unclean Spirit; (and this made him fear that Chriſt might torment him.)

9. And he (Chriſt) asked him, What is thy Name? And he anſwered, ſaying, My Name is Legion, (a Name of Multitude:) for we are many.

d 10. And he beſought him much, [d] that he would not ſend them away out of the Country.

11. Now there was there nigh to the Mountains, a great Herd of Swine feeding;

12. And all the Devils beſought him, ſaying, Send us into the Swine, that (by thy permiſſion) we may enter into them.

13. And forthwith Jeſus gave them leave; and (then) the unclean Spirits (of the Man) went out (of him,) and entred into the Swine, and the Herd ran violently down a ſteep place into the Sea, (they were about two thouſand,) and were choaked in the Sea.

14. And they that fed the Swine, fled, and told it (what was done) in the City, and in e the [e] Country; and they went out to ſee what it was that was done.

15. And they come to Jeſus, and ſee him that was poſſeſſed with the Devil, and had the Legion, ſitting, and cloathed, and in his right mind; and they were afraid, (what one of ſo great Power might farther do.)

16. And they that ſaw it, told them, how it befel to him that was poſſeſſed with the Devil, and alſo concerning the Swine.

17. And they (being troubled for the loſs of them,) began to pray him to depart out of their Coaſts.

18. And when he was come into the Ship, he that had been poſſeſſed with the Devil, prayed him that he might be with him.

19. Howbeit Jeſus ſuffered him not, but ſaith to him, Go home to thy Friends, and tell them how great things the Lord hath done for thee, and (how he) hath had Compaſſion on thee.

20. And he departed, and began to publiſh in Decapolis, how great things Jeſus had done for him; and all Men did marvel.

21. And when Jeſus was paſſed over again by Ship to the other ſide, much People gathered to him, and he was nigh to the Sea.

22. And behold, there cometh [f] one of the f Rulers of the Synagogue, Jairus by Name, and when he ſaw him (Chriſt) he fell at his Feet.

23. And beſought him greatly, ſaying, my little Daughter lieth at the point of Death, (I pray thee) come and lay thy Hands on her, that ſhe may be healed, and (I am confident, if thou doeſt this) ſhe ſhall live.

24. And Jeſus went with him, and much People followed him (Jeſus) and thronged him.

25. And a certain Woman which had an Iſſue (a Flux) of Blood twelve Years.

26. And had ſuffered many things of many Phyſicians, and [g] had ſpent all that ſhe had, g and was nothing bettered, but rather grew worſe:

27. When ſhe had heard of Jeſus, came in the Preſs behind, and touched his Garment.

28. For ſhe ſaid (in her Heart,) If I may touch but his Clothes, I ſhall be whole.

29. And ſtraightway (upon this touch) the Fountain of her Blood was dried up, and ſhe felt in her Body, that ſhe was healed of that Plague, (i. e. Diſeaſe.)

30. And Jeſus immediately [h] knowing in h himſelf that Virtue had gone out of him, turned (himſelf) about in the Preſs, and ſaid, who touched my Clothes?

31. And his Diſciples ſaid unto him, thou ſeeſt the Multitude thronging thee, and ſayeſt thou, who touched me?

32. And he looked round about to ſee her that had done this thing.

33. But (then) the Woman fearing and trembling, knowing what was done in her, came, and fell down before him, and told him all the truth.

34. And he ſaid unto her, Daughter, thy Faith hath made thee whole, go in peace, and be (ſtill) whole of thy Plague.

35. While

35. While he yet ſpake, there came from the Ruler of the Synagogue's Houſe, (certain Perſons) which ſaid, thy Daughter is dead, why troubleſt thou the Maſter any farther?

36. As ſoon as Jeſus heard the word that was ſpoken, he ſaith to the Ruler of the Synagogue, Be not afraid, only believe.

37. And he ſuffered no Man to follow him (into the place where the Daughter was,) ſave Peter, and James, and John the Brother of James, (and her Father and Mother, Luke 8. 51.)

38. And he cometh to the Houſe of the Ruler of the Synagogue, and ſeeth the Tumult, and them that wept, and [i] wailed greatly.

39. And when he was come in, he ſaith to them, why make ye this ado, and weep? the Damſel is not (ſo) dead, but (that ſhe ſhall preſently ariſe from her Bed, as one that) ſleepeth.

40. And they laughed him to ſcorn; but when he had put them all out, he [k] taketh the Father and the Mother of the Damſel, and them that were with him, (ſee ver. 37.) and entreth in where the Damſel was lying.

41. And he took the Damſel by the Hand, and ſaid unto her, Talitha Cumi, which is, being interpreted, Damſel, I ſay unto thee, ariſe.

42. And ſtraightway the Damſel aroſe, and walked, for ſhe was of the Age of twelve years; and they were aſtoniſhed with a great Aſtoniſhment.

43. And he charged them ſtraitly that no Man ſhould know it, and commanded that ſomething ſhould be given her to eat, (to ſhew, ſaith Theophylact, that ſhe was really alive.)

Annotations on Chap. V.

a Ver. 1. Εἰς τ χώραν τ Γαδαρηνῶν, Into the Country of the Gadarens.] Theophylact here ſaith τὰ ἀκριβέστερα τ ἀντιγράφων εἰς τ χώραν τ Γεργησηνῶν, the exacteſt Copies read Gergeſens, as St. Matthew doth, Chap. 8. 28. But both St. Mark here, and St. Luke 8. 26. read the Gadarens; and therefore it is better anſwered by Dr. Lightfoot, that both ſay true, for the Region of the Gergeſens was of broader Extent than that of the Gadarens, and the Region of the Gadarens was included in it.

b Ver. 2. Ἀνθρωπῳ ἐν πνεύματι ἀκαθάρτῳ, Luke 8. 27. ἀνήρ τις, a Man with an unclean Spirit.] St. Matthew ſaith they were δύο δαιμονιζόμενοι, two poſſeſſed with the Devil, Chap. 8. 28. which Difference, ſaith the Reverend Dr. Hammond, hath nothing of weight in it, for Matthew which names two, ſaying the Truth, the other Evangeliſts who name but one, not denying there were more, muſt neceſſarily ſay the Truth alſo. Yet Curioſity will not reſt here, but will enquire, why there being two, and both λίαν χαλεποὶ very fierce, St. Mark and St. Luke name only one. Dr. Lightfoot ingeniouſly conjectures, that one of theſe two was a Gergeſen, and a Jew; and ſo, in caſting the Devil out of him, our Lord did only what he frequently had done in Judæa; but the other was a Gadaren, i. e. one of an Heathen City, as Joſephus teſtifies; and as may be collected from the Swine they kept, it being, by the Jewiſh Conſtitutions, an unlawful thing for any Jew to keep Swine. See Dr. Lightfoot Harm. p. 32. Now of this one St. Mark and Luke chiefly take notice, as being a more remarkable, and rare Inſtance; this and that of the Syrophœnician Woman being the only Inſtances of Cures wrought upon the Heathens: That he was an Heathen he probably conjectures; (1.) From the City he inhabited: (2.) Becauſe the Devils requeſt, both that he would not torment them, and that he would not ſend them out of the Country, (which elſewhere they do not) for being among Heathens they thought they were among their own, and not in Chriſt's Juriſdiction, as being not among his People. But, (3.) The Text yields a more certain Anſwer, viz. that of theſe two, one only was ἄνθρωπῳ ἐν ἀκαθάρτῳ πνεύματι, a Man poſſeſſed with an unclean Spirit; (2.) He was the Man whom the Inhabitants oft attempted to bind, but could not effectually do it, he breaking all the Bands and Chains that they could lay upon him, ver. 3, 4. Luke 8. 29. Of theſe two remarkable Circumſtances, and of his being unclothed, and cutting himſelf with Stones, St. Matthew makes no mention, and therefore Mark and Luke give us the Hiſtory of him more largely, omitting the other, in whom there was nothing ſo remarkable.

c Ver. 7. Τί ἐμοὶ κ σοὶ; What have I to do with thee?] This is not an Hebraiſm, as ſome think, from 2 Kings 3. 13, &c. but a form of ſpeaking uſed in the Greek Tongue. So (a) Arrian in Epictetus, τί ἡμῖν κ αὐτῷ, what have we to do with him? See more Inſtances in Schmid. on Matth. 8. 29.

d Ver. 10. Ἵνα μὴ αὐτὰ ἀποστείλῃ ἔξω τ χωρας, That he would not ſend them away out of the Country.] It is obſerved by Grotius here, that in this Country there were many Apoſtates from the Jewiſh Faith, over whom the Devils Devils exerciſed their Power, as under the Chriſtian Oeconomy they became ſubject to the Power and Chaſtiſement of Satan, who either denied the Fundamentals of, or by their wicked Deeds became a ſcandal to the Chriſtian Faith, 1 Cor. 5. 5. 1 Tim. 1. 20. Vide Tertul. de ſpectaculis, cap. 26. *Cyprian. de lapſis. e Ver. 14. Καὶ εἰς τὰς ἀγρούς, Told it in the City and in the Country;] Or rather in the little Villages where the Houſes were few and apart. See Chap. 6. 36. Send them away that they may go into the Country and Villages, or into the Villages and Market Towns, and buy Bread. So again v. 56.

Many here are the practical Obſervations of Theophylact upon this Hiſtory, which I will briefly repreſent. As, (1.) from the Devils asking leave to go into the Swine, he obſerves that they could not hurt them, much leſs can they hurt Man without the Divine Permiſſion. (2.) That as having leave, they inſtantly hurry theſe Swine to Deſtruction, ſo much more would they deal with Men, did not the Hand of Providence reſtrain them. (3.) That he who had been poſſeſſed with the Devil deſired to be with Chriſt, as fearing leſt at his Departure the Devil might ſeize on him again; and that Chriſt permitted him not, partly to avoid the Suſpicion of Vain-glory, of which he might have given ſome Umbrage, had he carried about with him, thoſe upon whom his greateſt Miracles were wrought; and partly to ſhew that in his Abſence, he was able to protect thoſe that believe and truſt in him, from the Malice of all evil Spirits. (4.) From thoſe words of our Saviour, Go tell what great things the Lord hath done to thee, we learn, ſaith he, from Chriſt's Example, when we do any good not to aſcribe it to our ſelves, but to give God the Glory of it. Note Laſtly, that Dr. Hammond in his Paraphraſe gives three Reaſons why our Saviour permitted the Devils to enter into the Swine; (1.) That the People might ſee the Virulency of theſe Devils, if not reſtrained by him, and ſo the Mercy done to thoſe that were poſſeſſed. (2.) The Mercy now approaching to their Country by the coming of Chriſt, if they would accept of it. And, (3.) to try whether their Love to their Swine was greater than that to their own Souls.

f Ver. 22. Εἷς τῶν ἀρχισυναγώγων, One of the Rulers of the Synagogue.] The word ἀρχισυναγώγων, or Ruler of the Synagogue is taken either largely, ſo as to comprehend the Presbyters or Elders of the Synagogue, mentioned both in the Scriptures, the Jewiſh Writers, and the Imperial Conſtitutions; in which ſenſe it appears from Scripture, that the Rulers of the Synagogue were more than one; as may be gathered; (1.) From theſe words, one of the Rulers of the Synagogue, to wit, at Capernaum; for that in Capernaum there was but one Synagogue is probably collected from the words of St. John, Chap. 6. 59. Theſe things ſpake Jeſus in the Synagogue, teaching in Capernaum. (2.) From the expreſs words of St. Luke, who when Paul and Barnabas were entred into the Synagogue at Antioch, οἱ ἀρχισυνάγωγοι, the Rulers of the Synagogue ſaid to them, if ye have any word of Exhortation to the People, ſpeak, Acts 13. 15. And alſo from the mention of Criſpus and Soſthenes, as ἀρχισυνάγωγοι, Rulers of the Synagogue at Corinth, Acts 18. 8, 17. Or elſe more ſtrictly to import the Perſon who was the Preſident, the Head, or Maſter of the Synagogue; and in this ſenſe he was but one, as when St. Luke ſaith, Chap. 13. 14. ὁ ἀρχισυνάγωγος, the Ruler of the Synagogue anſwered with Indignation. See this more fully in Campeg. Vitringa de Regim. Synag. l. 2. c. 11. But whereas ſome learned Men conceive that the word Synagogue here ſignifies not the Houſe of Prayer, or of reading and expounding the Law, but the Conſiſtory of XXIII. appointed in every City, who were able to puniſh Offences not capital, to ſcourge, &c. becauſe our Saviour ſays, they ſhall deliver you up, εἰς συνέδρια to the Councils, and they ſhall ſcourge you in the Synagogues, Matth. 10. 17. and Chap. 23. 34. Behold I ſend to you Prophets, and Wiſe Men, and ſome of them ye ſhall kill, and ſome ye ſhall chaſtiſe in your Synagogues. This I think is a miſtake, for (1.) in the tenth Chapter our Saviour mentions the Synagogues, in which the Chriſtians were to be ſcourged, as diſtinct places from the Synedria, or Councils to which they were to be delivered. And, (2.) St. Paul declares once and again, that he did beat the Chriſtians in the Synagogues, Acts 22. 19. that he puniſhed them throughout all the Synagogues, Chap. 26. 11. and that this Flagellation, and the Rebels beating, were uſed in the Synagogues, is fully proved by Campeg. Vitringa de Regim. Syn. Vet. l. 3. part. 1. c. 11. p. 774.

Ver. 23. Λέγων — ἵνα ἐλθὼν ἐπιθῇς, Saying — come and lay thine Hands on her.] It is obſervable that there is frequently an Ellipſis of ſome Verb or ſentence before the Particle ἵνα, as here δέομαι, I pray thee, is wanting. So Chap. 14. ἀλλ' ἵνα πληρωθῶσιν but τοῦτο ἐγένετο this was done that the Scriptures might be fulfilled. So 1 John 2. 19. ἀλλ' ἵνα φανερωθῶσιν, but this was done that they might appear not to be of us. Eph. 5. 33. ἡ δὲ γυνὴ ἵνα, Uxor autem videat, ſive det operam, Let the Wife ſee that ſhe reverence her Husband.

g Ver. 26. Καὶ δαπανήσασα τὰ παρ' ἑαυτῆς πάντα, And had ſpent all that ſhe had.] Here comes to be conſidered a Story introduced by (b) Euſebius with an ἱστορεῖται, it is reported, (b) Hiſt. Eccl. l. 7. c. 18.

" that by the Gate of this Woman's Houſe " was erected a Braſs Statue, bearing the Effigies of this Woman upon her Knees in " the poſture of a Supplicant; and oppoſite " to her, the Effigies of a Man in Braſs reſembling Jeſus ſtretching out his Hand to " the Woman; and that at the Feet of it, " an unknown Plant ſprung up, which reaching to the Borders of his Braſs Doublet, " or Coat, became a preſent Remedy againſt " all manner of Diſeaſes. Now that there might be two Braſs Statues in that City, built according to the Heatheniſh Cuſtom, I deny not; but that they were either erected by this Woman, or contained the Reſemblance of Chriſt, or that any ſuch Herb growing thus up, became a preſent Remedy to all Diſeaſes, I find cauſe, with Charlemain, to ſay, ſi tamen facta eſt, that is, to doubt the Truth of the Relation: For not to inſiſt on the Silence of all the three Evangeliſts who mention this Woman, and could not be ignorant of a thing ſo famous, or ſilent in a matter which ſo much tended to the Confirmation of the Chriſtian Faith; not to inſiſt upon it, that neither Juſtin M. who was born in Paleſtine, where Paneas, or Cæſarea Philippi was; nor Origen, who converſed many Years at Tyre near this place; not Irenæus or Tertullian, who ſpeak of this very Woman, make the leaſt mention of the brazen Statue, or this miraculous Herb; nor, (3*dly*,) That this Herb having then only its miraculous Effects when it touched the Border of our Saviour's Garment, ſmells rank of the Superſtition of the later times: To omit, I ſay, all theſe things, how ſhould a Woman, who, as all theſe Evangeliſts inform us, had ſpent all that ſhe had, be able to erect two ſuch coſtly Statues as were ſufficient to exhauſt the Fortunes even of wealthy Perſons? Or, how can we imagine that the Jews in all their Wars, and the Gentiles, both bitter Enemies to Chriſtianity, ſhould ſuffer ſuch a Confirmation of it to remain even to the Days of Euſebius?

Ver. 30. Καὶ Ἰησοῦς ἐπιγνοὺς ἐν ἑαυτῷ τὴν ἐξ αὐτοῦ δύναμιν ἐξελθοῦσαν, And Jeſus knowing in himſelf that virtue had gone out of him.] From theſe, and the like words, that δυνάμις παρ' αὐτοῦ, Virtue with him, went out, and healed them all, Luke 6. 19. it is evident that the Virtue which did theſe miraculous Cures, reſided in Jeſus, which is never ſaid of any of the Prophets or Apoſtles; the Divine Virtue by which theſe Prophets and Apoſtles did their miraculous Cures, is aſcribed to God, as in theſe words, δυνάμεις δὲ τυχούσας ἐποίει ὁ Θεὸς, and God did ſpecial Miracles by the Hands of Paul, Acts 19. 11, 12. but the Miracles done by Chriſt, to the Divine Virtue dwelling in him; whence he ſo often declares, that the Father abiding in him did the Works, John 14. 10. h

Ver. 38. Κλαίοντας καὶ ἀλαλάζοντας πολλά. He ſees the Multitude weeping and wailing greatly.] Ἀλαλάζειν ordinarily ſignifies to make a joyful Sound, but it is often uſed by the Septuagint to ſignifie the Voice of Lamentation, as when the Prophet Jeremy ſays Chap. 25. 24. ἀλαλάξατε οἱ ποιμένες, Howl, ye Shepherds, and cry, and wallow your ſelves in Aſhes, ye principal of the Flock, and v. 36. A Voice of the Cry of the Shepherds, καὶ ἀλαλασμὸς, and an howling of the Rams of the Flock ſhall be heard; and the Prophet Ezekiel, Chap. 27. 30. ἀλαλάξουσιν ἐπὶ σὲ, they ſhall cauſe their Voice to be heard againſt thee, and ſhall cry bitterly. So alſo Jer. 4. 8. and 47. 2. and theſe two Senſes hath the Hebrew יָלַל from which it ſeems to be derived. i

Ver. 40. Παραλαμβάνει τὸν πατέρα, καὶ μητέρα, He taketh with him the Father, and the Mother, &c.] i. e. as many Witneſſes as were ſufficient to confirm the Fact, and no more, leſt he ſhould ſeem to be deſirous of Vain-glory. k

CHAP. VI.

1. AND he went out from thence, (i. e. from Capernaum) and came into his own Country (Nazareth, Luke 4. 16.) and his Diſciples follow him.

2. And when the Sabbath day was come, he began to teach in the Synagogue, and many hearing were aſtoniſhed (at his words,) ſaying, From whence hath this Man theſe things? And what (kind of) Wiſdom is this, which is given to him, (and how is it) that even (Gr. alſo) ſuch mighty Works are wrought by his Hands?

3. Is not this [a] the Carpenter, the Son of (Joſeph and) Mary? (Is he not) the Brother of James and Joſes, and of Juda and Simon; and are not his Siſters here with us, (in all whom we find no ſuch Marks of Power or Wiſdom?) and (by reaſon of his mean Alliance) they were offended at him. a

4. But (then) Jeſus ſaid unto them, a Prophet is not without Honour, but (Gr. is not deſpiſed, ſave) in (and for) his own Country (Galilee, John 7. 52.) and among his own Kin, and in his own Houſe, (or for them.)

5. And he [b] could do there no mighty Work (becauſe of their Unbelief,) ſave that he laid his Hand on a few ſick Folk, and healed them. b

6. And he marvelled becauſe of their Unbelief, and (leaving them,) he went round about the Villages teaching.

7. And he calleth to him the twelve (Apoſtles,) and began to ſend them forth by two and and two, and gave them Power over unclean Spirits.

8. And (he) commanded them that they ſhould take nothing for their Journey, ſave c [c] a Staff only, (viz.) no Scrip, no Bread, (for Victuals,) no Money in their Purſe (to buy it.)

9. But (that they ſhould) be ſhod with Sandals, and not put on two Coats.

10. And he ſaid to them, in what Place ſoever ye enter into an Houſe, there abide till ye depart from that place.

11. And whoſoever ſhall not receive you, nor hear you, when ye depart (Gr. departing) thence, ſhake off the Duſt under your Feet for a Teſtimony againſt them, (that you count them as unclean, and) Verily I ſay to you, it ſhall be more tolerable for Sodom and Gomorrah in the Day of Judgment, than for that City.

12. And they went out and preached, that Men ſhould repent.

13. And they caſt out many Devils, and d [d] anointed with Oil many that were ſick, and healed them.

14. And King Herod heard of him, for his Name was ſpread abroad, and he ſaid that John the Baptiſt was riſen from the Dead, and therefore mighty Works do ſhew forth themſelves in him.

15. Others ſaid, that it is Elias, and others
e ſaid, that it is [e] a Prophet (raiſed from the Dead,) or as one of the (old) Prophets.

16. But when Herod heard thereof (i. e. of his Fame,) he ſaid, it is (that) John whom I beheaded, he is riſen from the Dead.

17. For Herod himſelf had ſent forth, and laid hold upon John, and bound him in Priſon for Herodias ſake, his Brother Philip's Wife; for he had married her (his Brother being yet living.)

18. For John had ſaid to Herod, it is not lawful for thee to have thy Brother's Wife.

f 19. Therefore Herodias [f] had a Quarrel againſt him, and would have killed him, but ſhe could not (prevail with Herod ſo to do.)

20. For Herod feared (to take away) John, knowing that he was a juſt Man, and an hog ly (Perſon) and he [g] obſerved, (σωεζήρει he kept) him (from the Malice of Herodias; or he was formerly obſervant of him;) and when he heard him, he did many things (which John taught,) and heard him gladly.

21. And (but) when a convenient day was come (for her malicious purpoſe, viz. the day) that Herod (celebrating) his Birth-day, made a Supper to (for) his Lords, High-Captains, and Chief Eſtates of Galilee.

22. And when the Daughter of the ſaid Herodias came in and danced, and pleaſed Herod, (Gr. coming in, dancing and pleaſing Herod) and them that ſat with him, the King ſaid to the Damſel, ask of me whatſoever thou wilt, and I will give it thee.

23. And he ſware unto her, whatſoever thou ſhalt ask of me, I will give it thee, unto the half of my Kingdom.

24. And (then) ſhe went forth and ſaid, (Gr. going forth ſaid) to her Mother, what ſhall I ask? and ſhe ſaid, (ask) the Head of John the Baptiſt.

25. And ſhe came in ſtraightway with haſte unto the King, and asked, ſaying, I will that thou give me by and by, in a Charger, the Head of John the Baptiſt.

26. And (then) the King was exceeding ſorry, yet for his Oath's ſake, and for the ſake of them that ſat with him, he would not reject her.

27. And (ſo) immediately the King ſent an Executioner, and commanded his Head to be brought, and he (the Executioner) went, and beheaded him (John) in the Priſon.

28. And brought his Head in a Charger, and gave it to the Damſel, and the Damſel gave it to her Mother.

29. And when his Diſciples heard of it, (i. e. of his Death) they came and took up his Corps, and laid it in a Tomb.

30. And (about that time) the Apoſtles gathered themſelves together unto Jeſus, and told him all things both what they had done and what they had taught, (in purſuance of the Commiſſion he had given them.)

31. And he ſaid to them, (after ſuch a long and laborious Journey,) Come ye your ſelves apart into a deſert place, and reſt a while, for there were many coming and going, and they had no leiſure ſo much as to eat.

32. And they departed into a deſert place by Ship privately.

33. And the People ſaw them departing, and many (of them) knew him, (and whither he was going,) and (ſo they) ran afoot thither out of all Cities, and out-went them, (viz. Chriſt and his Diſciples) and came together to him.

34. And Jeſus, when he came out (of the Ship,) ſaw much People, and was moved with Compaſſion towards them, becauſe they were as Sheep not having a Shepherd (to lead them into wholſome Paſtures,) and he began to teach them many things.

35. And when the day was now far ſpent, his Diſciples came to him, and ſaid, this is a deſert Place, and now the time (of the day) is far paſſed;

36. Send them away, that they may go into the Country round about, and into the Villages, and buy themſelves Bread, for they have (here) nothing to eat.

37. (But) he anſwered, and ſaid to them, Give ye them to eat, and they ſay to him, (how ſhall we do this?) Shall we go and buy two hundred penny worth of Bread and give them to eat?

38. He ſaith to them, How many Loaves have ye? Go and ſee; and when they knew, they ſay, Five, and two Fiſhes.

39. And he commanded them to make all (the People) ſit down by Companies upon the green Graſs.

40. And they ſat down in Ranks by hundreds, and by fifties.

41. And when he had taken the five Loaves, and the two Fiſhes, he looked up to Heaven, and bleſſed (God, ſee Note on Matth. 14. 19.) and (then) brake the Loaves, and gave them to his Diſciples to ſet before them; and the two Fiſhes divided he among them all.

42. And they did all eat, and were filled.

43. And they took up twelve Baskets full of the Fragments (of the Bread,) and of the Fiſhes.

44. And they that did eat of the Loaves, were about five thouſand Men.

45. And ſtraightway he conſtrained his Diſciples to get into the Ship, and to go (from the Deſert on the Eaſt ſide of the Sea of Galilee,) to the other ſide (of that Sea,) before (him) to Bethſaida, while he ſent away the People; (tho' the contrary Winds made them land at Capernaum, ver. 53.)

46. And when he had ſent them away, he departed to a Mountain to pray.

47. And when Even was come, the Ship was in the midſt of the Sea, and he (was) alone on the Land;

48. And he ſaw them toyling in Rowing, for the Wind was contrary to them; and about the fourth watch of the night, he cometh to them walking on the Sea, and (continued walking ſo as if he) would have paſſed by them:

49. But when they ſaw him walking on the Sea, they ſuppoſed it had been a Spirit, and cried out (for fear.)

50. For they all ſaw him, and were troubled, and immediately he talked with them, and ſaith to them, Be of good cheer, it is I, be not afraid.

51. And he went up to them into the Ship, and the Wind ceaſed; and they were ſore amazed in themſelves beyond meaſure, and wondred:

52. For they conſidered not the Miracle of the Loaves, (which was done now before their Eyes, and was ſufficient to convince them, the ſame Power might enable him to walk on the Sea, and to calm the Wind,) for their Heart was hardned, (i. e. through incogitance was not convinced by ſufficient Evidence; ſee Chap. 8. 17.)

53. And when they had paſſed over, they came into the Land of Genneſareth, and drew (the Ship) to the Shore (of Capernaum, John 6. 13.)

54. And when they were come out of the Ship, ſtraightway they (of that Country) knew him.

55. And ran through that whole Region round about, and began to carry about in Beds thoſe that were ſick, where they heard he was.

56. And whitherſoever he entred, into Villages, or Cities, or Countrey (Towns,) they laid the ſick in the Streets, and beſought him, that they might touch, if it were but the Border of his Garment; and as many as touched (it) were made whole.

Annotations on Chap. VI.

a Ver. 3. Οὐχ ὅτος ἐστὶν ὁ τέκτων; Is not this the Carpenter?] So (a) Juſtin M. not only ſpeaks of him as of the Son of a Carpenter, καὶ τέκτονος νομιζομένου, and reckoned as a Carpenter, but ſaith, τοῦτο γὰρ τὰ τεκτονικὰ ἔργα ἐργάζετο ἐν ἀνθρώποις ὢν, ἄροτρα καὶ ζυγὰ, that being among Men, he made Rakes and Yokes, which were the Works of Carpenters. (b) Origen therefore ſeems to have forgot himſelf, when he ſo poſitively ſays, Ὅτι οὐδαμοῦ τῶν ἐν τῇ ἐκκλησίᾳ φερομένων εὐαγγελίων τέκτων αὐτὸς ὁ Ἰησοῦς ἀναγέγραπται, That it was not written in any of the Goſpels which the Church received, that Jeſus was a Carpenter: It ſeems not only true, but even requiſite, that he ſhould be of ſome Trade, ſince by the Jewiſh Canons all Fathers were bound to teach their Children ſome Trade; and their moſt celebrated Rabbins, thought it a great Reproach not to be of ſome Trade; and alſo, that he might give no Example of Idleneſs, and take off all ſuſpicion of being bred up in curious Arts.

b Ver. 5. Καὶ οὐκ ἠδυνάτο, And he could do there no mighty Work, becauſe of their Unbelief:] For Chriſt ſtill requiring Faith in the Patient, in order to his Cures; where this was wanting, he could do no mighty Works; not that he wanted Power to do them, but that they wanted that Condition which only made it fit that he ſhould do them: So God ſaith, Jer. 15. 1. My Mind cannot be towards this People, not for want of Kindneſs, or Good-will in him, but for want of thoſe Diſpoſitions in them, which might render them fit Objects of his Favour.

c Ver. 8. And he commanded them, that they ſhould take nothing for their Journey, εἰ μὴ ῥάβδον μόνον, ſave a Staff only.] St. Matthew, Chap. 10. 10. ſaith, μηδὲ ῥάβδον, nor a Staff: But Theophylact there reads, μηδὲ ῥάβδους, nor Staves; and this Reading is confirmed not only from many MSS. Copies, but from St. Luke, who, Chap. 9. 3. hath it, μηδὲ ῥάβδους, nor nor Staves; it being common for thoſe who were to travel a conſiderable Journey, to take with them two Staves, as well as two Coats. The Prohibition of ὑποδήματα, Shoes there, ver. 10. contradicts not the Permiſſion of Sandals here; the Sandals being made of harder Leather, the Shoes of ſofter; the Sandals ſo open, that you might put your Foot into them before, or behind, whereas you could put it into the Shoe only one way; ſee Lightfoot on Matth. 10. 10. And this Command Chriſt laid upon them, to give them a manifeſt Document in this their firſt Miſſion, (which was only to the loſt Sheep of the Houſe of Iſrael, to prepare them to receive the Meſſias, when he ſhould manifeſt himſelf unto them.) of the Divine Providence, providing for them all things neceſſary; and this they thankfully acknowledge, Luke 22. 35. by ſaying, That when he thus ſent them forth, they wanted nothing. But then, that this was a temporary Precept reſpecting only this very Miſſion, and not reaching to their whole Apoſtolical Function afterwards, is evident, (1.) From the nature of their Miſſion, which was only to the Cities of Judea, and was performed in a ſhort time; for, ver. 30. we find them returned, and telling their Maſter what they had done; and this alſo ſufficiently appears from our Lord's words, When I ſent you forth without Scrip or Shoes, lacked you any thing? Luke 22. 35. Hence Chriſt himſelf had one that bore his Bag, John 13. 29. And St. Paul ſends for his Cloak that he had left at Troas, 2 Tim. 4. 13.

d Ver. 13. Καὶ ἤλειφον ἐλαίῳ, And anointed with Oil many that were ſick.] That it was uſual with the Jews, to preſcribe Oil as a fit thing to anoint the ſick, in order to their Recovery, Dr. Lightfoot here, and elſewhere, fully proves; nor do I think the Apoſtles, having no Command from Chriſt to do ſo, would have uſed this Ceremony, had it not been cuſtomary for them ſo to do: But whether they did this ſymbolically, in hope of obtaining to the Patient the Oil of Gladneſs, or only medicinally, 'tis certain, that the Virtue which attended it, when uſed by the Apoſtles, could not be natural, or inherent in the Oil, but muſt be ſupernatural, and derived from him who ſent them; ſince by this Unction, was produced a certain and conſtant cure of all whom they anointed.

Ver. 15. Προφήτης, ἢ ὡς εἷς τῶν προφητῶν, e
Others ſaid, that he is a Prophet, or as one of the Prophets.] I ſee no neceſſity of queſtioning or changing the Reading here, not into ὁ προφήτης, the Prophet, by way of excellency; for, when we find the Diſciples declaring what the Jews ſaid of him, Matth. 16. 14. and St. Luke, Chap. 9. 19. there is no intimation of any of them, who owned him as the Chriſt; nor is there any need of leaving out the ἢ ὡς, the Jews being of both theſe Opinions; ſome ſaying, that he was a Prophet, John 4. 19. — 9. 17. a great Prophet riſen up in Iſrael, Luke 7. 16. Others, that he was one of the old Prophets riſen from the dead, Luke 9. 8. and in particular, that he was the Prophet Jeremy, Matth. 16. 14.

Ver. 19. Herodias, ἐνεῖχεν, had a Quarrel againſt him.] The word primarily imports adverſo erat animo, ſhe was in mind averſe to him, viz. after his Reprehenſion of Herod; and becauſe the natural conſequence of that Averſeneſs, is Anger, and Hatred, ariſing from the conceived Injuries which make us thus averſe to any Man, therefore it is well rendred by Heſychius, and Phavorinus, ὀργίζεται, μνησικακεῖ, ſhe is angry, and bears a grudge againſt him. f

Ver. 20. Συνετήρει αὐτὸν, He obſerved him;] g
i. e. ſaith Dr. Hammond, He kept him guarded from the Malice of Herodias, who would have killed him; but this ſeems not to agree with his deſire to kill him, Matth. 14. 5. I therefore think it may relate to his Regard to him, and his Sayings, before he was incenſed againſt him, by reaſon of his Reprehenſion, as the words following do inſinuate.

CHAP. VII.

1. THEN came together to him the Phariſees, and certain of the Scribes, which came from Jeruſalem;

2. And when they ſaw ſome of his Diſciples eat Bread with defiled, that is to ſay, with unwaſhen Hands, they found fault (with them for ſo doing.)

3. For the Phariſees, and all the Jews, ex- a cept they waſh their Hands [a] oft, (Gr. up to the Wriſt) eat not, holding the Tradition of the Elders.

4. And when they come from the Market, except they waſh, they eat not; and many other things (of this kind) there be, which they have received to hold, as the waſhing of Cups and Pots, Brazen Veſſels, and of Tables, (Gr. κλινῶν, of Beds, on which they did eat, as now upon Tables.)

5. [b] Then (therefore) the Phariſees and b
Scribes asked him, Why walk not thy Diſciples according to the Tradition of the Elders, but (tranſgreſs them, for they) eat Bread with unwaſhen Hands?

6. He anſwered and ſaid to them, [c] Well c did Iſaiah propheſie of you Hypocrites; as it is written, (for what he teſtified of the People of that Age from the Mouth of God, muſt equally reſpect all People of all Ages, that do as they did) This People (of the Jewiſh Nation) honoureth me with their Lips, but their Heart is far from me:

as

7. Howbeit, in vain do they (think to) worſhip me, (by) teaching for Doctrines (neceſſary to be obſerved,) the Commandments of Men.

8. For laying aſide the Commandment of God, (by obedience to which he is truly honoured,) ye hold (to) the Traditions of Men, as waſhing of Pots and Cups, and many other ſuch like things ye do, (which, who hath required at your Hands?)

9. And he ſaid to them, Full well ye, (or do ye well to) reject the Commandment of God, that ye may keep your own Tradition?

10. (As it is plain ye do;) For Moſes ſaid, Honour thy Father and thy Mother; and whoſo curſeth (or revileth) Father or Mother, let him die the Death:

11. But ye ſay, If a Man ſhall ſay to his Father or Mother, is is (be it as a) Corban, that is to ſay, (as) a Gift (conſecrated to God,) by whatſoever thou mayeſt be profited by me; (he is free, i. e. he is bound by that Vow not to ſuccour his Parent.)

12. And (therefore) ye ſuffer him no more to do ought for his Father or Mother;

13. Making (this) the Word, (i. e. the fifth Commandment) of God of none effect thro' your Tradition, which ye have delivered d (in this matter to the People,) [d] and many ſuch like things do ye.

14. And when he had called all the People
' (preſent) to him, he ſaid to them, Hearken to me every one of you, and underſtand:

15. There is nothing from without a Man, that (by) entring into him, can defile him; but the things which come out of him, thoſe are they which defile the Man.

16. If any Man hath Ears to hear, let him hear; (i. e. he that hath underſtanding to perceive this, let him take notice of it.)

17. And when he was entred into the Houſe from the People, his Diſciples asked him concerning the (meaning of the) Parable:

18. And he ſaith to them, Are ye ſo without Underſtanding alſo, (as to need farther inſtruction in this thing?) Do ye not perceive, that whatſoever thing (it is) from without (that) entreth into a Man, it cannot defile him (as to his Heart and Soul?)

19. Becauſe it entreth not into his Heart, (to raiſe up evil Thoughts there,) but (only) into the Belly; and goeth out into the Draught, purging all Meats, (by carrying off the Dregs of them.)

20. And he ſaid, That which cometh out of a Man, that defileth a Man (in the ſight of God;)

e 21. For [e] from within, out of the Heart of Men, proceed evil Thoughts, Adulteries, Fornications, Murthers, 22. Thefts, Covetouſneſs, Wickedneſs, Deceit, Laſciviouſneſs, an evil Eye, Blaſphemy, (or evil Speaking,) Pride, Fooliſhneſs:

23. All theſe evil Things come from within, and (ſo) defile the Man.

24. And from thence he aroſe, and went into the Borders of Tyre and Sidon, and (he) entred into an Houſe, [f] and would have no f Man know it, but he could not be hid.

25. For a certain Woman, whoſe young Daughter had an unclean Spirit, heard of him, and came, and fell at his Feet:

26. The Woman was a Greek, (as to Religion,) a Syrophœnician by Nation; and ſhe beſought him, that he would caſt forth the Devil out of her Daughter.

27. But Jeſus ſaid to her, Let the Children (of the Kingdom, Matth. 8. 12.) firſt be filled; for it is not meet to take the Children's Bread, and to caſt it to the Dogs, (i. e. to them who are without the Kingdom, Rev. 22. 15.)

28. And ſhe anſwered, and ſaid unto him, Yes, Lord; yet (Gr. ναὶ Κύριε, καὶ γὰρ, I pray thee, Lord, for even) the Dogs under the Table eat of the Children's Crumbs; (and in like manner, thou may'ſt ſhew a little favour to the Gentiles.)

29. And he ſaid to her, For this Saying, (ſhewing a more than ordinary Faith,) go thy way (ſatisfied, for) the Devil is gone out of thy Daughter.

30. And when ſhe was come to her Houſe, ſhe found the Devil gone out (of her,) and her Daughter laid upon the Bed.

31. And again, departing from the Coaſts of Tyre and Sidon, he came to the Sea of Galilee, thro' the midſt of the Coaſt of Decapolis:

32. And they bring to him one that was Deaf [g], and had an impediment in his Speech, g (or was Tongue-tied,) and they beſeech him to put his Hand upon him;

33. And he took him aſide from the Multitude, and [h] put his Fingers into his Ears, h and he ſpat, and touched his Tongue;

34. And looking up to Heaven, he ſighed (at the conſideration of the Miſeries of human Life,) and ſaith to him, Ephphatha, that is, (let thine Ears) be opened:

35. And ſtraightway his Ears were opened, and the String of his Tongue was looſed, and he ſpake plain.

36. And he charged them that they ſhould tell no Man; but the more he charged them, ſo much the more a great deal they publiſhed it.

37. And were beyond meaſure aſtoniſhed, ſaying, he hath done all things well; he maketh both the Deaf to hear, and the Dumb to ſpeak.

Annotations

Annotations on Chap. VII.

a Ver. 3. Ἐὰν μὴ πυγμῇ νίψωνται, Unless they wash their Hands oft;] i. e. if they wash not the Hand up to the Wrist; for Mr. Le Clerc is certainly out, when he interprets a word plainly relating to the Jewish Customs, and therefore only to be interpreted by those Customs, out of Hesychius and Phavorinus, who knew nothing of them. See Dr. Lightfoot in locum.

b Ver. 5. Ἐπειδὴ, Then;] Or rather idcirco, therefore: So Zenophon, ἐπεὶ οὐκ οἴει; Do you not therefore think, that the Gods take care of Men?

c Ver. 6. Καλῶς προεφήτευσε περὶ ὑμῶν, &c. Well hath Esaias prophesied of you, as it is written.] He doth not say, Isaias prophesied of the Jews of that Age in which Christ lived, or that he then said what by Accommodation might be applied to them, but only that he well said of the Hypocrites of his Age, that which was true of the like Hypocrites in any Age; and therefore Dr. Hammond well paraphraseth the words thus, You are that very sort of Jewish Hypocrites of which Isaias prophesied, i. e. you fully do resemble them.

d Ver. 13. Καὶ παρόμοια τοιαῦτα πολλὰ ποιεῖτε, And many such like things do ye;] i. e. such things as make the Word of God of none effect by your Traditions: Accordingly (a) Dr. Pocock cites from them this ancient Canon, That Vows take place even in things commanded by the Law, as well as in things indifferent; and that any one is so bound by them, that he cannot without great sin, do that which is commanded; so that if he makes a Vow, which cannot be ratified without breaking a Command, his Vow must be ratified, and the Commandment violated.

e Ver. 21. Ἔσωθεν γὰρ ἐκ τῆς καρδίας, &c. For from within, out of the Heart of Men, proceed evil Thoughts.] The things here mentioned, as coming from the Heart, and defiling the Man, are either the Sins committed against the Second Table of the Law, as they are reckoned up by St. Paul, Rom. 13. 9. or the incentives and dispositions which incline us to them:

Against the Sixth Commandment, as Murthers, and the evil Eye;

Against the Seventh, as Fornication, Adultery, Lasciviousness;

Against the Eighth, as Theft, Deceit;

Against the Ninth, as false Testimony, Blasphemies, or Evil-speaking;

Against the Tenth, as Coveteousness.

The evil Frames and Dispositions of Spirit, which incline us to these Vices, are, (1.) Ἀφροσύνη, as that imports in the Old Testament, not only an incogitancy and carelessness as to good things, but also a want of reverence to, or awe of the Divine Majesty: And, (2.) Πονηρία, a wicked Disposition, inclining us to hurt or to do evil to another. (3.) Ὑπερηφανία, that Pride which makes us to contemn and overlook our Brother as unworthy our regard, and highly to resent the least Affront or seeming Injury: And, (4.) Διαλογισμοὶ κακοὶ, Evil Thoughts, or Reasonings.

f Ver. 24. Οὐδένα ἤθελε γνῶναι, And would have no Man know it,] lest he should seem industriously to resort to, and converse with Heathens, neglecting the Jews. So Grotius.

g Ver. 32. Κωφὸν μογιλάλον, One Deaf and Tongue-tied.] That he was Dumb as well as Deaf, is argued not only from the words of the Jews, who saw this Miracle, He maketh both the Deaf to hear, and the Dumb to speak, ver. 37. but also from Matth. 9. 33. Luke 11. 14. if they speak of the same Person; for, say they, when the Devil was gone out, ἐλάλησεν ὁ κωφὸς, the deaf Man spake; which shews, that before he could not move his Tongue to make an articulate Sound; and in this sense is the word μογιλάλος used, Exod. 4. 10. Isa. 35. 6.

h Ver. 33. Ἔβαλε τοὺς δακτύλους αὐτοῦ εἰς τὰ ὦτα αὐτοῦ, He put his Fingers into his Ears, and he spit, and touched his Tongue.] Christ often uses Visible Signs, to represent that Divine Invisible Virtue which he had in him, and would exert; thus, because deaf Persons seem to have their Ears closed, he puts his Fingers into this Man's Ears, to intimate, that by his Power he would open them; and, because the Tongue of the Deaf seems to be tied, or thro' Drought to cleave to the Palate, Christ touches his Tongue, and moistens it with Spittle, to intimate, that he would loose, and give free motion to his Tongue. The Jews here also desire Christ to lay his Hands upon him, because the ancient Prophets laid their Hands on those they healed, 2 Kings 5. 11.

CHAP.

CHAP. VIII.

1. IN thoſe days (of his abode by the Sea of Galilee, Chap. 7. 31.) the Multitude (that heard him) being very great, and having nothing to eat, Jeſus called his Diſciples to him, and ſaith to them,

2. I have compaſſion on the Multitude, becauſe they have now been with me three days, and have (had) nothing to eat:

a 3. [a] And if I (ſhould) ſend them away faſting to their own Houſes, they will faint by the way; for divers of them came from far.

4. And his Diſciples anſwered him, From whence can a Man ſatisfie theſe Men with Bread, (whilſt we are) here in the Wilderneſs?

5. And he asked them, How many Loaves have ye? And they ſaid, Seven:

6. And he commanded the People to ſit down on the Ground; and he took the ſeven Loaves, and gave Thanks (to God,) and brake (them,) and gave to his Diſciples to ſet before them, (i. e. the People,) and they did ſet them before the People:

7. And they had a few ſmall Fiſhes; and he bleſſed (God over them,) and commanded (his Diſciples) to ſet them alſo before them:

8. So they did eat, and were filled; and they (of Chriſt's Retinue) took up of the broken Meat that was left, ſeven Baskets.

9. And they that had eaten, were about four thouſand; and (having thus filled them,) he ſent them away.

10. And ſtraightway he entred into a Ship with his Diſciples, and came into the Parts of Dalmanutha, (which were within the Coaſts of Magdala, Matth. 15. 39.)

11. And the Phariſees came forth, and began to queſtion (or diſpute) with him (about his Office,) ſeeking of him, (for confirmation of his pretenſions to be the Meſſiah,) a Sign from Heaven, tempting him, (as doubting whether he could give them that Sign of the Meſſiah promiſed, Dan. 7. 14.)

12. And he ſighed deeply in his Spirit, (by reaſon of their infidelity,) and ſaith, Why doth this Generation ſeek after a Sign? Verily b I ſay to you, [b] (εἰ δοθήσεται), May I not be true, if a Sign be given, or) there ſhall no Sign be given to this Generation, (ſave that of the Prophet Jonas? Matth. 16. 4.)

c 13. [c] And he left them; and entring into the Ship again, departed to the other ſide (of the Sea of Galilee.)

14. Now the Diſciples had forgotten to take Bread (with them,) neither had they in the Ship with them more than one Loaf.

15. And he charged them, ſaying, Take

d heed (to your ſelves, and) [d] beware of the Leaven of the Phariſees, and of the Leaven of Herod; (i. e. of the Doctrines of the Phariſees, making the Commandments of God of none effect by their Traditions, and of the Doctrine of Herod concurring in Sentiments with the Sadducees, Matth. 16. 6.)

16. And they reaſoned among themſelves, ſaying, (it is, i. e. this Caution is a Reprehenſion of our Negligence,) becauſe we have (taken) no Bread (with us.)

17. And when Jeſus knew it, (Gr. and Jeſus knowing that they reaſoned thus,) he ſaith to them, Why reaſon ye (thus, as if ye were like to famiſh) becauſe ye have no Bread, (and are bid to beware of the Leaven of the Phariſees?) perceive ye not yet, neither (do ye) underſtand (by the two late Inſtances before your Eyes, that I am able to provide Bread for you?) [e] Have you your e Hearts yet hardned, (or unconvinced by theſe Miracles?)

18. Having Eyes, ſee ye not? and having Ears, hear ye not? and do ye not remember (what I have done? I ask you then;)

19. When I brake the five Loaves among five thouſand (Perſons,) how many Baskets full of Fragments took ye up? they ſay to him, twelve:

20. And when the ſeven (Loaves were broken) among four thouſand, how many Baskets full of Fragments took ye up? and they ſaid, ſeven.

21. And he ſaid to them, how is it (then) that ye do not underſtand (that I could not, upon that account, ſpeak of Bread?)

22. And he cometh to Bethſaida, and they bring a blind Man to him, and beſought him to touch him;

23. And he took the blind Man by the Hand, and [f] led him out of the Town, and f when he had ſpit on (Gr. into) his Eyes and put his Hands upon him, (i. e. his Eyes;) he asked him if he ſaw ought.

24. And he looked up and ſaid, I ſee Men as Trees walking; (i. e. I ſee Men walking, but I ſee them ſo imperfectly, that they ſeem to me rather like Trees than Men.)

25. After that, he put his Hands again upon his Eyes, and made him look up, and (then) he was reſtored (to his perfect ſight,) and ſaw every Man clearly.

26. And he ſent him away to his Houſe, ſaying, [g] neither go into the Town, nor tell it g to any (who dwell) in the Town.

27. And Jeſus went out, and his Diſciples, (from Bethſaida, ver. 22) into the Towns of Cæſarea Philippi; and by the way he asked his Diſciples, ſaying to them, whom do Men ſay that I am?

28. And

28. And they anſwered, (ſome ſay thou art) John the Baptiſt; but ſome ſay (thou art) Elias; and others (thou art) one of the Prophets:

29. And he ſaith to them, but whom ſay ye that I am; and Peter anſwereth, and ſaith to him, thou art the Chriſt;

30. And he charged them that they ſhould tell no Man (this) of him.

31. And he began to teach them, that the Son of Man muſt ſuffer many things, and be rejected of the Elders, and of the Chief Prieſts, and Scribes, and be killed, and after three days riſe again.

32. And he ſpake that Saying openly, (i.e. in the hearing of the People,) and Peter took him, and began to rebuke him (for it, ſaying, far be it from thee, this ſhall not be to thee, Matth. 16. 22.)

33. But when he had turned about, and looked upon his Diſciples, he rebuked Peter, h ſaying, [h] Get thee behind me, Satan, (as in this being to me a Tempter, and to Men an Adverſary,) for (in this) thou ſavoureſt not the things that be of God, but the things that be of Men; (reſpecting not the Will of God, that I ſhould die for the Salvation of Men, but the vain Traditions of Men, that the Meſſiah the Son of David ſhall not die.)

34. And when he had called the People to him, with his Diſciples alſo, he ſaid to them, whoſoever will come after me, let him (not expect to receive temporal Advantages from me, as King of the Jews, but let him be ready to) deny himſelf, and take up his Croſs, and follow me.

35. [i] For whoſoever will (to) ſave his i Life (refuſe thus to follow me, he) ſhall loſe it; but whoſoever (by thus taking up his Croſs) ſhall loſe his Life, for my ſake and the Goſpel's, the ſame ſhall ſave it (moſt likely here, moſt certainly hereafter; and this ſurely will be his Wiſdom.)

36. For what ſhall it profit a Man, if he ſhall gain the whole World, and loſe his own Soul, (or Life?)

37. Or what ſhall a Man give in exchange for his Soul? (i.e. What ſhall it profit a Man to have ſaved his temporal Life by being thus aſhamed to own me, ſince this will cauſe me to be aſhamed of him when all Men ſhall be doomed to eternal Life, or Death?)

38. [k] Whoſoever therefore (for whoſoever) k ſhall be aſhamed of me, and of my Words, in this adulterous and ſinful Generation, of him alſo ſhall the Son of Man be aſhamed, when he cometh in the Glory of his Father, with the holy Angels.

a Ver. 3. Καὶ ἐὰν ἀπολύσω αὐτὲς νήσεις, &c. And if I ſend them away faſting to their own Houſes, they will faint by the way.] Had there not been ſuch Danger, ſaith Theophylact, Chriſt had not wrought this Miracle, that they might not follow him for Loaves; and having done this, he ſtraightway leaves them, ver. 10. that he might avoid their Attempts to make him a King, John 6. 15.

b Ver. 12. Ἀμὴν λέγω ὑμῖν, εἰ δοθήσε τῇ γενεᾷ ταύτῃ σημεῖον, Verily I ſay unto you, if there ſhall be a Sign given to this Generation;] i. e. Let me not live, or let me not be deemed a true Prophet. That this is a form of Swearing frequent in the Old Teſtament hath been ſhewed Note on Heb. 3. 11. And we find it more fully Ezek. 14. 16. in theſe words, ζῶ ἐγὼ εἰ υἱοὶ ἢ θυγατέρες σωθήσον, As I live, they ſhall neither deliver Sons nor Daughters; whence it muſt follow that our Lord cannot be reaſonably ſuppoſed to forbid all Swearing, Matth. 5. 34. See the Note there.

c Ver. 13. Καὶ ἀφεὶς αὐτὲς, And he left them and went into the Ship again.] He left them as incorrigible, ſaith Theophylact, for where there is hope of doing good, there we are to remain; but when ἀδιόρθωτον τὸ κακὸν, the evil is incorrigible, to depart.

d Ver. 15. Βλέπετε ἀπὸ τῆ ζύμης τῶν Φαρισαίων καὶ τῆς ζύμης Ἡρῴδε, Beware of the Leaven of the Phariſees, and of the Leaven of Herod.] It is certain that Joſephus never repreſents the Herodians as a Sect of the Jews; whence it is probable that the Leaven of the Herodians here, is only the Leaven of the Sadducees, as may be gathered from St. Matthew, who gives us this Caution in theſe Words, Chap. 16. 16. Beware of the Leaven of the Phariſees and of the Sadducees. It may be alſo noted, that as the Phariſees were inclined to the Sect of the Galileans, and thought they ought not to be tributary to the Romans, Matth. 22. 16. ſo the chief of the Sadducees concurred with Herod in conſenting to, and approving that Tribute as juſt, and equal, and aſſiſting him in the collecting of it, whence they might be ſtiled alſo Herodians, or Men of that Sect.

e Ver. 17. Ἔτι πεπωρωμένην ἔχετε τὴν καρδίαν; Perceive ye not yet, neither underſtand ye, have ye your Hearts yet hardned?] So Mark 6. 52. They conſidered not the Miracle of the Loaves, ἦν γὰρ καρδία αὐτῶν πεπωρωμένη, for their Heart was hardned; and Chap. 16. 14. he upbraids in them their Unbelief, καὶ σκληροκαρδίαν, and Hardneſs of Heart. Now hence it follows, (1.) That the Heart may be hardned without any divine Influx concurring to to that effect, unleſs it can be thought that God himſelf by a peculiar Influx hardned the Hearts of Chriſt's Apoſtles.

(2.) That the Heart is then ſaid to be hardned, when after full, or ſufficient Evidence of what we ought to do, or to believe, we neglect to do, or to believe it. Now this may happen either through Incogitance, or want of due Conſideration of that Evidence, as in the caſe of the Apoſtles here, and Chap. 6. 52. in both which places the Hardneſs of their Heart is aſcribed to this, that they conſidered not the Miracle of the Loaves; or through the Weakneſs of their Faith, as when they are upbraided with it, Chap. 16. 14. Becauſe they believed not them who had ſeen him riſen; in both which caſes it only ſeems to have been a Sin of Infirmity; or this proceeds from that Perverſeneſs of the Will, or from thoſe evil Diſpoſitions and Affections of the Soul which render us averſe from the Performance of what is required, or the Belief of what is revealed; as when 'tis ſaid of the Jews, that their Hearts were hardned, John 12. 39, 40. and then it is a wilful Sin.

f Ver. 23. Ἐξήγαγεν αὐτὸν ἔξω τῆς κώμης, He led him out of the Town.] Declaring thoſe of Bethſaida, who had ſeen ſo many Miracles in vain, unworthy to behold this Miracle. See Matth. 11. 21. whence he permits him not to tell it in the Town, ver. 26.

g Ver. 26. Μηδὲ εἰς κώμην εἰσέλθῃς, He ſent him away to his Houſe, ſaying, neither go into the Town, neither tell it to any one in the Town.] The reading of the Vulgar, Si in Vicum introieris, and of ſome Greek MSS. ſeems only to have had its riſe from a Conceit, that this Man's Houſe was in the City, which the words of Chriſt ſeem to contradict, viz. and many that wanted Cures came to him from other places, whilſt he abode there; The Syriack, Arabick, the Alexandrian Copy, and Theophylact read as we do.

Ver. 33. [d]Ὕπαγε ὀπίσω μου, Σατανᾶ, Get thee behind me, Satan.] He calls Peter, Satan, ſaith Theophylact, as favouring of the things of Satan, it being only Satan who would not that our Lord ſhould ſuffer for the Salvation of Mankind. h

Ver. 35. [d]Ὃς γὰρ ἂν θέλῃ, Whoſoever will come after me.] Here the Note of (a) Athanaſius and (b) Theophylact is this, Θεοσεβείας ἴδιον μὴ ἀναγκάζειν, ἀλλὰ πείθειν, It is the property of Religion not to compel, but to perſuade; for our Lord himſelf not offering Violence to any, but giving place to human Choice, ſaid to all, if any Man will come after me, δοῦλον γὰρ βιάζομαι, for I compel none. i

Ver. 38. [d]Ὃς γὰρ ἐπαισχυνθῇ, For whoſoever ſhall be aſhamed of me;] i. e. To own and to confeſs me, and my Doctrine, Matth. 10. 32, 33. for, ſaith Theophylact, we being compounded of an outward, and an inward Man, both muſt be ſanctified, the inward Man by Faith, the outward by Confeſſion of it, Rom. 10. 18. k

CHAP. IX.

1. AND he ſaid to them, Verily I ſay to you, that there be ſome of them that ſtand here, which ſhall not taſte of Death, till they have ſeen the Kingdom of God come with Power, (to take away their Lives, who would deſtroy mine to preſerve their own, John 11. 50.)

a 2. And after [a] ſix days, Jeſus taketh with him Peter, and James, and John, and leadeth b them up into an high [b] Mountain apart by themſelves; and he was transfigured before them:

3. And his Raiment became ſhining, exceeding white as Snow, ſo as no Fuller on Earth can white them; (i. e. like the Inhabitants of Heaven, cloathed with white Raiment, Rev. 4. 4.)

4. And there appeared to them Elias with Moſes, and they were talking with Jeſus; (and by their talk they knew them to be Moſes and Elias.)

5. And Peter anſwered, (i. e. ſpake with relation to what he had ſeen, See Note on Luke 14. 3.) and ſaid to Jeſus, Maſter, it is good for us to be here, and (ϗ therefore) let us make three Tabernacles, one for thee, and one for Moſes, and one for Elias.

6. For he wiſt not what to ſay, for they were ſore afraid; (i. e. and this he ſaid, being the moſt forward of them to ſpeak, tho' being ſtruck with the ſame Dread that ſeized on the other two, he knew not whether he ſaid well or ill, or what was indeed adviſable, or not.)

7. And there was a Cloud that overſhadowed them, and a Voice came out of the Cloud, ſaying, This is my beloved Son, hear him.

8. And ſuddenly when they had looked round about, they ſaw no Man any more, ſave Jeſus only with themſelves.

9. And as they came down from the Mountain, he charged them that they ſhould tell no Man what things they had ſeen, till the Son of Man was riſen from the Dead.

10. And they kept that Saying with themſelves, queſtioning one with another, [c] what c the riſing (of their Meſſiah) from the Dead ſhould mean? (i. e. how it could be reconciled with

(a) Ep. ad Solit. vit. agentes. p. 855. (b) Theoph. in locum.

with their Tradition, that the Meſſiah the Son of David ſhould not die, John 12. 34.)

11. And they asked him, ſaying, (If thou haſt done already what was required of the d Meſſiah, and ſo art about to die,) [d] Why ſay the Scribes that Elias muſt firſt come (to anoint the Meſſiah, and make him known to the People ?)

12. And he anſwered, and told them, e [e] Elias verily cometh firſt, and reſtoreth all things, (i. e. doth all things requiſite to prepare the Jews for the Reception of the Meſſiah, calling them to Repentance, that they might be fitted to believe in him, pointing him out to the People, and baptizing him with that Baptiſm in which he was anointed with the Holy Ghoſt ;) and (in anſwer to their firſt f doubt, he told them) [f] how it is written of the Son of Man, that he muſt ſuffer many things, and be ſet at nought.

13. But (as to your Enquiry about the co- g ming of Elias,) I ſay to you, [g] that (the) Elias (who was to do theſe things) is indeed come, and they have done to him whatſoever they liſted, (rejecting his Baptiſm, Luke 7. 30. and his Teſtimony, Mark 11. 31.) as it is written of him (that he ſhould come.)

14. And when he came to his Diſciples, he ſaw a great Multitude about them, and the Scribes queſtioning with them, (whether the Power of their Maſter did extend to the caſting out of Devils.)

15. And ſtraightway all the People, when they beheld him, were greatly amazed, (ſeeing ſome Remainders of the Splendor at his Transfiguration in his Viſage,) and running to him (they) ſaluted him.

16. And he asked the Scribes (about) what queſtion ye with them ?

17. And one of the Multitude anſwered, and ſaid, Maſter, I have (now) brought to thee my Son, which hath a dumb Spirit, (i. e. a Spirit which takes away his Speech.)

h 18. And whereſoever he taketh him, [h] he teareth him, (or throws him down,) and he foameth, and gnaſheth with his Teeth, and pineth (or fainteth) away, and I ſpake to thy Diſciples, that they ſhould caſt him out, and they could not ; (this raiſed the Diſpute betwixt them and the Scribes.)

19. (And) he anſwered him, and ſaith (to the Scribes,) O faithleſs Generation ! how long ſhall I be with you ; How long ſhall I ſuffer you (r Incredulity?) bring him (that is poſſeſſed) to me.

20. And they brought him to him, and when he ſaw him, ſtraightway the Spirit tare him (or ſhook him,) and he fell on the Ground, and wallowed, foaming :

21. And he asked his Father, how long is it ago ſince this came to him ? and he ſaid, of a Child ;

22. And oft times it hath caſt him into the Fire, and into the Waters, to deſtroy him ; but if thou canſt do any thing (to deliver him from this evil Spirit,) have Compaſſion on us and help us, (me, and him :)

23. (And) Jeſus ſaid to him, [i] if thou i canſt believe (that I am able to do this.) all things are poſſible to him that (thus) believeth :

24. And ſtraightway the Father of the Child cried out, and ſaid with Tears, Lord, I believe, help thou my Unbelief (or what is wanting to my Faith.)

25. When Jeſus ſaw that the People came running together, he rebuked the foul Spirit, ſaying to him, thou dumb and deaf Spirit, I charge thee come out of him, and enter no more into him.

26. And the Spirit cried, and rent him ſore, (or ſhook him much,) and (then) came out of him ; and he was as one dead, inſomuch that many ſaid, he is dead.

27. But Jeſus took him by the Hand, and lifted him up, and he aroſe.

28. And when he was come into the Houſe, his Diſciples asked him privately, why could not we caſt him out ?

29. And he ſaid to them, this kind can come forth by nothing, but by (that Faith which is to be procured by) Prayer and Faſting.

30. And they departed thence, and paſſed through Galilee, and he would not that any ſhould know it ; (that the concourſe of the Multitude might not retard his Journey to Jeruſalem where he was to ſuffer.)

31. For he taught his Diſciples, and ſaid to them, the Son of Man is (to be) delivered into the Hands of Men, and they ſhall kill him, and after that he is killed, he ſhall riſe (again) the third day.

32. But they underſtood not that Saying, and were afraid to ask him (what the import of it was.)

33. And he came to Capernaum, and being in the Houſe, he asked them (about) what was it that ye diſputed among your ſelves by the way ?

34. But they held their peace ; for by the way they had diſputed among themſelves, who ſhould be the greateſt.

35. And he ſat down, and called the Twelve, and ſaith to them, if any Man deſire to be firſt (in my Kingdom,) the ſame ſhall be laſt of all, and Servant of all ; (the higheſt Offices in my Kingdom tending not ſo much to dignifie, and advantage any Man in this World, as to render him the more a Servant, and Miniſter to all.)

36. And (having ſaid this,) he took a Child, and ſet him in the midſt of them, (as a fit Emblem of that Humility and Freedom from Worldly-mindedneſs he required in them,) and when he had taken him in his Arms, he ſaid to them,

37. Whoſoever ſhall receive one of ſuch Children, (i. e. any of my Servants, ſo free from Pride and Love of the World as they are,) in my Name, receiveth me; and whoſoever ſhall receive me, receiveth not me (only,) but (alſo) him that ſent me.

38. And John anſwered him, (to thoſe Words ſpoken of receiving him,) ſaying, Maſter, [k] we ſaw one caſting out Devils in thy Name, and (but) he followeth not us, and we forbad him becauſe he followeth not us:

39. But Jeſus ſaid, forbid him not, for there is no Man who ſhall do a Miracle in my Name, that can lightly, (i. e. ſafely) ſpeak evil of me:

40. For he that is not againſt us (in beating down the Kingdom of Satan,) is on our part, (and ſo is to be owned as one that doth me Service, and ſo as one whom God will reward.)

41. [l] For whoſoever ſhall give you a Cup of Water to drink, (or do you the leaſt Service) in my Name, becauſe you belong to Chriſt, Verily I ſay to you, he ſhall not loſe his Reward:

42. And (on the other ſide,) whoſoever ſhall offend one of theſe little ones that believe in me, (and ſo diſcourage them from continuing in my Doctrine,) it is better for him that a Millſtone were hanged about his Neck, and he were caſt into the Sea.

43. And (therefore) if thy Hand offend thee, cut it off, it is better for thee to enter into Life maimed, than having two Hands to go into [m] Hell, into the Fire that never ſhall be quenched:

44. Where their Worm dieth not, and the Fire is not quenched, (i. e. where the Body is conſumed, and the Soul tormented for ever.)

45. And if thy Foot offend thee, cut it off; it is better for thee to enter halt into Life, than having two Feet to be caſt into Hell, (i. e.) into the Fire that never ſhall be quenched.

46. Where their Worm dieth not, and (where) the Fire is not quenched.

47. And if thine Eye, (i. e. if any thing that ſeems moſt dear, or uſeful to thee,) offend thee, (i. e. hinder thy Entrance into Life,) pluck it out; it is better for thee to enter into the Kingdom of God with one Eye, than having two Eyes to be caſt into Hell fire;

48. Where the Worm dieth not, and the Fire is not quenched.

49. [n] For every one (that thus offends) ſhall be ſalted with Fire, (ſo as to endure for ever in a ſtate of Torment,) and every Sacrifice, (ſaith the Scripture, even the whole Burnt Offering) ſhall be ſalted with Salt, (the Symbol of Incorruption.)

50. Salt is good (to make things ſavoury, and to preſerve them from Corruption,) but if the Salt have loſt its ſaltneſs, wherewith will ye ſeaſon it? (If by keeping theſe offending Members, or corrupt Affections you corrupt your ſelves, and become unſavoury, and like a Sacrifice without Salt, you can never be acceptable to God,) have (therefore) Salt in your ſelves, and have peace, (the Bond of Unity) one with another.

Annotations on Chap. IX.

a Ver. 2. Μεθ' ἡμέρας ἓξ, After ſix days.] So alſo Matth. 17. 1. ὡσεὶ ἡμέραις ὀκτὼ, about eight days after, Luke 9. 28. For Matthew and Mark computing only the days betwixt this Diſcourſe of Chriſt, and the day he went up into the Mount, ſtile them ſix days only; but St. Luke, including both the days of his Diſcourſe and his Aſcent, ſaith, they were eight. And this is evident from the word ὡσεὶ, which when a Sum is mentioned is always added to ſignifie 'tis not exact, but wanteth ſomething to make it compleat; thus Chriſt was ὡσεὶ ἐτῶν τριάκοντα, i. e. beginning to be thirty, Luke 3. 23. It was ὡσεὶ ὥρα ἕκτη, inclining to the ſixth hour, Luke 23. 44. So Matth. 14. 21. Luke 1. 56. —22. 59. John 4. 6. —19. 14. Acts 2. 41. —4. 4. —5. 36. —10. 3.

b Ibid. Into an high Mountain.] That this was Mount Tabor Antiquity hath conſtantly taught and believed; yet Dr. Lightfoot queſtions the Truth of this Tradition upon two accounts; (1.) that Chriſt, in the Story going before, was in the Coaſts of Cæſarea Philippi, Matth. 16. 13. Mark 8. 27. Luke 19. 18. and can we think, ſays he, that he travelled thence to Tabor thro' almoſt the whole length of Galilee? Anſw. This he might do with eaſe in the ſpace of ſix days; and that he did ſo is made very probable from the very words of the ſame Chapter, which repreſent him and his Diſciples as ἀναστρεφόμενοι, returning thence, Matth. 17. 22. and going through Galilee, Mark 9. 29. As for what he adds, that the Evangeliſts mention no change of Place, will be anſwered by his Note on Chap. 10. 1. for, ſaith he, howſoever it ſeems to be intimated by our Evangeliſt, and by St. Matthew, that when he had finiſhed theſe words forthwith he entred upon his Journey, yet in truth he went before to Jeruſalem, through the midſt of Samaria, to the Feaſt of Tabernacles, Luke 9. 51. and again from Galilee, after he had returned thither through the Cities and Towns to Jeruſalem, Luke 13. 22. to the Feaſt of Dedication, John 10. 22. and again beyond Jordan indeed Joh. 10. 40. but firſt taking his way into Galilee, and thence beyond Jordan;

Jordan; ſo that hence we ſee, the Silence of the Text is no ſure Evidence that Chriſt made no ſuch Journey. The other things he offers ſeems too little to deſerve Conſideration.

c Ver. 10. Συζητοῦντες τί ἐστι τὸ ἐκ νεκρῶν ἀναστῆναι. And they kept that Saying to themſelves, queſtioning among themſelves, what the riſing from the Dead ſhould mean.] They queſtioned not the General Reſurrection, for that all the Phariſees believed, Acts 24. 15. that Martha owned, John 11. 24. Nor could they be ignorant of the meaning of the raiſing of a particular Perſon from the Dead, for they had Inſtances of it in the Old Teſtament, and had ſeen an Example of it, at the Gates of the City Naim, with their Eyes; but being taught out of the Law, that Chriſt was to abide for ever. John 12. 34. and that the Son of David ſhould reign over the Houſe of Jacob for ever, and of his Kingdom there ſhould be no end, Luke 1. 33. they knew not how to reconcile this with the Death of Chriſt ſuppoſed in that Saying, the Son of Man ſhall riſe from the Dead. Thus again, when Chriſt had told them the Son of Man ſhall be killed, and after that ſhall riſe from the Dead, ver. 31. they underſtood not that Saying, ver. 32. and yet doubtleſs they knew what it was to be killed, and that our Saviour ſpake of his own Death; whence theſe Words made them very ſorry, Matth. 17. 23. and yet St. Luke ſaith, Chap. 9. 45. that they underſtood not this ſaying, and it was hid from them that they perceived it not, and Chap. 18. 34. they underſtood none of theſe things, and knew not what was ſaid; and here they underſtood not the ſaying, i. e. they knew not how to reconcile this Death of the Son of David and their King Meſſiah, with the Predictions of their Prophets, and their own Conceptions touching his temporal Kingdom. Hence when Chriſt was dead, their Hopes dyed with him, i. e. their truſt that he had been the Redeemer of Iſrael, Luke 24. 21. and revived again at his Reſurrection, they preſently enquiring, Wilt thou at this time reſtore the Kingdom to Iſrael?

d Ver. 11. And they asked him, ſaying, ὅτι λέγουσιν οἱ γραμματεῖς ὅτι Ἠλίαν δεῖ ἐλθεῖν πρῶτον; Why ſay the Scribes that Elias muſt firſt come?] That ὅτι muſt ſignifie why, is evident, becauſe the ſame Queſtion in St. Matthew, Chap. 17. 10. runs thus τί οὖν; why therefore ſay the Scribes, ὅτι here therefore muſt be put for διότι; ſo ver. 28. ὅτι ἡμεῖς οὐκ ἠδυνήθημεν; why could not we caſt him out? So Homer odyſ. 19. they asked him ἑλκὼ ὅτι πάθοι; why he had that Scar? And Ariſtophanes Plut. 1. 19. ὅτι τῷ δ' ἀκολάστῳ πότε; why do we follow him? This may ſuffice for the Grammatical import of the Words; but 'tis more difficult to aſſign the reaſon of this Queſtion; my Conjecture is, that it relates to that Title of the Meſſiah, Dan. 7. 13. the Son of Man, here uſed, and to the Voice from Heaven ſaying, This is my beloved Son; as if they ſhould have ſaid, If thou art indeed the King Meſſiah, and the Son of God, and haſt ſo far accompliſhed thy Office, as to talk of a Death which thou muſt ſuffer at Jeruſalem, why is not Elias come to annoint thee, and to preach of thee? For the Tradition of the Scribes was, (1.) That before the coming of the Son of David, Elias was to come to preach of him: Lightf. in Matth. 17. 10. (2.) (a) That Elias was to anoint the Meſſiah to his Office, and that before that Unction the Meſſiah could do nothing, he being to manifeſt him to the World, ſaith Trypho: To this Enquiry our Saviour here firſt anſwers in the following Verſe; and then to their Scruple about his Paſſion.

e Ver. 12. And he anſwered and told them, Ἠλίας μὲν ἐλθὼν πρῶτον ἀποκαθιστᾷ πάντα, Elias verily cometh firſt and reſtoreth all things. How Elias did this, ſee Note on Matth. 11. 14. And note that the Jews themſelves did not conceive that Elias ſhould do this Work ſo effectually as to turn all the Jews to God, but only ſo as to deliver them from the Terrible Day of the Lord, who would turn to him. So (b) David Kimchi, When God ſhall bring Elias to life in the Body, he ſhall ſend him to Iſrael before the day of Judgment, which is the great and terrible Day of the Lord, and he ſhall admoniſh both the Fathers and the Children together to turn to God, and they that turn ſhall be delivered from the day of Judgment.

f Ibid. Καὶ πῶς γέγραπται, And how it is written;] i. e. and in anſwer to their other Scruple, how the Son of Man could die; he told them alſo from the Scriptures how it was foretold that he ſhould ſuffer many things.

g Ver. 13. But I ſay unto you, καὶ Ἠλίας ἐλήλυθε, καὶ ἐποίησαν αὐτῷ ὅσα ἠθέλησαν καθὼς γέγραπται ἐπ' αὐτόν, Elias is both come (and they have done to him whatſoever they liſted) as it is written of him.] Since we find nothing in the Old Teſtament which foretels of any thing the Jews ſhould do, either to Elias in Perſon revived, or to John the Baptiſt, it ſeems requiſite to place theſe Words (and they have done to him as they would) in a Parentheſis, to admit here the Figure σύγχυσις, or ſuch a Tranſpoſition of the Words as is uſual in other places, both of the Old and the New Teſtament; So Gen. 13. 10. And Lot liſted up his Eyes and beheld all the Plain of Jordan, that it was well watered watered every where, (before the Lord deſtroyed Sodom and Gomorrah,) even as the Garden of the Lord: Exod. 12. 15. Whoſoever eateth leavened Bread (that Soul ſhall be cut off from Iſrael,) from the firſt Day until the ſeventh day. Mark 12. 12. And they ſought to lay hold on him (for they knew that he had ſpoken the Parable againſt them) but they feared the People, and they left him. Rom. 1. 13. I purpoſed to come to you, (but was let hitherto,) that I might have ſome Fruit among you. See Cant. 1. 5. Mark 16. 3, 4. Acts 8. 7. So that the Senſe of theſe words ſeems to be this, Elias is come, as it is written of him in Malachy, and they, the Scribes and Phariſees have done to him whatſoever they liſted, rejecting his Baptiſm, Luke 7. 30. and refuſing to believe his Doctrine, Matth. 21. 25.

h Ver. 18. It teareth him, and he foameth, and gnaſheth with his Teeth, καὶ ξηραίνεται, and pineth away, Luke 9. 39. καὶ σπαράσσει αὐτὸν, μετ' ἀφροῦ, it teareth him that he foameth again.] Here note, (1.) That the word ῥήσσει αὐτὸν, and ἔῤῥηξεν αὐτὸν, Luke 9. 42. being ſpoken of an Epileptick Perſon are not well rendred, he teareth him, but rather ſignifies, as Heſychius and Phavorinus ſay, τύπτει αὐτὸν, he beateth him, or makes him fall to the Ground, beating himſelf againſt the Earth; or as Euſtachius and Phavorinus ſay, the word in Homer ſignifies σφοδρότερον ἢ γλῶ πόσι παίειν, i. e. the evil Spirit working with, or taking Advantage of his Diſeaſe, makes him beat himſelf againſt the Earth, ἐδαφίζει καὶ πρηκτὸν τῇ γῇ, He throws him to the Ground, ſaith Theophylact. So Wiſd. 4. 19. the Author ſpeaking of the wicked ſaith, ὅτι ῥίψει αὐτοὺς πρηνεῖς, God will caſt them down Headlong, and ſhake them out of their Foundations. (2.) The word ξηραίνεται ſignifies not only to be dried up, and ſo pine away, but alſo to be under a Conſternation, and to faint, Iſa. 37. 27. they were of ſmall Power, they were diſmayed, καὶ ἐξηράνθησαν. Zach. 10. 2. ἐξηράνθησαν ὡς πρόβατα, as the Flock they were troubled, whence it is rendred by Theophylact, λειποθυμεῖ, he is in a deliquium. The word σπαράττειν alſo ſignifies not only to tear and diſcerp, but alſo to move and ſhake: So Phavorinus, σπαραγμόν, ταραχὴν ὁμοῦ. So Pſal. 18. 8. the Foundations of the Mountains, ἐταράχθησαν καὶ ἐσαλεύθησαν, were troubled, and ſhook; that is, 2 Sam. 22. 8. καὶ ἐσαράχθησαν, Jer. 4. 19. My Heart maketh a noiſe, or moveth in me, Seventy σπαράσσεται ἡ καρδία μου. So here, v. 20. ἐσπάραξεν, the Spirit ſhook him.

i Ver. 23. Τὸ εἰ δύνασαι πιστεῦσαι, If thou canſt believe this,] Viz. That I can help thee; or if thou canſt believe this thing. So Rom. 13. 9. τὸ γὰρ, for this, thou ſhalt not commit Adultery. Luke 22. 24. There was a Contention τὸ, viz. this, who ſhould be greateſt? So Juſtin M. τὸ πῶς περὶ Θεοῦ λέγειν, 'Tis an Argument of Incredulity to ſay of God, how; and τὸ μηδὲν ἄλλο, this Saying, ne quid nimis, much delights me.

Ver. 38. Εἴδομέν τινα ἐν τῷ ὀνόματί σου ἐκβάλλοντα δαιμόνια, We ſaw a Man caſting out Devils in thy Name, and we forbad him becauſe he follows not us.] That this Man did truly caſt out Devils, Chriſt's Anſwer ſuppoſes, and his Diſciples ſaw with their Eyes: 'Tis alſo certain that he did this in the Name of Chriſt; but that he did it by invocation of the Name of Jeſus of Nazareth, is not ſo certain; for he might be a Diſciple of John, and ſo do this in the Name of Chriſt ſhortly to come; for if he ſtedfaſtly believed that Jeſus of Nazareth was the Chriſt, 'tis hard to give a reaſon why he did not follow him, or join himſelf to Chriſt's Diſciples; however it was no ſmall Confirmation of the Truth of Chriſtianity, that his Name was thus powerful even among thoſe that did not follow him, and therefore could do nothing by compact with him: This, Man, ſaith Chriſt, do not forbid, for he that purſues the ſame end with us, the beating down of Satan's Kingdom, cannot be againſt us, but rather for us, and he who finds ſo ſenſibly the Power of my Name, cannot ſpeak evil of me. k

[illegible], For whoſoever ſhall give you a Cup of cold Water in my Name, becauſe ye belong to Chriſt, Verily I ſay to you, he ſhall not loſe his Reward.] The Particle γὰρ ſhews the Connexion of theſe words with the preceding, which ſeemeth to be thus; even the leaſt Service done to me, by owning any one for my Name's ſake, ſhall be rewarded, and much more the Labour which this Man ſhews in divulging the Honour of my Name, and aſſiſting me in beating down the Kingdom of Satan.

Ver. 43, 44. Ἀπελθεῖν εἰς γέενναν εἰς τὸ πῦρ τὸ ἄσβεστον ὅπου ὁ σκώληξ αὐτῶν οὐ τελευτᾷ, καὶ τὸ πῦρ οὐ σβέννυται, Than having two Hands to be caſt into Hell, where the Worm dieth not, and the Fire is not quenched.] Theſe words ſeem plainly taken from Iſaiah 66. 24. where they exactly may be found, and it ſeems reaſonable to interpret them according to the received Opinion of the Jews, ſince otherwiſe our Lord by uſing this Expreſſion frequently in ſpeaking to them who would be ſure to underſtand it in the uſual Senſe, without ſaying any thing to ſhew he did not underſtand it as they did, muſt have ſtrengthned them in their Error. Now it is certain, m

(1*ſt*,) That Gehenna was by them ſtill lookt on, and repreſented as the place in which the wicked were to be tormented by Fire: So the (c) Jeruſalem Targum repreſents Gebenna which is prepared for the wicked in the World to come, as a Furnace ſparkling

ſparkling and flaming with Fire into which the wicked fall. And the Targum upon Eccleſiaſtes ſpeaks of the Fire of Hell, Eccles. 9. 15. of the ſparks of the Fire of Hell, Chap. 10. 11. and of the wicked who ſhall go to be burned in Hell, Chap. 8. 10. accordingly our Lord ſpeaks here, v. 47. and Matth. 5. 22. of the wicked being caſt into the Fire of Hell, and of their being caſt into a Furnace of Fire, Matth. 13. 42.

2*dly*, The ancient Jews held that the Puniſhments of the wicked in Hell ſhould be perpetual, or without end; ſo Judith ſaith, that κλαύσουσ᾽ ἐν ἀδῆτῃ ἕως αἰῶνος, they ſhall weep under the ſenſe of their Pains for ever, Chap. 16. 17. (d) Joſephus informs us that the Phariſees held the Souls of the wicked were to be puniſhed, ἀϊδίῳ τιμωρίᾳ, with perpetual Puniſhment, and that there was appointed for them, εἱργμὸς ἀϊδιος, a perpetual Priſon. (e) Philo ſaith, the Puniſhment of the wicked Perſon is ζῆν ἀποθάνοντα ἀεὶ, to live for ever dying, and δαιμονίζειν ἐν ἀλγηδόσι καὶ ἀνίαις, καὶ ξυμφοραῖς ἀδιαλείπτοις, to be for ever in Pains and Griefs, and Calamities that never ceaſe: Accordingly our Lord continually ſaith of them, that they ſhall go away into eternal Puniſhment, and that their Worm dieth not, and their Fire is not quenched, and that God will deſtroy their Soul and Body in Hell-fire, Matth. 18. 8. — 25. 41. Luke 3. 17. Whence I collect,

1*ſt*, That tho' it is not to be doubted that the Worm not dying is to be taken tropically for the Worm of Conſcience, yet ſhall the Bodies of the wicked ſuffer in Fire properly ſo called; this being ſuitable not only to the Tradition of the Jewiſh and the Chriſtian Church, but to the conſtant Phraſeology of the Scriptures, declaring that the Tree that brings not forth good Fruit, the fruitleſs Branch, the Chaff, ſhall be caſt into the Fire, and be burnt with unquenchable Fire, Matth. 3. 10, 12. — 13. 50. John 15. 6. That the wicked ſhall go into everlaſting Fire; their Souls and Bodies ſhall be caſt into Hell Fire, Matth. 10. 28. — 25. 45. That they ſhall be puniſhed with flaming Fire, 2 Theſſ. 1. 8. Suffer the Vengeance of eternal Fire, Jude 7. The Heavens and Earth being reſerved to Fire for the puniſhment of ungodly Men, 2 Pet. 3. 10.

2*dly*, That the puniſhment of wicked Men ſhall be eternal. That this was the conſtant Opinion of the Chriſtian Church, ſee Note on Heb. 6. 2. and that this puniſhment is conſiſtent with Divine Juſtice and Goodneſs, ſee Appendix to 2 Theſſ. 1.

Ver. 49. Πᾶς γὰρ πυρὶ ἁλισθήσεται, καὶ πᾶσα θυσία ἅλι ἁλισθήσεται, For every one ſhall be ſalted with Fire, and every Sacrifice ſhall be ſalted with Salt.] n These words may be referred to the preceding, reſpecting the Puniſhment of thoſe wicked Men, who will not cut off thoſe offending Eyes, Feet, or Hands, which render them obnoxious to future Puniſhments; and then the import of them will be to this effect, Every wicked Man ſhall be ſeaſoned with Fire it ſelf, ſo as to become inconſumable, and ſhall endure for ever to be tormented, and therefore may be ſaid to be ſalted with Fire, in alluſion to that property of Salt which is to preſerve things from Corruption. To ſtrengthen this Interpretation, conſider,

1*ſt*, The connexion of the words, where the Worm dieth not, and where the Fire is not quenched, πᾶς γὰρ αὐτὸς, for every one (of them) ſhall be ſalted with Fire; where the illative Particle γὰρ, for, ſhews, that theſe words are deſigned as a proof of the words preceding. Conſider,

2*dly*, From whence thoſe words, Their Worm dieth not, and their Fire is not quenched, are taken, viz. from Iſaiah 66. ult. where they run thus; They ſhall go forth, and look upon the Carcaſſes of thoſe Men that have tranſgreſſed againſt me; for their Worm ſhall not die, nor ſhall their Fire be quenched: Which words plainly belong to the Wicked, and to them alone; and ſo the proof of them in this Verſe, muſt belong to them only. Note,

3*dly*, That the word πᾶς muſt refer therefore to the ſame Perſons, as if it had been ſaid expreſly, πᾶς γὰρ αὐτὸς, For every one (of them) whoſe Fire is not quenched, ſhall be ſalted with, or in the Fire, i. e. preſerved from Corruption in, or by it; ſo Chap. 12. 44. πάντες γὰρ, for all, i. e. πάντες οἱ πλούσιοι ἔστε, all thoſe rich Men caſt in, out of their Superfluities; ſo Luke 16. 16. The Kingdom of Heaven is preached, καὶ πᾶς, and every one (viz. who believes,) preſſeth into it: And, Luke 21. 32. This Generation ſhall not paſs away ἕως ἂν πάντα γένηται, till all things be done, i. e. πάντα ταῦτα, all theſe things now mentioned, Matth. 24. 35. Mark 13. 30. See many other inſtances in Grotius. Note,

4*thly*, That theſe words, καὶ πᾶσα θυσία ἁλὶ, may be rendred thus; For every Sacrifice ſhall be ſeaſoned with Salt, even the whole burnt Offerings, as well as others; and then they will be a proof of the former, from the Precept concerning Sacrifices, Lev. 2. 13. That the Particle καὶ frequently ſignifies for, appears from many Examples; ſo Exod. 5. 23. καὶ ἀφ᾽ οὗ, for from the time that I ſpake to Pharaoh, Joſh. 1. 5. καὶ ὥσπερ ἤμην, for as I was with Moſes; ſee alſo Chap. 22. 25. 1 Sam. 2. 15. καὶ οὐ μὴ λάβω, for I will not take ſodden Fleſh, Pſal. 108. 12. ſend us help from trouble καὶ μάταια for vain is the help of Man; Iſa. 64. 5. Thou waſt angry, καὶ ἡμεῖς, for we have ſinned, Mich. 7. 8. καὶ ἀναστήσομαι, for I ſhall riſe up again. Note,

5*thly*, That it is the property of Salt to preſerve things from Corruption; hence a Covenant of Salt is put for an everlaſting or inviolable inviolable Covenant: So Numb. 18. 19. Διαθήκη ἁλὸς αἰωνίου ἔστιν ἐναντίον Κυρίου, it is a Covenant of Salt for ever before the Lord; and 2 Chron. 13. 5. God gave David and his Sons Kings over Iſrael for ever, by a Covenant of Salt. Whence the Jews ſay, Salt was to ſeaſon all their Sacrifices, to ſignifie, that they preſerved their Souls from Corruption, as the Salt did the Sacrifice: Philo, that Salt is a Symbol, δηλωτικὸν τῆς διαμονῆς τῶν ὅλων, of the perpetuity of all things, preſerving that on which it is ſprinkled; de victimis, p. 647. F. And on thoſe words, With every Oblation you ſhall offer Salt, δι' ὧν τὰ ἱερεῖα ἅλι τηρεῖται, φυλακτήριον γὰρ οἱ ἅλες σωμάτων τετιμημένοι ψυχῆς ἀδιαφθόροις· By this, ſaith (f) Philo, he ſignifies the perpetual duration of them; Salt being the preſervation of Bodies next to the Soul it ſelf; for as the Soul is the cauſe that our Bodies are not corrupted, ſo is Salt preſerving them for a long time, καὶ τρόπον τινὰ ἀθανατίζοντες, and rendring them in a manner incorruptible: If then, by keeping theſe offenſive Members or corrupt Affections, you render your Chriſtianity ſuch as hath loſt its Savour, and like a Sacrifice without Salt, you can never be acceptable to God; retain therefore your Chriſtian Wiſdom or Piety, and preſerve Peace, the Bond of Unity, among your ſelves.

Others interpret the words thus; Let it not ſeem a hard Saying, that I require your abſciſſion of theſe offenſive Members; for every Sacrifice, that it may be grateful and acceptable to God, muſt be ſalted with Fire; for the Fire muſt prove every Man's Action; and it will not receive its Reward till it hath paſſed thro' the Fire of Tribulation, 1 Cor. 3. 13, 14. 'Tis then more deſirable here to endure this Trial by Fire, and Communion with Chriſt in his Sufferings, that ye may rejoice at his Appearance, than to fall into that Fire which will never be extinguiſhed: 'Tis therefore good to have this Salt in your ſelves, this Chriſtian Wiſdom, which will preſerve you from Corruption, and that Peace which will preſerve the Chriſtian Body from it: Like this is that Expreſſion of Joſephus, concerning one of the ſeven Children roaſted in the Fire; ὥσπερ ἐν πυρὶ μεταχημαλιζόμενον εἰς ἀφθαρσίαν, he is transformed into Incorruption as it were by Fire. Lib. de Maccab. p. 1093. D. And in this ſenſe Irenæus ſaith, Tribulation is neceſſary for the Children of God, ut igniti apti ſint ad convivium Regis, that being ſalted with Fire, they may be fit for the Banquet of the King, l. 5. c. 28.

CHAP. X.

1. AND he aroſe from thence (from Capernaum, ch. 9. 33.) and cometh into the Coaſts of Judea by the farther ſide of Jordan; and the People reſort to him again; and as he was wont, he taught them again:

2. And the Phariſees came to him, and asked him, Is it lawful for a Man to put away his Wife? tempting him; (i. e. by that Queſtion, thinking he might be induced to ſpeak ſomething againſt the Law of Moſes;)

3. And he anſwered, and ſaid to them, a [a] What did Moſes command you?

4. And they ſaid, Moſes ſuffered (us) to write a Bill of Divorcement, and (ſo) to put her away:

5. And Jeſus anſwered, and ſaid to them, For the Hardneſs of your Heart, (which would not ſuffer you to perceive, and yield to the firſt Inſtitution of Matrimony,) he wrote you this Precept, (that if you would put away your Wife, you ſhould do it, by giving her a Bill of Divorce;)

b 6. But from the beginning [b] of the Creation, God (ſhewed he would have it otherwiſe; for he) made them Male and Female, (ſaying, Gen. 2. 24.)

7. For this cauſe ſhall a Man leave his Father and Mother, and cleave to his Wife;

8. And they twain ſhall be one Fleſh; (ſo as they are not one Fleſh with Father or Mother:) ſo then they (after the Matrimonial Duty,) are no more twain but one Fleſh:

9. What therefore God hath (thus) joined together, let no Man (under the Goſpel Diſpenſation, preſume to) put aſunder.

10. And (when he was) in the Houſe, his Diſciples asked him again of the ſame matter:

11. And he ſaith to them, (according to the Primitive Inſtitution of Matrimony,) [c] Whoc ſoever ſhall put away his Wife, and marry another, committeth Adultery againſt her, (ſhe being by that Inſtitution ſtill his Wife, and ſo having the ſole right over his Body, 1 Cor. 7. 4.)

12. And if a Woman ſhall put away her Husband, and be married to another, (as hath of late been done among you,) ſhe committeth Adultery (againſt him, as being ſtill his Wife, and not having power over her own Body, but the Husband, ibid.)

13. And they brought young Children to him, that he ſhould touch them; and his Diſciples rebuked thoſe that brought them:

14. But when Jeſus ſaw (i. e. perceived) it, he was much diſpleaſed, and ſaid to them, Suffer little Children to come to me, and forbid them not, for of ſuch is the Kingdom of God: (And if of ſuch as reſemble them in Diſpoſition,

(f) Περὶ θυσιῶν, p. 659.

Diſpoſition, why ſhould they whom they are to reſemble, be unfit for that Kingdom?)

15. Verily I ſay to you, Whoſoever ſhall not receive the Kingdom of God as a little Child, (i. e. with the ſame freedom from vain Glory, and the Love of the World which is in them,) he ſhall not enter therein:

16. And he took them up in his Arms, and put his Hands upon them, and bleſſed them:

17. And when he was gone forth into the way, there came one running, and kneeled to him, and asked him, Good Maſter, what ſhall I do that I may inherit eternal Life?

18. And Jeſus ſaid to him, Why calleſt thou me good, (ſeeing) there is none good but one, that is, God? (Doeſt thou own me as one commiſſionated by him, to teach the way of Life? I ſhall then do it according to his Will, by ſaying,)

19. Thou knoweſt the Commandments, (viz.) Do not commit Adultery; Do not Kill; Do not Steal; Do not bear Falſe Witneſs; [d] Defraud not; Honour thy Father and (thy) Mother; (Do this, and thou ſhalt live:)

20. And he anſwered, and ſaid to him, Maſter, all theſe things have I obſerved from my Youth.

21. Then Jeſus beholding him, [e] loved him, and ſaid to him, One thing thou (yet) lackeſt (to render thee my Diſciple;) Go thy way, (and at my Command) ſell whatſoever thou haſt, and give (it) to the Poor, and thou ſhalt have Treaſure in Heaven; and (then) come, and take up the Croſs, and follow me:

22. And he was ſad at that Saying, and went away grieved; for he had great Poſſeſſions.

23. And Jeſus looked round about, and ſaith to his Diſciples, [f] How hardly ſhall they that have Riches enter into the Kingdom of God.

24. And the Diſciples were aſtoniſhed at his words; but Jeſus anſwereth again, and ſaith to them, Children, how hard is it for them that truſt in Riches, to enter into the Kingdom of God?

25. It is eaſier for a Camel (or Cable) to go thro' the Eye of a Needle, than for a rich Man (thus truſting in his Riches, as in things which make him happy,) to enter into the Kingdom of God.

26. And they (who heard this) were aſtoniſhed above meaſure (at it,) ſaying among themſelves, Who then can be ſaved?

27. And Jeſus looking upon them, ſaith, With Men it is impoſſible, (i. e. human Perſuaſion cannot work Men off from this Love of the World,) but (this is) not (impoſſible) with (to) God; for with God all things are poſſible.

28. Then Peter began to ſay to him, Lo, we have left all, and have followed thee.

29. And Jeſus anſwered, and ſaid, Verily I ſay to you, there is no Man who hath left Houſe, or Brethren, or Siſters, or Father, or Mother, or Wife, or Children, or Lands, for my ſake, and the Goſpel's,

30. But he ſhall receive an hundred fold, now in this time, Houſes, and Brethren, and Siſters, and Mothers, and Children, and Lands, (i. e. ſhall find Men more affectionate to him than theſe Relations, and receive greater Bleſſings than he parts with here) with Perſecutions, and in the World to come eternal Life.

31. [g] But many that are firſt ſhall be laſt, and the laſt (ſhall be) firſt. (See the Note here.)

32. And they were in the way going up to Jeruſalem, [h] and Jeſus went before them; and they were amazed (that Chriſt would thus go into the Mouth of the Sanhedrim, who had reſolved to kill him;) and as they followed, they were afraid (of what might befal them, being his Diſciples;) and he took again the Twelve, and began to tell them what things ſhould happen to him,

33. Saying, Behold we go up to Jeruſalem, and the Son of Man ſhall be delivered up to the Chief Prieſts, and to the Scribes, and they ſhall condemn him to Death, and ſhall deliver him to the Gentiles;

34. And they ſhall mock him, and ſhall ſcourge him, and ſhall ſpit upon him, and ſhall kill him, and the third day he ſhall riſe again;

35. [i] And James, and John, the Sons of Zebedee, come to him (by their Mother,) ſaying, Maſter, we would that thou ſhouldeſt do for us whatſoever we ſhall deſire;

36. And he ſaid to them, What would ye that I ſhould do for you?

37. They ſaid to him, Grant to us that we may ſit, one on thy right Hand, and the other on thy left, in thy Glory:

38. But Jeſus ſaid to them, Ye know not what (it is) you ask; (the higheſt place in my Glory being the reward of the higheſt Sufferings:) Can ye (then) drink of the Cup that I (am to) drink of? and be baptized with the Baptiſm that I am (to be) baptized with? (i.e. Can ye ſuffer as I am to do?)

39. And they ſaid to him, We can: And Jeſus ſaid to them, Ye ſhall indeed drink of the Cup that I drink of; and with the Baptiſm that I am baptized withal, ſhall ye be baptized; (i. e. ſhall ſuffer for my ſake:)

40. But to ſit on my right Hand, and on my left Hand, [k] is not mine to give (to any others,) but it ſhall be given to them for whom it is prepared:

41. And when the Ten heard it, they began to be much diſpleaſed with James and John, (for deſiring Precedency above them in Chriſt's Kingdom.)

42. But Jeſus calleth them to him, and ſaith to them, Ye know that they which are [l] accounted to rule over the Gentiles, exerciſe Lordſhip over them, (commanding them as their Servants;) and their great ones exerciſe Authority upon them (at their pleaſure:)

43. But ſo ſhall it not be among you; but whoſoever will be great among you, ſhall be your Miniſter:

44. And whoſoever of you will be the chiefeſt, ſhall (by that office) be (come the) Servant of all:

45. For even the Son of Man came not to be miniſtred to, but to miniſter, and to give his Life a Ranſom for many, (and ſo muſt it be with his Diſciples.)

m 46. And they came to Jericho; and as [m] he went out of Jericho with his Diſciples, and a great number of People, blind Bartimæus, the Son of Timæus, ſat by the way-ſide begging, (and another with him;)

47. And when he heard that it was Jeſus of Nazareth (that came that way,) he began to cry out, and ſay, Jeſus, thou Son of David, have mercy on me; (and ſo ſaid the other alſo, Matth. 20. 30.)

48. And many charged him, that he ſhould hold his peace; but he cried the more a great deal, Thou Son of David have mercy on me.

49. And Jeſus ſtood ſtill, and commanded him to be called; and they called the blind Man, ſaying to him, Be of good comfort, riſe, he calleth thee:

50. And he caſting away his Garment, roſe, and came to Jeſus;

51. And Jeſus anſwered, and ſaid to him, What wilt thou that I ſhould do to thee? the blind Man ſaid to him, Lord, (I ask) that I might receive my Sight;

52. And Jeſus ſaid to him, Go thy way, thy Faith hath made thee whole; and immediately he received his Sight, and followed Jeſus in the way.

Annotations on Chap. X.

a Ver. 3. Τί ὑμῖν ἐνετείλατο Μωσῆς; What did Moſes command you?] There ſeems to be a difference here betwixt St. Matthew and St. Mark, not much taken notice of by Interpreters; St. Mark introducing Chriſt asking them, what Moſes commanded in this caſe; St. Matthew introducing them asking Chriſt, Why then did Moſes command us to write a Bill of Divorce? &c. But this ſeeming Difference may be removed by ſaying, They firſt asked him, Why did Moſes command? And then our Saviour asked them, what were the words of Moſes in this caſe? and when they had repeated them, he tells them the reaſon why Moſes gave them this Permiſſion.

b Ver. 6. Ἀπὸ δὲ ἀρχῆς κτίσεως, From the beginning of the Creation.] The word κτίσεως is found in the Alexandrian Copy, and in Theophylact, and is interpreted by the Vulgar, and the Arabick, and extant in moſt Copies, and therefore is not to be ſuſpected, becauſe not found in Beza's Copy, or in the Syriack, or in the parallel place, Matth. 19. 4. for ἀπ' ἀρχῆς, being in ſenſe the ſame, St. Matthew might ſay no more, but St. Mark could not well add more if Chriſt had ſaid no more.

c Ver. 11. Ὃς ἐὰν ἀπολύσῃ τὴν γυναῖκα αὐτοῦ καὶ γαμήσῃ ἄλλον μοιχᾶται ἐπ' αὐτόν, Whoſoever ſhall put away his Wife, and marry another, committeth Adultery againſt her.] Tho' this Diſcourſe of Chriſt's be originally about Divorce, yet it ſeems plainly to evince that Polygamy muſt be unlawful, eſpecially under the Chriſtian Oeconomy; for, (1.) From Chriſt's Saying, He that putteth away his Wife, and marries another, committeth Adultery againſt her, it clearly follows, that he, who having not put her away, marries another, muſt be guilty of the ſame Crime, ſeeing he muſt have at leaſt the ſame Power to marry another, when the firſt is put away, as when ſhe is not. (2.) He who commits Adultery againſt his Wife by marrying another, could have no Power to do ſo whilſt ſhe lived, ſince no Man can be ſuppoſed to have Power to commit Adultery. And, (3) He who by marrying another commits Adultery with her, muſt marry her whom he had no Power to marry. (4.) Since to commit Adultery is to violate the Bed of another Perſon, he that commits Adultery againſt his Wife muſt violate her Bed, which no Husband can do, only by doing that which an Husband lawfully might do. Since then a right to Polygamy is a right to marry more Wives than one, he that hath this right cannot violate the Bed of his firſt Wife, by aſſuming another to it. It therefore muſt be acknowledged, either that the Husband under Chriſt's Inſtitution, and by the original Law of Matrimony had no ſuch right, or that he that marrieth another, cannot by that commit Adultery againſt his firſt Wife.

d Ver. 19. Μὴ ἀποστερήσῃς, Thou ſhalt not defraud.] Dr. Hammond here ſaith, that the tenth Commandment is rendred by the Seventy, and by St. Paul, Rom. 7. 7. οὐκ ἐπιθυμήσεις, thou ſhalt not covet; by Chriſt here, thou ſhalt not defraud, and Matth. 19. 19. thou ſhalt love thy Neighbour as thy ſelf; whence he concludes that the Commandment contains the Importance of all theſe Phraſes; obliging us ſo to reſt ſatisfied with that Lot God hath afforded us, and ſo to deſire the Good of others as well as of our ſelves, as not to deſire, or endeavour to gain any thing to our ſelves by the loſs or diminution of another, but to think others as worthy to enjoy what belongs to them, as we are to enjoy what belongs to us; all which is very true. Mr. Cl. alſo here well notes, that there be two ways of injuring our Neighbour, Neighbour, (1.) By Theft, whether privately, or by force againſt the Will of the Owner, and by taking away what belongs to another, without any pretence of Right or Juſtice, which is forbidden in the eighth Commandment; or (2.) By ſecret and cunning Devices, where the Law, and a Pretence of Right is made uſe of, to cover the Injury, which is forbidden in the tenth Commandment, and here expreſſed by μὴ ἀποστήσῃς, thou ſhalt not defraud: And ſurely all ſuch Endeavours to defraud muſt ſhew a very covetous Mind, inclining us, againſt the Dictates of our Conſciences, and to the damage of our precious Souls, to defraud another of his right; only let it be noted that the word ἀποστερεῖν in Scripture is of a greater Latitude, and ſignifies alſo to detain, and keep back a thing when it is due. So Exod. 21. 10. her Food, and Raiment, and the Duty of Marriage, οὐκ ἀποστήσεις, thou ſhalt not keep back. So the word ſignifies, Numb. 9. 7. Deut. 24. 14. οὐκ ἀποστήσεις μισθὸν πένητος, thou ſhalt not keep back the Hire of the Poor, at his day thou ſhalt give him his Hire, v. 15. and ſo we expound the word ἀπεστερημένος, uſed Jam. 5. 4. by kept back; Ecclus. 4. 1. τὴν ζωὴν τοῦ πτωχοῦ μὴ ἀποστέρησης, detain not the Life of the Poor, and make not his Eyes to wait long; and Chap. 34. 21, 22. the Bread of the Poor is his Life, ὁ ἀποστερῶν αὐτὸν, he that detains it is a Man of Blood; ὁ ἀποστερῶν μισθὸν μισθίου, he that detains the Wages of the Hireling ſheddeth Blood: And ſurely they who deſire thus to detain that which belongs to others, and they know they much want, muſt covet to have for that time what is another's. And here eſpecially the Rule of the Civilians obtains, minus ſolvit qui tempore minus ſolvit, he pays leſs than he ought, who pays not in due time, or when he ought to do it.

e Ver. 21. Ἠγάπησεν αὐτὸν, And Jeſus looking upon him, loved him.] He loved not only Virtues, but even the Seeds of them; the one ſo as to reward them, the other, ſo as to encourage, and miniſter to their Growth.

f Ver. 23. Πῶς δυσκόλως οἱ τὰ χρήματα ἔχοντες; How hardly can they that have Riches enter into the Kingdom of God!] The Example of the young Man ſhews that ἔχειν here imports not only to poſſeſs Riches, but alſo to retain ſuch an Affection to them as that we cannot well bear the Thoughts of loſing them, or parting with them. The Interpretation of Chriſt, that they who truſt in Riches, ver. 24. cannot do it, is the Conſequence of that Affection; for this Affection muſt be built upon the Apprehenſion of the Goodneſs of them, the Conveniencies and Advantages we truſt we ſhall receive, by having and retaining them.

g Ver. 31. Πολλοὶ δ' ἔσονται πρῶτοι ἔσχατοι, &c. But many that are firſt ſhall be laſt, and that are laſt ſhall be firſt;] i. e. But as it is with this Jew, ſo will it be with the generality of that Nation, tho' they ſhall have the firſt offer of this Kingdom, they ſhall generally refuſe to enter into it, whereas many of the Gentiles ſhall gladly embrace it upon theſe Terms, and ſhall be admitted into it, and ſo preferred before the Jews to whom theſe Bleſſings primarily belonged. That this is the true import of theſe words; ſee the Note on Matth. 20. 1.

Ver. 32. Καὶ ἐθαμβοῦντο, καὶ ἀκολουθοῦντες ἐφοβοῦντο, They were amazed, and following they were afraid.] They were amazed that the Sanhedrim reſolving to kill him, John 11. 53. and ſending out their Purſuivants and Injunctions to apprehend him, ver. 57. he would run himſelf into the Mouth of that Danger he ſeemed formerly to decline; and they were afraid what might befal them, who bore the Character of his Diſciples, for his ſake. h

Ver. 35. Καὶ προσπορεύονται αὐτῷ Ἰακωβος καὶ Ἰωάννης, And James and John came unto him;] Viz. By their Mother, as their Mouth, Matth. 20. 20. And ſo Chriſt inſinuates by anſwering, not to the Mother, but to them coming with her on this Errand, ye know not what ye ask, ver. 22. i

Ver. 40. Οὐκ ἔστιν ἐμὸν δοῦναι ἀλλ' οἷς ἡτοίμασται·] It is not for me, who never vary from my Father's Will, to give to others than to them for whom it is prepared by my Father. Οὐκ ἔστιν ἐμοῦ τοῦ δικαίου κρίνειν, it is not for me, a righteous Judge, and Diſtributer of Recompences, to give to any by Favour or Affection to their Relations, or themſelves, but to thoſe who are prepared for it according to the Will of my Father; ſo Theophylact. k

Ver. 42. Οἱ δοκοῦντες ἄρχειν τῶν ἐθνῶν, They who are accounted to rule over the Gentiles. This is Matth. 20. 25. οἱ ἄρχοντες τῶν ἐθνῶν, the Rulers of the Gentiles, Luke 22. 25. οἱ βασιλεῖς τῶν ἐθνῶν, the Kings of the Gentiles. So that this ſhews that δοκέω is ſometimes an expletive, as hath been noted on 1 Cor. 7. 40. l

Ver. 46. Καὶ ἐκπορευομένου αὐτοῦ ἀπὸ Ἰερειχὼ Βαρτίμαιος ὁ τυφλὸς, And as he was going from Jericho, a blind Man named Bartimæus ſat by the way ſide.] Luke 18. 35. ἐν τῷ ἐγγίζειν αὐτὸν εἰς Ἰερειχὼ, when he was near to Jericho a certain blind Man ſat. Matth. 20. 30. δύο τυφλοὶ, two blind Men. There is no reaſon from theſe ſeeming Differences to think the Story different of which the Evangeliſts ſpeak: For as to the Firſt St. Luke ſaith indeed, that Chriſt was yet near to Jericho; but then, ſo is he who is gone a little from it, as well as he who is come near to it, which St. Luke doth not ſay. To the ſecond it may be anſwered, that he who ſaith, there was a certain blind Man celebrated by the Name of Bartimæus, ſaith not, there was no more, but only that there was no other ſo noted, and diſtinguiſhed by that Name; and he that mentions his Deſire, and Chriſt's Anſwer, doth m not exclude the other from making the like Requeſt, nor from an Intereſt in Chriſt's Anſwer, but only ſhews he thought it ſufficient to take notice of him as the moſt celebrated of the two.

CHAP. XI.

1. AND when they came nigh to Jeruſalem, (even) to [a] Bethphage, and Bethany, at the Mount of Olives, he ſendeth forth two of his Diſciples;

2. And he ſaith to them, Go your way into the Village over againſt you, and as ſoon as ye be entred into it, ye ſhall find a Colt tyed, [b] whereon never Man ſat, looſe him, and bring him (to me;)

3. And if any Man ſay to you, Why do you this? ſay ye that the Lord hath need of him, and ſtraightway he will ſend (i. e. will quietly permit you to bring) him hither.

4. And they went their way (to the Village,) and found (there) the Colt tyed by the Door without, in a place where two Ways met, and they looſe him.

5. And certain of them that ſtood there, ſaid to them, What do ye looſing the Colt?

6. And they ſaid to them, (we do) even as Jeſus had commanded; and (upon this) they let them go.

7. And they brought the Colt to Jeſus, and caſt their Garments on him, and he ſat upon him.

8. And many ſpread their Garments in the way, and others cut down Branches of the Trees, and ſtrawed them in the way.

9. And they that went before, and they that followed, cried ſaying, Hoſanna, Bleſſed is he that cometh in the Name of the Lord, (let Proſperity attend on the Meſſiah;)

10. [c] Bleſſed be the Kingdom of our Father David, that cometh in the Name of the Lord; (may the Kingdom flouriſh which God is to erect, according to his Promiſe made to David,) Hoſanna in the Higheſt, (let Proſperity be from Heaven on this King and Kingdom.)

11. And Jeſus entred into Jeruſalem, and into the Temple, and when he had looked round about upon all things, (and cured the blind, and lame, Matth. 21. 14.) and now the eventide was come, he went out to Bethany, with the Twelve.

12. And on the morrow, when they were come from Bethany, he was hungry;

13. [d] And ſeeing a Fig-tree afar off having Leaves, (which the common Fig-trees then had not, Matth. 24. 32.) he came (to it,) if haply he might find any thing thereon; and when he was come to it, he found nothing but Leaves, for the time of (other) Figs was not yet:

14. And Jeſus anſwered, (i. e. upon this diſappointment ſpake,) and ſaid unto it, (let) no Man eat Fruit of (i. e. from) thee hereafter for ever; and his Diſciples heard it.

15. And they come to Jeruſalem, and Jeſus went into the Temple, and began to caſt out them that ſold and bought in the Temple, and overthrew the Tables of the Money-Changers, and the Seats of them that ſold Doves:

16. And would not [e] ſuffer that any Man ſhould carry any Veſſel through the Temple.

17. And he taught (them who did theſe things, how contrary they were to Scripture,) ſaying to them, is it not written, [f] my Houſe ſhall be called of all Nations, the Houſe of Prayer? (Gr. an Houſe of Prayer to all Nations, and ſo that very Court of the Gentiles you thus prophane is dedicated to his ſervice;) but ye (by employing it to theſe uſes) have made it a Den of Thieves.

18. And the Scribes, and Chief Prieſts heard it, and (inſtead of being moved by what he ſaid from the Scripture, to reform this abuſe, they) ſought how they might deſtroy him (privily,[i]) for they feared (to do this openly to) him, becauſe all the People were aſtoniſhed at his Doctrine.

19. And when Even was come, he went out of the City.

20. And in the Morning, as they paſſed by, they ſaw the Fig-tree dried up from the Roots.

21. And Peter calling to remembrance (the words of Chriſt,) ſaith to him, Maſter, behold the Fig-tree which thou curſedſt is withered away.

22. And Jeſus anſwering, ſaith to them, have (a ſtrong) Faith in God:

23. For verily I ſay to you, that whoſoever ſhall ſay to this Mountain, be thou removed, and be thou caſt into the Sea, (i. e. whoſoever of you ſhall attempt the greateſt Difficulties, reſpecting your Office in confirming the Truth of my Doctrine to Jew and Gentile, and bringing them to the Faith,) and ſhall not doubt in his Heart (of God's Power, or Readineſs to aſſiſt him,) but ſhall believe that thoſe things which he ſaith ſhall come to paſs, (Gr. ſhall be done,) he ſhall have whatſoever he ſaith, (it ſhall be to him according to what he ſaith.)

24. Wherefore I ſay to you, (for the Confirmation of your Faith,) what things ſoever ye deſire when ye pray, (or ask in Prayer,) believe that ye receive them, and ye ſhall have them;

25. And when ye [g] ſtand praying, forgive, if ye have ought (any juſt matter of Complaint) againſt any (for what they have done to you;) that your Father alſo which is in Heaven may forgive you your Treſpaſſes.

26. But

26. But (for) if you do not forgive (them,) neither will your Father which is in Heaven forgive your Treſpaſſes.

27. And they come again to Jeruſalem, and as he was walking in the Temple there come to him the Chief Prieſts, and the Scribes, and the Elders,

28. And ſay to him, by what Authority doeſt thou theſe things? and who gave thee this Authority to do theſe things?

29. And Jeſus anſwered, and ſaid to them, I will alſo ask of you one Queſtion, and anſwer (you) me, and (then) I will tell you by what Authority I do theſe things;

30. The Baptiſm of John, was it from (the God of) Heaven, or of Men (only?) Anſwer me.

31. And they reaſoned with themſelves, ſaying, If we ſhall ſay (it was) from Heaven, he will ſay, Why then did ye not believe him, (and from his Teſtimony, John 3. 31, 34. learn that I alſo came from God?)

32. But if we ſhall ſay of Men, (this may be hazardous, for) they feared (this might incenſe) the People, for all Men counted John, that he was (to be) a Prophet indeed, 33. And they (therefore) anſwered and ſaid to Jeſus, we cannot tell: Jeſus anſwering ſaith to them, Neither do I (think fit to) tell you by what Authority I do theſe things.

Annotations on Chap. XI.

a Ver. 1. Εἰς Βηθφαγὴ καὶ Βηθανίαν, To Bethphage and Bethany.] So moſt Copies read; tho' as St. Matthew leaves out Bethany, ſo the Vulgar, and, as (a) Origen informs us, St. Mark, here left out Bethphage. Theſe two places were conterminous, the Bound of Bethany through which they went to go from Jericho to Jeruſalem, reaching to Bethphage, whither our Lord was come. Now this Bethphage, ſaith St. Jerom, was Sacerdotum Viculus ſitus in Monte Oliveti, a little Village of the Prieſts ſituated in Mount Olivet. It was, according to the Jews, a place out of Jeruſalem near the Mountain of the Temple, in quo coquebant oblationes, in which, ſaith the Talmud, they boiled their Offerings. Tract. Berachoth, c. 11. f. 95.

b Ver. 2. Ἐφ' ὃν οὐδεὶς ἀνθρώπων κεκάθικε, Upon which no Man ever ſat.] Here Grotius truly notes, that ſuch Animals as had not been employed in the uſe of Man were wont to be choſen for ſacred Uſes; for even the Heathens thought thoſe Things and Sacrifices moſt proper for the Service of the Gods, which had not been put to prophane Uſes. Thus the Philiſtines return the Ark in a new Cart drawn by Heifers never before put into the Yoke, 1 Sam. 6. 7. To Minerva the Heathens ſacrificed injuges boves, Oxen not put into the Yoke; and in Virgil we read thus, Æn. 6. v. 36:

Nunc grege de intacto ſeptem mactare juvencos
Præſtiterit, —
It is beſt to offer ſeven Heifers not yet brought from the Flock;

Which (b) Macrobius calls hoſtias injuges, Sacrifices not accuſtomed to the Yoke; they thinking them polluted, ſaith (c) Turnebius, by being put to prophane Work; and it ſeems to have been a Miracle that ſuch a Colt ſhould ſo patiently ſuffer Chriſt to ride upon him; to be ſure there was a Completion of the Propheſie of Zachary, Chap. 9. 9. the Jews themſelves applying thoſe words to the Meſſiah. For R. Joſeph ſaid, May the Meſſiah come, and may I be worthy to ſit under the Shadow of the Tail of his Aſs. Sanhedrim cap. 10. in Gemara.

c Ver. 10. Εὐλογημένη ἡ βασιλεία ἐρχομένη ἐν ὀνόματι Κυρίου τοῦ Πατρὸς ἡμῶν Δαβίδ, Bleſſed be the Kingdom of our Father David that cometh in the Name of the Lord;] i. e Let the Kingdom be happily begun, and flouriſh, which God is to erect according to his Promiſe made to our Father David; let Proſperity be from Heaven to the King Meſſiah, and to his Kingdom.

d Ver. 13. And ſeeing a Fig-tree afar off having Leaves, he came, if haply he might find any thing thereon, and when he came to it, he found nothing but Leaves, ὃ γὰρ ὢν καιρὸς σύκων, For the time of Figs was not yet.] Here 'tis enquired why Chriſt ſhould curſe this Fig-tree becauſe it had not Figs upon it before the time of Figs. The Criticiſm ὃ γὰρ ὢν, for where he was, it was the time of Fruit, and that of Dr. Hammond, that it was not καιρὸς σύκων, a good or ſeaſonable Year for Figs, are both confuted by this one Obſervation, that Chriſt did this on the 11th of Niſan, that is, five Months before Figs were ripe; for about Summer, ſaith our Lord, the Branch of the Fig-tree is yet tender, and putteth forth Leaves, Matth. 24. 32. Mark 13. 28. from the time of Production of Leaves to the green Figs, ſay the Jews, is fifty days, from thence to the falling off of the Buds, fifty, and from thence to ripe Figs, fifty. And in Canticles, the entrance of the Summer is deſcribed by the Fig-trees bringing forth green Figs, פִּגֵּיהָ, i. e. Groſſos, ὀλωώθας ὠπῆς, her unripe Figs; not as Mr. Clerc here renders the the words, ſhe hath brought her Figs to Perfection; nor do either Theophraſtus, or Pliny make mention of any Figs in Syria, which were gathered till after the Dog Days, that is, about the latter end of Auguſt; and had there been a ſort of Figs, which, as Mr. Cl. fancies, might have been ripe at the Paſſover, before which Chriſt ſpake theſe words, St. Mark could not truly have ſaid, the time of Figs was not yet. There is another ingenious Expoſition of a Reverend and Learned Biſhop, that ὁ καιρὸς ϛύκων is the time of gathering in of Figs, of which ſignification of the word καιρὸς he gives two or three Inſtances; and then it ſeems reaſonable for our Saviour to expect ſome Figs upon this Tree, they being not yet gathered in, and to curſe it for having none upon it, when none had been taken from it; and could I find it proved, that any, even the Biccaroth, or firſt ripe Figs mentioned, Jer. 24. 2. and Hoſ. 9. 10. were fit to be gathered in at the Paſſover, I ſhould acquieſce in this Interpretation; but the words cited from Cant. 2. 13. and Matth. 24. 32. ſeem to prove, that the Fig tree only began to put forth her Leaves, and her green Figs at the entrance of the Summer: Wherefore let it be noted that St. Mark doth not by theſe words, for the time of Figs was not yet, deſign to give a reaſon why our Lord found no Figs upon this Tree, but why he only went to this one Tree, which had Leaves on it, and ſo was of that kind of Figs which, ſaith (d) Theophraſtus, was ἀεὶ φύλλον, (e) ſemper comantibus foliis, a Fig-tree that had always Leaves; and why he expected to find Fruit on that, which upon the other ordinary Fig-trees abounding there, he could not expect, the time of ordinary Figs being not yet; for this kind of Fig-tree being ever green with Leaves, had, ſaith Theophraſtus, ἅμα ϗ τ ἔνον ϗ τ νέον κάρπον, old and new Fruit hanging on it together, the Fruit of the Year paſt and preſent, ſay the Jewiſh Doctors. Accordingly (f) Julian the Apoſtate, ſpeaking of the Fruits of Damaſcus ſaith, ſome of them were but of a ſhort duration, μόνῳ ϓ τῷ ϛύκῳ ϗ ὑπερεναυλίζειν ἕξεσι, ϗ τῇ τ μέλλονϚ καρπῷ ϛωνεχθῶσι, only the Fig tree carries its Fruit above a Year, and it hangs on with the Fruit of the following Year. And thus was this Fig-tree a fit reſemblance of the Jewiſh Nation, to whom alone Chriſt came in Perſon, and from whom alone he could then expect Fruit; whence are they in another Parable repreſented by a Fig-tree, from which the Husbandman three Years expected Fruit, but found none, Luke 13. 7. and therefore is there ordered to be cut down; and here they are emblematically curſed for their Barrenneſs, the Kingdom of God being ſhortly to be taken from them, and given to a Nation bringing forth the Fruits thereof, Matth. 21. 43.

Ver. 16. Καὶ οὐκ ἤφιεν ἵνα τις διενέγκῃ ϛκεῦος διὰ τ ἱερ. And he ſuffered not any one to carry a Veſſel through the Temple.] In this our Lord approved of the received Doctrine of the Jews, who, ſaith (g) Joſephus, held, quod ne vas quidem aliquod portari in Templum licet, that it was not lawful to carry any Veſſel into the Temple; and this was part of that Reverence they thought due to it by virtue of that Precept, thou ſhalt reverence my Sanctuary, Levit. 19. 30. But whereas the Rabbins extended this to their Synagogues, yea even to a Synagogue laid waſte, that none ſhould make them a Thorow-fare, in this they ſeem to have exceeded, there ſeeming not to be the ſame reaſon for things inſtituted by them, for their convenience of meeting for religious Worſhip, as for that Houſe which the Lord had choſen to put his Name there, Deut. 12. 5. and in which the Divine Majeſty dwelt, tho' they being Houſes of Prayer, a Reverence was to be obſerved in them whilſt they engaged in that Worſhip. e Ver. 17. Καὶ ἐδίδασκε λέγων αὐτοῖς οὐ γέγραπ) ὅτι οἶκ) μ οἶκ) πρ.σευχῆς κληθήσε) πᾶσι τοῖς ἔθνεσιν· And he taught them, ſaying, is it not written, my Houſe ſhall be called an Houſe of Prayer to all Nations?] In the Temple there were three Courts; the Court of the Prieſts, where the Altar of Incenſe ſtood; the ſecond was that into which the clean Jews, and the Proſelytes of Juſtice who had embraced Circumciſion, and the whole Law of Moſes entred; and this was parted from the third Court, (which was called the Court of the Gentiles, becauſe the unclean Jew, and the Gentile who owned the true God, were permitted to come and worſhip there,) by a Sept or low Wall, having this Inſcription on it, μὴ δεῖν ἀλλόφυλον ἐντὸς τ ἁγίϖ παρεῖναι, that no Alien was to enter into the Holy Place; where (h) Joſephus by adding τὸ γὰρ δεύτερον ἱερὸν ἅγιον ἐκαλεῖτο, for the ſecond Court was called Holy, ſeems to intimate, that the Court of the Gentiles was by them not deemed holy, but prophane; and therefore thither they brought Sheep and Doves to ſell; and hence it appears how appoſitely our Saviour argues, that the Houſe for all Nations was God's Houſe, and therefore muſt be ſacred, and not to be polluted. Mr. Whiſton muſt therefore be miſtaken, when he conjectures that our Lord did this twice in the week before his Paſſion; once driving theſe Huckſters, and their Merchandiſe out of the inner Temple, and the next day out of the outer Temple; for Chriſt drave out the Oxen and the Sheep, f

Sheep, as well as the Men, John 2. 15. Now can we think that they who had ſo great a Reverence for the inner Temple, as to make it Death for any Gentile, tho' a Proſelyte of the Gate, to come into it, would themſelves bring Sheep and Oxen to dung in it? It is true that St. Mark ſpeaks of this as done the day after he came into the City, and diſcourſed with the Phariſees, but that he did this only by Recapitulation, St. (i) Auſtin proves; but let this be done twice provided he bring not his Merchants and Merchandiſe into the inner Temple. See Maldon. in Matth. 21. 12.

g Ver. 25. Καὶ ὅταν στήκετε προσευχόμενοι ἀφίετε, And when you ſtand praying, forgive if ye have ought againſt any.] That it was ordinary with the Jews to pray ſtanding, ſee Note on Matth. 6. 5. yet in their ſolemn days of Faſting they did kneel, and even proſtrate themſelves before the Lord. But the Chriſtians uſually kneeled down and prayed, Acts 9. 40. — 20. 36. — 21. 5. The Command here to forgive thoſe that offend us before we pray, not only ſhews that no Reſentments of what our Brother doth, ſhould ſtick long upon our Spirits, becauſe they indiſpoſe us for that Duty we are continually to be prepared for, but alſo, that there is ſome kind of Forgiveneſs to be exerciſed towards him, tho' he do not ask it, or ſhew any tokens of Repentance; of which, ſee Note on Matth. 6. 14, 15. And ſeeing I am to pray not only for my ſelf, but for him alſo, Matth. 5. 44. and that out of Love to him, I muſt be free from all Diſpleaſure againſt him, that I may lift up pure Hands without Wrath, I muſt be inclined and ready to do him any good; for how elſe can I heartily deſire it of God, and wiſh well to him; which in effect I do by praying for him?

CHAP. XII.

1. AND he began to ſpeak to them by Parables, (ſaying) A certain Man planted a Vineyard, and ſet an Hedge about it, and digged a place for the Wine-fat, and built a Tower (in it,) and let it out to Huſbandmen, (the Jews, Iſa. 5.) and (then) went into a far Country; (i. e. left them to manage it for him ſo, as that he might in their Seaſon receive the Fruits of it.)

2. And (accordingly) at the Seaſon he ſent to the Husbandmen a Servant, that he might receive from the Husbandmen, (the Guides and Rulers of the Jewiſh Church) of the Fruit of the Vineyard.

3. And (but) they caught him, and beat him, and ſent him away empty.

4. And again he ſent to them another Sera vant; and at him they [a] caſt Stones, and wounded him in the Head, and ſent him away ſhamefully handled.

5. And again he ſent another, and him they killed; and (ſo they dealt with many others, 2 Chron. 35. 15, 16.) beating ſome, and killing ſome (of them.)

6. Having yet therefore one Son, his Well-beloved, he ſent him alſo laſt to them, ſaying, (it may be) they will reverence my Son.

7. But thoſe Husbandmen ſaid among themſelves, this is the Heir, come, let us kill him, and (then) the Inheritance ſhall be ours.

8. And (accordingly) they took him, and killed him, and caſt him out of the Vineyard.

9. What ſhall therefore the Lord of the Vineyard do (to thoſe Men? ſurely) he will come and deſtroy the (ſe) Husbandmen, and will give the Vineyard to (be cultivated by) others.

10. And (if ye doubt of this, ye underſtand not what theſe Husbandmen deſerve,) have ye not read (or, nor have ye read with Attention) this Scripture? (which ſaith, Pſal. 118. 22, 23.) the Stone which the Builders rejected, is become the head (Stone) of the Corner.

11. This was the Lord's doing, and it is marvellous in our Eyes.

12. And (when he had ſaid this) they ſought (occaſion) to lay hold on him, but (they) feared the People, for they knew that he had ſpoken the Parable [b] againſt them, and b (through this fear) they left him, and went their way.

13. And they ſend to him certain (Perſons) of the (Sect of the) Phariſees, and of the Herodians, to catch him in (and get Advantage againſt him from) his words.

14. And when they were come, they ſay to him, Maſter, we know that thou art true, and careſt for no Man ('s Perſon,) for thou regardeſt not the Perſon (s) of Men, but teacheſt the way of God in Truth: (tell us therefore) Is it lawful to give Tribute to Cæſar, or not?

15. Shall we give, or ſhall we not give? (that if he ſaid no, the Herodians might repreſent him as an Enemy to Cæſar; if yea, the Phariſees might repreſent him to the People, as no Friend to the Nation;) but he knowing their Hypocriſie, ſaid to them, Why tempt ye ye me, (ye Hypocrites?) bring me a (Roman) Penny, that I may ſee it.

(i) De conſenſ. Evangeliſt. lib. 2. cap. 68.

16. And they brought it; and (then) he ſaith to them, Whoſe is this Image and Superſcription, (that is upon this Money?) and they ſaid to him, (it is) Cæſar's.

17. And Jeſus anſwering, ſaid to them, Render (then) to Cæſar the things that are Cæſar's, and to God the things that are God's; and they marvel'd at him, (that he had anſwered from their own received Principles, and yet ſo wiſely, that they could take no Advantage from his Words.)

18. Then come to him the Sadducees, who ſay there is no Reſurrection (of the Body,) and they asked him, ſaying,

19. Maſter, Moſes wrote to us, if a Man's Brother die and leave his Wife behind him, and leave no Children, that his Brother ſhould take his Wife, and raiſe up Seed to his Brother.

20. Now there were (with us) ſeven Brethren, and the firſt (of them) took a Wife, and dying left no Seed;

21. And the ſecond took her, and dyed, neither left he any Seed; and the third likewiſe;

22. And (ſo) the ſeven had her and left no Seed; laſt of all the Woman died alſo.

23. In the Reſurrection therefore, when they ſhall riſe (from the dead,) whoſe Wife ſhall ſhe be of them? for the ſeven had her to Wife.

24. And Jeſus anſwering, ſaid to them, Do ye not therefore err, becauſe ye know not the Scriptures, neither the Power of God? (nor yet the ſtate in which they that are raiſed from the Dead ſhall be.)

25. For when they ſhall riſe from the Dead, they (will) neither marry, nor are given in Marriage, but are as the Angels which are in Heaven.

26. And as touching the Dead, (to prove from the Scriptures which you own) that they riſe, have ye not read (what is written) in the Book of Moſes, how in the Buſh God ſpake to him, ſaying, I am the God of Abraham, and the God of Iſaac, and the God of Jacob? (and yet),

27. He is not the God of the Dead, (i. e. of them who are ſo Dead as not to be the Sons of the Reſurrection,) but the God of the Living, (i. e. of thoſe whom he will raiſe to Life again,) ye therefore do greatly err.

c 28. And one of the [c] Scribes came, and having heard them reaſoning together, and perceiving that he had anſwered them well, asked him, which is the firſt Commandment of all?

d 29. And Jeſus anſwered him, the [d] firſt of all the Commandments is, Hear, O Iſrael, the Lord our God is one Lord:

30. And thou ſhalt love the Lord thy God with all thy Heart, and with all thy Soul, and with all thy Mind, and with all thy Strength; this is the firſt Commandment:

31. And the ſecond is like (to it,) namely this, thou ſhalt love thy Neighbour as thy ſelf; there is none other Commandment greater than theſe.

32. And the Scribe ſaid to him, well Maſter, thou haſt ſaid the truth, for there is one God, and there is none other but he;

33. And to love him with all the Heart, and with all the Underſtanding, and with all the Soul, and with all the Strength, and (for a Man) to love his Neighbour as himſelf, is more than all whole Burnt-offerings, and Sacrifices.

34. And when Jeſus ſaw that he anſwered diſcreetly, he ſaid to him, thou art not far from (being prepared to enter into) the Kingdom of God; and no Man after that durſt ask him any Queſtion.

35. And Jeſus anſwered (their Queſtions,) and ſaid (to them by way of Queſtion) while he taught in the Temple, How ſay the Scribes, that Chriſt is the Son of David?

e 36. For [e] David himſelf ſaid (of him) by (the Afflatus of) the Holy Ghoſt, the Lord ſaid to my Lord, ſit thou on my right hand, till I make thine Enemies thy Footſtool.

37. David therefore himſelf calleth him Lord; and whence (how) is he then his Son? and the common People heard him gladly.

38. And he ſaid to them in his Doctrine, Beware of the Scribes, which love to go in long Cloathing, and love (to have) Salutations in the Market-places,

39. And the chief Seats in the Synagogues, and the uppermoſt Rooms at Feaſts;

40. Which devour Widows Houſes, and for a pretence make long Prayers; theſe ſhall receive greater Damnation.

41. And Jeſus ſat over againſt the Treaſury, and beheld how the People caſt Money into the Treaſury; and (ſaw that) many that were rich caſt in much:

42. And there came a certain poor Widow, and ſhe threw in two Mites, which make a Farthing.

43. And he called to his Diſciples, and ſaith to them, Verily I ſay to you, that this poor Widow hath caſt more in than all they which have caſt into the Treaſury:

f 44. For all they did (only) caſt in of their Abundance, but ſhe [f] of her want did caſt in all ſhe had, even all her Living; (i. e. her Livelihood for that day.)

a Ver. 4. Λιθοβολήσαντες ἐκεφαλαίωσε καὶ ἀπέστειλαν ἠτιμωμένον · Again, he sent to them another Servant, and at him they cast Stones, and wounded him in the Head, and sent him away shamefully treated.] That ἐκεφαλαίωσε here, cannot signifie, capite, i. e. vitâ eum mulctârunt, they Beheaded him, or took away his Life; but as St. Luke interprets it, τραυματίζοντες, they wounding him, ch. 20. 12. to wit, in the Head, cast him out of the Vineyard, is evident from the words following, They sent him away dishonoured, or shamefully treated: So in (a) Aristophanes δένειν τὸ κράταφον κεφαλαίῳ ῥάμνῳ, is to smite the Skull with a Blow upon the Head, or to strike one upon the Head with a Radish-root.

b Ver. 12. They knew that he spake this Parable, πρὸς αὐτούς· so Luke 20. 19. against them.] So λέγειν πρὸς αὐτόν, is to say what they could against him, Acts 23. 30. to kick πρὸς κέντρα, against the Pricks, Acts 26. 14. to fight πρὸς τὰς μεθοδίας, against the Machinations of Satan, Eph. 6. 11. to strive πρὸς τὴν ἁμαρτίαν, against Sin, Heb. 12. 4. to fight πρὸς υἱούς, against the Children of Ammon, Judg. 12. 3. to speak Error πρὸς Κύριον, against the Lord, Isa. 32. 6.

c Ver. 28. Καὶ εἷς τῶν γραμματέων, And one of the Scribes came; so Luke 20. 39. but Mat. 22. 35. εἷς ἐξ αὐτῶν νομικὸς, one of them being a Lawyer.] Now in this diversity of Words, there is no difference in Sense: For the Scribes were of two sorts, or had at the least two Offices; the one was to sit in the Chair of Moses, i. e. to read, and to interpret the Law of Moses to the People, Mat. 23. 2. the other was to expound, and deliver to the People the Traditions which they pretended to have received from their Forefathers: The first Name of Scribe they seem to have had from Ezra, who is so often stiled Γραμματεὺς, a Scribe of the Law of the Lord, Ezra 7. 12. Neh. 12. 36. who read in the Book of the Law, and expounded, Neh. 8. 2, 3, 4. They being also Teachers of the Traditions, which were called νόμιμα, or Laws; and binding these heavy Burthens upon the People, were thence called νομικοὶ: see the Note on Matth. 22. 23. And this Scribe is said to speak to Christ πειράζων, tempting him, or making an Experiment of his Wisdom, whether it was such as Fame reported, as the Queen of Sheba came, 1 King 10. 1. πειράσαι, to tempt King Solomon, i. e. to try whether his Wisdom was equal to the Fame she had heard of it.

Ver. 29. And Jesus answered, ὅτι πρώτη πασῶν τῶν ἐντολῶν, the first of all the Commandments is this, The Lord thy God is one God.] For this is necessary to be known, that we may worship him alone in opposition to all Heathen Gods, and own, that he alone is God, who is the Maker of Heaven and Earth. Here Woltzogenius objects, That this Lawyer having said, that there is one God, and that there is no other God besides him, our Lord acknowledges that he had answered wisely; whereas, he could not have given him this commendation, if he had been obliged to own him also as God, or to have owned a Trinity of Persons; as if he had not heard, that Thomas who held the Unity of the Godhead as much as any other Jew, yet stiles our Saviour, My Lord and my God, and is commended for his Faith, Joh. 20. 28, 29. and since all that assert a Trinity of Persons, do as unanimously assert an Unity of Essence, and of the Godhead, I know not why this Answer might not be commended by them; tho' perhaps our Saviour's Commendation might especially respect his prelation of the Love of God and our Neighbour to all burnt Offerings and Oblations; of which, see the Note on Mat. 22. 35. and of which, one of the Jews saith thus, The doing Acts of Beneficence, is more acceptable to God than all the Victims and Oblations which the Israelites offer on his Altar, he having said, I will have Mercy and not Sacrifice. Pirk. Eliezer, c. 16. p. 33.

e Ver. 36. Αὐτὸς γὰρ Δαβὶδ εἶπεν ἐν τῷ πνεύματι τῷ ἁγίῳ, For David himself said by the Holy Ghost, &c.] i. e. by a Divine Afflatus, or the Spirit of Prophesie; for, elsewhere we read, That God spake by the Mouth of David, Acts 1. 16.—4. 25. Nor is any one cited in the New Testament, as speaking by the Spirit, or by the Holy Ghost, who was not thus assisted by a Divine Afflatus; and this deserves to be noted by them who deny that the Psalms of David were writ by the Spirit of Prophecy.

f Ver. 44. Αὕτη ὁ ἐκ τοῦ ὑστερήσεως αὐτῆς πάντα ὅσα εἶχεν ἔβαλεν, ὅλον τὸν βίον αὐτῆς, But she of her Want did cast in all she had, even all her Living,] or all that she had to live upon that Day. Hence it appears, that a Person may be sometimes liberal, even in giving what he wanteth for himself, or being ready to expend in Works of Charity, ὑπὲρ δύναμιν, above what he can well spare, 2 Cor. 8. 2, 3. See here Grotius.

CHAP. XIII.

1. AND as he went out of the Temple, (his Diſciples came to him, to ſhew him the Buildings of the Temple, Matth. 24. 1. and) one of his Diſciples ſaith unto him, (in the Name of the reſt,) Maſter, ſee what manner of Stones, and what Buildings are here.

2. And Jeſus anſwering, ſaid to him, Seeſt thou theſe great Buildings? There ſhall not be left of them one Stone upon another, that ſhall not be thrown down, (or diſſolved.)

3. And as he ſat upon the Mount of Olives, over againſt the Temple, Peter, and James, and John, and Andrew, asked him privately, (i. e. apart, not from the reſt of his Diſciples, but from the Multitude,)

4. (Saying,) Tell us, (Maſter, Luke 21. 7.) when ſhall theſe things be? and what ſhall be the Sign when all theſe things ſhall be fulfilled?

5. And Jeſus anſwering them, began to ſay, Take heed leſt any Man deceive you;

6. For many ſhall come in my Name ſaying, I am Chriſt, and (by that pretence) ſhall deceive many:

7. And when ye ſhall heat of Wars and rumors of Wars, be ye not troubled; for ſuch things muſt needs be, but the end (of the Polity and Temple of the Jews) ſhall not be yet.

8. For Nation ſhall riſe againſt Nation, and Kingdom againſt Kingdom; and there ſhall be Earthquakes in divers places, and there ſhall be Famines and Troubles; (all) theſe (things) are (only) the beginnings of Sorrows (to them.)

9. But take heed to your ſelves; for (then) they ſhall deliver you up to Councils, and in the [a] Synagogues ye ſhall be beaten, and ye ſhall be brought before Rulers and Kings for my ſake, for a Teſtimony againſt (Gr. to) them, (that the Kingdom of God is come.)

10. And the Goſpel muſt firſt be publiſhed among all Nations, (before the end of theſe things.)

11. But when they ſhall (thus) lead you, and deliver you up (to theſe Rulers,) [b] take no thought before-hand what ye ſhall ſpeak, neither do ye premeditate; but whatſoever ſhall be given you in that hour, that ſpeak ye: for it is not ye that ſpeak (from your own Wiſdom,) but the Holy Ghoſt, (who teacheth you what to ſpeak.)

12. Now (at this time) the Brother ſhall betray the (his) Brother to Death, and the Father the Son, and the Children ſhall riſe up againſt their (believing) Parents, and ſhall cauſe them to be put to Death;

13. And ye ſhall be hated of all (ſorts of) Men for my Name's ſake, but (yet poſſeſs your Souls in patience, Luke 21. 19. for) he that ſhall endure to the end, the ſame ſhall be ſaved (out of this Calamity.)

14. But when ye ſhall ſee the Abomination of Deſolation, ſpoken of by Daniel the Prophet, (Chap. 9. 27.) ſtanding where it ought not, (i. e. the Roman Army compaſſing Jeruſalem, Luke 21. 20.) let him that readeth underſtand, (that her Deſolation draweth near, ibid. and) then, let them that be in Judea flee to the Mountains (of Perœa;)

15. And (then) let him that is on the Houſe-top, not go down into the Houſe, neither enter therein to take any thing out of his Houſe:

16. And let him that is in the Field, (and hath laid aſide his Garment,) not turn back again to take up his Garment; (i. e. let not your regard for your Cloaths, or Goods, cauſe you to delay your Flight, but do it with your utmoſt expedition.)

17. But woe to them that are with Child, and to them that give Suck in thoſe Days (of Vengeance, Luke 21. 22. and ſo are not in a condition to fly from it.)

18. And [c] pray ye that your Flight be not in the Winter, (when the Ways be ſcarce paſſable:)

19. For in thoſe Days ſhall be Affliction, (even) ſuch as was not from the beginning of the Creation, which God created to this time, neither ſhall be (afterwards, ſo that ye cannot hope to eſcape without hazard.)

20. And except that the Lord had ſhortned thoſe Days, no Fleſh ſhould be ſaved, but [d] for the Elect's (i. e. the Chriſtians) ſake, whom he hath choſen (out of the World,) he hath ſhortned the (ſe) Days (of Vengeance.)

21. And then, if any Man ſhall ſay to you, Lo here is Chriſt, or lo, he is there, believe him not;

22. For falſe Chriſts and falſe Prophets ſhall riſe, and ſhall ſhew Signs and Wonders to ſeduce, if (it were) poſſible (or if they can) the very Elect.

23. But (therefore) take ye heed; behold, I have foretold you all (theſe) things.

24. But in thoſe Days, after that Tribulation (of which I have ſpoken,) the Sun ſhall be darkned, and the Moon ſhall not give her light.

25. And the Stars of Heaven ſhall fall, and the Powers that are in (or the Hoſts of) Heaven ſhall be ſhaken; (i. e. the Diſſolution of their Government in Church and State, by the Zealots, ſhall be a Sign of their approaching ruin, Luke 21. 25.)

26. And

26. And then ſhall they ſee the Son of Man coming in the Clouds with great Power and Glory (μετ' δυνάμεως πολλῆς καὶ δόξης, with a great and glorious Hoſt, viz. the Roman Army:)

27. And then ſhall he ſend his Angels, (the Meſſengers of the Goſpel,) and (they) ſhall gather together his Elect (among the Gentiles,) from the four Winds, from the utmoſt parts of the Earth to the utmoſt part of Heaven; (i. e. from one end of the Earth to the other.)

28. Now learn a Parable of (from) the Fig-tree; (for) when her Branch is yet tender, and putteth-forth Leaves, ye know that Summer is near:

29. So ye in like manner, when ye ſhall ſee theſe things come to paſs, know that it, (viz. the Deſolation I ſpeak of,) is nigh, even at the Doors.

30. Verily I ſay to you, That this Generation ſhall not paſs (away) till all theſe things be done.

31. Heaven and Earth ſhall paſs away; but my Words ſhall not paſs away (unperformed;)

32. [c] But of that Day and that Hour knoweth no Man, no not the Angels which are in Heaven; neither the Son, (who hath the Spirit without meaſure,) but the Father (only.) e

33. Take ye heed, watch and pray; for ye know not when the time is (to be:)

34. For the Son of Man is, (theſe words are not in the Original, and ſo this Verſe may begin thus: And in this Exhortation to watch, I act) as a Man, taking a far Journey, who left his Houſe, (Gr. as a travelling Man leaving his Houſe,) and gave (Gr. giving) authority to his Servants, and to every Man his Work, and (who) commanded the Porter, (as I do you,) to Watch:

35. Watch ye therefore, for ye know not when the Maſter of the Houſe cometh, at Even, or at Midnight, or at the Cock crowing, or in the Morning,

36. Leſt coming ſuddenly, he find you ſleeping, (and therefore unprepared for his Advent.)

37. And, what I ſay to you, I ſay to all (my Diſciples, i. e.) Watch.

Annotations on Chap. XIII.

a Ver. 9. Καὶ εἰς συναγωγὰς δαρήσεσθε, And ye ſhall be beaten in the Synagogues.] It is certain both from the Scripture and the Jewiſh Writers, that whipping and the Rebels-beating, were Puniſhments uſed in the Synagogues of the Jews. Thus Paul ſaith, he puniſhed the Chriſtians κατὰ πάσας τὰς συναγωγὰς, throughout all the Synagogues, Acts 26. 11. and that he did beat in the Synagogues thoſe that believed, ch. 22. 19. and that it was uſual to whip both their Wiſe Men and their Diſciples, when they had done perverſly in their Synagogues, is fully proved by Campegius Vitringa de Synag. Vet. Lib. 3. c. 11.

b Ver. 11. Μὴ προμεριμνᾶτε τί λαλήσητε, μηδὲ μελετᾶτε, ἀλλ' ὃ ἐὰν δοθῇ ὑμῖν ἐν ἐκείνῃ τῇ ὥρᾳ τοῦτο λαλεῖτε· οὐ γάρ ἐστε ὑμεῖς οἱ λαλοῦντες ἀλλὰ τὸ πνεῦμα τὸ ἅγιον, But when they ſhall lead you (before,) and deliver you up (to theſe Rulers, ver. 9.) take no thought before-hand, what you ſhall ſpeak, neither do ye premeditate; but whatſoever ſhall be given you in that hour, that ſpeak ye; (for I will give you a Mouth and Wiſdom, which all your Adverſaries ſhall not be able to gain-ſay, Luke 21. 14, 15.] From theſe two places collated together, it is evident, (1.) That this Promiſe is peculiar to the Apoſtles, to whom alone Chriſt here diſcourſeth: And, (2.) That it belongs to them alone, when they were brought before Kings and Rulers, to plead the cauſe of Chriſt, and leave before them a Teſtimony of the Truth of it, Matth. 10. 18. and therefore there can be nothing more ridiculous, than the Quakers applying this to their extemporary Effuſions, their ſenſeleſs Prayers and Harangues; of which it cannot, without Blaſphemy, be ſaid, It is not you that ſpeak, but the Holy Ghoſt ſpeaketh in you; ſeeing, if ſo, all their fooliſh and ignorant Harangues, muſt be as ſacred, and as worthy to be preſerved as the inſpired Scriptures.

Ver. 18. Προσεύχεσθε δὲ ἵνα μὴ γένηται ἡ φυγὴ ὑμῶν χειμῶνος, Pray therefore, that your Flight may not be in the Winter.] Hence it ſeems plain, that even when Tribulations come by the decree of God, the Circumſtances of them may be mitigated by our Prayers. See the Note on Matth. 24. 20. c

Ver. 20. Ἀλλὰ διὰ τοὺς ἐκλεκτοὺς οὓς ἐξελέξατο, ἐκολόβωσε τὰς ἡμέρας, But for his Elect's ſake, whom he hath choſen out (of the World,) he hath ſhortned thoſe Days.] That in the New Teſtament, all Chriſtians called to the knowledge and belief of the Faith, are ſtiled the Elect, as being γένος ἐκλεκτὸν, a choſen Generation; ſee the Note on 1 Pet. 2. 9. Theſe are the Elect our Saviour ſpeaks of, when he ſaith, Many are called, but few are choſen, Matth. 20. 16. And, Shall he not hear his Elect, which cry unto him day and night? Luke 18. 7. and this was alſo the Phraſeology of the Primitive Chriſtians: Thus (a) Clemens tells the Corinthians, that their Sedition was ἀλλοτρία καὶ ξένη τοῖς ἐκλεκτοῖς τοῦ Θεοῦ, alien from, and ſtrange to the Elect of d e Ver. 32. Περὶ δὲ τῆς ἡμέρας ἐκείνης, καὶ τῆς ὥρας, οὐδεὶς οἶδεν, οὐδὲ οἱ ἄγγελοι, οὐδὲ ὁ υἱός, εἰ μὴ ὁ πατήρ· But of that Day and Hour knoweth no Man, neither the Angels which are in Heaven, nor the Son, but the Father. Matth. 24. 36. but my Father only.] I dare not here ſay with St. Ambroſe, l. 5. de fide, c. 8. that theſe Words were added by the Arians, ſeeing I find them owned by Irenæus l. 2. c. 48. and by Origen in Matth. Hom. 30. F. 64. A. but for Explication of them, note,

(a) §. 1.

God; and exhorts them to come to God with holy Souls, lifting up pure Hands to him, and loving our kind and merciful Father, ὃς ἡμᾶς ἐκλογῆς μέρος ἐποίησεν ἑαυτῷ, who hath made us a part of his Election. (b) Ignatius writes to the Church of Epheſus, ἐκλεγεῖσα, elected; and the Author of the Martyrdom of Polycarp ſaith, the common People admired the Difference there was (c) μεταξὺ τῶν ἀπίστων καὶ τῶν ἐκλεκτῶν, betwixt the Heathens and the Chriſtians: And among the Aphoriſms of the Apoſtle, this is one, ἐὰν ἐκλέκτου ὁ γείτων ἁμαρτήσῃ ἥμαρτεν ὁ ἐκλεκτός, If the Neighbour of the Chriſtian hath ſinned, he hath ſinned alſo.

1*ſt*, That theſe words περὶ δὲ τῆς ὥρας ἐκείνης, of that Day and Hour, may refer, not to the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem, but, as the Fathers generally thought, to the immediate precedent words, Heaven and Earth ſhall paſs away, but of that Day and Hour when they ſhall paſs away, none knoweth but the Father. Note,

2*dly*, That ὁ υἱὸς here, is Chriſt, conſidered as the Prophet ſent into the World to reveal his Father's Will; and therefore, as delivering to the World not what the λόγος knew or taught, but what the Spirit of God revealed to him, according to his frequent Declarations concerning himſelf, That he ſpake nothing of himſelf, but the Father which ſent him gave him commandment what he ſhould ſay, and what he ſhould ſpeak, John 12. 49. My Doctrine is not mine, but his that ſent me, ch. 7. 16. The Word which I ſpeak, I ſpeak not of my ſelf, but the Father which abideth in me, ch. 14. 10. The Father loveth the Son, and ſheweth him all that he doth, John 5. 20. which by the Baptiſt ſeems to be expounded thus, He that is of God ſpeaketh the words of God; for the Father giveth not him the Spirit by meaſure; for the Father loveth the Son, and hath put all things (relating to the revelation of his Will,) into his hands, John 3. 34, 35. Tho' therefore he revealed this Doctrine as the Son of Man, as the nature of the Prophetick Office abſolutely required, yet is he placed here, as to his knowledge of the Mind of God, deſervedly above the Angels, as being by this Spirit reſiding in him without meaſure, more fully acquainted with the Mind of God than they; and yet, ſaith he, the knowledge of this Day and Hour being no part of my Prophetick Office; even I, the Son of Man, know it not, it being one of thoſe Times and Seaſons which the Father hath put in his own power, Acts 1. 7. Excellent to this purpoſe are the Words of Dr. Lightfoot on this Place: (1.) " It is one thing to underſtand the Son " of God barely, and abſtractly for the ſe- " cond Perſon in the Holy Trinity; another " to underſtand him for the Meſſias, or the " ſecond Perſon incarnate. To ſay that the " ſecond Perſon in the Trinity knows not " ſomething, is blaſphemous; to ſay ſo of " the Meſſias is not ſo, who nevertheleſs " was the ſame with the ſecond Perſon in " the Trinity. For although the ſecond " Perſon abſtractly conſidered according to " his mere Deity, was co-equal with the Fa- " ther, co-omnipotent, co-omniſcient, co-eter- " nal with him, &c. yet Meſſias, who was " God-Man, conſidered as Meſſias, was a " Servant, and a Meſſenger of the Father, " and received Commands and Authority " from the Father: And thoſe Expreſſions, " The Son can do nothing of himſelf, &c. will " not in the leaſt ſerve the Arian's turn, if " you take them in this ſenſe, which you " muſt neceſſarily do; Meſſias can do no- " thing of himſelf, becauſe he is a Servant " and a Deputy. (2.) We muſt diſtinguiſh " between the Excellencies and Perfections " of Chriſt, which flowed from the Hypo- " ſtatical Union of the two Natures, and " thoſe which flowed from the Donation " and Anointing of the Holy Spirit. From " the Hypoſtatical Union of the Natures, " flowed the infinite Dignity of his Perſon, " his impeccability, his infinite Self-ſuffi- " ciency to perform the Law, and ſatisfie " the Divine Juſtice. From the Anointing " of the Spirit, flowed his Power of Miracles, " his Fore-knowledge of things to come, and " and all kind of Knowledge of Evangelick " Myſteries: Thoſe rendred him a fit and " perfect Redeemer, theſe a fit and perfect " Miniſter of the Goſpel.

Now therefore, the Fore-knowledge of things to come, of which the Diſcourſe here is, is to be numbred among thoſe things which flowed from the Anointing of the Holy Ghoſt, and from immediate Revelation; not from the Hypoſtatick Union of the Natures; ſo that thoſe things which were revealed by Chriſt to his Church, he had them from the Revelation of the Spirit, not from that Union: Nor is it any derogation or detraction from the Dignity of his Perſon, that he ſaith, He knew not that Day and Hour of the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem: Yea, it excellently agrees with his Office and

CHAP. XIV.

1. AFTER two days was the Feaſt of the Paſſover, and of unleavened Bread; and (then) the Chief Prieſts, and the Scribes, ſought how they might take him by craft, and put him to Death.

2. But they ſaid, (let) not (this be done) on the Feaſt-day, leſt there be an Uproar of the People.

3. And (he) being in Bethany, in the Houſe of Simon (formerly) the Leper, as he a ſat at Meat, [a] there came a Woman having an Alabaſter-box of Ointment of Spikenard, very precious, and ſhe brake (or ſhook) the Box (of Ointment,) and (then) poured it on his Head:

4. And there were ſome that had Indignation within themſelves (at this which the Woman had done,) and ſaid, Why was this waſte of the Ointment made?

5. For it might have been ſold for more than three hundred Pence, and (the Money might) have been given to the Poor; and they murmured againſt her.

6. And (but) Jeſus ſaid, let her alone, Why trouble ye her (without cauſe?) ſhe hath (in doing this) wrought a good work on me.

7. For ye have the Poor (for whom ye pretend ſo much kindneſs) with you always, and whenſoever you will you may do them good; but me ye have not always, (my Departure from you being at hand, which will cut off all farther opportunity of ſhewing kindneſs to my Body.)

8. She hath done what ſhe could, (to teſtifie her Affection to me; for) ſhe is come aforehand to anoint my Body (in order) to the burying (of it; nor ſhall her charity be loſt; for,)

9. Verily I ſay to you, whereſoever this Goſpel ſhall be preached, (as I aſſure you it will be) throughout the whole World, this alſo that ſhe hath done ſhall be ſpoken of, for a Memorial of her.

10. And (then) Judas Iſcariot, one of the Twelve, went to the Chief Prieſts, to betray him to them;

11. And when they heard it, they were glad, and promiſed to give him Money (for ſo doing, covenanting with him for thirty Shekels;) and (upon this Promiſe) he ſought how he might conveniently betray him.

12. And (on) the firſt day of unleavened Bread, when they killed the Paſſover, his Diſciples ſaid to him, Where wilt thou that we go and prepare (for thee,) that thou mayeſt eat the Paſſover?

13. And he ſendeth forth two of his Diſciples, and ſaith to them, Go ye into the City, and (when you are come into it) there ſhall meet you a Man bearing a Pitcher of Water; follow him:

14. And whereſoever he ſhall go in (go ye in after him, and) ſay ye to the good Man, (the Maſter) of the Houſe, The Maſter ſaith, Where is the Gueſt-chamber, where I ſhall (may) eat the Paſſover with my Diſciples?

15. And he will ſhew you a large upper Room furniſhed and prepared; (Gr. a great upper Room ſtrowed, ready to receive Gueſts,) there (ſhall ye) make ready for us.

16. And his Diſciples went forth (from Bethany, v. 3.) and came into the City, and found as he had ſaid to them, and they made ready the Paſſover.

17. And in the Evening he cometh with the Twelve (to eat of it.)

18. And as they ſat, and did eat, Jeſus ſaid, Verily I ſay to you, one of you who eateth with me (in the Diſh) ſhall betray me.

19. And they began to be ſorrowful, and to ſay to him one by one (ſeverally) is it I? and another, Is it I?

20. And he anſwered and ſaid to them, it is one of the Twelve, (he) that (now) dippeth with me in the Diſh; (Matth. 26. 23.)

21. (Now) The Son of Man indeed goeth (to ſuffer,) as it is written of him, but (yet) woe to that Man by whom the Son of Man is betrayed; good were it for that Man, if he had never been born, (it being better not to be, than to be miſerable for ever.)

22. And as they did eat, Jeſus took Bread, and bleſſed (it,) and brake (it,) and gave (it) to them, and ſaid, Take, eat, this is my Body (given for you;)

23. And he took the Cup, and when he had given thanks (over it,) he gave it to them; and they all drank of it;

24. And he ſaid to them, This is (the Memorial of) my Blood, (that Blood) of the New Teſtament, (or Covenant) which is ſhed for many.

25. Verily I ſay to you, [b] I will drink no b more of the Fruit of the Vine, until that day that I drink it new in the Kingdom of God, (i. e. till after my Reſurrection.)

26. And

c 26. And when they had ſung an [c] Hymn, they went to the Mount of Olives.

27. And Jeſus ſaith to them, All ye ſhall be offended becauſe of (or ſcandalized in) me this Night; for (it will be as) it is written, (Zach. 13. 7.) I will ſmite the Shepherd, and the Sheep ſhall be ſcattered.

28. But after that I am riſen, I will go before you into Galilee.

29. But Peter ſaid to him, altho' all ſhall be offended (at thy Paſſion,) yet will not I (be offended.)

30. And Jeſus ſaith to him, Verily I ſay to thee, this day, even in this night, before the Cock crow twice, thou ſhalt deny me thrice:

31. But he ſpake the more vehemently, if I ſhould die with thee, I will not deny thee in any wiſe; likewiſe alſo ſaid they all.

32. And they came to a place which was named Gethſemane, and he ſaith to his Diſciples, Sit ye here while I ſhall pray;

33. And he taketh with him Peter, and James, and John, and began to be ſore amazed, and to be very heavy.

34. And (he) ſaith to them, my Soul is exceeding ſorrowful unto Death, Tarry ye here, and watch.

35. And he went forward a little, and fell on the Ground, and prayed that if it were poſſible, the hour (of his preſent Temptation) might paſs from him.

36. And he ſaid, Abba, (that is) Father, all things are poſſible to thee, take away this Cup from me; nevertheleſs not what I will, but what thou wilt (be done.)

37. And he cometh, and findeth them ſleeping, and ſaith to Peter, Simon, ſleepeſt thou (after all thy Confidence?) couldſt not thou watch one hour?

38. Watch ye and pray, leſt ye enter into Temptation; (for) the Spirit truly is (may be) ready (to make good Reſolutions,) but the Fleſh is weak, (and ſo unable to perform them without that Divine Aſſiſtance, which is to be obtained by Prayer, and improved by Vigilance.)

39. And again he went away, and prayed, and ſpake the ſame words;

40. And when he returned, he found them aſleep again; for their Eyes were heavy, neither wiſt they what to anſwer him;

41. And he cometh the third time, and ſaith to them, ſleep on now and take your reſt, it is enough, (ἀπέχει the time of watching is now paſt) the hour is come (in which I ſhall be apprehended,) Behold the Son of Man is betrayed into the Hands of Sinners:

42. Riſe up, let us go, lo, he that betrayeth me is at hand.

43. And immediately, while he yet ſpake, cometh Judas, one of the Twelve, and with him a great Multitude, with Swords and Staves, from the Chief Prieſts, and the Scribes and the Elders.

44. And he that betrayed him, had given them a Token, ſaying, whomſoever I ſhall kiſs, that ſame is he, [d] take him, and lead him away ſafely. d

45. And as ſoon as he was come, he goeth ſtraightway to him, and ſaith, Maſter, Maſter, and kiſſed him:

46. And (then) they laid their Hands on him, and took him.

47. And [e] one of them that ſtood by, (namely Peter,) drew a Sword, and ſmote a Servant of the High-Prieſt, and cut off his Ear. e

48. And Jeſus anſwered, (i. e. ſpake with relation to their manner of coming thus to apprehend him,) and ſaid to them, Are ye come out as againſt a Thief, with Swords and with Staves, to take me?

49. I was daily with you in the Temple teaching, and (then) ye took me not, but (now ye are permitted to do it, becauſe) the Scriptures (which foretold my Sufferings) muſt be fulfilled.

50. And (having ſaid this,) they (who were with him) all forſook him, and fled.

51. And there followed him a certain [f] young Man having a linen Cloth caſt about his naked Body, and the young Men laid hold on him; f

52. And he left the linen Cloth (in their Hands,) and fled from them naked.

53. And they led Jeſus away to the [g] High-Prieſt, and with him were aſſembled all the Chief Prieſts, and the Elders, and the Scribes. g

54. And Peter followed him afar off, even to the Palace of the High-Prieſt, and he ſat with the Servants, and warmed himſelf at the Fire.

55. And the Chief Prieſts and all the Council [h] ſought for Witneſs againſt Jeſus, to put him to Death, and (but) found none (that could teſtifie any thing capital againſt him.) h

56. For many bare falſe Witneſs againſt him, but their Witneſs agreed not together, (Gr. their Teſtimony was not ſufficient to render him guilty of Death.)

57. And there aroſe certain (Men,) and bare falſe Witneſs againſt him, ſaying,

58. We have heard him ſay, I will deſtroy this Temple made with Hands, and within three days I will build another made without Hands.

59. But neither ſo did their Witneſs agree together; (i. e. their Teſtimony did not amount to a capital Crime.)

60. And the High-Prieſt ſtood up in the midſt, and asked Jeſus, ſaying, Anſwereſt thou nothing? What is it (of no concern) that theſe (Men) witneſs againſt thee?

61. But

61. But he held his peace, and anſwered nothing. Again the High-Prieſt asked him, and ſaid to him, Art thou the Chriſt, the Son of the Bleſſed (God?)

i 62. And Jeſus ſaid, [i] I am; and (within a while, Matth. 26. 64.) ye ſhall ſee the Son of Man ſitting on the right Hand of Power, and coming in the Clouds of Heaven.

63. Then the High-Prieſt rent his Clothes, and ſaith, What need we any farther Witneſſes?

64. Ye have heard the Blaſphemy (he now ſpeaks,) what think ye? And they all condemned him to be guilty of Death (for it.)

65. And (then) ſome began to ſpit on him, and to cover his Face, and to buffet him, and to ſay to him, Propheſie (who it is that ſmites thee;) and the (very) Servants did ſtrike him with the Palms of their Hands.

66. And as Peter was beneath in the Palace, there cometh one of the Maids of the High-Prieſt;

67. And when ſhe ſaw Peter warming himſelf, ſhe looked upon him, and ſaid, And thou alſo waſt with Jeſus of Nazareth;

68. But he denied (it,) ſaying, I know not (the Man,) neither underſtand I what thou ſayeſt; and he went out into the Porch, and the Cock crew.

69. And a Maid ſaw him again, and began to ſay to them that ſtood by, (what one of them ſaid to him,) This is one of them (that were with Jeſus.)

70. And he denied it again: And a little after, they that ſtood by ſaid again to Peter, Surely thou art one of them, for thou art a Galilean, and thy Speech agreeth thereunto, (or is like thoſe of Galilee.)

71. But he (upon this) began to (imprecate a) Curſe (upon himſelf,) and to ſwear, (ſaying with an Oath,) I know not this Man of whom ye ſpeak:

72. And (then) the ſecond time the Cock crew, and Peter (upon that) called to mind the Word that Jeſus ſaid to him, (viz.) before the Cock crow twice, thou ſhalt deny me thrice; and when he [k] thought thereon, (or ruſhing forth from the Company,) he wept (bitterly.) k

a Ver. 3. Ἦλθε γυνὴ ἔχουσα ἀλάβαστρον μύρου, νάρδου πιστικῆς πολυτίμου, καὶ συντρίψασα τὸ ἀλάβαστρον κατέχεεν αὐτοῦ κατὰ τῆς κεφαλῆς· There came a Woman having an Alabaſter Box of Ointment of Spikenard, very precious, and ſhe brake the Box, and poured it upon his Head.] Either the word πιστικὴ anſwers to the Syriack Piſtbaca, and then it may be rendred Nardus ſpicata, or Ointment made of the Spikes of Nard; or if it be of a Greek Original, I think Theophylact well renders it, πιστικὴ ἤ ἀδόλῳ καὶ μετὰ πίστεως κατασκευασθεῖσα, that is, (†) Nard unadulterated, and faithfully prepared, the great price it carried, tempting many to adulterate it, as Dioſcorides, and Pliny tell us, according to theſe words of (*) Vadianus, Dignum autem cognitu quod, lib. 13. Plinius tradit, viz. Novem herbarum ſpecies eſſe quæ nardum imitentur, & adulterent. Unde intelligimus in tanta fraudis materia uſum loquendi obtinuiſſe, ut piſtica nardus diceretur, quæ ſincera & abſque vitio eſſet, ἀπὸ τῆς πίστεως, à fide, & plane ἀδόλῳ, hoc eſt germana & nulla arte vitiata. Moreover it is the Conjecture of Dr. Hammond, that συντρίψασα here ſignifies, not to break the Alabaſter, that being not eaſily done, but to ſhake it, to liquifie the Ointment, and make it fitter to run out; the old Gloſſary rendring συντρίβω, conquatio. Now Mr. Cl. owns that the word doth not always ſignifie to break, but when the Diſcourſe is about a Veſſel that may be broken; he ſaith it muſt ſo ſignifie; as if a Veſſel might not be ſhaken, as well as broken, or the Veſſel might not be put for the Ointment in it, it being that which was poured out on Chriſt's Head; or elſe the Veſſel might be only broke, as we break a Flask, by ſtriking off the Head of it, and then we may eaſily perceive how, after it was thus broke, the Ointment might be poured on his Head.

b Ver. 25. Οὐκέτι οὐ μὴ πίω ἐκ τοῦ γενήματος τῆς ἀμπέλου, ἕως τῆς ἡμέρας ἐκείνης ὅταν αὐτὸ πίνω καινὸν ἐν τῇ βασιλείᾳ τοῦ Θεοῦ· Henceforth I will not drink of the Fruit of the Vine, till the day that I drink it new with you in the Kingdom of God.] Hence may we argue thus againſt the Doctrine of Tranſubſtantiation, That which, after Conſecration, remains the Fruit of the Vine, is not ſubſtantially changed into the Blood of Chriſt; therefore that which Chriſt gave the Apoſtles to drink, was not ſubſtantially changed into his Blood: The conſequence is evident, becauſe Chriſt calls that which he gave them to drink, the Fruit of the Vine; for that Chriſt ſpake this after the Conſecration of the Elements, St. Matthew and Mark unanimouſly teſtifie, nor doth St. Luke contradict them, but only ſaith, our Lord ſpake this alſo after the giving of the Paſchal Cup. Nor can St. Matthew or St. Mark be underſtood of any Cup, but of that which they only mention; now they make mention only only of the Cup given at the Euchariſt, and therefore can be only underſtood of that. Hence doth the R. Catechiſm inform us, that from theſe words, I will not drink of the Fruit of the Vine, the Catholick Church hath always taught that our Lord uſed Wine in the Inſtitution of this Sacrament; which yet ſhe could not teach from theſe words, unleſs they were ſpoken of the ſacramental Cup, ſeeing the accidents of Wine, without the Subject, cannot be called the Fruit of the Vine. And ſeeing Wine is ſtiled αἷμα σαφυλῆς, the Blood of the Grape, Deut. 32. 14. and by the Heathens αἷμα βοτρύων, Achill. Tatius l. 2. why may it not by a like Metaphor be ſtiled Chriſt's Blood? Moreover, the Ancient Fathers from theſe words confuted the Hereſie of the Encratitæ, or Aquarians, who conſecrated only Water at the Celebration of the Sacrament; declaring that by theſe words our Saviour ſhewed the thing which had been bleſſed was Wine, and therefore was carnis potus, the drink of the Fleſh, ſaith Irenæus. Now had not the ſacramental Cup after the Conſecration remained Wine, this Argument could have had no force, ſince then the Orthodox could no more have drank it in the Euchariſt, than the Aquarii. See Iren. l. 5. c. 33. Clem. Alex. Pædag. l. 2. c. 2. p. 158. Chryſoſt. Hom. in Matth. 26. p. 511. Theodoret. dial. 1. p. 17, 18. and many others cited by Albert. l. 1. de Euch. c. 17. p. 112.

The following words, till I drink it new with you in the Kingdom of God, are by St. Luke thus varied, till the Kingdom of God come, Chap. 22. 18. or until it be fulfilled in the Kingdom of God; and therefore only ſeem to ſignifie, till I riſe again from the Dead; for the Kingdom of God here, and the Kingdom of the Father in St. Matthew, being certainly the ſame, viz. the Kingdom, and the Power given to Chriſt, for the exerciſe of his Kingly Office, being given to him of the Father, when one of theſe is come, the other muſt be come alſo. Now (1.) Chriſt calling the Jews to Repentance, becauſe the Kingdom of God was near, Mark 1. 15. upbraiding the Scribes and Phariſees becauſe they ſuffered Publicans and Harlots to enter into the Kingdom of God before them, Matth. 21. 31. and threatning that the Kingdom of God ſhould be taken from them, and given to other Nations, Matth. 21. 43. (2.) The Jews expecting then the Kingdom of God, Mar. 15. 43. and thinking it ſhould ſuddenly appear, Luke 19. 11. and enquiring of him when it ſhould come, Luke 17. 20. and ſpeaking of eating Bread with him in it, Luke 14. 15. and wiſhing Proſperity to it, as then coming, Mark 11. 10. (3.) Chriſt having told them that the Kingdom of God was near, Luke 11. 2, 20. that it was to come to them, Matth. 12. 28. that it was among them, Luke 17. 21. that ſome of them ſhould not die, till they ſaw the Son of Man coming in his Kingdom, Matth. 16. 28. that is, till they ſaw the Kingdom of God, Luke 9. 27. till they ſaw the Kingdom of God come with Power, Mark 9. 1. and having ſpoken ſo many Parables relating to this Kingdom of God, or State of the Goſpel, Mark 4. 30. Luke 13. 18, 20. And laſtly, the Doctrine which he preached being the Goſpel of the Kingdom of God, Mark 1. 14. the Word of the Kingdom, Matth. 13. 19. the Myſtery of the Kingdom of God, Mark 4. 11. the preaching of it being the preaching the Kingdom of God, Luke 4. 43. — 8. 1. — 9. 2, 11, 60. — 16. 16. Chriſt alſo after his Reſurrection ſpeaking to his Apoſtles of the things relating to the Kingdom of God, Acts 1. 3. and they preaching to others the things belonging to the Kingdom of God, Acts 8. 12. — 19. 8. — 20. 25. — 28. 23, 31. exhorting their Hearers to enter into the Kingdom of God, Acts 14. 22. and telling Believers, they were tranſlated into the Kingdom of God, Coloſſ. 13. On theſe accounts, I ſay, I cannot think this Kingdom of God ſhould ſignifie Heaven, or the Happineſs then and there to be enjoyed, but rather the Goſpel State, and the Kingdom of Chriſt erected at his Reſurrection, and more completely begun when he ſat down at the right Hand of Power, and was made Heir of all things. To drink this Wine new, is, by the Interpretation of St. Luke, to do it when it was fulfilled in the Kingdom of God, v. g. when Chriſt our Paſſover was ſacrificed for us, 1 Cor. 5. 7. and when that Blood of the new Covenant which was repreſented by the Wine, was actually ſhed, and a new Feaſt was inſtituted in Commemoration of it; and if you yet inquire, when did Chriſt thus drink this Wine with them? I anſwer, he did it, not ſo much by eating and drinking with his Diſciples after he aroſe from the Dead, Acts 10. 41. for that drinking could have no relation either to the Paſchal, or the Sacramental Cup; as by fulfilling the Promiſe made to them, Luke 22. 29, 30. I diſpoſe to you a Kingdom, as my Father hath done to me, and ye ſhall eat and drink with me at my Table in my Kingdom; for in what ſenſe ſoever they are here ſaid to drink with him at his Table, he alſo muſt be ſaid to drink with them.

Ver. 26. Ὑμνήσαντες, And when they had ſung an Hymn they went forth.] The Evangeliſt may well be ſuppoſed to intend ſuch an Hymn as was cuſtomarily ſung at the Paſſover; for if Chriſt had begun a new, and unuſual Hymn, his Diſciples could not have told how to ſing with him: Now the uſual Hymn ſung on the night of the Paſſover, began at Pſal. 113. and ended at Pſal. 118. in which Hymns, as the Jews obſerve, are mentioned, the Sorrows of the Meſſiah, and the Reſurrection of the Dead. So Dr. Lightfoot. c

Ver. 44. Κρατήσατε αὐτὸν, Hold him faſt, and lead him away ſecurely.] It is probable that Judas thought they could not do this, but that as Jeſus had at other times conveighed himſelf from d from the Multitude, when they attempted to cast him down a Precipice, Luke 4. 30. or to stone him, John 8. 59. — 10. 39. so he would have done now. And when he found that he did not thus rescue himself, he repented, and went and hanged himself, Mat. 27. 5.

e Ver. 47. Εἷς δέ τις τ̃ παρεστηκότων σπασάμενος τ̃ μάχαιραν, And one that stood by drew a Sword;] Viz. Simon Peter, John 18. 10. Hence, saith Beza, the Ancients may be confuted, who with so great consent say that Mark writ this Gospel from the Mouth of Peter, for why should Peter deny his Name, who speaks so fully of his Denial of his Lord? I answer, so doth St. Matthew and St. Luke speak as plainly of his Denial, and yet both conceal his Name who drew the Sword. (2.) The Ancients only say that Mark wrote his Gospel at the Desire of others, Peter neither forbidding nor commanding it to be done; and that it being done, he did κυρῶσαι τ̃ γραφὴν εἰς ἐνδειξιν τ̃ ἐκκλησίας, confirm the reading it in the Churches. Euseb. Hist. Eccles. l. 2. c. 15. l. 6. c. 14.

f Ver. 51. Καὶ εἷς τις νεανίσκος ἠκολούθει αὐτῷ, And there followed him a certain young Man, &c.] Epiphanius and St. Jerom think this young Man was James the Brother of our Lord, but he had forsook him and fled, v. 50. and we read nothing of his return. St. Chrysostom, Ambrose, and Gregory, say he was John, but John testifies, Chap. 18. 15, 16. that he went into the High-Priest's Hall, and brought in Peter, how then can it be likely he should fly naked away? Note also that those words, he fled away naked, need not be so understood as if he had no Garment, but only so, as that he had a linen Garment left. And so Dionysius Alexandrinus saith of himself, ἤμην γυμνὸς ἐν τῷ λινῷ ἐνδύματι, I was naked, having only on a linen Garment. Apud Euseb. Hist. Eccl. l. 6. c. 40. See the Note on John 21. 7.

g Ver. 53. Καὶ ἀπήγαγον αὐτὸν πρὸς τ̃ ἀρχιερέα, And they brought him to the High-Priest;] That is, to Caiaphas, Matth. 26. 57. for tho' it be evident from John 18. 13, 14. that he was first brought to Annas, yet because there was nothing done to him there, and he seems only to be detained there till the Council met at the House of Caiaphas, was ready for him, the other Evangelists pass that over in Silence.

h Ver. 55, 56. Ἐζήτουν κατὰ τ̃ Ἰησοῦ μαρτυρίαν εἰς τὸ θανατῶσαι αὐτὸν, καὶ οὐχ ηὕρισκον, πολλοὶ γὰρ ἐψευδομαρτύρουν κατ' αὐτοῦ, καὶ ἴσαι αἱ μαρτυρίαι οὐκ ἦσαν, They sought for Witness against him to put him to Death, and found none; for many bare false Witness against him, but their Witness agreed not together.] If they had many false Witnesses, it cannot be true that they found no Witness against him. This latter Clause therefore, and the like, v. 59. should be rendred, their Testimonies were not equal, viz. to the Charge laid against him, that he was worthy to die, or they were not sufficient, εἰς τὸ θανατῶσαι αὐτὸν, to cause him to be put to Death, either not testifying two of the same thing, or else not charging him with a Crime that deserved Death by the Law. For a vain glorious Boast of destroying the Temple could not be capital, especially being attended with a Promise of rebuilding it in three days.

Ver. 62. Ἐγώ εἰμὶ, I am he.] The Answer, i Matth. 26. 62. Σὺ εἶπας, i. e. I am what thou hast said, is the same, for these two Phrases are of equal import in the Hebrew Idiom; so that we need not here St. Austin's Subtilty, viz. non ego dico, sed tu ais.

Ver. 72. Ἐπιβαλὼν ἔκλαιε, And when he k thought thereon he wept.] I think this reading may be maintained, for tho' Casaubon gave no instance of this Signification of the word, Constantine proves out of Philoponus, Dionysius, and St. Basil, that it signifies καταναοεῖν, mente agitare, to consider of, and ponder, or fix the Mind upon a thing. So Eustathius says, ἐπιβάλλει γέν τις νοήματι, ἢ ἔργῳ, ἦγουν ἠρεμαίως ἐγχειρεῖ, καὶ ἐμπύκνως νοεῖ· the word ἐπιβάλλω respects either the Action, and then it signifies exactly to take it in hand; or the Mind, and then it signifies, to consider of it as we are able; or as Phavorinus interprets it, ἐπιβόλως νοεῖν, aptly, and wisely to consider of it. So again, ἐπιβάλλει τις, saith Phavorinus, ἐπιτιθεὶς, ἢ νόων, ἐπιβάλλει ἔν τις νοήματι, &c. ἐπιβάλλεσθαι, ἐπιθυμεῖν, ἐπιμόνως, ἐπιθυμῶ, i. e the word signifies to think upon, or consider of a thing; and this is sufficient to justifie our own Translation, that Peter remembring what our Saviour had foretold concerning his Denial, and considering how exactly, but shamefully, after all his confident Engagements to the contrary, he had fulfilled the same, was filled with Compunction, and wept bitterly. (2.) Whereas the other Evangelists say ἐξελθὼν ἔξω, he went forth, and wept there, there is another Exposition of the word ἐπιβαλὼν, which makes it agree with them, and that is, projiciens se foras, rushing out from the Company, or casting himself out, he wept; and plain it is, that in the Book of Maccabees it often signifies, irruens, or se projiciens. as when Gorgias attempted ἐπιβαλεῖν εἰς τ̃ παρεμβολὴν, projicere se, to rush in upon the Camp of the Jews, 1 Maccab. 4. 2. and Judas, νυκτὸς ἐπιβαλὼν, rushing upon the Jamnites by night, set fire on the Haven, 2 Maccab. 12. 9. See also Chap. 13. 15. — 15. 1. But the most pertinent Instance to this purpose is in Psal. 108. 10. where השליך נעלי, projiciam vel emittam calceamentum meum, I will cast forth my Shoe, is in the Greek ἐπιβαλῶ τὸ ὑπόδημά μου. Here therefore understand only ἑαυτὸν, and the Sense will run agreeably to St. Matthew and St. Luke, and casting himself forth, he wept.

CHAP. XV.

1. AND ſtraightway in the Morning, the Chief Prieſts held a Conſultation with the Elders and Scribes, and the whole Council, and (upon that Conſultation they)
a bound Jeſus, and carried him away, [a] and delivered him to Pilate.

2. And Pilate asked him, Art thou the King of the Jews? and he anſwering ſaid to him, thou ſayeſt it, (i.e. it is as thou ſayeſt.)

3. And the Chief Prieſts accuſed him of many things, but he anſwered nothing:

4. And Pilate asked him again, ſaying, Anſwereſt thou nothing? Behold, how many things they witneſs againſt thee.

5. But Jeſus yet anſwered nothing, ſo that Pilate marvelled.

b 6. Now [b] at (or, after the manner of) the Feaſt, he releaſed to them one Priſoner, whomſoever they deſired.

7. And there was one named Barabbas, who lay bound with them that had made Inſurrection with him, who had committed Murther in the Inſurrection.

c 8. And the Multitude [c] crying aloud, began to deſire him, to do as he had ever done to them (at that Feaſt.)

9. But Pilate anſwered them, ſaying, will ye that I releaſe to you the King of the Jews?

10. For he knew that the Chief Prieſts had delivered him for Envy.

11. But the Chief Prieſts moved the Peod ple that (they would deſire) [d] he ſhould rather releaſe Barabbas to them, (and they accordingly did ſo.)

12. And (then) Pilate anſwered, and ſaid again to them, What will ye then that I ſhall do to him whom ye call the King of the Jews?

13. And they cried out again, crucifie him.

14. Then Pilate ſaid to them, Why (deſire you this,) what evil hath he done (to deſerve this Puniſhment?) And (but) they cried out the more exceedingly, crucifie him.

15. And ſo Pilate (being) willing to content the People, releaſed Barabbas to them, and delivered Jeſus, when he had ſcourged him, to be crucified.

16. And the Soldiers led him (immediately) away into the Hall called Prætorium, and they call together the whole Band.

17. And they cloathed him with Purple, (the Robe of Kings,) and platted a Crown of Thorns, and put it about his Head.

18. And began to ſalute him, (ſaying in Raillery,) Hail King of the Jews:

19. And they ſmote him on the Head with a Reed, and did ſpit upon him, and bowing their Knees, worſhipped him:

20. And when they had (thus) mocked him, they took off the Purple from him, and put his own Cloaths on him, and led him out to crucifie.

21. And they compel one Simon a Cyrenean, who paſſed by, coming out of the Countrey, (and who was) the Father of Alexander, and Rufus, (two celebrated Chriſtians afterwards, Acts 19. 33. Rom. 16. 13.) to bear his Croſs.

22. And they bring him to the place Golgotha, which is, being interpreted, the place of a Skull.

23. And (there) they gave him to drink Wine mingled with Myrrh, but he received it not, (being not willing by any ſtupifying Draughts to allay his Pains.)

24. And when they had crucified him, they parted his Garments, caſting Lots upon them, what every one ſhould take.

25. [e] And it was the third hour, and (when) e they crucified him.

26. And [f] the Superſcription of his Accu- f ſation was written over (his Head thus,) THE KING OF THE JEWS.

27. And with him they crucified two Thieves, the one on his Right Hand, and the other on his Left.

28. [g] And (thus) the Scripture was ful- g filled, which ſaith, and he was numbred with the Tranſgreſſors.

29. And they that paſſed by, railed on him, wagging their Heads, and ſaying, Ah, thou that deſtroyeſt the Temple, and buildeſt it in three days,

30. Save thy ſelf, and come down from the Croſs.

31. Likewiſe alſo the Chief Prieſts mocking, ſaid among themſelves, with the Scribes, He ſaved others, (but) himſelf he cannot ſave.

32. Let Chriſt, (who ſtiles himſelf) the King of Iſrael, deſcend now from the Croſs, that we may ſee, and believe; and they (one of them) that were crucified with him, reviled him.

33. And when the ſixth hour was come, h
[h] there was Darkneſs over the whole Land (of Judea) till the ninth hour;

34. And at the ninth hour Jeſus cried with a loud Voice, ſaying, Eloi, Eloi, Lama Sabachthani? which is, being interpreted, My God, my God, why haſt thou forſaken me?

35. And ſome of them that ſtood by, when they heard it, ſaid, Behold, he calleth Elias.

36. And one ran, and filled a Spunge full of Vinegar, and put it on a Reed, and gave him to drink, ſaying, let alone, let us ſee whether Elias will come to take him down.

37. And Jeſus cried (again) with a loud Voice, (ſaying, Father, into thy Hands I commend my Spirit,) and (ſo) gave up the Ghoſt.

38. And

38. And (then) the Veil of the Temple, (which parted the Holy Place from the Moſt Holy,) was rent in twain from the top to the bottom. (See Paraphraſe on Matth. 27. 51.)

39. And when the Centurion, which ſtood over againſt him, ſaw that he ſo cried out, and (Gr. that he ſo crying,) gave up the Ghoſt, he ſaid, Truly this Man was the Son of God.

40. There were alſo Women looking on afar off, among whom was Mary Magdalene, and Mary the Mother of James the leſs, and of Joſes, and Salome;

41. Who alſo when he was in Galilee followed him (as he was teaching,) and miniſtred to him, and many other Women, which came up with him to Jeruſalem.

42. And now, when the Even was come, becauſe it was (the Even of) the Preparation; that is, (of) the day before the Sabbath.

43. Joſeph of Arimathea, an [i] honourable Counſellor, who alſo waited for the Kingdom of God, came, and went in boldly to Pilate, and craved the Body of Jeſus (might be given him.) i

44. And Pilate marvelled, if he were (that he was) already dead, and calling to him the Centurion, he asked him whether he had been any while dead.

45. And when he knew it of (i. e. the certainty from) the Centurion, he gave the Body to Joſeph.

46. And he bought fine Linen, and took him down, and wrapped him in the Linen, and laid him in a Sepulchre, which was hewn out of a Rock, and rolled a Stone to the Door of the Sepulchre.

47. And Mary Magdalene, and Mary the Mother of Joſes, beheld where he was laid.

Annotations on Chap. XV.

a Ver. 1. Παρέδωκαν τῷ Πιλάτῳ, They delivered him to Pilate.] Here the Obſervation of Theophylact is this, The Jews delivered up our Lord to the Romans, and they for that Sin were themſelves given up into the Hands of the Romans.

b Ver. 6. Κατὰ ὃ ἑορτὴν ἀπέλυεν, And at the Feaſt he delivered up to them a Priſoner whomſoever they deſired.] I conceive that ἀπέλυεν here is not put for εἰώθει ἀπολύειν, Matt. 27. 15. he was wont to deliver up, as Mr. Le Cl. thinks, but rather κατὰ ὃ ἑορτὴν should be rendred, ad morem feſti, or, ſecundum morem feſti, after the manner of the Feaſt; as κατ' ἄνθρωπον λέγω, I ſpeak after the manner of a Man. Rom. 3. 5. Gal. 3. 15. κατ' ἄνθρωπον περιπατεῖν, is to walk after the manner of Men. 1 Cor. 3. 3. to fight with Beaſts at Epheſus, κατ' ἄνθρωπον, after the manner of Men, 1 Cor. 15. 32. So κατὰ Θεὸν, Dei in morem, after the Example of God; and among the Atticks, κατὰ τὰ αὐτὰ, that is, κατὰ τὸν αὐτὸν τρόπον, after the ſame manner. Now the Feaſt of the Paſſover being celebrated in Memory of their Releaſe from Egypt, it was agreeable to the Nature of that Feaſt to make this Releaſe at that time, and therefore cuſtomary.

c Ver. 8. Ἀναβοήσας, Crying out.] The Vulgar and ſome MSS. Copies read here ἀναβὰς, or ἀναβήσας· but the Alexandrian Copy, Theophylact, and all the Eaſtern Verſions, reading as we do, and the 13th Verſe ſaying that πάλιν ἔκραξαν, they cried out again, this muſt paſs only for a Miſtake of the Copyer, or of the Abbreviations uſed by him.

d Ver. 11. But the Chief Prieſts moved the people, ἵνα μᾶλλον Βαραββᾶν ἀπολύσῃ αὐτοῖς, that he ſhould rather releaſe Barabbas to them;] i. e. That he ſhould releaſe Barabbas, and not Jeſus; for their Cry was this, Not this Man, but Barabbas, John 18. 40. and that the Comparative μᾶλλον is often in ſenſe negative, See the Note on 1 Tim. 1. 4. So Matth. 10. 5. Go not into the way of the Gentiles, πορεύεσθε μᾶλλον, but go to the loſt Sheep of the Houſe of Iſrael, ver. 6. Mark 9. 43. It is good to go into Life lame, μᾶλλον, and not having two Hands to go to Hell. Eph. 4. 28. Let him that ſtole ſteal no more, μᾶλλον δὲ κοπιάτω, but contrariwiſe let him labour, Chap. 5. 4. Let there not be among you Filthineſs, or ſcurrilous Speaking, μᾶλλον δὲ, but giving of Thanks. See John 12. 43. Rom. 14. 13. Eph. 5. 11.

e Ver. 25. Ἦν δὲ ὥρα τρίτη, καὶ ἐσταύρωσαν αὐτὸν, And it was the third hour, and they crucified him.] But St. John ſaith it was ὡσὶ ἕκτη, about the ſixth hour, Chap. 19. 14. when Even he was condemned to Crucifixion. But then it muſt be obſerved, that the Greek MSS. produced by Camerarius, Beza, and R. Stephanus, read in St. John, ὡσὶ τρίτη, about the third hour; that Nonnus ſeems to have read ſo, his Paraphraſe running after this manner, ὣ δὲ τλαωσμένη τρίτατη θανατηφόρῳ ὥρᾳ, the third hour was not yet paſt; that Theophylact contends it ought to be ſo read, and that becauſe the three other Evangeliſts unanimouſly ſay, that the Darkneſs began at the ſixth hour, which yet began not, till after our Lord had hung upon the Croſs ſome conſiderable time; till after the Soldiers had divided his Garments, the Jews had mocked him, and bid him come down from the Croſs, and the Diſcourſe had paſſed between the two Thieves among themſelves, and betwixt the repenting Thief and our Lord. And laſtly, the Author of the Conſtantinopolitan Chronicle ſaith expreſly, that τὰ ἀκριβῆ βιβλία, ὡς τε τὸ ἰδιόχειρον τοῦ εὐαγγελίστου Ἰωάννου, that the exacter Copies, and the Manuſcript of St. John kept till his time at Epheſus, read, ὥρα ὡσὶ τρίτη, about the third hour. See Jerom in Pſal. 77. And the change from γ the third to ϛ the ſixth, is ſo eaſie, that this may very reaſonably be owned; eſpecially if we conſider how punctual St. Mark is in the Enumeration of the Hours, ſaying, it was the third hour, and they crucified him, or began to lead him away to be crucified, and ver. 33. when the ſixth hour was come, from that time there was darkneſs over the whole Earth till the ninth hour, and ver. 34. at the ninth hour Jeſus expired.

This I prefer before the Expoſition of ſome others, that St. John ſpeaks of the hours according to the Roman, and St. Mark according to the Computation of the Jews; 1*ſt*, Becauſe this alters not the difficulty, there being the ſame diſtance of time betwixt the Romans ſixth, and the Jews third hour, as between the Jews third and their ſixth, i. e. three hours difference. And, 2*dly*, Becauſe the vulgar hours by which the Romans reckoned, and the hours of the Jews were the ſame, viz. twelve, as our Lord ſhews in theſe words, are there not twelve hours of the day? John 11. 9. and Dempſter in theſe words, dies civilis duodecim horarum. Auctuar. p. 175. The civil Day of the Romans contained twelve hours. And, (3*dly*,) If St. Mark writing his Goſpel at Rome for the Romans there, retains the Jewiſh hours, we have more reaſon to conceive that St. John ſhould do ſo.

f Ver. 26. Καὶ ἦν ἡ ἐπιγραφὴ τ αἰτίας αὐτ ἐπιγεγραμμένη, And the Superſcription of his Accuſation was written.] This is ſpoken according to the manner of the Romans, by whom the Title of the Crimes, for which the Criminals were condemned, were either carried before them, or affixed to the Inſtrument of their Puniſhment: Thus (a) Dio ſpeaks of a Roman Servant crucified by his Maſter, μετὰ γραμμάτων τ αἰτίαν τ θανατώσεως δηλούντων, with a Writing declaring the cauſe of his Death. See of this matter other Inſtances in Lipſius de cruce, l. 2. c. 11. p. 52, 53.

g Ver. 28. Καὶ ἐπληρώθη ἡ γραφὴ, And the Scripture was fulfilled which ſaith, Iſa. 53. 12. and he was numbred with the Tranſgreſſors.] Seeing Abarbanel, and (b) R. Moſes Alſhe, teſtifie that their Rabbins did with one Mouth confeſs that the words of this Chapter were ſpoken of Meſſiah the King, and they bring in God enquiring of the Meſſiah, thus, (c) Wilt thou heal and redeem my Sons after ſix thouſand Years? Wilt thou bear Chaſtiſement to expiate their Iniquities according to what is written? Iſa. 53. 4. Surely he bore our Griefs; they cannot reaſonably deny that theſe words were fulfilled by Chriſt's Crucifixion between two Thieves.

Ver. 33. Σκότος ἐγένετο ἐφ' ὅλην τ γῆν, h There was darkneſs over the whole Earth.] Of this Darkneſs (d) Africanus ſpeaks thus, τοῦτο τὸ σκότος ἔκλειψιν ἡλίου Θάλλος ὠνόμακεν ἐν τρίτῃ τ ἱστοριῶν, ὡς ἐμοὶ δοκεῖ ἀλόγως, this Darkneſs Thallus calls an Eclipſe of the Sun in the third Book of his Hiſtory, but without reaſon, as I conceive, (e) Origen ſaith, Phlegon in the 14*th Book of his Chronicles writ of the Defection of the Sun under Tiberius Cæſar, in whoſe Reign it is manifeſt that our Lord ſuffered.* (f) Tertullian ſaith, that this prodigious darkning of the Sun was recorded in the Roman Archives, For, ſaith he, at the ſame moment about noontide the day was withdrawn, they who knew not that this was foretold concerning Chriſt, thought it was an Eclipſe. And Euſebius in his Chronicle at the 18*th Year of Tiberius*, ſaith, Chriſt ſuffered this Year, in which time we find in other Commentaries of the Heathens theſe words, there was a Defection of the Sun, Bithynia was ſhaken with an Earthquake, and many Houſes fell down in the City of Nice; and then he proceeds to the Teſtimony of Phlegon.

Ver. 43. Εὐσχήμων βουλευτὴς, An honourable Counſellor;] That is, ſaith Dr. Hammond, a Decurio, one of thoſe who were appointed for a ſtanding Counſel to a Roman Colony: But againſt this Mr. Le Cl. objects that he was Joſeph of Arimathea; now, ſaith he, that was never reputed a Roman Colony, and therefore he conjectures he is here named a Counſellor, as being one of the greater Sanhedrim, or of the Council of the High Prieſt, who had a Chamber in the Temple in which he conſulted with the Prieſts, called the Chamber of the Counſellors, ſaith Dr. Lightfoot here; they who were of the Council of the High Prieſt being called, ſaith he, βουλευταὶ, Counſellors, and this is the moſt likely, becauſe Arimathea was a City of Judæa; this Joſeph had a Sepulchre in Jeruſalem, and waited for the Conſolation of Iſrael, which are Indications rather of a Jew, than of a Roman; and eſpecially becauſe it is peculiarly noted of him by St. Luke, That he conſented not to the Counſel or Actions of them who deſtroyed our Lord, chap. 23. 51. He therefore might have conſented to them, being one of the Sanhedrim: Hence is he introduced, John 19. 38, 39. with Nicodemus, who certainly was one of the great Sanhedrim, Joh. 3. 1. — 7. 50. doing kind Offices to Chriſt; the firſt, begging his Body, that it might not be buried in the common Burial-place of Malefactors; the other, bringing Spices to embalm him, as being both Diſciples of the Holy Jeſus, Matth. 27. 57.

CHAP. XVI.

1. AND when the Sabbath was past, Mary Magdalene, and Mary the a Mother of James and Salome, [a] had bought sweet Spices, that they might come and anoint, (i. e. embalm) him.
aa 2. And [aa] very early in the Morning, the first Day of the Week, they (set out, and) came to the Sepulchre at the Rising of the Sun.

3. And they said among themselves, Who shall roll us away the Stone from the Door of the Sepulchre?

4. And when they looked, they saw that the Stone was rolled away; for (that which made them solicitous about it, was, that) it was very great.

5. And entring into the Sepulchre, they saw (one in the Shape of) a young Man, sitting on the right side (of the Sepulchre,) clothed with a long white Garment; and they were affrighted (at the sight of him:)

6. And he saith to them, Be not (ye) affrighted, (for) ye seek Jesus of Nazareth who was crucified, he is risen, he is not here; (come near, and) behold the place where they laid him.

7. But go your way, tell his Disciples, b and (especially) [b] Peter, that he goeth before you into Galilee, there shall ye see him, (according) as he said to you.

8. And they went out quickly, and fled from the Sepulchre, for they trembled, and were amazed (at the sight;) neither said they any thing to any Man (whom they met by the way,) for they were afraid.

9. Now when Jesus was risen early, the first day of the Week, he appeared first to Mary Magdalene, out of whom he had cast seven Devils:

10. And she went and told them that had been with him, (his Disciples,) as they mourned and wept.

11. And (but) they, when they had heard that he was alive, and had been seen of her, believed not.

12. After that, he appeared in another Form to two of them as they walked, (to Emmaus, Luke 24. 13. and (so) went into the Country.

13. And they went and told it to the residue, neither [c] believed they them: (See the c Note.)

14. Afterward he appeared to the Eleven as they sat at Meat, and [d] upbraided them d with their Unbelief, and Hardness of Heart, because they believed not them who had seen him after he was risen.

15. And he said to them, go ye into all the World, and preach the Gospel to every [e] Creature, (to all Nations, Matth. 28. 19.) e

16. He that believeth, and is baptized,
[f] shall be saved, (by his continuance in that f Faith, 1 Cor. 15. 2. Colos. 1. 23.) but he that believeth not (the Gospel preached, and by Miracles confirmed to him,) shall be damned;

17. And these [g] Signs shall follow them g that believe; (by virtue of that Faith) in my Name shall they cast out Devils, (and) they shall speak with new Tongues, (which they had not learn'd.)

18. They shall take up Serpents (without being hurt by them;) and if they drink any deadly thing, (the poison of) it shall not hurt them; they shall lay their Hands on the Sick, and they shall recover:

19. So then, after the Lord had spoken (thus) to them, he was received up into Heaven, and sat at the right Hand of God.

20. And they went forth, (after the Holy Ghost was come upon them,) and preached every where, the Lord working with them, and confirming the Word with Signs following. Amen. (i. e. So it was.)

a Ver. 1. Ἠγόρασ ἀρώματα, Had bought Spices.] This Translation is justified from Luke 23. 56. where it is said, They prepared these Spices (before,) and rested on the Sabbath day; so that the Aorist is here put for the Perfect tense. See Examples of like nature, Note on 1 Cor. 5. 9.

aa Ver. 2. Καὶ λίαν πρωῒ τ μιᾶς τ σαββάτων ἔρχονται ἐπὶ τὸ μνημεῖον, Very early in the Morning;] ὀψὲ τ σαββάτων, τῇ ἐπιφωσκούσῃ εἰς μίαν Σ. in the end of the Week, as it began to dawn towards the first day of the Week, Mat. 28. 1. on the first day of the Week, ὄρθρου βαθέως, very early in the Morning, Luke 24. 1. (σκοτίας ἔτι οὔσης, when it was yet dark, Joh. 20. 1. i. e. they began their Journey to see the Sepulchre, whilst it was only Twilight, or whilst there was a mixture of Light and Darkness, saith St. Matthew, ὀψὲ τ σαββάτων, after the end of the former week; see the Note there; they passed thro' the City, and came to the Sepulchre, ἀναλαμπούσης τ ἡλίου, as the Sun began to arise. This may be illustrated from a Passage of (a) Agellius, That

(a) Tempora duo cum inter se opposita sunt, atque ita cohærentia, ut alterius finis, cum alterius initio misceatur, non refert utrum per extremitatem prioris, an per initium sequentis, locus ipse confinis demonstretur, l. 7. c. 21.

That when two times immediately ſucced one another, it matters not whether we reckon from the end of the one, or the beginning of the other.

b Ver. 7. Καὶ τῷ Πέτρῳ, Say to his Diſciples, and to Peter.] Peter is here named, not as Prince of the Apoſtles, but, as the Fathers ſay, for his Conſolation, to take off the Scruple which might lye upon his Spirit; whether, after his threefold Denial of his Maſter, he had not forfeited his right to be one of Chriſt's Diſciples. So (b) St Gregory, Jerom, St. Chryſoſtom, and others.

c Ver. 13. Οὐδὲ ἐκείνοις ἐπίσευσε, Nor believed they them?] And, Ver. 11. They believed not; when he ſhewed them his Hands and Feet, they believed not for joy, Luke 24. 41. When they ſaw him, according to his Promiſe in Galilee, ſome doubted, Matth. 28. 17. Hence, one of the Ancients ſays well, Nos de illorum dubitatione ſolidari, Their doubting is the confirmation of our Faith; and the more difficulty they ſhew'd in believing Chriſt's Reſurrection, the greater reaſon have we to believe it; for the Teſtimony of them who believed not themſelves till after unqueſtionable Conviction, is the more credible on that account.

d Ver. 14. Ὠνείδισε τὴν ἀπιστίαν αὐτῶν καὶ σκληροκαρδίαν, He upbraided them for their Unbelief and Hardneſs of Heart, that they believed not them that had ſeen him:] That after ſo many Aſſurances from his own Mouth, that he would riſe again the Third Day; and after ſo many Eye-witneſſes, that he had performed his Promiſe, they believed not: And, if this be attributed to them as culpable Unbelief, and Hardneſs of Heart, ſurely they muſt much more be guilty of theſe Sins, who, after the Teſtimony of theſe Apoſtles, and Five Hundred more Eye-witneſſes of his Reſurrection, after the ocular Teſtimony of a whole World of Chriſtians, touching the mighty Miracles performed in his Name by the Apoſtles, the choſen Witneſſes of his Reſurrection, and by many others, who believed it, and were baptized into this Faith, after ſo many internal and external Experiments all Chriſtian Churches had of the miraculous Gifts of the Spirit, exerciſed before their Eyes in their Aſſemblies, and by themſelves, for a whole Age together, do yet continue to disbelieve that Reſurrection, and the Faith confirmed by it.

e Ver. 15. Preach the Goſpel, πάσῃ τῇ κτίσει, to every Creature;] i. e. to all Men; not in oppoſition to, but in conjunction with the Jews, to whom they were firſt to preach it; for ſo their Commiſſion runs, viz. To preach εἰς πάντα τὰ ἔθνη, to all Nations, beginning at Jeruſalem, Luke 24. 47. See this more fully, Note on Rom. 8. 23.

f Ver. 16. Ὁ πιστεύσας καὶ βαπτισθεὶς σωθήσεται, ὁ δὲ ἀπιστήσας κατακριθήσεται, He that believeth and is baptized, ſhall be ſaved; he that believeth not ſhall be damned.] He ſhall be ſaved, i. e. he ſhall by virtue of that Faith and Baptiſm, be put into a ſtate of Salvation; ſo that, if he continue in that Faith, and do not wilfully recede from his Baptiſmal Covenant, he ſhall actually be ſaved; of which import of the Phraſe, Salvation and being Saved, ſee Note on Eph. 2. 8. Note alſo, that they who hence conclude, that Infants are not capable of Baptiſm, becauſe they cannot believe, muſt alſo hence conclude they cannot be ſaved; Faith being here more expreſly required to Salvation than to Baptiſm. Note, 3*dly*, That in the ſecond Clauſe Baptiſm is omitted, becauſe it is not ſimply the want of Baptiſm, but the contemptuous neglect of it, which makes Men guilty of Damnation; otherwiſe, Infants might be damned for the Miſtakes, or the Prophaneneſs of their Parents.

g Ver. 17. Σημεῖα δὲ τοῖς πιστεύσασι ταῦτα παρακολουθήσει, And theſe Signs ſhall follow them that believe, &c.] Of the caſting out of Devils, the healing Diſeaſes, the ſpeaking with new Tongues; ſee the General Preface to the Epiſtles, §. 17, 18, 19. Of the drinking of deadly Poiſons, I find but four inſtances recorded in Hiſtory; that of (c) Barſabas, who, ſaith Papias, drank of it without hurt; that of the Cæcilian Soldier, mentioned by Ado in his Martyrology; that of Sabinus, Biſhop of Canoſo, mentioned by Gregory of Tours; and that of Joſhua ben Levi, who having drank a deadly Poiſon, was, ſaith the Jewiſh Talmud, cured by pronouncing the Name of Jeſus; of taking up Serpents without hurt, tho' venemous, we find in Scripture only the inſtance of St. Paul, Acts 28. 3. and in Church Hiſtory, we find but few of any credit, tho' the words of (d) Tertullian ſeem to intimate, That the Faith of Chriſtians not only preſerved themſelves, but helped even Heathens. And Miracles of this nature being more liable to Exceptions than thoſe which were performed upon Unbelievers; it being eaſie to imagine, they might have ſome Antidotes againſt the Venom of thoſe Beaſts, or the pernicious Operations of thoſe Draughts, it ſeemed good to Providence, to be more ſparing in affording them.

By way of Appendix to this Chapter, it may be noted, That St. Jerom hath long ſince told us, that this Chapter was rarely to be found in this Goſpel, and that ſcarce any of the Greek Copies had it: But, notwithſtanding theſe words of Jerom, it is evident, that this Chapter was owned in the Times of (e) Irenæus, who cites the 19th Verſe of it, and ſays, That St. Mark in the end of his Goſpel tells us, that Chriſt aſcended into Heaven, &c. The (f) Apoſtolical Conſtitutions cite theſe words, ver. 16. He that believeth, and is baptized, ſhall be ſaved; he that believeth not ſhall be damned. (g) They alſo fully cite the 17th and 18th Verſes. This Chapter is alſo to be found in all the Verſions, and, as Beza teſtifies, in all the old MSS. Nor doth Theophylact in his Notes upon it, take notice of any Greek Copies, where it had been wanting.

And as for the ſeeming Oppoſition betwixt what is recorded in this Chapter, and in the other Evangeliſts, which (h) St. Jerom tells us, was the occaſion why this Chapter was by ſome rejected. I ſhall firſt enumerate them, and then endeavour to return a ſufficient Anſwer to them.

Object. 1. St. Matthew and St. Mark make mention only of one Angel appearing to, and ſpeaking with the Women which came to the Sepulchre; whereas St. Luke and John mention two Angels.

Anſw. I cannot here approve the Solution of Voſſius, That one Angel only is mentioned by St. Matthew and St. Mark, becauſe one only ſpake to the Women; ſeeing St. Luke ſaith in the Plural, εἶπον πρὸς αὐτὰς, The Angels ſaid unto them, chap. 24. 15. St. John, λέγουσι αὐτῇ ἐκεῖνοι, they ſaid to Mary Magdalen, ch. 20. ver. 13. beſides, the place of their Appearance, and the Words they ſpeak, differ from the place and words of the firſt Angel.

I anſwer therefore, that one only is mentioned by St. Matthew and St. Mark, becauſe the Women ſtanding without the inward Sepulchre, or being only on the Floor, or Pavement of it, ſaw but one Angel, who ſaid unto them, He is not here, he is riſen; come ſee the place where the Lord lay; and then, go, tell his Diſciples, and Peter of it. Matt. 28. 6. Mark 16. 6. But when, in obedience to the words of this Angel, they proceed to look into the Cave, or inward Sepulchre, where the Lord lay, they ſee two other Angels, one ſitting at Chriſt's Head, another at his Feet, where his Body was laid, John 20. 12. Luke 24. 5. and ſaying words the other did not, but giving them no intimation that they ſhould tell theſe things to Chriſt's Diſciples; and this ſeems to be a plain account of this Matter, from the very words of the Evangeliſts.

Object. 2. St. John and St. Matthew ſay, The Women ſtood without the Sepulchre, when they ſaw the Angel, or Angels; St. Mark and St. Luke, that they had this Viſion when they were come within the Sepulchre.

Anſw. (1.) That the truth of the Matter of this Objection, may be juſtly queſtioned. For, 1ſt, As St. John ſaith of Mary Magdalen, ſhe ſtood πρὸς τὸ μνημεῖον, at the Sepulchre, which may ſignifie either within or without it, ver. 11 ſo ver. 1. he ſaith, She came εἰς τὸ μνημεῖον into the Sepulchre; and that ſhe was upon the Pavement, or in the outward Sepulchre, when ſhe is ſaid to ſtand at the Sepulchre, is evident from this, That only by ſtooping down ſhe looked down into the Cave, or inward Sepulchre, where the Angels ſtood at the place where his Body had been laid, ver. 11, 12. St. Matthew ſaith nothing directly of the place where the Women were, when they ſaw the Angel; but becauſe he ſaith, that the Angel ſat upon the Stone which he had rolled from the Sepulchre, hence they conclude, that the Angel ſat without the Sepulchre; but the Stone being rolled to the Mouth of the Cave, or inward Sepulchre, where Chriſt's Body lay, Matth. 27. 60. the Angel might ſit upon it thus rolled away, and yet ſit in a part of the outward Sepulchre, or Pavement, as St. Mark ſaith he did, ver. 5. when he bid the Women come, and ſee where the Lord lay. In a word, They were without the Cave, or inward Sepulchre, according to St. Matthew; but within the Pavement, outward Fence, Sept or Wall of the outward Sepulchre, when they ſaw the ſingle Angel, as St. Mark ſaith: Being invited, Mary Magdalen ſtoops down into the Cave, or inward Sepulchre, of which St. Luke and St. John ſpeak, and ſees two Angels preſent there, in a quieſcent poſture, repreſented in Scripture, ſometimes by ſitting, ſometimes by ſtanding.

Object. 3. St. Mark ſaith, ver. 8. The Women ſaid nothing to any man; the other three Evangeliſts, That they told theſe things to the Apoſtles, or Diſciples.

Anſw. And ſo ſaith St. Mark expreſly, That they went and told theſe things, τοῖς μετ' αὐτοῦ, to thoſe who belong'd to Chriſt, and were uſually with him, ver. 10, 11. And he ſaith only, ver. 8. That, during their Flight

Qu. 3. Greg. Nyſſen. Orat. 2. in Reſur. Euthymius.

Flight from the Sepulchre, and Amazement, before Chriſt's Appearance to Mary, v. 9. they ſaid nothing to any whom they met about the Sepulchre.

Object. 4. St. Matthew, Mark and Luke, ſay, That the Women came firſt to the Sepulchre, ſaw the Angel, or Angels; yea, and Chriſt too, ſay Matthew and Mark, before they came to the Apoſtles; St. John ſaith, Chriſt was ſeen of Mary after St. John and Peter had been at the Sepulchre.

Anſw. I anſwer here again, the Matter of Fact ſeems not exactly related in this Objection: For John ſaith expreſly, as the other Evangeliſts did, That Mary Magdalene came firſt to the Sepulchre, and ſeeth the Stone rolled away, ver. 1. and that ſhe ran, and told Peter and John of it, ver. 2. He therefore doth not, or could not ſay, That Peter and John came before Mary to the Sepulchre. Moreover, it is plain from all the other Evangeliſts, and eſpecially from St. Luke, That Peter and John went to the Sepulchre after ſhe had told theſe things to the Apoſtles; for having ſaid this, ver. 10. he adds, ver. 12. That Peter riſing up, ran to the Sepulchre: And ver. 22. 23. he introduces two Diſciples, ſpeaking thus to Chriſt, Some Women of our own being early at the Sepulchre, made us aſtoniſhed; for they came, ſaying, They had ſeen a Viſion of Angels, who told them, that he was alive. Vain here ſeems the Imagination of ſome, who ſay, St. John ſpeaks here of Peter and John firſt, becauſe their Teſtimony was to be preferred before the Teſtimony of Women; for they neither ſaw Chriſt, nor had a Viſion telling them, that he was riſen, as the Women had, and did, but only ſaw his Body was not there which the Jews denied not. The words therefore of St. John, ver. 11. Μαρία ὃ εἰστήκει, may be rendred thus, Mary had ſtood at the Sepulchre, and ſtooping down, had ſeen; and then there is no word of any Difference in the Order of this Narration among the Evangeliſts, tho' nothing is more ſlight than that: Or elſe, it may be ſaid, That St. John thus poſtpones the Story of Mary Magdalene, becauſe he having a particular thing to ſay of her, ver. 15. which all the other Evangeliſts had omitted, he would put her whole Story together.

Object. 5. St. Matthew ſaith, The Women held Chriſt's Feet, ver. 9. but St. John, that Chriſt ſaid to Mary Magdalene, Touch me not, ver. 17.

Anſw. True it is that St. John ſaith, Chriſt ſpake thus to her; but he ſaith not, that Chriſt ſaid this before ſhe had touched him; and therefore he ſaith nothing in oppoſition to St. Matthew. Beſides, the meaning of thoſe words, Touch me not, is only this, Be not ſo ſollicitous to hold me, as if I was immediately to go hence, and thou ſhouldſt ſee me no more; thou mayeſt have time ſufficient for that, for I do not yet aſcend. See the Note on John 20. 17.

AN

To Chapter the Fourteenth:

Concerning the Day on which our Lord did eat the Paſſover with his Diſciples.

FOR reſolution of this Queſtion, let it be noted:

1*ſt*, That the Paſchal Lamb was to be killed in the Evening of the 14th Day of the Month Niſan; for ſo we read, Exod. 12. 6. And the whole Congregation ſhall kill it in the Evening, or between the two Evenings, ſaith the Hebrew: So alſo Lev. 23. 5. In the 14th Day of the Firſt Month at Even, Hebr. between the two Evenings ſhall be the Lord's Paſſover. Now hence we learn, that tho' the Day of the Jews began and ended at the Evening, yet was it the latter Even, on the 14th Day, in which the Paſſover was to be killed, becauſe the Jews had not two Evenings in the Morning, but only in the cloſe of the Day, the latter Evening beginning at the Setting of the Sun: And, (2.) Becauſe the 15th Day, or firſt day of unleavened Bread, began immediately after the eating of the Paſchal Lamb; and therefore, v. 7. is called the Day when they did ſacrifice the Paſſover; and the ſeven Days of it were accounted from that Day to the 21ſt Day of the ſame Month, Exod 12. 17, 18. Whereas had they been reckoned from the beginning of the 14th Day, there would have been not ſeven only, but eight Days of unleavened Bread. Accordingly, (a) Joſephus doth inform us, That they did kill the Paſchal Lambs, ἀπὸ ἐνάτης ὥρας μέχρι ἑνδεκάτης, from the ninth hour to the eleventh. Note,

2*dly*, That the Paſchal Lamb was to be killed and offered at a ſet time, and the whole Congregation were never to transfer it to another Seaſon; for it is expreſly ſaid, Exod. 12. 14. This Day (of the Paſſover) ſhall be to you for a memorial, and ye ſhall keep it, (i. e. this ſame Day,) as a Feaſt by an Ordinance for ever; and, chap. 13. 10. Thou ſhalt keep this Ordinance (of the Paſſover, and of the Feaſt of unleavened Bread,) למועדה in its ſet time from Year to Year; and Lev. 23. 5. On the fourteenth Day at Even, ſhall be the Lord's Paſſover: Whence it is evident, there could be no Tranſlation of either of theſe Feaſts, to another Day, Time, or Seaſon, without plain violation of the Law of Moſes.

Moreover, The reaſon of the Tranſlation, aſſigned by thoſe who hold the Jews did thus tranſlate it when our Saviour ſuffered, is this, viz. That this was done, that the firſt Day of unleavened Bread, being as a Sabbath, might fall upon a Sabbath day, leſt two Sabbaths ſhould ſucceed each other: Whereas 'tis evident, that upon this Tranſlation, two Sabbaths muſt ſucceed each other; for the ſeventh Day of unleavened Bread being a Sabbath as much as the firſt, Exod. 12. 16. muſt then fall upon the Friday following, and ſo two Sabbaths muſt ſucceed each the other.

3*dly*, That Chriſt did eat the laſt Paſſover with his Diſciples at the Day and Time accuſtomed, and did not anticipate the Day, ſeems evident from the concurrent Teſtimony of three Evangeliſts, and from the Reaſon of the thing. For,

1*ſt*, St. Matthew ſaith, chap. 26. 17. That the firſt Day of unleavened Bread, Chriſt's Diſciples did prepare, and at the Even of that Day, Chriſt with them did eat the Paſſover; St. Mark chap. 14. 12. That the firſt Day of unleavened Bread, the Jews killed the Paſſover; St. Luke, That then came, or was coming, the Day of unleavened Bread, in which the Paſſover ought to be killed, Luke 22. 7. He therefore did eat the Paſſover, ὅτε ἔθυον, when the Jews killed it; and in the Day, ἐν ᾗ ἔδει θύεσθαι, in which it ought to be eaten; and on the firſt Day of unleavened

(a) De Bello Jud. l. 7. c. 45.

Flight from the Sepulchre, and Amazement, before Chriſt's Appearance to Mary, v. 9. they ſaid nothing to any whom they met about the Sepulchre.

Object. 4. St. Matthew, Mark and Luke, ſay, That the Women came firſt to the Sepulchre, ſaw the Angel, or Angels; yea, and Chriſt too, ſay Matthew and Mark, before they came to the Apoſtles; St. John ſaith, Chriſt was ſeen of Mary after St. John and Peter had been at the Sepulchre.

Anſw. I anſwer here again, the Matter of Fact ſeems not exactly related in this Objection: For John ſaith expreſly, as the other Evangeliſts did, That Mary Magdalene came firſt to the Sepulchre, and ſeeth the Stone rolled away, ver. 1. and that ſhe ran, and told Peter and John of it, ver. 2. He therefore doth not, or could not ſay, That Peter and John came before Mary to the Sepulchre. Moreover, it is plain from all the other Evangeliſts, and eſpecially from St. Luke, That Peter and John went to the Sepulchre after ſhe had told theſe things to the Apoſtles; for having ſaid this, ver. 10. he adds, ver. 12. That Peter riſing up, ran to the Sepulchre: And ver. 22. 23. he introduces two Diſciples, ſpeaking thus to Chriſt, Some Women of our own being early at the Sepulchre, made us aſtoniſhed; for they came, ſaying, They had ſeen a Viſion of Angels, who told them, that he was alive. Vain here ſeems the Imagination of ſome, who ſay, St. John ſpeaks here of Peter and John firſt, becauſe their Teſtimony was to be preferred before the Teſtimony of Women; for they neither ſaw Chriſt, nor had a Viſion telling them, that he was riſen, as the Women had, and did, but only ſaw his Body was not there which the Jews denied not. The words therefore of St. John, ver. 11. Μαρία ὁ εἱστήκει, may be rendred thus, Mary had ſtood at the Sepulchre, and ſtooping down, had ſeen; and then there is no word of any Difference in the Order of this Narration among the Evangeliſts, tho' nothing is more ſlight than that: Or elſe, it may be ſaid, That St. John thus poſtpones the Story of Mary Magdalene, becauſe he having a particular thing to ſay of her, ver. 15. which all the other Evangeliſts had omitted, he would put her whole Story together.

Object. 5. St. Matthew ſaith, The Women held Chriſt's Feet, ver. 9. but St. John, that Chriſt ſaid to Mary Magdalene, Touch me not, ver. 17.

Anſw. True it is that St. John ſaith, Chriſt ſpake thus to her; but he ſaith not, that Chriſt ſaid this before ſhe had touched him; and therefore he ſaith nothing in oppoſition to St. Matthew. Beſides, the meaning of thoſe words, Touch me not, is only this, Be not ſo ſollcitous to hold me, as if I was immediateiy to go hence, and thou ſhouldſt ſee me no more; thou mayeſt have time ſufficient for that, for I do not yet aſcend. See the Note on John 20. 17.

AN

To Chapter the Fourteenth:

Concerning the Day on which our Lord did eat the Paſſover with his Diſciples.

FOR reſolution of this Queſtion, let it be noted:

1*ſt*, That the Paſchal Lamb was to be killed in the Evening of the 14th Day of the Month Niſan; for ſo we read, Exod. 12. 6. And the whole Congregation ſhall kill it in the Evening, or between the two Evenings, ſaith the Hebrew: So alſo Lev. 23. 5. In the 14*th Day of the Firſt Month at Even*, Hebr. between the two Evenings ſhall be the Lord's Paſſover. Now hence we learn, that tho' the Day of the Jews began and ended at the Evening, yet was it the latter Even, on the 14th Day, in which the Paſſover was to be killed, becauſe the Jews had not two Evenings in the Morning, but only in the cloſe of the Day, the latter Evening beginning at the Setting of the Sun: And, (2.) Becauſe the 15th Day, or firſt day of unleavened Bread, began immediately after the eating of the Paſchal Lamb; and therefore, v. 7. is called the Day when they did ſacrifice the Paſſover; and the ſeven Days of it were accounted from that Day to the 21ſt Day of the ſame Month, Exod 12. 17, 18. Whereas had they been reckoned from the beginning of the 14th Day, there would have been not ſeven only, but eight Days of unleavened Bread. Accordingly, (a) Joſephus doth inform us, That they did kill the Paſchal Lambs, ἀπὸ ἐνάτης ὥρας μέχρι ἑνδεκάτης, from the ninth hour to the eleventh. Note,

2*dly*, That the Paſchal Lamb was to be killed and offered at a ſet time, and the whole Congregation were never to transfer it to another Seaſon; for it is expreſly ſaid, Exod. 12. 14. This Day (of the Paſſover) ſhall be to you for a memorial, and ye ſhall keep it, (i. e. this ſame Day,) as a Feaſt by an Ordinance for ever; and, chap. 13. 10. Thou ſhalt keep this Ordinance (of the Paſſover, and of the Feaſt of unleavened Bread,) למועדה in its ſet time from Year to Year; and Lev. 23. 5. On the fourteenth Day at Even, ſhall be the Lord's Paſſover: Whence it is evident, there could be no Tranſlation of either of theſe Feaſts, to another Day, Time, or Seaſon, without plain violation of the Law of Moſes.

Moreover, The reaſon of the Tranſlation, aſſigned by thoſe who hold the Jews did thus tranſlate it when our Saviour ſuffered, is this, viz. That this was done, that the firſt Day of unleavened Bread, being as a Sabbath, might fall upon a Sabbath day, leſt two Sabbaths ſhould ſucceed each other: Whereas 'tis evident, that upon this Tranſlation, two Sabbaths muſt ſucceed each other; for the ſeventh Day of unleavened Bread being a Sabbath as much as the firſt, Exod. 12. 16. muſt then fall upon the Friday following, and ſo two Sabbaths muſt ſucceed each the other.

3*dly*, That Chriſt did eat the laſt Paſſover with his Diſciples at the Day and Time accuſtomed, and did not anticipate the Day, ſeems evident from the concurrent Teſtimony of three Evangeliſts, and from the Reaſon of the thing. For,

1*ſt*, St. Matthew ſaith, chap. 26. 17. That the firſt Day of unleavened Bread, Chriſt's Diſciples did prepare, and at the Even of that Day, Chriſt with them did eat the Paſſover; St. Mark chap. 14. 12. That the firſt Day of unleavened Bread, the Jews killed the Paſſover; St. Luke, That then came, or was coming, the Day of unleavened Bread, in which the Paſſover ought to be killed, Luke 22. 7. He therefore did eat the Paſſover, ὅτε ἔθυον, when the Jews killed it; and in the Day, ἐν ᾗ ἔδει θύεσθαι, in which it ought to be eaten; and on the firſt Day of unleavened
